The Gym.

Two plans for the enlargement of the usefulness of the gymnasium and reading room are being pushed. The first is for the organization of a young men's club or lyceum, open to all members of the gymnasium and reading room. It is proposed to have a half hour devoted to athletics one evening each week, to be followed by a literary program, a debate, or a short address upon some topic of interest.
A meeting will be called in the near future of all those who are willing to take part in such a club.

The other plan is for the opening of the rooms to young women three afternoons in the week—Monday, Wednesday and Friday—on the same conditions as to young men, viz: Observance of the rules and the payment of one dollar a year. It is hoped to organize an athletic class for young women. The rooms, however, cannot be opened unless there are at least fifty young women willing to avail themselves of the privilege. It is earnestly requested that those who are willing to become members on these conditions should leave their names at Mr. Knapp's store or with the preceptress of the high school, Miss McClaskie. The books are open for the addition of the names of young men at the rooms any night in the week.

Five Years.

Cuyler J. Barton, of Unadilla, charged with arson, pleaded guilty in the circuit court last Monday morning and was sentenced to five years in Jackson. This ends a sensational case which has been pending in this court for over two years.
Several fires of incendiary origin have destroyed about $50,000 worth of property in the vicinity of Unadilla during the past eight years. About two years ago C. J.
Barton was suspected, and detectives have been on his track ever since. A few weeks ago William Barton, a nephew of the suspected man, confessed to the officers that his uncle was guilty, showing a sample of the infernal machines with which the fires were set, by means of candles and fuse. Sunday the elder Barton confessed that the story of his nephew was true, and agreed to enter a plea of guilty in court Monday.

The scheme for setting the fires was to use four short pieces of candles set in rough wooden candlesticks and connected with fuses in such a way that when the first candle burned out it would set fire to the second, and so on, the fuse from the fourth candle leading to a bottle of explosive compound. Barton thus avoided the use of one long candle, and was able to be miles away when the fire broke out.
Turnkey Canfield, of Ann Arbor, passed through here Tuesday with Barton en route for Jackson.

EUCCHARISTIC CONGRESS.

Great Gathering of Catholic Priests in the City of Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The opening Wednesday of the first eucharistic congress to be held in the United States was preceded by the celebration of high pontifical mass in the Church of St. Patrick. Mgr. Satolli, the apostolic delegate, was the celebrant; Cardinal Gibbons and twenty archbishops and bishops were within the altar rails and the edifice was filled to overflowing by members of the Catholic clergy from all parts of the country.

Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the opening session of the congress was held within the walls of the Catholic university. Cardinal Gibbons presided and Archbishops Satolli and Corrigan spoke words of good will and greeting.

The congress is the outcome of a convention held in August of last year at Notre Dame, Ind., and is under the Priests' Eucharistic league, which has for its object the promotion of devotion to the holy eucharist. The league has 35,000 members in Europe, 2,000 in the United States and a large number in Asia, Africa and South America. The director general of the United States is Rev. Bede Maler, of Indiana.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The eucharistic congress Thursday morning listened to the reading of four papers on the subject of the "Eucharist" by Rev. J. F. Foley, of St. Louis; Rev. H.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

J. Heuser, editor of the American Ecclesiastical Review, and Rev. H. Brinkmeyer, of Cincinnati. The congress concluded its session in the afternoon.

Resolutions were adopted pledging the league to do everything in its power to cause the veneration of the Sabbath and endorsing the decree of the plenary council of Baltimore on that subject. The plenary council's decree urges pastors to secure the sanctification of Sundays and specifies the opening of saloons as one way of its desecration. The only other important point dealt with was that endorsing Christian unity.

VESSELS GO DOWN.

Over Fifty Have Been Lost in the British Channel.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A great deal of damage has been caused by the gale which has prevailed and is still blowing off Blackwood, Fleetwood, Lytham and other places along the British coasts. The schooner Lanisley has foundered in the British channel and all on board are lost.

The British steamer Scilla, abandoned, came ashore at Port Queney Thursday morning. A boat containing sixteen of her crew in an exhausted condition arrived at Padistow, Cornwall, prior to the coming ashore of the steamer. These survivors reported that another boat containing twenty-six of the Scilla's crew was still unaccounted for. The Scilla is of 1,350 tons register. The missing boat has since arrived at Padistow.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Much additional wreckage has been washed ashore in the vicinity of Ilfracombe, on the north coast of Devonshire, and it is thought that several vessels foundered in the Bristol channel during the recent gale. This would make the number of craft of various descriptions lost over fifty, and may considerably increase the loss of life previously estimated at twenty-four.

Can't Fight in Texas.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 5.—Both houses of the legislature, in special session, passed the anti-prize fight bill Wednesday. In the senate the vote stood, yeas, 27; nays, 1. The bill makes prize-fighting a felony and imposes a punishment upon the principals for every infraction of the law by a penitentiary term of not less than two and not more than five years. On Thursday the senate passed the house amendments. The bill was then signed by the governor.

The Humble Life.

Three roads, diverging, wend their several ways.
Along the first
The glad notes burst
In splendor through the long, bright days.
The pathway's name
Is Fame.
Along the second splendid castles rise
Before the wondering eyes.
Wealth in this pathway lies.
Along the third are common flowers
And bees hum through unchanging hours.
Yet closer seen the flowers have fairest hue,
The skies above are brightest blue.
This is the way
Called "Every day."
—Richard Barker Shelton, in Boston Budget.

Unfettered Truth.

Friendship, love and truth.
Meeting in a wood,
Leagued themselves together
For the common good.
Greed dissuaded friendship,
Passion mastered love,
And the strength of truth
Time alone shall prove.
—Chicago Record.

I knew the way to a heart—
The paths that led to its gate;
When I knocked at its stately door
I did not need to wait.

