KILLED IN A RUNAWAY.

FREEMAN TUCKER LOSES HIS LIFE WHILE TRAINING COLTS.

Pavements and Fire Protection is What The Council is Figuring on—Death of an Old Resident of Sylvan—Jurors for May Term—Other Interesting Items.

A Fatal Runaway.

Monday morning last about 8 o'clock while Freeman Tucker was driving a team of colts on Middle street east, they began to run and crossed Main street at a terrific rate of speed. When nearly opposite the opera house Mr. Tucker was thrown to the ground, but was dragged along for some distance and at last thrown against a hitching post with terrific force. Help soon arrived and he was carried to Boyd's hotel, where Drs. Palmer and Twitchell were called. Upon examination his right leg was found to be broken in several places and was a mass of bruises the entire length. His head was quite badly bruised and he was otherwise injured.

About 1 o'clock death released him from his suffering.

Mr. Tucker was born in Orleans county, state of New York, on the ninth of March, 1836. When about ten years of age, he came to this state with his parents. The family was settled in the town of Freedom. On the 27th of September, 1866, he was married to Miss Phoebe Ann Canfield, at Grass Lake, established his own home on a farm about one mile south of Chelsea, where they resided until 1883, when he sold his farm and removed his family to a farm near Grass Lake. The thirteen years that have passed since that time have been spent in several places, his last residence being Orleans county, N. Y.

The fruit of his marriage was eight children, six of whom, three sons and three daughters, are living. His wife also, three brothers, two sisters, and mother, now 88 years of age, survive him, and sadly mourn the loss they have sustained in his sudden and shocking demise.

About three weeks ago, he returned to find a home again in Chelsea. For this purpose he purchased a residence in the south part of the village, hired a piece of land and was making preparation for the work before him. Among the utilities to this end, he purchased a pair of unbroken colts, only partially trained for service, to a lumber wagon, on which was no box, nor even a buck board, and seating himself upon the reach, started to drive through the town. He had driven but a short distance when the team became unmanageable, and ran away with the result above stated.

Funeral services were held at the Congregational church, at 8 o'clock in the morning of Wednesday, April 23, 1896, attended by a large number of Chelsea's best citizens, including the Masonic fraternity. An appropriate discourse was preached by Rev. Dr. Holmes from Luke xlii, 4, "Those eighteen, upon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and killed them, think ye that they were sinners above all men that dwelt in Jerusalem?" after which the remains were taken to Grass Lake for interment.

John Oldenbagen.

John Oldenbagen was born in the province of Hanover, Germany, May 20, 1814 and died of the infirmities of old age at his home near Francisco, April 12, 1896.

In 1860 he came to America, and settled on the place where he has since resided. He was married to Margrethe Groenloh, November 16, 1838. Four children, two sons and two daughters, were born to them. His wife died in 1881; the eldest son was killed at the battle of the Wilderness, in May, 1864.

About thirty years ago, he united with the German M. E. church, of which he remained a consistent member until his death. Two daughters, a brother, and numerous relatives mourn his loss.

The funeral services were held Tuesday at the German M. E. church and the remains laid at rest beside those of his wife, in the cemetery near his late home.

Doings of the Council.

The board met in regular session, Wednesday, April 15th.

The following bills were allowed:

J. A. Palmer, rent of firemen's hall, six months.....$26.00

W. P. Schenk & Co., wood..... 4.00

M. M. Campbell, laying driveway..... 1.50

The petition of J. W. Wallace and sixteen others, praying that a 2,000 candle power are light be placed at the intersection of East and Railroad streets, or in that vicinity, was referred to the street committee.

Moved and supported that the saloon bonds be fixed at $4,000. Carried.

Moved and supported that druggists bonds be fixed at $2,000. Carried.

Ordinance committee reported an ordinance repealing certain ordinances, and changing the numbers of others.

Moved and supported and resolved that the street committee investigate by correspondence, travel or by inviting skilled workmen, experts or engineers to Chelsea, with a view of determining the best material and construction of paving for streets, to be adopted by the village of Chelsea, and that when determined, that a careful survey and plans drawn, with estimates as to cost, etc., to pave Main street from south line of Park and South streets to north line of Railroad street, and Middle street within fire limits.

Resolved, That we engage Geo. J. Crowell, so no other suitable person, to make a list of all fire insurance policies in force in village fire limits, the amount insured and the annual premium, together with the total premiums in the aggregate for said fire insurance.

Resolved that the street committee engage a suitable engineer to estimate the material, labor and cost of obtaining and laying suitable water pipes and connections the entire length of that portion of Main and Middle streets within the fire limits of the village of Chelsea, and for the making of connections and erecting of suitable number of hydrants, and to investigate with said street committee the best and most economical manner of securing for said hydrants an abundance of water and suitable head or force to protect all buildings in said fire limits promptly in case of fire.

Resolved, That when said estimates are made and conclusions of cost to construct and maintain hydrants has been ascertained, that the president invite Mr. Lowe, the insurance inspector, to come to Chelsea and fix the rate of decrease of premium on insurance in case said plans for water supply are adopted, in order that the benefit may be estimated.

The president made the following appointments: Geo. P. Glazier, president pro tem.; W. F. Riemenschneider, fire warden; A. A. VanTyne, pound master; Geo. W. Palmer, health officer.

The meeting then adjourned.

A Pleasing Entertainment.

We are pleased to learn that owing to the ready response, and support of a number of our best people which was necessary in order to render the event possible arrangements have been completed to invite Mr. George B. Williams, of New York, the eminent Shakespearean scholar and personator, to our city next Monday evening, at the opera house, to give a recital of the great poet's Historical Masterpiece—King Henry The IV (Part I). Mr. Williams recites the play in its entirety from memory personating all the different characters in such a clever manner that his audience gets an intelligent idea of the play as a whole and an artistic and scholarly interpretation and rendition of the individualities of each personage. In addition to the play (by request) Mr. Williams will give one of William Dean Howells' bright, sparkling and laughable farces, "The Sleeping Car" in three scenes, making a program that will please all tastes. Subscribers and others desiring tickets may secure them at the usual place so that all interested in bringing good things to our town have an opportunity to attend what gives promise of being "the event of the season."

QUEEN OF THE ROOKIES.

Denver Sprang Into Existence Almost in a Night.

This booming city, writes a Denver correspondent, has not a counterpart in the West; it is typical only of itself. It is the winter home of the cowboy and mining prospector, and it is the seat of wealth and refinement. The wealth was accumulated here; the latter was imported afterward. The Leadville strike in the latter part of the '70s brought Colorado into notoriety as a land of wealth. This great strike created a crop of millionaires, and then came flocks of elocutionists, teachers of languages and broken-down professors, calling themselves "private tutors." They found employment in "coaching" the new rich in the ways of polite society, and teaching their children how to walk and talk according to DeLarsate—at about $5 per lesson. Some of these teachers of the art of expression and dissimulation carried it into realiam and married their wealthy pupils. One, in particular, married a millionaire, and it cost him $150,000 to get rid of her. She then organized a dramatic company and went on the road. She is now a total wreck in New York—a victim to the champagne habit.

Prior to the Leadville strike Denver was considered only as a wild and more or less woolly town, abounding in saloons and gaming houses for the accommodation of cowboys and miners. Indeed, this was a large source of trade, for several thousand hibernated there during the winter. The only places of amusement were one theater and several "dives." In the former skeleton companies en route to the Pacific coast gave indifferent performances, at first-class prices of admission. In the latter song and dance girls of the most brazen type, wearing scarcely enough clothing for the flagging of a freight train, sold beer between their vile songs at $1 a bottle. In a room leading off from the "dress circle," as it was facetiously called, was a gambling hall, into which the crowd was ushered at the intermission and at the close of the performance. Here there were several faro tables, roulette wheels, chuck-a-luck, over-and-under-seven, and every game known to the trade. The "show" lasted until midnight and the games ran until daylight or until the crowd was "busted."

The Leadville strike changed all of this and planted the seed from which the present Queen of the Rockies sprang.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Wastaken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it. Get a free trial at F. P. Glazier & Co's Drug Store."

GRATEFUL VETERANS

NO LONG LINE OF MARCH AT ST. PAUL.

Old Boys in Blue Can Cover the Course—Sensation in Chicago Court Room—American Fight Has to Pay a Landing Tax at London.

Grand Army Men Pleased. Advice received at the headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic in Indianapolis indicate that there is general satisfaction among the comrades throughout the country at the decision of the joint local and executive committees to limit the length of the route of the parade to take place in connection with the national encampment at St. Paul next September to one and eight-tenths miles. At previous encampments, notably those at Boston and Pittsburg, there was considerable complaint among the veterans over the amount of ground they were required to cover on parade day, and thousands of them were compelled to drop out of line before the dispersing point was reached. This year, however, even the most feeble will be able to go over the course from start to finish. Moreover, the reviewing stand will be located about three quarters of a mile from the starting point, so that in the event of extreme heat, rain or unfavorable conditions the parade can be discontinued without going over the entire distance. The route adopted is paved with asphalt from one end to the other, and this will enable the veterans to march with military tread.

Tax on American Flour. Charles C. Bovey and John Crosby, of Minneapolis, representing the National Millers' Association, say four inspectors of London are greatly exercised over what they hold to be a discrimination against American flour. Flour from America enters London docks and is subjected to a landing charge of 18 cents per ton. French flour and American wheat escape this charge. Parliament enacted that no charge whatsoever shall be made on goods landing at these docks, but the steamship companies, it is stated, issued to American millers a bill of lading containing a clause subjecting flour to the 18 cents charge per ton. In this way the miller contracts himself out of the laws of Parliament and must pay the tax. Furthermore, the dock companies, it is stated, propose now to increase the taxing of landing materials. Messrs. Bovey and Crosby have represented to a sub-committee of the House Ways and Means Committee that the American flour product is subjected to charges in contravention of English law, and which they have urged may be abated through retaliatory legislation here.

