FULLER WAS MISTAKEN.

DOINGS OF A FORMER RESIDENT OF CHELSEA.

An Interesting Letter from up the Lakes - Crop Report for June - The Washington Letter - Other Items of Interest to Standard Readers.

Fuller Was Mistaken.

The following, concerning a former resident of Chelsea, was taken from a special dispatch from Owosso to the Detroit Journal, July 12th: "City Marshal Barrisford received a telephone message that E. C. Fuller, representing himself as agent for an exporting firm, hired a horse and buggy at Mason, Monday and had not been heard of since. Fuller was here Wednesday looking up his family, who live here. He told Barrisford they left him in Chicago two years ago, taking all the furniture with them, and that he had been making diligent search for them ever since. He heard they were here and came and demanded the goods. They wired, a son, Harry Fuller, living in Chicago, who came and told an entirely different story. He said his father was dissipated and so cruel his family could not live with him. He also said his father was wanted in Chicago for stealing diamonds. In the meantime the elder Fuller left, saying he was going to Lansing, and would return. He has not done so. Barrisford is trying to get a photograph of Fuller for Sheriff McEwen."

From Up the Lakes.

CALUMET, MICH, July 12, '95.

EDITOR STANDARD:-

As I agreed, I will try and tell you of some of the things I saw on my trip. We left Detroit at 11 a. m. Saturday, July 6, on the iron steamer, "India." She is 265 feet long and has a capacity of 1,200 tons. She was loaded very light this trip having only 300 ton freight and 125 passengers. There is every convenience of a first class hotel on board, and the table is grand.

After leaving Detroit, we passed Belle Isle, a most beautiful park. A beautiful ride of twenty-five miles took us through Lake St. Clair and to the St. Clair Flats which are lined with cottages. We then went up St. Clair river to Port Huron, which is a small, dirty town as far as we could see from the boat. We only stopped here ten minutes, and then put out in Lake Huron for a run of twenty-two hours to Mackinac Island. All day Sunday the lake was covered with a dense fog and very hot. The fog horn blew every three minutes all day. We arrived at Mackinac Island at 4 p. m. Here we find a great summer resort. The principal points of interest here are Arch Rock, 149 feet high; Sugar Loaf Rock, 90 feet high; Skull Cave; three cemeteries, Look Out Point, 298 feet high; Fort Holmes, 319 feet high, built by the British in 1812. There are also lookout houses, built in 1780. Lovers Leap, 140 feet high; Devils Kitchen; Washing Spring and the Grand Hotel. The time being so short, we only took a passing look at these points.

We then went to the "Soo," which is the most picturesque place we have been in yet. The great points of interest here are the locks, which lock the boat from Lake Huron to Lake Superior and vice versa, a raise or fall of 19½ feet. We found here about twenty-five boats to be locked through. I had a lot of sport here fishing, catching herring, lake trout and white fish. We stayed here three hours, and then put out in Lake Superior for Marquette. Before reaching that point, however, we had the experience of our lives. At 3 o'clock the wind began to blow, and at six o'clock the waves were running twenty feet high, about every third wave going over the deck. Very few came out to supper. I was one of the few, but was afterward sorry that I was. At ten o'clock the gale was so strong that the Captain thought best to run in behind Grand Island where we lay at anchor until morning. The storm was over then, but the sea was rising so that the boat rolled and pitched about as much as in the storm. We did not really enjoy our ride until we reached Marquette.

After leaving there the lake was smooth and we had a lovely trip to Hancock, a little, one-horse town, built on the side-hill. Here we take a narrow gauge railroad for Calumet, and it is the wildest country I ever saw. Arriving at Calumet, we find the greatest conglomeration of towns one ever struck, they are all in a huddle and named as follows: Osceola, Larium, Hecla, Calumet, Red Jacket, Blue Jacket, Yellow Jacket, Old Tamarack, North Tamarack, Tamarack Jr., Centennial, Wolverine and Kearsarge. I have not been around the mines any yet, but will tell you about them later.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special Correspondence.

The opinion is being quietly expressed by a good many democrats that Senator Gorman will come out strong as a candidate for the presidency before the next democratic national convention. The statement is ventured, with a few significant nods, that the situation is more favorable to his candidacy than ever before. It is said that he holds this opinion himself, and that he is keeping very quiet, so as not to flush the game too early. This idea gets encouragement from the fact that candidates for the democratic nomination appear to be scarce. There is a list of republican candidates almost as long as a city directory. There are a dozen or more of them so conspicuously available as to make their chances appear about even in the race. But with the democrats there appears to be such a scarcity of available men that the question which most often recurs is: "Where shall we find a candidate?" On the theory that Mr. Cleveland is himself a candidate the situation may have some significance. If, as we believe, Mr. Cleveland wants to be renominated for the fourth time, this silence as to other candidates is just the thing for his interest. If he is not intending to be a candidate himself, there is no doubt whatever that he wants at least to designate the sort of candidate who shall lead the party after the national convention. In this connection there is no need that the administration candidate should appear. Mr. Cleveland stands for him, whoever he may be, and the longer his identity is in doubt the better. The suggestion is made that the administration people will make the bold move of offering the presidential nomination to the south. If this is done, it will be by the practical unanimous agreement of the eastern sound money delegates, and man selected for their candidate will probably not be Mr. Carlisle, but Secretary Hoke Smith of Georgia. The latter is an interesting possibility.

Official society in Washington represents an enormous undertaking, a great burden, and its besetting sin is tardiness. At the White House dinners scheduled always for 7:30 o'clock, the guests are seldom present at that hour, although foreigners, especially those from the Oriental countries, are usually in the East Room to be received by the president and wife as soon as they enter. During the course of the season, a great many dinner guests arrive at the last moment, rush wildly up the stairs to lay aside their wraps, and join the procession en route to the dining room - just in time. Mrs. Cleveland sets a shining example herself in always being on time. It is said of her that she also makes a toilet in less time than almost any other woman prominent in Washington. She frequently returns from a long drive fifteen minutes before an appointment, and when her guests arrive she is there to greet them in a pretty housegown and as fresh as a rose. Contrary to the usual idea, Mr. Cleveland rather enjoys the greeting the countless men and women of all degrees who come to the White House to pay their respects. The chief executive is especially anxious, too, that the public receptions should be the most elaborate of them all, that the decorations should be, if anything, more gorgeous than ever for eyes not accustomed to gaze on such beauty. In many respects democracy is still one of the great dominant traits of official life in this country.

The new presidential baby, born at Gray Gables, last Sunday, is a daughter, although it was an open secret that a boy baby would not have been unwelcome. The new baby cannot claim the proud title of being a real White House baby. The general impression among the good mothers of these parts was that the president would, in common pride of human nature, incline to make the White House the theater of his third appearance in the role of parent. But the president has domestic notions of his own, possessing the resolution at a time like this to turn his back on the White House and make Gray Gables the center of July interest. Of the line of genuine White House babies, Esther Cleveland is the last. The first White House baby was a girl, and made her debut faraway back in 1880. She was the daughter of President Jackson's niece. She is now a widow, Mrs. Wilcox, and has since Grant's time been a clerk in the treasury department. The first White House baby is an old, gray-haired lady and the day Baby Esther was born, she was at her desk in the treasury not one hundred yards from the last baby's cradle. It is a fact that until Robert Tyler Jones, the child of President Tyler's daughter, died here in abject poverty only a few weeks ago, the curious searching the White House could only find two White House babies - Mrs. Wilcox and Tyler Jones - earning their meager salaries at their desks; coins from which they could overlook the great house they were born in, not a stone's throw away. But the great house has changed hands a great many times since their cradle days, and the new tenants were strangers to them. The list of White House babies is a short one. Only six in all. And when the sixth and last was born her father was entitled to remark, that of all the chief magistrates since the dignified days of Washington, Grover Cleveland was the first to become a parent during his term of office. Of these interesting six, the first, gray-haired and old, bends over her desk for the bread she eats; the last baby has life all untold before her. Truly the record does not show that to be born a White House baby is any absolute advantage. The hovel baby may live to be wiser, happier and better off.

Americans who insist that their country does everything a bit better than it is done elsewhere are likely to be humiliated at a fact which came to the surface a few days since. It is officially announced that the big United States battle ships needing docking will be sent to the British dock at Halifax, which is the only one on the Atlantic coast big enough to accommodate the larger vessels of the new navy. What an absurd thing it is to depend upon a foreign country for the essentials necessary to keep their own war ships in order. The so-called economists in Congress whose behavior is largely responsible for our short comings may perhaps be proud of their peevish success, but the nation generally must surely feel disgusted.

Crop Report.

For this report on wheat more than 1,100 returns have been received, representing all parts of the state. The correspondents estimate the yield per acre in bushels and not in percentage of previous or average crops. The average of the estimates for the state and each section as follows: State, 9.88 bushels; southern counties 9.14 bushels; central counties 11.18 bushels; northern counties 11.82 bushels, and upper peninsula, 14 bushels. The estimates for the state is the lowest ever made July 1; it is nearly six bushels lower than the estimate of July 1, 1894, and nearly 7 bushels lower than the average yield in the eighteen years, 1873-1893.

The light crop is mainly because of the drouth that has prevailed all the season and still continues, yet other causes have worked more or less injury. A correspondent well says: "Light top last fall freezing and thawing in spring, frosts in May and drouth in April, May and June". To these should be added extensive damage by insects.

The number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in June is 522,311 as compared with 869,361 reported marketed in June, 1894, and the amount marketed in the eleven months, August-June is 10,569,300 bushels as compared with 14,293,306 bushels in the same months last year.

The acreage planted to corn is slightly in excess of the acreage, and the condition is 91 per cent of condition in average years.

