The Chelsea Fair.

The Chelsea Fair closed last Friday, and the weather during the week was fair and favorable. No complaints have been made of the work of the weather clerk. It was the earliest fair in this vicinity, and, like the early bird, it undoubtedly caught the worm. It cannot be said that the exhibits were extremely numerous, although the stock and vegetables were very fine specimens. The races were interesting, a good visit one of the best. It was a matter of regret that the balloon ascen sion was a failure owing to the high wind. The following is the result of the races:

ATLANTA EXPOSITION OPENED.

Cleveland Starts the Machinery by Press. ing a Button.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 20.-President Grover Cleveland touched a button at Buzzard's Bay at 6:54 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and instantly the wheels of the machinery at the Cotton States and International exposition, 1,000 miles away, leaped into life. Cannon blazed and thundered, 60,000 people cheered, 1,000 flags floated from the tops of many buildings and the great south's industrial exposition was officially opened.

The parade of civic and military bodies, which acted as an escort to the officials of the exposition and its guests, was the most imposing procession ever seen in the south.

When the parade reached the exposition grounds the official party proceeded to the auditorium. Judge Emory Speer, of the United States court at Macon, delivered the address of the day. He was followed by Mrs. Joseph Thompson, chairman of the woman's board. Booker T. Washington, of Muskegee, Ala., one of the leading colored men of this country, spoke on behalt of the negro board.

Mr. Albert Howell, a prominent member of the Atlanta bar, read a stately ode written by Mr. Frank L. Stanton, the south's best known poet of to-day. An address by Gov. Atkinson, of Georgia, was read by Gen. Brown.

President Charles B. Collier, of the exposition company, reviewed the work of building the exposition.

When he concluded his speech he called Gray Gables, which had direct wire communication by the Western Union line with the auditorium. This was the signal that all was ready.

President Cleveland touched the electric button and thereby started the ponderous engines in Machinery hall. Then a pandemonium of noise followed and the exposition was formally Bimetallists Unite.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—The American Bimetallic union, formed of the three bimetallic leagues, is the outcome of the conference of silver leaders which concluded here Wednesday afternoon. The headquarters of the union will be in Chicago. Gen. A. J. Warner, of Marietta, O., will be president and E. B. Light, of Denver, secretary. An executive commitmittee of nine was appointed to arrange for a conference of bimetallists from all states preliminary to holding a national convention to nominate candidates for president and vice president of the United States upon a platform of independent bimetallism. The committee will arrange for the holding of the conference as early as possible.

Banks to the Rescue. New York, Sept. 2g.—The easy assurance and confidence of treasury officials that there will not another bond issue, and that the treasury, gold reserve will not again be seriously depleted, is explained by a prominent treasury official. He says that through the good offices of the bond syndicate promises have been secured from bankers in the principal cities of the country that in ease of necessity they can be called on to place $30,000,000 of gold in the treasury in exchange for legal tenters. This important matter has been quietly negotiated by Belmont and Morgan in the last fifteen days and the indicated result was arrived at subsequent to their last deposit of

KENNEDY'S DONALD KENNEDY, of ROXBURY, MASS.,

Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book. A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken. When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first. No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

Is it, then, so terrible to kill an enemy in war-an enemy who has surprised a secret vital to the safety of one's self and comrades-an enemy parted the meadow two thousand feet than all his army for its numbers? Carter Druse grew deathly pale; he shook in every limb, he turned faint, and saw the statuesque group before him as black figures, rising, falling, moving unsteadily in arcs of circles in a fiery sky. His hand fell away from his weapon, his head slowly dropped until his face rested on the leaves in eral infantry. They had marched all which he lay. At that moment an officer of the federal force, who, in a spirit of admovement, without a sound, in the venture or in quest of knowledge, had profound silence and the languor of left the hidden bivouac in the valley, and, with aimless feet, had made his way to the lower edge of a small open space near the foot of the cliff, was considering what he had to gain by pushing his exploration further. At a distance of a quarter-mile before him, but apparently at a stone's throw, rose from its-fringe of pines the gigantic face of rock, towering to so great a height above him that it made him giddy to look up to where its edge cut a sharp, rugged line against the sky. At some distance away to his right it presented a clean, vertical profile against a background of blue sky to a point half of the way down, and of distant hills, hardly less blue, thence to the tops of the trees at its base. Lifting his eyes to the dizzy attitude of its summit, the officer saw an astonishing sight-a man on horseback riding down into the valley through the air!

Straight upright sat the rider, in military fashion, with a firm seat in the saddle, a strong clutch upon the rein to hold his charger from too impetuous a plunge. From his bare head his long hair streamed upward, waving like a plume. His right hand was concealed in the cloud of the horse's lifted mane. The animal's body was as level as if every hoof-stroke encountered the resistant earth. Its motions were those of a wild gallop, but even as the officer looked they ceased, with all the legs thrown sharply forward as in the act of alighting from a leap. But this was a flight!

Filled with amazemen and terror by this apparition of a horseman in the sky-half believing himself the chosen scribe of some new apocalypse, the officer was overcome by the intensity of his emotions; his legs failed him and he fell. Almost at the same instant he heard a crashing sound in the trees-a sound that dies without an echo, and all was still.