Mannow of Chicago. Julius Mannow, of Chicago, furnished a climax Thursday for the succession of sensations that has marked the progress of the trial of himself and Joseph Winifred for the murder of Carey Birch. Pale as death, his entire frame quivering with suppressed rage directed against the police authorities who have, metaphorically, drawn the noose about his neck, Mannow faced Judge Horton and entered an unconditional plea of guilty. With a look of absolute despair and a manner that betokened his abject misery, the young man confessed that he had deprived Cash Receiver Birch of his life. The scene at the moment was one that few in a crowded court room could view without some sort of display of feeling. The stern, inexorable judge leaned over the bench and eyed the man who had placed his life at the court's mercy. "Do you understand that under the plea the court can impose the death penalty?" asked Judge Horton. "I do," came the half-choked utterance of the self-convicted man. "I am guilty."

Terrible Explosion at Peoria. At 2:15 o'clock Friday morning a converter at the lower sugar works at Peoria, Ill., exploded, filling an immense building with steam. At least two men were killed outright, and it is feared that many more have met the same fate. Several were badly injured. The known dead: Barnes, John Hovey. Those known to be most seriously injured are: John Dooley, Mat. Connolly, John Wilson. The converter was on the fourth story of the building, in which about one hundred men were at work. There was the wildest excitement, and many thrilling escapes occurred. The explosion was plainly heard in all parts of the city.

NEWS NUGGETS. Ex-Congressman Charles H. Voorhis committed suicide at Jersey City while dependent from lack of business. Miss Fate Durfee, of Omaha, whom H. E. Holmes confesses was one of the twenty-seven persons killed by him, declares that she has never been murdered. The French customs receipts for the first three months of 1896 show an increase over 1895 of imports to the amount of 145,000,000 francs and exports 49,000,000 francs. According to report, Senator Tillman blushed at Denver when an aged female suffragist threw her arms around his neck and gave him a hearty kiss in the presence of 8,000 people. The Hamburg Boersenhalle has a dispatch from Caracas, Venezuela, saying that a settlement of the railway claims made by Germany on behalf of German subjects has been signed by the representatives of the Disconto-Gesellschaft, North German Bank and the Government of Venezuela, the latter agreeing to pay 30,000,000 bolivars in settlement of past liabilities, future claims and the guaranteed interest due. The first victim of the heat for the season is reported from Philadelphia, where George Schelz was overcome Wednesday and died in a hospital. Kentucky Republicans in State convention endorsed Bradley for President, and announced McKinley as second choice. A platform favoring sound money was adopted. At San Francisco, ex-District Attorney James D. Page has been found guilty of embezzling $3,000 from an insane patient, of whom he had been appointed guardian. Page fled to New York, where he was arrested last January.

EASTERN.

Greater New York's death knell tolled long and dimly in the New York State Senate at Albany Monday night, while the clerk read a long communication from Mayor Strong of New York city, in which he summarily vetoed the bill and expressed numerous reasons why the measure would not be to the advantage of the community whose interests he guards. With it was read the veto of Mayor Wurster of Brooklyn, together with the approving message of Mayor Gleason of Long Island City.

Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters, at the Bloomingdale Reform Church at New York, spoke on "The Safer Monroe Doctrine." He said in part: "We have many things that Congress should turn its attention to besides foreign affairs. One week ago 25,000 immigrants entered New York City, while thousands of American citizens were pleading for work. Foreigners not only monopolize our breweries and our bode, but also our land and our lumber. Fully 27,000,000 acres of American lands are owned by English, Holland, Scotch and German syndicates. Here is a violation of the spirit of the Monroe doctrine. Let us insist by law that American lands shall be owned only by American citizens."

One of the fiercest fires in New York within a year started in the five-story building occupied by C. A. Aufmordt & Co., one of the largest importers of silks, plushes, dress goods and kid gloves in this country. The first floor was occupied by Franz Mers, dealer in and importer of dress goods. The second floor was used by Hugo Bondy, importer of kid gloves, who carried a stock valued at nearly $500,000. The third and fourth floors were occupied by Dexter, Lambert & Co., manufacturers of silk goods. Franz Mers also occupied the fifth floor. During the course of the fire two firemen were partially overcome by smoke and one of them was burned about the face and was also cut by falling glass. The firemen said the fire, although not the biggest they saw of the fiercest they ever had to fight. There were times when it seemed as if the entire block was bound to go. The fire burned three hours, it having ample food in the expensive stocks of the different floors. Loss reaches $1,000,000.

The Raines law did not give New York a dry Sunday. It only reduced the number of places where liquor could be obtained to the city's 500 hotels, and added the price of a sandwich to the cost of a drink. The whole question of Sunday prohibition depended on whether the proprietor had ten bedrooms somewhere about his place of business or not. In most of these rooms the necessary furniture had simply been thrown in, and any man applied for lodging in these subterranean hotels would be turned away. But of the city's 7,000 barroom saloons not one was open. The screens were thrown back and the bars plainly exposed to view from the streets. No policeman stood guard at side doors. In Brooklyn all that the thirsty desired to drink was obtained in the same manner. There were more evidences of drunkenness on the streets there than in New York, however. A number of arrests of saloonkeepers were made, but as the law is coming to be better understood its infractions are decreasing. It is evident, however, that the open sesame to cold bottles in New York is the inoffensive sandwich.

WESTERN. A Toledo undertaker is said to have discovered the old Egyptian method of preserving the bodies of the dead. George Taylor, who escaped from jail at Carrollton, Mo., nineteen days before the trial of the Meeks family, is still at large, with little chance of being recaptured. Lander, Wyo., had a peculiar storm Sunday. First red and then yellow clay fell, followed a little later by almost black mud. People who were out in the storm looked as though they had been churned in a tubful of mud. At Duluth, Minn., William Verill and Joseph Soular were sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Samuel de Mars at Bewabik on Jan. 13 last. Verill is 18 years of age and Soular 17. The murder was a most brutal one, and was deliberately planned. Fritz Erasmus, 6 years old, was burned to death in a fire at San Francisco which destroyed three houses in the Richmond district. Mrs. Catharine Blume, the child's grandmother, leaped from a second-story window and was seriously injured. John Erasmus entered the burning house to save his son and narrowly escaped death himself.

While trying to take a man to prison in October, 1890, Solon Boydston, corner of Wayne County, O., was killed at Orrville. The prisoner resisted and both men fell on the track of the Cleveland, Akron and Columbus Railway, where they were struck by an engine. The prisoner, a tramp, lost a leg, while Boydston was killed. That the man cut to pieces was Boydston was not discovered until after the remains had lain in Boydston's own undertaking room for two hours. His wife, Kate Boydston, now of Chicago, sued the company for $10,000 damages for causing the death of her husband. The first jury awarded her $1,500 and the second $2,100. Both verdicts were set aside. The third trial ended Friday morning, when the jury came in with a verdict allowing Mrs. Boydston $5,000. Into the hearts of his three little children, the smallest only a baby, John Lehman, of 233 West 23d street, Chicago, sent successive bullets Tuesday. Then, after a futile attempt to hang himself, Lehman fired a bullet into his own heart. Not poor, not dependent—in fact, prosperous for one in his station in life—Lehman was moody and pessimistic. He feared to grow old and become a pauper; life was only a wearisome grind, he thought, and the little ones would probably grow up to the same hardships and toil, possibly to want—life wasn't worth living, anyway; it was better they should all go. That was about what John Lehman had long thought, though he was chary in expressing too volubly his gloomy ideas. Probably, judging from Lehman's ideas of things in general, he thought he was doing the babies and himself a kindness.

Miss Mary Linnett, of 43 North Campbell avenue, Chicago, shot and instantly killed Miss Elizabeth Trowbridge, a prominent young woman of Elgin, Ill., and then killed herself, shortly after 9 o'clock Monday evening. The double tragedy took place on the principal residence street of the city. Miss Linnett some two years ago conceived a singular liking for a young woman in Chicago, a neighbor, and attempted to take her life because she would not live with her. She was sent to the insane hospital at Elgin less than a year ago and was discharged from the institution as cured in December last. Miss Trowbridge was an attendant at the hospital and had charge of Miss Linnett, who became passionately attached to her. Her great regret in leaving Elgin was that she must leave her friend behind. She returned to Chicago, where she remained at her home. Her friends believed her entirely cured of her mental troubles. But the strange passion for Miss Trowbridge induced Miss Linnett to return to Elgin, where she endeavored to persuade the latter to accompany her to Chicago. Failing, the tragedy followed.

A bold attempt was made on the life of William B. O. Sands, president of the Sands & Maxwell Lumber Company, of Pentwater, Mich., Thursday night. Mr. Sands had been at the office of the company engaged in work and left for his home shortly after 9 o'clock. When within a few yards of his home a man jumped from behind a corner of a street and commenced firing at him with a gun. Mr. Sands ran across the street to his home, the would-be assassin following and keeping up a fire. Five shots were fired in all, three finding resting places in Mr. Sands' right arm and one in the leg. Suspicion pointed to H. B. Minchall, a local insurance agent and attorney, and it was decided to place him under arrest. The officers found his residence locked and broke in the door. A horrible sight was presented. Mrs. Minchall was lying upon the floor of the sitting room with a bullet hole in her temple. Near her was the dead body of her daughter Ruby, about 16 years of age. In a corner of the same room lay Minchall with an empty revolver clutched in his hand. He, too, was dead. In an adjoining bedroom were found the bodies of George, aged 4, and his infant brother. They were in bed together and death had evidently come upon them while they slept. The motive for Minchall's crimes is still a mystery. Minchall came three years ago from Chicago.

WASHINGTON. The House Committee on Appropriations Friday reported the bill for fortifications and other works of defense, for their armament, and for heavy ordnance for trial and service, for the fiscal year which begins next July. The bill recommends specific appropriations amounting to $5,842,000, and in addition authority is given to the Secretary of War to make contracts for the further expenditure of $5,842,000 by the engineer and ordnance departments, making a total authorized expenditure of $11,684,000.

