If Spring Came Now.

O soul, and hath there ever come to thee
A thought that laid its hand upon thy brow,
And whispered: "Dost thou grieve? Spring is to be:
Wouldst thou have springtime now?
"The snow must whiten all the haggard plains,
The snow must rest in every yawning wound,
And from the sky must come the healing
rains
That bathe the barren ground.

"Nay, if spring came to-day and tarried long,
Thou wouldst forget the sweetness of her face,
Thou wouldst not feel the God-like in her song,
Nor bless her dear hand's grace.

"And wouldst thou greet her with the dales so drear,
And parched fields? And wouldst thou have her come
When all the dregs of autumn choke the mere,
And all the woods are dumb?

"Nay, let the snowflakes heal the wounds of fall,
And let the winds blow high, that they make sweet
The hidden paths, the dead leaves over all,
And ready for her feet."

O soul, and hath there ever come to thee
A thought that smoothed the shadows from thy brow,
And said: "Be patient! Springtime is to be;
Wilt thou have springtime now?
—Josephine P. Peabody, in Youth's Companion.

Conjugation.

"I love, you love, he loves,"
Ceaseless the charmed words say,
For know you what such loving proves?
God rules the world that way.

"We love, ye love, they love,"
O, concentrated powers,
By which we may the mountains move
And make the kingdom ours!
—Anne L. Muzzey, in N. Y. Sun.

Chicago University Gets Another Donation of $1,000,000.

State of C. J. Hull the Donor—According to Agreement Mr. Rockefeller Will, by Reason of This Gift, Present Another $1,000,000.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Chicago University is the recipient of another $1,000,000 gift, the donor being Miss Helen Culver, of this city. The conditions of the gift are that it shall be devoted to the increase and spread of knowledge within the field of the biological science. One-half of the sum donated may be used for the purchase of land and for the erection and equipment of building. The remainder is to be invested, the income therefrom constituting a fund for the support of research, instruction and publication. Miss Culver, who is about 60 years of age, is a niece of the late Charles J. Hull, of whom she inherited a fortune valued at $5,000,000, consisting largely of property in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. Mr. Hull was for a considerable time a member of the board of trustees of the old University of Chicago, and one of the motives prompting the gift by Miss Culver was a desire to honor his memory.

Miss Culver's gift is doubly welcome as it insures $1,000,000 more from Mr. John D. Rockefeller. Less than two months ago, on November 2, Mr. Rockefeller sent the following letter to Dr. Goodspeed, financial secretary of the university:

"I will contribute to the University of Chicago $1,000,000 for endowment payable January 1, 1896, in cash, or at my option, in approved interest-bearing securities at their fair market value. I will contribute in addition $2,000,000 for endowment, or otherwise, as I may designate, payable in cash, or, at my option, in interest-bearing securities at their fair market value, but only in amounts equal to the contributions of others in cash or its equivalent, not hitherto proposed, as the same shall be received by this university."

This means $3,000,000 for the university in less than 50 days, and it probably means the establishment of a school of medicine in addition to the benefits bestowed on biology by Miss Culver's gift.

LAI'D TO REST.

Impressive Funeral Services Over the Late Allen G. Thurman's Remains.

Columbus, O., Dec. 16.—The brief and simple burial services of Allen G. Thurman were held at the family residence at Washington avenue and Rich street, Saturday morning. There were many more present than could be admitted to the commodious house, notwithstanding the private character of the funeral. A profusion of flowers covered the space about the coffin.

Among the early arrivals was Gov. McKinley, accompanied by the state officials. Among other prominent persons present were ex-Gov. Campbell and Hon. L. T. Neal, of Chillicothe. The services at the house were conducted by Rev. J. L. Grover, himself 89 years old, and a close friend of the deceased. Rev. Grover officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Thurman, three years ago, and the services deeply impressed Judge Thurman, who at that time requested Rev. Grover to repeat it at his funeral. The service consisted of the reading of the 90th Psalm, the Lord's Prayer, reading of the special funeral rite, reading from the 15th chapter of the First Corinthians—"Now is Christ risen and become the first fruits of them that slept," followed by the benediction.

Rev. Grover announced that the services would be concluded privately at the grave by Rev. E. L. Rexford, of the Universalist church. The remains were interred in Greenlawn cemetery by the side of his wife.

IRISHMEN PREPARE FOR WAR. Clan-na-Gael Forming Military Companies to Be Ready for Emergencies.

New York, Dec. 16.—A local paper says: For the last ten months a movement has been under way in the lodges of the Clan-na-Gael in this and other large cities to organize among the best Irishmen military companies. In this city alone there is a well-drilled and equipped regiment of 500 men, and companies and regiments are in process of formation in Brooklyn, Boston, Chicago and other large cities. It is said the whole movement is a scheme to prepare a well-trained and armed body of men to be used when there is an opportunity to free Ireland. This scheme is denied by the leaders of the movement, who declare that the men are drilled for the purpose of furnishing the United States government with trained soldiers in case of an emergency; but, notwithstanding this, it has leaked out that Ireland's cause is the principal object of the movement.