I knew each wide, fair room,
Each dear little crooked hall,
And where the sunlight would leap,
And where the shadow would fall.

Why not? For the place was mine:
I dwelt in its inmost room;
Where gems that were hoarded there,
Dreamed deep in its curtained gloom;

Looked long on its pictured wall;
Trod daily its rugs unrolled;
And drank of its rare, rare wine
From its fairy cups of gold.

All was so freely mine,
I lived of a gift so sure—
Farewell for awhile, old house,
And gayly I slammed the door.

Do the old rooms look the same?
Dear rooms that I loved—and mocked?
I may pass the street with the rest,
But the stately door is locked.

NO CERTIFICATE.

BY MRS. M. L. RAYNE.

THE clock striking nine sounded like a knell to the two old people sitting in their dull, hopeless misery, one on each side of the table, like strangers, the first time in forty years. It was not death, this uninvited guest that had intruded its unwelcome presence, but something worse—disgrace, and its baleful shadow obscured the light of heaven. And the night without was as drear as their hearts within.

The woman took a flat tin candlestick from the table and lighted the bit of candle it held.

"You'll be coming up soon, David?" she asked, wistfully.

"I'll rest on the settle here to-night," he said, sternly.

"David, you'll not be the one to separate us that have been joined together a lifetime? I couldn't abear that man, I really couldn't."

"Wait a bit, Rachel. Maybe to-morrow it will seem clearer, but to-night I must think, and try for wisdom to see God's hand in this."

"You'll wind the clock, David, and put Maltie outside?"

She was making a brave fight for strength, and it is on the plain and homely duties of life that we find the firmest footing. Rachel knew this, and so she turned away with a sigh that rent David's heart, but waited with her hand on the stair door.

"There's a shroud in the candle to-night," she pointed to the guttering wick.

"I wish there was—I wish to heaven there was, and 'twere for me," said the man, bowing his head until the wisps of soft gray hair fell over his troubled face.

"Good night, David."

The pitiful note of supplication in her voice did not fall unheeded on his ear.

"Why, Rachel, I most forget—good night, mother."

"He called me mother!" said Rachel to herself, when she had reached her room, and, setting the candle on the little stand, she sank on her knees by the bed.

"God have mercy," she prayed, "and lay not this sin at our doors!"

Then she lay down, removing only her shoes, as if to be ready for any emergency, but she did not, could not sleep. The pillow next to her was empty—for the first time.

She closed her eyes and listened to an occasional movement below—a groan—words of supplication—cries for relief from the awful thralldom of this grief. She could not see the tender, plaintive lines of that dear old face softening into tears or hardening into the rigid lines of duty. She slipped from the bed and felt her way down the familiar stairs.

"Husband!" she called; "are you sleeping?"

"No, mother."

Again the most beautiful word in the English language smote her ear like a blow.

"David, haven't all the blessed years that are gone meant something? Isn't our love worth more than a bit of white paper?"

"Hush, woman! Tempt me not to break the laws of God and man knowingly; it is enough to know that we have sinned through ignorance. Oh, God!"—he lifted his voice in inspired supplication like the prophets of old—"if Thou canst forgive, it is not for man to blame!"

Rachel took advantage of this moment of apparent softening and kneeling by him laid her head on his shoulder.

"David, let me stay with you?"

"Go back to your room, Rachel; we must each bear this cross alone."

"May I kiss you, dear?"

"No, no, woman! Who knows that it might not be a sin? Until we can see our way clear out of this dark shadow, we must live apart as strangers."

"There is a way, David, to set it right."

"And to confess our sin to the world?"

"That is your pride, David."

"Just so, woman. My pride is a life of integrity, and it's had a sore fall. I had much to lose."

"While I have only you. God help me! I have forgot the Creator more than the creature. My punishment has come!"

He heard the crying as she went away in the darkness, but said no word to comfort or recall her. She could not know that his grief was equal to hers.

But it had that granite fiber which gives a man courage to die at the stake for his principles, and inspires a dogged resolution to suffer found often in weak natures, and sometimes called obstinacy in the minor events of life. It was the first call to martyrdom that David had heard, and it excluded all other voices.

But Rachel—she could never be sure that she had fallen asleep and dreamed it—thought that her husband came and bent over her, that a tear fell on her forehead, and that he patted her gray hair with a loving touch.

The next morning repeated the anguish of the preceding day and night. Suddenly Rachel asked:

"Have you thought of the children, David, what it means to them?"

"Aye, woman, and a sore thought it has been. Whether or no to tell them them in the old home, back east, and the lawyer's letter first acquainted them with the omission.

"We can see now that it should never have happened, but we didn't really sense it till the lawyer man wrote again and told us we were not married until we could prove it by witnesses or certificate!" and David wiped his flushed face with his wedding handkerchief.

A small folded paper fell from its folds, which the minister picked up mechanically and passed to Rachel. It was yellow and creased, but when she unfolded it she gave a great cry!

"Husband! It's the certificate! You had it all the time and never knew it. Thank God!"

"I thought it was a receipt for the fee I gave him—honest I did, wife, and ain't ever looked at it since that day. It's the hand of Providence that's give it back. And we're married and have been all those years? That's the blesseddest piece of paper I've seen in my life, and there ain't enough money in these United States to buy it."

"We'll frame it and hang it where we can see it every day," suggested Rachel.

"Hooray!" cried the little old bridegroom, out of whose face all lines had escaped, except those of love and tenderness. "I must kiss the bride!"

And as the minister turned his back on the scene, he pondered long on the text: "The meek shall inherit the earth."—Detroit Free Press.

PASSING OF FOLDING BEDS.

Few Made Nowadays But the Iron Bed Is Popular.

The folding bed, once an immensely popular institution, is losing its grip. Not one is called for now where two or three years ago a dozen were ordered, and the folding bed production in all factories is steadily declining.