Oats are estimated at 61 per cent of an average crop. The average for the southern counties is only fifty-seven per cent.

The acreage planted to potatoes is 6 per cent in excess of average years, and in condition the crop promises 86 per cent of an average. Corn and potatoes seem to have stood the drouth remarkably well. If an abundance of rain comes soon, both crops may be expected to yield fairly well.

Meadows and pastures were probably never in poorer condition at this date and the spring seeding to clover is nearly all lost.

The outlook for apples and peaches is not encouraging. The former promises perhaps one-third, and the latter five-eighths of an average crop.

The Delineator.

The August number of the Delineator is called the midsummer number, and contains a large variety of interesting matter suitable for the season. Ladies who have deferred completing their summer wardrobes will be particularly pleased with this number, for the styles were never more dainty and appropriate. A special article is devoted to Dressing for Stout Ladies, and another to Bathing and Swimming, with illustrations of the latest fashions in Bathing Costumes. Mrs. Roger A. Pryor's article on the Etiquette of Letter-writing bears the stamp of authority, and will be helpful to every one who reads it; and the paper on Art Needlework in the Employment Series will direct the attention of many women to this occupation as a means of livelihood. There is a very practical article on cleaning and renovating laces, feathers and gloves, and a variety of useful information is given in the monthly talk, around the Tea Table. The housekeeper will find some new recipes in Seasonable Cookery and much that will help to make housework easier in Things the Housewife Should Know. New designs are illustrated and described in Knitting, Tatting and Lace Making.

FIERCE FOREST FIRES SWEEP MICHIGAN.

Wolverine Woods Ablaze in the Upper Part of the Lower Peninsula—Big Southern Coal Pool Formed—Preacher Dies of a Pin Frick.

Country All Aflame.

Trains on railroads from the north due in Grand Rapids, Mich., early Wednesday evening did not arrive until after midnight, having been delayed by forest fires at various places along the lines. On the Chicago and West Michigan road the little towns of Wallin and Clary, between Thompsonville and Traverse City, have been entirely wiped out, and the residents have taken refuge at Thompsonville. The wires are down, and full particulars are not obtainable, but passengers arriving there report that no lives were lost. On the Grand Rapids and Indiana the village of Morley is threatened, and fires have been ranging along the track between Manton and Mancelona. The summer resort, Oden-Oden, was surrounded by forest fires and was in danger of being burned. Wallin consisted of one hotel, one store, a saw-mill, warehouse, coal-bin and about twenty houses. People are without clothing or food. One child is missing. Many were overcome by the heat. Already a number of farmhouses have been burned and the people are coming into the towns with tears streaming down their faces, because, as they declare between sobs, they have lost all the property they have on earth. From the ports along Lakes Michigan and Huron come messages that the smoke from the forest fires is proving a serious menace to navigators.

Big Coal Combine.

At a meeting of coal mine operators controlling seven-eighths of the coal output of Alabama, and representing over $20,000,000 capital, held in Birmingham, the formation of a gigantic coal combine was practically completed. The purpose of the pool, a leading operator says, is to put an end to ruinous competition, by securing better freight rates and the realization of such a profit on their product as will enable them to pay their miners good wages. It is the purpose of those in the pool to extend it so as to include all the mines in Tennessee and Kentucky.

The table yet to be prepared relates to occupations, and it has been necessary to delay it until the present time. The report will contain twenty-five volumes, and Mr. Wright expresses the opinion that it will be the most complete of its kind ever published by the Government. The total cost will be about $11,500,000, or about double the cost of the census of 1890.

Two thousand persons saw a policeman kill a man Monday night in the heart of Chicago. The man had tried to rob a saloon and kill the man who owned the place. He was put to flight and dashed into the street with the saloon-keeper in pursuit. Through several crowded blocks they ran, over a cable car, and then a mob joined in the chase. The would-be thief fired at his pursuers and wounded two of them. He was brought to bay at last and shot to death. The chase began at McGlothlin's saloon, No. 64 Adams street. The man was killed in front of the woman's entrance to the Auditorium Hotel in Congress street. The three men who were wounded were badly hurt and one is not expected to live.

Fire destroyed $120,000 worth of property in the Parry storage warehouse, Nos. 158 and 160 West Monroe street, Chicago, the other night. Household goods belonging to over 500 people and valued at $50,000 were totally consumed. Little of this property was insured. Norton Pope owned the buildings, which were worth $35,000 and insured for $20,000. George Parry, the warehouse man, had a furniture store at No. 100 with a stock and warehouse fixtures valued at $35,000. Only chaired walls are left standing in front and rear, the larger part of the west wall having fallen during the progress of the fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. The only explanation is found in the fact that a large open barrel of kerosene oil stood in the middle of the ground floor. From this barrel the men filled their lamps. The flames seemed to originate there, and carelessness on the part of the employees is alleged as the cause of the fire.

A family of six persons, consisting of Frederick Hellman, his wife and four children, were asphyxiated by gas in their home at 901 Cornelia street, Chicago, Thursday night. The gas which brought death to the family escaped from a jet near the head of the bed occupied by Hellman and three of the children. This was found partly open when the neighbors crowded into the little sleeping apartment. The whole family slept in one small room only 6 by 8 feet in dimensions. The window was closed and the gas soon filled the lungs of the sleeping family and ended their lives. The discovery of the tragedy was not made till rather late Friday morning. About 9:30 o'clock Mrs. Hellman, mother of Frederick, called at her son's house, but to her great surprise found the doors closed and the windows shades still drawn. She went to the rear of the house and the kitchen door yielded to her push. She entered the house, met a strong odor of gas and suspected at once that something was wrong. She went immediately to the family sleeping room, where she found her son and his family dead in their beds, while the fatal fumes still poured into the room from the half-opened gas jet. Except the father, the family seemed to have died easily and without suffering. All but Hellman lay in natural positions, just as though their slumbers were one from which they could be awakened. In the bed with the father were the two boys, Fritz and Willie, and the girl, Ida. The baby of the family, little 4-year-old Hedwig, was with its mother in the other bed. The coroner's jury found that Hellman had deliberately planned and committed the crime.

WASHINGTON.

The treasury deficit for July is already more than $6,000,000.

Ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster has arrived in Washington from China, where he took a conspicuous part in the diplomatic branch of the China-Japan conflict.

A new regulation for the management of prisoners under the control of the military has been issued from army headquarters. It makes four classes of prisoners, according to the status of their trials or grade of punishment; those "in arrest or confinement," "garrison prisoners," "general prisoners" and "military convicts."

President Cleveland has laid down explicit rules for the guidance of the army in dealing with mobs through the medium of the new army regulations which will soon be issued by the War Department. The army has heretofore been without explicit orders in that respect. According to these rules, sharpshooters must pick out men who assault the troops with stones, etc.

FOREIGN.

The Correll crew won its first heat in the race for the Grand Challenge cup at Henley-on-Thames without being forced to show what it could do. The Lander crew, the present holders of the cup, were not ready when the umpire gave the word and did not start. Their fluke gave the American boys the heat without a struggle.

A severe engagement has taken place between the Spanish troops under the command of Col. Aznar and Gen. Rabi, the insurgent leader, at the head of a large force. Two hundred and eighty of the latter were killed. Maj. Sanchez received information to the effect that a force of 1,500 insurgents under the command of Rabi had occupied strong positions near Matanzillo, province of Santiago de Cuba. Consequently the Major sent a messenger to his superior officer, Gen. Aznar, proposing to him that they should join their forces and make an attack upon the insurgents. The messenger, however, fell into the hands of the insurgents, who hanged him and sent word to Maj. Sanchez in the name of Col. Aznar to make an attack upon the insurgent position from a point which compelled the troops to approach the insurgents through a narrow thoroughfare. The soldiers carried this position and put the enemy to flight, with the loss upon the field of 250 killed. The troops lost fifty men in killed and wounded.

A terrible accident occurred at Craig Road Station on the Grand Trunk Railway, about fourteen miles west of Lewis, Can. A very large pilgrimage were bound for the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre. There were two sections of the train, one running a head of the other. The second section dashed in to the rear of the first section, smashing it to kindling wood. The number killed is placed at fourteen and the number injured thirty-four. Among the dead are three priests.

Judge Woods Tuesday morning ordered that the sentence of Debs and the other officers of the American Railway Union be made concurrent, as directed in the original sentence. Judge Woods directed that commitments be made out in the case of Debs for six months and of the others for three months each, to expire at the same time as the sentence in the government contempt case. In commenting upon his action the Judge said that he did not desire any opinion to be formed to the end that he was seeking to punish the men for acts committed in the strike, but that the punishment was simply for contempt of court; that he had originally fixed concurrent sentences and saw no reason why they should not be reinstated, inasmuch as they had been separated in order to permit a vital issue to go before the Supreme Court.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The midsummer reports from all commercial centers indicate distinctly better crop prospects than other official or commercial accounts, a marked increase in retail distribution of products, an active demand for goods, and a general enlargement of the working force, with some advance in the wages of more than half a million hands. At the same time they show that the rapid advance in prices has somewhat checked the buying of a few classes of products. In some parts of the country the outlook for fall trade is considered bright. There were 6,657 commercial failures in the first half of 1895, against 7,039 in the first half of 1894. These commercial failures involved liabilities of $88,839,944 this year, against $101,739,306 last year. Manufacturing failures for the half year were 1,254, against 1,501 last year, and liabilities $40,301,949, against $41,370,102 last year. Trading failures for the half year were 5,335, against 5,402 last year, and liabilities $45,989,830, against $52,345,978 last year. Banking failures not included in above statements were 63, with liabilities of $16,653,276, against 63 last year, with liabilities of $13,184,461. The details show a decrease in every class of failures in the second, compared with the first quarter of 1895, both in number and magnitude, and defaulting liabilities averaging $34, against $40 for every firm in business, and $3.04, against $4.03, for every $1,000 solvent payment.

