IN FAVOR OF WOMEN.

Me thodist Conference Adopts Committee

Cleveland, O., May 8.—The Methodist general conference Thursday by a vote of 425 to 96 adopted the report of the committee on eligibility and referred the woman question back to the churches to be voted on again. The women lay delegates, meanwhile, retain their seats in the conference. The committee is agreed that the eligibility of women to vote in this convention is a constitutional one, and that the gen-eral conference has the power to interpret the constitution. The committee recommends the modification of the constitution, changing the qualifications of a delegate to the general conference by using the words "lay delegate" instead of "layman," thereby making the admission of women legal, Cleveland, O., May 9.—A memorial was introduced Friday in the M. E. church general conference that the American flag fly from the steeple of every Methodist church in the country.

OLD GOLDEN'S TAKING OFF.

The Full Story of the End of the Terror of Pike County.

How. After Years of Triumphant Conflict with Man and Beast, He Died, Facing Both, with His Back to a Rock.

"The fall and winter I was up in Pike county looking over the timber land for the Jay street lumber firm," said snold New Yorker, "Red Drake, the coodsman, said to me in a very mysterious manner one day:

"'I seen Old Golden viste'day.' "If Red noticed the puzzled look that must have been on my face he paid no attention to it.

"'First time he's been seen in this part o' the county in five years or more, said Red. 'Don't say nothin to nobody, and I'll take you out to-morrer and introduce you to him. He's layin' low in the woods, over around my choppin' job some'rs. I don't want it to git out, though, for to-morrer is town meetin', and if it got out that Old Golden was nosin' around here ag'in there wouldn't be a vote cast in the hull township. The huil population from the Shohola to the Panpack 'd be skitterin' through the woods, tryin' to git their hands on Old Golden. So keep mum, and me and you'll go out tomorrer and spend an hour or so with him. He'll make it worth while, if he's feelin' good. There's a reward offered to any one that takes him and delivers him at the county seat, but none o' these fellers around here is goin' to git it if I kin help it.'

"I thought to myself that here was some backwoods desperado, a fugitive from justice, and I didn't show much enthusiasm about going out and meet-

"Is he a friend of yours? I asked Red Drake.

"Who? Old Golden?" Red exclaimed. "'Yes,' said I.

"'Well, not to any alarmin' stretch, he ain't!' replied Red. The last time I seen him before yiste day he knocked me down and jumped on me, and if it hadn't been for Ed Quick comin up I'd be campin' on the happy huntin' grounds now. But he heard Ed comin' and he cut sticks and run. No. sir! Old Golden ain't no friend o' mine! Same time, I ain't goin' to let none o' the ugly old cuss."

"Red went away, and I inwardly rehere about this mysterious Old Golden. Half a dozen or more backwoods citi-He was on his way home from the county sent, and brought with him an exciting item of news. A man had been convicted of murder at Milford, and sentenced to be hanged. The man had killed a fellow-laborer on the Erie railroad a few months before, at Lackswaxen. This news was commented on for some time, and when interest in it wanted a little Nyce said:

"'I heard another bit of news on my that started in on the thail. The huntway in. Old Golden is dead."

chorus from the group of woodsmen. "'So Dicky Hoffman told me, said Nyce. 'Jake Bensley met him down in Lehman township. There was a fight, and Jake killed him. Shot him dead in his tracks.'

"'When was this?' some one asked. "Something like two weeks go, said Nyce.

"How kin that be?" said a woodsman. 'Old Golden was over on the Panpack only last week.'

'How do you know?' asked Nyce. " 'How do I know?' replied the other. Didn't Marcus Kellam see him?" "Did Marcus Kellam say he seen him? "'He told me so himself, afore yiste' day.'

"This seemed to be a puzzler for stands good yit. everybody. Marcus Kellam was a tioned it. But then here was news comabout, that Jake Bensley had killed ing conversation that ensued over the subject of Old Golden and his alleged taking off. This was Ed Quick (of the Blooming Grove country. At last, though, he roused himself and said:

"'If you go down to Porter's pond in about six weeks, when the ice is gone out, and poke around on the bottom nigh the outlet, the chances is that you'll find Old Golden. That's what Mose Coolbaugh says, anyways."

"'When did Mose Coolbaugh say that?' asked Bill Nyce.

"'He didn't sat that, e'zac'ly,' said Ed Quick, 'but he said that three months ago, when the ice just come on the pond, who should come sneakin' out o' the woods on the east side o' the pond but Old Golden. Mose Coolbaugh and Bill Overfield was comin' on the west side. They seen him stop on the edge o' the pond and then start across on the ice, headin' straight for their cabin.

"'"That's him, sure!" says Mose. ""Him!" says Bill. "I should say it was!"

""Seems like a terrible shame to lay for him and git him," says Mose, "but it ought to be done."

"' "Can't be done safe no other way," says BHI.

but they didn't git him. Nobody else'll never git him, neither. Not unless they dredge fer him. The ice broke with him 'fore he'd gone 100 yareds, and down he went under it and never come un ag'in. Mose nor Bill didn't dast go out to try and save him, for fear they'd break through too, and so I can't see how Jake Bensley could a killed him down in Lehman two weeks ago. And if Marcus Kellam seen him last week, the old cuss' spook must be roamin' round the county. Mose Coolbaugh's up to Sol Westbrook's now .. I heard him only last night tell about seein' Old Golden drown'd in Porter's pond. You mowt go up and ask him, if you dont' believe me.'

