Wheat Market.

Chicago, Sept. 7, 1897.

The prediction for higher market for wheat made in the last letter of this correspondence has been more than verified by the events of the last two days.

December wheat, which closed Saturday night at 93%, opened to-day fully two cents higher, and there is nothing in the present outlook to indicate materially lower prices in the immediate future. On the contrary reports to Schwartz, Dupee & Co. from all parts of the wheat consuming world are that there is a marked scarcity, with indications that a worse condi tion of affairs is imminent. The Mark Lane Express, which is an authority in matters pertaining to food supply and demand in Europe says that present wheat prices are nothing like as high as they'll be when the outcome of the present shortage in all parts of the world is presented to the buyer. From Russia comes word that not only is the present crop a poor one, but the drought is so severe that farmers experience great difficulty in preparing the ground for seeding, This phrase of the situation will appeal to many American agriculturalists who find themselves in the same plight, and the continued lack of rain in our wheat states when it is imperatively needed for the planting of wint er wheat is likely to become a serious factor in the situation here.

The English visible supply of wheat decreased 351,000, bu. in the last week, and our own decrease was 656,000 bu. These figures should command attention from those who have learned to depend upon the United States for all the wheat the world may need, irrespective of the condi- goods at the Bank Drug Store. tions elsewhere. The demands of Europe have evidently not been overestimated and it was these demands. when there was promise of an abundant harvest in this country that put wheat to a dollar a short time ago. If the planting of winter wheat is to be seriously impended by lack of rain ture of that cereal. Primary receipts are averaging only about half what they were a year ago. The report this morning for two days was 2,400,000 bu. as against 2,443,000 bu, for one day a year ago. It is natural to suppose that with September wheat selling at 96 or better in Chicago and December at 95 there is a good movement of the stocks at hand, and therefore the low primary receipts mean much to those who look below the surface.

Corn has held its own well, but its situation is radically different from that of wheat, because of a good crop this year and a heavy accumulation from the crops of 1895 and 1896. At present prices the American farmer must receive a vast amount of money for the corn in sight orable. In the event of killing frosts prices would, of course, go much higher, and these are within the range of possibili-

It is the custom in suburban places for proprietors of official hotels to display a sign like this: "L. A. W. Hotel," in some conspicuous place. Naturally riders patronize the official quarters, and as a consequence the keepers of road houses and of hotels in the country are now hanging out "L. A. W. Hotel" signs. The practice has been called to the attention of the league, been called to the attention of the league, and its officers are trying to compel the non-official houses to remove the signboards. Complaint was made to the New Jersey division of the league that a hotelkeeper on the outskirts of Jersey City not entitled to display the official sign of the L. A. W. was an offender. A visit to the place developed the fact that the owner was not disposed to accede to the demands of the league's representative. Thought Only of Love.

He was a clerk in a dry goods store, and her beauty and grace simply turned his head. It was in a Chicago dry goods store, which is in its way unique, and the Chicago dry goods clerk is a creation indigenous to the plant he serves. The "booful" lady was young, albeit she is a matron, and as she stood entranced before remnants of lace and tried their different effects by spreading the mesh over her lily-white hand, he, poor fellow, was entranced too.

"Isn't it beautiful?" she asked, enthus astically, as she laid another specimen over the back of her small, plump fist.

"Exquisite! Divine!" ejaculated the bewildered clerk, with an energy that ought to have sold all the lace in the establishment, but which was lost on the object of it.

"Is it pure white or cream?" she further demanded.

"Pure white, with dimples," responded:

"Pure white, with dimples," responded the lost knight of the yardstick. There was one more question for the shop-per to ask and she asked it.

"Is it hand-made?"
"No," answered the poor fellow, rushing on to his doom, "it is heaven-made."

It took the manager of the department some little time to square the matter up and sell the lace, and now the too susceptible clerk is transferred to a department where he wil be out of the way of temptation.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Miss Wilson does not have to wash dishes for a living now, neither is she one of the deserted ones in the presence of other women. She is not a handsome young woman as personal appearance goes, but she is now the possessor of that which makes her the loadstone where eligible young men are present and would afford her an opportunity of taking her pick in ordinary company. In other words, the dishwasher, Clara Wilson, returns to the United States the multi-millionairess, Miss

Wilson, and all through her own efforts. Miss Wilson was educated in the public schools at Scranton, Pa., but her parents moved to the western country before she had an opportunity to get above the grammar grades. At that time her father had considerable means, but he exhausted it in an endeavor to locate gold in Colorado and California. Miss Wilson was 16 years old when her father died and at once determined to make her own way in the world. She went to Seattle and found employment as a domestic on a steamer bound for Alaska. She found her way to Circle City and became the cook and general housemaid for a number of miners.