EDWARD M'PHERSON DEAD.

Veteran Clerk of the House Passes Away at Gettysburg, Pa. Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 16.—Edward M'Pherson, many years clerk of the house of representatives at Washington, died here Saturday morning. M'Pherson died at seven o'clock from the effects of poison taken in mistake for other medicine. He was accustomed to take a tonic under a physician's prescription, and accidentally got a bottle containing tincture of nux vomica. He instantly discovered his mistake and medical aid was summoned at once, but all efforts were unavailing. A wife and five children survive him.

NEGROES ORGANIZE.

National Federation of Colored Men Formed—Its Objects.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 14.—The National Federation of Colored Men was born here Friday out of the conference of colored men which has been in session here. The principles of the federation were set forth in the "Address to the Country," which was presented by the committee appointed for that purpose. The objects of the organization are defined to be the assertion of opposition to every species of injustice perpetrated upon the race; to render more effective the moral, educational and social forces which 8,000,000 of free men ought to exercise; to form a compact national organization; to assume a new attitude among the citizens of the nation, not unduly arrogant, but one which shall resent the assumption of inferiority. This, the address declares, it is necessary to do after a generation of selfish indifference and un-American and non-Christian contempt.

A copy of the address will be presented to congress. The country will be divided into districts at northwest, northeast, southwest and southeast; and each district will have a vice president and secretary. D. A. Straker, of Detroit, was elected president; J. M. Henderson, of Detroit, general secretary; George L. Knox, of Indianapolis, treasurer, and R. T. Greener, of New York, national lecturer. District vice presidents elected are as follows: Northwest, R. J. Willis, Detroit; northeast, R. T. Greener, New York; southwest, J. S. Woods, Peoria, Ill.; southeast, N. W. Cuney, Galveston, Tex. A resolution was adopted calling on congress to use all honorable means to secure the release of ex-Consul Waller from prison in France. The conference adjourned sine die at a late hour.

HARRY HAYWARD HANGED.

Murderer of Miss Catherine Ging Goes to the Gallows.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 11.—Harry Hayward was hanged at 2:10 o'clock this morning. The execution was successful in every particular. The murderer of Catherine Ging maintained his cool demeanor to the last, and died without confession, the priest in waiting not being called upon to perform his holy offices. Hayward made a statement of five minutes' duration, and, while not making a confession, said he hoped God would forgive him all the harm he had done. The trap fell at 2:10 o'clock and the wonderful vitality of the man was shown by the fact that he lived several moments after the trap fell. His neck was broken.

Cranks Not All Dead.

Wichita, Kan., Dec. 14.—On a $10,000 wager George J. Mold, an ex-letter carrier, will start from Wichita penniless January 1, 1896, dressed as a clown for a trip around the world, to be accomplished in four years, the conditions being that he is not to talk during that time except through a ventriloquist figure and is to return with $20,000 honestly earned. Robert F. Kinnaird, city circulator of the Daily Beacon, will accompany him to see that the conditions are complied with.

Rights of the Bicycle.

New York, Dec. 14.—Spencer C. Crane has won a suit before Justice Jacob Neu, in Brooklyn, of importance to bicyclists. Crane left his wheel standing in the gutter and Andrew Reihm drove an ice wagon into the wheel and broke it. Crane sued Reihm for damages and Justice Neu decided for Mr. Crane, with costs, and added: "Note on the record that the court says the bicycle has as much right in the gutter as a carriage."

Coldest in Twenty-Three Years.

New York, Dec. 14.—This is the coldest December 13 the metropolis has experienced in 23 years. In 1872 the temperature was down to 12 degrees below zero, and at four o'clock Friday morning it touched 13 degrees above the mark. Not only was Friday the coldest day in 23 years, but it was the coldest so far this winter. Unusually cold weather prevails throughout the New England states.

Durrant Gets a Stay.

San Francisco, Dec. 13.—Judge Murphy Thursday morning granted a stay of execution in the Durrant case of 20 days. The stay was granted after a consultation in the district attorney's office, at which Judge Murphy and Attorneys Dickinson and Deuprey were present. It is also said that the advice of Chief Justice Beatty, of the supreme court, was taken unofficially.

HONOR FOR GOMPERS.

American Federation of Labor Selects Him as Its President.

New York, Dec. 16.—Samuel Gompers was elected Saturday afternoon president of the American Federation of Labor by 15 majority.

The following is a full list of the officers elected:

President, Samuel Gompers, of New York city, of the International Cigar Makers' union, in place of John McBride, of Columbus, O.

First vice president, Peter J. McGuire, of Philadelphia, of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, reelected.

Second vice president, James Duncan, of Baltimore, of the Granite Cutters' National union, reelected.

Third vice president, M. M. Garland, of Pittsburgh, Pa., of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, in place of Thomas J. Elderkin, of Chicago.

Treasurer, John B. Lennon, of New York, of the Journeymen Tailors' union, reelected.

Secretary, Augustus McCraith, of Boston, of the Typographical union, reelected.

After an address by Joseph Buchanan, a labor writer, an adjournment was taken until this morning.

