Wade-Howe.

St. Mary's church was well filled with relatives and friends of Mr. John H.
Wade, Jr., of Lima, and Miss Lucille Howe, of Sylvan, who were united in marriage last Tuesday morning, Feb. 23, 1897, at 8 o'clock.

The beautiful and impressive marriage ceremony of the Catholic church was performed by the Rev. William P. Considine the rector, who also celebrated the nuptial mass. The happy couple were attended by Mr. John McNaney, cousin of the groom, and Miss Mary Howe, sister of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wade, the parents of the groom, after the ceremony at the church, and an elegant wedding breakfast was served to the relatives and intimate friends. A delightful time was enjoyed by those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade have gone to housekeeping on the Westfall place in Lima.
They are popular society people, have many friends, and are greatly esteemed by all who know them. We tender them our sincere congratulations for a happy wedded life.

K. P. Banquet.

A banquet was held last Monday night at the Castle Hall of Chelsea Lodge, Knights of Pythias, No. 194, in commemoration of the birth and in honor of the character and services of him who is termed "the father of his country," George Washington. An elegant supper was furnished by the proprietor of the Chelsea House.

The hall was finely decorated with a profusion of large and small American flags, bunting and the colors of the order, at the end of which was a picture of George Washington, draped with the stars and stripes.

Hon. James S. Gorman presided as toastmaster in a most befitting manner.
B. B. Turnbull, in response to the first toast, "America," testified his regard for him whose name is intimately blended with whatever belongs most essentially to the prosperity, the liberty, the free institutions and the renown of our country—
George Washington.

Those responding to other toasts were:
George Davis, George Beckwith, J. Geo.
Webster, Dr. H. W. Schmidt, George
Begole, Clarence Maroney, James Sharp, Schuyler P. Foster, Hiram Lighthall and B. J. Howlett.

Julius M. Klein kept the crowd in good humor by singing some very pleasing and attractive songs.

W. W. Union Farmers' Club.

The first regular meeting of the W. W.
Union Farmers' Club was held Feb. 17th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Storms, Lima.

The meeting was all that could be desired, and about fifty availed themselves of this opportunity of having a good time.

After all had done justice to the good things prepared by the ladies, the meeting was called to order by the President, Mr.
Zinke, and the program was opened by singing, after which Mr. Raymond, president of the Grass Lake Farmers' Club, gave us some valuable assistance in perfecting our organization. He read articles of the constitution and by laws similar to those governing the club of which he is a member, which were adopted with but few changes.

It was decided to hold the club meetings the third Thursday of the month, and that dinner be served, which was heartily endorsed by the gentlemen.

The company then listened to a duet by Mrs. Lowry and Mrs. Chapman; also select reading by Mrs. W. Davidson, after which all joined in singing "America."

Mr. Cory was then introduced and in a few well chosen remarks showed the benefit to be derived from farm organization, and gave some very good advice in the conducting of Farmers' Clubs. He then opened the question of a co-operative creamery, which was discussed until the closing hour. The meeting then adjourned to meet March 18th with Mr. and Mrs.
E. Zloche.

Questions for discussion at next meeting: "Which is preferable, creamery or home dairy?" and "Rag Carpets."

"I write these few lines, thanking you for restoring my health. For twelve years I suffered with pains impossible to describe. I had bearing-down feelings, backache, burning sensation in my stomach, chills, headache, and always had black specks before my eyes. I was afraid to stay alone, for I sometimes had four and five fainting spells a day. I had several doctors and tried many patent medicines. Two years ago I was so bad that I had to go to bed and have a trained nurse. Through her, I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I never had anything give me the relief that it has. I have taken eight bottles, and am now enjoying the best of health again. I can truthfully say it has cured me."

A WOMAN'S BODY.

What Its Neglect Leads to. Mrs. Chas. King's Experience.

A woman's body is the repository of the most delicate mechanism in the whole realm of creation, and yet most women will let it get out of order and keep out of order, just as if it were of no consequence. Their backs ache and heads throb and burn; they have wandering pains, now here and now there. They experience extreme lassitude, that don't-care and want-to-be-left-alone feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness and the blues, yet they will go about their work until they can scarcely stand on their poor swollen feet, and do nothing to help themselves.

These are the positive fore-runners of serious womb complications, and unless given immediate attention will result in untold misery, if not death.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will, beyond the question of a doubt, relieve all this trouble before it becomes serious, and it has cured many after their troubles had become chronic.

I was afraid to stay alone, for I sometimes had four and five fainting spells a day. I had several doctors and tried many patent medicines. Two years ago I was so bad that I had to go to bed and have a trained nurse. Through her, I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I never had anything give me the relief that it has. I have taken eight bottles, and am now enjoying the best of health again. I can truthfully say it has cured me."

THE CHELSEA HERALD.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

THE largest library in the world is the national library of France, founded by Louis XIV., and which contains 1,400,000 books, 300,000 pamphlets, 175,000 manuscripts, 300,000 maps and charts, 150,000 coins and gold medals, 1,300,000 engravings and 100,000 portraits.

An improvised fire department prevented a serious conflagration in Iola, Kas., the other day. When the alarm was given a confectioner near the scene of the fire seized a heavily charged soda water cylinder, threw it on a wheelbarrow and rushed to the building where the fire was getting in its work. Plunging into the thickest of the flames, he turned the stop cock and soon had the fire under control.

ANOTHER instance of the rapid progress the Japanese are making in modern civilization is shown in the fact that the native babies have learned to cry in the improved American or European fashion. In the palmy days, before the Japs had learned so much, their babies were models of propriety, and were scarcely ever heard to whimper. Now they bawl as long and as loudly as the most civilized infant ever seen.

PRINCESS BEATRICE, youngest and favorite daughter of Queen Victoria, whose husband, prince of Battenberg, died on board the naval steamship Blonde off the west coast of Africa, in January of last year, has made to the queen a pledge of perpetual widowhood. Whether the latter made a request for it is not known, but the information that the pledge has been given comes from a source within the royal circle which is not open to question.

It is stated that the inventor of the whistling buoy, "that godsend to the sailor," got his first idea of the device from seeing a small boy pushing an ordinary tin horn, mouth downward, into a hoghead of water. The air thus compressed was forced rapidly through the small end with a whistling noise, and that same principle is now embodied in all the apparatus supplied by the government, the rising of the tide or action of the waves driving the air into the horn.

If a small rod of iron—a straight piece of wire, for instance—be greased, it can be made to float on water. The grease apparently prevents the breaking of the surface of the water, and the iron lies cradled in a slight depression or trough. Scientists believe the floating is due to a film of air condensed on the surface of the metal, because if the rod be heated to redness, and as soon as it cools be placed on water, it will sink; but if it be exposed to the air for a short time it will float.

