EMPIRE STATE DEMOCRATS.

The Convention at Saratoga Springs Declares for the Gold Standard.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., June 25.—The democratic convention to select delegates at large and name district delegates to the national convention at Chicago met in this city Wednesday. Chairman James W. Hinckley called the convention to order at 12:30 p. m. He presented the name of John Boyd Thatcher, of Albany, for temporary chairman. Mr. Thatcher was elected without opposition. The following were elected delegates at large to the national convention: David B. Hill, Roswell P. Flower, Edward Murphy and Fred R. Coudert. Alternates, Robert Earl, Smith M. Weed, Jacob A. Cantor and William Purcell.

The platform, as presented by Senator Hill, from the committee on resolutions, was adopted. It opens with a lengthy preamble in which it is asserted that by a movement, evidently concerted, but ill-advised and ill-considered, instructions have been given to the delegations from a large number of states having for their aim the purpose the adoption of a new policy and a new platform for the democratic party, and it is declared that upon such new matter thus proposed to be incorporated among the tenets of the party it becomes the duty of the democrats of New York, representing their people, to speak in no equivocal terms. It continues: "Free coinage of silver by the United States alone can have no other effect than to change our present standard of value to one of silver—now a depreciated coin—and to retard, perhaps destroy forever, the success of the movement now general throughout civilized countries for the restoration of free bimetallic coinage in the principal mints of the world. The proposition to separate ourselves from the great nations of the world and adopt the monetary standard of Mexico and China does not comport with the pride and financial dignity of the state of New York or the United States. It should be rejected with the fervor of both partisanship and patriotism by democrats everywhere when the adoption of such a course threatens, as it does, untold evils to our nation's commerce and industry."

The resolutions which follow this preamble favor gold and silver as the standard money of the country, oppose as a permanent financial policy either gold or silver monometallism; pronounce in favor of the establishment of such a safe system of bimetalism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States in the markets and in the payment of debts; declare that such bimetalism can only be safely secured and permanently maintained through the concurrent action of the leading nations of the world, and that until international cooperation for bimetalism can be secured—to which end all our efforts as a government and a people should be in good faith directed—we favor the rigid maintenance of the present gold standard as essential to the preservation of our national credit, the redemption of our public pledges and the keeping inviolate of our country's honor; insist that all our paper and silver currency shall be kept absolutely at a parity with gold.

It opposes legal tender paper money as a part of our permanent financial policy, and refuses to sanction any paper currency convertible with gold; favors retirement and cancellation of United States and treasury notes, which should be done in such a manner as to cause no contraction of the circulation; opposes repeal of any existing statute which enables the secretary of the treasury, by the issue of bonds or otherwise, to provide adequate funds for the redemption in gold of our paper obligations whenever necessary; favors a tariff for revenue only, and insists that "no public taxation except for public purposes" is the true theory upon which our system of government is based and upon which it should be honestly and impartially administered. The administration of President Cleveland is indorsed, and he is particularly commended for his determined efforts to maintain the financial credit of the United States. The delegates to the national convention are instructed to vote and act as a unit in accordance with the will of the state convention. A resolution was adopted declaring that republican ascendancy in the nation would undoubtedly be followed by another attempt to establish minority rule in the democratic southern states by means of a force bill, and appealing to the democrats of the south, in the name of their political liberties and their properties, to avert the possibility of a force bill by uniting with the democrats of the east and the west in framing a platform on which all democrats can stand, the united support of which will lead to a glorious democratic victory. A resolution sympathizing with Cuban patriots in their struggles to achieve freedom and independence, and denouncing and condemning the atrocities, the outrages and cruelties perpetrated by Spanish soldiers under the Spanish flag in the island of Cuba.

A PRETTY RACE.

Cornell Wins Great Inter-Collegiate Eight-Oared Contest.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—Eighteen thousand people grouped upon the picturesque banks of the Hudson with the last rays of the setting sun casting a golden sheen upon the water saw the stalwart eight from Ithaca win first honors over Harvard, Pennsylvania and Columbia. It was a great race. Probably no prettier has been rowed before a greater crowd in American waters. All conditions of air and water were perfect. Not a flaw marred the contest from the crack of the starter's pistol to the crossing of the finish line. Cornell won by four lengths in 19:29 official time. This beats Yale's record of 20:10 made at New London, Conn. Pennsylvania third and Columbia a poor fourth. As a spectacular scene the race was one long to be remembered. The course, a four-mile stretch straight as the crow flies, lay near the west bank of the Hudson and was spanned by the great cantilever bridge, the finish being one mile below that structure and the start three miles above.

Killed by a Negro.

Savannah, Ga., June 27.—A Lyons (Ga.) special to the Morning News says Julius Bird, a young white man, was shot and killed by a negro at Cotton-town, this county. Bird led a party to kuklux the negro. When he knocked at the door the negro shot through the door, wounding him in the thigh. The crowd ran away and left him. The negro then came out and shot him through the body with a rifle. The negro escaped.

Wonderland, '96.

Every year we have brought to our attention the enterprising management of the Northern Pacific Railroad Co. that this system is the one that takes the traveler to the Yellowstone park.

It is well we are reminded of this, for in our eager pursuit of wealth and pleasure we lose sight of this wonderful region, and of which we have such a limited knowledge. Great wisdom was shown by the government in securing this park for all time to come for future generations, and the time will come when not to have visited this famed region before going abroad will be a reproach.

Only think of a lake at 8,000 feet elevation, and miles across, skirted with mountains, with a steamer to take the sight-seeker around.

The Yellowstone Park is rightly named "The Wonderland," and it must be seen to form any adequate idea of its beauty and grandeur.

In seeking for a pleasure trip, here at our door is one that should be investigated, and every American citizen should have enough national pride to know all about the Yellowstone park.

By addressing the general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific railroad, Chas. S. Fee, St. Paul, Minn., and inclosing ten cents in stamps, you can secure that beautiful souvenir book entitled "Wonderland, '96."

This book will give you all desired information, and contains maps and engravings of the highest order.

Democratic Delegates Are En Route to Chicago.

National Convention to Assemble July 7 - Friends of Silver Certain to Have Full Control - Fight on the Unit and Two-Thirds Rule.

Chicago, June 29.—The democratic national convention will convene in the Coliseum, in this city, on Tuesday, July 7. All of the 906 delegates entitled to seats have been selected. Of the 51 states and territories, 33 have declared for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of sixteen to one without waiting for concurrence by other nations; 16 declared for the gold standard, and two (Florida and District of Columbia) adopted no currency planks.

May Break the Unit Rule. Five hundred and seventy-eight of the delegates are pledged to vote for free silver and 328 for gold, but it is probable the silver total will be increased to a greater figure than 578. Many in the gold column are there by the unit rule, which prescribes that they vote with the majority of the delegation. Many silver men bound by this rule to vote for gold have declared they will refuse to abide by the rule and will appeal to the silver majority in the convention that they be allowed to vote according to their own convictions.

The breaking of the unit rule, decisions in a number of contests, and the likelihood of increased representation from free-silver territories will materially increase the number of votes for free silver, probable to 642. Thus, with the silver men in control of the organization, it is probable that a change from the two-thirds rule will not be necessary. Throwing the unit rule to the winds may help a few gold delegates with free silver instructions to vote for the gold standard, but the flop of silverites in the New York delegation, the exact number of which is not known, will probably balance any accessions to the gold ranks.

In the Michigan delegation, which is instructed to vote for gold, 11 of the 28 delegates are for silver, and they have openly avowed their intention of kicking over the traces and will contest the seats of four gold delegates at large and six district delegates if the unit rule is insisted upon.