The officer rose to his feet, trembling. The familiar sensation of an abraded shin recalled his dazed faculties. Pulling himself together, he ran rapidly obliquely away from the cliffto a point a half mile from its foot; thereabout he expected to find his man; and thereabout he naturally failed. In the fleeting instant of his vision his imagination had been so wrought upon by the apparent grace and ease and intention of the marvelous performance that it did not occur to him that the line of march of aerial cavalry is directly downward, and that he could find the objects of his search at the very foot of the cliff. A half hour later he returned to the camp.

After firing his shot, Private Carter Druse reloaded his rifle and resumed his watch. Ten minutes had hardly passed when a federal sergeant crept cautiously to him.

"Did you fire?" the sergeant whispered. "Yes."

"At what?"

"A horse. It was standing on yonder rock-pretty far out. It is no long er there. It went over the cliff." The man's face was white, but he showed no other signs of emotion. "See here, Druse," the sergeant said, after a silence, "it's no use making a mystery. I order you to report. Was there anybody on the horse?' "Yes."

"Who?"

"My father." The sergeant rose to his feet and walked away. "Good God!" he said .-Tales of Soldiers and Civilians.

Animal Charges That Outgrew Their Appointed Guardian.

The natural antagonism of sheep and wild dogs is not more pronounced than that of dogs and cats, yet Capt. Baldwin, the rival of Gordon Cummings, succeeded in coaxing a female setter to take charge of two young lion cubs, and describes the ludicrous scenes enacted in his private zoo when the cubs had grown to twice the size of their nurse and boxed her ears for her trouble when she tried to assert her maternal authority. A still stranger case is that of the Danish Newfoundlander, Tilly, that had made friends with a flock of pifrom the breakfast table and said, ride carelessly away in the direction geons, and was never happier than of scattered corn and have his playmates flutter about his head like bees about a honey pot. Noticing his queer fad, his master taught him to sit still in the middle of the yard, holding in air downward, as from the surface to his teeth a basketful of bread crumbs,

> Freaks of that kind are, indeed, not always the result of training, and beasts in plain view from a hundred there is no reason to doubt the story of the Nepaulese wolf boy that had been exposed in the hill forests by his valley and fixed them again upon the heartless parents, and, like Romulus wolf that had lots of whelps and dragged the starving waif to her den of his father at parting: "Whatever not have been altogether charitable,

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

New Deer Killing Law.

The new law regarding the hunting of deer in this state passed by the last legislature provides an open season from November 1 to 25, inclusive, in all sections of the state and says:

The killing of deer in the red coat or fawn in the spotted coat is prohibited, as is also the killing of deer while in the water or by the aid of pit, pitfall, traps, dogs, or artificial

Non-residents are required to secure a license from the clerk of the county in which they propose to pitch their camps, and residents in the county in which they reside.

The fee for non-residents is $25 and for residents fifty cents. Such license will entitle the holder to kill no more than five deer in any

A coupon from the license must be attached to each deer or portion thereof in case of shipment and must be detached from the license in the presence of the shipping agent.

Work of McKinnon's Ghost.

The town of Shearer, which only few years ago was a promising and prosperous burg with sawmills, salt blocks, etc., is now being abandoned. The removal of the sawmills and other plants has caused the exodus, but there is said to be still another reason. A short time ago Hugh McKinnon, a hermit, was found dead with bullet holes in his body. Ever since the village, it is said, has been haunted by his ghost. So great has been the agitation among the superstitious that many left town even before the mills shut down.

The State Fair.

The forty-sixth annual state fair took place in Grand Rapids. As a display of the products of the land the fair was a complete success and the receipts will show a handsome profit. The State Agricultural society elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, William Ball, Hamburg; vice president, I. H. Butterfield, Agricultural college; treasurer, C. W. Young, Paw Paw; secretary, H. A. Fralick, Grand Rapids.

Receiver Appointed.

Carlos D. Shelden has been appointed receiver of the Pontiac & Mesnard copper mining companies, corporations adjoining, each holding 160 acres of mineral land on the copper range between the Franklin and Franklin Junior mines in the Michigan copper district. Both companies failed to renew their charters in accordance with the Michigan laws, and their affairs will be wound up and the corporations dissolved.

Michigan Engineers.

The canvassing committee of the State Engineering society met in Lansing and canvassed the votes for officers for the ensuing year, the preferences having been sent by mail to the secretary. It resulted in the election of the following:

President, George L. Wells, St. Louis: secretary and treasurer, F. Hodgman, Climax; vice president, Frank F. Rogers, Port Huron; board of directors, Doer Skeels, Grand Rapids; W. B. Sears, Saginaw; William Appleton, Lansing.

Health in Michigan.

During the week ended September 21 reports sent in by fifty-six observers in various portions of the state indicated that remittent fever, influenza and cholera morbus increased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 179 places, typhoid fever at 63, diphtheria at 21, searlet fever at 24, measles at 6, whooping cough at 11 and smallpox at Detroit, Bedford, Marshall and Battle Creek.

Michigan Bankers.

The Michigan Bankers' association in annual session in Detroit adopted resolutions against the free coinage of silver. The following officers were chosen:

President, L H. Withey, Grand Rapids; first vice president, W. J. Corker, Adrian; second vice president, Mark S. Brewer, Pontiac: executive council, J. A. Cavorde, Grand Rapids; G. B. Morley, Saginaw; George A. Abbott, Muskegon, and G. Bishop, Flint

A Century of Life.

