GRANT AND WASHINGTON.

Two Wonderful Serials Which "The Century Magazine" Has Secured for 1897. One of the best friends that Gen. Grant ever had was Horace Porter. Therefirst meeting was at Chattanooga in the autumn of 1863, and soon after Gen. (then Captain) Porter became a member of Grant's staff and served with him constantly until Lee's surrender. When Grant became president Horace Porter was made his private secretary, and until Gen. Grant breathed his last at Mount McGregor the two men were close friends. Nor did Gen. Porter's love for his chief cease with his death, for to him isdue the success of the movement to raise the half million of dollars which the Grant monument in Riverside park will cost. The inauguration of the tomb will take place next spring on Grant's birthday, and Gen. Porter will be the orator of the occasion.

During these years of intimacy with Grant Gen. Porter kept a diary, and in his moments of leisure he has arranged his unique stories of anecdotes and memoranda into a series of twelve articles, entitled "Campaigning with Grant," and The Century Magazine has secured all rights in the series and will print it during the coming year. Since the famous "Century Series," for which Gen. Grant himself wrote four articles (the beginning of his "Memoirs"), no magazine has had such a treat to lay before its readers.

Another great serial in The Century is a novel of the American Revolution, written by the well-known Philadelphia physician, Dr. S. Wier Mitchell, whose literary reputation is as high as his standing in his own profession. The story is supposed to be the autobiography of the hero, "Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker," who becomes an officer on Gen. Washington's staff. Social life in the capital, Philadelphia, is most interestingly depicted, and the characters in the story include Washington, Franklin and Lafayette. The readers of "Hugh Wynne, the Free Quaker" will obtain a clearer idea of the Revolutionary War than can be had from any other single source. It is believed that Dr. Mitchell has written "the great American novel," for which we have been waiting so many years.

These are only two of the features of The Century for the coming year-the magazine that leads the world of periodical literature. Very few of our readers will be without it in 1897. It costs $4.00 a year, not too high a price Transcript. for what The Century gives, but many people are arranging to club together in groups of four, paying one dollar each, and securing the reading of the magazine one week. in the month. The publishers advise the making up of clubs early. Send $4.00 to The Century Company, Union square, New York, with the name of the person to whom the magazine is to be sent. If you begin your subscription with the December (Christmas) number, the publishers will send you a copy of November free, in which the two great serials begin.

HOW TO CLEAN CARPETS AND RUGS.

Shave four bars of Ivory soap (which contains no rosin), and put in a kettle with one gallon of water. Let boil until dissolved. Spread the carpets or rugs on the floor. Add a quart of the mixture to a gallon of warm water. Dip a flannel cloth in it, and go over the article to be cleaned, being careful to rub the soiled spots. Then rinse in clear water, and let dry.

A REAL cure for insanity has at last been discovered. It consists in injecting into the veins of the lunatic serum taken from a person who has just recovered from madness. This is not a theory, but a fact, and Prof. Vires, of the Montpelier Insane asylum, near Paris, has actually cured a patient by this method.

In the Rhondda valley of South Wales trade is so bad that the people are utterly famine stricken, and funds are being raised for their relief. The relief distributors tell harrowing tales of children lying dead, shroudless and coffinless, surrounded by half-famished brothers and sisters; of mothers confined while the house is destitute of either food or clothing.

finally said: "The fact of the matter is, Mr. President, we haven't had any money for two months now and everyone of us is dead broke, and I'm almost dead for a chew

"broken" volunteer and said: "It shan't be said that one of my soldiers died for the want of some tobacco. I need his services too much for that Buy some tobacco with this, and I think by the time it is gone you will have re-

During the Fifty-first congress, when Speaker Reed was making his cele brated and notorious rulings and the house of representatives was in constant turmoil, Henry Cabot Lodge escorted Bishop Phillips Brooks upon the floor of the house and gave him)s seat on the republican side, where he was visited by many congressmen who knew and admired him. After awhile he was given a seat beside Maj. McKinley, where he could easily see and hear all that was in progress on the floor. Mr. McKinley sat on his right side and Mr. Lodge on his left, and they explained to him the subject under discussion and the parliamentary points involved. It was a field day for disorder and fun. The democrats by the dozens were on their feet protesting against the speaker's rulings; the speaker was insisting on his propositions; and the republicans were assisting him by trying to howl their opponents down. Mr. Brooks entered into the occasion with his whole soul. That the whole proceeding was a surprise to him was apparent. He evidently had no idea that the house ever resolved itself into a pandemonium in that way. But he leaned forward and turned this way and that in order to catch a look at the shouters, and laughed with the others until the tears ran down his face. In one of the lulls Mr. McKinley leaned over and asked Mr. Brooks how he liked it. "O, very much!" exclaimed the reverend gentleman, with enthusiasm.

'Why, it's as excitng as football." When the remark was repeated in conversation in the chamber later in the day somebody remarked: "When Reed hears that he'll be miserable because he didn't say it.'

How Love Found a Way.

Congressman Amos Cummings says that on a Pennsylvania avenue car the other morning he saw a young man who will some day go to congress, or become president, or both. The young man entered the car just opposite the treasury department. He saw that the only vacant seat was beside a young lady acquaintance, and she was a fuscinating continued, and the old man grew suddenly interested.

"Oh, no," she said, "with the exception of a few marks on his forehead."

"Were you not afraid of taking it?" the young man continued, while the old gentleman broke out in a cold perspira-"Not at all," she replied; "I had been vaccinated, you know." The seat was vacated instantly, the two innocent young hearts beat as half a dozen, and the prattle of "nice talk" strewed that part of the car, while an old gentleman scowled upon them from the distant corner.