In their early days folding beds were made for the houses of wealthy people, and were often of mahogany and other expensive materials, and cost all the way from one hundred and fifty to seven hundred dollars. Later hotels and boarding houses were equipped with them, and they gained great popularity for apartments and flats where space is small. But they have gone out of favor.

The accidents which frequently occurred with the folding bed doubtless had some bad influence on its popularity, but this was not the only disadvantage the multum in parvo furniture had to contend against. The beds are heavy, clumsy affairs, even under the most favorable conditions, many are hard to handle without a derrick or a yoke of oxen, and they are also hard to keep clean.

Another interesting fact manifested at the recent furniture season opening in this city is the increased call for beds of brass and iron. Such beds are practically the only kind sold in England, and they have steadily increased in popularity in this country during the past five years. The demand for metal beds has not yet progressed far enough to make serious inroads upon the market for wooden beds, but furniture men are looking forward to the time when wooden beds will be superseded. Metal beds have the advantage of being easy to handle, easy to keep clean, not easily marred, and lend themselves readily to dressing up to present a different appearance whenever a change may be desirable. The furniture manufacturers, recognizing the tendency of the times, are offering many new patterns in special bureaus and dressers to match with metal beds.—N. Y. Sun.

Queer Uses for Cards.

In a strike among bricklayers and masons in Vienna, Hungarian workmen were employed to take the places of native workmen, but great trouble was experienced, owing to the absence of interpreters, and the difficulty of giving orders to the foreigners. Finally recourse was had to a pack of cards, and, as the workmen of every nationality understood these, a system of signs and signals was established which answered every purpose. Criminals quite frequently convey information by means of cards. On one occasion a prisoner in Paris prayed to have a pack of cards lent to him. His request was refused, whereupon he obtained a sheet of paper, drew blood from his arm, and made a fair imitation of a five of hearts. He was caught in the act, and confessed that at next visiting day he intended to have passed the five to a friend, and that every card in the pack had a distinct meaning.—Pearson's Weekly.

There is an active principle in the human soul that will ever be exerting its facilities to the utmost stretch, in whatever employment, by the accidents of time and place, the general plan of education, or the custom and manners of the age and country it may happen to find itself engaged.—Blackstone.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The Pure Food Law.

Dairy and Food Commissioner Storrs has begun active work enforcing the new pure laws. Inspectors will visit the larger cities and make a personal canvass where all malt brewed, fermented or spiritous liquors are properly lettered according to law. If a customer steps into a store and asks for grog or vinegar he should just notice if the barrel, cask or other vessel containing the same, bears this label: "Pure and without drugs or poison." If such label is not in sight you can bank on one or two things. Either the stuff is not pure and ought not to be taken into the stomach under any consideration, or the dealer is not obeying the law.

MACEO WOUNDED.

Leader of the Cuban Insurgents Shot in a Battle.

HAVANA, Oct. 7.—The Spanish have dealt the Cuban insurgents a severe blow, if the official reports given out are to be relied upon. The rebels have met with defeat and Gen. Antonio Maceo has been badly wounded. Many of his followers were killed or wounded.

The battle, said to be the most bloody of the present war, was fought in the country between Soa Arriba and San Fernando, in the Holguin district of Santiago de Cuba. The insurgents were commanded by Gen. Maceo, while the Spanish troops were commanded by Gen. Excalague.

The insurgents, numbering 3,000 infantry and 800 cavalry, laid in wait for Gen. Excalague, who appeared at the head of 1,800 infantry and 300 cavalry. The Spanish troops also possessed one field cannon. Gen. Excalague distributed his men in admirable fashion and planned to fall at certain specified times upon the positions held by the insurgents. The revolutionists, aware of his movements, arranged for a strong outpost to check the impetuosity of the Spanish troops. The regular Spanish forces paid little attention to the small body of men stationed at the outposts and rushed to the main force. The insurgents made a desperate resistance, which lasted seven hours.

Finally Gen. Maceo, seeing his men in a critical situation, rushed to the front with his staff. He had scarcely taken a position in front of the line, when he fell seriously wounded. His followers at once placed him on stretchers and succeeded in carrying him off the field.

As soon as it was known that Gen. Maceo had been wounded, all was confusion in the ranks of the insurgents, who, according to official advices here, were put to flight, leaving upon the field twenty killed and several wounded. Spanish officials estimate that before Maceo fell fully 180 dead and wounded insurgents were carried from the field. These officials also assert that many of the insurgents surrendered, discouraged by the defeat and the wounding of Maceo, and they expect that others will give themselves up.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The question of whether the Cuban revolutionists shall be recognized as belligerents by the United States government will be determined, it is believed, by the events of the next six weeks in Cuba. The feeling in favor of such a step is stronger at the state department now than it has been at any time heretofore. Secretary Olney is being influenced by the public sentiment springing up all over this country for the Cubans. The meetings held recently in Chicago and the published interviews with the governors of many states, all showing a strong sympathy for the revolutionists, have had their effect on both the president and his secretary of state. They would not hesitate a day to recognize the belligerency of Cuba but for the fact that it has been learned officially that Spain has recently strengthened her military forces on the islands until they now number 100,000 instead of 80,000 as has been generally estimated.

A number of important battles will be fought in the next few weeks, the result of which will determine whether Spain can suppress the rebellion. It would be a costly experiment for the United States to recognize the belligerency of the revolutionists and throw open our ports to them and then have the revolution suddenly fail and the Spanish government move on us for indemnity. Nearly all the South and Central American republics are ready to extend recognition to the revolutionists, but will wait for a signal from the United States.

EXPORT OF GOLD CEASED.