Mrs. Sarah Husted celebrated her 100th birthday at her home in Mayville. She is the oldest inhabitant of Tuscola county, if not the oldest in the state. To everybody who knows her she is Grandma Husted, and scores of people called to congratulate her on the completion of a century of life. She was in good health.

Carried Off the Safe.

Thieves, evidently four in numbers broke into the post office at Fenton, loaded the safe bodily upon a railroad hand car and then pushed the car to the railroad tracks, nearly three-quarters of a mile away, where the safe was broken open and robbed of $300 in stamps and cash.

Many Miners Killed.

In the seven years ending with 1894, 532 men had been killed by accidents at the mines of the upper peninsula of Michigan, and the recent disaster at Osceola and other mines will bring the total up to more than 600.

Brief News Items.

While trying to get aboard his boat at Bay City Capt. Gombard of the steam barge Fostoria fell into the Saginaw river and was drowned. His home was in Saginaw.

Mrs. Lulu V. Reynolds, editor of the Living Issues, Michigan's prohibition state journal, died at Harper's hospital in Detroit.

The fair at Saginaw under the auspices of the Saginaw County Agricultural society was one of the most successful held in years.

SNOW IN THE WEST.

Heavy Fall Is Reported from Several States.

SALT LAKE CITY, U. T., Sept. 23 .-Heavy rain was followed by snow which fell steadily up to noon Saturday. A strong north wind prevailed and everything has the appearance of midwinter.

DENVER, Col., Sept. 23.-For a week Colorado has been sweltering under heat unusual for September, but Saturday there came a sudden change, a chilling wind from the northeast, sending down the temperature like a shot. Snow fell to a considerable

The damage done to the fruit interests of the state by the heavy snowfall is beyond computation. In the vicinity of Denver fruit and shade trees were broken by the weight of the heavy snow freezing to the limbs yet in leaf, and scarcely a tree for miles around escaped injury. LEAD, S. D., Sept. 23.—Six inches of snow has fallen at Bell Mountain and 3 inches here. There have been no frosts, and the trees in full leaf are breaking beneath the load of snow.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—The hottest September week which the people of Chicago have experienced in over twenty years was followed Sunday night by a sudden cold. The temperature all day was as high as on any day during the phenomenal hot spell, the thermometer at 8 o'clock p. m. registering at the United States bureau 91 degrees. At 11 o'clock p. m. the mercury in the Auditorium tower showed 66 degrees, a drop of 25 in eight hours. The temperature is falling slowly as the great blast from the northwest approaches in all its relieving force. There were half a dozen serious prostrations from the heat during the day and one death.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 23.-Saturday night Omaha and all eastern Nebraska was wrestling with a hot wave with the thermometer at '100. Now an inch of snow covers the ground at Duel, Big Springs, North Platt, Grand Island and other northwesteru Nebraska towns, and heavy overcoats are in demand in Omaha with the mercury at 44. It is clear, with prospects of frost. Corn is beyond the possibility of danger.

BUFFALO, Wyo., Sept. 23.-An, equinoxial storm started here on the 20th with a severe gale, continuing all day and night, accompanied by snow. Saturday night the temperature dropped below the freezing point and a heavy snow fell all night and lasted until Sunday night. The weather is now partly clear, with temperature at 27 degrees above zero. Fully a foot of snow fell on the level, which has formed into drifts, making travel diffi-

VETERANS' DAY.

Men Who Wore the Blue and Gray Renew Their Fealty at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—Saturday was veterans' day at the Atlanta exposition and there is no doubt that the old soldiers realized and enjoyed it. In the afternoon between 1 and 3 o'clock the visiting governors and other guests were served with an informal lunceeon at the club rooms of the Piedmont Driving club at the exposition grounds. About 275 people were present and enjoyed the repast. The speech making was general but bricf.

The visitors and their entertainers then went to the Auditorium, where the exercises were held. The exercises opened with prayer, and then followed an address of welcome by Capt. E. P. Howell, who commanded a battery in the battle of Atlanta. Then followed brief addresses.

Capt. W. D. Ellis, of Atlanta, spoke for the confederate veterans. voiced the spirit of mutual forgiveness on the part of blue and gray and declared that if he could find the federal soldier who fired the gun that laid him low in one of the battles of the war he would take him by the hand and salute him as a brother.

Other addresses were made by Gen. J. R. Lewis, of Atlanta, Gen. Longstreet, Gov. Morton, of New York, Gov. McKinley, of Ohio, and Gen. Fairchild, of Wisconsin.

The exposition was closed Sunday Every building and everything on the grounds was closed to the public, The future policy of the exposition as to Sunday opening has not yet been determined upon.

A HEAVY LOSS.