Wisconsin declared for gold and instructed the delegation to vote as a unit. Nineteen are for gold and five for silver. The latter announced on the day of the convention that they would bolt the unit rule.

The contests are: The entire Nebraska delegation, where the gold men were recognized by secretary Sheerin, of the national committee.

A contesting delegation from Nevada—both being for silver.

The entire delegation from South Dakota is contested by silver men, who bolted the regular convention.

The gold and silver factions in Texas met on the same day and each elected a delegation.

The Eighteenth Ohio district elected two delegations.

Bland Leads. For the presidency, Bland, of Missouri, leads with 106 delegates instructed for him. California instructed for Senator S. M. White, of that state; Indiana for Matthews, Iowa for Boies, Kentucky, is for Blackburn, Massachusetts is for Russell, New York for Whitney, Ohio for John R. McLean, Pennsylvania for Pattison, and South Carolina will probably present the name of Benjamin R. Tillman. The figures are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Delegates. Bland 106, Whitney 72, Pattison 64, McLean 48, Russell 38, Matthews 33, Boies 28, Blackburn 25, Tillman 18, White 15.

Campbell May Wield the Gavel. Ex-Gov. James L. Campbell, of Ohio, may be chosen for temporary chairman of the convention. It appears the subcommittee is having great difficulty in finding a suitable man for this position.

Under the circumstances and the conditions confronting them their task in this instance is a particularly difficult and trying one. Many foolish stories have been put in circulation as to what the majority faction will do if the national committee confers the honor of temporary chairman upon some pronounced advocate of honest money. At no time, according to members of the subcommittee, have they ever thought of selecting an extremist from either side. It was said they were looking for a conservative man, and the talk centered upon ex-Gov. Campbell. It is thought he will be satisfactory to both sides.

Fight on the Two-Thirds Rule. More than three generations ago the two-thirds rule was established in a democratic national convention. It has prevailed and been in force ever since. It means that the support of two-thirds of the delegates is required to nominate candidates for president and vice president. Under its provisions, therefore, the nominees must secure 604 votes. These figures are made on the official representation as fixed by the national committee, which allows a total of 906 delegates in the convention.

As there will be two money factions in the convention, each solidly united upon the principle for which it stands, the question now prominent is, can nominations be effected without abolishing this two-thirds rule? Among the party leaders and candidate managers and preliminary gossipers now here this matter forms an interesting and weighty topic. It was the subject of more general discussion about the Palmer house headquarters than any other. Everyone seems to think the silver faction will knock out this rule, and everyone else predicts the sound money element will insist that it be kept in. The supposition at this particular stage is therefore that over this matter, which promises to become a feature, will come the first open field fight of the convention.

As only a majority vote is needed to organize the convention, change the rules, adopt a platform, and do everything except nominate the candidates, it is conceded the silver forces can wipe out the two-thirds rule if they act and vote together. It is asserted, however, that the friends of some of the silver candidates oppose abolishing the two-thirds rule.

Coliseum Will Be Ready July 1. A hundred men worked Sunday on the speaker's platform and arranging the seats in the Coliseum for the national democratic convention. At first glance it seemed as though the hall would not be ready for the democrats, but as a matter of fact it will be ready July 1. The greater part of the work has been done. The platform will be finished Tuesday. To-day a small army of men will arrange the 15,000 chairs.

Plans of Silver Men. Washington, June 29.—Senator Harris left Sunday for Chicago to be present at the democratic silver conference which will be held in that city, beginning on Tuesday next, under the auspices of the democratic bimetallic organization. He is chairman of this organization, and has been since it was instituted in this city a year ago.

The purpose of the ante-convention meeting is to so solidify the silver organization as to render it thoroughly effective in the execution of the plans of the silver leaders in the convention, and also to prevent the encroachment of the gold forces. It had been their purpose to discuss the platform to be adopted and also to consider the availability of candidates. There has been much correspondence bearing upon these two points. The plan has been to keep candidates in the background until the conference could be held, with the view of having the conference free to choose. This has proved impracticable, and it is understood that the leaders in the movement fear that they will be unable to control in this matter as they had at one time hoped they might. They still hope, however, to be practically able to make the platform before the convention meets.

Sibley Is for Teller. Victor, Col., June 29.—Joseph R. Sibley wires from Franklin, Pa., in answer to a query that he is a candidate for no office, and favors all silver men uniting on Teller.

DROWNED IN SHAWANO LAKE. Squall Upsets a Boat, and Only Three of Nine Occupants Escape Alive.

Shawano, Wis., June 29.—Word was received here late Saturday night of the drowning of six persons at Shawano lake during a gale at 6:50 o'clock that evening. A party, consisting of O. A. Risum and wife, Herman Drackery and wife, Louis Goksy and wife and a child of Pulcifer, Miss Emma Garbrecht, of Shawano, and Miss Margaret Crowe, of St. Nazianz, Manitowoc county, started from Cecil about five o'clock in O. A. Risum's yacht, en route for a few days' outing on the north shore of the lake.

When about three miles from shore the boat was capsized by a sudden squall and the party precipitated into the water. Mr. Risum and Mr. Drackery clung to the capsized boat for almost five hours, the latter holding the child in his arms, when they were rescued by parties from Cecil, who were attracted by their cries for help. The bodies of the other six have not been recovered, owing to the high wind, it being impossible for the boats to leave the shore. Searching parties are being organized and the search will be resumed as soon as the wind abates.

Shot an Officer and Himself. Colorado Springs, Col., June 29.—Police Officer Frank Bish was shot and almost instantly killed at 10:30 Sunday night by Pat Kinney, a driver for a local transfer company. Kinney was so closely pursued that he turned his gun upon himself and blew a hole through his head, dying instantly. Kinney and a partner named Edwards were caught acting in a suspicious manner in the rear of the Daily Gazette building and were ordered to halt by Officer Bish. Kinney drew his gun and shot the officer through the body.

A Great Increase. Washington, June 29.—According to official statistics just issued by the director of the geological survey the total value of the mineral products of the United States for 1895 increased over $80,000,000 beyond the value for 1894, or from $527,368,594 to $611,795,290. This increase is considered a long step towards recovery from the depression to which the mineral industry like all others has been subjected.

Appoints Berlepsch's Successor. Berlin, June 29.—The emperor has appointed Herr Brefeld, member of the Prussian council of state, as Prussian minister of commerce, to succeed Freiherr von Berlepsch, resigned.

WISCONSIN DEMOCRATS.

The State Convention Adopts Resolutions Favoring the Gold Standard.

Milwaukee, June 24.—The democratic state convention was called to order in the Bijou opera house at 11 a. m. Tuesday by ex-Gov. Peck, chairman of the state committee. Thomas F. Frawley, of Eau Claire, was the temporary chairman. The reception of his address, strongly favoring the gold standard, foreshadowed the action the convention would take on the financial question. After the address the usual committees were appointed. Business was taken until 3:30 p. m. On reassembling the temporary officers were made permanent. Chairman Usher, of the committee on resolutions, read the majority report. The financial portion was greeted with loud cheers. The report is as follows: The administration of President Cleveland is indorsed. Tariff for revenue only is declared, and on the money question the platform says:

We believe that the demands of a commerce built upon the broad and enlightened doctrine of free trade require a currency that cannot be discredited in any civilized country. Realizing this logical demand for the best money for international trade; realizing also the dangers of a fiat currency in domestic use, and aware that the present condition of commercial distress calls for the patriotic and sturdy maintenance of national honor and financial integrity, we declare ourselves opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver and in favor of gold, the highest monetary standard of the world.