ONE of our consuls in France writes the state department that there is a market there for a large amount of American oak lumber, provided it be sawed in the manner preferred by French lumber dealers. That probably settles the question. The American manufacturer turns out goods to suit himself, not foreign buyers. English and German manufacturers are much wiser in this regard, and thereby get a great deal of foreign trade which Americans might have if they would adopt proper methods.

THE new Trans-Siberian railway runs through immense steppes, where not even a blade of grass will grow, in fact, this country is a perfect land of desolation. This fact arises from the fact that the ground is frozen all the year round. Between Krosnolark and Mariusk there is a steppe where the ground is frozen to a depth averaging nine feet. In other parts of the country the ground is only frozen to the depth of a few inches, but as it remains in this condition throughout the year nothing will grow in it.

THE constitution of the United States prohibits any but a native-born American citizen from being president, but foreign-born citizens may hold any other office. Some have been in the cabinet at different times, as Alexander Hamilton, the first secretary of the treasury, who was born in the West Indies; Albert Gallatin, another distinguished secretary of the treasury, born in Switzerland; Carl Schurz, a native of Germany, once secretary of the interior. Hon. James Wilson, of Iowa, who is to be Mr. McKinley's secretary of agriculture, is a native of Scotland.

It is announced in London that in her capacity as governor of the Isle of Wight, Princess Beatrice will next summer publicly unveil the memorial of the late Lord Tennyson, to be erected on the cliffs at Farringford. It gives the inhabitants of the island great delight and satisfaction for the princess to appear in her official role, and furthermore, she is, like the queen, a passionate admirer of Tennyson's poetry, so that her unveiling of this memorial to the late laureate will be something more than a perfunctory duty. She frequently reads Tennyson aloud to the queen.

REWARD OF A WOMAN.

"Oh, gemini, is this a beau? Let me see him again. Hal! I find a beau is no such ugly thing, neither,"—Sheridan.

The girl leaned both her hands on the little rickety, hand-painted lodging-house table, and looked up with laughter and mock admiration in her eyes at her lover, who came and stood before her. But the man looked down at her in eager pleading.

"Ursula, darling, how can you talk in that way—now?"

"How can I? Why, with a pretty grace, I hope."

"Ursula," cried the man, "don't have that mood! It hurts me. It maddens me to waste our minutes so. Oh, my darling, have you no sentiment in you?"

"Sentiment," she began, lightly; but she stopped suddenly and her word trailed off into a sob. "Bertie—"

The man caught her hands quickly.

"What, darling?"

She dropped her head on his breast and her breath came fast.

"You have thought me unsentimental, matter-of-fact, even hard—yes, just a little bit hard—ever since you first knew me; while you were so—so—otherwise."

He held her tightly to him and waited.

"But"—and it was she who spoke passionately now—"I was only acting, Bertie; only showing you a surface heart. And now—now you are going away, and for so long, I will give up acting. I am sentimental—stilly sentimental, if only you knew. I did not show it—I don't know—I was shy, I suppose. I thought you would not care for it—that you would laugh at me."

"Oh, Ursula, Ursula!" he exclaimed.

"I believe you would laugh now if you only knew how ridiculous I am—how much I love you. And now I have broken down—you have made me break down. I can never unsay my confession. I have humbled myself—I have laid bare my heart—"

"Ursula, my own! why did you never confess before? I laugh at you! Oh, my darling. I have hungered to hear you say such words."

The eyes of the girl were love-steeped, and her lashes wet, and she raised her head and looked up at the man.

"All this past year you have made me happier than I ever dared hope to be," she whispered, trembling—"the happiest woman in the whole world, I think."

And the man bent and pressed his lips to hers. "But I want to make you still happier," he said, passionately. "I want to take you from all the care and drudgery; to have you all to myself; to guard you, to cherish you—never to part. Oh, if only I had money! This waiting, waiting is awful; and the hope so small, the reward so slow."

"Am I really small—and slow?" she asked, softly.

He laughed back at her. "Not you, dearest, but the getting on, and the pittance; it all seems so endless. Even now I am holding you only to part from you—to go back to the grind. And worse than all is the knowledge that you are also drudging, and I cannot prevent it."

"As there must be waiting, dear, I am glad of the work to fill my time. And," with a soft blush, "I shall be saving for my trousseau."

"Don't Ursula—don't go hoarding your shillings and denying yourself. Some day I will make my pile, and you shall walk in silk attire; and we'll leave the work, and the trouble, and the care, and go off a-wandering in Italy and Greece and Algiers, and every place we've ever set our hearts on."

The hollow-sounding clock upon the painted marble mantelpiece struck five metallic strokes.

"Five o'clock already! This is awful! For a whole year, or longer. Say it again, Ursula—that you love me."

"I love you, Bertie," she said, slowly, and quite solemnly. "I love you. I think I would die for you quite willingly."

"Darling, darling, for a long year—" He caught her up to him in a passionate embrace, his lips met hers again and again; then he turned quickly, and went toward the door.

"There will be the letters," she said, in a voice which strove to be steady and cheerful, for his white, hopeless face hurt her heart. And then he was gone.

Three hours later the man sat at a cheery little dinner in London, a little farewell meal with a few old college friends. After which he went on board his steamer and walked the deck in the starlight, with a pipe for consolation as he thought of the poor and lonely girl he had left, and longed for money to bring him his desire. And so absorbing were these thoughts that the pipe went out, and still he paced to and fro, unheeding, until at last, his elbow being joggled accidentally, he came back to the near present again, and, taking the cold pipe from his lips, tapped it out on the rail. Then, while the ashes were yet floating down to the waters, he went below to his berth and slept soundly.

And the girl Ursula sewed and sewed all the evening by the light of the cheap oil lamp, and smiled stiffly with her lips, and tried not to depress her mother. And then she went to her room and packed her box to go a-governessing on the morrow. And after awhile she went to bed, and there she lay with wide eyes and watched the moonlight on the window; and her heart felt widowed, hopeless, and would not be cheered.

"Your letters are so friendly, dearest, so abominably friendly; they verily starve my heart. Oh, why am I not rich enough to throw up this drudgery and come home to you and hold you in my arms again, and make you say you love me? I have to go over our parting again and again to make myself believe that all you said then is really true. Write me a real love letter next time, darling, to help me bear up."

The girl's cheeks were flushed and her eyes held happiness as she sat by the schoolroom table, with the piled-up work basket neglected before her, and read the words again and again.

And the days and the weeks and the months and the years passed on, and the pile of love letters which came to the girl grew in bulk. Sometimes they were despondent, sometimes cheerful, sometimes hurried, sometimes tender and sometimes the treasured space was overfull of descriptions of new friends or strange places. But the letters never failed to come, and the man never failed to long for the riches which could bring him to the girl's side and make life happy for them.