Fire Destroys Property Worth $250,000 at Fond du Lac.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Sept. 23.-The Moore & Galloway Lumber company's yards caught fire at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and with a heavy gale blowing from the southwest, the flames spread rapidly. From the start it was evident the local department could not control them. Aid was sent for to Oshkosh, Neenah and Appleton and the former city sent two engines and 5,000 feet of hose. The combined efforts of the departments Jfruitless were stay the flames > which swept everything over /a tract of thirty-two acres: The property destroyed was 10,000,000 feet of pine and hemlock lumber, warehouse filled with sash, doors and blinds, the company's mill, barns and offices, eight Northwestern ears, two Wabash cars and all the tramways and tracks on the grounds. The Rev. Father Considine was called to Detroit last Monday for a conference with Bishop Foley, the result of which was the separation of the parish of Pinckney from Chelsea and the erection of both parishes into independent churches with resident pastors. The Rev. W. P. Considine will continue to act as pastor of St. Mary's Church, Chelsea, and the Rev. M. J. Comerford, of Detroit, who was recently ordained, will be the pastor of St. Mary's Church, Pinckney. The change will go into effect on Sunday, Oct. 13, 1895, and will be of great benefit to both congregations. Both churches are in a splendid condition, having no debts, and giving evidence of a steady and substantial growth. Father Considine is just completing ten years of admirable service with both congregations, and now will give his entire time and effort to the building up of St. Mary's Church, Chelsea.

A FRENCH geographical society proposes to divide the face of the clock into ten hours of ten minutes and one hundred seconds each. This is to make time uniform with the decimal system or count by tens. The count by twelves which now shows on the face of the clock survives from the earliest times-probably from long before the invention of letters.

GRAPES have been largely a drug in the market this year, owing partly to the enormous crop and partly to a fear of appendicitis that has been engendered. In a recent discussion of this subject Dr. Mcguire said that in all the operations he had performed for appendicitis he had never seen a single grape, tomato or cherry seed.

Ceremonies Held at the National Military Park.

Formal Opening Announced by the Salute of Forty-Four Guns-Gen. Gordon is Eloquent-Grand Military and Civic Parade.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 21 .-After an interval of thirty-two years the blue and the gray Thursday again met around the crescent of Snodgrass hill on the battlefield of Chickamauga, but not as then amid the mists and leaden hail which marked those dreadful days of 1863, making the conflict the most disastrous in its casualties to those concerned which history knows. Under one flag a reunited host, devoted to the advancement and prosperity of one common country, the veteran foemen of a third of a century ago, met Thursday to dedicate as a national park the ground made sacred by the blood of heroes who fought at their side. Salute of Forty-Four Guns.

Promptly at noon a salute of fortyfour guns announced the beginning of the execution of the programme so long arranged and looked forward to. Music by the band of the Fourteenth regiment in camp on the field followed and at subsequent intervals it also was heard with delight.

The addresses of Senator and Gen. John M. Palmer, of Illinois, and of Senator and Gen. John B. Gordon, of Georgia, were preceded by the singing of "America" by the audience and followed by "Auld Lang Syne." Gen. J. S. Fullerton, chairman of the national park commission, and as such Secretary Lamont's representative charged with the duty of directing the dedicatory exercises, was introduced by Vice President Stevenson, who presided in the absence of the secretary of war. Prayer was offered by Rt. Rev. Bishop Gailor, of Tennessee. The first address was that of Gen. Palmer.

Gen. Palmer's Address.

Gen. John M. Palmer, the venerable senator from Illinois, who thirtytwo years ago Thursday risked his life on the battlefield, made the first dedicatory address. When he came forward his voice was husky and had a tremulous sound. And never in all his life, unless, perhaps, when he was directing his men at Chickamauga, did he speak more earnestly. He became grandly eloquent as he advanced in his address, and his eloquence was fully appreciated and at frequent intervals he was applauded with a vigor that showed the audience were in touch with him.

Gen. Gordon's Address. Gen. Gordon, of Georgia, opened his address by quoting the illustrious Charles Sumner's proposal in the United States senate to strike the battle flags of the union all mementoes of the civil war. He eulogized the broad and catholic spirit of patriotism which inspired that proposition, though he said Mr. Sumner reasoned as a classical student rather than a practical statesman. Mr. Sumner, he said, was not the only statesman who then believed that the preservation of war memories was the perpetuation of war passions. He was not the only one who failed to appreciate the mighty changes which were to be wrought in time: or the hallowing effects of great trials and sorrows upon the tempers of a peo-ple; or the elevating, ennobling and unifying to last? Is this unity to endure? If 'yes,' then liberty shall live If 'no,' then the liberty shall live If 'no,' then the republic is doomed, for in the womb of our country's future are mighty prob-lems, imbaed with life and power and danger, to solve which will call into requisition all the statesmanship, all the manhood and loyalty to law of all the sections. The patri-otic American who loves his country and its freedom and who fails to discern these coming dangers and the urgency for united effort to meet them is not a statesman, and the statesman, if I may so characterize him, who realizing these dangers. and would still, for personal or party alienate the sections or classes. is but half a patriot. Perish, then, forever, perish from American minds and hearts all distrust, all class and party and sectional bigotry and alienation; but five, long live, forever live, as the last hope of the republic, mutual trust, confidence, brotherhood and unity between their children, who are the heirs of the immortal honors. Forever live the spirits which animated the American congress and government in making possible this inspiring hour, and may the spirit of this hour abide in the hearts of our descendants through all genera-

Gen. Gordon closed an impassioned and eloquent peroration as follows: "Every uniform worn by the brave, whether its color was blue or gray, every sheet of flame from the ranks and rifles of both; every cannon that shook Chickamauga's hills or thundered around the heights of Gettysburg, every whizzing shell that tore through the wilderness at Chancellorsville or Shiloh: every bullet-rent flag that floated in victory, or went down in defeat on any field: every patriotic song or prayer wafted heavenward from the north or the south: every loving and tender ministration at the dying soldier's side; every agonizing throb in woman's heart or burning tear on devoted woman's cheek-all were contributions to the upbuilding of a loftier American manhood for the future defense of American freedom. And now, by the authority of the American congress and the executive department of the government; in the presence of these survivors of the great struggle: in the midst of this historic woodland, whose leaves were reddened with heroic blood and whose giant oaks still bear upon their shivered trunks the visible track of shot and shell; by these flowing fountains, whose crystal waters symbolize the purity of purpose which convenes us in the presence of all these witnesses, and in the name of this great republic and its people, we set apart, as the American Mecca, and consecrate for all time, this immortal battle ground, made forever glorious by American valor." Reunion of Blue and Gray.

