Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at F. P. Glazier & Co's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Spring Makes Me Tired

To many people Spring and its duties mean an aching head, tired limbs, and throbbing nerves. Just as the milder weather comes, the strength begins to wane and "that tired feeling" is the complaint of all.

The reason for this condition is found in the deficient quality of the blood. During the winter, owing to various causes, the blood becomes loaded with impurities and loses its richness and vitality. Consequently, as soon as the bracing effect of cold air is lost, there is languor and lack of energy. The cure will be found in purifying and enriching the blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest and best spring medicine because it is the greatest and best blood purifier. It overcomes that tired feeling because it makes pure, rich blood. It gives strength to nerves and muscles because it endows the blood with new powers of nourishment. It creates an appetite, tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, and thus builds up the whole system and prepares it to meet the change to warmer weather.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is a medicine upon which you may depend. It is the only true blood purifier prominently before the public eye to-day. It has a record of cures unequalled in the history of medicine. It is the medicine of which so many people write, "Hood's Sarsaparilla does all that it is claimed to do." You can take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the confident expectation that it will give you pure blood and renewed health. Take it now.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

Prominently in the Public Eye To-day.

A LESSON.

When in my heart love first began,
So well I played my part,
Her father said I was a man
Right after his own heart.

Her sister said I was a dear,
Her brother thought me fine,
And to mamma did I appear
A creature half divine.

But when I asked her for her hand
She laughed a laugh most gay,
And told me in sweet accents bland
To call some other day.

Next time I find myself involved
By fate in love's mad whirl,
Upon one thing I am resolved:
I'm going to court the girl.

—Tom Masson, in Detroit Free Press.

A ROMANTIC TRAGEDY.

THE Little Tennessee river winds circuitously through these large mountains and finally finds its way into the Tennessee at Lenoir City, at a point near the state line between Tennessee and North Carolina. Yellow creek empties into the Little Tennessee. About five miles up this creek lived old man Burchfield and his family, composed of his wife and two children, one a boy of sixteen and the other a girl of eighteen. Their parents called them Lem and Lize. Lem did not amount to much, but Lize was known through all the mountain settlements. She had a pretty face and a beautiful figure. The arts of fashion were never known to her and nature was her only teacher. She could climb a mountain or shoot a rifle as good as anyone.

A few miles from the Burchfields there lived another old settler named Wilson. This old man was blessed with a large crop of boys, the oldest being known as "Bill."

Bill was not a handsome boy, neither was he extra smart, but, as old man Burchfield expressed it, "he was one of the evenest boys you ever seen." Bill was passionately fond of Lize, and more than one Sunday did he spend at the Burchfield cabin "a-woolin' and a-cooin' of her." His affection was by no means reciprocated, for this fair maiden loved another. Lize had once attended a dance in Cade's Cove, and while there she met a young man named Zeb Simpson. They danced together several times, and before the festivities were over Zeb and Lize had told each other of their love.

Zeb was a little handsomer in the eyes of Lize than Bill, and besides he had traveled. He could sit and tell all about the big houses in Maryville and Sevierville, having visited both places.

On the following Sunday Zeb was also a visitor at the Burchfield cabin, much to the discomfort of Bill. Zeb continued his visits, and it was not many months before there was a deadly enmity between the two mountain bucks. It was reported that Bill had said he would kill his rival before he should take his girl away from him. This greatly annoyed Lize and Zeb, because they had an idea that Bill would do just as he had said, so they put their heads together and fixed, as they thought, a great plan to get rid of Bill.

The plan agreed upon was this: Bill owned a small still way up the creek, where he made enough whisky for his own use and a little to sell. Zeb was to go to Maryville, where he could find Freshair, a revenue man, and inform him of the still in the mountains. Freshair was to go to Lize, and from her he was to get all the information needed. The revenue man started out

"Throw up your hands!" the man with the Winchester exclaimed.
"All right, Mister Officer," said Bill. "Come on an git me; I am not er goin' to feel hard at you. I am er ready to go with yer, but please let me say a few words afore I leave my still."
"All right," said the officer, and as Bill knelt down he was heard to utter these words:
"Good-by, old still, I may never see yer again, but I swear afore God that if I live ter git outen this me or Zeb Simpson will die."

Bill had seen through the whole scheme, and had taken an oath to kill the man who had robbed him.
The revenue man destroyed the still and carried his prisoner to Maryville jail, where a number of other prisoners were incarcerated preparatory to attending the "big court" at Knoxville. There were several murderers confined in the jail, and a plan of escape was in progress when Bill was placed inside its walls. They found no trouble in getting the new man to help them, and for three weeks they worked all the time they could, and finally a night was set to make a break for freedom. Their plans were successful, and the next morning the town was all astir over a jail delivery. In the excitement which followed Bill was forgotten. There were more important ones to catch, and he found no trouble in making his way back to his old home.

He traveled over the mountains where no one would see him, and he slipped in home after dark one Saturday night. The old folks were glad to see him, but he was destined to receive bad news. Zeb was coming over to marry Lize the next day.

Bill never said a word, but went to his bed, after eating a snack, telling his folks that he would not be home on the following day.