"'Well,' said a woodsman, 'whether Old Golden was drowned last fall or shot two weeks ago, it's a good reddance if he's gone.'

"I didn't know what Red Drake would have said to all this if he had been there, for according to him this mysterious and apparently ubiquitous outlaw, or outcast, or whatever he was, was even then in hiding in the woods hard by. I kept Red's secret though, and after the men had gone I said to Sim Lord:

"'Who is this Old Golden, anyhow? And what has he done?

"'Who is he?' said Sim. 'Why, he's the biggest and ugliest and toughest and smartest buck that ever bossed he'll bore you and stamp you.' things in anybody's woods. What has he done? He's done most everything but kill folks, and he's come pretty nigh to doin' that. For more than ten years, off and on, he's kept Pike county worried most out of her boots. Every time he shows up in the district every consarned other deer there is in it gits out of it as soon as he can. They can't live these fellers round here take him, not in the same woods with him, he pitches if I kin help it. Why? 'Cause I want into 'em so. When he can't find his own to take him myself. Here comes Sim kind to rip and tear, he don't think noth-Lord. Don't say a word, and to morrer in' o' comin' right into the settlements me and you'll go out and have a look at and rippin' and tearin' folks' cattle. He skipped into John Kip's pasture lot once, up in the Promised land neighborhood, colved that I wouldn't be anywhere in and John's shorthorn bull, that was as sight next day when he came for me to much ag'in bigger than him, made a go with him to the woods. That very rush for the buck, to show him the way night, singularly enough, I heard some out o' the lot ag'in. One o' Kip's boys seen what followed. The buck danced all around the bull and punched him so full o' holes with his horns and his sharp front hoofs that when they took the evening to talk over the prospects of hext day's town meeting. Before the session was over Bill Nyce, who lived three or four miles further on, came in.

"'When Kip's boy run home and told what had happened, and they got back to the pasture lot with the dogs and guns, the old buck was gone. The dogs took his track and followed him. Only one dog ever came back out of the four for some time. I knew that the buck ers kept finding dogs on the trail, bored "'Wh-a-a-a-t!' came in startled through and through by the buck's horns. When they met the fourth one coming back on three legs and bleeding considerable they gave up the chase.

"That buck has been hunted from back ag'in, and I'll bet that tons o' powder and ball has been used up firin' at him, but none of it hain't never laid him low yit. Somebody give him the ing at the fight between the wolves name of Old Golden, and his name has and the buck. "So he hurried me off to the woods. "'We're goin' to still hunt for him. said Red, on the way. 'I hain't got no dog, and I hain't goin' to risk no borried dog on him. Old Golden has got a way o' borin' holes in dogs noways pleasin' to them that owns 'em.'

"We still hunted for him for three or four hours, but not a sign of Old Golden did we see. I was about tuckered out, and Red began to look disappointed.

a group of hemlock trees. "I reached that elevation, and peer ing from behind one of the trees saw sight indeed. On the further side of the opening, and not 50 feet away, was a large rock. Backed up close to the rock was an immense buck, with an amazing spread of antiers. His head was lowered until his nose almost one well off to the right side and one to the left, were two flerce and bristling buck made the bull bite the dust—the Some distance away, lying in the snow, same dust he pawed up so fierce when he which was dyed red with blood, lay same dust he pawed up so herte with a started in to show the buck the nighest another wolf, dead. must be the famous, or infamous, Old Golden. My heart hammered away against my breast so that it almost choked me. Although here was such a chance as any woodsman in the county would have given all he possessed to have, I don't believe I could have the Susquehanna to the Delaware and plucked up nerve enough to take advantage of it if somebody else hadn't happened.

"I stood there behind the tree, peer ter stealing up from that direction. He was so taken up with the sight in the opening that he had not discovered me. He was a stranger to me. deing-shoot. That decided me.

"'If that man gets Old Golden,' it dare look Red Drake in the face again!' "I pulled up my gun. I'll never tell you where I aimed, but I fired. I saw the big buck give one great leap in the air and then tumble in the snow and lie there with scarcely mother movement. The wolves disappeared in the woods. Mechanically I glanced again at the stranger. He still had his gun at his minute. Then the hunter dropped his gun, stepped out into the opening, and gazing down at the dead buck, ex-n Insolvent Prince's Punishment for a Insult.

James Edward Oglethorpe founded the colony of Georgia in 1733, and the houses erected by him formed the beginning of Savannah. After founding the colony he returned to England and received promotion in the army, in which, at the time of his death, he held a commission as general. When a

During this period he was one day sitting at table with a prince of Wurtemberg. The prince took up a glass of wine, and by a fillip made some of it fly in Oglethorpe's face.

Here was a sore dilemma. To have challenged the insolent prince on the spot might have fixed a quarrelsome character on the young soldier; to have dust o' these parts off his hoofs and taken no notcie of it might have been considered as cowardice. Oglethorpe, therefore, keeping his eye upon the prince, and smiling all the time, as if he took what his highness had done in

The prince half-rose from his chair, hot with anger; but an old general who sat by checked him and said: "Il a bien fait, mon prince, vous l'avez commence" (He has done right, my prince, you began it).