Ger. Granville M. Dodge, president of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, presided over the reunion of the survivors of the army of that name who served in either the union or confederate ranks, which closed the proceedings of the first day of the dedication of the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National park. It was held at night in the large tent in the city. Addresses were made by Gen. O. O. Howard, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, of Alabama; Gen. Willard Warner, of Chattanooga, and others.

The Michigan legislature appropriated $20,000 for the erection of monuments to the eleven commands that participated in the battle of Chickamauga, when 600 brave Michigan men were left dead on the field, and hundreds more were wounded and taken prisoners. The monuments are of granite and bronze, that of the Ninth infantry being a statue of Gen. John C. Parkhurst, 6 feet in height and standing on a base rising 6 feet. In addition to the eleven monuments, thirteen markers have been erected to locate the subordinate positions occupied by the different commands during the great engagement. Closing Exercises.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 23 Chattanooga put on its best holiday attire Friday. The scene of the celebration was transferred from Chickamauga's battlefield to the city. The morning was devoted to the parade through Chattanooga's streets, and proved to be the most brilliant and attractive event up to that time.

The procession formed on Market street, the principal business thoroughfare of the city, and was characteristic of the occasion. First came a platoon of police and then the United States troops, foot and artillery, in camp at Chickamauga park, under command of Col. Poland. These numbered, all told, about 1,200 men. There were battalions from the Sixth, Fourteenth and Twenty-third infantry and Battery 1 Fourth artillery.

The rear of the column was under command of Capt. F. H. Phillips. The visiting governors and their staffs, together with the various state park commission's carriages, followed Gen.

Fullerton and staff. Gen. J. S. Fullerton, president of the park commission, was grand marshal. On the reviewing stand were Lieut. Gen. Schofield and Vice President Stevenson, the reviewing officers occurred at Cheng Tu in the and a large body of the distinguished visitors and prominent citizens. The procession disbanded shortly after passing the reviewing stand and the battery proceeded to Orchard Knob, on the summit of which was fired the union salute of forty-four guns at At that hour began the exercise in the tent intended to commemorate, in connection with the dedication, the battle of Chartanooga proper.

Vice President Stevenson presided The proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. Samuel J. Nicolis, D. D., of St. Louis. Hon. George W. Ochs, Chattanooga's eloquent executive, was introduced to welcome the visitors to the mountain city.

Senator Bate's Speech. Gen W. B. Bate, a senator from Tennessee, was the first speaker. His address presented the southern view of the causes leading to the war. He expressed his pleasure that the lapse of more than thirty years mitigated the passions, the excitement and disposed the minds of all surviving contestants of these great battles to look back at the past with those moderated convictions which are due to a contest in which each party, held principles and convictions to justify the contention

The senator gave a detailed history of the battle of Chickamauga and the events preceding and following it, as viewed from his standpoint He deprecated any renewal of the struggle, saying:

"The blood and carnage of 1861-5 should not be repeated. No thoughtful man, however, is free from grave apprehensions when he sees the ugly signs outcrop here and there and hang ominously over the destinies of our country. We even now see the faint yet vivid flashes and hear the thunder in the distance and pray that the storm may pass harmless. "We, who did the fighting in our interstate struggle, know what war means, and should help avert the danger. "But should danger come, I believe the conservative south may yet prove to be the rod that will conduct the flery bolt harmlessly to the earth, and when liberty takes her flight—

If she ever should, from this country—her last resting place will be in our constitution—loving, constitution—defending south."

He closed as follows: We of the south, love our comrades with no less devotion: we see in them no less cour-age, honor, manliness and patriotism than you recognize in us fellow-soldiers. To the men of the south, their cause was not less holy, nor less sacred, not less rightful than you esteem that for which your armies fought."

Gen. Bate was followed by Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor, a representative in congress from Ohio.

At the meeting in the tent in the afternoon the visiting governors were called upon for remarks, and Govs. Morton, of New York; and Matthews, of Indiana, and Woodbury, of Vermont, responded. Morton Nominated for President.

Gov. Morton, of New York, was formally put in nomination for the presidency by Senator Edmund O'Connor at a serenade tendered him Thursday night by all the. New Yorkers present in Chattanooga at the residence of F. C. Montague, with whom he dined.

Closing Scene. Friday night's meeting of the survivors of the Army of Virginia and that portion of the Army of the Potomae that fought at Chattanooga brought to a close the programme arranged by the national commission in connection with the dedication of the Chickamauga and Chattanooga military park. The meeting was held in the tent and was presided over by Gen. E. C. Walthall, senator-elect from Mississippi, who fought against Hooker in the clouds on Lookout mountain. Addresses were made by Col. Lewis R. Stegman, of New Yok; Gov. Oates, of Alabama, and Gen. J. A. Williamson, of Iowa.