We hereby direct the delegates from Wisconsin to the national democratic convention to be held in Chicago July 7 next to vote as a unit on all subjects and candidates when and as a majority of the delegation may direct.

Mr. Silverthorn read the minority report, as follows: "Resolved, That we reaffirm the platform of the last national democratic convention and particularly upon the subject of coinage, believing that a fair interpretation of the same favors free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold as legal tender money of the country."

Loud cries for Vilas filled the air, and a perfect pandemonium of applause greeted the suggestion. The senator took the platform in response to these cheers, which continued for some moments, and made a stirring appeal for the gold standard. Speeches followed by Delegates Dockery, of Ashland, for silver; Louis J. Bohmrich, of Kenosha, for a straddle on the financial question, and Gen. Bragg for gold.

The minority report was then rejected, with 217 against 129 votes, and the majority report unanimously passed. The delegates at large then selected are: Senator William F. Vilas, Gen. Edward S. Bragg, James G. Flanders, of Milwaukee; James J. Hogan, of La Crosse. The alternates are: Archibald Woodard, of Clinton Junction; John G. Sohr, of Jefferson county; John W. Hume, of Oshkosh, and R. J. McClellan, of Richland. The district delegates are as follows: First district, George McKill, Thomas Kearney; Second, J. E. Malott, W. H. Rogers; Third, Herman Gasser, Dr. W. H. Lyman; Fourth, William Berghenthal, Henry Haase; Fifth, M. C. Mead, Dr. Henry Blank; Sixth, H. P. Hamilton, J. H. Wood; Eighth, J. L. Brennan, John Wattawa; Ninth, Judge Amos Holgate, E. J. Dockery; Tenth, H. J. Shields, M. P. McNally.

TRADE REVIEW.

Effect of the St. Louis Gold Blank as Viewed by Dun and Bradstreet.

New York, June 27.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of trade, say: "The monetary outlook is not yet clear to some. The strength shown in recent conventions by advocates of silver coinage and expectation that all the elements favoring that policy may yet be concentrated, incline them to a waiting attitude. Their uncertainty retards improvement, notwithstanding the more widely prevalent feeling that the monetary action of the St. Louis convention will be sustained by the people. But many mills have waited as long as they can with safety, and signatures have been given by enough cotton mills of Fall River to insure a temporary stoppage. It is said, the nature of which is now under discussion in conference with the Providence manufacturers. Meanwhile, the Pacific, of Lawrence, and the Naamkeag, of Salem, have closed for a time, and practically all the southern cotton mills will be represented at a meeting on Monday with the same object. Woolen mills are active without concert, but 14 are mentioned in dispatches as having closed this week. There is no similar movement in other industries, though the period of summer closing is at hand in many of them and important controversies as to wages of iron puddlers and other hands make it likely that the annual stoppage in that industry may last longer than usual."

"The weakness of wheat, which has declined 2.10 cents, and of cotton, which is an eighth lower for spots, though less for futures, have full explanation in decidedly good crop prospects. It may be doubted whether the boot and shoe industry has ever been in better shape on the whole, though manufacturers complain that an advance in price is necessary, which dealers are very reluctant to pay."

"The great combinations, which the Iron Age wisely reasons, tend to cause disastrously low prices hereafter, still control the markets both for material and finished products of iron and steel, though it is reported that lower prices will soon be made for coke, owing to better utilization of products, and for nails, owing to heavy decrease in consumption."

NATIONAL SILVER PARTY.

Holds Its Colorado State Convention—Much Enthusiasm.

Denver, Col., June 26.—Five hundred delegates from two-thirds of the counties in the state organized the first state convention of the national silver party, adopted a platform and elected delegates to the national convention which meets in St. Louis July 22. The convention was harmonious and enthusiastic. The platform is a strong declaration for silver and declares allegiance to any other national party and candidate for the presidency that accords with this view on the financial question. Senator Henry M. Teller is indorsed for the presidency.

Degree for Thomas F. Bayard. London, June 25.—The degree of D. C. L. was conferred by Oxford university Wednesday upon United States Ambassador Thomas F. Bayard. Although numerous honorary degrees were conferred upon prominent men, none received so hearty a welcome at the hands of the students as was accorded to Mr. Bayard.

DEMOCRATS IN INDIANA.

Declare for Free Silver—The State Ticket Named.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 25.—The state democratic convention held here Wednesday nominated a state ticket and selected presidential electors and delegates to the Chicago convention. The platform adopted declares strongly in favor of free silver. Senator R. C. Bell, of Fort Wayne, was the permanent chairman. The state ticket named is as follows:

For Governor—Benjamin F. Shively, of South Bend. For Lieutenant Governor—John C. Lawler, of Salem.

Appellate Judges—E. A. Taylor, Evansville; F. E. Gavin, Greensburg; Theo. P. Davis, Noblesville; O. J. Lutz, Muncie; George E. Roos, Logansport.

Secretary of State—S. M. Ralston, Lebanon.

Auditor—Joseph T. Fanning, Indianapolis.

Treasurer—Morgan Chandler, Greenfield. Attorney-General—J. G. McNutt, Terre Haute.

Reporter of Supreme Court—Henry Warum, Indianapolis.

Superintendent of Instruction—W. B. Sinclair, Knox.

State Statistician—O. H. Downey, Alton.

Delegates at Large—D. W. Voorhees, Terre Haute; David Turpie, Indianapolis; G. V. Menges, Mount Vernon; James McCabe, Williamsport.

Electors at Large—John B. Stoll, South Bend; Jason B. Brown, Seymour.

The committee on resolutions read its report, the main points of which are as follows:

"We reaffirm our adherence to and faith in the democratic doctrine of bimetallicism and therefore we demand the immediate restoration of bimetallicism by the free and unrestricted coinage of both silver and gold as primary money at the ratio of sixteen to one, without waiting for the operation of Great Britain or any other foreign power, all such coinage to be full legal tender in the payment of all debts public and private."

"Resolved, That we believe the existing tariff laws will be fully equal to all demands for needed revenue for the expenses of government economically administered under the conditions which will arise from the restoration of bimetallicism."

Earnest sympathy with the people of the island of Cuba is expressed; election of United States senators by direct vote is favored. Course and action of Senators Voorhees and Turpie are indorsed, as is also the administration of Gov. Matthews. "And the delegates from Indiana to the national convention are hereby instructed to cast their votes in his favor for president, first, last and all the time, and to use all honorable efforts to secure his nomination."

"The 20 delegates selected to represent the democracy of Indiana in the Chicago national convention are instructed to vote as a unit upon all questions involving platform or candidates in that convention."

THE LESSON COMMITTEE.

International Sunday School Convention Transacts Its Most Important Business.

Boston, June 27.—At the international Sunday school convention Friday morning the election of the lesson committee, the most important feature of the convention, was held, and resulted as follows:

Rhode Island—Warren Randolph, D. D., Baptist.

Illinois—Mr. B. F. Jacobs, Baptist.

New York—A. F. Schaubert, D. D., Presbyterian.

Massachusetts—A. E. Dunning, D. D., Congregationalist.

Maryland—E. B. Kephart, D. D., United Brotherhood.

Tennessee—Dr. John R. Pepper, Methodist.

Kentucky—Prof. John R. Sampry, D. D., Baptist.

Missouri—Mosheim Rhodes, D. D., Lutheran.

Province of Ontario—John Potts, D. D., Methodist.

Pennsylvania—J. S. Stazer, D. D., Reformed church.