The prince, thus admonished, recovered himself and smiled, and so what might have ended in a tragedy terminated in good humor and an added respect for young Oglethorpe.-Youth's Companion.

Important Correction.

Under the "Terror," in France, people learned to be excessively cautious in all they said, and still more cautious in what they wrote. An old letter is touched the snow. In front of him, said to be in existence of the revolutionary period, in which the author had at first written to a friend: "I write under the reign of a great emotion." Then, apparently reflecting that it was dangerous to speak of "reigns" at such an epoch, he amended the sentence thus: "I write under the republic of a great emotion."-Youth's Companion.

Meeting at Baltimore of Well-Knows Political Reformers

Baltimore, Md., May 7 .- Many wellknown political reformers, engaged in an effort to improve the present methods of governing municipalities, met in the assembly room of Music hall Wednesday afternoon and opened the annual conference of the National Municipal league. The sessions will continue until Friday evening. Delegates from all parts of the country were pres-

Mr. James C. Carter, of New York, one of the country's leading jurists, is president of the league. He presided over the sessions Wednesday. He is an enthusiastic believer in the organization and predicts many beneficial results in the near future.

Mr. Charles Morris Howard, secretary of the Baltimore Reform league, made a very interesting address on the recent revolt in Baltimore, its results and its lesson. "The work of the Ohio state board of commerce" was the subject of a paper by Thomas L. Johnson, secretary of the civic federation of Cleveland, O. Mr. Merritt Starr read a paper on "Chicago since the adoption of municipal civil service reform," giwing a description of the workings of the law. The feature of the night's session was the annual address made by Mr. James C. Carter, president of the league. He called attention to the remarkable growth of interest in questions of municipal government; to the vigor and uni-versality of the movement, and asserted that the outlook for municipal reform was more promising than ever before.

California Republicans Name Delegates to St. Louis Convention.

Sacramento, Cal., May 7 .- The final plank in the platform presented to the republican state convention at 11:20 o'dock Wednesday morning was as fol-

"A delegate to the national convention is charged with a public trust and with the execution of public mandate. William M. McKinley, of Ohio, is the choice of the people of the state of California for the nomination for president of the United States; therefore we inderse him for such nomination and our delegates are hereby instructed to vote for him and to use their best endeavors to procure his nomination.

The platform declares for protection, reciprocity and free silver. John D. Spreckles and George A. Knight, of San Francisco; Ulysess S. Grant, of San Diego, a son of ex-President Grant, and L. A. Sheldon, of Los Angeles, were elected nelegates-at-large to the national convention. John C. Lynch, of San Bernardino, was nominated for lieutenant Street Railway Strikers Orderly.

Milwaukee, May 7 .- All is quet here. This is one of the most orderly large strikes known in the history of the country, and the striking street railway men deserve credit for their conduct. The streets in the center of the city were crowded with pedestrians and sightsecrs Wednesday night, but the crowd was a good natured one and readily obeyed the order "move on," given by the police officers. At a special meeting of the common council Wednesday afternoon resolutions were passed demanding that the company b compelled to settle the strike by arbitration.

Was Heavily Insured.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 9.—Hamilton Disston, of Philadelphia, a few weeks before his sudden death, had increased young man Oglethorpe served in the the amount of his life insurance $600,-000. A representative of the company that loses by the transaction was in the city and confirms this statement. The company's agent here is positive no litigation will follow the death of Mr. Dissten and believes that an error is due to the present difficulty. The Disston family, consisting of wife, brother and son, are all heavily insured and with that of the deceased the total will reach nearly $2,500,000.

The Philadelphia Mint.

Philadelphia, May 9 .- The presses at the United States mint in this city which have been stamping silver dollars and subsidiary coin for two months will shortly also begin turning out double eagles. Gold bars to the value of $2,000,-000 are now stored in the mint and all of this will be coined prior to the annual shut down, which will take place on June 30, and last for two weeks. The coinage of silver dollars and the subsidiary coin will, however, not be stopped altogether the order to coin them not having been rescinded.

Civil Service Extended.

Washington, May 7. - The longtalked-of extension of civil service rules which takes in chief clerks and all the high-grade department officials so as to prevent their removal except for cause was signed by the president Wednes-day. It is estimated that about 30,000 officials are included in its provisions.

The new rules cover all employes exept those requiring confirmation by the senate and mere workmen. Everything between these two extremes goes under civil service.

Rhodes Willing to Resign.

London, May 6. The Standard says that Mr. Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, has received a message from Ceeil Rhodes in which the latter states that he places himself unreservedly in Mr. Chamberlain's hands. Mr. Rhodes offers to resign his membership in the privy council, to retire from the directorship of the British South Africa con any, and to return to England if Mr. amberlain advises him to do so.

Michigan Crop Report.

The weather in April was very favorable, and crops of all kinds made good Collins, 90; Lillie Parks and Genevieve progress. Not more than two or three per cent of the wheat sowed will be plowed up because winter killed or otherwise destroyed. With few exceptions the reports show no damage by insects. The average condition of wheat in the southern and central counties and the state is the highest reported in five years. The figures are: Southern counties, 91; central and northern counties, 94; state, 92. In 1894 the figures were 89 in the southern and central counties, 95 in the northern, and 90 for the state. The average yield per acre in 1894 was 16.86 bushels on 1,272,170 acres.