The President has stolen a march on Spain in the appointment of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, of Virginia, as Consul General at Havana, vice Ramon O. Williams, resigned. He has long wanted to send a special commissioner to Cuba to ascertain exact facts with regard to the scope and significance of the revolution, but from the outset he encountered the angry opposition of the Madrid Government, which resented the suggestion as insufferable impertinence and gratuitous intermeddling in a strictly family affair. He could not more Spain from this view, but he never for a moment abandoned the idea. It occurred to him that he could accomplish his purpose by appointing a Consul General at Havana, who could serve in the double capacity of diplomatic representative of this Government and commissioner—the latter, of course, under private instructions. After a careful canvass of names he selected Gen. Lee as best fitted to perform the delicate duty.

An important official dispatch bearing on Cuban affairs has been sent to Madrid from the State Department. It was signed by Secretary Olney and addressed to Minister Taylor. In it was laid down the attitude of the administration in the Cuban question. The dispatch is a long one. Its four principal points are: 1. The President proposes that Spain accept mediation on the part of the United States looking to a settlement of the existing differences between the Spanish Government and the Cubans. 2. It refers to the correspondence between the State Department and the Madrid authorities in 1870, in which Spain promised to inaugurate governmental reforms in Cuba, which promise, it is said, has not been fulfilled. 3. It says the present rebellion in Cuba is more serious and widespread than any which have arisen in recent years, and that the insurgents control practically all of Cuba except Havana and the near neighborhood. 4. It assures Spain of the kindly motives on the part of the United States in seeking to bring about a pacific condition of affairs in Cuba, and urges that the good offices of this country be accepted in the spirit proffered.

FOREIGN. Further advices received at Massowah show that the derisives' retreat after the recent fighting was in the nature of a complete rout. Col. Stevens' burned the retreating derisives inflicted considerable loss on the Shoans. Col. John A. Cockerill, widely known as an editor and newspaper writer, died suddenly at Cairo, Egypt, Friday from apoplexy, while he was in the barber shop of Shepherd's Hotel. Col. Cockerill was in the service of James Gordon Bennett of the New York Herald, for whom he had been in Egypt for three weeks. He left New York in January, 1895, to become the Herald's special correspondent in Japan.

A dispatch to the Paris Matin from Venice says that Emperor William and King Humbert, at their conference Saturday, decided to prolong the Dreibrund until 1902, the present agreement including an offensive as well as a defensive clause. The correspondent of the Matin also says that the African situation was discussed. It was resolved to proceed with the peace negotiations, and, in event of their failure, a fresh expedition, commanded by the Duke of Aosta, brother of King Humbert, is to be dispatched against the Abyssinians in September. The thorough ventilation which the action of the Sultan toward the missionaries in Asia Minor has received has had decidedly beneficial effect. The United States charge d'affaires, John W. Riddle, has received a written assurance from the Turkish Government that Rev. George P. Knapp, the American missionary recently expelled from Bitlis, will be delivered to the United States consul at Alexandria. It is further stated that the Sultan's irade providing for the expulsion of other missionaries from Asia Minor has been repealed, and, for the present at least, the missionaries need not anticipate any further trouble. It is understood that in both of these cases the Sultan has acted upon the advice of the Russian ambassador. There was a sensation in Berlin court and military circles Friday morning when

It was announced that another duel growing out of the great court anonymous letter scandals had taken place in the woods near Potsdam, and that Baron von Schrader, master of the ceremonies of the Prussian court, had been shot and seriously wounded by Count von Kotze. The latter was formerly court chamberlain, and was acquitted on the charge of being the author of the anonymous communications alluded to. Baron von Schrader was taken to a hospital, where his wound was pronounced to be of a most serious nature. Count von Kotze's arrest has been ordered, and his friends say he will surrender to the authorities whenever and wherever called upon to do so. This is the third duel of the series of about a dozen for which challenges were sent out last April by Count von Kotze, and he repeated Friday his announcement of his determination to keep on fighting his enemies, one by one, until he has settled accounts with all on his list. Those who know Count von Kotze feel confident that he will keep his word.

IN GENERAL.

Robert Bonney, a nephew of Judge Bonney of Quincy, was murdered, it is supposed, by robbers in San Salvador. The State Department has been asked to investigate.

It is stated that glanders are rife in the quarantine for imported horses at Liverpool, and it is reported that out of 100 Canadian horses in one depot forty are suffering from the disease.

United States Senator Elkins is the father of a bill to place a discriminating duty of 10 per cent on all goods imported into this country in vessels not sailing under the United States flag.

Messias is running its course in the President's family, and Friday morning Ruth, the first born, contracted the disease. Little Esther is progressing rapidly toward recovery, and so far Baby Marion has not shown signs of the ailment.

The special board which was appointed to make the trip from Port Royal to Hampton Roads on the Indiana and thus make the final inspection of that vessel finds there is no weakness or defect in the hull, fittings, or equipment, nor is there any defect in the machinery of the Indiana.

The question of the admission of women as delegates to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church has been practically settled in their favor. The vote to date is 6,937 in favor of the amendment and 2,187 against it. This gives the required majority, with 375 votes to spare.

Li Hung Chang, the distinguished Chinese statesman, who is to represent the Emperor of China at the ceremonies attending the coronation of the Czar at Moscow, has arrived at Colombo, Ceylon. He was received with high honors. Li Hung Chang is quoted as saying, in an interview, that after leaving Moscow he will proceed to Berlin, Essen, Paris and London, and thence to America, returning to Peking in November.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "The volume of business has not on the whole increased, nor have prices appreciably advanced since April 1, when the range for all commodities was the lowest ever known in this country. Breadstuffs and iron products have risen slightly, but some other articles have declined, and the roof of the matter is that demand for consumption is still below expectations. The number of hands employed has been slightly lessened by strikes in some establishments and by stoppage or reduction in force in others, but the change during the last week has not been relatively important. The weather has not favored active distribution of spring goods, and uncertainty as to continued employment affects the purchases by hands in a large number of establishments."

George Gould, who was at Dallas, Tex., to attend the annual meeting of the Texas and Pacific, in an interview on the subject of railroads, said: "What we need is some legislation looking to the relief of the railroads. Two-thirds of the railroads of the country are either in the hands of receivers or have recently been reorganized and are trying it again. I attribute this bankruptcy of the railroads of the country almost entirely to the operation of the interstate commerce law. That law has paralyzed the railroads, and they will never prosper again until it is repealed, nor will you see any more roads building while that law is in effect. The laws are too oppressive on invested capital. The repeal of the interstate commerce law, for instance, would help the country amazingly by permitting existing roads to prosper and by encouraging the building of other roads. This would throw life into the railroads and other collateral industries at once."

MANGLED AND SLAIN.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT AT A FIREWORKS FACTORY.

Dead and Injured Are Nearly All Young Girls—W. C. T. U. Not Conducting a Matrimonial Bureau—Steel Men Fail to Agree Upon Prices.

Death in a Powder Mill. With an explosion that shook the country for miles around one of the buildings of the Chicago Fireworks Company at Gross Point blew up about 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, killing two persons, fatally wounding two and terribly injuring six others. The employees, most of whom were girls under age, had scarcely been at work an hour when the accident occurred. What caused the explosion is not and probably never will be known. The girls were working briskly and merrily chatting with one another, when suddenly a terrible roar was heard, and the walls of the building, which is one of twelve similar ones, fell outward, while the roof came careening down, crushing the poor victims to the floor. A minute later another explosion followed, which mercifully raised the roof from the dying and fainting, and with feeble limbs and agonizing cries the wounded crawled out, some of them, forgetful of their own awful plight, dragging the more helpless ones with them. The work for the season at the establishment began but a few weeks ago, and only two of the twelve buildings were in use.

Spain Will Not Listen. A dispatch from Madrid to the Pall Mall Gazette says: "Senor Canovas del Castillo (the Spanish premier), is ill and cannot be interviewed. His relatives, however, confirm the existence of a communication from President Cleveland. But, in the present state of public feeling, it will be impossible for the Government to accept his offer. Matters are very complicated and, while the Government will do everything in its power to avoid a quarrel with the United States, it will prefer to fight rather than lose Cuba through foreign pressure. The coming Cortes will grant Cuba every reasonable franchise to be enjoyed under the Spanish flag."

No Such Bureau Exists. In answer to a telegram sent by Miss Frances E. Willard to the President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Portsmouth, Va., in regard to the "Naples matrimonial bureau," said to be under the care of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the President writes: "There is not a vestige of truth in the story. It was simply a canard, which originated in an anonymous letter found by the editor of the Portsmouth Evening News in his mail, and published by him without investigation. The note was signed 'Eight Young Ladies.' The editor has made full explanation of the matter in his paper."

No Pool Formed. It is learned that a secret meeting of the steel rod manufacturers of the country was held at Cleveland Tuesday for the purpose of effecting a general pooling of interests. The meeting adjourned without having reached an agreement and most of the manufacturers left for home. It is understood that the failure to reach an agreement was principally due to the demands of the Consolidated Steel and Wire Company and the Illinois Steel Company for larger proportions of the output than the others were willing to concede.

BREVITIES.

The King of Greece, the Crown Prince and Princes George and Nicholas acted as pallbearers at the funeral of the young men's nurse at Athens. By an explosion in a colliery at Wilmington, near Durham, eight miners are known to have been killed and it is believed eighteen persons in all will lose their lives through the disaster. By a rear-end collision of two freight trains on the Gasconade bridge on the Missouri Pacific near Sedalia, Mo., four tramps were more or less seriously hurt, and one span of the bridge torn down. The presbytery of the St. Lawrence has voted to dissolve the pastoral relation existing between Rev. William N. Cleveland, brother of President Cleveland, and the church at Chaumont, N. Y. Too much politics is said to be the cause of the trouble.

When the case of William Wood, charged as an accomplice in the attempt to procure an operation on Pearl Bryan, was called at Cincinnati, the prosecuting attorney said the State had no evidence to warrant a trial, and Judge Gregg dismissed the case.