Before daybreak Bill took his old trusty rifle and wended his way over to the foot of "Old Bald" mountain, where he knew Zeb would pass on his way to Burchfield's.

HER EYES FELL UPON TWO MEN LYING PROSTRATE ON THE GROUND.

He sat down on the side of the path and waited. About two hours after sunup he saw some one coming down the mountain with a rifle on his shoulder. Upon closer examination it proved to be his old-time rival. Would he step back in the bushes and murder him? No. Face to face he would meet him and settle the grudge. Zeb plodded along with a light heart, not dreaming of the fate which awaited him. As he suddenly rounded a turn in the path he recognized not twenty feet in front of him his old enemy, Bill Wilson.

"Zeb," said Bill, "you beat me outen the gal, and you thought I was in jail, but I am here right now to kill you."
Hardly had he uttered these words when two rifles were quickly raised and two shots were quickly fired, but only one report could have been heard. Zeb was shot through the heart, while the deadly leaden missile wended its way through Bill's brain, and they both fell dead. At the Burchfield mansion all was astir. The neighbors had assembled to witness the marriage ceremony. Ten o'clock came and the groom had not put in his appearance; eleven and twelve o'clock came without any change, and the impatience of Lize knew no bounds. Without saying a word to anyone she slipped out of the cabin and wended her way in the direction her lover would come, hoping to meet him on the road.

On and she went until she nearly reached the foot of Bald mountain, when she stumbled and fell. She got up and sat down at the foot of a tree and waited several hours for Zeb to come. Would she go to him? Yes.
With a sudden start she arose, and hardly had she gone ten steps before her eyes rested on the forms of two men lying prostrate on the ground. She started to run at first, but finally concluded to see what was the matter. When she got closer she saw who it was, and not being able to stand the shock she fell in a dead faint.

The Burchfields and neighbors waited for Lize to return, and at last they concluded to go in search of her. They found her at the foot of the mountain, lying on the ground, unconscious, and a little further on they found Bill and Zeb. The Burchfields soon restored Lize to her reason, but in no manner would she answer any questions applied to her. A consultation was held and it was agreed that they should all go home, as it would soon be dark, and the next morning they would return and bury the dead where they were found.

A great sensation was created, but it soon died away. The general belief was that Zeb and Bill had met and quarreled over Lize and their deaths were the result.

Five years had passed and Lize had grown into womanhood. During all this time she had never uttered one word in regard to the tragedy. One Sunday, when she was attending meeting, she became very much interested, and before the services were over she had professed her faith in God, and to that assemblage gathered there she related every detail from beginning to end of this noted case and asked forgiveness of everyone for the part she played.

Every year, as long as she lived, at a certain time she would go and gather wild flowers and place over these two graves.

Death finally called her away, and the two graves are grown over with grass, and the stranger who passes by never fails to wonder who is buried there.—Chattanooga Times.

NAPOLEON AFTER ARCOLE.

It Was Then That His Imperious Spirit Began to Develop.

The two months between the middle of November, 1795, and the middle of January, 1797, display a marked change in Bonaparte's character and conduct. After Arcole he was a man very different from the novice he had been before Montenotte. Twice his fortunes had hung by a single hair, having been rescued by the desperate bravery of Rampon and his soldiers at Monte Legino, and again by Angereau's daring at Lonato, twice he had barely escaped being made a prisoner, once at Valeggio, once at Lonato; twice his life had been spared in the heat of battle as if by a miracle, once at Lodi, once again at Arcole.

These facts had apparently left a deep impression on his mind, for they were turned to the best account in making good a new step in social advancement. So far he had been as adventurous as the greatest daredevil among the subalterns, staking his life in every new venture; hereafter he seemed to appreciate his own value, and to calculate not only the exposures of his person, but the intimacy of his intercourse, with nice adaptation to some great result. Gradually and informally a kind of body-guard was organized, which, as the idea grew familiar, was skilfully developed into a picked corps, the best officers and finest soldiers being made to feel honored in its membership. The constant attendance of such men necessarily secluded the general-in-chief from those colleagues who had hitherto been familiar comrades.

Something in the nature of formal etiquette once established, it was easy to extend its rules and confirm them. The generals were thus further and further separated from their superior, and before the new year they had insensibly adopted habits of address which displayed a high outward respect, and virtually terminated all comradeship with one who had so recently been merely the first among equals. Bonaparte's innate tendency to command was under such circumstances hardened into a habit of imperious dictation. In view of what had been accomplished, it would have been impossible, even for the most stubborn democrat, to check the process. Not one of Bonaparte's principles had failed to secure triumphant vindication.—Prof. W. M. Sloane, in Century.

THE ORIGINAL CONSTITUTION.

Singular Manner in Which the Precious Document Is Preserved.

The original constitution of the United States was written upon a long roll that was afterward cut up and put under glass in five oak frames two inches deep, and fourteen by nineteen inches in size. In four of these frames are parchment sheets, easily filling the space on which is written the constitution of the United States. In the fifth frame are the signatures, and the resolution submitting the document to the states for ratification. This is the original of our national constitution—the only constitution our republic ever had. Most states of the union have had from two to half a dozen constitutions, and the Empire state has recently changed its constitution again.