Had Nothing at All to Eay.

Senator-elect Money, of Mississippi, is one of the best story-tellers in congress, and all of his narrations have point, pith and moral. He usually tells stories concerning southern people, before, during and since the war. His imitation of darky dialect cannot be accurately reproduced. This morning he told of a Mississippi planter who became engaged to the belle of the county, one of the most beautiful women in the entire lower Mississippi valley. She had a fine form, a dignified bearing, handsome features and a perfect complexion. Her temper, however, was like that of Xantippe. Jeff was the name of an old darky on the plantation who was a grown man when the planter was a child. He had cared for the planter in boyhood. He was a devoted servant, proud of his master and interested in everything that affected his welfare. But he said nothing about the wedding. The planter noted the fact and broached the subject.

"Jeff," he said, one day, "you know I'm going to marry Miss Bellinger?" "Yes," replied the darky, "I know it. "I haven't heard you say anything about it," said the planter. "No," was the answer; "'tain't for me to do nuffin' about it. I isn't got nuffin' to say." "Isn't she pretty?" asked the planter. "Oh, y-e-s," said the darky, "she am pretty." The planter was provoked at his tone and manner.

"Look here, Jeff," he said, "what the devil is the matter with you?" "Oh, I isn't sayin' nuffin'!" was the

about it?" "Well, massa," responded Jeff, with some hesitation, "you knows one thing -the most pisonesest snakes has got the most prettiestest skins."

Senator Hill's Favorite Story.

Senator Hill has told this story a thousand times or more during the past summer and fall. He has constantly declined to be interviewed upon any subject. Nearly every newspaper man has said: "Senator, will you kindly answer just one question?"

In reply, Senator Hill has said that the inquiry reminds him of a story. A reai, live, genuine Yankee came into New York state many years ago peddling tinware. He met a man with one leg

"HOW DID YOU LOSE YOUR LEG?"

and the stump of another. The peddler's curiosity was aroused at once. He determined to know how that man lost his leg, and after scraping an acquaintance said, pointing at the remnant of a limb: "Been in the war?" The one-legged man was sensitive and reticent. His reply was simply:

"No." The Yankee then began to talk trade, but the lost leg was uppermost in his mind. Presently he said:

"Mebbe you lost it in a sawmill?" "No!' was again the answer. The peddler talked trade again, all the time keeping his eye on the remainder of the other's leg. At last he "I'd just like to ask you one ques-

The cow's banquet cost Mrs. Bradford $30.

A Divided Jury.

A man was on trial in Lake county recently on a charge of grand larceny. He was accused of stealing a hog. An old rancher, whose interest in the case was due to the fact that he owned a big drove of hogs, listened attentively to the impaneling of the jury and then left the courtroom with undisguised disgust.

"What's the matter, Sam?" inquired an attorney. "That jury's goin' to disagree," he declared emphatically. "What makes you think so?"

"Think? I don't think nothin' about it. I know it."

"Well, then, how do you know it?" "Why, they've got six hog men that raise hogs and four men that I knows has stole hogs on that jury, and nobody ever knowed a hog raiser an' a hog thief as would agree on a hog case."-San Francisco Chronicle.

The Corset

That does not break at the waist line.

The Cresco is an entirely new departure in corset designing and mechanical construction. It will not break at the waist line. All other makes of cersetsare rigid from top to bottom, and the movements of the wearers consequently are more of less restrained. This annoying defect the Cresco obviates, the front portion being in two connecting pieces overlapping at the waist.

Thanksgiving has come and gone. The turkey that was all the season coming has gone with it. Perhaps not a large proportion of the population of this great country remembered to give thanks formally for the blessings enumerated in the President's proclamation. But the social observance of the day as apart from the secular day constitutes in itself an act of gratitude, and tends to render life better, worthier and happier.

To Exterminate the Weeds.

Trying to keep down the weeds by individual efforts is an uphill business when it is known that the wind that blows, and the birds that fly, and the wagons that travel up and down the road by the farm are all vehicles for carrying the weed seeds of the whole neighborhood to his acres. In all this, if working single-handed and alone towards the destruction of the The U. of M. students from this village weeds of the farm, the farmer is utterly helpless. It is well to send the babies out for an airing every day if they are confided to competent hands. But often the tender little bodies are jarred and rattled over rough roads, bounced into and over gut ters, until they receive more harm than good from the outing. An Economical Administration-Nation's Defenses Are Strengthened-Improvements on the Lakes-The Army and Militia.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Secretary La-mont's report of the operations of the was department for 1896 show total expenditures aggregating nearly $52,000,000, and an unexended balance of nearly $2,000,000 turned back into the treasury at the end of the fiscal year For the three years of Secretary Lamont's administration the surplus has amounted to more than $5,000,000.

The report shows that by July 1, 1897, there will be in position 70 high-power breech-loading guns, and 95 breech-loading mortars of modern design, and by the following July, on completion of work already under way or provided for, 128 guns and 153 mortars. A battery of two or three of these guns takes the place of the ancient fort, and is more effective.

The defenses now under consideration are distributed among the ports of Portland, Me.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Boston, Narragansett Bay, eastern entrance to Long Island Sound, eastern and southern entrance to New York, Philadelphia, Baitimore, Washington Hampton Roads, Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Key West, Pensacola, Mobile, New Orleans, Galveston, San Diego, San Francisco, the mouth of the Columbia river and Puget sound.