And the girl longed and longed that she might meet her lover, if only for a day; that they might look into each other's face, and, renewing hope, might start afresh. Some cynic told her that love was fleeting, a question merely of propinquity; but that cynic had not really meant to bruise the girl's endearing heart. Besides, the cynicism was not always true, for this girl's love was strong as ever—stronger. Why should not the man's be the same? He was better equipped for fighting doubts and fears. But the waiting was bitterly long.

At last, when endurance was becoming a habit, there came a shock—a shock of joy. Just a business matter, just money, just repentance to the amount of five hundred a year out of an erstwhile unforgiving uncle. But £500 a year to a little governess, to a waiting lover! It was ecstasy.

The schoolroom was as paradise that morning; the voices of the children as angels' songs. For the waiting, the drudgery, the anxiety were over. Bliss lay within a blue envelope; joy was inscribed in straight lines of copper-plate calligraphy. But the girl uttered no word of happiness; it seemed too wonderful, and she wanted to realize it, and think.

A deed of gift. An anonymous deed of gift—that would be the thing, the girl decided. She would not keep one penny of it back. There seemed something calculating and mercenary in setting aside part for herself; besides, it would be all the same in the end. A deed of gift of £500 a year to Bertie! It was worth all the waiting and the pain and the work. This was her reward.

So the girl carried out her secret plans with a light heart and a happy brow, and the joyful message went across the sea to the man, in the copper-plate calligraphy of the lawyer's clerk; while the girl herself—in the willfulness of near bliss—sent over the sea also just a scrappy little letter, the most matter-of-fact she had ever sent, cheerful and friendly, telling of outside pleasures and daily trifles, of a little picnic in the wood and a village concert—a little letter which would bring back a loving remembrance in the midst of the tale of good fortune, and which would be a joke against her afterward when the happy secret was known to the full. And she smiled as she sealed and sent it on its way. And then she waited.

"What will he say? Will it be wonder? Will it be only happiness? Will it be—himself?"

At last it came—the first sign of her sacrifice. It was a letter, rather short, because written in a hurry by a busy man; and the girl was able to read it in the ten minutes which were hers before morning lessons:

"Dearest Ursula: This letter will be only a scrap, I'm afraid, but I know that you will forgive that, and I will make it up next time. Truth to tell, I am dreadfully pressed for time. I've had a little windfall left me in rather an odd way, and I've accepted it. Some one has taken a fancy to me, I suppose. (You can understand that, can't you?) So I am going off on a good, long tour, to see all the places I've wanted so long to see—Italy, Greece, and I don't know where else. It's jolly to have a little money at last. Rather a large party of us are going—the Gleens, the mother and daughter I've written about sometimes—and some friends of theirs I know fairly well; so I expect we shall enjoy ourselves. So glad you are having such a good time, my dear. Picnics and concerts are pleasant things seldom come my way. I will write again as soon as I can, but am uncertain when and where we halt. Yours, BERTIE."

"A little windfall!" "And I have accepted it!"

The woman's limbs shook and her face became awful as she read. Then she shivered; and then the children came in to lessons.

One more letter crossed the sea from the woman to the man on his wanderings. The word "good-by" was written across a bare sheet of paper, and the man considered that he had been uncivilly treated, and he felt very sorry for himself; but he never looked on the woman's face again.

The silly tale leaked out in time, and the world laughed at the comedy of it. But the woman failed to see the humor, and it was the tragedy which lay at the back of her eyes in all the long years till she died.—The Sketch.

RACED WITH DEATH.

Sorrowing Father's Fast Trip from Chicago to Denver.

Denver, Col., Feb. 17.—H. J. Mayham, who took a Burlington special train from Chicago Monday morning to Denver, hoping to reach the bedside of his only son before death took him, arrived Tuesday morning, just too late. The run made by the special between the two cities was marvelous, beating all previous records, the distance of 1,026 miles being made in 18 hours and 52 minutes, the best long-distance time heretofore being in May, 1893, New York to Chicago, 964 miles over the Lake Shore & New York Central, 19 hours 57 minutes. The last 300 miles Tuesday morning, with a climb of nearly a mile in the air, was made at the rate of 57 miles an hour. Railroad men are much interested over the wonderful run. Young Mayham died just as the stricken father entered Colorado, but the news was not given him until his arrival in Denver at eight minutes to four in the morning.

The Latest Accession to Maj. McKinley's Official Family.

Canton, O., Feb. 20.—James A. Gary, of Baltimore, has been offered and has accepted a position in Maj. McKinley's cabinet. It is not yet certain that he will be made postmaster-general.

JAMES A. GARY.

When the final cast of the cabinet is made it may seem well to the president to transfer ex-Gov. Long, whom he has fixed upon for the navy department, to the department of justice, leaving the navy portfolio for a New York man or for Mr. Gary, in case it is decided to give New York the post office department.

GEN. PLEASANTON DEAD.

Distinguished Union Cavalry Officer Passes Away.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Gen. Alfred Pleasanton, one of the most distinguished cavalry officers on the union side during the late civil war, died at his apartments here at three o'clock in the morning.

Gen. Pleasanton was born June 7, 1824, graduated from West Point in 1844, and served in the Mexican and civil wars with distinction. In 1888 he was placed on the retired list of the army with the rank of colonel.

Kyle Elected Senator.

Pierre, S. D., Feb. 19.—Kyle was elected United States senator by the solid republican vote and a few populists.

SENATOR JAMES H. KYLE.

who stayed by him. Most of the populists deserted him, but enough remained to give him the required number to elect.

Bryan's Position Sustained.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 17.—The somewhat celebrated gold bond injunction suit, in which W. J. Bryan, as the plaintiff, sought to restrain the mayor and city council from delivering $534,500 refunding bonds with a gold clause attached to ex-City Treasurer Stephenson, has been decided by the supreme court and Mr. Bryan's position was sustained. Nearly two years ago a proposition to vote bonds was submitted and carried by a bare majority. The city council contracted for their purchase with Stephenson, who insisted on a gold clause, which was allowed. Mr. Bryan enjoined the sale on the ground that the bonds were illegally carried, and further that the city charter prohibited discrimination between gold and currency bonds.

Seventh Day Adventists Meet.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 20.—For the first time in the history of the denomination, Seventh Day Adventists are holding their biennial conference in the middle west, it being convened at Collegeview, where is located Union college, near this city. These conventions are international in character and are made up of representatives, not only from every state in the union, but from nearly every foreign country of the globe.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Important Land Ruling.

Judge Beach, at Port Huron, has decided for the state against H. H. Warner, of Rochester, N. Y. The case involves the title to an island of 1,500 acres in Saginaw bay. It was first tried before Judge Swan, of the United States district court, who held in favor of Mr. Warner, but afterward sent back to the state court on ground of jurisdiction. The case will now be taken to the United States supreme court. The verdict will affect the title of about 8,000 acres of land at St. Clair flats.