The lines of this original constitution of the United States run across the sheet, and the penmanship is very coarse. The preamble, which so many of you can repeat, is separated from the text by a narrow space, and there is no attempt at fancy lettering in the opening words, as there is in the articles of confederation. Many of the signatures are the same as found at the bottom of the Declaration of Independence. The amendments, even the very first one, do not form part of the original, but are written upon separate rolls of parchment, and preserved in tin tubes that stand in the corner of a closet. The number of these tubes is greatly increased by those that contain the official ratifications by the states. The earlier of these ratifications includes approval of the constitution and of the earlier amendments. Later amendments, such as the celebrated Fourteenth and Fifteenth, adopted at later dates, required separate ratifications, and separate tubes.—Harper's Young People.

For years Peter Tellerdam, about 73 years old, had lived in the attic-room of a business block in Muskegon and was never suspected of having a cent. MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.
LANSING, Mich., May 15.—The senate Tuesday killed the Jamieson bill providing for taxing as personal property the franchises of transportation and gas companies and the Detroit terminal street railway bill, which has been before in another form defeated in the house. The Smalley capital punishment bill was made the special order for Friday of this week.

LANSING, Mich., May 15.—The senate on Wednesday passed a bill appropriating $8,000 for the salary of the attorney general and for clerk hire in his office. The salary of the attorney general under the constitution is only $800, and the bill provides for the office of assistant attorney general. The finance and appropriation committee made favorable report on the bill appropriating $25,000 for the removal of the homeopathic department from the state university to Detroit, providing for police matrons in cities having a population of 10,000 and upward, and forbidding employers to designate any particular company in which employees shall insure. The Holmes bill, prohibiting the use of an 80 per cent. or any other percentage clause in insurance policies, was defeated by a vote of 13 to 9.

LANSING, Mich., May 17.—The senate on Thursday passed a bill providing for the recovery of premiums paid to so-called "graveyard" insurance companies and a bill prohibiting political fusion upon all nominations for offices down to constable, and in committee of the whole agreed to the Barnard bill providing for a reduction of the membership of the house from 100 to 64, and to the bill appropriating $25,000 for the removal of the homeopathic department at the university to Detroit.

LANSING, Mich., May 18.—The senate Friday passed the house bill appropriating $38,000 for each of the years 1895-96 for the support of the industrial home for girls and the bill for the incorporation of labor societies, empowering them to sue and be sued. A university appropriation bill similar to that defeated in the house Thursday was taken from the table and referred to the university committee and a hard fight will be made to force it through in the last days.

HOUSE.
LANSING, Mich., May 14.—The house on Monday passed a bill regarding the capital of trust companies hereafter incorporated. In cities of 50,000 or less the capital shall not be less than $100,000; in cities with a population of from 50,000 to 100,000, not less than $150,000; and in Detroit not less than $300,000 or in excess of $3,000,000. All after the enacting clause was stricken out of the Waldo bill, which was designed to transform iron ore and logs in transit from real to personal estate after leaving the mine and the stump. The author estimated that more than $1,000,000 of this property escaped taxation annually.

LANSING, Mich., May 15.—In the house Tuesday bills were passed providing for a parole convict system and appropriating $8,000 for the inspection of factories. An effort to strike out the clause prohibiting the employment in factories of children under 11 years failed.

LANSING, Mich., May 16.—The house spent the entire afternoon Wednesday on a bill appropriating $80,000 for special improvements at the Michigan university. It was finally agreed to in committee of the whole by a vote of 45 to 37.

LANSING, Mich., May 17.—The bill of Donovan, the lone democrat, making it obligatory on all railroad companies doing business in Michigan to sell mileage tickets good over any road in the state was passed by the house Thursday, after being amended so as to permit the use of the mileage by any member of the family of the person purchasing it. The fight of the session in the house came up over the bill appropriating $80,000 for special improvements at the Michigan university. The amount in the original budget had been reduced from $102,000. When the vote was finally reached it was defeated, 43 to 44, but the vote was reconsidered and the bill tabled and the fight will be renewed.

LANSING, Mich., May 18.—The house passed a bill on Friday compelling the employment of at least one brakeman for every two passenger cars. The bill fixing the compensation of members of the legislature at $750 is not likely to pass. It was recalled from the senate and tabled in the house. Final adjournment is set for May 21, and sessions will be held every weekday and evening hereafter. There is still much important legislation to be considered, including the legislative, senatorial and congressional apportionment bills.

Gibson and a first cousin of the late United States Senator Randall G. Gibson, of Louisiana. He was married on March 6 to Miss Mary R. Shoemaker, a cultivated and beautiful woman of Cincinnati, the niece of M. M. Shoemaker. The marriage was quite a society event in that city. Mr. Gibson was for two years at the West Point military institute, but owing to his father's death, did not finish his course. He held an important position in Washington territory under President Cleveland's first term. Financial troubles and ill-health are given as the cause of the suicide.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The president has signed the proclamation declaring the Yanpton Sioux reservation in South Dakota and the Siletz reservation in Oregon open to settlement at noon May 21. The lands will be thrown open to settlement within a few days after the issuance of the proclamations. The Yanpton reserve embraces about 165,000 acres of the best land in the Dakotas, but the Siletz is a small one.