Tennessee—Prof. J. I. D. Hinds, Ph. D., Presbyterian.

New York—B. B. Tyler, D. D., Christian church.

Colorado—H. W. Warren, D. D., Methodist.

Virginia—Prof. W. W. Moore, D. D., Presbyterian.

Province of Quebec—Principal E. I. Rexford, B. A., Protestant Episcopal.

The evening session was the most enthusiastic of all held this week. After brief addresses by Rev. A. J. Diaz, of Cuba, and Rev. Nehemiah Roynton, of Boston, W. B. Jacobs, of Chicago, made the closing remarks. The closing scene of the convention aroused the greatest enthusiasm. While the audience sang a verse of "God Save the Queen" the English flag was waved from the platform. Next a verse of "America" was sung while the stars and stripes were waved, and then all joined in singing a verse of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," as the two flags were waved to the time of the music.

PEPPER WON'T SUPPORT TELLER.

Declares That Populists Cannot Fuse with Democrats.

Washington, June 26.—Senator Pepper left here Thursday for home. Before starting he said concerning the populist attitude on the presidential question: "The recent pronouncement of a few populist gentlemen at St. Louis urging the democratic convention to nominate Mr. Teller was, in my judgment, an impertinence, and it was treacherous so far as it attempted to speak for the populist party as a whole. These gentlemen spoke without authority from the populist party, and I do not believe the party will sustain them. They have not conferred with the party and had been given no commission to speak for it."

"Personally, I have a high regard for Mr. Teller, but I have no idea that the old party spirit of the democratic organization will be so far relaxed as to bring about his nomination. In any event, I do not think existing conditions warrant populist indorsement of the democratic presidential ticket, even though the nominee is for free silver and the platform contains a positive free silver declaration. I regard the integrity and perpetuity of the populist party as essential to carrying out the plan of reforms we have espoused. The money question is but one of these. While the democratic convention doubtless will be for free silver, yet it will not be expressive of those other great questions of land tenure and of labor which the populist party regards as vital."

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Had All Kinds of Trouble.

W. L. Johnson went to St. Joseph from Chicago, and was the victim of aggravating circumstances. He began the day by falling down the long flight of steps that lead to the Hotel St. Joseph and narrowly escaped breaking his neck. Then he started up the beach on his wheel, and by an accident fell into the lake. Later on his wheel was stolen. When he went to take the boat home in the afternoon he found that his pocketbook, containing $85 in cash and $4,000 in securities, had been removed by a pickpocket.

Will of the Late Ex-Gov. Felch.

The will of the late ex-Gov. Alpheus Felch has been admitted to probate at Ann Arbor. It was written and executed by the governor himself May 9, just six weeks before his death. It gives the value of the estate at $60,000, with only $15,000 in realty. He bequeaths his library to the University of Michigan, $500 to each of eight grandchildren, two sons-in-law and one daughter-in-law. The use of the homestead for life goes to his daughter, Mrs. E. H. Cole, and residue to five surviving children.

Sent to Jail.

Robert Bell, a juror in a civil suit, was sentenced in Detroit to pay a fine of $250 and be imprisoned six months in jail, or one year in case the fine is not paid. Bell, it was proved, visited the plaintiff and said that he could fix the jury to decide in her favor for a sum of money. The woman called a policeman and Bell was promptly locked up. Before criminal proceedings could be brought Judge Aldrich brought him to the bar for contempt and sentenced him.

Would Not Let Them Marry.

Michael K. Mills, known by a religious sect at Detroit as "prince of the house of Israel" and leader of the celebrated "flying roll" colony, was released from prison at Jackson after serving a five-year sentence. Eliza Curtis, who is designated as "Princess Eliza," was there to marry him at the prison, but Warden Chamberlain forbade it and the two left for Detroit to have the knot tied.

Successfully Launched.

The largest boat ever built in Michigan was successfully launched from the Wyandotte yards of the Detroit Dry Dock company and was christened "The Senator." She was built for the Wolverine Steamship company of Detroit and cost $260,000. She is 420 feet over all, 400 feet keel, 45 feet 6 inches beam and 28 feet deep and is expected to carry 4,300 gross tons on about 15 feet draft.

Health in Michigan.

During the week ended on June 29 reports sent in by 61 observers in various portions of the state indicate that cholera morbus, measles and whooping cough increased and consumption decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 207 places, typhoid fever at 22, diphtheria at 13, scarlet fever at 27, measles at 47 and whooping cough at 22 places.

Didn't Wait for Her Diploma.

Miss Rose Demmon, a senior in the university at Ann Arbor, and daughter of Prof. I. N. Demmon, of the literary faculty, was married to Daniel B. Ninde, a graduate from the law department last year and now a lawyer in Fort Wayne, Ind. Mrs. Ninde didn't wait to receive her diploma. The couple have gone on an eastern trip.

Brief News Items.

Byron G. Stout, who was a member of congress in 1868 and in 1890, died at his home in Pontiac, aged 67 years.

Miss Cecelia Foster left last Wednesday evening for Grand Forks, North Dakota, to spend the summer with her friend, Mrs. Jarvis, of that place, who has been her guest for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Keusch, Mrs. F. Staffan and Mrs. A. Neckel were out riding last Sunday, when the team became unmanageable and ran away, throwing the occupants of the carriage out and injuring them quite badly. The carriage was almost a total wreck.

During the months of July and August the Baptist, Methodist and Congregational churches will hold union evening services. The first of these services will be in the Methodist church next Sunday. Rev. W. H. Walker, of the Congregational church, will speak on the subject, "Is There a God, and Can We Know God?"

Miss Cora E. Seeger finished a very successful term of school in District No. 10, Sylvan township, last Friday, June 26. A short and appropriate program had been arranged, which was enjoyed by all present. Afterwards ice cream and cake were served. All present reported a very pleasant time. Miss Seeger will teach the same school during the fall and winter terms.

Dr. W. J. Stapish, who recently graduated from the University of Michigan, has completed an extra course, under Prof. Dorrance, known as continuous gum. This work in practice will bring $150 for a set of teeth, owing to the difficulty of construction and the expensive material used. Very few dentists have taken this course. In about two weeks he will leave for Ridgeville, Indiana, where he will practice his profession.

Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26, 1896.—Hints of a possible big political scandal in the near future have been dropped this week by leading silver men. No names are used and few particulars are given, but it is whispered around Washington that some of those who are shouting the loudest for silver in public are plotting in private to prevent the nomination by the Chicago convention of a ticket upon which all of the silver voters would be willing to unite, and it is further whispered that some sensational denunciations may follow the Chicago convention if these plotters succeed in getting a ticket put up that the Populists and silver Republicans will refuse to support.

It did not seem possible two months ago that the Chicago convention would attract the attention it is now receiving. It will really decide whether the Presidential campaign shall be squarely fought between a gold ticket and a silver ticket, or whether there shall be a triangular fight, with all the advantages on the side of the gold ticket. It doesn't seem to make the slightest difference to those who are fighting to prevent the convention adopting a free silver platform and nominating a silver ticket that nearly two-thirds of the delegates to the convention have already declared themselves to be silver men. This isn't complimentary to anybody concerned, but it is strictly true.

President Cleveland is making a personal attempt to get the southern delegates to the national convention to abandon the idea of voting for a free coinage platform. He is sending out large numbers of two personal letters. One of them is addressed to southern men of prominence whom he has met, appealing to them to give their influence towards preventing the defeat of the administration by its own party convention. This letter goes in strong on southern sentiment and gratitude, and recites what the writer has done for the south during his two terms, mentioning among other favors bestowed on the south, five cabinet positions, two associate justices of the United States Supreme Court, and two ambassadors.