Business Conditions Better and a Slight Gain in the Reserve.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The true amount of the gold reserve at the close of business Saturday was $93,006,886, a net gain for the day of $208,097. The present situation as to gold withdrawals, as viewed at the treasury department, is more hopeful than at any time within the last several weeks, and, in the opinion of many, the reduction in the rate of sterling exchange, the cessation of withdrawals for export, and the apparently increasing willingness of banks to exchange gold for non-legal tenders, indicates a return to normal conditions, and a turn in the tide of gold movements. The reported arrival of $250,000 in gold from Europe, although a comparatively insignificant amount, has strengthened the belief that the drain of gold has ceased for a considerable time at least.

A FATAL WEDDING.

Seventy-Five Guests Mysteriously Poisoned—Two of Them Dead.

DEBUIQUE, Ia., Oct. 7.—Two deaths occurred near Sabula, Jackson county, Friday as the result of a poisoning at H. D. Gage's wedding, three weeks ago, which has affected seventy-five or a 100 of the 300 guests. The groom's condition is reported dangerous. The physicians from several towns are unable to agree whether the poisoning was caused by pork or by pressed chicken, and have forwarded to Chicago for analysis the biceps muscles of George Bryant, who died Friday.

The parties gained an entrance to the different stores by forcing a rear window, excepting at Beissel's, where a window on Main street, in plain view, was forced. Officers are looking for a clue.

Births.

The number of births in the state during the census year ending June 1, 1894, is returned at 59,889, an increase of 6,114, or 11.87 per cent as compared with the number in the census year ending June 1, 1884. Population in 1894 was 20.93 per cent greater than in 1884. The total number of births returned is 2.67 per cent of the population at the close of the year, or 26.7 births in each 1,000 inhabitants. The number of births in the seventy incorporated cities in the state was 22,874, and in the country outside the cities, 37,015. In the cities there were 27.86 births, and in the country 26.06 births to each one thousand population at the close of the year. The number of male children born during the year was 31,041, of female 28,848. Of the total number the males were 51.83 per cent, and the females 48.17 per cent, or in each one thousand children 518 were males and 482 females. To each 100 female children the number of male children was 108.

CRUSHED AT CHURCH.

Disaster Attends the Laying of a Corner Stone in Loraine, O.

Platform Falls Into a Basement, and a Large Crowd of People Go with It—A Little Girl Killed—Many Persons Hurt.

LORAIN, O., Oct. 7.—The laying of the corner stone for the new St. Mary's Catholic church in this city Sunday was accompanied by an awful disaster. Fully 5,000 people were in attendance and the priests were about ready to proceed with the services when an accident occurred that created a panic and killed a little girl and wounded about twenty-five more, several of them fatally.

The foundation for the building extended about 10 feet above the basement bottom, and on this was erected a platform where the ceremonies were being held. Over 1,000 persons were standing on the floor, when a section of it, containing about 300 people, sank beneath its burden and precipitated them into the pit. The section which gave way was in two wings, and as it sank it formed a death trap for the people, from which there was no chance to escape. The pit resembled an inverted roof of very steep slant, the ends being closed up by stone walls, and into this it was that there were crowded men, women and children in one struggling heap.

As the floor gave way, a great cry went up from the multitude, but in another second it had fallen and carried in its ruin the lives of several persons. Those at the top of the mass escaped easily, but when the pit was partly emptied those victims still entrapped could not clamor up the steep sides, and they trampled each other like so many wild creatures, the strong getting on top and the weaker being crushed beneath the great weight. Although there were a thousand people ready to rush to the rescue they could render very little aid to the helpless persons in the pit, and several minutes elapsed before ropes and ladders could be procured. When help finally reached the unfortunate victims, several had already been trampled to death and others fatally injured. The old Catholic church near by was turned into a hospital and morgue. Into this were carried those who were killed and injured. The following is a list so far as ascertained:

Rose McGee, of Loraine, skull fractured. Katie Griffin, 8 years of age, of Loraine, injured internally. Mrs. Mary McGrath, of Loraine, left leg crushed and injured internally. Mrs. John Enstien, an aged lady of Loraine, left leg crushed, chest injured. Mrs. Cornelius Sullivan, of Loraine, spine injured, left leg crushed. Mary Sieder, an aged lady of Loraine, chest crushed and hurt internally. Mrs. Mike Kelling, of Loraine, injured internally. John Feldkamp, of Loraine, hurt internally. Miss Kate Deldrick, of Sheffield, both legs broken and hurt internally. Mrs. Margaret Mackert, of Loraine, hurt internally. Nicholas Wagner, of Elyria, skull fractured. Nellie Dollard, of Loraine, head cut; Leo Theobald, 3 years old, back of head cut; Col. W. I. Brown, of Loraine, right arm and left leg bruised. Mrs. John Fox, of Sheffield, both legs broken. Mrs. William Burgett, of Loraine, hurt internally. Mrs. Mary Latimer, of Carlisle Center, right leg crushed. Mrs. Mary O'Keefe, of Loraine, hurt internally. John Martin, of Loraine, left leg broken. John Enstien, of Loraine, back hurt. Mrs. L. M. Bruce, of Hoganville, left ankle broken. William Ryan, of Loraine, right leg broken. Mrs. O'Keefe, of Loraine, leg crushed, will have to be amputated.

Notwithstanding the shock of the accident, the priests succeeded in quieting the crowd and continued the services. Very Rev. Mgr. Boff, of Cleveland, delivered the sermon. The contractors are said to be responsible for the accident, poor timbers being used for the support of the platform. The mayor and other city officials lent a helping hand in caring for the injured. The town is in deep mourning over the accident.

CAPTURED.

One of the Terre Haute Adams Express Office Robbers Arrested.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 7.—John Don Farden, alias T. J. Franklin, formerly a clerk in the Adams express office at Terre Haute, Ind., was arrested here Saturday night charged with the theft of $10,000 from his employers. He waived extradition proceedings and was taken west by a Pinkerton detective, who has been on his trail since the robbery, a few weeks ago. Farden admitted that he took the package containing the money, and implicated John Barnett, ticket agent of the Vandalia railroad at Terre Haute, in the crime. The men separated after dividing the spoils, Farden going south while Barnett traveled westward. The latter is still at large.