In the afternoon, at 1:30 Vernon Sawyer, of Webster, will tell about "Teaching in District Schools," and Prof. B. A. Hinsdale of the University will deliver a lecture. This meeting will be a very important one for the teachers of the county, and it is hoped by Mr. Cavanaugh, the county school commissioner, that all teachers will be present who can come.

July 4th is approaching and as yet no preparations have been made for a celebration. The longer we delay, the less liable we are to act. Neighboring villages are going to celebrate and are making preparations for the event. Now shall we go visiting on the Fourth and spend our money out of town, or remain in Chelsea, spend what money we have to spend with our home merchants and thereby receive the benefit ourselves. If by a little effort we can keep our people at home and at the same time have a large crowd of visitors who will leave nearly $1,000 in the town, why isn't it the proper thing to do. We have two bands, an orchestra, plenty of hall room for parties, a good park and race track, and can offer as many attractions to amusement seeking people as any other town in the county. By all means let us celebrate and thus revive the time-honored custom which fires young America's heart with patriotism and unites our 65 millions of souls along the line of loyalty to the Stars and Stripes.

CONTRACT.

This duplicate agreement, made and entered into this Twenty-fourth (24th) day of April, A. D., 1895, by and between the Chelsea Electric Light Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Michigan, doing business at Chelsea, in the County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan, party of the first part, and the Village of Chelsea, of said County and State, a municipal corporation, party of the second part, witnesseth as follows:

In consideration of the sums of money to be paid to said first party by said second party, and of the mutual promises and agreements hereinafter contained, said party of the first part agrees to furnish said second party electric arc lights for all its night street lighting for the length of time hereinafter stated, for the price of eighty-four dollars ($84.00) for each light per annum, for the period of ten years from and after the execution of this contract, such price to be payable in monthly instalments of seven dollars ($7.00) per light per month upon the basis of the lighting furnished for the preceding month.

And it is further expressly understood and agreed as follows:

1. There shall be furnished at first, commencing within eight weeks from the execution of this contract and after the designation by the common council of the places where said lights shall be located, and as much sooner as is practicable, twenty electric arc lights of two thousand candle power each and to continue them to the end of the term of this contract.

2. Said lights shall be put in operation at dusk or early candle lighting on the nights when the same are to be furnished.

3. On such nights when by the terms of this contract they are required to be operated they shall be kept lighted and in operation until 12 o'clock midnight, unless prevented by breakage of or injury to machinery, apparatus, wires, or by unavoidable accident.

4. Such lights shall not be operated on any moonlight night, or on any night, when the moon is shown by the almanac to be above the horizon, except during such portions of the evening after the time for lighting and before midnight as the moon shall not be above the horizon.

5. At any time while this contract remains in force said second party may direct said first party to furnish additional street lights within the Village limits at such points as it shall designate, the same to be furnished within eight weeks after being ordered and to continue during the unexpired term of this contract at the same price per light as hereinbefore provided.

6. Said lights shall be suspended from wires or lines fastened to poles of a height of not less than thirty-seven feet above the surface of the earth, and shall be capable of being raised and lowered.

7. Said second party shall by resolution designate the places for erecting or suspending the first twenty lights at the time of authorizing the execution of this contract, or within three weeks thereafter, or by delegating at the time of authorizing such execution to a committee of the common council or to some officer or officers of the village, power to so designate such places.

8. Bills for lights furnished hereunder shall be submitted monthly to said council and shall be finally passed upon at the first meeting after filing such with the Clerk, or at the next subsequent meeting and paid accordingly.

9. In case of dispute between the parties concerning any bill or any item therein, the second party shall audit, allow and pay all that it deems just and payable hereunder, and acceptance of the sum so allowed shall not be taken to be a waiver or acquiescence on the part of the first party nor preclude it from enforcing its just demands, or collecting all other sums to which it is legally entitled.

10. No additional lights shall be ordered by said second party, nor shall the first party be required to furnish or equip any additional street lights here under within six months of the time of the expiration of the same.

11. If any question or dispute arises as to any right to set any pole at any place necessary for any required light, or to suspend any lamp or string any wire or line at or over any place or property convenient or necessary, to comply with the order or direction of said second party or its agents or officers, the first party shall not be liable for any delay thereby occasioned, or any failure to furnish the lights in consequence; provided however, that in case any person may make valid objection to a pole being set in front of their respective premises, said first party and said council shall consult together and fix upon a place for the same.

12. This contract shall remain and be in force for the period of ten years from the date of its execution.

13. Said second party hereby grants to said first party the right to the use of the streets, alleys and public grounds of said village so far as is necessary to enable said first party to construct and operate proper works for the supplying of such light and to enable it to carry out and perform this contract.

In witness whereof the said parties have caused these presents to be executed in duplicate, the said first party causing its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed and these presents to be executed by its President and Secretary, duly authorized, and said second party by also causing its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed and these presents to be executed by its President and Clerk, pursuant to a resolution of its common council adopted April twenty-fourth, 1895.

It's a Grand Success.