The total amount appropriated for seacoast defenses, including cost of sites, fortifications and armament since the adoption of the present scheme is $26,457,000, of which more than one-third was carried by the act passed at the last session of con-

The estimates of the department for the next fiscal year aggregate $10,482,268. With this appropriate provision will have been made for 163 high-power gun emplacements. 129 rapid-fire gun emplacements, 300 12inch mortar emplacements, 358 high-power steel guns, 97 rapid-fire guns, 290 12-inch mortars, 180 eight, ten and twelve-inch gun carriages and 290 12-inch mortar carriages.

In the belief that the problem of a satisfactory disappearing gun carriage has been solved, the appropriations committee were informed at the previous session of the present congress that this department proposed to spend no more money for gunlift batteries, thus saving $20,000,000.

Secretary Lamont says his predecessors in office at the head of the war department had, during many years, the difficult task of arousing the public mind to a realization of the national deficiencies in the matter of coast defense. As the interest which has been awakened has grown deeper, successive congresses have made more liberal provision for the accomplishment of the adopted scheme. Therefore, in submitting the estimates for another year, he feels that it is no longer necessary to repeat the arguments that have been reiterated so many times. While earnestly inviting attention to the great work that yet remains to be done, it is also his fortune to have the more grateful duty of exhibiting the important results that have been actually ress which is now being made toward early completion of the work.

The armament of troops with the new magazine arms was completed in May. and the armory is turning out 125 rifles or carbines per day under the appropriation made last year. All the ammunition for small arms now made is supplied with smokeless powder of American manufacture and of satisfactory quality.

The total expenditures for river and harbor improvements ordered by congress during the year ending June 30, 1896, including those of the Mississippi and Missouri river commissions, was $17,039,000. Including the amounts appropriated by the act of June 3, 1896, there was a allable for expenditure on river and harbors July 1, $26,020,000. The Mississippi river commission has decided to discontinue the plan to improve the river by bank protection and to adopt the plan of dredging channels in shoal places and maintaining, with state and local cooperation, an effective levee system. With this change of policy the minority believe the funcition of the commission is ended, and the work should be turned over to the secretary of war.

Referring to the great lakes the report "The new lock at the falls of the St. Mary's river, though not fully completed, was thrown open to commerce August 3, 1896, is 800 feet in length and 10° in width, with a depth of 21 feet on the miter sills and a single lift approximating is feet, is an essential link in the chain of improvements which are to give a ship channel with depth of 20 feet connecting the waters of the great lakes between Chicago, Duluth and Buffalo. This work, now nearly comleted, is one of great magnitude, and its importance to the interests of navigation may be judged by the fact that its total cost from its inception to completion, while amounting to several millions, will be but about five per cent. of the value of the commerce passing through the Detroit river during the season of 1895.

"During the last fiscal year 16,290 vessels passed the canal at St. Mary's falls, aggregating 15,648,025 registered tonnage and carrying 14,359,332 tons of freight, exceeding the net tonnage through the Suez canal during the year 1895 by nearly 6,000,000 tons. The traine through this canal in the year 1835 was the largest in its history.

"The commerce passing through the Detroit river during the year amounted to about 25,859,000 tons, with estimated value of $275,000,000, an increase of seven per cent. over the commerce of the preceding year. This tonnage is in excess of the combined net tonnage of London and Liverpool for the year 1894 as reported.

The army consists of 25,426 officers and men, or 254 below the legal maximum. The effective field strength on October 31 was

The completion already of some coast defenses and the approaching completion of other modern batteries render necessary a larger force of artillerists, but no other increase of the army is asked for. The plan of sea coast defense involves 100 distinct batteries in over 20 harbors, and a force must gradually be supplied to take care of guns and fortifications as they are completed and maintain them in a state of efficient defense

Investigation this year has shown serious deheiencies in the arms and equipment of the state militia branch of the service. hen the states furnish the armories and defray all expenses incidental to keeping their forces in training, Secretary Lamoni suggests that the United States should provide them with the implements which they will need in active service-arms and field equipment—as the supply on hand is totally inadequate. The secretary recommends that the Springfield rifle, caliber 45, be issued to state troops; that the states allowed to return to the war department obsolete arms and equipments to be sold and the proceeds credited to the states, and that the states be allowed to purchase from the department supplies at regulation

THEY DIFFER.

Views of Dun and Bradstreet on the Com mercial Situation.

New York, Nov. 28 .- R. G. Dun & Co in their weekly review of trade say:

"When the rush of orders after the election slackened, many began to think business dwindling. But subsidence of de-ferred orders is not decrease of business. sappointment is observed in the iron and steel industry because various combinaons have been and are still retarding orders by prices which buyers believe cannot be maintained, and the same is true in oots and shees and in a few branches of textile goods. But business is on the whole enlarging and the employment of many nore hands will extend purchasing power. The settlement of the window glass controversy, starting many thousand hands and the collapse of some important iron combinations with the same effect, give promise of more business. Broadly speak ing the gain has been greater than anybody expected, and it is not surprising if a small part of it is in excess of the present conming demand.

"Reports from all parts of the country show clearly the enlargement of trade, not at all points in the same branches, but everybody helped by a more confident feeling. Monetary difficulties have vanished as if by magic, and banks with an uncomfortably large supply of idle money are hunting borrowers, as the borrowers were recently hunting lenders. Enormous gains in bank deposits, $37,000,000 in two weeks, indicate something of the amount of funds recently hoarded.