The amount of wheat reported marketed by farmers in April is 468,634 bushels as compared with 810,226 bushels in April, 1895, and the amount in the nine months, August-April, is 7,781,870 bushels, as compared with 9,670,541 bushels in Office in Durand & Hatch Building,

In the southern counties 30 per cent, and in the state an average of 26 per cent of the meadows will be plowed up. Owing to the drouth the seeding of last year was very generally lost, and there are very few clover meadows in the state. Timothy meadows are making fine growth. The average condition of meadows is 81 in the southern counties. 91 in the central, 95 in the northern, and 85 for the state.

The prospect is good for heavy crops of apples and peaches. The average percentage for the state is 96 for apples and 84 for peaches The average in the southern counties is 95 for apples and 83 for peaches; central counties, 99 for apples and 87 for peaches; northern, 98 for apples and 88 for peaches.

Climate and Crop Bulletin.

CHICAGO, May 12, 1896.—The reports Letting of gravel contracts near William as to the condition of the crops throughout the country and the general effect of and harvest of same were to-day made by the directors of the several climate and Chicago were as follows:

for farm work in the districts east of the Rocky Mountains. On the north Pacific coast and in the central and northern Rocky Mountain districts it has been too cool for rapid growth, and continuous rains have prevented farm work. Rain is needed to a more or less extent over the greater portion of the Atlantic coast districts, in the central and lower Mississippi and Ohio valleys and in Texas. Winter wheat is in less promising condition than previously reported in Arkansas, Missouri, southern Illinois and Kentucky. In Pennsylvania some fields have been plowed up and sown in oats. Recent rains have proved beneficiol, and the crop is reported as in good condition in Michigan and northern Indiana. Ohio, Maryland and Virginia report further improvement. Chinchbugs are, however, causing some injury in Virginia.

Michigan-Dry, hot week has advanced farm work and all vegetation, which continues to grow rapidly. Wheat, rye, grass and oats are in good condition, with rye heading out and oats nearly all sown. Corn planting is becoming general,

Bonfires.

The Worcester Gazette tells a story of a lawyer who ran across an old statute providing that any one who lights a bonfire within ten rods of a building shall be liable to a fine of $20. Then it occurred to him that he would have to burn some rubbish in cleaning up his grounds. He told a brother lawyer, who also expected to burn some leaves. They worried for several hours, until the explorer in the lore of justice looked up the word bonfire in the dictionary. Its definition is "a large fire built in the open air as an expression of public joy and exultation or for amusement." So all doubts as to their rights fled from the minds of the lawyers.

A Loaf of Bread Over 600 Years Old.

The Soar family of Ambaston, Derbyshire, England, have a curious heirloom in the shape of a loaf of bread which is now over 600 years old. The founders of the family, it appears, were great friends of King John. When that monarch died he made several land grants to the Soars. One of these tracts, it appears, had always been conveyed with a loaf of bread as a witness of good faith. When King John made over the papers to the original Soar he sent the traditional loaf along with the "writings," and the deed and the loaf are both kept to this day as sacred pelics.—St. Louis Republic.

THE idea is popular in this country that the native Indian races are slowly dying out. Capt. The Navajos, for example, have doubled in numbers in the last 20 years.

It is learned that Russia has induced China to make all her railroads now building in the northern part of the Flowery Kingdom four feet eleven inches wide, the width of the railroads in Russia. The advantages of this concession are apparent from the fact that in the future engines and trains of the great Siberian railway can be run over Chinese lines.

According to the new census of Paris there are but 2,511,455 people in that city, a gain of only about 87,000 since the last enumeration. Once the work of the annexation committee is done in New York, Paris will step down in her rank as the second city of the world. There is nothing in the old world but prejudice that can ever hope to keep ahead of the tremendous American strides.

THE Methodist church of Winside, Neb., rented and planted to wheat 60 acres of land, the crop to be sold for the benefit of the church and the example has been followed by another Methodist church at Wayne, in the same state, the latter having rented a farm near the village on which wheat, corn and garden truck will be grown to lift a debt of several hundred dollars on the church property. Other churches are expected to adopt the same plan.

THE latest thing in ancestral societies is an association to be known as the Holland Dames. The other societies are not exclusive enough for the promoters of the new organization, who propose to limit their membership to 100, and no person whose Dutch ancestor had not landed in New York prior to the year 1700 is eligible. Nor is this all. It is set forth that the ancestors must have been persons of "prominence" on Manhattan island at that date.

PROF. J. W. SPENCER, Ph. D., F. G. S., an expert in geology, who has been studying the Niagara Falls for several years, has an article in the Popular Science Monthly for May in which he computes the age of the falls at 31,000 years, which is about three times as great as recent estimates. Prof. Spencer further announces that the land at the eastern end of Lake Erie is rising at the rate of a foot and a quarter a century, and that owing to this tipping up of the shore the falls must cease to exist within the next 5,000 years.