The other letter is being sent to business men in New York and other eastern cities who have intimate financial relations with the south. In it these eastern capitalists are urged to notify their southern patrons that if the southern delegates to Chicago persist in voting for the free coinage of silver they need not ask for further financial aid in their business enterprises from eastern capitalists, and that when their outstanding obligations are due no further extension of time will be given them, but they will be required to settle or suffer the consequences. It remains to be seen what will be the effect of these two remarkable letters.

The silver men are not allowing their opponents to do all the fighting. They are going to have their representative men meet in Chicago next week, a week ahead of the convention, for the express purpose of making an iron clad program for the convention which cannot possibly be upset. The anti-silver leaders are also going to Chicago next week, and the anti-convention contest promises to be quite as interesting as that which will occur in the convention itself, and may really settle in advance just what the convention will do. Everybody in Washington, Republicans, Democrats and Populists alike, are engaged in discussing the possibilities and probabilities of the convention, and there is the widest possible difference of opinions as to what the outcome will be. That Secretary Teller will not be the nominee seems to be one of the few certainties.

A new silver campaign button has made its appearance. It is a reproduction in metal of the ordinary field daisy, with sixteen numbered white petals and a figure one on the yellow center. This button originated in Washington, and the designer has applied for a patent. It has been endorsed and adopted by the American Bimetallic League.

Those who said before Congress adjourned that President Cleveland had a war scare up his sleeve which he would produce whenever he thought it expedient to do so are now more than ever convinced that they were right. The premature publication of the nature of the report which Gen. Fitz Lee, our Consul-General to Cuba, has made to the President upon the condition of affairs in Cuba is what convinced them. It is argued that this report will furnish a basis for the President to act upon, if he be so disposed, and that if he takes any action favorable to the Cubans Spain will be compelled by public opinion, which is already much influenced against us, to declare war against the United States. Meanwhile Gen. Fitz Lee is in diplomatic hot water. He wrote a letter containing very decided opinions to a relative, who made the mistake of showing it to a newspaper man. Consequently the Spanish minister wants his scalp, and according to diplomatic ethics he is entitled to it, but whether he will get it is altogether another thing.

There are seventy saloons in Washenaw county, all of which have paid their fee of $500 to the county treasurer.
Somebody has figured it out that we pay something like $6,000,000 more for chewing gum than for the maintenance of preachers in all denominations. We are indeed a busy people.
Bishop Foley, of Detroit, is to preside at the patriotic celebration in Detroit on July 11, 1896, in commemoration of the evacuation of that city by the British. Elaborate exercises are to be held.
The 7th reunion of the 7th Michigan cavalry will be held at the court house, Ann Arbor, on the 3rd of July at two o'clock p. m., it being the 33rd anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg. The headquarters will be at the Cook House.

"Shall the railroads check bicycles free?" is the absorbing question in the west, while in the east they are compelled to do so. It will be only a question of a few more months in the west. Bike owners are becoming too numerous for successful resistance.
If a burdock at any stage of growth is cut below the surface of the ground and a handful of salt thrown on the cut surface it completely destroys it. The moisture from the cut dissolves the salt, and this in turn helps to rot the root, so that no sprout from it is possible. The earlier this is done the less trouble it will be to cut the root below the surface.
How many of us can tell how many states there are now in the union? Very few except school children and congressmen and flagmakers know. Every four years the political arithmeticians learn the number in the process of figuring up the Presidential election returns, but they forget again almost immediately. This year's United States flag will have forty-five stars, the latest being Utah, which becomes a state on the 4th of July next.
The cut worm has developed considerable ability in the cornfields about Steiner, and some pieces of corn have been replanted, says the Monroe Democrat. No adequate means of defeating the cut worm has yet been devised; his system takes kindly to most poisons, and paris green seems to be a tonic which his nature requires to induce him to feel well. Perhaps as good a way as any is to throw him on his back and choke him till he opens his mouth, then knock his teeth out with a club.
An anti-tramp convention was held at Madison, Wis., last week, to discuss the question of the abatement of the nuisance. The meeting was held under the auspices of the American Anti-Tramp League. The general verdict of the assembly was that the tramp must go, even if harsh measures have to be used. It was advocated that workhouses be built in counties for vagrants and that such persons be compelled to work. South Carolina has set the country a good example in this matter. The tramps are set to making and improving roads down there.

No, we won't celebrate "the Fourth" this year. It isn't a good thing for the town to have the streets crowded on our national holiday. Large crowds always make more or less dirt, which is scattered over the streets and makes them look bad. We will go to some other near-by town whose citizens have enough energy and snap to get up a celebration, and spend all our good money with them, buying red lemonade, over-ripe bananas, measly peanuts, and then come home and tell what a nice clean town they have and wonder why their people are prosperous and ours are not.—Ex.

Frank Howard, of Jackson, a horseman about 23 years of age, was killed by a freight train at Ypsilanti at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Howard had been caring for the horse Louis Owosso at the race track during the week, and was about to ship east. The train having in line the car containing Louis Owosso had started to pull out of the yards before Howard noticed its movement. In his attempt to board the freight train he fell on the track. Both legs were cut off just below the body, and he was dragged fifteen rods before the train was stopped. He died a few minutes later.

Items Gleaned from the Lumber District.

People who used to buy tile and lumber of the old-time 500 per centers, and mortgage their farm to pay the bill, will be glad to learn that The Glazier Stove Co. have made a big hole in the old-time prices, by not charging for the holes in the tile.
The best Marblehead Kelley Island lime, 59 cents per barrel, of the Glazier Stove Co.
The Glazier Stove Co. will make prices on coal this season that will make the old-time 500 per center kick worse than ever, and make him think of the "Kold Winters" of the past—KOLD, extremely Kold for the people who helped him pocket a cool five thousand dollars profit on KOAL each season.
The Glazier Stove Co. are selling good roof boards at $7.50 per thousand.
Shingles, all grades at prices which make the old-time 500 per center kick and long for a return of the good old days, when 500 per cent (payable in wheat, wool or mortgage) was pocketed with ease.
Water lime, the very best, in bushel bags, 19 cents, of the Glazier Stove Co. What have you been paying for it?
You would never have been compelled to place that mortgage upon your farm if you had always been able to buy lumber, tile, coal and builders' supplies at the rate of profit at which The Glazier Stove Co. are now selling this line of goods.
Good bevel siding, $8.00 per thousand, of the Glazier Stove Co. 500 per center's old-time price $40.00 for the same stock.
Tile at right prices of the The Glazier Stove Co. No charge for the holes.
The Glazier Stove Co. are selling first-class white pine boards at $10.00 per thousand. You paid 500 per center $40.00 for the same thing many a time before we punctured his balloon with our underbuy, undersell prices.

A PIECE of pianoforte wire recently tested at the Watertown arsenal showed the extraordinary strength of 206 tons per square inch. The wire was one-twelfth of an inch in diameter; large sizes give a tensile strength of 105 tons and upward per square inch. The metal contained 0.85 per cent. of combined carbon.

ACCORDING to the Jewish Chronicle, Baron Edmond de Rothschild has established another colony in Palestine. The new colony, which is situated in Galilee, not far from Damascus, consists of a village of 3,000 acres, with many springs, and the sources of the River Jordan. This settlement will be colonized by 50 farm laborers of tried experience.