The fact has been demonstrated by the thousands of testimonials the Mayers Drug Company, of Oakland, Md., has received since it has sent its famous Mayers Magnetic Catarrh Cure out to the sufferers of catarrh. No medicine has received such an endorsement from the people in so short a time as it did. The makers sell the medicine on business principles, and a patient is not required to buy the medicine by the dozen to get a cure. The Mayers' Magnetic Catarrh Cure sells for $1 per bottle, one bottle to last for a three months treatment. Three bottles is the highest record ever required to complete a cure. General catarrh one bottle is guaranteed. No cure no pay.

This is an unequalled offer and if you are a sufferer from catarrh get a bottle from your druggist, if no benefit derived costs you nothing. A prominent R. R. conductor speaks:

Cumberland, Md., April 29th, 1893.

To the Mayers Drug Co.,

Gentlemen:—Yours to hand, in reply will say that I have the highest regard for your Catarrh Remedy, my trouble is in a chronic form and expect to use more than one bottle. I used one bottle which removed the trouble from the head in good shape and am on the second bottle for throat trouble, if I should succeed with the latter as I did the former I shall write you again in the near future. Hoping it will do for the suffering humanity what it did for me, I remain,

Yours truly

THE SILVER FIGHT.

White Metal People Keep Up the Agitation.

Denver Times Says That It Is Free Silver or Disruption for Republican Party—Conference in Salt Lake City.

DENVER, Col., May 15.—Following the lecture of ex-Congressman Bland in this city, the following editorial published in the Denver Times (rep.) attracted considerable attention:

"When Senator Teller announced that he had cast his last vote for any presidential candidate who was opposed to free silver or lukewarm in its interest, he did it with the knowledge that the republican party of Colorado stood as one man at his back. It is free coinage or disruption for the national republican party in 1896. Which will you choose?"

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 15.—According to a suggestion of Senator Faulkner, chairman of the democratic congressional committee, as announced in a letter received here, a party of free silver speakers probably will make a tour next fall through Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska. The speakers are Senator Morgan, of Alabama; Congressman John M. Allen, of Mississippi; Chauncey M. Black, of York, Pa., president of the National Association of Democratic clubs; Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives James Kerr, Clearfield, Pa.; Lawrence Gardiner, secretary of the democratic congressional committee and of the National Association of Democratic Clubs; W. R. Meyers, late secretary of state of Indiana; and Edward Sefton, stenographer of the democratic congressional committee.

ST. LOUIS, May 17.—J. B. Follett, of St. Louis, is in communication with prominent silver men throughout the country, and if he receives assurance that such a convention is opportune, he will issue a call for a national silver league convention to be held here on March 10, 1896. Local silver men claim they are backed up by the silver men of the west, and particularly those of California, who have expressed disappointment at the methods adopted by Gen. A. J. Warner, of Ohio.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Instead of the great results for free coinage aimed at, the visit to California of Gen. A. J. Warner, of Ohio, head of the American bimetallic party, and Congressman Joseph C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, has apparently been productive of the opposite effect. The result is the flat secession of the state silver league from Gen. Warner's national organization. The executive committee was called at Los Angeles Saturday afternoon. The entire matter was submitted to a sub-committee of five to report upon it. The following is an excerpt of the report:

"They straddle the national bank question by pretending to give the general government the exclusive control over the issue and volume of paper money, when in truth their platform can be fully complied with by leaving the issue and volume of paper money wholly in the hands of the national banks. They attempt to lead the people into the belief that they, who are urging Mr. Sibley for the presidency, are opposed to government partnership with national banking institutions that control the circulating mediums at the pleasure of their foreign stockholders."

The committee, therefore, recommended the adoption of some plainly worded resolutions condemning Gen. Warner and Mr. Sibley, appealing to sister states to organize like the California league and to protect against the caucus method, and calling for a national convention of state leagues to meet at St. Louis, March 16, 1896, to nominate candidates for president and vice president.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 17.—The delegates to the silver conference here have arrived. California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, Colorado, New Mexico, Nevada and Utah have full delegations and there are large numbers of silver men from surrounding regions.

Fully 2,000 people were present when Gov. Rickards, of Montana, called the convention to order. Gov. Rickards made an impassioned address of half an hour's length, detailing the motive of the convention, Gov. Rickards said among other things:

"Existing conditions, reflecting the evil results of monometallism and the misfortune of the business world in every phase of our industrial and social life, have stimulated a demand on part of the masses for a better knowledge of financial propositions that self-interests may be respected at the polls."

"The object of this conference is not to devise free coinage arguments, for such arguments are indelibly written upon the progress and prosperity of the human race, but to place in the hands of the voters these arguments in language that men can understand and apply."

"If this mission be accomplished the victory is won. With the treasures of Europe behind them, with the best talent money can employ, with a subsidized press manufacturing 'facts,' the gold bugs are still hampered by the testimony of current events."

"The movement to corner the gold output of the western region that another issue of government bonds may be forced proves one of the dangerous possibilities of monometallism. Differences of opinion as to the value of this policy or that are blended into common cause of self-defense when the treasury of the United States becomes an object for speculation and the credit of the nation is marked for plunder."

In taking the chair Gov. Thompson made an emphatic speech, in which he declared that the great struggle from now on into the summer of 1896 was to see that no president was named by either party who was not in favor of the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1.