Defendant in Two Breach of Promise Suits Kills Himself.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Oct. 7.—Frederick Leutzinger, one of the old residents of this city, was found dead in bed Saturday morning, having committed suicide by taking a dose of carbolic acid. The suicide was caused by worry over two breach of promise damage suits that were pending in the courts. Miss Clara Uhlenholtz, of St. Louis, asked $35,000 and Mollie Graham, of this city, asked for $25,000. Leutzinger was a wealthy retired baker, who became complicated with the Graham woman some months ago. A few days ago she sent him word that she would kill him unless he settled with her.

A NOTABLE GATHERING.

The Triennial Council of the Episcopal Church Opens.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 4.—The triennial convention of the Episcopal church was opened Wednesday morning with the celebration of holy communion. The regular order of common prayer and litany had been said at the 7 o'clock service. The epistle was read by Bishop Neely, of Maine, the Gospel was read by the archbishop of Rupert's Land, and the alms were received by Assistant Bishop Gilbert, of Minnesota. After the reading of the Gospel the sermon was delivered by Rt. Rev. Bishop Cox, of the diocese of central New York. This service was commenced at 11 o'clock and it was after 1 o'clock when Bishop Tuttle, of Missouri, pronounced the benediction.

Shortly after the formal organization of the house of deputies had been effected the consideration of the report of the commission appointed by the convention of '92 was made the special order for Thursday morning, to be continued in the same status until finally disposed of. Outside of this the proceedings of the session were of a purely routine nature. When the roll was called by Secretary Hutchins, of Hartford, Conn., between 500 and 600 clerical and lay delegates answered to their names. By unanimous vote Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, of New York, who has presided over every general convention since 1886, was elected chairman. Rev. Dr. Hutchinson, of New York, was again elected general secretary.

While the deputies were in session the house of bishops organized in Knickerbocker hall, adjoining Gethsemane church, and which had been fitted up with individual desks loaned from the senate chamber at St. Paul. In the absence of the bishops of Connecticut and Rhode Island, Bishop Whipple, the senior bishop in attendance, presided, and Bishop Doane was elected as chairman, or vice president. Rev. Dr. Hart, of Hartford, was chosen secretary. Greetings of the Church of England were presented by the archbishop of Van Rupert's Land and the bishop of Qu'Appelle, after which the bishops adjourned.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—The prospect of a battle royal over the disposition to be made of the revision report brought the clerical and lay delegates to the Episcopal convention out in force at Gethsemane church Thursday morning, while the galleries were crowded with local and visiting churchmen and churchwomen. At the outset of the session Dr. Dix announced the committees on the state of the church, new dioceses, canons, the prayer-book and other subjects to be brought before the convention.

After much discussion a resolution of fraternal greeting was voted sent to the Methodist conference of northern Minnesota, in session a few blocks away. This is the first time in the history of a general convention of the Episcopal church that greetings have been sent to a conference of another denomination, and the action is regarded as a significant mark of the advance of Christian unity.

When the hour arrived for the special order Dr. Hoffman in behalf of the revision commission made a brief explanatory statement. Himself and his associates, he said, would have been gladly relieved of the responsibility, but once having accepted the trust they had endeavored to discharge it to the best of their ability. The house resolved itself into a committee of the whole to hear and consider the report.

In committee of the whole at the Thursday afternoon session, the house of deputies threw overboard bodily the solemn declaration of faith with which the proposed new constitution and canons was prefaced; refused to concur in the recommendation of the committee that the name of the triennial gathering be changed to the "General Synod," and likewise twice rejected a proposition to recognize the title "The Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States." The overwhelming victory of the anti-revisionists in the matter of the declaration of faith and principles and upon which the commission of 1892 had expended much time, thought and labor, apparently demoralized its supporters, and to the motion to reject the new name of the assemblage they made but a feeble resistance.

The anti-revisionists abandoned their intention of endeavoring to shelve the report at the outset, and, as the document, when re-revised by the present gathering, must be submitted to every diocesan convention in the United States for its action, the contest between the two elements will necessarily be renewed in the convention of '98. Meanwhile the old constitution remains in force.

RIOT AND BLOODSHED.

Constantinople the Scene of Many Wild Deeds.

The Armenians and Turkish Police Have a Fierce Encounter—Hundreds of Christians Killed, and Many Others Injured.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Secretary Olney late Wednesday afternoon received the following dispatch from Minister Terrell:

"CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.—Monday several hundred Armenians marched on the porte, professing to ask redress for grievances. The patriarch tried to prevent it. A conflict occurred between the Armenians and the police. Probably about sixty Turks and Armenians were killed, and among others a Turkish major. Many were wounded. The Armenians carried pistols. Tuesday several more were killed. Several hundred have been imprisoned. The porte had notice of the demonstration, which it said, was organized by leaders of the Hunchakist revolutionists, whom they have captured. Much terror exists. I think the porte will be able to restrain fanaticism."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—Five hundred arrests have been made in connection with the recent rioting of Armenians here. The government is greatly alarmed, and the garrison is kept under arms. During the rioting Monday and Tuesday nearly 200 persons were killed.

Trouble among the Armenians of this city has been brewing for a long time past, the bitter feeling against the authorities growing stronger as week after week passes without the adoption by the Turkish government of the scheme for reform in Armenia proposed by the representatives of the powers. The long-smoldering flames of discontent, carefully fanned by the Armenian agitators, have at last broken out.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Standard, under date of Wednesday, telegraphs to his paper: The Armenian patriarch was on Tuesday invited to attend the porte, but he declined because none of his followers were allowed to accompany him. He remained at the patriarchate shut up with several hundred armed Armenians.