THE Ladies' Auxiliary of the Pennsylvania state board of charities are now engaged in an effort to have $300,000 appropriated in behalf of two state institutions to be devoted to industrial training, one for boys and one for girls. It is the purpose to give to boys and girls a training that will make them self-sustaining, a training that is now denied all but a select few in the various trades of the country.

THERE are many persons perhaps living within the limits of Aroostook county, Me., who have a faint idea of its size. It is truly a county of magnificent distances and immense forests. It is nearly as large as the state of Massachusetts, and larger than some of the kingdoms of the old world. Its forests are the largest in New England, and there are places that have never been visited except by the Indian or hunter.

A CHILD, a curiosity in his way, has been taken to the home of the United Charities organization, Wilkesbarre, Pa. He is three years old and weighs only ten and one-half pounds. His head is the size of a baseball, and a 25-cent piece would cover one hand. The little fellow stands 22 inches high. He is the son of Jacob and Elizabeth Long. He has all his faculties. When he was born his mother was 71 years of age and his father 79.

COL. RICHARD W. THOMPSON, of Terre Haute, Ind., ex-secretary of the navy, was 87 years old a few days ago. He is in perfect health and attended the St. Louis convention at the head of the Indiana delegation. He is the only survivor of the congress of 1841, and there are no members of previous congresses living. There are few living who served with him in 1847-48, when he sat beside Lincoln in the old hall of the house of representatives.

GERMAN sculptors are making an outcry through the Berlin newspapers because Mrs. Cadwallader Guild, an American, has been commissioned to model two allegorical figures, representing respectively "Posts" and "Telegraphs," to be placed upon the post office building at Magdeburg. Such a commission, anyway, can be but a meager offset to the extraordinary proportion of work entrusted to German sculptors in the United States.

A FARMER in Strong, Me., has discovered a way to keep the crows from his corn. After he had plowed the land he strewed corn about in a few places, which was picked up by the crows. He then strewed some more corn that had been soaked in water in which was dissolved some strychnine. This was eaten by the crows and shortly after he never heard such a cawing in his life before. They seemed to be holding a caucus, and evidently decided that the corn was not good, for he has not seen a crow on that corn field since.

THE public school children have adopted the following state flowers for their respective commonwealths: Alabama, Nebraska and Oregon, the golden rod; Colorado, the columbine; Delaware, the peach blossom; Idaho, the syringa; Iowa and New York, the rose; Maine, the pine cone and tassel; Minnesota, the cyripodium or mossassin flower; Montana, the bitter root; North Dakota, the wild rose; Utah, the lego lily, and Vermont the red clover. In addition, Rhode Island and Wisconsin have adopted a state tree, the maple having been selected by both.

The GLORIOUS 4TH.

At the first red flush of the morn, And cannon are flashing and banging.

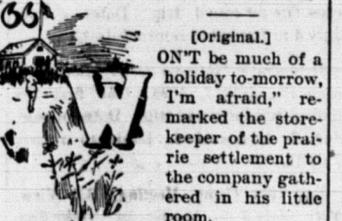

And hoarse peals the ear-splitting horn: On the air floats the banner of glory— New stars its bright azure adorn— And all of the day tells the story When a nation to freedom was born!

All day, through the heat, Sounds the tramp, tramp of feet! 'Tis the rampant small boy, In a frenzy of joy, Over crackers a-cracking, And the snappy whack-whacking Of pistols, torpedoes, and such— Ah, for him there is never too much! No pleasure can thrill him, No music can fill him With rapture so sweet As the popping of powder (Now softer, now louder), And the rub-a-dud beat Of the drum, and the life-stirring scream of the rifle.

But night, with her mantle of peace, At last shutteth silently down Over country and village and town; For awhile in the air The bright, sky-rending flare Of the rocket, the sheen Of the candle's tumultuous glare, Out-shining the starlight, are seen— Then quietly, one by one, Like the going down of the sun, The tumult, the glory, the surcease, And the day, that so noisily rose, Sinks down to unbroken repose.

Unbroken? Ha! ha!— Bang! bang! bang! fizz— Bang! bang! fizz— Bang!— Fizz!— And the world sleeping is. —C. O. Thomas, in Christian Work.

JASON'S DOUBLE INDEPENDENCE

"Because the cattle's comin'?" put in a settler from across the creek. "Little thing like that hadn't ought to prevent Lone Prairie's havin' a good time on Fourth o' July."

"We'll have too much to do. The herd's a big one, or Jason Moore would not come in with it."

"His first trip to town in six years, I'm told. A woman was in it—wasn't there?"

"Yes, his girl married another man, or something like that."

Two well-dressed gentlemen, sharp contrast to the settlers, entered. They were buyers from the city at the mouth of the river, come to inspect the big herd of Texas cattle to come in off the range.

"What did you say this peculiar herder's name is?" one of them, tall and dark, asked.

"Jason Moore, the best known herder on the grazing ground—an' the best one, too, I reckon."

The stranger seemed a little startled, but he only remarked: "Good day for him to come to town—Fourth of July."

"But there ain't much going on that I know of."

There was something going on, and each member of the settlement found out what it was the next morning early when a small boy on horseback made the rounds, firing a large torpedo at every cabin door and announcing to the startled inmates that a flag-raising would take place at noon out at the schoolhouse.

"Guess we might as well go out and see the fun," remarked George Harlan, the dark-visaged stock buyer. "It's mighty dull hereabouts."

"All right," added his friend, and the two went across the level plains with the rest toward the tiny schoolhouse, set in the midst of the prairie five miles away. A few cottonwood trees were making a brave effort to shade the yard, but were somewhat bent by the steady south winds.

A considerable company of farmers, ranchmen, boys and girls, wives and sweethearts, were gathered and the teacher, pretty, blue-eyed Anna Leland, was busiest of all arranging the programme and preparing for the raising of the silk flag which some friends in her old home in western New York had sent to the school.

"Now, Mr. Graham," to the storekeeper, "I shall ask you for a speech."

"Don't do it—I'll break down," yet everybody knew that he could talk longer than any speaker on Lone Prairie.

As the strangers rode up they were closely watched by the settlers and the assembled families. Harlan was a graceful rider, and not even the Texas pony on which he was mounted could unseat him. He was not in time to see the school-teacher, for she had gone inside the building.

Before he reached the steps another matter of interest had attracted attention. Off to the south, already so near at hand as to surprise all that it had not been noticed before, was a cloud of dust. It was many rods wide and reached in a long irregular line up from the plains of the south.

"Cyclone's comin'!" shouted some excitable individual, and the women were perceptibly nervous.

"No such a thing," reassuringly put in the storekeeper. "That's the herd from the ranches we've been lookin' for, an' it ain't a mile away."

Silently they gazed. Then, as if a commander had come out of the midst of an army, a single horseman was distinguishable in front of the wall of dust and was evidently advancing on the schoolhouse group, gaining rapidly on the herd, now visible, plodding along behind.

"It's the boss herder, comin' in to pick a camp," remarked Graham.

He was right. In a few minutes a wide-hatted, handsome cowboy dashed up and dismounted, his big spurs jingling merrily as he walked.

"Well," he began, with a light smile breaking over his naturally stern features, "are you here to give me a reception?"

"Hardly," said Graham, coming forward; "we didn't expect you quite yet."

"We're here, just the same, and the cattle are coming fast, too. They're anxious."

He was right. The herd had advanced very fast and the settlers were all on the opposite side of the schoolhouse watching the approach.

As the herder stood there beside the steps, with the bridle reins hanging loosely to his arm, suddenly came a vision in the doorway. It was a young coming and the younger part of the company was enjoying the tilt between two of the big steers that captain-like led the advancing horned host.