Wheat has risen over 6 cents for the week without material change in foreign advices, which have been on the whole less stimulating. Corn has sympathized with wheat only a little and is coming forward freely. The most important factor in the wheat market is that the visible supplies do not gain as much as has been expected.

Wool was and is still bought largely for speculation, and earlier purchasers are unloading, but the mills are not vet doing much more than in October. A few more have started, but there is scarcely more demand apparent for staple goods.

"The boot and shoe industry is still hindered by the general refusal of dealers to pay the advanced prices demanded by manufacturers, except for the limited quantities which are immediately required and while most manufacturers are working on orders taken weeks ago at lower prices, which will keep them busy for some weeks to come, very little new business is coming. No further advance of importance has been made in leather, and the market for hides has sharply reacted, so that the average of prices is slightly lower than November 12.

"The collapse of the nail combination and probably of the beam combination and considerable reduction in quotations for nails and beams, give reason to look for a larger demand for products of iron and steel, but at present the sales against speculative purchases made some time ago are depressing prices, and Bessemer pig has sold at $12.25, and according to some reports a little lower at Pittsburgh. The demand for such products as are not controlled by the combinations is somewhat increasing, but by no means as rapidly as expected.

Failures for the week have been 200 in the United States, against 279 last year and 38 in Canada, against 47 last year." Bradstreet's says:

"Last week's disappointment at the lack of demand in general lines continues, the intervention of a holiday having made trade quieter and the volume smaller. At some points of distribution there is no change in the situation. Mild and unseasonable weather prevents a more active distribution of clothing and heavy goods, and the volume moving is smaller. Where business has been more active it is due to filling in orders and to a demand for holiday goods. Confidence in a revival of demand, which has not yet appeared, was responsible for the starting up of some mills and factories which are dissatisfied with their prospects. The most encouraging reports are of an improved tone of trade and a favorable outlook for 1897."

FAVOR INTERVENTION.

Bourke Cockran Makes an Eloquent Plea for Cuba in New York.

New York, Nov. 28 .-- A commemoraive service was held in Chickering hall Friday night, which was crowded. The meeting was called to order by Dr. Lincoln de Zayas. The speakers of the evening were Bourke Cockran, Charles A. Dana, Emanuel Sanguilly, Enrique J. Varma, and Dr. Enrique Barnett.

Bourke Cockran's speech was one of the most eloquent ever made by him. He urged intervention by this government in the interest of civilization and humanity and said that the annexation of Cuba would put this country on a footing with barbarous Spain. It is time, he declared, that the executive should make known his views upon the Cuban question, and if the word was spoken freedom would be secured without the firing of a single shot. But if armed interference should become necessary in the cause of humanity he favored final resort to arms.

Tragedy at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 25 .- The dead bodies of Herman Meyers and Nora A. Richardson were found lying on the ground in front of a vacant house on Downey street Tuesday morning. Each was lying in a pool of blood and a revolver was lying close to the corpse of Meyers. Two gaping wounds in the girl's back and one in her breast told the story of a murder, while a hole in Meyers' left temple indicated that he had killed himself after taking the girl's life. Little is known of the couple, but from letters found on Meyers' body it is apparent that he had betrayed the girl under promise of marriage. All of the letters begged Meyers to make his promise good "before her shame should become known to the world," and the letter of most recent date threatened him with prosecution if he did not speedily make good his werd. It is supposed that they met Monday night and that the tragedy was the outcome of a quarrel.

The State Was Admitted Into the Union Twenty Years Ago-A Warm Welcome Extended to the Democratic Leader.

Denver, Col., Nov. 25 .- William J. Bryan arrived in the city at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday. The crowd that welcomed him filled the station, extending out into Sixteenth street, and fringed the long viaduet that reaches over the railroad yards and the river into North Denver, three quarters of a mile away. The reception committee, headed by Hon. T. M. Patterson and aided by a squad of police, worked like Trojans to get him to his carriage, and the crowd swarmed around the carriage, shouting and cheering, and accompanied him to the residence of Hon. C. S. Thomas, where he took breakfast with the reception Reception by the Women. At the Brown hotel at ten o'clock the women of the city tendered a recept.on. The interior of thebuilding for nine stories was banked in flowers, and when Mr. Bryan was introduced there was a scene of excitement. Mrs. Mapy C. Mrs. T. M. Patterson introduced the speaker, who paid a tribute to the women by speaking first of his wife, whom he said he had hoped would be the first lady of the land in fact, and though defeated, he said that to him she had always been the first lady of the land. He acknowledged the work done by the women, not only the right of suffrage, but those without, and concluded by saying that he would trust the women always for they were always found on the right side of every great ques-

Streets Are Thronged.

The afternoon programme included a carriage ride over the city. The streets were packed and black with people, just space enough being left by the crowd for the carriage to proceed in to move forward. The vehicle moved through an ocean of sounds that rolled up between the high walls of the buildings and made the ear drums sore with its deafening din. Flowers were thrown at him, and people alongside the carriage screamed to attract his attention, almost wild in their enthusiasm.

Delivers a . Address. The occasion of Mr. Bryan's visit was the twentieth anniversary of the admission of Colorado into the union. Before being nominated for the presideney he had agreed to speak at the exercises in commemoration of the event. At 7:30 p. m. the doors of the First Presbyterian church were opened. It was the original intention to have Mr. Bryan speak for a lecture course and tickcts were sold. When he came into such prominence by the political campaign the management waived its rights, if the few ticketholders; should be guaranteed, and the church was opened to all. It was filled to the doors, while institutions. others clamored for admission. Mr. Bryan spoke for three-quarters of an hour. His remarks were appropriate to the occasion, as dealing with the progics: of the state in 20 years.