Reviewing the incident it appears that the police generally were not supplied with ball cartridges. They were instructed to use the flats of their swords and the butts of their rifles. Such provocation as they gave in the first instance was verbal. The Armenians fired first. With the exception of the massacre of the prisoners the most violence was committed by the Softas and the lowest class of Moslems, none of whom however, appear to have been arrested or otherwise checked.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 7.—The result of the conference held by the foreign diplomats here to consider the situation arising from the rioting on Monday and Tuesday, was that the Dragomans of the several embassies and legations were directed to protest to the foreign minister against the excesses of the police and equally against the barbarity of the Mussulman mob in regard to the arrested and wounded Armenians, several of whom were beaten to death with bludgeons, while others were cruelly mutilated. The Dragomans were also directed to call the porte's serious attention to the whole affair and to beg the foreign minister to see that measures were adopted to prevent foreigners from suffering and to restore order.

Hon. A. W. Terrell, the minister of the United States, made a special request that measures be adopted for the safety of the American missionaries in the Koumkapou quarter. His representations had the desired effect.

The city is quiet. It is evident that the government has taken every precaution to prevent any further disorder, and to quell any rioting should it occur in spite of the measures adopted to prevent it. One of the precautions taken was the posting of guards around the Turkish quarters to prevent the inhabitants from leaving them in order to go to those parts of the city occupied by Armenians.

Late Friday afternoon the police were withdrawn from the patriarchate and other churches and kahns in which Armenians had taken refuge, and all those who had sought safety in these structures were invited to return peacefully to their homes. Some took advantage of the invitation, but others, fearing treachery, determined to remain where they were until such time as the popular excitement had further abated.

The Softas were guilty of great excesses on Tuesday, and especially during the raid on the Armenian quarter, which they made at night. At Tokkurthesme, near Stamboul, the students and populace broke into an Armenian building, killed fifteen persons and wounded thirty-five others. In addition, it is said that they conveyed the wounded to the shore and threw them into the sea.

It is learned from a reliable source that more than 1,000 Armenians have been arrested and cast into prison on the charge of having been actively concerned in the rioting or having instigated the trouble.

During the rioting on Tuesday crowds of Mohammedans took advantage of the great excitement to loot many Armenian shops and offices. Their spoil is reported to have been quite valuable.

THE EPISCOPAL PRELATES.

Proceedings of Their Great Conference at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 7.—When the house of deputies of the Episcopal convention commenced its fourth day's session Saturday morning Dr. Morgan Dix as chairman announced the appointment of Revs. Dr. Stone, of Chicago, Brewster, Long Island; Lawrence, Massachusetts; Judge Fairbanks, Florida, a committee to fill vacancies on the commission on church unity.

After the house had received and accepted the final report of the joint commission of 1889 on the revision of the prayer-book and which was approved at the last convention, and had also accepted a magnificent vellum, the body again went into the committee of the whole, on the new constitution with Lay Delegate Packard, of Maryland, presiding. The pending question when the committee adjourned on Wednesday was the motion of Dr. Harrison, of Springfield, re-enacting the first clause of the paragraph putting into legal effect all legislation of the deputies in which the bishops had failed to concur or had demurred within three days. A number of technical amendments were submitted the speakers in favor of the clause insisting that it was intended to prevent the bishops "pocketing" matters with which they were not in harmony.

At 11:40 o'clock the committee, in response to an urgent appeal from the general secretary of the board of missions, sent by a deputation from the Lyceum, rose by a vote of 157 to 117 and the house adjourned.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 7.—The Lyceum theater was packed Saturday morning in response to a call for a mass meeting in behalf of the missionary work of the Episcopal church. The opening hour was occupied with brief addresses from the missionary bishops of China, Japan and Africa, and ex-Secretary of State Foster was given a cordial reception upon being presented to speak upon his personal observation of foreign missions.

The missionary meeting at the Lyceum Saturday afternoon was another great success, an immense audience being present. The enthusiasm was something remarkable. Bishop Spalding, of Colorado, presided. Great progress was reported in their respective dioceses by the bishops of western Texas, Wyoming and Idaho, North Dakota, South Dakota, western Colorado and Oklahoma.

On Sunday there were elaborate musical programmes in all the Episcopal churches in the city, and the pulpits were occupied as a general thing by bishops of prominence. Large missionary and Sunday school anniversary meetings were also on the programme.

WARSHIPS READY TO ACT.

Will Remain Near Constantinople to Protect Foreigners.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that while that city is quiet the streets are still patrolled by soldiers, and many arrests are being made. The sultan, when he appears in public, has an unusually numerous bodyguard. All the Armenians hitherto employed about the Vildiz palace have been dismissed.

It is expected that Kameel Pasha, the new grand vizier, will advise the sultan to a grant amnesty to all the Armenians who have been arrested in connection with the riots since Monday. The foreign men-of-war which are acting as guard ships have been ordered to moor in the harbor for the winter in order to protect foreigners in case of need.

A Constantinople dispatch to the Daily News says that the Armenian patriarch has received a list of the names of 400 Armenians who have been missing since last Monday, exclusive of the ninety-two bodies which have been sent to the Armenian hospital.

Up to Friday eighty bodies had been registered as victims of the disorder, all of which had been terribly wounded. Some of them contained over twenty gashes besides bullet wounds, and others had been battered with bludgeons so as to be unrecognizable.

DEATH IN A WELL.

Henry Fable and Two Brothers Named Wegman Suffocated Near Toledo.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 7.—Henry Fable, Louis Wegman and Charles Wegman were suffocated Saturday afternoon on the Claymeyer-Wegman farm. The men met their death in a water well in which a dynamite shot had been exploded in the hope of increasing the flow. After waiting until it was supposed the fumes had dissipated, Fable went down and as he made no sign he was followed by the Wegmans. They did not respond to the calls from above, and the other men present were afraid to venture down for some time. The men were all found dead below.