New York, Dec. 16.—At the morning session of the American Federation of Labor Saturday the question of sending fraternal delegates to the international congress of socialist workers at London next August was discussed at great length and a motion to lay the entire matter on the table was carried by a majority of 52 to 10.

The next thing taken up was the part of the president's report relating to political action, which reads: "We believe the 12 planks which were adopted by the Denver convention to constitute the platform of the American Federation of Labor. It is of little consequence as the result would be the same while we, as wage-workers, fail to recognize our interests as separate and distinct from that of capitalistic employer, and failing to realize that we cannot hope to be free in the shops, mines and factories while drudging under the wage-system to the polls."

Delegate Pomeroy offered a substitute for the report of the committee, declaring that the failure of the Denver convention to adopt the 12 planks as a political programme made it patent that the federation has no platform which can be called political. After a lengthy discussion the previous question was called for and resulted in a vote on the substitute was 1,576 for and 214 against. Delegate Pomeroy's substitute motion was therefore declared carried, and the convention put itself on record as having no political platform. Vice President McGuire then moved that the 12 planks adopted by the Denver convention be printed in the "Federationist" under the head of "Our Legislative Demands." This was carried.

CLEVELAND'S TRIP ENDS.

He Bags a Lot of Duck and Swan and Returns to Washington.

Washington, Dec. 16.—President Cleveland and his shooting companions returned to Washington Sunday at 2:30 p. m., on the lighthouse tender Maple laden with game. Altogether there were 60 ducks, 32 partridges, five geese and four brants. The president and his companions kept a small portion of the game killed, and the rest was delivered at the houses of the members of the cabinet, Assistant Secretary Hamlin, of the treasury department, and Private Secretary Thurber. A member of the shooting party said that no alarm need have been felt for the safety of the president and his companions during the terrific storm that raged at Cape Hatteras while they were in that vicinity.

The president first learned of the death of Judge Thurman at Elizabeth City, N. C. He paid a high tribute to the memory of the distinguished Ohioan, alluding to him as "one of the truest and ablest patriots of the republic."

VAST SUM FOR PENSIONS.

Millions of Dollars Required to Pay the Veterans.

Washington, Dec. 16.—According to Secretary Carlisle's calculations it will cost $418,091,073.17 to run this government during the fiscal year. The appropriations for the present year made by the last congress amount to $412,753,264.81. The president of the United States and his staff cost $93,200 a year; congress is a luxury for which we pay $7,958,817; our consular and diplomatic service, including the support of the state department, will require $1,888,278; it costs $24,526,968 to support the army and $27,583,675 the navy; we pay $8,750,458 to the Indians; the postal service costs $150,000 less; the federal courts last year cost $3,549,000, but the largest item of expense is the pensions we pay the old soldiers. They amounted last year to $141,381,370, and $3,000 more is asked for the next fiscal year. This money is distributed through a number of agencies and divided pretty evenly among the northern states.

MILLIONS TO GO ABROAD.

Estimated Shipments by Tuesday's Steamer Make the Total $4,000,000.

New York, Dec. 16.—Estimates of the engagements of gold to be shipped by Tuesday's steamer range up to $4,000,000. Of this amount, a little less than $2,000,000 has been arranged for. Muller, Schall & Co. will ship from $400,000 to $600,000, and Heidelberg, Ickelheimer & Co. between $1,250,000 and $1,600,000. Other shippers are as yet unable to specify the amounts they may want.

TO SAVE THEIR LIVES.

Armenians Renounce Christianity in Order to Live.

London, Dec. 16.—Advices from the interior show that forced conversions from Christianity to Mohammedanism are occurring everywhere. Women and children whose husbands and fathers have been killed, and whose homes have been destroyed have, rather than to lead a life of vagabondage, accepted Islamism, whereupon they were housed and fed by Turks. The sincerity of these conversions may be judged from what has occurred in Kaisarea. In this place many women whose protectors had fallen in the massacres were offered their choice between embracing the tenets of the Koran or being either hacked to pieces or meeting the worse fate of being kidnaped. Ostensibly the women accepted Islamism, and thus rendered their lives, and perhaps their honor, secure.

It is now known that perhaps 1,000 persons were killed in the massacres in Kaisarea. The fury of the Kurds is not satisfied with the death of its victims, but vented itself upon the inanimate bodies. The mutilation of the corpses was frightful, and in many cases was of a nature that cannot be described.

In Harpoot, 60 Christians fled to a church in the vain hope that its walls would furnish them shelter against those who were crying for the blood of Armenians. They were permitted for a time to believe themselves secure, but suddenly the church was surrounded by a great number of Kurds. The doors were then blown in, and the Christians thought that they would be massacred within the sacred structure. They were not. Their captors took them one at a time outside the church, and there, heedless of the pitiable cries for mercy from the women and children, killed them, either by shooting or stabbing them. The first victim was the Protestant pastor of the church, who, as he was dragged out, bade the others, if they had to die, to die as Christians. He met his death like a martyr. Some of the refugees, in a very agony of terror, offered to abjure their faith and accept Islamism, thinking thus to save their lives. The offer availed them nothing, for their insatiable enemies, after accepting them, dragged the converts out and killed them one by one. The Armenian church has been turned into a mosque, and the Protestant church into a stable. In Kaisarea the soldiers joined in the looting that accompanied the massacres.