Miss Wilson was not satisfied with this kind of a life. She had had some experience in mining while accompanying her father on his pilgrimages and she "crossed lots" in Alaska on her own account. The result was that she located a copper mine which is now being worked and which is said to be panning fields famous. Miss Wilson had no sooner staked her claim than her possession was disputed by a number of men, but besides mining she had learned from her father how to use they not realized there would not be day, the lowest price being $1.50 a day. rifle and revolver and for days she sat

Her possession was finally recognized and several of the men who disputed that she is not worth less than $2,000 .-

"I was in Chicago five years ago after my father died. Then I was a commonplace restaurant waiter or dishwasher and no one cared for me. Now I am worth perhaps $2,000,000 in money, and am being constantly followed by young men of good families who would be glad to take a wife. I might as well say now that I am not marrying at this time. I do not know when I shall go back to Alaska. I may never go back, for I don't mind saying that I have had an abundance of the kind of living they have in that country. My mother and I can live now wherever we see fit, and I want to tell you that we shall not have our rooms facing in alleys, as we have been compelled to since father died.

I secretly prospected my find for a month before anyone else found it, and then three men claimed prior ownership. Then I had to make a personal defense, and this I did. I never had to fire a shot, but I would have done so without hesitancy.

"No; I would not advise any young woman to go to that country who has not had some experience with miners or who is not prepared to defend herself and undergo the severest hardships. In that country self-preservation is truly the first law of nature. Men forget all their chivalry and although women are scarce they are not curiosities and do not seem to awaken any special interest among men. Alaska miners are not sentimental They are looking for riches and they do not care how they get them."

The first letter mail to be dispatched from this country to the Klondike region under the new reciprocal arrangement with Canada, effected by establishing an international exchange between Dyea, Alaska, and Dawson City, will be forwarded from Seattle by a steamer leaving there September 11. From that time forward letter mail will go over the new service regularly once a month. The last opportunity to send newspapers and reading material generally into the gold region until next spring was afforded by the "paper mail," the last of the season, which was

Gold Discovery. Excitement is running high in Sault Ste. Marie over a recent gold discovery near Michipicoten, on the north shore of Lake Superior, which has just been made public. The find is a wonderfully rich one, assays showing from $100 to $1,000 per ton, the samples being taken at random from the surface. The quartz is free milling. The owners have been offered $100,000 by Montreal capitalists for a portion of the claim.

Rich Gold Fields.

Interest in the discovery of the Michipicoten gold fields, 150 miles from Sault Ste. Marie, is very great. Twentyfive prospectors have gone to the new field, the majority being business men who believe fully in the richness of the new discovery. Reports show that ore of exceeding richness has been found, some of it assaying as high as $1,000 per ton.

> Many delegates maintain that the fusion was perfectly harmonious, while there are others who claim that there may yet be dissension on the silver republican side, as about one-third of those delegates went home before fusion was effected. For awhile in the three conventions Thursday morning it looked rather precarious for harmony, and it was not until the announcement that the democrats had agreed with the silver republicans to substitute John J. Sullivan for W. H. Thompson that signs of fusion began to appear. Even then it was not until Judge Neville urged the indorsement of Mr. Sullivan that the populists gave in. At noon the agreement to fuse was finally reached and the rest of the proceedings were of short duration. It became very evident near the close of the convention that neither Scott, Neville nor Thompson could be nominated by any two of the conventions, and the maneuver of the democrats in substituting Sullivan was considered a coup d'etat that cut short what might have resulted in a long-drawn, knotty convention, full of fight and ultimately separating the three parties so widely that fusion would have been an unknown condition for years to come. This is the opinion freely expressed on every hand. There were 15 counties unrepresented in the populist convention and about the same number absent from the other gatherings.

> Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 3.-The conference committee of the populists, silver republicans and democratic conventions, after holding sessions that lasted until three o'clock Thursday morning and failing to agree upon a ticket, made the following report to the three conventions:

All nominations shall be presented to the three conventions and balloting shall continue until one man shall receive a majority of two conventions. Each ballot shall be announced to each of the other con-The regents shall be given to the parties which do not secure the judge."

> The report was adopted by the democratic convention, but the committee was not discharged.

The populists adopted the cottage home for their party emblem, the same symbol as that of the populists of Colorado. The silver republicans adopted the liberty bell with a crack in it.

FRIBUTE TO OUR SCHOOLS. President McKinley's Eloquent Address at Ohio State Fair.