A Murderous Assault.

John Buck, a farmer living seven miles south of Owosso, committed a murderous assault upon his divorced wife by shooting her three times. Buck was separated from his wife about four weeks. The other night he followed her home from Owosso. Two of Buck's children walked through the snow in their nightclothes to the nearest neighbor's, some 40 rods distant, and gave the alarm. The doctor says there is but little hope of Mrs. Buck's recovery. Buck was arrested.

Had a Narrow Escape.

A lynching was narrowly averted in Saginaw. A gang of workmen employed at the Wylies mill, armed with a rope, attempted to locate Charles Storms, a 19-year-old youth, for the purpose of avenging an alleged assault upon a nine-year-old daughter of a fellow employe, William Deuse. The police got wind of their purpose and placed Storms in the Adams street station. The mob threatened to raid the jail. Legal action will be commenced against Storms.

His Wish Was Granted.

A curious coincidence occurred at Zealand in the death from heart disease of John Lamers, aged 82. His wife, aged 80, died of blood poisoning and her funeral was about to take place. Mr. Lamers, during his life, had never spoken of dying without expressing a wish that he might pass away at the same time as his wife. The couple came from the Netherlands in 1848. They were buried together.

To Remove the Capital.

Gov. Pingree has unfolded to a number of personal friends a scheme he is developing for the removal of the state capitol from Lansing to Detroit. It involves the bonding of the city of Detroit in the sum of $5,000,000, with which to erect a state house to be presented to the state free of charge, the present building to be used for whatever purpose the legislature sees fit to make it.

Health in Michigan.

Consumption was reported at 165 places, typhoid fever at 19, diphtheria at 33, scarlet fever at 25, measles at 44 and whooping cough at 12 places.

North Lake Breezes.

The singing school has closed for this winter.

Mr. Jay Stanton was a visitor at the lake recently.

The cold snap of last month killed three swarms of bees for W. H. Glenn.

Mr. Valentine, of Webster, was in this neighborhood last week buying hogs.

Your scribe and family were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Webb on Friday last.

Mr. Henry Hudson and family will remove to the vicinity of Howell next week.

Cards are out for the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, of Putnam.

Mr. H. Hudson and Geo. Marshall are now prepared to shred corn stalks, which is said to pay 50 per cent.

Fishing has stopped here on account of notices posted to that effect, signed by the owners of the "mighty deep."

The farmers are hiring their help early this spring; the wages about as usual. Who would not be a hired man.

Mr. P. W. Watts has returned to his daughter's, in Webster, from his winter trip in the northern part of the state.

The revival meetings held here lasted three weeks, beginning very quietly, the interest increasing until the close on Friday night last.

There is to be a young convert meeting here every week, beginning two weeks from next Wednesday evening, attended by the pastor, Rev. Thistle.

Rev. Thistle has gone to visit his wife's mother, who is quite sick. His wife has been there for some time past. He will take a two weeks' vacation voted him by the church here. He has worked hard and deserves a longer rest.

Monday evening there was a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Osman, who are about to remove to the northern part of the state this spring. They were the recipients of some very nice presents from their many friends in this vicinity.

People are paying more attention to diet from year to year. They find celery and lettuce very wholesome all winter. In the spring asparagus is one of the very best articles of food. It comes early, and preparation for it cannot be made too soon after the frost is out of the ground. First, rake up all the tops that were left and pile them on the rows, add straw, and burn the ground over, so as to destroy insects that may be left over from last year. Dig the ground to the depth of six inches and apply as much well-rotted manure as can be spared for the purpose, as too much cannot be used. Fertilizers will also be found excellent. Next throw up a mound on the row, at least two feet high, and when the shoots begin to appear they can then be cut more easily than when the level system is practiced. Soap suds are among the best substances to apply to both asparagus and celery.

J. W. BEISSEL, Treasurer.

The above statement of the Village Treasurer has been carefully examined and compared with the vouchers and various books of the Treasurer's and Clerk's office and found correct.

Of the several amounts included in the above statement as paid out by the Treasurer the past year, the following may be considered as rather unusual expenses and not likely to occur again soon, but they are believed by the undersigned to be wise expenditures, viz:

Paid in settlement of two damage suits brought against the village in 1894, for personal damage from defective sidewalks in that year, by Paulina Oesterle and Mrs. Carrie Oesterle, and the attorneys employed in same, $ 516 05
Paid for 1,000 feet of extra fire hose, 2 hose carts and expenses therefor, 654 36
Paid surveying, taking grade profile and mapping principal streets, 90 00
Paid clearing and grading Wilkinson street, 102 53
Paid attorney services in a complete revision of ordinances and printing thereof, 65 00
Paid one-half cost of town hall piano, 100 00
Total unusual expenses paid this year, $1527 94
One of the above damage suits was found positively to be caused by decided delay and neglect by the village authorities in 1894 in allowing the so-called Dr Ackley sidewalk to be in a dilapidated and "torn up" condition for several months. Probably several hundred if not thousands of dollars were saved to the village by compromising the claims, as above stated.

In regard to the fire hose and hose carts, to the reflective mind they have already paid for their cost to the village, by the saving to the village the steam flouring mills. Without the above fire hose outfit they would to-day be in ashes, with no prospect of being rebuilt, as flouring mills now are less profitable to individual owners than a convenience to the public. There is no institution in Chelsea that brings farmers from six to fifteen miles away to Chelsea as often as its flouring mill, and its usefulness to Chelsea is generally greatly underrated.

Since the burning of the village books in Geo. Ruhl's tailor shop in 1870-71 there has been no record of street grades nor record book of village ordinances. It had become a necessity that the grades of our streets be again a matter of record, so that by reference thereto street work be not done at three times its proper cost, as once, indeed, was done years ago in the business part of Main street in this village, by filling where it ought to have been graded down, and grading down where it ought to have been filled up, to make a proper grade. In grading, reference ought to be had as to intersections with other streets, and without comprehensive general plans no town can do street work economically and well.

The new "Wilkinson street" is quite a long avenue and the only one running from Middle street to the territorial road west of Main street. Its convenience to the public fully justifies the expense involved.

The condition of the records of the village ordinances, which since the fire of 1870, were only found scattered as recorded among the voluminous minutes of the many years proceedings of the village boards of trustees, were in a chaotic and almost undecipherable condition, as many ordinances of recent years repealed a portion or the whole of former ordinances, resulting in much confusion, there being for instance five different ordinances recorded in regard to one subject. It was easier apparently to pass a new ordinance when a clear understanding was required, than to hunt up the old ones. The new book containing the complete newly revised ordinances as now in force, recently caused to be compiled by the Village Board, and the surveys of the streets, and other valuable papers of the village are now kept in one or the other of the bank vaults for safety, and where duplicate papers or maps exist they are kept, one at least, in each of said vaults.