Insurance Inspector Gary, of the Fidelity Mutual Life Company, of Philadelphia, in which Holmes' victim, Pitzel, was insured, says Holmes did not commit all the murders he confessed to. Kate Darke is in Omaha, Dr. Russell in Michigan, Anna Van Tassel in Arkansas and Robert Latimer in Chicago. Gertrude Conner did not die for six weeks after leaving Chicago for Iowa.

It is the expectation of Secretary Morton to have covered back into the treasury at the end of the present administration in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 from the appropriations for the Agricultural Department for the four years of which he shall have been at its head. To do this he plans to save $500,000 a year, but the aggregate may be smaller than hoped for owing to the rigid pruning of estimates. Already the amount returned to the treasury from these appropriations has reached $1,014,000.

The apostle cure for consumption has been tried on three convicts in the Western Penitentiary of Pennsylvania with remarkable success. The convicts had pulmonary tuberculosis, and were considered incurable. A month's treatment shows an uninterrupted record of rapid and marvelous improvement until the patients are to external appearances well men.

The Treasury Department is struggling with the problem of whether imported holy water is subject to a tariff tax. Spaulding & Tewksbury, wholesale dealers in straw and leather board at Boston, have assigned liabilities, $150,000.

James E. Pepper, the distiller, has made an assignment at Lexington, Ky. Assets between $200,000 and $300,000; liabilities not stated. The triennial international counting of all mails going from one country to another in the postal union will take place from May 1 to May 23.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

THE WEEK'S DOINGS IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

A Comprehensive Digest of the Proceedings in the Legislative Chambers at Washington—Matters that Concern the People.

Lawmakers at Labor. The tariff-silver bill and a lively tariff discussion occupied the Senate Thursday. In the House the bill to abolish employment in the coastwise trade was engaged upon, 117 yeas, 57 nays. The House concurred in the Senate amendments to the postoffice appropriation bill and agreed to a conference. Messrs. Leach (Rep. of California), Smith (Rep. of Illinois), and Kyle (Dem.) of Mississippi were appointed conferees. After two days' debate the House Saturday by a vote of 100 to 58 passed the "filled-cheese" bill. Practically the only amendment adopted was one reducing the tax on retail dealers from $40 to $12. The bill requires the manufacturers of filled cheese to pay a tax of $400 annually, the wholesale dealers $200 and the retail dealers $12, and for failure to pay such tax imposed upon manufacturers a fine of from $400 to $3,000, upon wholesale dealers from $250 to $1,000 and upon retail dealers from $40 to $500. It also requires the branding of "filled cheese" and its sale only from original packages.

The "George" bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy was reported to the Senate Monday from the Judiciary Committee. The most important amendment made by the committee was that providing that where any debtor who, being a banker, broker, merchant, trader or manufacturer owing $500 makes an assignment or conveyance of his property, or gives any lien or incumbrance thereon, contrived or devised with the actual intent on his part to defraud his creditors, such act shall be deemed bankruptcy. The measure provides for voluntary bankruptcy. At the same time Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, submitted the views of the minority of the committee in the shape of the measure agreed on by the House Committee on Judiciary with some modifications. The latter provides for voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy. The proposition to secure the passage of a bill providing for an additional United States district judge in the northern district of Illinois comes too late to accomplish anything during the present session. A pronounced sentiment exists in the House against creating any new judgeships.

The house Tuesday passed without amendment the fortification appropriation bill carrying appropriations and authorizations involving an expenditure of $11,384,013. The appropriations for fortifications since the Endicott commission in 1886 reported its plan for the defense of twenty-seven seaports, at an approximate cost of $100,000,000, have averaged something over $2,000,000 annually. It was made apparent after a lively colloquy in the Senate that there was no disposition among the silver and Populist Senators to allow the resolution for a Senate inquiry into recent bond issues to lapse. Mr. Squire (Rep., Wash.) made an elaborate presentation of the pressing need of coast defenses, pointing out the defenseless condition of our great sea-coast harbors.

In the House Wednesday Mr. Hull, chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, called up the resolution for the reappointment of William B. Franklin, of Connecticut, Thomas J. Henderson of Illinois, George L. Beale of Maine and Geo. W. Steele of Indiana as members of the Board of Managers of the national soldiers' homes. Mr. Blue made a sensational speech against Gen. Franklin, charging him and Col. Smith (for whom he said Gen. Franklin was responsible) with cruel and brutal treatment of the inmates of the home at Leavenworth, Kan. He moved to substitute the name of Gen. O. O. Howard for that of Gen. Franklin. Mr. Blue said his purpose was to free the Leavenworth home from the drunken and brutal man now at its head. Mr. Blue read a telegram from E. J. Anderson and others urging him to elect Gen. Franklin's reappointment and telling him that 60,000 soldiers in Kansas were behind him. He claimed that Gov. Smith maintained the biggest saloon in Kansas under the shadow of the flag the soldiers fought to save. Last year, he said, the profits of the beer hall alone were $13,000. Mr. Blue also read an affidavit charging that a contract existing whereby the Keeley cure was given to inmates for $6, while outsiders were charged $20. "Has not the board made an investigation of Gov. Smith's administration?" asked Mr. Hull. "An investigation made by the Board of Managers," replied Mr. Blue, "is a roaring farce." With the understanding that a vote should be had Thursday, the House adjourned. The Senate ratified the Berlin sea arbitration treaty. The treaty provides for a commission to arbitrate the claims made by citizens of England against the United States for seizures of vessels engaged in the capture of fur seals prior to the Paris award.

The Land of the Boers. Gold was discovered there in 1860. Finished or in progress are 3,700 miles of telegraph. Country has been enjoying its independence since 1852. In 1864 a convention at London recognized the republic. Two-thirds of the Christians belong to the Dutch Reformed Church. There are about 20,000 farms, wheat and tobacco being the chief crops. "Transvaal" means "across the vaa," or the country north of the Vaal River. The largest town is Johannesburg, with a population of 15,000. Pretoria has 5,000. Population is 679,200; the whites number 119,128, and about half of these are of Dutch descent.

The area of Transvaal is 121,854 square miles, or about that of Illinois, Iowa and Massachusetts combined. In parts of the country the climate resembles that of Colorado, and is regarded as healthful for consumptives. The Legislature consists of two bodies of twenty-four members each, one-half retiring every two years. The President's term is five years.

A. C. Collins made a business trip to Howell Friday.

Mrs. Budd spent last week with relatives in Ann Arbor.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. May, Tuesday, April 14, a 7 lb boy.

Four of Lyndonites were arrested Saturday night for fishing. Better be careful, boys.

There was an ice-cream social given in the hall Wednesday, April 22, under the auspices of the C. E. society.

Messrs. Pyper and Hadley, Jr's, are at present engaged in the "potato-business" at Stockbridge.

The report is that they received a good supply Saturday and Sunday nights. What is the price per bushel, boys?

Sylvan.

Quite a number of our people enjoyed "Queen Esther" last week in Chelsea.

The last "Chalk Talk" on "Christ's Ministry" will be given at our church next Sunday evening.

Mrs. H. MacNally, who met an accident last February, is slowly recovering, but is still unable to walk much.

Last Sunday morning the tenement house of Wm. Fletcher was destroyed by fire. Loss only partly covered by insurance.

There will be a social for the benefit of our church society next Wednesday evening, April 28th at the home of Mr. Milepaugh who is now living on the farm formerly belonging to O. I. Cushman.

North Sharon.

Miss Lydia Heselchwerdt is recovering from a severe sore throat which resembled diphtheria.

Miss Mae Keeler who has been home for a short vacation from the Normal returned to Ypsilanti Wednesday.

Sheep shearing is now in order with about one third the usual number to shear. How is this for free trade?

The names of the republican delegates sent to Ann Arbor from Sharon were Conrad Heselchwerdt, J. W. Dresselhaus, William Dorr and Howard Everett.

The tenant house of William Fletcher burned to the ground Sunday morning. His tenant moved in the day before with his family, a wife and four small children, the youngest but two weeks old.

Waterloo.

Mrs. Delevin Keeler is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Orson Beeman.

M. H. Strauss is home from Detroit to spend a week with his mother.

The following is from a special telegram sent to the Detroit Free Press of April 18th, from Lansing: "Henry H. Rosenkrans, formerly a well-known miller at Byron, Shiawassee county, and one of the influential men of that section, was found dead on the floor at his home, in this city, to-day. The discovery was made by Mrs. Rosenkrans herself upon her return to the city, after an absence of about a week. The body must have been dead two or three days, as it was in a very bad state of decomposition. He was last seen by the neighbors on Wednesday. Death was doubtless the result of heart trouble, as the deceased was a large man and had often complained of a difficulty in breathing. Mr. Rosenkrans moved to this city three weeks ago, and was very little known here. He was 57 years of age, and is the father of W. A. Rosenkrans, cashier of a Corunna bank. The remains will doubtless be taken to Byron for burial." Mr. Rosenkrans moved from this place to Lansing about three weeks ago, having traded his farm for property there.

COUNTY AND VICINITY.

One of the triplets recently born to Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Larey, of Dexter, died April 4.

The sale of C. H. Wilson, a lumberman of Milan was blown open Sunday night. The safe was a total wreck, but all the robbers secured was fifteen cents in pennies and a few postage stamps. The work is laid to traps.

The Free Press is authority for the following: "At a recent teachers' examination in Ypsilanti, one of the questions asked was, 'What is the electoral college?' One candidate for a certificate answered that it was an institution having for its object the furthering of the study of electricity."

One of the largest checks ever cashed by the Ann Arbor Savings bank was drawn on that institution last Saturday by County Treasurer Wm. F. Rhexus, who paid the state of Michigan the amount due from this county for the taxes for 1895-96, amounting to $81,939.70.—Ann Arbor Courier.

A young man named Bently, living between Eaton Rapids and Charlotte was found wandering in the streets of Dimondale with the tire of a buggy wheel last week Monday. It was plainly seen that something was wrong with him. He was insane through sickness, and had wandered from home.—Eaton Rapids Herald. It was quite evident that the poor fellow had wheels.