GOLD FROM THE CZAR.

OFFERED TO BRING UP THE UNITED STATES RESERVE.

Personal Note of the President the Only Security Asked—Japan Wants New Ships—Chautauque Up in Arms—Cuban Rebels Lose Heavily.

Secret Two Years Old.

Recent discussion in the press of the gold reserve in the treasury and the action past and probable of the Morgan-Rothschild bond-syndicate recalled to the inside history of the Cleveland administration the fact that Czar Alexander III. of Russia once offered to loan the United States all the gold necessary to maintain the reserve at any figure desired. The friendly tender was declined by the President, because, after several weeks of consideration and deliberation, and telegraphic correspondence back and forth between Washington and St. Petersburg, it was decided that the President had not the authority to issue bonds or otherwise incur indebtedness on behalf of the government. Since then the power of the President and the Secretary of the Treasury to issue bonds has been determined, and if the offer were repeated by the present Russian ruler it might be accepted. The story of the proposition made by the Czar and the way it was received by the President and his advisers was one of the best kept secrets of the White House. Although the incident occurred some two years ago no hint of it reached the public until now.

Wants New Ships.

It is the belief among officials in Washington that Japan will use a large part of the war indemnity which China is to pay her for the purpose of materially increasing her navy. The financial resources of Japan will be very abundant during the coming year, as she will receive over $100,000,000 before next May and thereafter about $20,000,000 a year for five years. This will be drawn entirely from China and will be in addition to Japan's usual receipts from customs and internal revenues. The customs receipts promise to be very large, as the new treaties which Japan has effected with leading nations will bring about a readjustment of tariff duties, so that much greater returns will be realized. It is owing to the assurance of an ample treasury that American ship-building firms have turned their attention toward Japan.

Chautauque in a Rage.

One hundred and six acres, adjoining the grounds of the Chautauque Assembly, at Chautauque, N. Y., have been secured by the American Brewing Company of Chicago, Milwaukee, and Toronto, and it is the reported intention of the company to erect a beer garden and brewery thereon. Mrs. Kate Hunt, of Buffalo, who owned the property, will receive $30,000. The assembly tried to purchase part of the property this spring, offering $15,000 for fifty acres, but Mrs. Hunt refused to sell a part. Great indignation is felt there over the sale.

BREVITIES.

Will Walker, whose remains were found strewn along the railroad tracks near St. Joseph, Mo., was not killed by the train as first supposed, but was murdered and the body put on the rails to hide the evidences of crime.

The Colorado State Board of Cattle Inspection, has decided, in view of the fact that a movement of 25,000 cattle is expected from old Mexico within a short time, that all such cattle must be inspected before they can be admitted into the State.

The flood situation in Salina, Kan., has grown steadily worse. The waters of the Smoky have now swept over the entire eastern portion of the city, and about 500 persons have abandoned their homes. The river valley for miles on each side has been made desolate and crops and live stock swept away.

The Spanish foreign office has cabled to the Spanish Minister in Washington, Senor Dupuy de Lome, concerning the reported interview of Ambassador Bustin in the Paris Figaro with a view to having the Minister ask the State Department to disavow the reported utterances of Mr. Eustis.

The Red Star Line steamer Westerland sailed for Antwerp Wednesday from New York with the second American national pilgrimage, under the auspices of the Fathers of Mercy, to the European shrines. The first pilgrimage took place last year and the present one was organized at the request of the Pope.

The social session tendered by Atlantic City, N. J., lodge to the visiting Elks at the Baltic avenue Casino ended in a disaster in which fully 100 persons were seriously injured. The session had just opened and only one of the speakers had been heard when, without the slightest warning, the building, which had not been used for several years, collapsed and fully 1,000 persons were thrown to the floor beneath.

Havana advices say: Gen. Gasco has had a three days' fight with the insurgents in the Sierra Maestra. The insurgents lost a great many killed and the troops captured a quantity of arms, ammunition and horses. No further details of the fighting have been yet received. Gen. Navarro is pursuing the insurgents under Garzon, recently defeated near Minas Daiquiri, province of Santiago de Cuba. After being driven from that place the rebels occupied positions at Alto Villalon and later at Matayaguan, from which place they retreated before the advance of the troops with heavy loss.

General Francis M. Drake, of Centerville, was nominated for Governor by the Iowa Republican State convention after a stubbornly contested fight for six ballots. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company this year will spend in the neighborhood of $5,000,000 in the way of improvements, alterations and extension to its property east and west of Pittsburg.

German war ships have arrived at Tangier with orders to insist upon the payment by the government of Morocco of an indemnity of 8,000 marks for the murder of a German citizen named Rockstroff, near Safi.

The New York Herald's correspondent in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, telegraphs that it is impossible to print the details of the finding of the bodies of those who fell after Admiral Salidana da Gama's death. There is a profound sensation in Rio de Janeiro at the recital of the barbarities practiced.

DEATH IN THE STORM.

WIND AND RAIN CAUSE AWFUL HAVOC.

Town of Winona, Mo., Wiped Off the Map and Eleven Persons Drowned—Measure Party Goes Down to Death in Lake Geneva.

Swept by a Flood.

Eleven persons were killed, eight others are missing, twenty or thirty were hurt, and thirty houses were demolished by a flood which all but swept the town of Winona, Mo., out of existence Friday night. Not in the history of Missouri has such an awful story of terror and destruction been told as that which comes from the little town, and Saturday its inhabitants were wandering about in despair, some homeless, many with relatives or friends dead or missing, and all alarmed by the awful calamity from which they had emerged. The dead are: Maggie Cannon, Mrs. Clara Crawford, Myrtle Crawford, little daughter of Mrs. Clara Crawford; the Rev. G. W. Duncan; Mrs. G. W. Duncan, wife of the Rev. G. W. Duncan; Miss Mattie Duncan, daughter of the Rev. G. W. Duncan; John Norris George Nevins, Mrs. Nevins, mother of George Nevins; Miss Norma Nevins, sister of George Nevins;

CHAPTER XXX.

Lord Bayneham was bewildered. If his wife chose to walk out at any hour or in any place she was perfectly free to do so, but he could imagine no reason why she should endeavor to keep so trivial a circumstance secret from him.

"What is it, Simpson?" asked Lord Bayneham, listlessly, annoyed at the interruption.

"I am afraid you shall have some trouble, my lord," replied the man. "I have seen one or two notorious poachers about lately, and I feel sure they have been at their old tricks. I was in the park at last night, and I wanted to tell you, but I saw you here walking with my lady, and I would not interrupt you."

"Save me here?" said the young earl, "where, and at what time?"

"It would be after ten," replied the man. "You were in the Lady's Walk with my lady. I saw her face, but not yours, my lord; I did not like to intrude. Not by one word or look did Lord Bayneham betray his wife."

"Quite right," he said, hastily; "but what about those poachers? I do not believe in the game laws, as some of my neighbors do, but I will have no poachers."

Simpson then entered into details, of which Lord Bayneham never heard one word.

"I will attend to it, Simpson; we will have no poaching," said Lord Bayneham, suddenly interrupting the astonished description of the poaching affray at Balmere. But not one word he had uttered was heard by his young master, who was all impatience to find himself once more with his young wife.

All the way home Lord Bayneham was pondering on the one question—what was walking with his wife after ten at night, when she was supposed to be in her own room? Could it have been Mr. Fulton?—the idea was simply ridiculous. Mr. Fulton might have admired her, might perhaps have addressed some complimentary verses to her; but, under the Earl of Bayneham's own roof he would not dare to solicit an interview with his wife. Even had he the audacity to propose such a thing, it was not likely that the fair, innocent lady of Bayneham would consent to such a proceeding. Whoever was with his wife must have been a stranger, not one of those within his own gates.

The mystery must be solved; she had refused to tell him the contents of the notes; but let that pass—most likely they contained little but nonsense. She would not explain the finding of the bracelet; that, too, might pass, but she must tell him with whom she walked and talked at night and alone.

When Lord Bayneham entered his wife's room she was sitting just as he had left her, still and calm as a statue.

"I must learn to bear it," she had said to herself, when his voice at the door startled her.

NEWS OF OUR STATE.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO MICHIGANDERS.

Hogs Devour a Little Child—Hostilities Between Muskegon Boom Companies—Aged White Negro Dead—Deaf Mute Instructors Elect Officers.

Devoured by Hogs.
The 2-year-old son of Edward Frost, of Venice Township, was eaten up by hogs. Frost was at work on his farm and his wife busy about the house. The child wandered out in the yard at play. After some time the mother called for the child. Hearing no response she went in search and found he had been attacked by hogs, which had knocked him down and eaten the two lower limbs and one arm. The boy was still alive when found, but died soon after.

Farmers Feel Blue.
A good and sufficient rain has not visited the vicinity of Carleton for the past thirteen weeks. The hay crop, now nearly taken care of, averaged less than one-third of an average crop. Wheat now being harvested will be about one-half a crop. Oats are a trifle better, there being some very good fields, but the straw of both oats and wheat is very short, and will afford but little forage after thrashing. But the worst of all at the present time is the pastures, most of which are as bleak and barren as they would be in the month of January.

New Officers Elected.
The American Instructors of the Deaf in a convention at Flint adopted a new constitution and elected the following officers for three years: Dr. E. M. Gallaudet, of Washington, D. C., President; F. D. Clark, of the Michigan School, Vice President; S. T. Walker, of the Illinois School, Secretary; J. L. Smith, of the Minnesota School, Treasurer. Three directors were elected, who with the officers, will form the Executive Committee.