SALT LAKE CITY, U. T., May 18.—The second day of the silver convention was devoted to active business both in session and committee room. The morning meeting was held behind closed doors, the account of the proceedings being given out by the secretary. The entire session was given over to the expression of individual views as to the best plan of procedure. It is noticeable that all the talk was in a moderate strain and that the proposition to form a new party, with silver as the only battle cry does not find much favor. The delegates are almost unanimous that the fight should be made within the ranks of the old parties and that all parties should bind themselves to send no delegates to congress or to national conventions who are not pledged to the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

DUBUQUE, Ia., May 18.—Senator Allison received a challenge from the central bimetallic league to debate the silver question. Senator Allison has made a reply in which he declines to accept the challenge on the ground that plans already formulated for his work during the coming campaign will not permit of his doing so.

BERLIN, May 18.—In spite of the fact that the chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, deprecated the move, the upper house of the Prussian diet, by a vote of 73 to 38, adopted the resolution of Count von Mirbach in favor of steps being taken for the prompt settlement of the currency question by an agreement as to international bimetallicism.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 20.—The following call for a national conference of the friends of silver was promulgated by the Central Bimetallic league of Tennessee Friday:

"TO THE FRIENDS OF SILVER THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES: The single gold standard advocates have called a convention to meet here on the 23rd of this month in an attempt to lead the south to support their policy. The Central Bimetallic league of Memphis, realizing the high importance of meeting their arguments, exposing their fallacies, and counteracting their baneful influences, do hereby request the friends of the silver and gold money of the constitution to organize in every state and county, and to send delegates to a bimetallic convention to be held at Memphis on the 12th and 13th days of June next. The ablest champions of bimetallicism will be present and address the convention."

SALT LAKE CITY, U. T., May 20.—The silver conference Friday engaged in an animated debate over the name for the permanent organization. Many delegates favored "Honest Money union," still others "Silver union," but Gov. Prince objected to confining the movement to one of the metals, stating that the west was as favorable to gold as to silver, and his motion to call the organization the "Bimetallic union" was unanimously adopted. Resolutions were adopted which declare the objects of the organization to be "inculcate the principles of bi-metallicism and the restoration of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 by the circulation of documents, the holding of meetings and other appropriate means."

At the afternoon session R. C. Chambers was elected president, and E. B. Light secretary. A lengthy address to the people of the United States was adopted, in which the delegates composing the conference "representing the states of California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Washington and Wyoming, and the territories of New Mexico and Utah, irrespective of party affiliations, present themselves almost as a unit demanding the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 ounces of silver to 1 ounce of gold, with full legal tender functions accorded to each, and no discrimination against either. It is not as silver miners, but as citizens of this great republic, mindful of its every interest, that we take this position."

BERLIN, May 20.—The bundesrath is now considering the resolution calling upon the German government to take the initiative in a conference for the international use of both gold and silver, which was passed by the upper house of the Prussian diet Thursday. It is expected that the bundesrath will coincide with the motion and will ask France and America or either of them to join a call for a conference within a month. Next week the reichstag will also pass a similar resolution. The bimetallicists have already received 206 signatures in the reichstag, which will give them an absolute majority in that body.

ARTON, Ia., May 20.—In a letter to the Afton Democrat ex-Gov. Boies, of Iowa, comes out for free coinage of silver at a 16 to 1 ratio without waiting for any international action.

Wheat Touches 70c.

CHICAGO, May 18.—Friday morning, within an hour after opening, wheat sold for 70 cents. The market opened at 69 and 69 1/2 cents, showing a sharp advance over the closing price Thursday evening, which was 68 1/2 cents, 1/2 cent below the day's top price. Upon this smart advance there was a feverish bulge, and within a few minutes sales were being made at 70. Then came the usual reaction, and the price fell to 68 1/2, and remained in that locality for most of the day.

Haselton's Resignation Asked For.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The state department has demanded the resignation of United States Minister Haselton. Admiral Meade has charged Mr. Haselton of having been guilty of drunkenness during an occasion of the visit of the United States squadron, and that he left most of the duties of his position to be performed by his private secretary.

WOE IN ITALY.

Death and Destruction Are Caused by Earthquakes.

Six Lives Are Reported Lost in the Suburbs of Florence—Thousands of Buildings Damaged—The People Are Panic-Stricken.

FLORENCE, May 20.—The population of this city was thrown into a state of panic Saturday night by a series of earthquakes that did much damage here and in other places. People who were in their houses when the first shock came ran terror-stricken into the streets and their wild cries could be heard everywhere. The shocks were so violent that houses swayed like ships in a sea, and in a number of cases roofs fell in, injuring many persons who had not sought safety in flight. The wildest scenes were at the theaters, where performances were going on as usual. The first shock caused those in the audience to look wonderingly at each other. Then the earth swayed again, and amid shouts of "Earthquake" the crowds made wild rushes for the exits. Mad with terror, no respect was shown for the women, weak or aged, and in the crush many were badly hurt. Upon reaching the streets the crowds from the theaters met those who had fled from their dwellings, and the excitement that ensued made confusion worse confounded. At Grassina, a suburb of Florence, the shocks were very violent. The extent of the earth movement may be gained from the fact that a loaded omnibus was overturned. Twelve residents of Grassina were hurt.