Guest at a Banquet. At nine o'clock p. m. Mr. Bryan was driven to the Brown Palace hotel, where he was the guest of the chamber of commerce at a banquet. When he appeared he was greeted with generous applause. Rev. Myron Reed, the toastmaster, made a few remarks and Ilon. Henry P. Steele, president of the chamber of commerce, Mayor McMurray for the city, and Gov. Mcintyre for the state, delivered addresses of welcome. Gov-elect Adams made a short speech on the resources of the new west, and was followed by Senator Teiler on "The Business Outlook." Congressman Towne, of Minnesota, delivered an address on the campaign of 1900, as an opening wedge to the remarks of Mr. Eryan, who arose at the conclusion of Mr. Towne's speech. He was greeted with applause, after which he spoke at great length.

Among other things Mr. Bryan said: 'In a campaign it is necessary that some one should bear the standard, and in a campaign we must, whether we desire it of not, connect the cause with the person When the campaign is over that connection ceases. While the campaign was in progress I was the standard bearer, and the cause could only be successful nationally through my election. When the election i over my connection with the cause in the representative capacity ceases, and express it as my earnest conviction aye, I give it as my earnest desire—that my name cease to be connected with the club that are organized for the continuation of this work. I was taken up at the time of the convention, when others had been talked about. When the next time comes conditions may produce some one else and we are entitled, when that time comes, to choose without being hampered by a campaign of four years connected with any human being in this country."

UNCLE SAM'S TREASURY.

Interesting Report by United States Treas-urer Morgan.

Washington, Nov. 80 .- The annual report of Daniel N. Morgan, treasurer of the United States, shows the net ordinary revenues of the government during the fiscat year ended June 30, 1896, to have been $326,-975,200 and the expenditures $252,179,446. leaving a deficiency for the year of $25,203, 246, or $17,601,977 less than during the preceding flacul year.

The report shows that during the last fiscal year there was an increase of $7,863,-184 in the receipts from customs, an increase of $3,341,192 from internal revenue sources, an increase of $2,479,622 from miscellaneous sources, and a loss of $97,823 from the sale of public lands, making the net in-crease in the receipts $13,556,125. The decrease in the expenditures amounted to $4,-

The report shows the total receipts from the first $50,000,000 loan of 1894 to have been $58,660,917, the second loan of $50,000,000 of 1894 $58,719,710, the loan of $62,815,100 for 1895 $65,428,056, and the $100,000,000 loan of 1896 $111,355,612. From the first loan there was realized $52,850,264 in gold coin and $5,810,420 in gold certificates; from the second loan $53,651,188 in gold coin and $5,608, 410 in gold certificates; from the third loan $65,428,051 in gold coin, and from the fourth loan $109,227,455 in gold coin and $2,626,810 in gold certificates. The total receipts from the several bond sales, therefore, were $294,-Referring to the condition of the treasury during the last year, the treasurer says: "While the cash balance in the treasury has afforded a comfortable working fund.

and would have done so without augmentation from loans, the gold reserve has been maintained only at the cost of a fresh issue of bonds and by voluntary contributions of banks and financial institutions. With the exception of a brief period in the autumn of 1855 and another in the spring of 1896, the ruling rates of foreign exchange were such throughout the year as to permit if not require the export of gold. "The movement began in volume the first week in August and continued with a short interruption till toward the end of January. "At first the demands upon the treasury for gold were limited to the wants of exporters, but in December considerable withdrawais began to be made by others, the amount increasing during January and rising in February, when heavy payments were made into the treasury for bonds, to nearly $20,000,000 for the month. "Under this drain the reserve gradually sank until February 10, 1896, when it stood at $44,563,493. It was then rapidly built up from the proceeds of the sale of bonds and rose to $128,713,709 by March 31. After inconsiderable variations in the reserve during April the export of gold was resumed on May 1, and this movement, together with the continued withdrawals not for export, again put in operation the process of depletion. There was an almost daily decline until July 23, when the official figures for the reserve were $59,669,975.

"At this point the bankers of the principal cities joined together in a movement of relief, the result being that the banks and financial institutions deposited gold in exchange for paper currency and restored the reserve to $110,782,403 by August 4. After the discontinuance of these operations the free gold again declined gradually to $100,957,561, where it stood on September 1.

"In the latter half of August there occurred a favorable furn in foreign exchange, which had the effect, first, of checking the outflow of gold, and later of setting in motion a rapid current in the opposite direction. As some of the imported material was brought for the purpose of supplying the inland demand for currency, and as the preference which later was manifested in the interior for gold had not yet become a factor in the situation, a great part of the early inflow found its way into the treasury in exchange for paper.

"In ordinary times and under ordinary circumstances there is a natural flow of gold toward the treasury, which often is limited only by the capacity of the treasury to carry the specie. Fortunate indeed has it been for the treasury that even during the most critical periods through which the country has recently passed these currents of inflow have not been altogether checked, and that where their volume has been materially diminished the loss has been partly made good by the assistance of financial

A Murderer's Jeniousy Leads to His

Punxsutawney, Pa., Nov. 30 .- Joseph Aiello, an Italian charged with the murder of Louis Scalzo at Wellston mines December 25, was captured at Lindsay last night. Alello fled to Canada after the murder, but has corresponded with friends in this vicinity. One of his countrymen wrote him that his wife was unfaithful and living with his brother. Aiello wrote his wife that he would return, and if the report of her conduct were true he would kill her. It was ascertained by the officers that he had returned. He was located in the house of a friend in Lindsay, and after a search Aiello was found in a bed tick. He was locked up.