THERE is a lake near Valdosta, Ga., which disappears every three or four years and comes back again, no matter what be the condition of the weather. The lake is three miles long and threequarters of a mile wide, with an average depth of fifteen feet of water, but at the present time the water is rapidly passing off through the subterranean passages, and in the next two or three weeks there will be left in its place a mammoth basin, furnishing as pretty a beach as can be found any-

THERE are to be about 200 railway stations distributed over the new Siberian railway. The rolling stock will comprise 2,000 locomotives, 3,000 passenger cars and 36,000 goods wagons. The passenger traffic will be almost exclusively confined to third or fourth classes, and the tariff will be very low. The works in connection with this great undertaking are being pushed on with much energy, and the work is expected to be completed in about six years. The opening of this line will shorten the journey round the world by about 20 days.

HOLMES IS HANGED.

Pays the Penalty for the Murder of Pitzel.

Account of the Arch-Flend's Last Hours on Earth - His Scaffold Speech-Died Protesting His

Philadelphia, May 3.—H. H. Holmes was hanged Thursday morning. The drop fell at 10:12. It was not until 15 minutes later that he was pronounced dead. His peck was not broken by the fall. The marvelous nerve of the man never deserted him to the very end. Even on the scaffold he was prob-ably the coolest person in the solemn asemblage.

Holmes spent the greater part of his last night on earth writing letters. At midnight he went to bed and slept soundly until six o'clock Thursday morning. It took two calls to awaken him. Promptly arising, he received a visit from his spirit-ual advisers, Fathers Day and Macpeak, of the Church of the Annunciation. They administered the last sacrament and did not leave him until nearly nine o'clock. At 10:02 o'clock the sheriff called together the official jury, and after each man had answered to his name and subscribed to the certificate the solemn merch to the gallows

As the gathering stood in silence before the scaffold a murmur came from behind the partition erected immediately back of it. It was the dolorous chant of the two priests, accompanying the doomed man to the scaffold. They were uttering the psalm "Miserere." They mounted the platform. A moment of prayer followed, and then Holmes stepped to the front of the scaffold and, resting his hands on the rail before him, made his statement of in-nocence. It was received in absolute

Pallid naturally after his incarceration there was no other evidence of fear or dis-quiet. He spoke slowly and with measured attention to every word; a trifle low at first, but louder as he proceeded, until every word was distinctly audible.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I have very few words to say, in fact I would make no statement at this time except that by not speaking I would appear to acquiesc in life in my execution. I only want to say that the extent of my wrong-doings in taking human life consisted in the deaths of two women, they having died at my hands as the result of criminal operations. I wish also to state, however, so that there will be no misunderstanding hereafter, I am not guilty of taking the lives of any of the Pitzel family, the three children or father, Benjamin F. Pitzel, of whose death I am now convicted and for which I am to-day to be hanged.

"That is all."

As he ceased speaking, he stepped back and kneeling between Fathers Daly and Macpeak, joined with them in silent prayer for a brief minute or two. Again standing he shook the hand of all those about him, and then signified his readiness for the end. Herman W. Mudgett, better known as H. H. Holmes, was one of the most conspicuous criminals of modern times, and if the "murderer's confessions" which he has written can only partially be believed, he was without a peer as a bloodthirsty de-mon. His recent ingenious "confession," wherein he claimed to have killed 27 persons, was disproved, partly, at least, by the appearance of several of the socalled victims; but Holmes' object in making the confession was realized-the obing of a sum said to be $7,500, and which amount is said to have been settled pen the criminal's 18-year-old son. While "confessions" have served to increase the sensationalism of the case, the only capital crime for which Holmes had to answer was the killing in this city, on September 2, 1894, of Benjamin Pitzel, his fellowconspirator. The murder was committed in the dwelling, No. 1316 Callowhill street. Holmes was captured in Boston, Mass. in the latter part of 1894, by Owen Hanscom the deputy superintendent of police, upor the strength of a telegram from For Worth, Tex., where he was wanted for horse-stealing and for other charges of larceny. At that time officials of the Fidelity Mutual Life association, of Philadelphia, were hot on Holmes' trail for de-frauding the concern out of $10,000 in connection with Pitzel's death, the latter being insured for this amount, and as the cused believed horse-stealing to be high crime in Texas, he voluntarily confessed to Deputy Superintendent Hanscom to the insurance fraud. He did not, for a moment, dream that he was then suspected of the murder of Pitzel, and he came to Philadelphia without requisition papers He expressed a willingness to be tried here on the conspiracy charge in preference to that of horse stealing at Fort Worth.

Between this time and his trial for con spiracy to defraud the insurance company to which he pleaded guilty, Holmes made many "confessions." Each time he pre-tended to tell the truth, but he sedulously avoided doing so. Nobody believed what Holmes said about Pitzel, and he would not say anything about the children exmany "confessions." cept that they were all right.