Five thousand head of cattle! A little sea of thin, nervous faces and wide-spreading, sharp-pointed horns. Sometimes so wild as to defy any but the most expert riders, mounted on fresh ponies; again seeming like farmyard inhabitants in their harmlessness.

These, browsing through the ravines and now feeding quietly while the herders, sitting on their ponies, awaited the boss herder's pleasure, were in the latter wood, and it seemed impossible that they could become as ungovernable as the beasts of the forest. Even as the spectators looked, an exhibition was to be given which would exemplify it all.

The boys of the school were watching the spectacle and likewise trying to do something to show their allegiance to the nation. For the latter purpose they were provided with several large fire-crackers. It seemed to them that now would be an opportune time to begin the celebration, and accordingly the fuse of a particularly vicious cracker was lighted and the whole thrown far out in the grass.

Nobody can tell what will cause a stampede. The crack of a stick, the whistle of a quail—anything sudden and strange. In this case it was a Fourth of July firecracker, and it did its work well.

"Bang!" A thousand heads were raised. Bellowing sounds came from the leaders' throats; forefeet stamped angrily and then came the start! With heads thrown back, a dozen steers started off on their wild career. Hundreds followed them, and soon the herd was in motion. It became a blind, unreasoning horde, carrying death to whatever living thing came in its way and controllable only by adroit side-riding of the cowboys.

Jason and the school-teacher stood watching the transformation. They woman, dressed in a fresh pink gown; she had laughing blue eyes and a pleasant face.

But the face grew pale and the girl started back nervously.

"Anna!" said the herder, in a voice which told of deep emotion.

"Jason!" Her words were as strangely spoken.

For a moment neither said more; then the herder went on:

"Why are you out here?"

"Why shouldn't I be? We couldn't all live on that little Illinois farm, and wages are better out here on the prairies than there."

"But—but they told me you were married—to Harlan."

"Who told you?"

"It came from him, I think, and if I find him—"

"Hush—you can find him, for he is not far off. I saw him pass the window a moment ago. He, too, is a westerner and is buying cattle."

"I've been raising them, out on the Texas plains, an' I have almost forgot I had a country, so long has it been since I saw civilization. This is my first trip in from the ranch in four years or more."

"Well, you'll know you have a country on this trip, for to-day is the Fourth of July."

saw, besides the hurrying herders, a stranger in a light suit riding fast in front of the herd.

"That," spoke the girl, "is Harlan."

Jason strained his eyes, gazing at the man. Then he turned to watch his companion jealously. Did she feel an interest in Harlan? He could not tell.

Then something happened. In an instant, the twinkling of an eye, the horse Harlan was riding gave a lurch and fell headlong, his rider partly under it. Coolly Jason watched them. The horse was evidently hurt, for it did not rise—neither did the man, though he freed himself from the saddle.

But why need Harlan rise—a dozen rods away came the wave of flesh which was to make of himself and horse an indistinguishable mass hammered into the sod by thousands of hoofs.

Jason knew this and he felt conscience-stricken that his heart contemplated the catastrophe rather gladly than otherwise. What could he do anyway?

That he could do something was evidently the school-teacher's view, for turning to the boss herder, she spoke clearly and firmly one little word—but its speaking meant life or death. It was: "Go!"

Jason's brown face colored and with a bow in which Anna thought she realized some of his old-time courtliness, he leaped in the saddle, pressed the spurs deep into his pony's flanks and was off.

Faster and faster until the pony fairly flew over the level sod, but the herd was also advancing. The stranger who lay on the ground looked pitifully at the destroyers. The crowd of spectators at the schoolhouse was intensely interested and excited and wondered what the outcome was to be.

Boldly Jason rode and well. He plunged in ahead of the foremost cattle and with a speed which kept him in the lead made a direct course for Harlan. The latter had half risen and was, bewildered, awaiting his destiny. As Moore drew nearer he was recognized and Harlan felt deep down in his heart that his case was hopeless. For the instant that the two men gazed into each others eyes the old fire of hatred shone—but Jason did not even tighten the reins. He felt for that instant how easy would be to fall but he did not intend to.

Catching one spur safely in the cinch straps he leaned far over in the opposite direction until his brawny hand could sweep the grasses. The cattle were ten feet away and a single slip meant life.

But he did not make it. The trembling form of Harlan met the strong wrist and arm of his rival and Harlan was swung across the saddle bow. The on and on like the wind, taking the precious load to a place of safety. When he had reached it and the avalanche went roaring by, only to be stopped a few miles of mad racing by the mere force of weariness, they rode more leisurely.

"Blessed if he ain't fainted," was Jason's first comment when he reached the schoolhouse and laid his burden on one of the long desks. But Harlan was not seriously disabled. Some water among the settlers pulled a dislocated limb into place and he looked like himself again.

The rescuer, avoiding the crowd that came forward to praise him for his bravery, sought the blue-eyed woman whose heart he thought he now knew beyond a doubt.

"He's all right," Jason began.

"Thanks to you, sir."

"I don't care to be thanked," bitterly "I've sat up nights hating that man out there on the ranches—I don't hate him now, but I don't care to have too much glory out of this thing for me. I will."

Anna said nothing. She was a very clever woman.

"Come," she called to the settlers. "It is 12 o'clock and the stars and stripes are waiting for the prairie breezes to kiss them." Several young people giggled.

In a moment all were seated on the grass in front of the building and the teacher stood before them. They sang "America," and then Miss Leland came forward:

"There are two kinds of independence," she began, "one of country and the other of heart. This flag we are about to raise will teach us the first and yet the other is of as much importance. To-day a member of this circle, strangely brought among us, has thrown away a needless slavery which has bound his heart. He has new independence that will make him better and worthier." Then she told them how the flag was sent her, the scholar of the school read the Declaration and, amid the racket of a dozen of the largest firecrackers, the silken banner was pulled up the pole and it folds floated proudly in the breeze.

While Mr. Graham made his speech Anna went to the other side of the schoolhouse—and Jason followed.

"Did you mean that?" he whispered.

"Mean what?" Anna was very innocent, as well as clever.

"That word needless?"

"Did I say that—probably I mean it."

A small boy who peeped around the corner was greatly shocked to see the big-bearded cowboy kiss the teacher.

"I don't believe," remarked Jason a little later, "that my independence did me much good. I seem to have lost it again mighty quick."

Anna did not argue the question.

CHARLES MOREAU HARGER.

A Prophetic Utterance.

In one of Adams' supposed speeches he gives utterance to this prophetic sentiment: "Whatever may be our fate be assured that this declaration will stand. It may cost treasure and it may cost blood, but it will stand and it will richly compensate for both. Through the thick gloom of the present I see the brightness of the future as the sun in heaven. We shall make this a glorious immortal day. When we are in our graves our children will honor it. They will celebrate it with thanksgiving, illuminations, with bonfires and illuminations. On its annual return they will shed tears, not of subjection and slavery, not of agony and distress, but of exultation, of gratitude and of joy."

FRIENDS OF SILVER.

Hold a Mass-Meeting in New York City.

Addressed by Senator Tillman, of South Carolina—Resolutions Urge Demands to Declare in Favor of Free Coinage.

New York, June 26.—The silver mass meeting at Cooper Union Thursday evening filled the large auditorium and all the available standing room. The audience was enthusiastic and applauded loudly every time an opportunity offered itself.

After Senator Bixby had made a few remarks, in which he said that the country needed free silver, and was going to it, Hon. Alexander Delmar was introduced as a recognized authority the world over on the money question.