Deputy State Food Inspector Breck has discovered that certain milk dealers in this city are using salicylic acid, which is commonly used to sweeten cider, for preserving their milk. The discovery was made through a druggist who refused to sell the acid to a milkman on the statement that he wanted it for that purpose. The matter is to receive through investigation.—Jackson Patriot.

Frank Foster, conductor on the Michigan Central switch engine, at Ypsilanti Monday evening met with an accident by which both legs were severed from his body in attempting to alight from a moving train when in front of the depot. He slipped on the wet platform and fell under the wheels. Foster has been conductor for six years, taking the place of Conductor Lappens, who was killed in a similar accident.

This is the way that Blosser of The Manchester Enterprise crows over us fellows who are less fortunate than he: "The two old apple trees that stand in Mat D. Blosser's yard attract considerable attention and several strangers have declared that they are the strangest trees they have ever seen. One measures seven feet ten inches and the other ten feet two inches around the trunk. They are very aged trees yet they bear considerable fruit every season."

A very peculiar sight was witnessed by some of our citizens last Wednesday afternoon. One of Howell's fancy bicycle riders thinking that he had mastered the art sufficiently to perform the difficult feat of riding backwards, mounted the bike as brave as could be but he had proceeded but just a short distance when the two wheeled machine hit an obstruction in the road, landing its rider safely on dry land. A piece of court plaster near the left eye explains the outcome.—Livingston Herald.

"Talk about politicians," said a down-town statesman to a number of men about town, gentlemen of leisure and other citizens of Athens a few days ago, "the Manchester politician takes the cake for shrewdness cunning and general all-around political cussedness." "You must not forget," put in a listener. "that Chelsea is not a back number, that that enterprising village has a few able representatives. There is Hiram Lighthall and Mike Lehman and Billy Judson and Jim Gorman, and—"That's all right," interrupted the gentleman who opened the discussion, "but the Manchester politician is a professor in the art. Figuratively speaking, the Manchester fellow will enter an orchard of a farmer, beg a few apples for a poor widow, borrow a basket of the innocent farmer, fill it with apples, take said apples home, eat them himself, and then sell the basket and spend the money for cigars. That's Manchester for you. Hide and finally disappear."—Politician in Washtenaw Times.

STORY OF ANDREW JACKSON.

An Incident Illustrating the Sympathetic Nature of the Man.

An incident in the life of President Andrew Jackson is recalled by the recent death in Jackson, O., of his private secretary, Samuel Baker, at the ripe age of 95. Mr. Baker was very enthusiastic in sounding the praises of President Jackson and continually insisted that he had one of the most sympathetic natures that ever graced the White House chair. As a case in point he tells the following incident during the first term of Mr. Jackson:

A young man in the army had been sentenced to be shot for desertion, and his wife had prayed for a hearing with the President before the execution and had been granted it. Baker used to dwell upon the nervousness of President Jackson before the interview. He was disquiet, restless and he seemed overcome with dread. At the appointed hour the woman was ushered into his presence. With her were her two small children. These three had scarcely entered the room when the woman fell upon her knees at the feet of the President, and the children knelt at either side and the three prayed to him. "Such prayers and praying," Baker used to say, "I never saw nor heard in my life."

Jackson sat through it all with tears streaming down his face, and his entire body convulsed with sobs; it seemed as if his very determination had forsaken him, and he seemed incapable of moving or uttering a sound. The woman had finished; and with the children clinging to him on either side the President arose. With a voice full of tenderness and pity he told the woman that what she asked could not be granted. He told her the safety of the army demanded that there should be no interference with justice in such cases, and then, his courage forsaking him, he fled into an inner office.

"There it was," said Baker, "that I found him on a lounge, completely prostrated. He did not arouse for some time, and when he did it was with the feebleness of a man who had just recovered from a long illness. Slowly he rose, and, with a look of despair that I can never forget, he turned to me and uttered these words: 'I would to God that I was not President!'"

Cure for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of Headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. Probate Order.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHINGTON, s. s. At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate office in the city of Ann Arbor, on Friday, the 11th day of April in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six.

Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Charles A. Helmrich, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of Bertha Helmrich, praying that a certain instrument now on file in this court, purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased may be admitted to probate and that administration of said estate may be granted to herself, the executor named in said will or to some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered that Monday the 11th day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the devisees, legatees and heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office in the city of Ann Arbor, in said county, on said day, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Chelsea Standard, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

The Cycle Age is a new weekly publication that is chock full of news of interest to wheelmen. It is published at Detroit by Jas. A. Brown, and the price is only 50 cents per year.

All parties having in their possession "Queen Esther" books are requested to hand them to Geo. Ward, as they must be handed over to the societies giving the entertainment.

Remember the entertainment at the Baptist church next Sunday evening. Every part of the program will be taken by men. Short addresses will be given by Wm Wedemeyer and Stephen Chase of Ann Arbor, and Dr. J. C. Twitchell and Than Laird of this place.

The cantata "Queen Esther" which our young people have been rehearsing for some time was presented in a very creditable manner before large audiences Friday and Saturday evenings. Every part was well sustained, and the chorus was well trained. Much honor is due George Ward who has put in considerable time in getting everything in readiness for presentation. The receipts for the two evenings were $165.

Hiram Lighthall, also, will be a candidate for sheriff. I have known him many years. I became acquainted with him in Saline, where he grew up to be as tall as he is, probably the tallest man in the county. Hisra jolly, good fellow, and with the exception of Jake Martin, of Ypsilanti, can throw any man in the county at collar and elbow. Theascal does not live that could get away from him, if once he got his grip on him.—Washtenaw Times.

We were shocked a few days ago to read in the Washtenaw Times that Chas. Kaercher of Chelsea had just died. Now it happened that the next day we met Charley on the street and we were somewhat astonished as we did not expect to see a well regulated corpse walking about. But it's explained now, and the Times takes back all the good things it said about him, and says it was all a mistake, that they didn't mean it, and, in fact, that some one lied to them.

Our readers are warned to look out for a fraud who is at work in this part of the state. He sells cheap groceries, and agrees to take eggs in payment at 19 cents a dozen. Just as a matter of "good faith" the farmer signs a note for the eggs. The hens lays the eggs, but they decay long before they are called for by the grocerman. The agent's note becomes yellow with age, but the farmer's note turns up at the bank for payment. Moral—Trade with your home merchants, and always keep out of trouble.—Belleville Enterprise.

Sylvan has a reputation of being a sort of political conundrum, and anything political happening here is eagerly looked for by the inhabitants of the balance of the county. Sylvan sent two delegations to the republican county convention Monday. Both were declared illegal, but upon motion it was decided that six from each delegation be admitted, thus not shutting out this township from representation at the convention. Captain E. P. Allen was elected delegate at large to the district convention, and all the delegates to the state convention are Pingree men, a number of the old war horses and machine men from Ann Arbor who have never missed going to a state convention being turned down. John Heisman, president of the Pingree club at Ann Arbor was elected delegate at large to the state convention. W. W. Wedemeyer acted as chairman of the convention, and was elected chairman of the county committee.

Miss Bessie Grant, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is slowly improving.

J. J. Raftrey is having his store and residence connected by telephone. L. L. Gorton of Waterloo is doing the work.

Ira Glover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Glover of Sylvan, died at his home in Manchester, Monday, April 20th, aged 35 years, after a long struggle with consumption. Mr. Glover leaves a wife and two children, to mourn his loss.

The Times, when it has occasion to speak of Mr. William Judson hereafter will speak of him as the Honorable William Judson. Since he defeated the big guns in Monday's convention he is entitled to this distinction.—Washtenaw Times.

A class of fifty-four received the sacrament of confirmation at St. Mary's church Tuesday morning. Bishop Foley and a number of neighboring priests were present. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and the services were very impressive.

The market has declined since one week ago and has every indication of going still lower. Wheat now stands at 66c for red or white, rye 35c, oats 21, barley nominal at 50c per hundred, clover seed $1.50, potatoes not saleable at all, onions 20c, eggs 6c per pound or 9c per dozen, butter 12c. The tendency of prices on everything is downward. Beans are now 65c with a certainty that they will go lower. The farmers are busy now and receipts light. The outlook for farmers is getting worse every day. The outlook is not flattering for any other business.

A man by the name of Frank Bailey, 60 years old, who lives near Gregory has been suffering from a cancer on his face for several years, and as he has been growing gradually weaker, conceived the idea of being buried in a casket of his own designing. The casket is made out of two inch solid oak planks and is bound by seven bands of iron made from wagon tires. The cover is hung on hinges and locks by stout springs inside. He had a notion that he was going to die soon and fixed the date as last Friday, but failed to connect and still lives. He is a farmer and his mind is probably unbalanced.

IT'S QUALITY FIRST

PRICE LAST

This is our policy and we are prepared to "stick to it." The people are not satisfied with cheap eatables at any price and we are not satisfied to sell them for the mere purpose of making a low price attraction. CAPACITY TO SATISFY is our strength and the quality of our goods is what satisfies our customers; people are on to the fact that the best is the cheapest. While we are proud of the fact, we have the best of everything in the line of choice eatables. Our prices are low, quality considered.

INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE LESSON

Reflections of an Elevating Character—Wholesome Food for Thought—Studying the Scriptural Lesson Intelligently and Profitably.

Lesson for April 26.

Golden Text.—Ye cannot serve God and mammon.—Luke 16: 13.

The Rich Man and Lazarus is the lesson subject this week, and is found in Luke 16: 19-31.

Lesson Hints.—"There was a certain rich man." A veritable case, it would seem. It is perhaps rightly insisted that this is not a parable, but a historical instance.

"Dives we often call him. It was not his real name, but the Latin for 'rich man,' a translation of the two words. Whoever the original may have been, he has had many fac similes since his day.

"The crumbs" alluded to here are not necessarily of bread, as the term signifies in our English usage, but of meat or any other edible. Fragments would better render the Greek, the word being simply the participle falling, i. e., the things that fell: cf. windfall.

"Hell" is here represented as both a place and a state. As a place, it is "far off" from the paradise of the just, though doubtless what is referred to here is that intermediate state which lies between this world and the next.