Aged White Negro Is Dead.
James M. Jackson, an aged colored man, who within the past eight or ten years has turned nearly white, died in Lansing at the age of 75 years. He was born in Virginia in 1822, and was for many years a slave. The transformation in his color had been gradual, and save in a few spots on his face he was as white as the ordinary Caucasian at the time of his death.

Short State Items.
Brighton may have an electric light plant.

August Pecor, of Alpena, aged 12, was drowned while bathing.

Isaac Griggs, near Vicksburg, cut his throat with a pocket knife.

Ezra B. Hopkins, a Battle Creek switchman, lost his left leg under a train.

Cattle are being poisoned in large numbers near Dryden, and farmers are looking for the culprit.

A Carleton cow kicked her owner, Walter Viles, so hard that for a time he was thought to be dead.

A war among 800 clothiers raged so fiercely that for a while overalls were selling for cent a pair.

Ann Arbor street railway magnates have arranged fares so that a person may ride two hours for 10 cents.

A little child of Geo. McIntosh, of Dryden, drank a dose of poison and but for prompt medical aid might have died.

Testimony was begun at Detroit in the second trial of Dr. D. J. Seaman, charged with causing the death of Emily Hall.

Marcellus has a citizen who jabs a knife blade into bicycle tires when the wheels are left in front of stores or dwellings.

Martin Fitcher was struck on the head by a falling tree at Good Harbor and died a few hours later from his injuries.

Floyd Gibson, of Jackson, who beat his wife, threw his landlady off the porch and chased a neighbor with a revolver, has gone to the House of Correction.

The Salvation Army midget, of Flint, who stands 42 inches high and weighs only 45 pounds, is showing the straight and narrow road to some pretty big sinners at Alpena.

Rer. D. Engle, of Mackinac City, has been preaching nine months straight exclusively on the "Life and Work of Christ," and he hasn't by any means exhausted the subject yet.

Crops in Huron County are good excepting hay and oats. A 3-acre field this year yielded twenty. Farmers are putting old strawstacks in the barns for feed.

There are a wonderfully sympathetic lot of people at Adrian. Across from a dentist's office is a dressmaking establishment. The cries of a victim were so heart-rending that all the employees in the room quit work and sat down for a crying bout.

At Muskegon hostilities between the old and new boom companies were resumed by the arrest of the forty-three employees of the new company on charges of trespass. The old company will arrest all persons touching on their lands or driving logs on what they term their private waters. This move, if successful, will result in the complete blockade of millions of feet of logs and the closing of every mill in the city.

DRAKE IS THEIR MAN.

IOWA REPUBLICANS NAME HIM FOR GOVERNOR.

Six Ballots Were Necessary—Parrott for Lieutenant Governor—The Platform—One Thousand Fall with an Atlantic City Convention Hall Floor.

The Ticket.
Governor..... Francis M. Drake
Lieutenant Governor..... Matt Parrott
Supreme Judge..... Josiah Given
Supt. Public Instruction..... Henry Sablin
Railroad Com..... George W. Perkins

The Iowa Republican State convention met in Des Moines for the purpose of nominating candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Judge of the Supreme Court, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Railroad Commissioner. There were 1,242 delegates, requiring 622 to nominate.

The auditorium of Calvary tabernacle, the scene of the convention, was plentifully decorated with flags and bunting, and when the chairman of the State Central Committee, J. E. Blythe, called the convention to order at 10:34 every seat was filled. There were 2,000 visitors in addition to the delegates. Senator Allison appeared on the stage and the entire assemblage arose and suited in a series of tremendous cheers. Senator Allison bowed his acknowledgments, but maintained silence. Chairman Blythe named J. B. Lane, of Davenport, as temporary chairman. Mr. Lane's speech was short, but its delivery was delayed by almost incessant applause. The Hon. Lafe Young was made permanent chairman and made an exceedingly brief but epigrammatic address.

When the chair announced that balloting for Governor was in order there were no nominating speeches nor presentation of candidates, and no changing of votes while a ballot was in progress. This facilitated matters greatly, and the six ballots required to decide the nominee for Governor were taken in about two hours. There was intense interest manifest throughout the tiresome ordeal.

Gen. Drake made a ten-minute speech accepting the nomination. The convention then proceeded to the nomination of Lieutenant Governor, and a ballot was taken resulting as follows:

Dungan ..... 346
Parrott ..... 606
Ormsby ..... 211
Kamar ..... 80

During the second ballot Dungan's name was withdrawn and the nomination went to Parrott. State Superintendent Sablin, Supreme Judge Given and Railroad Commissioner Perkins were quickly renominated by acclamation. The resolutions were read and adopted and the convention adjourned sine die.

Platform Adopted.
The platform in brief reaffirms the fealty of the party in Iowa to the national party, congratulating the people upon the evidence of returning prosperity, labor re-established on a prosperous basis, all of which is attributed to the prospective return of the Republican party to power. It deplores the destruction of the reciprocity agreements by the Democratic party, affirms the declaration of the Minneapolis national convention on the currency question, quoting that plank entire, and urging an international agreement on the silver problem; welcomes the honest and industrious immigrant and declares that no other should be permitted to come; favors liberty to the nation's defenders in the way of pensions; congratulates the people that the State will be represented in the next Congress by two Republican Senators and eleven Republican Congressmen, and "with especial pride remembers the services of our senior Senator, whose long and honorable record entitles him to full confidence and enduring affection, and hails with satisfaction the universal desire of the Republicans of the State to continue him in his present field of usefulness until called to the larger services of the nation."

FALL WITH A FLOOR.
Two Hundred People Maimed at an Elks' Social Session in Atlantic City.

More than 100 men and women were seriously hurt at the social session tendered by Atlantic City, N. J., lodge to the visiting Elks at the Baltic Avenue Casino Wednesday evening. The session had just opened, and only one of the speakers had been heard, when, without the slightest warning, the building, which has not been used for several years, collapsed, and fully 1,000 persons were thrown to the floor beneath. Many women, the wives of the visiting Elks, went down in the ruins. Fully 200 persons were on the first floor of the building, and immediately beneath the banquet hall, were crushed beneath the timbers, and lay helpless. One man was killed in the crash and many were desperately wounded. The fact that all the electric lights went out at the time the building gave way, added to the confusion.

An alarm was immediately turned in and the city's force of 200 firemen and every available police officer in the city were called to the scene as a hospital corps. The police ambulance and carriages of every description were utilized to convey the injured to their hospital and to the hotels. When the police and firemen arrived on the scene the excitement was intense. Within a few minutes they succeeded in clearing the space in the immediate neighborhood of the building and placed ropes around to keep the crowd back. In the meantime the firemen had set to work to extricate the wounded from beneath the mass of timbers, and they were aided in their work by the hotelkeepers and residents near the scene. Every house was thrown open for the reception of the injured and every available conveyance was pressed into service to carry them to their hotels.

Telegraphic Brevities.
The excise law was rigidly enforced in New York.

Brasil is said to be again on the verge of a rebellion.

Dr. Kester, of Hammond, Ind., ended his life with chloroform.

Thomas R. Miskell, the murderer of Phil Metzger, at Milton, Ky., has been captured.

Receiver McNulta, of the whisky trust, has been authorized to offer the property in St. Paul for sale.

CURED HIS DESIRE FOR DEATH

Lord Southey's Guillotine Wouldn't Work, So He Lived.

Lord Southey once, in a fit of disgust with life, had a magnificent guillotine erected in the drawing-room of his magnificently-appointed house in the Rue de Luxembourg, at Paris. The machine was an elaborate affair, with ebony-uprights inlaid with gold and silver. The framework was carved with great artistic skill, and the knife of immense weight, and falling at the touch of a spring, was as sharp as a razor.

The spring which liberated the knife was placed within easy reach of anyone kneeling upon the scaffold; in fact, every detail was arranged with a view to the convenience to the would-be suicide. The day that the engine of death was entirely finished, Lord Southey completed his testamentary dispositions, shaved, had his hair cut, and, clothed in a robe of white silk, knelt upon the platform under the knife.

The guillotine was placed before a large mirror, wherein the person committing suicide could see his own image until the last. Murmuring a short prayer, Lord Southey placed his head in the semi-circle and pressed the spring.

The next morning he was found calmly sleeping in his bed. The spring had failed to work, and, after several fruitless efforts, Lord Southey was compelled to relinquish his attempt upon his life. Thoroughly cured of his spleen he presented the guillotine to the Glasgow Museum, whence he made an annual pilgrimage to see it until the end of his life.

Yet as he stood looking upon the elegant disarray of the room, a cold, strange fear crept into his heart, and numbed it; he could not explain why, or what—a presentiment of coming evil. A little watch, richly jeweled, lay ticking upon the table; in the vases fragrant heliotropes—his wife's favorite flower—gave out a rich perfume; a volume she had been reading lay with the leaves still open, and everything bore the trace of her presence. But where was she?

Waterloo.

Will Kruse has been quite ill this past week.

Mrs. H. J. Marsh has gone to Marshall for a few days.

Miss Josie Hounson is visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Croman.

A nice rain fell here on Monday last. Rev. Wallace of Napoleon is a guest of Rev. Marsh.

Friday morning Emerson Hall's house, four miles north of Waterloo, caught fire from a defective chimney, and there being no means at hand to put the fire out, the flames soon spread to the barn, U. B. church and church sheds. The neighbors gathered and carried out most of the church furniture, but nearly all of the household goods of Mr. Hall and also the clothing of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace, were consumed. Mr. Hall's buildings were insured for $2,200. The walls of the church remain standing and it will probably be immediately rebuilt, though there was no insurance on it.