The purchase of the town hall piano was voted down by the Board of Trustees on account of other large expenses to be met this year, but reconsidered afterwards upon the request by petition of over one hundred taxpayers.

Respectfully,

GEO. P. GLAZIER,

JOHN J. RAFTREY,

ISRAEL VOGEL,

Finance Committee.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison of Worthington, (Ind.) Sun, writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehle, 2635 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her, and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00. Get a bottle at Glazier & Stimson's drug store.

HANNA GETS IT.

Famous Ohioan Is to Be Made United States Senator.

Gov. Bushnell Makes an Official Announcement—The Latest Gossip Concerning the McKinley Cabinet.

Columbus, O., Feb. 22.—Gov. Bushnell furnished the following statement Sunday evening: "It had been my intention to make no announcement in relation to the action I would take in the matter of an appointment to fill the prospective vacancy in the Ohio representation in the United States senate until the vacancy actually existed. But on account of the manifest interest of the people and their desire to know what will be done, I deem it best now to make the following statement: When Senator Sherman resigns to enter the cabinet of President McKinley, I will appoint to succeed him Hon. Marcus A. Hanna, of Cuyahoga county, to serve until his successor is chosen by the Seventy-third general assembly of the state. I trust this action will meet with the approval of the people."

Gov. Bushnell said that he would be a candidate for the nomination for governor before the republican state convention this year and for that alone. He would not be a candidate for election to the senate by the legislature now; probably never would be. The governor said he had not reached the determination to appoint Mr. Hanna suddenly. It had been in his mind for several weeks, but it was his idea that he ought not to publicly announce his intention until the vacancy existed.

Gov. Bushnell scouted the idea that he had been induced to appoint Chairman Hanna by the fact that George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, had declared for him. Gov. Bushnell said he considered what the distinguished services of Mr. Hanna to the party were, and the standing of Senator Sherman in the party—the latter having asked that Mr. Hanna be appointed to succeed him, made it incumbent upon him to bestow this honor as he had determined to do.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 22.—Mark Hanna was shown the dispatch from Columbus announcing that Gov. Bushnell has finally yielded to the pressure and will appoint him United States senator to fill Senator Sherman's unexpired term. Though happy and realizing that the victory had been won, the national chairman refused absolutely to discuss the matter. He said he had not received any official notice from Gov. Bushnell.

FATAL SNOW SLIDES.

Two Deaths Caused by Avalanches in Colorado.

Denver, Col., Feb. 22.—Snowslides wrought more damage Saturday than on Friday. At least two lives were lost and considerable property has been damaged. Mail Carrier J. E. Bell, who was supposed to be dead, has saved himself and about the only damage apparent, excepting his very weak condition, are a few frozen toes. Bell was caught in a slide under about 25 feet of snow. Rescuing parties took off 15 feet directly above him, and then gave him up for dead. He lay unconscious until about eight o'clock Saturday morning. When his senses returned he heard water trickling. This water had brought him air and saved his life. He dug to the stream and then to the surface. Then he walked three miles to the nearest house and fell unconscious as soon as he realized he was saved. He will recover. James Petty was carried over a precipice with a pack train, most of the burros being killed, and himself only slightly injured. A snowslide caught the cabin of the Cleopatra mine, near Pitkin, killing Martin Mertley and injuring his three partners. Mertley's relatives live in Pennsylvania. At Ophir, Col., a snowslide demolished the railroad station and 12 freight cars. The station agent and his wife were in the building at dinner. Timbers fell in just such shape that the man was but slightly injured and his wife did not receive a single bruise. About as rapidly as the roads have been opened they have been closed by more slides.

Sound Money Conference.

New York, Feb. 22.—A conference of the National Sound Money league will be held in the rooms of the chamber of commerce in this city Wednesday, February 24, and will be attended by delegates from a number of cities. There are now 21 cities represented in the organization and each is entitled to two delegates. The business of the conference will be to adopt a constitution and by-laws for the league and to elect officers and an executive committee to serve until April 1, 1898.

THE NEXT U. S. SENATE.

Three New Senators Yet to Be Chosen.

There may be three vacant seats in the senate after March 4. The terms of Senators Blackburn, of Kentucky; Call, of Florida, and Mitchell, of Oregon, expire on that date and their successors have not been elected.

In Kentucky the legislature adjourned without agreeing on anyone. The Florida legislature does not meet until April. The Oregon legislature is split hopelessly, it seems, and Senator Mitchell's seat will remain vacant probably for at least a time.

Damages for Speaking Harshly.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—After being out all night a jury in Judge Goggin's court returned a verdict Friday against Rev. Thomas Craven, a retired missionary living in Evanston, awarding to Mrs. Emma Braun $9,000 damages for causing her to be frightened and become a victim of St. Vitus' dance. A year ago Mrs. Braun, who is an elderly woman, lived with her sister in an Evanston house owned by the minister. While they were moving out the landlord came with a constable and attached the goods. It was alleged that the missionary spoke in a harsh and threatening manner to the plaintiff, who sued for $50,000.

A Traitor Killed.

Madrid, Feb. 19.—A dispatch received here from Havana says it is reported there that Dr. Zertucha, who was Gen. Antonio Maceo's physician and accompanied him at the time the insurgent leader met his death, has been assassinated.

A SAD FATE.

Family of Eight at Cleveland, O., Frightfully Burned.

Attempt to Light a Kitchen Fire with Gasoline Results in Fatal Injuries to Five Members of the Household.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 20.—The family of Jacob Cielecz, of 663 Canal street, was almost completely wiped out of existence by a frightful holocaust of flames. Eight people were burned in the fire. Of these, it is thought, five will die. The injured ones are at the Cleveland general hospital.

Jacob Cielecz, his wife and three children, aged three, two and one years, were in bed. John Cielecz, a brother of Jacob, arose about five o'clock to light the fire. He took what he thought was the kerosene can. Instead he got hold of the gasoline can. He poured the gasoline on the kindling and touched a match to the stuff. In an instant there was an explosion. John Cielecz was hurled to the end of the room, his clothing on fire. The fire communicated to the feather bed in which were Mrs. Jacob Cielecz, the three children and another woman. Jacob Cielecz was also in the same room at the time of the explosion. With their clothing all ablaze, the father, mother and the other woman seized the three children and ran out into the yard. Passing workmen rushed to the rescue. They took off their coats and heroically did all they could to extinguish the flames that were consuming the people. Meanwhile Mike Gumbert, who lives at 669 Canal street, and his family put out the flames in the house.