"That great gilt fixed" should give pause. It settles the question of a second probation. It fixes, determines the duty of the hour and the limits of acceptable choice. It is from the Greek word used here that our English chasm directly comes.

Get on right terms with God. It is better to be on right relations with the God of eternity than on easy terms with the god of this world. He presently turns to read; his wages is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

What We Need. It is instructive to notice how each living thing takes from the substance what it wants—one its aroma, another its color, a third its luscious taste.

Police Characterization of H. H. Holmes' Confession.

Murderer H. H. Holmes' complete, copyrighted confession of twenty-seven murders which he thinks he committed, and stories of six intended victims who got away, has put thorns in the easy chairs that the Chicago police have been holding down so comfortably since the arch fiend's conviction of the horrible Pitzel murder in Philadelphia.

In Holmes' confession the murderer of the Pitzel family lays claim to the glory of being a wholesale murderer. He says that he has killed twenty-seven people in all, while he tried to kill six more, but they got away from him. He gives the names of nineteen and describes two more, though he claims to have forgotten their names. The remaining half dozen of the twenty-seven he claims to have killed he makes no further mention of, except to include them in the totals of his list.

Weekly Reports of the Weather Bureau Covering Crop Prospects.

The Weather Bureau, in summing up the situation in weather and crop circles, says that in the Southern States the week has been generally favorable for farm work, which has made good progress. In the more Northern districts, owing to the lateness of the season, farming operations are much delayed, but are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

RED LAKE RESERVATION.

Grand Rush for Homes to Take Place on May 15.

In an irregular rectangle in northwestern Minnesota, with a length of 112 miles and a breadth of 100, with a frontier of about 500, and containing 900,000 acres ready for settlement, is the great Red Lake reservation, the last of the large northwestern Indian reservations. It is to be opened to the settler on May 15. The entire reserve consists of about 4,000,000 acres, but much of it contains pine and will not be allowed for settlement, while more is to be reserved for the 1,500 Indians of the Red Lake Chippewas, and will not come into the market until the land is wiped out or has become sufficiently civilized to take and improve allotments and cease to be the ward of the nation.

The reservation is virgin territory, of meadow, oak openings, reclaimable bog, prairie and brush lands, an unbroken wilderness of pine and hardwood forest, of tamarack, cedar and spruce swamp, and muskeg and of lake, brook and river. Save the freighters' roads to and from the trading post at the agency at the south shore of the lake, in the center of the lands, and the marks of the surveyor's ax and scribe on section lines and corners, there are no signs of the intrusion of the white man on this the greatest hunting and fishing ground held for the northwestern Indians. Were it not for the prevalent industrial and financial depression there would be a rush to this promised land as great as was

SECRETARY CARLISLE SPEAKS IN CHICAGO.

Free-Silver Advocates Create a Scene at the Meeting—They Hiss a Volley of Questions at the Speaker—Police Take a Hand in Affairs.

Carlisle at Chicago.

Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle addressed an audience in the Chicago Auditorium for nearly two hours Wednesday night on the financial question.

Gold was down on the program, and had the platform. Silver was down on gold and had the fun. Altogether, says a correspondent, the address of the gold advocate was as near a Harvey-Horr debate as the friends of the white metal would make it. And it only wanted a little more warm blood and a little less noise to end in a row.

Mr. Carlisle had held his long and magnificent form in the vision of the people for two hours when the silver men began. Then the lights went out and that ended the incoherent debate. They began this way. Mr. Carlisle had just thanked the people for listening to him. Col. J. C. Roberts, a prominent member of the People's party and one of the editors of the National Bimetallist, who had stumped the South for Mr. Carlisle in the days when the Secretary talked not of gold but of silver, arose in his seat, and, in a voice that was heard above the din of cheering and other noises, demanded the attention of the chairman, M. J. Carroll, who had called upon Secretary Grady to read a resolution thanking Mr. Carlisle for having accepted the invitation of trade unionists to address them.

"I desire to ask Mr. Carlisle," said Col. Roberts, "to answer one question."

"Sh-h-h-h," said the people, and Mr. Carlisle did not turn his retreating form. M. J. Carroll, who had not called for short words of testimony in closing, jumped up with the resolutions in his hand.

"Whereas—" he began.

"Why don't you let the speaker answer the question," shouted another man, rising in an excited little group.

"Whereas—" "Mr. Chairman, why don't you—"

The "whereas" seemed to have it and the resolution, which advised all the workingmen to read Mr. Carlisle's speech and voted him unlimited thanks, was read, although for the rising din it might as well have been Weyler's proclamation. The groups of silver men, who were intent upon asking the question, were noisy and belligerent. But two policemen had Col. Roberts in their eyes, and found him and conducted the Populist to the rear.

Chairman Carroll finally managed to put the resolution of thanks to a vote. There were thunderous "yess," but the "noes" would have carried any ordinary caucus. Little whirlpools of turmoil were forming in different parts of the house, and the policemen were kept busy. The crowd, too, was moving homeward.

"Hurrah for Eugene V. Debs, anyway," yelled a silver man.

This called forth a vigorous response. "Hurrah for John G. Carlisle," shouted a gold man in the gallery. The "house" was plainly "gold."

By this time the police had circled their retreating forms quite thoroughly and the belligerents were quieted.

The question which they wanted to ask, and for which Col. Roberts rose, related to Carlisle's speech in 1878, when he pronounced the demonetization of silver "the most gigantic crime of this or any other age," which would "ultimately entail more misery upon the human race than all the wars, pestilence and famine that ever occurred in the history of the world."

The silverites had fun earlier in the evening by distributing the following tribute to Mr. Carlisle, until the police stopped them:

"John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, after a lifetime devoted to the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, was suddenly converted in 1893 to the gold standard in order to secure a seat in Cleveland's cabinet.

"He now comes here, fresh from the banquet tables of the Wall street gold bugs, to tell the idle and starving workmen of Chicago how they may be successfully robbed by the gold bugs for the next four years."

A MICHIGAN TRAGEDY ARMY HARDSHIPS.

MILLIONAIRE LUMBERMAN AND A FAMILY KILLED.

Bloody Deed by S. B. Minchell at Pentwater—Assassin Alleges Oppression by the Millionaire, and Fear that His Family Would Live in Poverty.

Story of the Crime.

The most appalling sextuple crime in the history of Western Michigan occurred at Pentwater Thursday night. As a result William B. O. Sands lies dead, with his right arm missing, and S. B. Minchell, his wife and three children are dead at their home.

The whole is the work of Minchell, who made an attempt to assassinate Sands and then returned home and shot every member of his family dead. After completing his bloody work he turned the weapon upon himself and sent a bullet into his brain.

Mr. Sands, who had been at work in the office of the Sands & Maxwell Lumber Company, started for home at 9:30. When within a few rods of his house a man began firing at him with a rifle. Sands started for the nearest house. The assassin followed and fired as he ran. Mr. Sands ran into the yard, and was chased around the building until five shots in all had been sent after him. Then the assassin disappeared in the darkness. Sands was found a moment later. Three out of the five shots had penetrated his right arm and the fourth had inflicted a flesh wound in his leg. The arm was so badly shattered amputation was decided upon, though the physician informed the family that the operation would probably prove fatal. Sands was 35 years old and his recovery was unlooked for. He died Friday evening.

Not until morning was the identity of the assassin known. S. B. Minchell, an insurance agent and attorney, who made a specialty of collecting bad debts, had had some words with Sands over a business transaction, and suspicions were entertained that he might be the man. Officers called at his home to make an investigation, but were unable to gain admission. They concluded the family was away from home, and did not try to force an entrance then. With the circumstances pointing more toward the theory that Minchell was the assassin, it was decided to place him under arrest. Then, as before, no one answered the rappings, and the front door was broken down. The sight that presented itself almost froze the intruders' blood. Mrs. Minchell and her husband and daughter, Ruby, were found dead in the sitting room. The two little boy babies lay dead in their bed, all pierced with bullets.

Minchell three years ago lived in Chicago. His family were well known and popular. His daughter, Ruby, had a class in music, and was considered a competent instructor. Minchell was a lay reader of the Episcopal Church. He was a devoted man, but of quarrelsome disposition and general times had trouble with neighbors and business clients. Some time ago he had an altercation with the postmaster here, he is said to have threatened that official's life.

Temporary insanity was at first suspected, but it now appears the crime was premeditated and deliberate. From a letter written by Minchell it is proved that Minchell contemplated the tragedy two months ago. Fear of want and poverty for his family is the excuse offered.

In the letter he told a Chicago friend should his family survive him he hoped the friend would look after them, showing that at the time of writing he was yet undecided as to whether or not he should murder the family.

Minchell left another long letter, the gist of which was that Sands had promised him all of the company's business and now demanded one-third of the commission. Minchell was badly involved and extreme love for his family prompted him to kill them rather than see them suffer.

Mr. Sands was 55 years of age. It was expected he would have been chosen a delegate to the Republican national convention had he lived.

In a letter addressed to A. Williams, Rookery building, Chicago, Minchell said he had allowed himself to be elbowed out of the swim and had become a detriment to his friends and was incapable of helping his family. He referred in detail to the good qualities of members of his family and declares that their home relations were most happy, although he was the victim of overmastering business troubles and anxieties. He felt, he said, that the resolution which led pauper families to kill their pauper children was Spartan-like and that no one not so situated could realize the situation.

Samuel B. Minchell came to Chicago about ten years ago. He had previously been a justice of the peace in Colorado. He had little success as a lawyer beyond becoming the salaried attorney of the Woman's Protective Association. He occupied an office with Attorney C. C. Bowersock for two or three years and was a partner of County Attorney Robert S. Iles for about six months in 1891. He and Mr. Iles disagreed about money matters, and he had a desk for a while with Case & Hogan. He left for Michigan in 1892 and was not known to have returned to Chicago since then.

Minchell owned a home at Argyle Park. He rented one floor to another family. The two families quarreled and Minchell evicted his tenants. The whole neighborhood became involved in the squabble, and Minchell was repeatedly arrested on assault and battery warrants.