Van and Trebizond are rapidly filling with refugees from the pillaged villages adjacent to those cities. Hundreds of women, almost completely exhausted from fear and lack of food, have reached Van and Trebizond. Their condition is most deplorable. They have been robbed of about everything they possessed. Large numbers of them were barefooted, and the only covering they had for their bodies were thin chemises which furnished no protection against the inclement weather. There is no doubt that many of those who escaped death at the hands of the Kurds will die from the effects of the exposure they have undergone, while many others will fall victims of starvation. The promptest aid that can reach the sufferers from foreign countries will not avail to prevent an enormous death list from these causes, but unless aid is promptly furnished from some quarter the deaths from famine will reach an appalling number.

CUBAN REBELS WIN.

Spanish Troops Outnumbered and Badly Beaten.

Havana, Dec. 16.—A terrible combat took place on December 9 in Minas, in Puerto Principe, between 80 Spanish troops under Guesca and a party of rebels numbering 500 men, commanded by Lopez Recio and Rodriguez. The struggle was a sanguinary one, the rebels using machetes with terrible effect. The superior force of the enemy rendered a victory for the troops impossible. Of the Spanish force 23 were killed, eight wounded, 15 were taken prisoners and 14 are missing. Among the rebels killed were Oscar Primelles, Eugenio Recio and Angel Espinosa. Commandante Caberillos was wounded. After the combat Lopez Recio sent the wounded troops to the Senado plantation. On the day following the fight the Spanish prisoners were set at liberty by their captors.

GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE.

New York Clothing Contractors Violate Agreement—16,000 Will Go Out.

New York, Dec. 16.—The members of the Clothing Contractors' Mutual and Protective association have repudiated the contracts entered into by them with the members of the United Garment Workers of America in this city last July and a strike involving 10,000 tailors in New York city, Brooklyn, Brownsville and Newark is precipitated. Sunday the tailors round notices posted up in most of the shops stating that employers had agreed to abolish the weekly system and that the men would be paid in the future under the piece and task work systems. The executive committee of the United Garment Workers met Sunday night and it is more than probable that over 16,000 tailors, pantsmakers, knee pantsmakers, cutters, finishers and basters will desert the shops.

THE OFFICIAL CALL.

Notification of the Coming Republican Convention Sent Out.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The official call for the national republican convention has been issued as follows:

"To the Republican Electors of the United States:

"In accordance with usage and the instructions of the republican national convention of 1892 and by direction of the national committee, a national convention of delegated representatives of the republican party will be held in the city of St. Louis, in the state of Missouri, on Tuesday, the 16th day of June, 1896, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice president of the United States to be supported at the next national election and for the transaction of such other and further business as may be brought before it. The republican electors in the several states and territories and voters without regard to past political affiliations who believe in republican principles and indorse the republican policy are cordially invited to unite under this call in the formation of a national ticket.

"Each state will be entitled to four delegates at large and for each representative in congress at large, two delegates, and each congressional district, each territory and the District of Columbia to two delegates. The delegates at large shall be chosen by popular state convention, called on not less than 20 days published notice and not less than 30 days before the meeting of the national convention.

"The congressional district delegates shall be chosen at conventions called by the congressional committee of each such district in the same manner as the nomination of a representative in congress is made in said district; provided, that in any congressional district where there is no republican congressional committee, the republican state committee shall appoint from the residents of such district a committee for the purpose of calling a district convention to elect district delegates. The territorial delegates shall be chosen in the same manner as the nomination of a delegate in congress is made. The delegates from the District of Columbia shall be chosen at a convention, to be called by the committee of three, provided for by the national committee at its meeting in Washington city, on December 10, 1895, and such convention shall be constituted of members elected in district primaries, to be held at such time and places and presided over by such judges of election as said committee of three may appoint.

"In addition to the representation now authorized by the rules of the national convention for the territories of Utah, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arizona, the committee advises each of said territories to elect four delegates and the admission of such additional delegates to the convention is recommended.

"An alternate delegate for each delegate to the national convention to act in case of the absence of the delegate, shall be elected in the same manner and at the same time as the delegate is elected.

"All notices of contests must be filed with the secretary of the national committee in writing, accompanied by printed statements of the grounds of contest, which shall be made public. Preference in the order of hearing and determining contests will be given by the convention in accordance with the dates of filing such notices and statements with the secretary.

"THOMAS H. CARTER, Chairman.

"JOSEPH H. MANLEY, Secretary.

"Washington, D. C., December 14, 1895."