FALL TRADE.

Indications Warrant the Most Hopeful Anticipations.

New York, Oct. 7.—Bradstreet's says of the trade situation:

"Seasonable weather has stimulated sales of merchandise and increased the prospects of a favorable fall trade generally. Among the less favorable features are a moderate decline in staple lines on the Pacific coast, a retardation in the volume of business at Baltimore, and the check to the advance in prices of iron and steel, with a reaction of about one dollar per ton at Ohio valley and Pennsylvania centers."

"In a letter to the editor of Bradstreet's, concerning the national finances, Hon. Worthington C. Ford, chief of the bureau of statistics, treasury department, states the reasons why, in his opinion, there will be no deficit in the national revenues during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916. His estimates of the revenues for the current year is $190,000,000 from customs, $65,000,000 from taxes on distilled spirits, $60,000,000 from tobacco and fermented liquors and $16,000,000 from other sources, or a total of $281,000,000, which, it is declared, "will be sufficient to cover the normal expenditures of the government."

"September bank clearing reflect the spread of favorable trade conditions, but more especially where trade has been backward. Total clearings at sixty-one cities for September aggregate $4,132,855,558, a gain over August of about six-tenths of 1 per cent; over September, 1915 (same year), of 20 per cent. Compared with 1914 the decrease is 13 per cent. Among seventy-nine cities, only one-quarter show decreases. Compared with September, 1913, only seven cities show losses. The heaviest gain shown by any large city over September last year is at Cleveland, 34 per cent.; but New York, Minneapolis, Buffalo, Columbus, Boston, Pittsburgh, New Orleans and St. Louis all show heavy gains.

"Chicago sales of dry goods, clothing and shoes are larger than last week, and at St. Louis the September volume of trade is the heaviest since 1912. Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Paul and Duluth are conspicuous for activity in trade circles. Duluth's population is now nearly 60,000, compared with 33,000 five years ago. Demand for lake freights is active, and rates are tending up. New Orleans reports large freight room engagements for December and January to load grain, and on the Pacific coast Seattle announces it will export about 1,400,000 bushels of wheat this season."

HARRY WRIGHT DEAD.

Noted Figure in Baseball Expires at Atlantic City, N. J.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 4.—Harry Wright, chief of umpires and ex-manager of the Philadelphia National League club, died at 1 o'clock Thursday.

Harry Wright is one of the oldest figures in baseball, and in the history of the national game he played an important part. Known throughout the country by every lover of baseball, he has the reputation of being one of the cleanest and most honorable men in the baseball business. Mr. Wright has been called the father of baseball. When the National league was founded he was captain, manager and center fielder of the champion Cincinnati Reds. From Cincinnati he went to Boston, where he managed the team for several seasons. Later he went to Philadelphia to manage the team. He was succeeded by Arthur Irwin. Last year the place of chief of umpires was created by the league and Mr. Wright given that position.

Charles Blomberg, of Rockford, Wagers He Can Do It in 201 Days.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Oct. 5.—Charles Blomberg, eldest son of August Blomberg, a prominent banker of this city, has wagered $5,000 that he can walk around the world in 201 days. This represents the time he will be actually on the road and is exclusive of time taken up in steamship transportation. Blomberg's route is from New York to San Francisco, through Japan, China, Russia, India, Persia and Egypt, thence through Europe to Southampton, which is the end of his pilgrimage. Blomberg is 24 years of age and is a great athlete. He will have to walk about 45 miles a day on the average to win the wager and has already started from New York.

In round figures the receipts were $27,500,000, and expenditures, $24,500,000. As compared with last September the receipts were nearly $5,000,000 greater, and expenditures, $4,500,000 less.

HONORS FOR LIBERTY BELL.

Remarkable Scenes on Its Journey to Atlanta.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 7.—Like a benediction the liberty bell sped through the lovely Roanoke valley, over the rugged Blue Ridge mountains and down through the picturesque valley of East Tennessee, on an ideal October Sabbath. Reverently earnest thousands paid their tribute of homage to the venerated relic. Sunday schools of all denominations, marshalled by their pastors, and educational institutions turned out the youth and beauty of Virginia and Tennessee and bullet-scarred ex-confederates walking side by side with G. A. R. veterans, uncovered their heads in silent but stately salute.

Truly it was a wonderful day. From Roanoke, Va., where the party spent Saturday night, the progress of the relic has been one continuous ovation, quiet and dignified though it was. At every cross road men, women and children stared with uncovered heads and waved flags as the train flew past. Church bells tolled and little children pelted the bell with flowers.

At Elliston a great-grandson of Patrick Henry, himself a white-haired man of 70 years, pressed forward and craved permission to touch the bell. Here a full Sunday school sang a patriotic hymn. At Christiansburg the boys of the Blackburg military academy stood in line as a guard of honor. There was a great crowd at East Radford, where Mayor Warwick and Thomas L. Hicks made brief addresses to a concourse of public school children. The great zinc and iron town of Pulaski gave hearty greeting. At Marion, Glade Springs and Abingdon the population were all out, and between them were knots of people at every mountain cabin.

It was left for Bristol, half in Virginia and half in Tennessee to turn out a crowd that overflowed the railroad station and stretched out as far in every direction as the eye could reach. Volunteer firemen acted as guards, while Mayor Winston of the Virginia side, and Mayor Anderson, of the Tennessee side, joined in the welcome. Girls from the Southwest Virginia institute sang a hymn and placed a banner of black and gold on the peak of the bell. Then they clambered over the car, each in turn touching the bell. A line was formed, and for two hours a steady stream of people of all ages, colors and social standing passed across the bell car. One venerable woman who admitted that she was 88 years old knelt at the bell and invoked a divine blessing upon the old mass of historic metal.