Live Stock in Great Danger from Cold and Starvation-Enormous Snow Drifts -Thermometer Reaches 30 Below Zero.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 30.—The great storm which swept over Minnesota and the Dakotas on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday has resulted in some loss of human life and great loss to live stock. Mail Agent Burroughs, of the Great Northern road, is buried in a snowdrift near Devil's Lake, N. D. He was on the west-bound train which was stalled out of Devil's Lake Thursday evening and he walked in to a restaurant at Devil's Lake, obtained as big a supply of provisions as he could carry and started back for his train. He never reached it. A searching party has been digging in the snow for his body.

Frank Vack, of Chicago, lost his life in the storm. His body was found in a snowdrift just north of Fargo, N. D., Saturday afternoon, He had walked to town from the farm where he was employed for the purpose of getting whisky, and was returning, intoxicated, when overcome by the cold.

John Hooey, a farmer living four miles from Park River, N. D., started from his house to his barn Thursday night and his body was found two miles away onthe prairie Saturday afternoon.

Thomas Anderson, aged 18, was lost in the blizzard Thursday night. He left Everhart's candy factory in Fargo, where he was employed, and went home with a young lady living about a mile east of the business part of Moorhead, After leaving her nothing has been seen of him.

The losses to stock amount to hundreds. A coat of ice covers the ground and snow is in some places piled in drifts 12 feet high. On the ranges west of the Missouri the worst is feared for stock, as it is believed it will be imposs'ble for cattle and sheep to get enough to eat until it thaws. The temperature is from five to twenty degrees below zero in that section, and below zero at all points in the Dakotas. At Vermillion. S. D., there is hardly a tree standing and every orchard is ruined.

Ten car loads of sheep destined for Chicago were frozen at Grand Harbor, Devil's Lake. Unless there is a decided rise in temperature in the next few days the loss among sheep and cattle will be very large, as the streams are freezing over so solidly that it will be hard for them to get water. The November which is just closing is the cold-

Aberdeen, S. D., Nov. 30 .- The present storm has not been paralleled since the great blizzard of January 12, 1888. Drifts in the streets are five and six feet deep. The loss to stock, it is feared, will

Helena, Mont., Nov. 30 .- Friday night was the coldest November night in Helena in the recollection of the oldest pioneer. Almost every thermometer in the city registered differently, ranging at the coldest hour from 27 to 30 degrees

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 30,-In western Missouri Friday night and Saturday the thermometer ranged from zero to 28 degrees above, and in Kansas from zero to eight degrees above. In Kansas City the lowest point was reported Friday morning, when four degrees above zero was recorded, and there was ice in the river for the first time this season.

Perry, O. T., Nov. 30.-News has reached here of a destructive cycloneat Ralston, a small town on the Arkansas river 50 miles northeast of Perry. There is hardly a whole house left in the town. Mrs. Dorman and two small children were killed and many were wounded. The large store of J. II. Comer was blown down, and in Foley's livery barn 15 head of horses were killed. The night man in the office was blown 100 feet. In Payne county, 59 miles east of here, many farmhouses were laid low and several persons were wounded. After doing its work at Ralston the storm crossed the Arkansas river and struck the Osage Indian nation and for 20 miles northeast took everything in its path.

Marion, O., Nov. 30 .- Sunday afternoon Harry Powers, about 35 years old, shot his wife with a shotgun, making a frightful wound in the head, from which she died almost instantly. He then reloaded the gun, went to the barnyard and shot himself. After shooting himself he walked 200 feet to the house, leaving a trail of blood behind him. He entered the room where the body of his wife lay and sat down in a chair, where he was found dead by the officers. Four children were made orphans by the tragedy. the oldest being 12 years of age. Hogs that are subjected to such conditions soon begin to cough and nal. suffer from lung trouble. They become gaunt, with arched backs, and have every evidence of a "humped up" and unthrifty condition. Many farmers allow their hogs to work in straw stacks for shelter from the cold. I consider such a place a regular death trap for swine in large numbers. Another bedroom that is bad is the hog house with a floor two or three feet from the ground. Many such buildings are open on one or more sides, so that a cold draft can get under the floor. And again, I would not allow hogs to lie against a stone wall. The earth itself, with a little straw, makes the best bed in the world for a hog if it is dry. In that one word, dry, is the great secret summer when the hen has everything in of successfully wintering swine. warmth into large houses, and, more than that, they are likely to become a hotbed of disease germs, and much fertility is wasted about them. Hogs should be changed about from lot to lot. We want a rotation of hog pens, so to speak, turning up each lot in turn to the sun and air, cropping it a season or two and parting it back to grass. In this way the fertility is scattered where it will be of use and the swine are much healthier. The man who always confines his hogs to one small yard and building can never attain great success in swine husbandry. The rough drawing herewith submitted will convey an idea of a portable sleeping and breeding pen that I have used for a number of years. They not only give me splendid satisfaction, but greatly please every man who tries them. Swine are, of course, never fed in these pens. #### WINTER HATCHING.

Everthing Considered, There Is Not Much Money in It.