Great damage was done in Florence. An investigation was made by the municipal authorities, who estimated that 3,000 houses were damaged. At Baris four persons were instantly killed and a great number injured, many of whom will die.

At Lappaggi, another suburb, forty houses were wrecked and two persons killed, many others sustaining painful and probably fatal injuries.

LONDON, May 20.—The Standard's dispatch from Vienna says the earthquake was also felt in Moravia, southern Hungary and Dalmatia, and also at Laibach, where hardly a day now passes without one or two shocks being felt. Serious earthquakes have also been felt in the Ionian islands.

ASSASSINATED.

An Accepted Lover Killed by Disappointed Rival.

VINCENNES, Ind., May 20.—Mose Latta, a young farmer of excellent business and social standing, whose home was just across the river in Illinois, was assassinated Saturday night in the street in North Vincennes. The circumstances make the crime a particularly atrocious one, and the prominence of the victim in this community has given additional violence to the indignation that convulses all the law-abiding people. Mr. Latta had just left the home of Miss Agnes Conlin, a beautiful girl, to whom he was engaged to be married. The assassins, of whom there were, it is believed, several, were evidently lying in wait for him, and the victim had not proceeded far along the street before he was pounced upon by the murderers and shot to death. The murder was wholly unprovoked and premeditated. The hatred of the assassins had, it is said, been aroused against young Latta because Miss Conlin had looked with more favor upon the attentions paid her by Latta than on those of his rivals.

Recently a crowd of young men in North Vincennes met Mr. Latta, and, it is asserted, told him that they would kill him if he continued to call upon the girl or any other young lady in North Vincennes. He paid but little attention to the threats, though the girl and her parents warned him of the desperate character of those who had threatened him.

Saturday night he had gone but a few yards from Mr. Conlin's gate when the murderers rushed from their hiding place and while some were beating him with brass knuckles one placed a revolver to his forehead and shot him through the brain. He fell in the street and the assassins fled.

Latta never spoke. He was dead when several persons who had heard the firing rushed to his side. Officers and squads of volunteers have been scouring the surrounding country in search of the murderers. The names of those who had threatened him are in the possession of the authorities.

FATAL AFFRAY.

Kentucky Family Fued Ends in the Death of Two Young Men.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., May 20.—A few days ago Henry Cooley, of this place, eloped with Sallie Dains, the two crossing over into West Virginia, where they were married. Miss Dains' brothers had long opposed the suit of Cooley and when they learned of the elopement they were furious, and declared their intention of killing their sister's husband. Marshall Cooley, a brother of Henry, intercepted the newly married couple at Pound Gap, about 5 miles from here, and warned them of the fate in store for them. While they were deliberating the best course to pursue the Dains brothers came up and a fight instantly ensued. Marshall Cooley and George Dains were killed outright. Henry and his bride escaped injury.

LYNCHED BY MOB.

Black Brutes Flayed, Burned and Drowned in Florida and Alabama.

ELLAVILLE, Fla., May 20.—Three negroes were lynched Saturday night in a dense swamp on the Suwanee river by white men for assaulting a white girl. It is reported that they were flayed alive and then burned, after being subjected to frightful tortures. The crime for which the negroes were so horribly put to death was one of the most terrible in the history of this section of Florida. The scene of the crime and retribution was in Lafayette, the adjoining county to Madison, on the south. Miss Mamie Armstrong, the beautiful daughter of a prominent Lafayette county farmer, left her home five days ago to spend the night with a neighbor who lived 2 miles distant. The next day Miss Armstrong's father went to the house to bring her home and was alarmed to hear that nothing had been seen of her. Mr. Armstrong alarmed the neighbors and a search was made. The woods were scoured and the Suwanee river dragged. Finally, about midway between the home of Mr. Armstrong and the neighbor's house, the corpse of Miss Armstrong was found in a thick clump of bushes. The body of the girl was in a horrible condition. Every shred of clothing had been torn from it and she had been assaulted. The lower limbs had been torn apart, her head crushed and her throat cut. It was evident that the girl had made a desperate fight, for under the nails of her fingers were found pieces of black cuticle, which she had torn from her assailants.

Sam Echols was suspected and threatened with instant death unless he confessed. He did so, and implicated Sam Crowley and John Brooks. Echols said that they kept the girl for twenty-four hours before killing her, forcing her in the meanwhile to repeatedly submit to the most horrible indignities. For the greater part of the time, the negro said, Miss Armstrong was unconscious.

Having secured the negroes implicated by Echols, the white men proceeded with the three fiends to a dense swamp on the Suwanee river, where they were made to suffer torture similar to that which they had inflicted on the girl. The white people are terribly aroused and swear that they will exterminate the negroes if these outrages are continued.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 20.—About a month ago Jeride Shivers and two other negro men enticed three young daughters of a white farmer away from home in Coffee county and detained them in the woods for a week. The girls finally made their way home again, but the rascals who led them off could not be found, in spite of a diligent search being made for them. Saturday, however, it was learned that Shivers was in a certain house near Tabernacle, that county, and a posse quietly captured him, and, taking him to the river, placed a rope around his neck, threw him into the water and drowned him.