At Johnson City, Tenn., 900 public school children sang and pelted the bell with flowers. Every house, and even the street cars, showed the national colors. Another brief stop was made at Jonesboro, the ancient capital city of the one-time state of Franklin, which was part of Tennessee, a slice of Kentucky and a corner of North Carolina. Here Andrew Jackson presided as judge over the circuit court. A great crowd poured out of the quaint old town and Mayor Warwick made a brief address. A Greenville, the home and last resting place of Andrew Johnson, there was another dignified ovation. At Morristown the choir of the Methodist church sang hymns, in the chorus of which hundreds of children joined.

It was dark when Knoxville was reached, but people swarmed on the bridge over the railroad and into the big railroad freight yards where the bell car was sidetracked. The crush of people was tremendous, and stalwart policemen quickly formed a line, and until nearly midnight there was a steady stream of people around the bell.

CALL FOR AID AT FOO CHOW.

Appeal to Admirals Brings Two Warships to the Scene.

FOO CHOW, Oct. 7.—The consuls have telegraphed to the admirals for warships. Two British cruisers have arrived. The British vice consul has started from Foo Chow. He will go to Peking with dispatches to Sir Nicholas O'Connor, explaining the hopeless situation and the futility of continuing the farce of inquiring into the massacre.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 7.—The Chinese authorities are contesting every point of the inquiry into the massacre of Christians at Ku-Cheng. They maintain that the seven executions of natives that have already taken place have amply avenged the murders of the missionaries and members of their families.

ALIBI DESTROYED.

Student Graham Alleges Durrant Confessed His Absence from Lecture.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—One of the greatest sensations in the Durrant case, and one which comes now as a climax with crushing weight upon the accused, has become the property of the prosecution. Theodore Durrant not only confessed to a classmate that he had no notes of Dr. Cheney's lecture, but he begged his friends to take his notes to his mother, Mrs. Durrant, his notes to be copied. "I have no notes of that lecture," the accused student said, "and I only need them to complete my alibi." The student to whom Durrant made the fatal acknowledgment is his classmate and friend, Dr. Gilbert F. Graham.

Queen of Pies.

She isn't versed in Latin, she doesn't paint on satin.

She doesn't understand the artful witchery of eyes;

But oh! sure, 'tis true and certain she is very pat and pert

Arranging the component parts of luscious pumpkin pies.

She cannot solve or twist 'em, viz: the planetary system.

She cannot tell a Venus from a Saturn in the skies;

But you ought to see her grapple with the fruit that's known as apple.

And arrive at quick conclusion when she tackles toothsome pies.

She couldn't write a sonnet, and she couldn't trim a bonnet.

She isn't very bookish in her letter of replies;

But she's much at home—oh, very! when she takes the juicy berry

And manipulates quite skillfully symposiums in pies.

NEURALGIA OF THE HEART.

The Terrible Disease That Attacked Mrs. Henry Osting.

Slowly Losing Her Life—Physicians Were Powerless—Friends Were Helpless—At Last She Found a Remedy With Which She Cured Herself and Laughed at Physicians.

From the New Era, Greensburg, Ind.

Hearing through Messrs. Bigney & Co., druggists, of Sunman, Ripley County, Ind., that Mrs. Osting, wife of Henry Osting, a prominent and influential citizen of that town, had been cured of a bad case of neuralgia of the heart and stomach the editor of the New Era determined to know for the satisfaction of himself and the benefit of his readers the truth in regards to the matter, and took advantage of a trip to Sunman last week.

The Osting residence is a very handsome one, and on every hand is seen the footprints of good fortune. Mrs. Osting herself, hale and hearty, invited us into her cosy parlor. One could hardly believe by looking at the lady, who showed all signs of good health, that she was but nine months ago a despondent victim of that dread disease, neuralgia of the heart and stomach. In answer to the question if she had been cured of a bad disease of neuralgia by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as to whether she objected to an interview, she replied in her pleasant way, "Why, no sir, I don't, for they've done me such a wonderful good that I feel I owe everything to them." And the statement was to be believed, for she was the example of perfect health, and we were informed by her neighbors and friends that but a short while ago she was only a living corpse.

Mrs. Osting continued: "No sir; I never did have good health; I was always naturally weak. When quite young I began experiencing trouble from my heart and stomach which the doctors said was neuralgia. I was continually suffering great pain, but not one of the many well-versed physicians from whom I received treatment was able to do me any good. Severe, sharp pains would shoot over my entire body and more severely through my heart and stomach. My entire system became nervous as pains would increase; my appetite began to fail, and for weeks I could not eat a meal—just mince over the victuals. I couldn't sleep, and would only pass the nights in agony. It's a wonder that I kept up at all, for it's so little that I could eat and sleep for I suffered so. No physicians could do me any good. My family physician said the case was hopeless. I was discouraged. I had tried every medicine that I could hear of, that was claimed to be good for my troubles, but not one did me the least good. Finally, I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and our druggist, Mr. Bigney, advised me to try them, for he said they had done so many people good. I had no faith in patent medicines then, for none had done me any good; but I thought I would try them, for surely they couldn't hurt me. I found relief immediately after I began taking them, and the longer I took them the better I got. By the time I used six boxes I was entirely cured. I never had been able to do my work before. I began taking the pills last October and in December I was well and able to do my work. I can truly say, for the benefit of other sufferers, that I owe my health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

To confirm her story beyond all doubt, Mrs. Osting made the following affidavit:

STATE OF INDIANA, ss
COUNTY OF RIPLEY, ss
Mrs. Henry Osting, being duly sworn on her oath, saith the foregoing statement is just and true.

MRS. HENRY OSTING.