John Cielecz suffering at the hospital was terrible. The skin of his entire body dropped off in patches. The finger nails and flesh fell from his hands. His eyelashes were gone and his hair was singed to the scalp. His face was little more than a mass of roasted skin and flesh. Mrs. Cielecz was frightfully burned. The oldest child, Victoria, was burned from head to foot. Joseph Jerga, a boarder, and Albert Jerno, the father of Mrs. Cielecz, were also badly burned.

hundredth anniversary of the birth of Philipp Melancthon, the collaborer of Martin Luther, the author of the Augsburg Confession and the world-famous scholar and student.

An American's Fate in Cuba.

Havana, Feb. 20.—Dr. Richard Ruiz, a naturalized American citizen, was found dead in his cell in the Guanabacoa jail Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. There is little doubt that he was beaten to death by his jailers at Fondaviela's orders. Dr. Ruiz, who studied and practiced dentistry in Philadelphia for many years, was arrested some ten days ago and charged with having helped Arangueren's band to derail a train several weeks ago, when two Spanish officers were captured. The charge was of the flimsiest character, as everyone in Guanabacoa knew that Ruiz attended strictly to his business and took no interest in political or revolutionary movements.

Plague in Kentucky.

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 20.—What for want of a better name is christened the red plague has broken out with great violence in Callaway county. Over 100 patients are now suffering. Many deaths have already occurred, and more are expected. The victims are first seized with fever, accompanied by severe pains and sore throat. A red eruption makes its appearance on the face, and soon extends over the whole body. The joints become stiff, and in most instances the limbs swell so that the afflicted ones cannot move. Physicians are unable to correctly diagnose the queer malady, or treat it successfully.

Boxing Match Ends Fatally.

Cincinnati, Feb. 19.—In the preliminary contest of a boxing match Thursday night at the Manhattan club room at Riverside, a few miles out from the city, Ben Coleman, aged 22, was knocked down by Joe Rodgers, of about the same age. Coleman did not attempt to rise, and he was hastily carried from the ring. A doctor examined him and pronounced him dead of a broken neck. It is not known whether the fall or the blow killed him.

THE CRETAN PROBLEM.

Greece Still Holds to Her Original Position.

Constantinople, Feb. 18.—At the special meeting of the council of ministers which was held at the Yiliz palace on Monday, it was decided to leave the pacification of the island of Crete in the hands of the powers.

Canea, Feb. 18.—Vice Admiral Canavaro, commanding the allied naval forces of the powers in Cretan waters, has written a note to the Greek consul at this place, informing that official that it is the purpose of the powers by their occupancy of various cities of the island to promote a bloodless settlement of the Cretan difficulty, and that therefore any attack upon the towns occupied, whether made by Turks or Christians, will be repelled by the united forces of the powers. He also urges the insurgents and Greeks to abstain from military action in other parts of the island.

Athens, Feb. 18.—News was received Wednesday night that Col. Vassos has captured another important position in Crete, the village of Vouklies. It is reported from Crete that the Christians are blockading Retimo. A portion of the forces, commanded by Col. Vassos, attacked the tower of Boncoloin, which place was surrendered by the Turkish garrison after a short resistance.

Col. Vassos, commanding the Greek troops in Crete, has received instructions from the government to avoid any encounter with the foreign forces on the island, but to execute the orders of the king which are that he shall occupy the island and restore order therein.

Canea, Feb. 19.—Rumors of a wholesale massacre of Mussulmans at Sitia have reached here, some of the reports placing the number of killed at 2,000, which includes almost the entire Moslem population of the town. It is said that men, women and children were killed by the Christians.

Athens, Feb. 20.—A dispatch from Canea states that three of the great powers are in favor of a union between Crete and Greece. A British ironclad has prevented the steamer Junon from embarking provisions intended for the use of the Greek troops in Crete. The military preparations on the part of Greece continue. Two more classes of the reserves have been called out. The king openly favors resistance to the demands of the powers.

London, Feb. 20.—A dispatch to the Times from Vienna says that the Neue Freie Presse publishes a report from Salonica to the effect that a collision has occurred between the Turkish soldiers and the Greek insurgents at Naslizta, near the Greek frontier. The Turks were defeated with losses and withdrew for reinforcements. The governor of Salonica has ordered the troops to the point where the disturbance took place. The population along the Greek frontier, according to the Neue Freie Presse, is eagerly awaiting the signal to rise against the Turks.

HOPEFUL SIGNS.

Trade Situation Presents Many Promising Indications.

New York, Feb. 20.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of trade, say:

"A large increase in the iron and steel business, on account of sales covering eight to twelve months' production of the largest works, a better demand for woolen goods, and slightly better prices for wheat, cotton, wool and iron, and a money market well adapted to encourage liberal purchases against further improvement in business, have rendered the past week more hopeful than any other since early in November. The heavy excess of merchandise exports over imports in January, the continuance of exchange rates showing that Europe is still largely indebted to this country on current account, and the prospect that congress will adjourn without any disturbing action, all have their favorable influence upon the money market and upon future undertakings. The volume of business is not accurately represented by clearing house exchanges, owing to the extra holiday this year at some commercial centers. But the daily average appears to be 3.4 per cent. smaller than last year. The railroad earnings begin to show improvement, being 9.7 per cent. larger than last year for the second week of February. "Failures for the past week have been 303 in the United States, against 280 last year, and 58 in Canada, against 66 last year."

To Limit Immigration.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The bill to amend the immigration laws was agreed to by the senate Wednesday, and needs only the president's signature to make it a law.

It adds to the classes of excluded aliens all persons over 15 years of age who cannot read the English language or some other language—except that admissible immigrants may bring with them, or send for, illiterate parents or grandparents (over 50 years of age), wives and minor children. It also prohibits from employment on public works aliens who come regularly or habitually into the United States for the purpose of engaging in any mechanical trade or manual labor, and who have not made declaration of intention to become American citizens. The secretary of the treasury, however, may permit the entrance of aliens for the purpose of teaching new arts or industries. And the act is not to apply to persons coming here from Cuba during the continuance of the present disorders there. Four democratic senators (Chilton, Faulkner, Hill and Martin) voted for the report and four republicans (Hansbrough, Hawley, Mantle and Shoup) against it.

POWERS TAKE ACTION.

Their Fleets Bombard Insurgent Position in Crete.

Canea, Feb. 22.—A fusillade having continued all of Sunday, despite the warnings of the foreign admirals, the united squadron bombarded the insurgent camp outside of Canea. The foreign admirals have warned Col. Vassos, the commander of the Greek forces on the island of Crete, of their intention to attack his troops with four men-of-war anchored off his camp. Aglioi Theodoroi, should he attempt to advance to the interior of the island. The chief Cretan position was a hamlet on a ridge of hills, 4,000 yards from the flagship.