County and Vicinity.

Ypsilanti's street commissioner has finished his inspection of the sidewalks in that city and finds that 220 need repairs or rebuilding.

The stone work of the new opera house at Pinckney has been completed and the carpenters have commenced work on the super-structure.

Concerning a subscriber who got mad and stopped his paper, the Grass Lake News says: "We no more missed his name than the ox missed the fly that loosed its grip on his horn and flew away."

Messrs. Stores Crafts and Jeff Lemm of Sharon were in this village Thursday. They stated that wheat in their section was about a quarter of a crop, although in some cases farmers would not get back their seed.—Grass Lake News.

At the Sylvan Center church one evening recently, the preacher exhorted his hearers to "fight the good fight." Of course the minister was unaware that a nose smashing contest was at that moment going on just outside the door, but such was the case.—Adrian Press.

When at Long Lake on the Fourth of July, as Miss Ruhs Sweet in company with several young ladies was strolling along the shore, she was startled by a massassauga striking its fangs into her skirts. Her companions screamed and fled, but the nerving young lady reached for a stick and soon killed the poisonous reptile.—Livingston Herald.

A Charlotte egg buyer took in a bushel of eggs the other day, among which he found thirteen that were at that peculiar stage when they were a little too fresh for broilers and not quite fresh enough for custard. He put them over a big lamp and in a day or two the chickens began to peep. Now he's wondering if the farmer will appear on the scene again and demand broiler prices for them.

What, electric lights? Why, certainly. The dynamo was started Tuesday evening, and the result was that Milan was lighted by electricity for the first time, i. e., the business places were. There are now, and will be hereafter about 175 incandescent lamps, and two are lights in operation, one are being at the junction of Main and River streets. It is hoped and expected that there will soon be more and lights placed on the streets. It is hoped and expected that there it's a good thing, push it along.—Milan Leader.

An Eaton Rapids married woman recently shocked her husband by saying, "Come out in the back yard and see my bloomers." He went and and she showed him two rose bushes just beginning to blossom. "Aint they an elegant pair of bloomers?" He went on down town and bought the lemonade for a party of friends.

Miss Kit VanTuyle, acting under the suggestion of her mother, put what she supposed to be glycerine on her face Sunday night for the purpose of moving a few blotches. It proved to be carbolic acid and burned her face in a frightful manner. Had it not been for prompt and vigorous work by her friends, her face would have been disfigured for life. It is hoped the burns are not deep enough to make permanent scars.—Clinton Local.

Cannon Ball, a valuable 3-year-old belonging to Chas. Gauntlett of this place, trotted a plucky heat at Fostoria, O., Tuesday, finishing fourth. He began wobbling under the wire, staggered about one hundred yards and fell dead. This was his second race, the first being at Toledo last week; when he won third money. He was valued at $1,500 and was very reliable, as he hadn't broke since being hitched to a sulky.—Milan Leader.

Edmund Robinson our esteemed fellow-citizen, who resides four miles east of this village, found a mammoth elk's horn a short time since on a piece of black ash soil owned by him in Sharon township, near the Sylvan line. The relic was evidently shed by a monarch of his species, as it measures 10 inches in circumference at its base, notwithstanding its long exposure to the elements had caused it to waste away to an appreciable degree.—Grass Lake News.

A Grass Lake man went to Jackson on the 4th, and wishing to watch an exciting game of ball, made the mistake of climbing a tree instead of taking a seat in the grand stand. He became excited over some good play and in some manner broke the limb on which he was perched and made a parachute leap that was not down on the bills. He has since carried himself around in a sling, and has threatened to kill the first man that mentions base ball to him.

An ugly weed of the Nightshade family, native to the western plains, is making its way eastward, and has already made its appearance in Ypsilanti. Last year a gentleman on Perrine street found a few plants in his yard where he had sown clover seed; this summer it is found growing in a garden on Forest Avenue, east. It resembles a tomato plant in the form of the leaf and flower, but is of a sprawling habit, and the stem seed-pods of the leaves are thickly set with sharp spines. Every plant should be promptly destroyed. If it gets into the field it will prove as troublesome as the prickly lettuce, which neglect has allowed to become so abundant.—Ypsilantian.

Friday morning, after a lingering illness, Jacob Reithmiller, a prison convict, died. As no one claimed the body, it was forwarded to Ann Arbor. The disease which caused death had emaciated the body fearfully. Reithmiller was sent to prison from the Jackson circuit court about ten years since, he having been convicted on a charge of arson. He lived at Grass Lake, where he conducted a saloon, and was at one time quite well to do. He was of a troublesome nature and frequently had fracasces with people, his favorite weapon being a club. He was repeatedly apprehended for violating the liquor laws and in defending cases of the sort the cost was considerable. His mode of getting even with those who made complaint or testified against him, was, it was stated, to burn their barns. Several buildings were burned, and a colored man named Primus Greenhall was suspected. Jake Reithmiller appeared quite active in the case against the colored man, but the latter told all he knew of the barn burnings, among other things stating Reithmiller had attempted to hire him to fire buildings which he refused absolutely to do. The colored man was released and Reithmiller arrested. He was convicted and sentenced by Judge Gridley to 15 years' imprisonment at the state prison.

The Dog Understood.

Prof. Owen, a noted English scientist, tells a story of a dog named Lion, who accompanied him and his master on a walk once on the coast of Cornwall. The master picked up a piece of seaweed covered with minute animals, and Mr. Owen observed to his companion: "If this small piece contains so many treasures, how rich must the whole plant be. How I should like to have one!" The dog instantly leaped into the water and returned with a plant of seaweed, which he laid at Prof. Owen's feet.

A horse kicked H. S. Shafer, of the Freeman House, Middleburg, N. Y., on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafer has recommended it to many others and says it is excellent for any kind of a bruise or sprain. This same Remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. For sale by F. P. Glazier & Co.

Last June Dick Crawford brought his 12-month-old child suffering from infantile diarrhoea, to me. It had been weaned at four months old and had always been sickly. I gave the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started the father to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Before one bottle of the 25 cent size had been used a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and puny constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the child's life was saved by this Remedy. J. T. Marlow, M. D., Tamarac, Ill. For sale by F. P. Glazier & Co.

The annual collection for fuel will be taken up in St. Mary's church, Sunday, July 21, 1895.

About 9:30 o'clock Monday evening the driving belt at the electric light station broke, leaving the village in darkness.

A wagon having wide tire wheels can carry one-third to one-half more weight than narrow tire, and be a benefit to the road it travels instead of a detriment, and yet the people cling to the narrow tires because they are a trifle cheaper.

Good sense: Do not attempt to extinguish the flames of blazing kerosene with water; it will only make them worse. Pour corn meal or flour quickly over them, or throw over a rug or anything handy that will exclude the air.

The ladies of St. Mary's church will hold their second ice cream social of the season at the Town Hall next Saturday, July 20, 1895, from 6 to 11 p. m. Choice refreshments will be served and a cordial invitation is extended to all our citizens.

An effort is being made to hold a day of games and sports at this place on August 10th. A game of ball between the Gregory and Stockbridge clubs will be one of the features. These teams played at Stockbridge July 4th, with a score of 2 to 4 in Gregory's favor.

The attempt of Chelsea to keep abreast of Grass Lake is absurd. The Kalamazoo Telegraph says: "The jealous and envious must stand back and give way to the progressive and active." This is a merited rebuke of our spiteful little neighbor.—Grass Lake News.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Shanz of Jerusalem, on Thursday, July 11, 1895, and died Sunday, July 14, 1895. The funeral was held from St. Mary's church; Tuesday, July 16, Rev. W. P. Considine officiating. The remains were interred in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

A small party of friends gathered at the home of L. Tichenor Thursday evening last to remind him of the fact that it was the sixty-ninth anniversary of his birth. Ice cream and cake were served and the evening was passed in pleasant conversation. The guests departed about 11 o'clock wishing the host many pleasant returns of the day.

It has rained at last but not in this immediate vicinity. According to reports from various portions of the state heavy rains have fallen, but up to the hour of going to press Chelsea has not been blessed by a shower that would lay the dust. Oh, for a soaker! Let'er come!

A lady in whose housekeeping experience we have great confidence says that she has found in powdered cloves as effective agent for putting the carpet bug to rout. There is no copyright on this bit of information, and we hope that our lady readers will give it a trial on the fuzzy beast who is just now getting in his most destructive depredations.—Ex.

Michigan young people who desire to get married without the consent of their parents, should hurry up about it. August 1st the new state law goes into effect which requires the written consent of the parents of the contracting parties to be filed with the county clerk before the marriage license can be issued, in cases where the bride is under 18 years of age.

The Ananias of the Jackson Citizen springs the following: A farmer near here has a new way of curing hens of scratching up his strawberry plants and other vegetables. His hens are of the Shanghai breed. He took a dozen bantam eggs and placed them under a hen. When they hatched out, the chicks had one long and one short leg. It was then an impossibility for them to do any scratching.

The assessment of the Washtenaw County Mutual Fire Insurance Co. already runs up to $1.50 per $1,000, and may go higher than that before the year is up, August 31, as there may be some more losses to pay. For the four years previous to this the assessments amounted to $4.20 per $1,000 for the whole period. The rate this year will be the highest the company has had to assess for some years.

Hicks, the weather prophet, in his forecasts for July, says that storms are due from 10th to 12th, 15th to 16th and from the 20th to the 24th. Much cold weather will prevail during the month which will follow oppressively warm weather and hot winds. Rains are also promised on the 27th and 28th but as all of these storms are of the thunder shower order, they will be scattering and undoubtedly much territory will suffer drought.