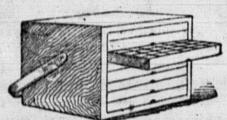

Eggs are too valuable in winter to be used for hatching purposes unless one is confident of securing good batches and of raising the chick, says the Mirror and Farmer. To use a dozen eggs from which only six chicks come, and then lose three of them, means an expenditure of four eggs for one chick, and no one can afford the cost in that respect. The heaviest loss of chicks is with hens -not with incubators and broodersand this fact should not be overlooked. It is admitted that in the spring and than the brooder, but in the winter, prevail, the hen has a difficult undertaking to care for herself instead of attempting to raise a brood, and as a rule, the hens are fortunate if they raise onebalf of the chicks hatched.

When a hen becomes broody make her nest in a warm place, and when she brings off her brood have a place prepared for her, under shelter and where the sunlight can come. Be careful that the chicks are not exposed or become chilled, and aim to raise everyone of them. In that case the chicks will pay because the expense of the eggs used will be reduced by reason of the larger number of chicks marketed.

The Statement of an Indiana Woman Who Was a Dyspeptic.

One Box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Afforded Relief, and Five Effected a Cure. Mr. D. S. Droke Finds Them a Valuable Remedy Also.

From the Journal, Logansport, Ind.

The alarming prevalence of dyspepsia and indred disorders of the digestive organs among the people of this section of the country has caused inquiry to be made among the physicians of this city as to the cause, and the remedy which is being applied thereto. Leading physicians assert that three-fourths of the patients who come under their cover affected in some degrees. under their care are affected in some degree with stomach trouble arising from bilious-ness, indigestion, irregularities of the liver and bowels. While these cases are common, the remedies applied have, in most cases, been but temporary measures of relief.

A report came from Idaville, Indiana, of a number of cases where sufferers from the causes mentioned had found welcome rel ef om pain in the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. A reporter was sent to investigate the matter and returned with the following statement of facts:

Druggist Reed, of the village, was first visited and from him was obtained the names of people who had purchased the Pink Pills, and who had spoken of the benefit that had received from the product of the people who had spoken of the benefit that had received from the people who had spoken of the benefit that had received from the people who had spoken of the benefit that the people who had spoken of the benefit the p efit they had received from the use of the medicine. The druggist cited to the reporter Mrs. Louisa Elder, who lived in the village. Mrs. Elder was found at her home, busily engaged in sewing. When asked if she could say that the Pink Pills had benefited her, she said:

"Yes, sir, I am sure that I have been greatly benefited by them. Before I began using the n edicine I was troubled with my stomach. I had to be careful of what I ate, and then I was sick most of the time with my stomach. I would have fainting spells, and while walking about the house I would suddenly be seized with a spell of dizziness and fall to the floor. I could not go out of doors unless some one was with me to hold me when the dizzy spells came on me. I tried all our doctors here and they could do me no good; I went to Monticello and tried a noted doctor there, but he helped me but

'Finally my husband noticed the adver-tisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and he got a box to try them. I had not finished the first box before I felt better. I was able to eat, and my sleep was undisturbed by the bad dreams that had bothered me before. When the first box was gone I felt as though I must have some more of the medicine, for the improvement in my feelings was so great that I seemed like a new woman. My husband got five more boxes and I have used all but one of them. I feel now as if I could eat anything, the dizziness is all gone, and my stomach is not troubling me as it did. I sleep well, and I believe I owe it all to Dr. Williams'

D. S. Droke is a prosperous farmer living one mile south of Idaville, Ind. He has not been actively engaged in farm work for ten years until this year. "I have been troubled with constipation and piles for forty years," said Mr. Droke. "My condition was such that I was forced to give up active work on the farm, so I rented my place. I took box after box of all kinds of pills and nothing gave me more than temporary relief. The doctors told me that I must not take so many pills; that it would cause permanent injury. But I had to have relief in some way, so I took the pills. Why, sometimes I would go a week without a passage and I suffered torment. I could not sleep and had no appetite. I was advised by a physician to eat nothing but vegetables, and I tried dieting, but it did not do me any permanent good. Last spring I saw an article about dieting, but it did not do me any permanent good. Last spring I saw an article about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and concluded to try them. I bought six boxes, and have used all but one. I am able to eat heartily now, and I sleep well, I have done more work this summer than I have done in ten years before, and I do not know what it could have been that put me in such good shape if it was not the Pink Pils, for I have taken no other medicine since I began to use them." since I began to use them."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this t be gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperiout hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition

Members of the administration still pubdicly say that they do not expect trouble with Spain, but there are hints about the handle the Cuban question in his message week an additional force of men was put to work in the big gun shop at the Washington Navy Yard and the men divided rate three shifts of eight hours each, in order that the work might be kept going night and day. Of course these preparations may be intended as a bluff to keep the Lot-headed Spaniards with hair-trigger tongues from doing anything to make war necessary.

There is a tempest in a teapot on Washington, which can only be quieted by the action of Chairman Mark Hanna. The District of Columbia member of the streets of this busy little world of a facrepublic in national committee has recommended a gold democrat for chairman the shoe, of the committee which will have charge of the inauguration of President McKinley, and a number of the republicans have sent a protest to Mr. Hanna against the appointment, claiming that while the inauguration committee is always nonpartisan in its make-up, the chairman is always a member of the winning party. Mr. Hanna is coming to Washington to settle the matter.