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 16.—After a conference here with Treasurer M. C. Rankin, Chairman H. E. Taubeneck, of the people's party national committee, issued a call for the committee to meet at the Lindell hotel, in St. Louis, at ten o'clock in the morning of January 17, next, to fix the date and place for holding the national nominating convention. At present the cities which have asked for the convention are Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Dallas and Atlanta, although the latter has not made a strong bid. The committeemen are understood to favor an early convention, perhaps as early as February.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 16.—Woman suffragists throughout the country are making preparation to attend the 28th annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association which will assemble in Washington on January 23. This is expected to be one of the largest as well as one of the most representative gatherings of political-equality advocates ever held in the country. Assurances have been received that no less than 30 presidents of state societies will be in attendance, and large delegations from each state are expected. The official call for the convention has just been issued. It is signed by Susan B. Anthony, president, and Rachael Foster Avery, corresponding secretary.

KILLED AT LUNCH.

Falling Earth Causes Five Deaths in Kentucky.

Middlesboro, Ky., Dec. 16.—Five section men in the employ of the Virginia Coal & Iron company, met their death near Big Stone Gap, shortly after noon Saturday. They were working on the Virginia Coal & Iron company's road that runs from Appalachia to Pioneer and stopped at the side of the road under an overhanging strata of rock to eat their dinners, where they had a fire built. The section foreman, Mercer, stepped from under the cliff to get a drink. He had been gone but an instant when the rock overhead gave way, falling on the remaining six men, instantly killing five and fatally injuring one.

REFUSES TO ACCEPT.

Father of Harry Hayward Will Not Take the Ging Insurance Money.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 16.—The expected lawsuit over Catherine Ging's insurance money is not likely to be tried. W. W. Hayward, father of Harry, and to whom the latter assigned his claim for the $10,000 insurance on Miss Ging's life, has relinquished all claim to the money. Miss Ging's executor, her twin sister, Julia, claims the money, but the companies may decide to resist the payment on the ground that the policies were assigned to Hayward.

In a first-class meat market? The first thing is the class of meat kept in stock—whether it is nice, tender and juicy, or tough as a 10-year old Texas steer. Being satisfied on this point, you begin to look around as to the cleanliness of the market and clerks. We would be pleased to have you call and put us to this test. We pride ourselves on our cleanliness, and all our meats will be found first-class and the best in the market. Our prices will always be found just right, too.

A Christmas Present.

The Rev. J. A. Blickenstaff and wife, of Waterloo, were very kindly remembered Dec. 13, 1895, by a number of their friends. They were made the happy recipients of a very fine light single harness and whip, valued at $12, purchased of C. Steinbach, of Chelsea, and a fine swell-box cutter, valued at $20, purchased of Hoag & Holmes, Chelsea. The presentation was made by Mr. C. A. Barber and Mr. and Mrs. Orson Beeman. They then spent the evening with the elder and his wife very pleasantly. The following named gentlemen were the donors:

C. A. Barber, Orson Beeman, George Goodwin, Frederick Artz, George Fauser, Emory Rowe, Wm. Howlett, Wm. E. Wessel, Delancy Cooper, Stephen Behm, George Archibron, Jacob Reithmiller, Andrew Runciman, Joseph Baldwin, John Sydmore, Fred Artz, Jr., Wm. Cruse, Jacob Roumel, Joshua Brininstool.

These gentlemen have the heartfelt thanks and best wishes of the elder and wife.

On careful inspection, it is said, it is found that the married couples are more like each other than the brothers and sisters.

HE INN was full at Bethlehem:
A busy crowd were there;
And some were rich,
And some were wise,
And some were young and fair;
But who and what they were to-day
There is not one to care:

But in the cattle's manger
There lay a baby stranger,
Soft nestled, like a snow-white dove,
Among the scented hay;
And lo! through Him was given
Our song to Earth and Heaven,
The song two worlds together sing upon a
Christmas day:
"Glory to God! Good will to men!
O listen! Wake it once again!
Peace upon Earth! Good will to men!"

They sing it, those who sang it first,
The angels strong and high;
They sing it, in shining white, the saints,
Who died long years ago,
And all the fluttering cherub throng,
The children of the sky;
They sing, the patient, waiting souls
Who still faith's conflicts know,
They sing, life's happy innocents,
Their faces all aglow;
One melody fills Heaven above
And floats from earth below,
The song of that sweet stranger,
Who, in the cattle's manger
Lay, nineteen hundred years ago, among
The scented hay!
All sin and wrong forgiven,
Earth seems close kin of Heaven,
And sweet two worlds together sing upon a
Christmas day!
—Marion Douglas, in Harper's Bazar.

MARION HAYES was standing before the entrance of a large dry goods store in a western city, waiting for a car. Her day's work was over, and she was dreadfully tired. The holiday rush had begun; she had sold that day over $300 worth of goods in her department—the cloak department. A car came plunging along, illuminated with a green light, the gong clanging loudly. In obedience to her signal the motorman stopped the weird, heavily laden conveyance, and she stepped aboard. Once inside, she caught the strap quickly in order to steady herself as the car lurched forward.

A tall, rather distinguished-looking man, wearing eyeglasses, rose, and beckoned to her to take his seat. As Marion came toward the vacant place a look of recognition leaped into his keen eyes. He said in a pleasant, mellow voice: "Why, isn't this Miss Hayes?"