How dear to my heart is the old silver dollar, when some kind subscriber presents it to view; the liberty head without necktie or collar, and all the strange things that to us seem so new; the wide spreading eagle, the arrow below it, the stars, and the words with strange things they tell; the coin of my fathers, we're glad that we know it, for some time or other 'twill come right well—the spread eagle dollar, the star spangled dollar, the old silver dollar we all love so well.—Ex.

A farmer in an Oregon paper says: Every year I hear of caterpillars destroying whole orchards and there is nothing that can be disposed of more easily. I bore a hole in the tree deep enough to reach the sap, fill it with sulphur and then plug it up. The result is magical. The sap takes sulphur to every branch and twig, and the caterpillars die at once. I have gathered up the insects by the pint under trees that have become infested with them before I noticed it and destroyed them. I have never known the remedy to fail, and I never knew of a tree to be injured by it, and I've pursued this course for many years.

The Grass Lake News man hangs his hat on one ear, places his thumb in the armpits of his vest, and after acquiring a quart of tobacco juice at a fly, says that their ball team is the greatest aggregation of players that has ever been brought together, and that they are all Grass Lake boys, "every mother's son of 'em." We don't like to call the gentleman a prevaricator, but the fact remains the same when we state that at least the pitcher of the nine that came here a short time ago from "Lonesomehurst-by-the-Lake" was a Jackson boy.

Clayton, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schenk, had a narrow escape on Monday last. Several small boys were handling a gun that was loaded with a charge of fine shot, and in some manner the gun was fired, the charge taking effect in the shoulder of young Schenk, who was standing a short distance away. He was wearing a heavy shirt, which stopped the most of the shot, only three or four of them penetrating the flesh. Too much cannot be said against parents allowing children handling firearms, as they are exceedingly dangerous even in the hands of adults.

The Discovery Saved His Life. E. G. Gaillotte, druggist, Beaver-ville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with a gripe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store and I sent for a bottle and begin its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it. Get a free trial at Bank Drug Store."

A Snake Story.

Here is a snake story from a Bechtelmann which we do not remember having seen before.

A Barborton man, who goes to church regularly, was one day walking along the banks of Concession Creek eating a sandwich, and on account of the usual disparity between meat and bread he threw the redundant piece into the water. Immediately a swarm of yellow fish bubbled around it, fighting for the mouthful. The man searched his pockets for fishing tackle, but all in vain, and was just beginning to die of despair, when his eye lighted on a black snake.

At that moment he remembered how his father used to tell him that black snakes were very expert in catching fish. He therefore grabbed the reptile by the tail, carried it to the river, and held it over the struggling fish. The snake proved itself a bolder angler, and in the course of an hour the man had captured forty fish. A few days later, as he was walking in the same place, he felt something rub against his leg, and looking down he saw his friend the black snake, eager for more sport.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

"Oh, I am so nervous! No one ever suffered as I do! There isn't a well in my whole body! I honestly think my lungs are diseased, my chest pains me so; but I've no cough, I'm so weak at my stomach, and have indigestion horribly. Then I have palpitation, and my heart hurts me. How I am losing flesh and this headache nearly kills me; and the backache—Heavens! I had hysterics yesterday.

There is a weight in the lower part of my bowels, bearing down all the time; and there are pains in my groins and thighs. I can't sleep, walk, or sit. I'm diseased all over. The doctor? Oh! he tells me to keep quiet. Such mockery!

Inflammatory and ulcerative conditions at the neck of the womb can produce all the above symptoms in the same person. In fact, there is hardly a part of the body that can escape those sympathetic pains and aches.

No woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is positively no need of it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts promptly and thoroughly in such cases, strengthens the muscles of the womb, heals all inflammation, and restores that unruly organ to its normal condition. Druggists are selling cartloads of it. Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., will gladly and freely answer all letters asking for advice.

Mrs. E. Bishop, 787 Halsey Street, Brooklyn, N.Y., suffered all the above described horrors. Now she is well. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her. Write her about it.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken.

When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause queasiness, feelings at first. No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bed-time. Sold by all Druggists.

DEATH THEIR DOOM.

THIRTEEN PILGRIMS TO ST. ANNE'S SHRINE PERISH.

Second Section of an Excursion Train Plows Into the First—Pullman Cars Telescoped—Wheat Drops Five Cents in Chicago—Cornell Wins.

Was a Fatal Crash.

At Craig's Road station, Quebec, a pilgrim excursion on the Grand Trunk road from Sherbrooke was being run in two sections. The first section stopped at Craig's Road to cross an uptrain, when the second section ran into it, the engine plowing through the Pullman and first-class cars. Thirteen persons were killed outright and over thirty hurt. Ten passenger cars and the engine were wrecked.

The pilgrims were en route to the famous shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, where every summer large numbers of sick and crippled gather to invoke the saint to cure them of their diseases. The trains were made up of residents from Sherbrooke, Magog, Windsor Mills, and surrounding parishes. The forward train was making good time, having left Richmond at 10 o'clock the night before. On the rear of this train was a Pullman, in which were the priests and others in charge of the party, and it was in this car that most of the loss of life occurred.

The first train reached Craig's Road, which is fourteen miles west of Lewis, about 3 o'clock and stopped at the tank to take water. Precautions were taken and the semaphores thrown to danger against the following train. Only the trainmen were out and about, attending to their duties. The Pullman in the rear was wrapped in silence and the sleepers were unaware of the terrible fate that was rushing upon them.

Suddenly there was a great crash. The second train coming at full speed dashed into the rear Pullman of the first section. So great was the impetus of the colliding train that the engine embedded itself in the palace car, and the latter plunged forward and partly telescoped the first-class car immediately in front. Every berth in the Pullman was wrecked and some of the occupants who were killed never knew what happened to them. They died sleeping. Others awoke to their horrible surroundings and position, mangled, bleeding, and bruised, conscious of little else but the agony that racked them.

The cries of the wounded and the moans of the dying, and the outpouring of passengers from cars that were not badly damaged, and the hurrying foras of the uninjured trainmen with their flickering lanterns, all combined to make a sight seldom exceeded in its horror.

CORNELL THE WINNER.

Benational Result of the Long-Expected International Boat Race.

All the flower of England's nobility, society and college folk saw Cornell defeat the crack English eight, the Leander, without rowing against them in the first day's race for the Grand Challenge cup of the Henley regatta. The Leander were not ready when the gun was fired and the Cornellists started over the course alone. The winners of the two other races for the Grand Challenge cup were the Eton and Trinity eights. The Trinity crew beat the London crew by six lengths, while the Eton boys came across the finish line with a quarter of a length of clear water showing between its stern and the prow of the Thames boat.

Every good American expected that Cornell would win. Every good American is sorry that it has won in form and manner as related by cable dispatches. Not that Cornell is to blame for the outcome, the American crew was ready to start when the umpire, a Briton, gave the word "Go." The British crew did not start, and the Americans won without opposition. It is a barren victory. Obviously, the Leander crew was in a state of poor discipline, for in answer to the umpire's question, "Ready?" one of its members said "Yes!" and Cornell had got under way in obedience to the command "Go!" before Leander's oarsman had "Go!"

before Leander's oarsman had "Go!" countermanded his comrade's "Yes!" Cornell challenge cup now is a trophy of Cornell, but it is a trophy won by misadventure of the Leander crew, rather than of conquest. The expectation was of victory for Cornell; its crew had made better time than that of the Leander in its trial rowing tips over the course; its trial rowing was considered better by competent judges. The best thing that can be done is to row the race over again.

The grand challenge cup is the most coveted of rowing prizes. It can be contested over only by amateurs who are members of a university, or of a public school affiliated to a university, or are members of her Majesty's army or navy. The cup is held by the winning crew until it is defeated by another. It was believed in America that Cornell would capture the cup. It has captured it, but under existing circumstances it may be well that it shall capture it again.

PANIC IN THE PIT.

Wheat Drops Five Cents a Bushel—Mid Exciting Scene.

Tuesday was the most nervous and exciting day the Chicago Board of Trade has seen since the farmers came into town some weeks ago and bought wheat up from 52 cents to 82½ cents. Wheat declined 5 cents, and many an excited man chased his fortune to the brink of the wheat pit to see it sink out of sight. And these crazy bulls, says a Chicago dispatch, brought their grapping hooks in the shape of reported damage to North-west crops by hot winds, and threatening frosts, etc., and dragged the pit, but they couldn't find their gold. Surely enough, it seemed to be a bottomless pit.

The bulls were never in it at all. The bears ran the whole show from the start. Wheat opened up at 67 5-8c, and in three or four minutes had sunk to 66½c. This was a great surprise to the bull element, which hoped for a firmer market. The bulls tried to talk, but were choked off. A week ago when the market was hanging fire they were somebody, for they could frighten the bears with a little telegram telling how wheat was growing in the shock or something of that kind, but Tuesday morning their chinch legs were dead, their hot winds didn't blow, and their frost melted.

If the bulls were disappointed when the price of September wheat at 66½c they were doomed to greater disappointment later. They smiled when a little rally to 67½c was made, but that market was only fooling them when it went up there. It soon turned around and came down hill lickity-cut again, and sold down to 64 cents. But this wasn't the bottom. Along toward the close of the session the price simply leaped over the 65c and closed at 62½c.

In New York the speculative pyrotechnics at the Produce Exchange were dazzling to both the bulls and the bears in wheat, and both factions were equally astonished. A drop of 5 cents a bushel made the hair of the bulls stand on end and it made the bears blink. That makes 8 cents in two days. The bulls thought the course of prices altogether too much like tobogganing. The sudden tumble—the greatest in years—caused a great deal of excitement and interest in Milwaukee. The fact that wheat closed at 62 5-8c represented a drop within twenty-four hours that was calculated to create almost a panic.