BIG BLOCKS BURN.

Indianapolis Suffers Heavily from a Conflagration.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 20.-At 6 o'clock Wednesday morning a fire broke out on the third floor in the fivestory stone and brick building on the south side of Washington street, between Meridian and Pennsylvania streets. It was at once realized that the fire would be a disastrous one and the entire fire department was sum-

Notwithstanding hard fighting the fire soon spread to the four-story stone building of the Indiana national bank, immediately east, of which Volney T. Mallott is president. This building was soon at the mercy of the flames. Soon the entire northwest corner of the square was attacked.

The Condit block, occupied by the Western Union, and fronting on South Meridian street, with Pearl street running along the south side, soon caught. This latter building is of brick and is five stories high. The upper floor, used as the battery-room, and the next floor below, used as the operating-room, were soon flooded with water and all wires were burned off, cutting off all communication with other points.

The furniture and china store of Eastman, Schleicher & Lee was one of the largest in the country and an immense stock was carried. The entire building and stock were totally destroyed and only the walls remained standing.

Across the alley from the burned quarter, on Washington street, stands the six-story Pettis dry-goods building, built of stone and brick. The smoke penetrated this building and the window sills caught fire. The waterwas turned on and the upper floor soon flooded. The water soaked clear through to the basement and the loss will be tremendous.

The total loss aggregates about $400,-000, as follows:

IN FAVOR OF MORTON New York Republicans Indorse the Governor for President.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 19. -The republican state convention completed its work in less than eight hours Tues day, renominating the state ticket of 1893 and adding Celero E. Martin of Binghamton, for associate justice of the court of appeals in place of Judge Francis M, Finch, who will shortly be retired by reaching the age limit. The ticket is as follows:

For judge of the court of appeals, Celero & Martin, of Broome: for secretary of state, John M. Palmer, of Albany; for comptroller, James A. Roberts, of Erie; for treasurer, A B. Colvin, of Warren; for attorney general, Theodore E. Hancock, of Onondaga; for state en-gineer, Campbell W. Adams, of Oheida.

Congressman Sherman, of Utica, was temporary chairman and Senator Clarence Lexow, of investigation fame, was permanent chairman. The latter made the speech of his life upon assuming the gavel, and sounded the keynote of the campaign-reform in city and state

The convention indorsed the administration of Levi P. Morton and expressed the hope that the next national convention will place him in nomination for president.

The platform, with the excise plank omitted, was adopted, and an amendment in favor of the maintenance of the Sunday laws, offered by Warner Miller, was tacked on. Strong efforts were made for liberal resolutions on excise and home rule, but they were defeated, and the convention went to the other extreme and placed the party on record as favoring the enforcement of Sunday laws in the interest of labor and morality. The platform summarized is as follows:

It denounces the democratic administration for its misleading statements of public erpenditures and its failure to pay the nation's honest debts in order to be able to present a delusive statement of the treasury's actual condition: welcomes the dawn of returning prosperity following republican victories of 1894; denounces attempts of the democratic press to befog and mislead the public with reference to the real character and extent of recent restoration of wages; in behalf of American citizens in other countries who are entitled to the most watchful and unyielding defence and protection in all emergencies, it denounces the inramous policy of the federal administration, which has made the stars and stripes the emblem of supine neglect and wretched incapacity; denounces the Wilson tariff bill, and after pointing out the effect of its passage, demands adequate protection for farm products; congratulates the people of the state upon the success of the long struggle which the republican party has waged to secure honest electoral reforms, and the protection of the interests of labor in state and national affairs: urges the adoption and extension of the prin-ciple of arbitration in determining determining between employer and employed heartily indorses the administration of Gov. Levi P. Morton and presents him as the candidate of the republicans of the Empire state for the presidency of the United States and pledges him the loyal and unstinted support of New York in the coming republican national convention; the "ignorance and unwise poltutional income tax is referred to and the favorable record of the republicans in congress in their opposition to that law.

DURRANT'S TRIAL

Prosecution Makes a Strong Case Against the Young Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.-Probably the most important witness in the Durrant trial on Friday was Adolph Oppenheim, the pawnbroker, who said that a few days after the murder a man whom he recognized as Durrant came to his store and tried to sell one of the rings taken from the dead girl's fingers and sent to her aunt through the mail. This ring was picked out by the witness from among the three taken from Miss Lamont by the murderer. . It had a chip diamond in a shield on the top and was otherwise peculiar. Its peculiarity is what Oppenheim said attracted his attention. The incident happened within a few days of his birthday, and that, he said, fixed the time in his mind.

The case consists of having shown by reputable witnesses that Durrant was in Miss Lamont's company on the morning of the day of the murder, and that he met her at the school and accompanied her to the church, where he was seen in an excited or collapsed condition a short time after the murder is thought to have been committed. This and the incidents of the attempted sale of the ring and of his not having attended a lecture when he should have been there, will face the defense when it comes forward to put on its case next week. The defense is still confident and reticent, and though many rumors as to what it will try to prove have been set afloat, nothing authoritative has yet been learned

ITALY CELEBRATES.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Roman Independence Observed.