"Well, Mr. Harwood! Where did you come from?" she exclaimed, extending her hand, which he grasped heartily.

"Where did you come from?" he retorted. "Didn't I leave you in New York, painting with the combined energy of seven ordinary women? Well, I've a studio here; getting along first-rate, too—lessons, portraits, and what I sell. Sold three pictures yesterday; made a pretty good haul. These westerners have the cash, you know. They are Philistines and all that, but I don't intend to starve in a garret for art's sake; it isn't my style."

"When did you come back from Paris?"

"Two years ago. Been here ever since. Queer I never ran across you before. Tell me what you are up to."

"I am a saleswoman in Wilson & Carr's cloak department."

"Great Scott! What's that for?"

"Oh, my eyes gave out. I strained them that last winter in New York, after you left. I spent three weeks in a dark room then, and when I came out they were so weak I could do nothing. I went home for a year; they were not one bit better. It was necessary I should do something, for my father has a hard time to get along; so my cousin got me this place. This is my corner. Please stop the car."

He pulled the strap. "I'm coming to see you. When are you at home?"

"Sunday, and every evening but Saturday evening. No. 32, this street."

When they were both students in the Art League in New York, some years ago, she and Jack Harwood were great chums. As Marion vainly tried to sleep that night she had an attack of memory and lived those days over again. It had been a terrible thing to put by all the dreams and aspirations of that time. Seeing Jack once more brought back the old pain which the dull routine of her present occupation had almost effaced.

The next day was Saturday, with its extra toil, for they had to stay at the store until ten o'clock. She slept from pure exhaustion that night. Sunday afternoon about four o'clock Jack called.

"Couldn't you find anything but this murrering shop work?" he asked, thinking Marion looked uncommonly well in that soft brown thing with the big lace ruffles.

"No. I can't even teach; I tried it at home. The work isn't so bad when you're used to it."

He shook his head in disapproval. Marion went on nervously:

"Really funny things happen sometimes. The other day a man and woman came to see about buying a shawl. She couldn't make up her mind which one she liked best, so she decided to go home and think it over. When they went away I asked them to come to me if they came back again, and the old man said: 'Guess we'll know you—you look just like our Bridget.' Then a Bohemian woman came in last night to buy a coat. She brought her husband along, and when he objected to the price she just took hold of his nose and pulled it till he gave in."

Jack smiled and changed the subject by saying: "Don't you want to show me what you did that last year? You went to Darnell after you left the league, didn't you?"

Marion brought her canvases and laid them before him silently. Jack examined the studies one by one.

"Same power, same touch; but, by Jove! how you've improved! That boy's head is fine! Darnell was the man for you. Remember how we differed about that academy picture of his? What a thundering shame about your eyes! Have you seen the best oculists?"

"Pretty good ones. They all say the same thing; it will take time to recover from the strain. I did ever so much extra work, you know—dinner cards, Christmas cards, all that kind of stuff. Electricity would do my eyes good, but it is too expensive." She tried to speak lightly, but felt her attempt was not a success.

"It is tough, and no mistake," Jack said, emphatically. They talked a little longer, then he rose to go. "Come around to the studio and see what I have done," he said; and she promised she would do so soon.

Christmas was now but three days distant. They were miserable days to Marion, for the revival of old ambitions made the sordid life at the store unbearable. It seemed wrong, unjust, that for the want of a little money she must give up forever all it was in her to become. She spent the little she had saved consulting another oculist, who told her the same thing—electrical treatment was all that could help her.

JACK EXAMINED THE STUDIES ONE BY ONE.

Christmas morning dawned clear and bright. Her cousin's little girls were exulting over the treasures Santa Claus brought, and although Marion received her share of pretty remembrances, her heart was heavy as lead. When the postman came, among other things for Marion was a letter addressed in unfamiliar writing. She hastily tore the envelope open and took out a check for $50. It was indorsed:

"Pay to the order of Marion Hayes."
"J. HARWOOD."

A note was inclosed which read: "Please accept this as a substantial expression of the sympathy of your old friend, and use it in some way to get back your eyes."

Marion, woman-like, had a good cry when she was alone in her room. Feelings of mingled surprise, pleasure and resentment passed rapidly through her mind. Of course, she mustn't keep the money, everybody would talk so; but her heart was touched by his kindness. She always had liked him so much in the old days—too much, she once had thought.

She would take it back. She put on her things and started at once. As she left the elevator and waited for an answer to her knock, she wished she had written a note instead. Jack opened the door.

"Why, I'm awfully glad to see you," he said.

Marion dropped into a chair. "It is ever and ever so kind of you," and her lips would tremble, "but I can't take it, indeed I can't," she said, holding the check towards him.

"And why not?" he asked, with an amused smile.

"Because it isn't right. I know the kindness of your heart. I appreciate your sympathy."

"Do you imagine I can't afford it?" he interrupted. "Come! Own up."

Marion laughed nervously. "Judging from the financial condition of most artists, I should call it a munificent sum to give away."