COURTS MUST CLOSE.

Appropriations Made for Their Support Are Exhausted.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—It is stated at the department of justice that nothing can be done so far as the officials can discover to keep the United States courts going. The appropriation for witness fees and the pay of court bailiffs is exhausted. Formerly congress appropriated lump sums for department expenses, but now each item is appropriated for separately and the attorney general cannot use one appropriation to pay the expense appropriated for under another head. It is learned that the appropriation for the department of justice for the fiscal year beginning July 1 next is $2,030,000 short of the estimate submitted and that estimate within a few dollars of what congress appropriated for this department for the current fiscal year and which is now so short that the United States courts have to close up.

Here and There.

Michigan farmers are warned not to tie their wool with sisal twine. The eastern manufacturers object to the use of this twine for reason that the fiber mixes with the wool and greatly injures its value.

A clergyman not a thousand miles from here has many notes for a project book which he will name "What I Saw From My Pulpit." The volume will contain vivid descriptions of spooning in the pew and hair pulling and various discords in the choir. The book will have a great run and so will the minister if he mentions any names.

Roads are at once a means and an evidence of civilization. The remains of the Roman highways testify of their advancement and show how they carried Roman ideas to the utmost bounds of the Empire. There is nothing our people more need than to "mend their ways"; nothing for which they would more willingly be taxed.

May is the month when corn is planted and it is the most important crop in this country. Its value is not in the grain only. No other crop on the farm can compare with it as a forage producer. It is a great feeding plant and uses any kind of fertilizer that may be applied. The roots run in all directions, forming a close netting near the surface. It will endure considerable drouth, and delights in warm summer days.

Professor Henry of the Wisconsin station is credited with the following: It is not advisable to sow white clover alone on land for hog pasture, but a mixture of several grasses, such as two bushels of blue grass, one bushel of orchard grass, one peck of timothy and four pounds of white clover seed. Sow this on three acres of ground, with a very light seeding of oats or barley, or, better still, without any grain at all. It is suggested that the land be not pastured until the sod is well formed, and if the grass runs up tall that it may be cut for hay. No stock should be turned in on the field until the second season, unless for a few weeks in the fall while the ground is dry. Thick seeding is urged.

A sea story from San Francisco says that the coal laden ship Wachausett recently encountered a gale, with high cross seas running. During the height of the gale a terrible wave came down upon the vessel, sweeping her full length. Four seamen were washed overboard. The four men were carried some distance off, only to be swept back to the vessel again by a tremendous cross sea. Three of them were violently thrown upon the deck. The fourth man was washed within reach of the lower sheet, which had dipped to the rolling craft. He grabbed it, held fast, and was hauled safely on board. It is difficult to say whether this story should have been sold to a soap factory or a dealer in cosmetics. It seems to be strongly impregnated with lie and certainly it is the greatest wash ever offered to the American people.

Housekeepers need one day in seven for rest as much as any other class of laborers, but too often the Sabbath is crowded with work that seems inevitable. While some duties must be performed, Sunday's work may be greatly lessened. Much work may be saved on Sunday in the cooking. During the week the wise housewife will plan all her Sunday meals and purchase everything needed. It does not look very consistent to see professed Christians patronize butcher shops, bakeries, milk and ice wagons on the Lord's day. The mother's Sabbath is not complete unless some time is spent in religious instructions, and by an attractive recital of Bible stories, early teaching a love for God's work. This hour can be made one of real pleasure to the little ones if wisely conducted, and will be a bright spot in their memories and an incentive to right living in the years to come. A calm, useful, well-spent Sabbath is the crowning joy of the whole week.

In promulgating you esoteric cogitations and in articulating your superficial sentimentalities and amicable philosophical or psychological observations beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your conversational communications possess a clarified consciousness, a compacted comprehensibility, coalescent consistency and a concatenated cogency. Eschew all conglomerations of flatulent garrulity, jejune babblement and asinine effusions. Let your extemporaneous decantings and unpremeditated expatiations have intelligibility and veracious vivacity without rhodomontade or thrasological bombast. Sedulously avoid all polysyllabic profundity, pompous prolixity, psittacous vacuity, ventriloquial verbosity and vaniloquent vapidity. Shun double ententes, purient jocosity and pestiferous profanity, obscure or apparent. In other words, talk plainly, briefly, naturally, sensibly, purely and truthfully. Keep from slang; don't put on airs; say what you mean; mean what you say and don't use big words.

Fowls on the Farm.

It is impossible to get the best results from fowls kept cooped in a pen, especially during hot weather. Disease and vermin get a foothold among them unless they have ample range to sun and shade themselves by contact with fresh earth. A yard, no matter how small, that can be plowed or cultivated once a week during the summer will make a rolling piece for them. It will be all the better if the grain feed is given on this plowed surface and the fowls obliged to scratch for it. They may lose a little grain, but most of it will turn up at the next cultivation, or if it germinates its green sprout will be eaten. On farms the better plan is to let the fowls range everywhere, protecting the garden by a fence, and reserving the hens with small chickens.