WEATHER AND CROP BULLETIN.

Signal Service Report on Temperature and Crop Conditions.

The official crop and weather bulletin for the past week shows the average to be three to six degrees cooler than the average throughout the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys. Heavy rains have fallen in Oklahoma, Missouri and the northern portion of the Gulf region. Through the Southern States the average fall has been from one to two inches more than the usual amount. The lake region and upper Mississippi Valley had practically no rain. Nebraska and the Dakotas suffered materially from drought.

Corn has made very rapid growth during the week and, except in Michigan, the general outlook for this crop is excellent. Arkansas reports the largest crop in years, and in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and Missouri the outlook is most promising. The general outlook for spring wheat continues most flattering. Winter wheat harvest is practically completed and thrashing continues general. Some damage in shock has been caused in Maryland by heavy rains; also in Missouri and Kansas. Tobacco is growing well in Kentucky, but the crop is uneven. In Maryland it is in excellent condition and in Ohio it is improved, except in the central part of the State, where it is suffering from drought. From the Central and Southwestern States the reports are as follows:

Illinois—Last week very favorable except in southern counties; wheat and rye thrashing general, yield light, quality poor; oats harvest completed in southern and progressing in central counties; straw short, yield light; corn growing finely and generally laid by; haying continues with very light crop.

Minnesota—All late sown crops and grasses injured in south half by drought now intensifying and spreading; rainfall in north half ample; haying general; barley, winter wheat and rye harvest begun; corn growth good; wheat prospects continue excellent.

South Dakota—Above normal temperature, high southerly winds, two exceedingly warm days and only scattered showers, mostly light, have been injurious to small grain and grasses over a number of counties; corn grew rapidly and potatoes did well; rain needed generally.

Nebraska—Cool, dry week; wheat and rye harvest has progressed rapidly in southern counties and thrashing commenced, the yield is less than half a crop; oats ripening fast; corn has made good growth and is in fine condition, some early planted tasseling.

Kansas—Cool, cloudy week, with excessive rains, have generally stopped harvesting and thrashing and injured grain in shock, but has been beneficial to all other crops and furnished abundant stock water; corn generally tasseling and beginning to silk and never more promising; flax, fruit, pastures and potatoes fine.

Iowa—Weather favorable except serious need of rain in some eastern counties; oats harvest begun, with prospects of heavy yield; corn has made rapid advancement and other crops are in satisfactory condition.

Michigan—Showers over upper peninsula which were poorly distributed; in lower peninsula there has practically been no rain, and drought continues with great severity; hay and wheat very poor crops, and oats will give a light yield; corn is just beginning to show effects of drought; if rain comes soon it can help corn, potatoes, pastures and gardens.

Ohio—Favorable for thrashing wheat and hay harvesting; light yields reported; corn, oats, late potatoes and tobacco have improved in growth from rains, except over middle section, where drought retards growth; pasture very poor, and water becoming scarce.

Indiana—Warm, fair weather favorable to harvesting; end of week favorable to corn and potatoes, and both crops are in fine condition and growing rapidly; thrashing wheat and rye continues; yield better than expected in localities; haying continues; crop poor.

Wisconsin—The past week has been hot and dry; haying about half completed; rye and barley harvest in progress, and the crop is generally good; corn and potatoes unaffected by drought, and growing rapidly; oats promise a good crop; pastures very poor.

There is every reason to believe that if Howard Gould has promised to marry Miss Clemmon he will do it. That girl is a protege of Buffalo Bill.

A Popular Sovereign.

The King of Denmark, it is said, is a quiet and unostentatious man, and rather fond of traveling if his people would let him do it in peace. Not long ago, as he was on a journey, the train was blocked for a little while at a small station by an accident. A peasant who had heard that the king was on the train took the opportunity of seeing him, and, walking down the platform, stared at the cars until he came to a nice-looking old gentleman looking out of a window. "Good morning," said the gentleman. "Good morning," replied the peasant. "Be you the king?" "Yes," replied the other. "Well, then," rejoined the countryman, "I want to tell you something. You be the best king that ever we had in Denmark." The king lifted his hat in acknowledgment of the compliment, and said, "Thank you, but that is a matter of opinion, and I cannot judge it impartially."

Advertising pays: Newspaper advertising pays best of all. Our most successful and prosperous merchants and tradesmen, whose bright record has added imperishable lustre to the history of American commerce, can all testify to this truth from personal experience. The newspaper is the commercial traveler in city and country home, who tells at the fireside, to its evening circle, the merits of your wares and merchandise, if you are wise enough to employ it to speak for you. It never neglects, never goes unheeded, never speaks to inattentive or unwilling ears. It never bores. It never tires. It is always a welcome visitor and meets a cordial reception. It speaks when the day is done, when cares vanish, when the mind at peace and at rest is in its most receptive mood. Then it is that its story is told and all who read treasure what it says, and are influenced to go where it directs for the thing of which it speaks. What other influences can be so potent to help trade as this quiet but powerful advocate? Let it become a salesman in every home for your wares. Let it make its mighty plea for your benefit. And we assure you it will do more than all other influences to promote your business and put money in your purse. In our long experience we know whereof we speak. Try it. So the editor had to read it.

Curious Custom in Holland.

When young Queen Wilhelmina visited the other day the marvelous vaults at Maestricht, which are one of the sights of the place, she was requested by the authorities to inscribe her name upon a marble slab in the wall, which bears the signatures of many other sovereigns, Dutch and foreign, prominent among them being the autograph of the first Napoleon. Just at the moment when she was about to comply with the request three tiny gnomes sprang out from behind a pillar and exclaimed in accordance with the time-honored custom, "Who are you that dares add your name to that of William the Silent and of the many illustrious rulers of the Netherlands?" Queen Wilhelmina, who had been prepared for this little piece of pantomime, replied: "I am the daughter of this King William III, whose signature you see here, and his successor to the throne of Holland," whereupon the gnomes—three small boys dressed up for the occasion—bowed low, received some coin, and retired.

WHAT YOUR THUMB TELLS

The thumb is an unfailing index of character. The Square Type indicates a strong-willed, great energy and firmness. Closely allied to the Square Type, the thumb of those of advanced ideas and business ability. Both of these types belong to the busy man or woman; and Demorest's Family Magazine prepares especially for such persons a whole volume of new ideas, condensed in a small space, so that the record of the whole world's work for a month may be read in half an hour. The Conical Type indicates refinement, culture, and a love of music, poetry, and fiction. A person with this type of thumb will thoroughly enjoy the literary attractions of Demorest's Magazine. The Artistic Type indicates a love of beauty and art, which will find rare pleasure in the magnificent oil-pictures of roses, 10 1/2 x 3 1/2 inches, reproduced from the original painting by De Longpre, the most celebrated of living flower-painters, which will be given to every subscriber to Demorest's Magazine for 1896. The cost of this superb work of art was $350.00, and the reproduction cannot be distinguished from the original. Besides this, an exquisite oil or water-color picture is published in each number of the Magazine, and the articles are so profusely and superbly illustrated that the Magazine is, in reality, a portfolio of art works of the highest order. The Philosophic Type is the thumb of the thinker and inventor of ideas, who will be deeply interested in those developed monthly in Demorest's Magazine, in every one of its numerous departments, which cover the entire range of scientific field, chronicling every fact, fancy, and fad of the day. Demorest's is simply a perfect Family Magazine, and was long ago crowned Queen of the Monthlies. Send in your subscription; it will cost only $2.00, and you will have a dozen Magazines in one. Address W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher, 15 East 14th Street, New York. Though not a fashion magazine, its perfect fashion pages and its articles on family and domestic matters, will be of superlative interest to those possessing the Feminine Type of Thumb, which indicates in its small size, slenderness, soft nail, and smooth, rounded tip, those traits which belong essentially to the womanly sex, every one of whom should subscribe to Demorest's Magazine. If you are unacquainted with the merits, send for a specimen copy (free), and you will admit that seeing these THUMBES has put you in the way of saving money by finding in one magazine everything to satisfy the literary wants of the whole family.

WHAT ELEPHANTS LIKE.

Try something like Besides, peanuts Next Time You go to the Circus.

If there is anything in the world that an elephant loves better than a peanut it is an orange, and if any boy who reads this wishes, when he goes to the circus, to give the massive creature an especial treat, instead of paying 5 cents for a bag of peanuts to put in the elephant's trunk, let him purchase for the same money one good-sized orange and present it to the small-eyed, flat-eared monster. A number of years ago, in a book which was called "Leaves from the Life of a Special Correspondent," Mr. O'Shea, the author of the book, gave the following description of an adventure he had with a herd of elephants. He said: "A young friend asked me once to show him some elephants, and I took him along with me, having first borrowed an apron filled with oranges. This he was to carry while accompanying me in the stable, but the moment we reached the door the herd set up such a trumpeting—they had scented the fruit—that he dropped the apron and its contents and scuttled off like a scared rabbit. There were eight elephants, and when I picked up the oranges I found I had twenty-five. I walked deliberately along the line, giving one to each. When I got to the extremity of the narrow stable I turned and was about to begin distribution again, when I suddenly reflected that if elephant No. 7 in the row saw me give two oranges in succession to No. 8 he might imagine he was being cheated and give me a smack with his trunk—that is where the elephant falls short of the human being—so I went to the door and began at the beginning as before. Thrice I went along the line, and then I was in a fix. I had one orange left, and I had to get back to the door. Every elephant in the herd had his greedy gaze focused on that orange. It was as much as my life was worth to give it to any one of them. What was I to do? I held it up conspicuously, coolly peeled it, and ate it myself. It was most amusing to notice the way those elephants nudged each other and shook their ponderous sides. They thoroughly entered into the humor of the thing."