ROME, Sept. 23.—The fetes celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the entry of the Italian army into Rome, which began on the 14th inst, cul minated Friday in the ceremony of the unveiling of the monument to Gen. Garibaldi on the Janiculum hill in the presence of King Humbert and the royal family, the court, ministers and deputations of veterans who served under Garibaldi. The 50,000 persons who witnessed the cere mony displayed the utmost enthus asm. The decorations of public and private buildings were of the most imposing and liberal character. Every mention of the names of Garibaldi, Italy and King Humbert was greeted with loud cheers. The English and American embassies had their flags ult of the Recent Transaction with the Government—No Further Reason for the Organization's Existence, It Dissolves.

New York, Sept. 23.—The profits of the government bond syndicate were distributed Saturday by checks issued or Morgan and Belmont. The amounts sent out represented an allowance of M per cent for interest on advances made from February to June, being at the rate of 4 per cent. a year and 4.9 percent for profits. The distribution constituted a final settlement with the mbscribers who underwrote the bonds. These subscribers were bound to furnish gold for the American subscription of $32,500,000, receiving bonds therefor, and to furnish the syndicate on demand an equal amount of gold in exchange for greenbacks. These pledges entitled them to a full share in the profits of the undertaking. The face value of the bonds was $62,315,000. which was increased to about $65,000, 000 by the syndicate's price to the government of 104%. It was arranged that the principals in the government contract-J. P. Morgan & Co. and Augst Belmont & Co., of New York, and S. Morgan & Co., of London-should receive % of 1 per cent. for placing and managing the loan. The syndicate offered the bonds to the public at 11214, an advance of 7% per cent. on the purchase price, making a profit to the syndicate, on the face value, of $4,365,987. Deducting the commission of % of 1 per cent. allowed for management, $392,362, left 2973,625 for distribution. This was to be divided equally between Europe and the United States, making a profit to each of $1,986,812.

News of the settlement attracted much interest in the financial district. The security market responded to it with a rushing advance in prices. It was regarded by investors as a signal that all possible danger to the treasury reserve had passed and that reason can no longer exist for continuing the formality of associated protection.

Messrs. Lazard Freres, when asked what the prospects were for gold shipments this week, replied: "Unless something unforeseen should intervene, there will probably be no further gold shipments for some time to come."

BACK FROM FROZEN SEAS. The Peary Arctic Expedition Has Arrived at St. Johns.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 23.-The Peary relief steamer has arrived here with Lieut. Peary and his companions from Greenland on board. When the Kite reached Whale sound August 3 Lieut. Peary, Hugh J. Lee and their colored servant, Matt Henson, were found waiting for it. The party had only ten days previously returned from its great overland expedition, which had proved a comparative failure.

Lieut. Peary and the other two started late in March and made their way to Independence bay, which is the most northerly point of Greenland which he had reached on his previous expedition. Independence bay was reached early in June, but there were not enough men in the party to accomplish any bold venture. They were further deterred from any great undertaking by the insufficiency of their food supply, an obstacle which was foreseen last year. All three of those who participated in the journey were greatly reduced from the lack of food, and were obliged to abandon the attempt to make further progress. In this respect this year's work was only a repetition of last year's failure, although the weather experienced was much more favorable this year than Peary and his companions have little to say in regard to their experiences.

Many sensational stories are current among the crew of the Kite as to the extremities to which Peary, Lee and Henson were reduced by hunger. According to these stories, which the explorers refuse to either confirm or deny, they were almost starved and were forced to eat seal meat and other refuse in order to preserve their lives.

The overland expedition to Independence Bay, it is learned, was not only not as satisfactory as had been anticipated, but came near to resulting fatally to Peary and the other two. They started late in March on this journey, and after reaching Independence Bay were unable to proceed more than a few miles along the coast.

Just beyond their former place they reached the top of a mountain, and were unable to proceed further on account of the precipitous nature of the descent. During the trip an unexpected emergency arose, owing to the fact that premier athletic clubs of the two Lieut. Peary was unable to locate his cache of last year. He was unable to discover any marks indicating it, and was compelled to continue his journey without the ample food supplies which he had reckoned on. The three men-Peary, Lee and Hensonwent at once on short rations, husbanding as much food as possible, but before many days their sufferings became intense and Lee broke down altogether. The strain had been so great on him that it became necessary to place him on a sledge, which the other two drew. His illness gave further cause for alarm because of the fact that adequate medical supplies were not on hand, and it was feared, during the first stages, that he would die from exhaustion. But he rallied eventually. All three owe their lives to the shooting of eight musk oxen, but during the journey they had to sacrifice the weaker dogs and feed the flesh to the others; as it was necessary to sustain some of the animals as long as possible to enable their supplies and instruments to be brought along. Out of forty-nine dogs which started only one returned alive, and all the five sleds were abandoned during the two days just prior to the return of the party to Anniversary Lodge.

Their safe return they looked upon as almost a miracle, as during the last two days hardly a particle of food passed the mouths of any of them, and the struggle to reach their home was one of ever-increasing suffering. When the relief expedition reached Anniversary Lodge the Peary party were was followed Sunday by a heavy wind showing marked evidence of their ter-

Lieut. Peary was extremely non-committal in regard to the expedition generally, and all of the party declined to express an opinion on the work done, nor would they state what

Peary's disappointment over the unsatisfactory termination of the expedition is unconcealed, but all admit that he is not responsible for the failure. No human being could have done more to make the expedition a success. Had he had more men, or even sufficient provisions, he would have accomplished much.