At 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon signals were made to the Dryad, Harrier and Revenge, together with one Italian, one German and one Russian ship, to open fire on the Cretan position, where the Greek flag was hoisted some days ago. The British ships fired 40 and the foreign ships 30 shells at the village, and ruined the houses held by the Cretans. The flag was soon lowered, and the order "cease fire" sounded after ten minutes. Thereupon the flag was rehoisted. The rocks around were crowded with Cretans. The Turks, encouraged by the fleet, now opened a lively fusillade, while the Cretans were removing their wounded. The Cretans had not replied during the whole performance.

An engagement has occurred just above the village of Mournies, between the insurgents and a Turkish band.

King George has ordered Col. Vassos to offer safe conduct to Canea for all Turkish garrisons besieged by Christians. Col. Vassos made the offer to the Vouklies garrison. The troops at the garrison refused to leave without arms, and the fortification, therefore, was bombarded.

British torpedo boats have captured and brought to this port the small Greek steamer Laurium, which was carrying victuals and tents for the insurgents.

The forts fired two rounds of blank cartridges Saturday at the Greek gunboat Peueus. A Turkish frigate also discharged blank shots at the Greeks. The Greek gunboat Peueus quickly replied to the blank shots fired by the Turkish frigate. The frigate then withdrew from the scene of operations.

The German flag was hoisted on the ramparts here on the arrival of the cruiser, Kaiserin Augusta.

Athens, Feb. 22.—Over 40,000 persons participated in a demonstration Sunday afternoon on University square in favor of the union of Crete with Greece. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed. An address was adopted, declaring that the king and people were ready for any sacrifices of blood and treasure to bring the present Cretan policy to a successful issue. The crowd then marched to the palace and a deputation presented the address to the king. Tremendous cheering followed. His majesty, King George, Crown Prince Constantine, duke of Sparta, and other members of the royal family occupied places on the balcony. The king addressed the crowd.

He and the government, he declared, were fulfilling the mandate of the entire Hellenic people in going to the aid of the struggling Cretan Christians and in seeking to regain possession of the island. He added that he prayed that God would strengthen their efforts. His majesty concluded his address by thanking the people for the whole-hearted support they had given him. The crowd became wild with delight over the words of King George, and the applause was deafening when he concluded. Then, after crying again and again "long live Greece," the crowd gradually dispersed.

London, Feb. 22.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Athens says: The night that Fort Vouklies fell Col. Vassos learned that the Turkish garrison from Canea was advancing to succor the defeated Turks. He dispatched a body of insurgents to meet them, and speedily followed himself with his troops. In the plain, off Livadia, 1,500 Turks and 2,500 Turkish Cretans, with three guns, engaged in battle. The Cretan insurgents and the Greeks deployed, and after 90 minutes' fighting swept the plain, forcing the Turks to take refuge in Canea. Col. Vassos burned the fortified barracks at Livadia and the Algia blockhouse. The Greeks lost four sub-lieutenants killed, and 20 officers and men wounded.

On Friday morning, when the guns had been placed in position and they were about to resume bombarding, the troops were surprised to see the Cretans plant a flag upon the deserted fort. Thirty-two dead Turks were found inside the fortifications which were blown up by dynamite. The Greek troops were all young men. Never before had they been under fire, and they displayed coolness, courage and enthusiasm. The Greeks took ten Turkish soldiers prisoners.

Sentence Commuted.

Washington, Feb. 22.—In the case of Marion Gamble, sentenced in Montana December 18, 1893, to imprisonment in the territorial prison of Montana for the term of his natural life for robbing the United States mails and putting in jeopardy the life of a carrier, the president has finally commuted the sentence to 14 years actual imprisonment. Applications in behalf of this prisoner were denied by the president in October and November, 1893.

AFFECTS ALL CITIES.

A Bill for Civil Service Adapted to Michigan.

A synopsis of its provisions—Fight between the Governor and Senate continues—Pingree will not withdraw Luce's name.

(Special Correspondence.)

Lansing, Feb. 22.—A civil service bill has been presented in the house. It will affect all cities of over 20,000 population and all counties of over 100,000 population. It provides for a nonpartisan state civil service commission to consist of three members, appointive by the governor and to be confirmed by the senate, each to draw a salary of $2,000 per year and expenses. The commission and governor are to draft rules for classifying the service, and it is made the duty of the commission to as rapidly as possible bring all offices, places and employments in the public service into the classified service. The bill exempts from the service elective officers, officers confirmed by the senate, the heads of any principal department and their deputies and secretary and stenographer of the governor and mayors. An appropriation of $10,000 is asked for the carrying out of the law.

Gov. Pingree has won the first round in his fight with the senate over his nominations, two of his appointees having been confirmed. The vote was far from unanimous and the discussion in executive session was heated and protracted. The nominations confirmed were Fred H. Case, of Three Rivers, as inspector-general, and A. C. Bird, of Oakland, as member of the state board of agriculture. Two more nominations are still hung up and Gov. Pingree in an open letter has refused to act on the suggestion that he withdraw the nomination of ex-Gov. Luce for a place on the prison board. He says Luce's exceptional qualifications are conceded and that they are in no wise impaired by his position on the silver question. He proposes to force the senate to act on the nomination.

The fight between the governor and the senate has been further intensified by the introduction of a bill requiring the executive to send in his nominations to fill vacancies during the legislative session. If such nominations are not made before the final adjournment of the legislature the incumbents are to continue in office until the next session. It is believed that Gov. Pingree has decided to wait until after the senate adjourns, and then to name Prof. Bemis, formerly of the University of Chicago, to be commissioner of labor.

A large number of new bills are directed at corporations. One of them seeks to repeal the special charters of the Michigan Central and Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad companies, and another provides for the taxation of express companies, the rate being one dollar on each $100 of gross earnings in Michigan.

A special committee of five will be appointed by the house to investigate and report on complaints of violation of the law governing freight charges by railroad companies. Correspondence has been had with aggrieved shippers and the committee will go into the subject thoroughly.

Bills making sweeping reductions in official salaries have been noticed in the senate. They make a cut of $1,000 a year in the salaries of supreme justices, and from $300 to $500 in those of the heads of bureaus and deputy state officials. The maximum salary of department clerks is fixed at $720, a reduction of $280. A proportionate reduction is proposed in the pay of employees of the house and senate. A still further saving is sought to be made by a board which provides that during the next two years no state publications, except the laws of the present session and the red book, shall be printed.

A bill was introduced into the lower house of the legislature Friday morning by Representative Peters, of Ishpeming, which, if it passes, will enable the pugilists to pull off their mills in Michigan. It legalizes fighting with five-ounce gloves under the auspices of athletic clubs in buildings owned by the club, or which they have occupied for one year.

Representative Widoe has a bill that will provide that all railroad companies shall issue 500-mile and 1,000-mile tickets, good for family or firm at a cost of $10 and $20 respectively on roads in the lower peninsula and $12.50 and $25 respectively on the upper peninsula roads. This bill is intended as a compromise measure when the railroad fight warms up.