There may not be a general tariff bill after all, although there will almost certainly be an extra session of the Fiftyfifth Congress called expressly to legislate on the tariff. Statements from prominent republicans would seem to indicate that they prefer to amend the present tariff law instead of preparing an entirely new bill, and their advice may be followed. Chairman Dingley, of the House Ways and Mean's Committee, and Sen Chandler are among those who have expressed themselves in favor of amending present tariff laws. The latter gentleman gives as one of his reasons that "it will be much easier to amend the present law so that it will be satisfactory and produce sufficient revenue." That plan will not. however, be followed without a vigorous protest from those republicans who think their party should prepare and pass a tariff bill of its own and not try to patch up the law now in force. It is a little early to be discussing this marter, but in political circles the probable action of the Fifty-fifth Congress is being much more discussed than the short session of the Fifty-fourth Congress, now almost upon

One of the many things that are difficult to understand is the power wielded over Congress by the brewers of this country. Nearly every Senator or Representative who will talk about the matter at all agrees that the easiest way to put $85. 000,000 a year additional into the treasury would be to add $1 a barrel to the internal revenue tax on beer; that it wouldn't cost the government a cent extra to collect this money, and that the treasury will need it very badly in the near future; but could not be defeated by an open vote in Congress.

How Shoes are Made.

In Brockton, Mass., the queen of all our "shoe cities," stands the massive framework, glittering with myriad windows, of manner in which President Cleveland will the W. L. Douglas Shoe Co.'s factory, where bales of leather change with mar to Congress which serve as a basis for the vellous rapidity into famous shoes. The continuation of war rumors, and the war shoemaker's bench of "ye olden time" has preparations the administration is making disappeared, and in its place ponderous cause those rumors to attract more atten- machines stamp and clank and growl and tion than they otherwise would. This toss bunches of leather from one to another like a pack of dogs worrying some hapless little animal, till the shapeless leather that the cutters pounced upon in the long room at the top of the building comes riding into the packing-room, a rack for its carriage, a polished and shapely shoe.

Probably no place in the world offers such a splendid object lesson in shoe making as does the Douglas factory, where everything has been systematized down to the minutest detail, and so carefully arranged that a walk through the tory illustrates clearly the development of

First comes the cutting room. Here is little machinery, but leather is everywhere, from the scraps that litter the floor and fill the bins to the neatly piled "vamps" and "tops" arranged on racks, each pile labeled with the name of the cutter. The most marvelous thing in connection with this part of the work is the ingenious system whereby every bit of leather is kept track of. The foreman maps out the work; that is, he determines an inspector, who at a single glance judges have learned the habit from the r different grades.

It seems hopeless confusion, yet every bit of leather inevitably finds its mate of the proper grade and size when they all appear in the sewing room below, pursued by a relentless check list, watchful to detect the slightest deviation from the right road. In this room is a wilderness of machines, many of which are run by women. Up at one end of the room the cut leather starts on a rapid journey. One machine seizes it and bites it a few times and seems to toss it away spitefully. Immediately it is thrust into the claws of another machine that stitches it in another place until it comes out at the other end of the room in the shape of a shoe top

Then the lasters seize upon it, to fit the top to the inner sole. Some of the shoes are lasted by hand, others by a peculiarly vicious looking machine, that spits out tiny nails and pounds the unfortunate shoes with all the energy of a chairman calling to order a caucus. The Douglas people never hesitate to buy the most improved machinery, and all the latest methods may be seen in this room.

Down this room, too, the half-finished shoes pass rapidly. On goes the outer they all wind up by saying that the brew- sole, sometimes by sewing machine, someers will defeat the bill if an attempt is times by a machine that screws the sole blocks the way. There is not another made to pass it. It looks like it would on with little brass screws that the iron be a good idea to get a bill providing for monster has swallowed yoraciously. With this tax forced to a vote, in order that the a single stamp the heel goes on, the rough people might see just how powerful the edges being shaved off by a whirling gardless of their political faith, should brewers are. Many things defeated in knife. The channel made along the sole committees and by legislative jugglery by the stitching machine is filled with cement, and under the angry stamp of a metal boot the channel is made flat again.

Now we have the completed shoe in the whether the republican Senators will in- rough. But there are a dozen more mavite the silver republican Senators who chines and a dozen more processes to be a little salt and a suspicion of white sugar.

Odds and Ends.

For the benefit of those who suffer with euralgia we clip the following from the Ann Arbor Times; "The most stubborn cases of neuralgia are apt to yield to hot water treatment. Wherever the pain is located there a het water bag should be applied, the suffering part should be wrapped in a blanket, and the unfortunate patient should be put to bed and covered with more blankets, and induced to drink at least three cups of water as hot as the palate can stand. This treatment may seem severe, but it is sure to bring relief."

The Grass Lake News notes the following evidences of confidence restored: "The Kalamazoo Telegraph brings the most encouraging accounts of the revival of shoppersons were nabbed in one day with goods thus obtained in their possession. > Governor-elect Pingree has a long list of reforms that he will try to inaugurate during his term of office, among which is the reduction of railroad fares to two cents per mile in the lower peninsula, cutting down a number of deputy oil inspectors, and the prohibition of railroad passes to the state officials. These are only a few of the many that he is counting on, and should he succeed, the people of the state of Michigan will rise up and call him blessed. We can dispense with twothirds of the deputy oil and salt inspectors and then have more than is required to do the work; these extra men have been appointed to feed at the public crib to the tune of about $1,200 or $1,500 per year each just because they had some political pull. And again our legislators and railroad commissioners should not be allowed to accept free passes over the railroads, thus placing them under obligations to these corporations. We believe that Mr. Pingree will do all that he possibly can to bring about these reforms, which cannot all be accomplished without the aid of the legislature, and should they try to thwart him, the public ought to relegate to the man in political life to-day who has the courage to stand up for the people as has stand by him.-Durand Express.