Every case against him was dismissed by the justice of the peace at Argyle, but Minchell's enemies persisted in prosecuting him until he filed an injunction bill to stop them. Judge Tuley granted a temporary injunction and the matter was adjourned.

Tim Sheehan, discharged from the service of the Cincinnati Southern Railway because of color blindness, killed himself with a razor at Lansing, Tenn.

Anson B. Strong was arrested at Ravenna, Portage County, Ohio, charged with the murder of Mrs. Alvin N. Stone at Tallmadge. The evidence on which the charge is based is largely circumstantial.

Daniel Kern, for twenty-three years connected with the northern Indiana normal school, died suddenly at Valparaiso, aged 44 years.

No One but a Veteran Can Realize the Sufferings from Army Life.

It Often Makes Our Able-Bodied Men Helpless Invalids—The Story of One Who Suffered for Twenty Years.

From the Farmers' Voice, Chicago, Ill. Edson A. Wood, who now lives at 890 Washington boulevard, Chicago, Ill., was born on a farm in Wyoming County, N. Y., fifty years ago. As a young man he served two years in the fields. When the war broke out, he joined the 57th Illinois Volunteer, in which he served two years, with sickness forced his discharge. The effects of the war and his army life undermined his health and he soon found his brain, heart and kidneys were affected. For eight years he was with the West Chicago Street Car Company; but was forced to seek lighter work, as the exposure increased his bronchial and asthmatic troubles. His constitution gradually but surely breaking down, strange dizzy spells beset him more frequent, he finally sought relief in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

He said to a friend: "It was some time about a year ago when I was very poorly that my head was giving me a great deal of trouble, dizzy spells, aches and queer feelings, and then I also had a strange feeling of uncertainty in the use of my lower limbs when walking."

"Physicians examined my condition closely and were of the opinion that I had all the first symptoms of locomotor ataxia, and I believe they were right, also last summer I had a very hard time with an attack of tonsillitis and neuralgia, from which I did not recover for some time. It was then that I commenced to take these Pink Pills, and only taken a few boxes when I discovered a remarkable change for the better in every way. The pills seemed to relieve me of aches and pains, the symptoms of locomotor ataxia were left me entirely, and they have made 'I am going to continue with the use of the pills for the ailments I have had and come to stay, having been caused thirty years ago from hardships in the army, I am practically rid of them and will lose no effort when I have the remedy at hand to keep me well. I am only too glad to tell all my friends who experience I have had with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and when they see the good physical condition I am in now, although near sixty years of age, they will come to the same conclusion as myself."

"The above is a correct statement of facts concerning myself." (Signed) EDSON A. WOOD. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 22d day of January, 1896. ROBERT ANSLEY, Notary Public.

A Russian Remedy.

"Some years ago," said Paderewski, the other day in the Chicago Evening Post, "I dined with an official of the Russian army. This official had in his command an officer of great ability who was addicted to strong drink. It was arranged that the man should take dinner along with us that day. Instead of soup, the first course served to him was brandy, which he must swallow a spoonful at a time, just as he would have swallowed soup. After the first spoonful he was so sick that he implored to be spared. Under cover of a drawn revolver the official commanded him to swallow every spoonful in the plate. The officer never drank a drop of liquor after that. Try to drink champagne from a cup or liquor as that man was forced to drink it. It will make you deathly sick."

One of the greatest successes in the history of this country is that achieved by Boston's unique 5-cent magazine, The Black Cat.

In seven months it has reached a sale of one quarter of a million copies per issue. The chief reason for this is that each number contains half a dozen of the most original and fascinating stories that brains and genius can produce and money can buy.

The Philadelphia Call aptly says: Its phenomenal success, has already earned for it the title, "The Marvel of the Magazine World," and it would certainly be impossible to find in a single number of any other publication such captivating tales as are published monthly in The Black Cat. And the Boston Post pronounces it the most fascinating 5 cents' worth on earth.—Rochester Post Express.

This most fascinating of all the modern periodicals is issued by The Story Publishing Company, Boston, Mass., at 5 cents a copy, or 50 cents a year.

Victor Hugo's Daughter.

Most people have forgotten that Victor Hugo had an insane daughter, who is still living in a lunatic asylum near Paris. A day or two ago a family gathering was held to appoint a guardian in place of Mr. Auguste Vaquerie, who held the office till death. The trust now falls upon Victor Hugo's next surviving bosom friend, M. Paul Maurice, to be succeeded in case of another vacancy by the poet's grandson, Georges Hugo. The story of Adele Hugo is sad and romantic. She eloped with an English officer to India, and was there married without the French legal formalities. Her wretched life was unhappy, and her mind gave way under the strain. The husband dies some fifteen years ago at Singapore.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing his work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

Senator Brice wears out one eye-glass string a day when he is in his seat.

He has a great fashion of taking off his eye-glasses and twisting the end of the string around his finger, then he lets the glasses swing out full length, to the confusion of any passing Senator, often, and with a rotary motion sets the string to winding round his finger. When it is wound up he proceeds to unwind it, and that seems to be his sole amusement.

He Knew What He Wanted.

I had an interesting experience the other day in one of the cut rate drug stores. There was a rush of budding pharmacists to wait upon me.

"I want a bottle of Dr. —'s cure. How much is it?"

"Eighty-three cents" was the reply, "but we have one of our own make which is just as good."

"But I don't want that."

"If you don't get cured after taking ours bring back the bottle—"

"I insist I don't want it."

"And get your money, although you may have taken all the medicine. We guarantee ours, and can't the other."

The fellow kept on talking, and I don't know but that he is still at it, for I didn't wait to see him stop, neither did I buy what I wanted, after all. I went to a neighboring store and purchased what I thought I desired, and not something "just as good" or "better" than what I purchased. There is some satisfaction in knowing what you want and getting it without the interference of a drug clerk.—Boston Post.

Fair and Fruitful

As the West, it is often marveled. But it is pleasant to know that a competent safeguard in the shape of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exists, which absolutely nullifies the poison of malaria. Western-bound emigrants should bear this in mind. Nor should it be forgotten, the Bitters is a sterling remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, kidney and nervous complaints and rheumatism.

Menelek is Sorry.

A French physician who visited the Abyssinian King Menelek's camp, in February, writes that Menelek has expressed sorrow at the great bloodshed resulting from the war. The Shoan army was in excellent condition at that time and had been placed under strict discipline, an unusual thing for such troops. They were reported also to have acquired a certain dignity of character and bearing, which had previously been entirely wanting. Old Menelek expressed no doubt as to the final outcome of the war, but stated that he hated the bloodshed, and had only acted on the defensive. He scarcely had any idea of the great slaughter of Italian troops which his soldiers would so soon make.

MILLIONS NOW USE PEARLINE

Abyssinians Are Good Fighters.

The Italians, of course, explain their defeat by the presence of French and Russian officers with Menelek, but it may be questioned if any Anglo-Indian general accustomed to mountain warfare would agree with them. Drill does not improve Oriental soldiers like the Abyssinians. They are Semites in blood, of exceptional courage, men who did not hesitate to charge into the center of the Italian regiments; they have been accustomed to defend their hills for a thousand years; and they have generally accustomed to utilize masses of men who recently destroyed an army from Khartoum at Kassala.

They had good rifles, they were on the higher ridges when they started, and their king, Menelek, is obviously a soldier of the Hyder Ali type—that is, a man who can induce his soldiery to die. To beat such men they must either be decoyed out of the hills or attacked from above, and the Italians were still mounting when an avalanche of riflemen swept down on them. The number of the dead suggests that the Italians fought well, but the frightful proportion of officers killed, two-thirds the whole number, tells a different tale. The officers, we fear, exposed themselves to arrest a panic, which may, however, broken out at first only among the native troops.—London Spectator.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Will cure the worst forms of female complaints, all ovarian troubles, inflammation and ulceration, falling and displacements of the womb, and consequent spinal weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the change of life.

Every time it will cure Backache.

It has cured more cases of leucorrhoea by removing the cause, than any remedy the world has ever known; it is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to discontinue humors. Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills work in unison with the Compound, and are a sure cure for constipation and sick headache. Mrs. Pinkham's Sanative Wash is of great value for local application.

How it looks, to the women who wash with Pearline, when they see a woman washing in the old-fashioned way with soap—rubbing the clothes to pieces, rubbing away her strength, wearing herself out over the washboard! To these Pearline women, fresh from easy washing, she seems to "wear a fool's cap unawares."

Everything's in favor of Pearline—easier work, quicker work, better work, safety, economy. There's not one thing against it. What's the use of washing in the hardest way, when it costs more money?

RIPANS TABLETS

H. J. Martin, of 702 T street, N. W., Washington, D. C., in a recent interview had with him by Mr. H. D. Brodie, of the Washington Chronicle, said: "Having suffered for many years with dyspepsia, indigestion and biliousness, I tried every known remedy, consulted many physicians with the hope of getting cured or even relief, but nothing seemed to relieve me. After meals I would feel as if a ball of lead was lodged in my stomach, tired and listless, as though life was scarcely worth living. Finally I was attracted to the ad of Ripans Tablets, and concluded to try them. After taking the first two or three I was surprised to find the relief they gave, and by the time I emptied the first box I felt like a new man. I have never been without Ripans Tablets since, nor have I ever suffered since. I heartily and earnestly recommend them to any one suffering as I did."

Ripans Tablets are sold by druggists, or by mail for the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York. Sample free, 10 cents.

TALES OF THE TIME. Senator Brice wears out one eyeglass string a day when he is in his seat. He has a great fashion of taking off his eyeglasses and twisting the end of the string around his finger, then he lets the glasses swing out full length, to the confusion of any passing Senator, often, and with a rotary motion sets the string to winding round his finger. When it is wound up he proceeds to unwind it, and that seems to be his sole amusement.

A story is told of some visitors who were going through a country jail under the escort of the chief warden. After a little while they came to a room in which three women were sewing. "Dear me," one of the visitors whispered, "what vicious-looking creatures! Pray, what are they here for?" "Because they have no other home. This is our sitting-room, and they are my wife and two daughters," blandly responded the chief warden.