FLIES HATE LAVENDER.

Sprayed About the House, It Keeps Out the Summer Pests.

"I never use window screens," said a wise housekeeper the other day, "because I have a fancy that they shut out all the air in hot weather, and, besides, they serve to keep the flies in the house equally as well as out."

"But I never see a fly in your house," said her friend. "How do you manage it? For my part, I must confess that, screens or no screens, my summer means to me one long battle with the little pests."

"My remedy is a simple one," said the good housekeeper, "and I learned it years ago from my grandmother, when I used to sit and watch her putting bunches of lavender flowers around to keep the flies away. My method is simpler. I buy 5 cents' worth of oil of lavender at the drug store and mix it with the same quantity of water. Then I put it in a common glass atomizer and spray it around the rooms wherever flies are apt to congregate, especially in the dining-room, where I sprinkle it plentifully over the table linen. The odor is especially disagreeable to flies and they will never venture in the neighborhood, though to most people it has a peculiarly fresh and grateful smell."

PUT SCIENCE TO NEW USE.

Eradicate Commission Now Selecting a Site for Rio Janeiro.

Rio de Janeiro, the capital of Brazil, has a notoriously bad climate. It is a fastness of yellow fever and subtle tropical ailments, and the death rate is so alarmingly high as to seriously affect the commercial prosperity of the city. Some time ago the Brazilian government took in hand the question of removing their capital and appointed a scientific commission to fix a site, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. The commission have selected a plateau which should be a real land of promise to the transplants from the coast. The spot is between the parallels of 15 degrees 40 minutes and 16 degrees 8 seconds south, and the meridians of 49 degrees 10 minutes and 51 degrees west. It is over 1,000 feet above the level of the sea and its temperature resembles that of middle France. There is plenty of water for agriculture and no yellow fever. The journey by railway from the coast is a matter of some eighteen hours. This is believed to be the first occasion on record in which science has been called in to choose the site of a capital.

A Revolution in Men's Dress.

"There's one thing about the bicycle craze," said a tailor, "I believe it is going to revolutionize men's attire, which has been so somber for so many years. Dress reformers have done much for women, but men's clothing is practically the same year in and year out. The leaders of fashion are not as a rule robust, and the chaps who lead cotillions have small legs. If the wheel develops their calves, as it will, I believe the age of short clothes will return, and knee-breeches for evening dress may be seen again in drawing-rooms. Bloomers are popular, for a shapely woman likes folks to know it. Thin-legged men have a chance to build up their calves in summer for the winter's gaiety."

A Few Years Hence.

"Seems to me I used to hear of a couple of youngsters called the 'heavenly twins.' Do you remember who they were?"

"No, I have forgotten their names, but I have a kind of dim impression that they were two little girls in blue."

AN OLD GAME.

A Needy-Looking Fellow Tries the Ancient Glove Racket.

"Say, Buffalo must be about twenty years behind the times, ain't it?" said a drummer at the Tiff house yesterday.

"I saw a man try to work the old glove racket in front of the hotel today. I had gotten the idea that the glove game was too old to be worked by any one. The Buffalo man was too out to be caught, though, so perhaps the only antiquity in the town was the man that resurrected the old game to raise a dollar."

"Did you ever see it worked? No? You ought to have been here a couple of hours ago. A well-dressed gentleman was walking down the street when a needy-looking individual who suddenly stepped out behind the gentleman and dropped a glove at his heels without the man seeing him."

"Then he tapped him on the shoulder."

"Say, mister, is that your glove?"

"The gentleman answered in the negative and was about to walk away when the tramp stooped and picked up the glove. Fumbling it over he soon pulled out a ring from one of the fingers. It looked like a genuine diamond ring, too."

"Of course the tramp had a surprised look on his face. He said to the gentleman: 'Say, mister, I'm a poor man and can't afford to keep anything like this, but it was a pretty lucky find, wasn't it? What'll you give me for the ring?'"

"The gentleman looked the ring over carefully and then handed it back to the tramp with a laugh."

"I guess I don't want that thing—not just now, anyway, and he walked away."

"There was a time when the police found it necessary to arrest men for working that dodge," continued the drummer, "but I guess they have forgotten their last 'catch' by this time."

COLORS AMONG FLOWERS.

Botanists Say All Flowers Were Once Yellow.

Yellow and white. Botanists are agreed that the earliest petals were yellow, and that, originally, all flowers were of that color. The order of development of color in flowers appears to be yellow, pink, red, purple, lilac, up to deep blue—probably the highest level—while white may occur in any normally colored flower, just as albinos are found among animals. As flowers become more specialized they become more dependent upon the visits of special insects, purple and blue flowers, for instance, benefitting most from and being most preferred by bees and butterflies. A French authority states that about 4,200 species of plants are utilized for various purposes in Europe. Of these only about one-tenth have an agreeable perfume, the others being either inodorous or having an unpleasant smell. White flowers are the most numerous. One thousand one hundred and twenty-four species out of 4,200 are white, and 187 of these have a scent; 931 (77 perfumed) are yellow; next in order comes red, with 823, of which 84 give forth perfume; then blue, 594 (34 scented), and violet, 308, only 13 of which have any perfume. The remaining 400 kinds are of various shades of color, and only 28 of them have a pleasant smell.—Boston Standard.

BUTLER FULL OF WAR.

Says He Would Like to Lead an Army Against Canada.

Before departing for his southern home and while talking to a group of reporters Senator M. C. Butler of South Carolina, in a manner decidedly impressive, while discussing the relations between the United States and Great Britain with reference to the Corinto affair, said: "I have no criticism to put upon our government in that affair. It was the advice of Washington that we have no entangling alliances. But I tell you what I would like to have seen. Just as the British were sailing into that harbor I should like to have seen some of our own fine warships hovering along that coast. Those things happen, don't you know, and you can't tell just how. But three or four fine ships happening along there about that time—well, of course they would naturally be interested in seeing what the Britishers were up to in landing marines, and maybe there would have been a little pleasure party of American marines sent ashore to get a fresh supply of fruits. England does not want to have a war with us. We are too valuable to her commercially. And yet in her eagerness and greed she may get into it. I would not want anything better than to lead 10,000 men into Canada. It would please my old heart unmeasurably to assist in snatching that country from Great Britain and attach it to ours. We may do it, too. Who knows?"

WON A WIFE BY BRAVERY.

Romantic Adventure in Japan of a San Francisco Sailor.

Charles Litner is one of the luckiest sailors that ever sailed out of this port on a sailing schooner. He is going to be married to one of the prettiest girls in Japan. Not only is she very pretty, but her parents are very wealthy, according to the story told by C. Burdell, says the San Francisco Examiner. Burdell came up on the steamer Coptic last week. Speaking of young Litner, he said: "Charles is the son of Sebastian Litner, a laborer, who lives out on Nineteenth avenue. He is an athletic young fellow and has always had an ambition to see the world. That's why he shipped on the schooner Jane Grey and went roving over the seas in search of seals and adventure. While at Hakodota, Japan, a few months ago Litner happened to be on one of the chief thoroughfares one afternoon when a spirited pony ran away with a Japanese girl, Miss Sena Kato. Litner saved the girl's life by springing in front of the runaway and striking the pony a stunning blow on the head with a club. The act was regarded as one of rare bravery, and before we left Japan it was announced that Litner was engaged to marry Miss Kato. He was hurt in the accident and was first taken to a hospital, but was afterward removed to the young lady's residence at the request of her parents. The marriage ceremony was to have taken place two weeks after we sailed. They are probably married by this time."

IT DID LOOK SUSPICIOUS.

Nevertheless the Overcoat Transaction Was Perfectly Legitimate.

A robust young man, wearing a thick terra cotta overcoat, and a somewhat consumptive-looking companion, minus an overcoat, left a well-known Chestnut street cafe together at a late hour on Saturday night, says the Philadelphia Record. The former generously tendered his warm outer garment to his shivering companion, who gratefully accepted it for the walk home. On turning the corner of Sixteenth and Locust streets the pair were closely scrutinized by a big policeman. Arrived at his home, the thin man returned the coat to his stout friend and the latter started back toward his hotel on Broad street. When he reached the corner of Sixteenth street the policeman grabbed him. "Pretty slick guy, you are!" he exclaimed, "but I'm on to that little overcoat racket. I guess you got his pocketbook, too."

"What do you mean, sir?" demanded the indignant citizen. "You just take a ride to the station-house," mildly urged the cop, "and tell the sergeant how you managed to get into that other man's overcoat."

Protestations were in vain. The mad man, with the terra cotta overcoat, had to submit, and only the presence of his thin friend, whom he promptly sent for, saved him from a cell.

The Codfish Sent to the Rear.

The historic codfish was distinctly snubbed Monday. Mr. Irwin of Northampton raised a point of order that the house having ordered the emblem of the codfish to be placed over the speaker's chair the order of Mr. Roe of Worcester to provide for its being placed in the rear of the hall was out of order. The speaker ruled that the point was not well taken, inasmuch as the hall had a just right to order changes in such matters as frequently as it saw fit. Mr. Roe said that it is intended to place a painting in the panel over the speaker's chair and that the codfish, if hung as originally intended, would be incongruous and out of place. The order was almost unanimously adopted, and the fish will now be hung in the rear of the hall—unless the house changes its mind again.—Boston Herald.

Kodak Quality.

Some watches sell for $2.50. But the purchaser of a $50.00 time piece gets more for his money than the man with the cheap watch. It's the same with cameras. The Kodak lenses are alone worth more than some cameras which the manufacturers claim to be "as good as a Kodak." Kodaks are standard in hand camera values—because they make good pictures—because they are durable, reliable.