In his many interviews with District Attorney Graham, Holmes persisted that the three missing Pitzel children were with Minnie Williams in London. He even persuaded Mr. Graham to have an advertisement in the shape of a cipher puzzle inserted in a New York paper, for the purpose of bringing Minnie Williams and the little Pitzels back from Europe. The district attorney placed little faith in what district attorney placed little faith in what Holmes told him, but the "ad" was published as a sort of last and hopeless effort. When the bodies of Nellie and Alice Pitzel were unearthed in Toronto, Holmes denied having killed them. When Howard's charred bones were located in a superannuated stove in Irvington, Ind., Holmes calmly denied any knowledge of the lad's death. When the murders of Minnie Williams and her sister were dis-Minnie Williams and her sister were dis-covered, Holmes said that Minnie killed Nannie in a jealous frenzy, and he buried the body in Lake Michigan. He vigorously denied having put Minnie to death so as to secure her property. The disappearance of Emily Cigrand was traced to Holmes, but the criminal said he knew nothing of the girl's fate. The partially consumed bones that were found in the Chicago "castle" are known to be those of some control. le" are known to be those of some of Holmes' victims. About the last time that Holmes' victims. About the last time that Holmes was taken to the district attorney's office to "confess," Mr. Graham lost patience with him. Holmes gave a repetition of his picturesque falsehoods. He actually gave the district attorney a veritable "joily" about the Pitzel femily and Minnie Williams being still alive. The scene that ensued was extremely dramatic.

TOO MANY IRONS IN THE FIRE. Ferdinand Schumacher Assigns - Liabili-

the talk that had a small to ties, $1,500,000; Ausets, $2,000,000. Akron, O., May 11 .- Ferdinand Schumacher, president of the American Cereal company, and known as the "oatmeal king," turned over his property to his nephew, Hugo Schumacher, and Attorney J. A. Arbogast, of this city, Saturday afternoon for the benefit of ereditors. The assets, which consist of $1,100,000 in American Cereal company stock, other similar securities and real estate, would reach $2,000,000 if there was a macket for them. The liabilities will reach $1,500,000. The assignment was caused by heavy losses in the Marseilles Land and Water Power company and the Illinois River Paper company of Marseilles, Ill., which went to the wall Saturday in consequence of the failure of the chief stockholder.

In addition to the failure of the two Marsellles concerns, whose estimated liabilities are $750,000, the Schumacher Gymnasium company, of Akron, with a capital stock of $50,000, was forced to close up.

Hugo Schumacher, one of the trustees said that if holders of collateral did not sacrifice the same they would be paid dollar for dollar. He also said it was the money lost in the Marseilles Land and Water Pewer company and Ilinois River Paper company of Marseilles, Ill., that caused his uncle's failure, who was, he said, the chief stockholder in these concerns, and lost heavily. It has been generally believed that Mr. Schumacher lost heavily at Harriman, the prohibition town he founded in Tennessee a few years ago, although it is now said he sunk only $50,000 there. Mr. Schumacher has made his home in Chicago for two years.

Marseilles, Ill., May 11.-The Marseilles Land and Water Power company and the Illinois River Paper company, two of the largest concerns in Illinois, were forced to the wall Saturday. The failure was caused by the assignment of Ferdinand Schumacher, president and principal stockholder. Hugo Schumacher and J. A. Arbogast, of Akron. O., are the assignees. Besides the Illinois River Paper company's mill, which is the largest and finest in the world, known as "New Jerusalem," are involved the Crescent paper mill, a wood pulp mill, egg case factory, electric light plants and several other concerns owned by the water power company, representing nearly $1,000,000.

FARMERS ARE WORRIED.

Dry Weather and the Chinch Bug Give Them the "Blues."

Charleston, Ill., May 11 .- The farmers of this section are decidedly blue over | popular hatred toward the United States the prospect of failure of the wheat and oat crops. The dry weather has brought gress of the resolutions favoring the out the chinch bugs in full force and thousands of acres of wheat and oats are being ravaged. Unless rain comes to check them the corn will also suffer.

Ramsey, Ill., May 11.-Millions of bugs, extreme heat and protracted drought all combine to alarm the people as to future prospects for business

Stevens Point, Wis., May 11 .- A peculiar dark worm, ranging in length from one-half to two and one-half inches, has appeared within the past few days in alarming numbers in several parts of the country. They advance over the fields quite like the army worm, destroying whole fields of grain in a single night. Local scientists have not as yet been able to identify them.

Anna, Ill., May 11 .-- Union county and southern Illinois are being taken possession of by the army worm. It is cleaning all kinds of grass, young corn, and will injure late wheat. Many of the farmers are ditching around their crops to keep them off their premises.

REED IS HOPEFUL.

His Friends Believe He Still Has a Fighting Chance. Washington, May 11.-Congressman

Aldrich made the following statement Sunday:

"The friends of Speaker Reed, fully conscious of the gains made by Gov. McKinley in the pending national contest during the past week, but with full information concerning the position and standing of the delegates thus far elected, are yet hopeful, if not confident, of the ultimate success f their candidate before the convention. All republicans favor protection but it is quite evident that the tariff will not be the sole issue of the campaign, for a new and more important element now commands public attention-the money question. The straddling platform will never do, nor can sny candidate who was ever on it, gain the full confidence of the people. It is for this reason, and because we believe that sentiment is undergoing a rapid and radical change in that particular, that we are convinced the candid, sober judgment of the delegates after deliberation which will be had between now and the 16th of June, will nominate Mr. Reed because he best represents the great business interests of the financial world and the American peo-

N. J.-The Murderer Sulcides. Trenton, N. J., May 11 .- Annie Anderson, aged 24 years, was shot Saturday morning by Joseph Graham who immediately afterward shot homself. Both died in less than half an hour. The shooting took place in the dining-room of C. I. Baumgarter, in whose family the girl was employed as a domestic. Braham was a carpenter and formerly lived in Freehold, N. J. Jealousy was undoubtedly the motive of the double tragedy. The murdered girl was a sisdered by her lover, Barclay Peak, in Mount Holly a year ago.