"I will be candid with you. I did intend to put that in the bank, to swell my small hoard; but when I saw you and heard about your hard luck, I changed my mind. It seems very little to go for you; I only wish it were twice the sum! Wait," he continued, as Marion tried to speak, "let me have my say out. There's too much nonsense thought and talked about friendly relations like ours. I don't deny I shouldn't care to do it for most girls; no, I don't know another girl I would do it for. I want you to know that. I enjoyed our friendship in the old times, because you were sensible and didn't think whenever a man liked to talk to you and take you around he was in duty bound to fall in love with you. I won't ask any woman to share the struggles and hardships of a poor artist's life, and I always thought you understood it."

Marion calmly folded the check and put it in her purse.

"I will take it just as you mean it, and thank you a thousand times," she said, in a queer tone. "Now show me your pictures."

They roamed around the studio a little while, when Marion made an excuse for going home. As the door closed after her, Jack clenched his fists.

"I do care for her! I always did! She's the only woman in the world for me, and always will be. I'm glad she took the money." Marion got as far as the elevator shaft, then she turned back. She knocked at the studio door, then, not waiting for him to open it, walked inside. Jack was staring out the window; he turned quickly.

"I must not take it," she said, fumbling at her purse, not seeing for tears.

He placed his hands on her shoulders. "See here, Marion, I do care for you, awfully; and perhaps it is kinder, after all, to let you know, and at least

Flora—I can't decide on a Christmas gift for Arthur.
"Give him yourself."
"He made me promise not to give him an expensive present."—Life.

THEY BLUFFED EACH OTHER.

And That Is Why They Each Received a Perfectly Hideous Present.

"Yes," said Mrs. Beeswax, on Christmas eve, "I sent out the last of my gifts an hour ago. Now I can give up my mind to wondering if the ones I receive in return will be as nice."

"But, Martha," said her husband, thoughtfully, "it puzzles me to know why, if you only send them for that, you don't just buy yourself what you really want in the first place."

"You don't understand me at all, dear. That would be selfish; besides, I always have a chance of really receiving more than I give."

"Well, if—"

"Yes, Emma's present was the last on my list, and I didn't know what to get her. However, I happened to meet her out shopping and she went into ecstasies over a perfectly hideous photograph frame and led me over to look at it. It was odd of her, for she usually has exquisite taste, but I pretended to think it lovely, for I decided at once to get one for her."

"I hope you didn't pay a—"

"Ninety-eight cents, my dear. I don't think she knew how cheap they were or she would not have admired them. However, as soon as I could get rid of her I went back and got it, and I nearly ran into her coming away from the counter, but luckily she didn't see me. It was a load off my mind."

"Your mind must— Oh, pshaw! there's the bell. Company, of course; a man can't have a minute's peace in his own—"

"I believe it's a present. Why, yes, and from Emma, too! Where are my scissors?"

"But what's that on the wrapper? 'Not to be opened until Christmas.'"

"Oh, that only means that it is something so nice that she wants me to see it at once. Good gracious!"

"What's the matter now?"

"Nothing," said his wife, faintly, "only she's sent me one of those hideous frames just like I sent her, and here's a note telling me that she chose it because I admired it so much to-day! Oh, I'd like to tell her just what I think of her!"

Our Presents.

In our offerings to our friends we should try to put into them something of ourselves. If they are our own productions, the creatures of our brains or our fingers, so much the better. We are not all skillful enough to be able to give of our handiwork, or clever enough to lay claim to having originated the tribute we bring. We can all add immeasurably to the value of our gifts by choosing them with special reference to the tastes and wishes and needs of the recipients. A shoe-bag that is positively required to fill a space on a closet door, and hold the shoes that have a habit of being lost when they are wanted in a hurry, will give more real comfort and satisfaction to a busy woman than a bracelet which she would only have an opportunity to wear at long intervals.—Ladies' Home Journal.

NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS.

His Choice.

"What shall we get for Freddy for Christmas, dear?" asked perplexed Mrs. Fangle.

"Oh," replied Fangle, "anything that doesn't make a noise."—Judge.

TONE OF TRADE.

Quiet for the Week, But Greater Activity Expected After the Holidays.

New York, Dec. 14.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of trade, say:

"It has been a very quiet week without any disturbance. Prices of manufactured products slowly recede from the high-water mark of speculation, and no material increase in demand is now expected until after the holidays, but there is general confidence that greater activity will then appear.

"Wheat continues to come forward so rapidly that past estimates of yield, whether official or unofficial, are discredited. Prices for the week show little change. Iron furnaces in blast last December 1 turned out 216,797 tons weekly, against 217,306 November 1, with increase of 4,000 tons in stocks unsold.

"Failures for the first week of December show liabilities of $3,104,831, against $4,036,898 last year, and $4,761,409 in 1893.

FIRST REPUBLICAN GOVERNOR.

Inauguration of Col. W. O. Bradley as Chief Executive of Kentucky.

Prior to the formal inaugural exercises there was a parade of military and civic bodies, societies, orders and organizations, the right of line being held by several detachments of the state militia, which had been ordered out by Gov. Brown as a token of courtesy to his successor.

WANT BAYARD IMPEACHED.