It took several minutes for the vast crowd in the auditorium to get through hearing when United States Senator Tillman was introduced. Senator Tillman began by paying his respects to the newspapers. He said that the night would give an opportunity to show the members of the audience that the newspapers were unconscionable liars.

The following resolutions were adopted, and it was resolved that a committee attend the populist convention at St. Louis to urge the adoption of the demands as means to harmonize all elements of reform, in order to unite reform forces for the pending campaign.

First—That the mints of the United States shall be reopened to equally unlimited coinage for gold and silver into limited legal tender money of the United States, the gold to issue in the present standard gold coins and the silver to issue in the present standard silver dollars.

Second—We demand provision for direct taxation by means of the optional initiative and referendum.

NATIONAL PARTY.

Arrangements Are Under Way for the Campaign. Alliance, O., June 27.—Arrangements for the national party have just been completed at the national headquarters of the national party in this city for a grand interstate meeting of the friends of the new movement in Minneapolis June 29 and 30.

Millions for Old Soldiers. Washington, June 27.—The secretary of the interior has issued his requisition for $13,225,000 to be used in the quarter-payment of pensions. Chicago gets $2,000,000; Des Moines, $2,100,000; Milwaukee, $1,950,000; Pittsburgh, $1,750,000; Topeka, $2,000,000; San Francisco, $2,000,000; Louisville, $1,000,000; Knoxville, $1,000,000; Indianapolis, $1,000,000; Detroit, $1,000,000; and Columbus, O., $300,000.

BUCKEYE DEMOCRACY.

Ohio Convention Takes a Stand for Free Silver.

Columbus, O., June 25.—The democratic state convention was called to order at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday by Chairman Smalley. W. A. Taylor was made temporary chairman. Later Gen. A. J. Warner was elected permanent chairman, and in taking the chair made a short speech. His only criticism of the present national administration was in that it had created an enormous debt in a time of peace.

The platform as reported by the majority of the committee was adopted by the following vote: Yes, 542; no, 123. It is as follows: "We, the democrats of Ohio, in convention assembled, hold that the money question is the vital and paramount issue now before the people of this country, and that its early and correct settlement is necessary to the revival of business and the return of prosperity; therefore

"Resolved, That we are unalterably opposed to the single gold standard, and demand an immediate return to the constitutional money of gold and silver by the restoration by this government, independent of other nations, of the unrestricted coinage of both silver and gold into standard money at the ratio of sixteen to one, and upon the terms of exact equality existing prior to 1873; such silver coin to be full legal tender, equally with gold coin, for all debts and dues, public and private.

The gold men moved to strike out the unit rule instructions, but were voted down by viva voce amid much disorder. J. D. Patterson, of Dayton, presented a minority report covering the Monroe doctrine, election of senators by the people, Cuban question, tariff reform, personal liberty and all the usual declarations of democratic conventions, including the reaffirmation of the national platform of 1892.

The following were elected delegates at large to the Chicago convention: Allen W. Thurman, of Columbus; E. B. Finley, of Bucyrus; John R. McLean, of Cincinnati; and L. E. Holden, of Cleveland.

TRUMBULL IS DEAD.

Famous Illinois Jurist Expires in Chicago—A Long Public Service.

Chicago, June 25.—Lyman Trumbull, one of the foremost citizens of Chicago, and esteemed jurist, died at his home, 4008 Lake avenue, at three o'clock this morning after a long illness.

Five years on the state supreme bench and 18 years in the United States senate, besides years in the legislature and in the office of secretary of state for Illinois, is the record of Lyman Trumbull. As statesman and jurist the examples of vicious courses practiced in a domestic circle corrupt more readily and more deeply when we behold them in persons in authority.—Juvenal.

senator employed the 82 years of his life actively and honorably, and served his country well in the trying times preceding, during and following the civil war. The friend and associate of Lincoln, his death reminds one of the last of the political leaders of the period of the civil war, Gen. Palmer alone remaining of the Illinoisans who played a conspicuous part in the second great era of American history.

Four Persons Perished. St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—By the capsizing of a sailboat at Clear Water lake, near Annadale, Minn., three Minneapolis young people and a St. Paul woman lost their lives Thursday morning. They were John U. Putnam, bookkeeper for J. Q. Adams, of the corn exchange, Minneapolis; his sister, Miss Anna T. Putnam, a kindergarten employed in the Minneapolis kindergarten; Miss Beattie Newhall, Minneapolis, and Mr. Sherman, of St. Paul. The party had just embarked for a sail on Clear Water lake, and had proceeded not more than 100 yards from shore, where the water was rough, when a gale struck them.

AYER'S ARGUMENT. If there is any reason why you should use any sarsaparilla, there is every reason why you should use Ayer's. When you take sarsaparilla you take it to cure disease; you want to be cured as quickly as possible and as cheaply as possible. That is why you should use Ayer's: it cures quickly and cheaply—and it cures to stay. Many people write us: "I would sooner have one bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind." A druggist writes that "one bottle of Ayer's will give more benefit than six of any other kind." If one bottle of Ayer's will do the work of three it must have the strength of three at the cost of one. There's the point in a nutshell. It pays every way to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

For instance, there's "BATTLE AX." The piece is bigger than you ever saw before for 5 cents. And the quality is, as many a man has said, "mighty good." There's no guess work in this statement. It is just a plain fact. You can prove it by investing 5 cents in "BATTLE AX."

A Genuine Hermit.

Another strange romance has come to light in the mining camps of California in the discovery of the fact that an old miser, known as "George Barnes, the hermit," who died at Jacksonville a few months ago, left a fortune of $100,000, which will go to his brothers in New Jersey.

"I am going west," he said at parting, "and I shall never return. If I cannot marry the girl I love I shall lead a hermit's life. I will never speak to a woman again."

The third annual conference of the health officers in Michigan will be held in Ann Arbor on Thursday and Friday, July 16 and 17, 1896. The purposes of the conference are: The presentation of facts and the general comparison of views by the health officers and other delegates of local boards of health, among themselves, with the director and assistants in the state laboratory of hygiene, and with the officers and members of the state board of health, especially with reference to important preventable diseases, viz: Summer diarrhoeas in infancy, cholera and milk poisonings, diphtheria and its prevention by antitoxin, and by isolation and disinfection, and the bacteriological diagnosis of some of the most important specific diseases—consumption, diphtheria and typhoid fever.

From the Man's View.

We best please men when we ask for the least, but we best please God when we ask for the most. It takes the devil a long time to find out that he never makes anything by opposing a Christian. Shouting in church is sometimes one kind of religion, while paying the preacher's back salary is another.

From the Northville Record we get the following, which it would be well to heed: "The next time a traveling peddler calls at your door and tries to sell you goods, ask him if he will take your butter and eggs and other farm produce; ask him if, when your neighborhood gets ready to build a road or bridge over a creek or slough, he will be willing to donate a few dollars to help it along. Tell him that there is a poor widow down the road who would be very thankful if he would donate a few provisions; ask him if he will contribute to an enterprise just starting. If he agrees to do this, then patronize him. Your home merchant does all of this and more.

SPECIFIC FOR SCROFULA.

"Since childhood, I have been afflicted with scrofulous boils and sores, which caused me terrible suffering. Physicians were unable to help me, and I only grew worse under their care. At length, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and very soon grew better. After using half a dozen bottles I was completely cured, so that I have not had a boil or pimple on any part of my body for the last twelve years. I can cordially recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the very best blood-purifier in existence."—G. T. REINHART, Myersville, Texas.