She Must Give Orew of the Competitor a Fair Show.

Is Notified by the United States That to Shoot Them Would He a Violation of Trraty Agreements Fraught with Danger.

Madrid, May 11 .- A dispatch from Havana says that the five prisoners captured on the schooner Competitor have been sentenced to death. men sentenced to death are: Alfredo Laborde, born in New Orleans; Owen Milton, of Kansas; William Kinla, an Englishman, and Elias Bedia and Theodore de La Maza, both Cubans.

Washington, May 11.—President Cleveland and Secretary Olney were in consultation on the Competitor case. After the conference the secretary of state cabled Consul-General Williams at Havana and Minister Taylor at Madrid instructing them to notify the Spanish government that summary action in the cases of the men captured on board the Competitor would be resented by the United States. The tenor of the notes is that the United States will step in and terminate the bloody war in Cuba if these prisoners are not protected. Execution of them under the present sentence of the military tribunal would be a violation of the Cuehing treaty of 1877.

London, May 11 .- The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says:

"Senor Canovas del Castillo has publicly stated that America has not protested against Spain's right to punish fillbusters, but only against the summary trial. American citizens are entitled to be tried in the civil courts under the treaties of 1795 and 1877. The Spanish government is willing to consider the demand, and has cabled to Capt Gen. Weyler to delay the executions pending the result of negotiations which are actively proceeding between Washington and Madrid to define the interpretation of the aforesaid treaties.

"The Epoca (the government organ) in guarded language recommends p and deprecates demonstrations. It clearly intimates that the government will make another effort to conciliate President Cleveland by ordering Gen. Weyler to send all the papers bearing upon the case here for the supreme court to pronounce upon. The execution of the sentences would thus be virtually shelved.

"The rest of the Madrid press are unanimous in the opinion that America has taken an ungenerous and unjustifiable advantage of Spain's difficulties."

Madrid, May 11 .- There are evidences of growing popular excitement in Spain over the attitude of the United States government toward the question of the filibusters captured on board the Competitor. The riots and outbreaks of at the time of the passage through conrecognition of the Cubans as belligerents have not been forgotten and the sentiments which caused them are but smoldering. The Spanish government has on all possible occasions expressed its appreciation of and satisfaction with the efforts made by the United States government to prevent as far as lay in its power the giving of unlawful aid to the Cuban insurgents by citizens of the United States, but the widespread sympathy felt for the insurgents in the United States is well recognized by the Spanish people, and the news of expeditions from the United States landed from time to time in Cuba creates intense irritation.

The news of the capture of the men on the Competitor was received with great satisfiction and rejoicing. It was felt to be the first opportunity that had been offered to make an example of those who had been feeding the insurrection. The popular demand for their execution is general and is likely to become voelferous. Little account is taken of the refined questions of treaty interpretation involved in the protest of the United States government against the execution of the sentences. The action of the United States is regarded rather as an expression of sympathy with the insurrection, and there will be a strong popular clamor to disregard it.

Madrid, May 11.—It is understood was killed at Hindman Saturd that the cabinet has decided to place the case of the men captured on the eral days, drinking with John R filibustering American schooner Competitor before the supreme council of buy more whisky Saturday, but fall the army and navy for a revision of the proceedings of the court-martial held in Havana. A dispatch from Havana the liquor and Roberts invited Free says that Capt. Gen. Weyler is angry because of the attitude of the United fists. French laid his pistol on the States, and that he will resign unless and began the impromptu prize fig. the sentences are executed. The dispatch adds that the conduct of the American consul general is very irritating to loyal Spaniards. He shows himself everywhere and his talk is menacing 117 E /

The Coming National Convention Exe ing Much Interest.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 11.-Interest the national gathering of prohibition ists in Pittsburgh during the week May 26 is becoming more marked the time for the convention approache That there will be a lively time overt adoption of the platform is indicat by the almost even division of sen fected over the "broad" and "narro gauge" issue. It is now announce that Pennsylvania will ask for representation on the national committee and that the name of Homer L. Cast of Pittsburgh, will be presented as a didate for vice-president. He is popul among the "narrow gaugers."

The prohibitionists are divided in two factions, one of which favors fr silver, protection and other disput policies, and is distinguished as "bro gauge." The other faction, equa strong, favors a narrow-gauge platfor which comprehends but one thing-tindorsement of prohibition. It is in now indicated that the narrow-gau people will win, and that is one oft policies which Pennsylvania will su port solidly. While it is uncertain owing to the size of the field of can dates for the presidential nomination who will be successful, sentiment pears to be gradually veering town Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, avowed parrow-gauge man and one the prominent prohibition leaders the country.

HEART DISEASE FROM CHILD-HOOD.

From the Journal, Quincy, Illinois

Prom the Journal, Quincy, Illinois.

Paul Gross, of 624 South Third Street, Quincy, Ill., is well known to many of the Journal readers. He is twenty-nine years old, was bern and almost raised in Quincy. At present he is watchman on the "People's" ferry boat.

Many who flave known Paul since infancy know that he has been near death's door several times. Seeing him strong and vigorous, the writer asked him the other evening what physician had cured him. His reply astonished us. This is what he said:

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are my doctor. They beat all the physicians in the country."