A writer in one of the English reviews relates that during a conversation with George Eliot, not long before her death, a vase toppled over on the mantelpiece. The great writer quickly and unconsciously put out her hand to stop its fall. "I hope," said she, replacing it, "that the time will come when we shall instinctively hold up the man or woman who begins to fall as naturally and unconsciously as we arrest a falling piece of furniture or an ornament."

Sir Astley Cooper, on visiting Paris, was asked by the surgeon "on chef" of the empire how many times he had performed a certain wonderful feat of surgery. He replied that he had performed the operation thirteen times. "Ah, but, monsieur, I have done him 100 times. How many times did you save life?" continued the curious Frenchman, after he had looked into the blank amazement of Sir Astley's face. "I," said the Englishman, "saved eleven out of the thirteen. How many did you save out of 100?" "Ah, monsieur, I lose dem all; but de operation was very brilliant."

PERSONALS.

The will of the late Gen. Mahone, dated December, 1892, leaves his estate to his family. Ruin-in-the-Face, who was a leader in the Custer massacre, is now a policeman at the Standing Rock Agency, and is looked upon as a valuable man. Of Nathaniel Hawthorne, his daughter, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, says: "Those who thought him too silent were the bores whom he desired not to attract." A Bostonian writes home from Cairo: "The Duke and Duchess of Marlborough are staying in the same hotel with us. The Duchess has three rooms—one for herself and two for her clothes." The wife of Dr. Nansen, the explorer, belongs to a famous family. Her father, Michael Sars, was a famous Norwegian naturalist. Her mother is the sister of the poet Welhaven. Mme. Nansen is at present the leading concert singer in Norway. She has a fine presence and a melodious voice that has been carefully cultivated.

According to Figaro, President Kruger has a snug position from a pecuniary point of view. His salary as President is about £7,000 pounds per annum, with £400 added for "coffee money." The latter is the Boer euphemism for entertaining purposes. It is not a large amount, but it is declared that the old gentleman keeps well within the £400, his entertainments being neither many nor costly. As regards his private fortune, this is put roughly at a million sterling.

The Rev. Charles D. Tenney, who is to be the president of the new Chinese University at Tien-Tsin, China, is an American, and a graduate of Dartmouth and Oberlin. He has been a missionary in China since 1882. The professors of the university say that it is to be conducted on broad lines, with special courses in civil and electrical engineering, mining, and law, and Mr. Tenney is to have full power, not only in the choice of instructors, but in matters of discipline.

THE WORLD'S RIVERS.

The Tigris is 1,150 miles long. The Tiber is only 230 miles long. The world-famous Orontes is only 240 miles long. The Zambesi, in South Africa, is 1,800 miles in length. Slow rivers flow at the rate of three to seven miles an hour. Twelve creeks in the United States bear the name of the Rhine. The Hudson river from its mouth to the lakes is 400 miles in length. Every ancient city of note was located on or near the sea or a river. For over 1,200 miles the Nile does not receive a single tributary stream.

The branches of the Mississippi have an aggregate length of 15,000 miles. The Ganges is 1,670 miles long and drains an area of 750,000 square miles. The Mississippi and its tributaries drain an area of 2,000,000 square miles. The River Jordan has its origin in one of the largest springs in the world. The Connecticut, the principal stream of New England, is 450 miles in length. In islands of too small size to have rivers creeks are dignified by that name. The Rhine is only 960 miles long, but drains a territory double the territory of Texas.

The Irish, in Siberia, is 2,200 miles in length and drains 600,000 miles of territory. During a single flood of the Yank-tse-Kiang, in China, 600,000 persons were drowned. The most extensive protective river works in Europe are at the mouth of the Danube.

The Nile, from its delta to the great lakes of Central Africa, is over 4,000 miles in length. The Thames of England is 220 miles long. The river of the same name in Canada is 160. There are twenty creeks in this country which have been dignified by the name of the Tiber.

NEW YORK PRESS PROVERBS.

Oddity is not originality. If jealousy is foolish, so is love. Gossip is always partly slander. Hoping for the best helps deserve it. The bachelor girl is the girl who failed to capture a bachelor. Honesty is the best policy, but not always the winning policy. A dollar saved is a dollar somebody else will probably spend. Few men care to tell the exact truth concerning their successes. Necessity is the mother of invention, and poverty is its stepmother. To observe Lent properly do not look forward too eagerly to Easter. The eleventh commandment should read about as follows: "Mind your own business." The advanced women are known by the silly conventions they are so fond of holding. Every unmarried woman is more or less of an optimist. While there's life there's hope. Too many people make the mistake of regarding conscience as a matter of majority rule. When a woman is tempted to tell the truth she always stops to think what people will say. It is easy to see that the number of "new" women is not regulated by the law of supply and demand. If it was there would be none. We have longed more for a stomach to stand buckwheat cakes than we ever longed to be rich.

DEATH LURKS ON ALL SIDES.

New York People in Constant Danger of Losing Their Lives. The life of the average resident of New York is menaced in more strange and curious ways than that of probably any other citizen of the world. All his habits and occupations, even those which are apparently the safest, are attended by risk of death. Dangers await him if he walks along the street, or sits in the church, or theater, or whatever else he does in the ordinary course of his daily life. Taking the records of the city as a whole, it is surprising to find that there is a percentage of mortality for almost every conceivable form of human activity.

More accidental deaths occurred during the last twelve months in connection with elevator shafts than in any other manner. Twenty-three persons went to their death in this manner during the year. Out of the three persons who were killed by a falling wall, two were simply passers-by who happened to be near the wall when it collapsed. Still more strange is the fate of another individual who was watching the loading of heavy castings on a truck. One of the men, unable to manage his side of the casting, let it fall, crushing the unfortunate spectator. Only one person was pushed off the roof of an apartment house last year, but two were pushed through skylights. And a hotel guest, while trying to escape from fire, met his fate by a fall to the sidewalk.

The bureau of vital statistics ascribes the death of one man last year to injuries received in collision with a baby carriage. Another man with the bump of domesticity strongly developed climbed a clothes-line pole, lost his balance, and climbs no more.

The average citizen of New York is confronted with dangers from the time he awakes to the moment he closes his eyes. Waking, he slips into his clothes and commences to shave. As a result of a good time the night before, the razor slips and he cuts himself. Death has resulted from such a cut. He visits his favorite bar and takes an eye-opener, or drops in at the drug store and gets a pick-me-up. Either may have the wrong effect. At his meals he is at the mercy of his cook, the butcher, his grocer, the man who canned the salmon he takes for his lunch, or the milkman who supplies his family with lacteal fluid. An after-dinner cigar may have been prepared for the destruction of another man. Dynamite in a loaded cigar has been known to drive a cigar-holder into a man's brain, and the nicotine in a pipe has caused cancers.

THE ACME OF TORTURE.

"The Bath," Once Used in Italy for Capital Punishment. The punishment of the bagno (bath), one of the most cleverly cruel inflictions ever devised by an official of the torture chamber, was administered in Italy, probably in Venice, where the water of the lagoons played so prominent a part in its penal system. The prisoner was placed in a vat, the sides of which were slightly in excess of the average height of man. In order to hold in check the rising tide of water, which ran into the vat in a constant stream, the criminal was furnished with a scoop with which to bail out the water as fast as it came in. The respite from death by immersion thus obtained was more or less prolonged, according to the powers of endurance possessed by the victim. But, imagine the awful torture, the exhausting and even that hideously grotesque efforts, the incessant and pitiless toll by night and day, to stave off the dread moment fast approaching, when, overcome by sleep and fatigue, he was unable to struggle any longer against his fate!

Wedded as Indians.

In Raccoon Hollow, Hancock County, Tenn., live "Uncle" Billy and "Aunt" Nancy Skiler. He is 80 and she 82 years old. When the old gentleman was 16 years old his father emigrated to the northwest, where the entire family, except the boy, was massacred by the Indians. Billy was made a captive and adopted into an Indian family. By some strange fatality "Aunt" Nancy's family was also captured by the Indians in the northwest. While in captivity they met and learned they were from the same place—Virginia. They soon learned to love and were married according to Indian custom. Shortly afterward they escaped and went to Illinois, from which place they settled in Tennessee. They had one child, who died when quite young.

He Flattered the Kaiser.

The Kaiser celebrated his thirty-seventh birthday about a fortnight ago, and a Berlin florist, who knew how "to take occasion by the hand," sent him thirty-seven tiny oak trees. William II. was delighted. True, he remembered having studied in his "First Lessons in Composition and Rhetoric" that to liken a great man to an oak tree is a trite simile, but there was nothing of the hand-me-down order of similitudes in comparing him to a whole forest. So the thirty-seven little oaklings were given to the head gardener, and in the spring they will be transferred to one of the imperial gardens, where the Emperor will personally superintend their grouping. And the far-seeing florist now displays the royal arms above his door.

Where Chrysanthemum Are Eaten.

In Japan, the flowers of chrysanthemums constitute a popular dish. During the months of November and December bunches of them, washed and carefully displayed, may be seen in the stores of all the dealers in vegetables. Almost all the varieties are edible, strictly speaking, but those to which preference is usually given have deep yellow flower heads.

Nervous Prostration Cured by Dr. Miles' Nerve.

Prolonged derangement of the nervous system not only affects the brain and mental powers, but develops disease in some of the vital organs. The most dangerous of these indirect results is when the heart is affected. This was the case of the Rev. H. F. Surface, Fawn River, Mich., who writes under date of Feb. 14, 1896:

"Fourteen years ago I had a slight stroke of paralysis. Overwork brought on nervous prostration. I was exceedingly nervous and the exertion of public speaking caused heart palpitation that threatened my life. I used two bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure for my heart trouble, and two of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve for my nervousness and feel better than I ever expected to feel again. I can speak for hours without tiring or having my heart flutter as it formerly did, and I have you to thank that I am alive today." On sale by all druggists.