Congressmen Charge Him with Un-American Utterances.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Representative William E. Barrett, of Massachusetts, enjoys the distinction of being the author of the first thrilling incident in the present house of representatives.

Such reflections on the government policy by a United States ambassador before a foreign audience, the resolution recited, were in serious disregard of his proprieties and obligations and calculated to injure our national reputation.

Mr. McCall's resolution went down before an objection, and then it was that Mr. Barrett sprang his impeachment resolution as one constituting a question of privilege.

Mr. Crisp, the leader of the minority, made an unavailing attempt to contest the privileged nature of the resolution. Speaker Reed overruled his point of order and the resolution was thrown into the arena of debate, where it remained for three hours.

First Baron Deatheath Dead. London, Dec. 13.—John Mulholland, first baron Deatheath, died here Wednesday evening. He was 76 years of age.

THE ST. JAMES GAZETTE Wednesday afternoon thinks that Mr. Bayard "may resign after such an attack."

"If so," the Gazette adds, "his loss will be regretted by all who have come in contact with such a fine example of a dignified, tactful and successful statesman."

The Evening Standard Wednesday afternoon, commenting on the affair, says:

"The pettiness of party warfare in the United States was never more clearly displayed of all classes here. The United States has always been distinguished by Great Britain and Mr. Bayard has proved himself worthy of the foremost rank. This petty outburst of spite upon the part of a political clique will not tend to increase our feeling of respect for American politicians."

More than four years ago Mrs. Cyrus T. King, of Williamsfield, Illinois, was taken sick and for three years treated with five of the best physicians of Peoria, Ill.

"Finally," to use Mrs. King's own words, "My condition became such that all of my friends declared it was a mere matter of time until my death would follow. All thought I had consumption. I was compelled to lay down two or three times during the day even if I did not work at all and I was able to do only the lightest. One evening I was sitting in a chair while my husband was lying on the lounge reading a magazine. He read the advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and turning to me said, 'Jennie, you ought to try those pills. Goodness knows you are pale enough.' The next day I tried to get a box at the drug store in town but they had none so I sent to the firm for them and got half a dozen boxes. I had no more than taken one box until an improvement was noted in my condition. It was but a very short while until I was able to take up my work again and I began to rapidly gain flesh. My blood which had been like water became healthy and strong and I never felt better in my life. I forgot to say that while first sick I had ruptured one of the inner walls of the abdomen. For three years I had been compelled to wear a truss and bandage. That I think had considerable to do with my weakly condition. I had not taken the pills more than a week or ten days until I took the truss and bandage off and it has not been necessary for me to wear it ever since. I had weighed but eighty-five pounds when sick but in a short while my weight had increased to 118. I am fully convinced that I owe my life to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"Not only myself has been benefited by the pills but many of my neighbors who took them on my recommendation are now enjoying perfect health where before they could hardly do their work. I was the first in this neighborhood to get them but soon many of the surrounding farmers were sending for them and now the local druggist always keeps a good stock on hand.

"Early this spring I met with a severe accident that threw me back for a while but I got six boxes of the pills and am now feeling just as well as ever."

The four little children of Mr. and Mrs. King, two boys and two girls, are strong and healthy looking and the mother says they are kept so by taking pink pills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes only at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

The The The Best. Rest. Test.

There are two kinds of sarsaparilla: The best—and the rest. The trouble is they look alike. And when the rest dress like the best who's to tell them apart? Well, "the tree is known by its fruit." That's an old test and a safe one. And the taller the tree the deeper the root. That's another test. What's the root,—the record of these sarsaparillas? The one with the deepest root is Ayer's. The one with the richest fruit; that, too, is Ayer's. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a record of half a century of cures; a record of many medals and awards—culminating in the medal of the Chicago World's Fair, which, admitting Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best—shut its doors against the rest. That was greater honor than the medal, to be the only Sarsaparilla admitted as an exhibit at the World's Fair. If you want to get the best sarsaparilla of your druggist, here's an infallible rule: Ask for the best and you'll get Ayer's. Ask for Ayer's and you'll get the best.

VARICOCELE, EMISSIONS AND IMPOTENCY CURED.

John A. Manlin says:—"I was one of the countless victims of early ignorance commenced at 15 years of age. I tried seven medical firms and spent $900 without avail. I gave up in despair. The drains on my system were weakening my intellect as well as my sexual and physical life. My brother advised me as a last resort to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kergan. I commenced their New Method Treatment and in a few weeks was a new man, with new life and ambition. This was four years ago, and now I am married and happy. I recommend those reliable specialists to all my afflicted fellowmen."

CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY.—CONFIDENTIAL.

"The vice of early boyhood laid the foundation of my ruin. Later on a 'gay life' and exposure to blood diseases completed the wreck. I had all the symptoms of Nervous Debility—sunk eyes, emissions, drain in urine, nervousness, weak back, etc. Syphilis caused my hair to fall out, bone pains, ulcers in mouth and on tongue, blotches on body, etc. I thank God I tried Dr. Kennedy & Kergan. They restored me to health, vigor and happiness." CHAS. POWERS.