When asked if he would object to the Journal publishing an account of his case, Mr. Gross replied:

"Not a bit. I would be glad if you would tell what Pink Pills did for me—it might be the means of relieving others who suffer as I suffered.

"I had heart disease; of course you know that. When a child I headers was a suffered.

fer as I suffered.

"I had heart disease; of course you know that. When a child I had palpitation of the heart, and in after years all the complications that heart disease produces. At first the palpitations were not serious, for they would last only a few seconds, but as I grew older the palpitations gradually grew worse until they would completely prostrate me. These palpitations would sometimes last thirty minutes, the blood would rush to my head and I would become so dizzy and my sight become so dimmed that I could not define any object before me. I could hardly get my breath, and it seemed to me that my heart would burst. At times I thought that I was dying. When my heart failed to do its work properly my blood became impure and that caused other troubles.

"I doctored with first one physician and the caused other troubles."

and that caused other troubles.

"I doctored with first one physician and then another, but the doctors only aggravated the disease. One day, two years ago, I saw an article concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper, and I made up my mind to try them—I thank the Lord that I did. I took three boxes of the Pink Pills. They not only relieved me, but completely stopped the palpitations and restored me to a state of general health of which I was proud.

"I believed that I was entirely cured, but "I believed that I was entirely cured, but after about eighteen months I noticed a slight fullness of the heart. I at once got a box of the Pink Pills which effectually removed this trouble, and I firmly believe that had I taken six boxes of the pills instead of three in the first place, I would never have experienced this 'fullness.'

"Many times have I thanked God for having directed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me, for they restored me to health—and health or they restored me to health-and health has brought me happiness.

"As a blood purifier and as atonic, I know of nothing that can equal these pills.

"You can say in the Journal that Paul Gross desires all people to try Pink Pills, for I would be glad if others could be blessed as I have been blessed."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and store shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady,

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of siekness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

The whole influence of the administration will be used to prevent any further action by Congress on Cuban affairs. In fact, it is said that any further Congressional action will result in upsetting a very carefully planned scheme which President Cleveland hopes to through after Congress gets out of the way. Just what this scheme is has not been told by anyone who could speak by authority, but vague hints indicate that it may lead to war with Spain, and that the gathering of what is with one or two exceptions the most formidable ficet of fighting vessels afloat, by the administration in Hampton Roads, is connected

The old, old fight between the House and Senate is on again. The present point in dispute is the number of battle ships which shall be provided for by the naval appropriation bill. The House originally said four, and the Senate by an amendment reduced the number to two. This aroused the ire of the House, and after some very sarcastic references to the jingoism of the Senate a little earlier in the session, it retused by the decisive vote of 141 to 81 to accept the Senate amendment, and sent the bill to conference. The Senators are so accustomed to having their way in these contests that they seldom take the opposition of the House seriously, but this may end differently, as there is a strong element in the Senate which sides with the House.

If you cannot stand on the top round of the ladder at first you should remember there is room at the bottom. All our embryo working people cannot be clerks, bookkeepers, salesmen, typewriters, telegraph operators, much less lawyers, doctors, ministers, actors, editors and politicians. There must be laborers, blacksmiths, machinists, carpenters and farmers, and the public schools must educate the majority for the work they have to do grass lands will help them. Even ma- in each year on said week day nights terial not very rich and which itself will continue open on Monday to Friday not grow a good crop will make the grass evenings grow better because it acts as a mulch for o'clock p. m., and on Saturday evenings the grass roots beneath. The washings of until 10:30 o'clock p. m. Provided poor uplands will fertilize the richer soil that such person shall in good faith comof the valleys below. But except where ply with the general laws of the state and top dressing can be thus done naturally by of this ordinance in the conduct of his irrigation it will not pay to topdress with said business; and provided further, that poor material. The labor will be too great, and it will trample and cut up the grass too much unless the fertilizing ma terial is put on during the winter.

Men are just like hogs, however distasteful this may sound to the hog. When a hog gets an ear of corn, every other hog will trot along behind him and squeal and whine and beg and toady for a bite, but just let the front hog get caught with his head fast in a crack, and every son of sow will jump on him and tear him to pieces. Just so with men. As long as man is prosperous, has money, he can't keep friends off with a base ball bat. The moment he is unfortunate and his wealth is gone, he is not only snubbed by his former alleged friends, but they at once begin to do him all the harm possible. When a man starts up grade the world falls behind and pushes. When he starts down grade the world steps to one side and greases the track.

A gentleman recently said to our re orter: "I never took a paper that did not pay me in some way more than I paid for it. One time an old friend of mine started a paper away down in southwestern Georgia and sent it to me, and I subscribed just to encourage him, and after awhile it published a notice that an administrator had an order to sell several lots at public outcry, and one of them was in the country. So I inquired about the lots and wrote to my friend to run up to $50. He did so and bid me off the lot at $30, and I sold it in a month for $100, and so I made $70 by taking that paper. My father told me that when he was a young man he saw a notice in the paper in a distant country and he went there and got the situation, and a little girl was sent to him, and after awhile she grew up mighty sweet and pretty and he married her. Now, if he hadn't taken that paper, what do you think would have become of me? Wouldn't I have been some other fellow or maybe not at all?"-Ex.