It is now nearly two years and a quarter since Lieut. Peary set out on his Arctic expedition with the intention of proving whether the north pole could be reached by a winter journey with sleighs, or even with snowshees slowed up the other half crashed into it, piling up eight wrecked cars. SAVED BY A FRIEND.

From the Evening Post, Chicago, Ill.

William H. Theel, who is employed by the Title, Guaranty and Trust Company, in the Stock Exchange, Chicago, was seen one evening last week at the residence of his parents, 258 East Blackhawle Street. His experience is an interesting one, indeed, which will prove more interesting in allowing him to tell it in his own words. He says: "Some time ago I had an attack of typhoid fever which kept me in bed for several weeks. Having from childhood always been in very delicate health, my physician and also my parents feared that 1 must surely succumb to the disease. But I gradually passed the danger point and after some time became convalescent, and in due course of time became strong enough to go down town and attend to my clerical duties. But for some reason I could not get back my strength and I found that the effects of the malady were still present in my system. I had no appetite, and the most tempting dishes which my anxious mother could prepare had no attractions for me. I became pale, languid, gained no strength and, in fact, became weaker day after day. I became morose and peevish, and added to this state of my nervous system there was every evidence of quick consumption-such as short breathing, a deathly pallor, relieved only by hectic flushes, and, in fact, a general breaking down of my whole system. My condition was such that my parents became very much alarmed, although of course they did not communicate their fears to me. The fact is that while I saw their alarm and felt myself surely and slowly losing my hold on this life I really did not care, for life had become a burden to me the way that I felt. "It was while I was in this desperate frame of mind that one day my fellow clerk handed me a pamphlet and two boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which he brought me from the drug store across the street. I took both the boxes and the pamphlet home and showed them to my mother. She was of the opinion that if the medicine would do as it was claimed, it might save my life, and she advised me by all means to give it a fair trial. I did so and the result exceeded my fondest hopes. Although I have so far only used three boxes of the pills, the improvement of general condition is almost marvelous. The severe headaches from which I suffered untold torments have wholly disappeared, my appetite is again good. I eat hearty meals three times a day and digest the food splendidly, and my strength is returning. My complexion, as you can see for yourself, is quite clear. My-lungs are sound and, in fact, I am now a healthy and strong

Livingston County Wants Local

At a meeting of temperance workers which has been held at Howell one man from each township was appointed to secure necessary signatures for the calling together of the board of supervisors, as provided by law, and that body will be asked to submit the local option question to a vote. There is little doubt but that the vote will be largely in favor of local option, as the vote taken in 1881, when the old law was declared defective, prevailed in favor of temperance almost two to one. Cleveland's Flag.

Just at the eastward of Gray Gables stands a flagpole, which towers 56 feet high toward the clear blue of the summer sky. The moment he leaves the place an American flag, which waves from the pex of the flagstaff, is lowered, which tells all onlookers that the president is not at home, for when he is at home the glorious star-spangled banner is always whipping about the sighing wind. Many a marine glass sweeps the flagstaff from cottages and hamlets miles around, and many glass owners smile when they see the flag is not flying and mutter to themselves, "Cleveland has gone fishing again,"

Second Crop.

The Lansing Republican says: "One of the remarkable freaks of soil, climate and weather conditions this year has been the second growth of nearly all grains and fruits. Oats, hay, peas, etc., are growing a second crop that promises as good a harvest as the first, if the frost holds off, and now comes Robert Holmes, a fruit raiser south of the city, with several bunches from his early Crawford peach trees, from which has been harvested one fine crop, on which are growing a second crop of the fruit, some of the peaches being half grown. Verily, Michigan is a great state.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a secret preparation. Any physician may have the formula on application. The secret of its success as a medicine lies in its extraordipary power to cleanse the blood of impurities and cure the most deep-seated cases of blood disease.

Mary had a little "wheel" on which she oft did ride, with bloomers on her little self, her bosom swelled with pride. A ramlet by—the roadside grazed, nor dreamed of danger near, and you just bet he stood amazed as Mary did appear. With angry bleat and flying feet his head the front wheel hit, and Mary quickly hit the ground, her bloomin' bloomers split. Then Mary gathered up her little self and o'er the fence did hustle; and now she sadly doth bewail her bloomers and her bustle. As to the fate of rammy ram: his hoof and horns were found, and since Cleveland was elected his wool's been coming down.—Gourier.

Maud Muller on a summer's day stuffed the manger full of hay. Her hat was there, but not the rake, for that was but a poet's fake. Slapping the old cow on the side, she laughed until she nearly cried. "Just think, old bossy," said the maid, "I'm going to have some bloomers made."

Several years ago the residents of Galien, a little Berrien hamlet in Michigan, were surprised at the advent of a party of Chicago men who devoted their time to inspecting a large tract of swamp land near that place. The curious citizens were still more astonished when the Chicago contingent purchased the alleged worthless land for a trifling sum per acre and drain the large area and fit it for cultivation. Last season that portion of the tract cleared produced 20,000 tons of cabbages which brought in $80,000 to the fortunate growers, the land proving to be peculiarly adapted to the culture of that vegetable This year the cabbage patch comprises 600 acres of this erstwhile worthless land, now valued at $200 per acre, and there are some people in Galien who hint that there limited fare for round trip Date of sale are cabbage heads in that region other than those under cultivation.