The supreme court in a case from Clinton county has decided that it was the intent of the legislature to put upon the county the burden for extraordinary services rendered to prevent the spread of contagious diseases and for the care of indigent persons afflicted with such disease.

Representative Kelly has offered a resolution asking for the appointment of a committee of five to investigate the purchases that have been made for the various state institutions during the past four years. In the resolution it is stated that Michigan products are discriminated against by those who make the purchases for the institutions.

The greater part, nearly 800,000 ounces, came from Victoria, western Australia, following with 225,000 ounces.

What Followed La Grippe.

Hemorrhoids, Nervous Debility and General Breakdown of Four Years Standing Cured by Pink Pills—Particulars by Paul La Clair, the Patient.

From the Commercial, Mattoon, Ill.

Mr. Paul La Clair, of Mattoon, Illinois, is a well known contractor and builder, of good standing in the community, and the following statement is well vouched for.

MATTOON, Ill., Sept. 5, 1896.

"Four years ago I was taken with la grippe, which left me in a partially collapsed state of nervous debility, and shortly afterward the piles in a severe form appeared. I was in this condition for four years, and could get little or no relief from either one or the other of these troubles. I was unable to attend to my business, which is that of contractor and builder, and two or three days a week were as much as I could attempt to work. Besides my nervousness was so extreme, that I could not go up a ladder, or work on a scaffold, as I would become dizzy and liable to fall.

"I had spent large sums of money for medical advice, with no results, and was pretty well discouraged, when I determined to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which I had seen so frequently advertised.

"After obtaining a supply of the medicine, I began to take the pills according to directions, and improvement in my health immediately began. I continued the treatment until I had taken six boxes, when I was able to do a full day's work, all sign of nervousness and dizziness having left me.

"Now I am perfectly cured, the piles have disappeared, and I consider myself sound. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been more to me than gold, and I shall never cease to sound their praises. My weight when I began the treatment was 120 pounds. Now I weigh 160, and can work on the highest scaffold, without the slightest inconvenience or dread.

(Signed) "PAUL LA CLAIR."

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19, 1897.—Speaker Reed's alleged determination to confine the legislation of the extra session to the tariff bill by not naming the committee of the House other than the Ways and Means, Rules, Milvage and Accounts, is not pleasing to many members of the present House who will also be in the next, and hints have been dropped that he may be compelled to name the Committee on Appropriations by the failure of one or more of the regular appropriation bills at the present session. Whether these hints have anything substantial behind them must now soon be apparent. It is admitted that some of the appropriation bills will have a close shave to get through even with everybody working harmoniously to that end, so that if there are any considerable number who are desirous to have one or more of them fail it will be comparatively easy for them to accomplish their purpose by raising obstacles to delay action, something that skilled parliamentarians can almost always do without resorting to direct filibustering.

The Senate adopted Senator Allen's resolution calling upon the Civil Service Commission for an explanation of the alleged dismissal of two women employed in a branch of the agricultural department at South Omaha, Nebraska, for no other cause than that they displayed Bryan's picture in their window during the recent campaign. No Senator opposed the resolution.

The first National Congress of Mothers, which was in session in Washington this week, fairly divided honors, so far as public attention was concerned, with the other Congress, and its proceedings were just as important in the eyes of many. The eighth annual convention of the Supreme Council of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union was also held in Washington this week.

Whatever may have been the object of Senator Chandler, who is known not to be over friendly towards Mr. McKinley, in making that speech in favor of his resolution declaring for bimetallism, all unprejudiced men will admit that his warning to President McKinley contained words of wisdom which are not affected by the motive actuating the speaker. In this warning Mr. Chandler said: "If the republican party shall content itself with seizing and enjoying the spoils of office, surrendering unreservedly to the money power which so effectively contributed to its recent victory, acquiescing permanently in the existing gold standard and treating bimetallism as a 'juggling humbug' and the promise to promote it as a pledge never intended to be fulfilled, republicans will speedily find the tide of political battle once more turned against them, and they will soon exchange places with their now sore, bleeding and prostrate foes. To the coming triumphant President, hopeful and over-confident, rejoicing as a strong man to run a race, and to his chosen advisers, soon to challenge all the adverse currents of the future, I cannot help saying warningly concerning the pending world-wide controversy over the burning question of money: 'Unsettled questions pay no heed to the repose of nations.' Be wise to-day; 'tis madness to deter.'"

Representative Pearson, of North Carolina, who was elected to Congress as an independent protectionist, made a very warm five-minute protest against the waste of money in the appropriations carried by the sundry civil bill, which was rushed through the House under a suspension of the rules. After calling attention to 37 appropriations for rivers and harbors and 27 for public buildings contained in the bill, Mr. Pearson said: "If I had the opportunity I would move to strike out the appropriation of $400,000 fixed in the bill for the improvement of the mouth of the very river upon which I was born, because I know that it is useless and an extravagant appropriation. I certainly would not ask what is proposed by this bill, the sum of $400,000, for the improvement of Winyaw Bay, South Carolina. The collector of customs only takes in $356 a year, and it will be two million years before he will take in enough to pay the amount of the appropriation provided by this bill, which is only a beginning of the outlay." At this point Representative Sayers interrupted half-jocularly: "Where is Winyaw Bay?" The laughter raised by the question had not subsided before Mr. Pearson promptly replied: "About 3,000 miles from Keweenaw Bay, for which an appropriation of $400,000 is also made. It is also about a thousand miles from the Yazoo River, which gets $400,000, and about the same distance from Bayou Plaquemine, in Louisiana, which also gets $400,000." He closed by urging the members of the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, nearly every one of whom, he said, had secured a $400,000 appropriation for his district or state, although the chairman had only $398,258 in his appropriation.

It is highly pleasing to the Cuban sympathizers that Senator Frye, the ranking member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, will waive his claim for the chairmanship when Senator Sherman becomes Secretary of State. That will give the chairmanship to Senator Davis, of Minn., one of the most pronounced friends of Cuba in Congress, provided, of course, that the republicans succeed in filling the committee vacancies, as it is now supposed they will.

The statement of receipts in January by the postoffices in thirty of the largest cities, which was given out this week by the P. O. D., was disappointing to those who hoped it would show a general improvement in business as compared with January of last year. Two-thirds of the postoffices reported a heavy decrease, and the increase in the others was small. When general business is good it is always shown by increased postal receipts.

Bricks of 1612.

The first bricks made in this country for building purposes were manufactured by colonists in Virginia in 1612. They were used in the construction of a church edifice at Jamestown and the residence of the governor of the state. A part of the Jamestown church is still standing, and the bricks are in a good state of preservation, showing that the colonists believed in making articles to resist wear by exposure to all kinds of weather.—Boston Budget.