Columbus, O., Sept. 4.—President Mc-Kinley and party arrived at ten a. m. Friday as guests of the Ohio state board of agriculture. They were given a hearty reception at the depot and along the route to the Great Southern hotel. In the afternoon they were escorted by the military to the state fair grounds. It is variously estimated that between 75,000 and 100,000 people were gathered on the grounds to greet the president, but only a fraction of this number were able to hear the brief speech which he delivered. It was school children's day at the fair, and thousands of little folks were scattered through the crowd. President McKinley directed his remarks in part to them. He said in part:

"If I had been asked to select a greeting most agreeable to myself it would be that greeting which the committee has prepared of the children of the schools of the state assembled on these grounds. The presence of 40,000 school children commands our affection and inspires our hope, and I congratulate the children of Ohio that they enjoy exceptional opportunities for education at the hands of the government of the state. No other state has higher. common school advantages than the state of Ohio. And it is gratifying to know that a half a million children every day in our state crowd the doorsteps of our public schools in thirst for knowledge to fit them for the grave and responsible duties of life. There is one thing of which the United States can proudly boast, and that is our great public school system, where the boys and girls from every walk of life assemble in full equality and enjoy equally with all their fellows the advantages of instruction. I congratulate you all for that. I am glad to meet these school children here to-day. Children's day it is to you now, but in a little while it will be citizens' day with all of you. Upon you in a little while will rest the duty as well as the responsibility of carrying on the great political fabric es-tablished by your fathers and bearing the glorious old banner they have so proudly borne in the past. God bless the school children of Ohio. God bless the school chil dren of America, and guide them to intelligence and virtue and morality and patriotism, and with these elements dominating our citizenship our institutions are safe and our republic may be giorious for-ever." [Great applause.]

At the conclusion of the president's speech he was the recipient of an ovation from the school children and assembled multitude. Brief speeches were also made by Secretary Alger and Senator Hanna. After driving over the grounds the presidential party returned to the hotel. In the evening a complimentary dinner was given by the state board of agriculture to President Me-Kinley and a brief informal reception

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 3, 1897 .-Strange as it may seem. it is the 'fact' hat no one in Washington knows whether Speaker Reed opposes or favors the move ment that has been started for the purpose of repealing the civil service law at the coming session of Congress, and that knowledge is necessary to estimate the strength of the movement. If Mr. Reed opposes it. nothing is likely to be done, but if he favors it or even remains neutral there seems to be a fair chance for it to succeed. According to the present plans, Representative Grosvenor of Ohio, whose speech printed in the Congressional Record was one of the bitterest ever made against the civil service law, will lead this movement in the House, and Senator Gallinger, of N. H. will probably fill the same role in the Senate. It is claimed that at least three-fourths of the democrats in both House and Senate, and all the populists, will vote to repeal the law. If, this claim be correctly made, it would not require many republican votes to make the movement a success, and those who are engineering it say that most of the new republican Senators and Representatives who have failed in getting their supporters provided with offices will gladly vote for the repeal of the civil service law, in order to get some of their constituents provided for and to help them to build up support at home to aid them when they come out for re-election. So far this movement has more activity than strength It is an easy matter to make claims. It has long been evident that both sides exaggerated everything sent out from Cuba. New proof of that is given by the report made by Consul General Lee of his investigation of the recent arrest of the Cuban girl Evangelina Cossic Cisneros, which was the cause of much excitement in the United States and an appeal from prominent American women to the Queen Regent of Spain in behalf of the arrested girl. The report received by the Depart ment of State this week from Gen. Lee says among other things, that the arrested girl is not the niece of the Marquese of Santa Lucia, but is the daughter of a poor and respectable Cuban named Augustine Cossio; she is not an only daughter, but is been accustomed to the surroundings of wealth and luxury. The maiden name of cordance with Spanish custom, she added it to her own, and that gave the exaggerators an opportunity to connect her with 10; Sept. 7; Oct. 5; Nov. 2; the prominent Cisneros family. The bare facts in the case of the arrest and imprisonment of the girl were quite enough to arouse American sympathy, yet the Cu bans could not resist the temptation to exaggerate. Level headed persons Lave ceased to accept any story from either side about Cuban affairs until it is corroborated by indisputable evidence.

It is now stated in Washington that the sugar trust is scheming to have Dutch sugar trust shut out of the United States by thority to do so if the sugar in question be proven to be adulterated and injurious when used for food purposes. . There are some ugly rumors about the manner in which the sugar trust is working in this matter and the charge d'affairs of the Neitherlands in the United States has appealed to the State Department to interpose and obtain an analysis of the sugar in question that will be above suspicion.

The official public debt statement for August shows the deficit for the month to have been fifteen million dollars, about four millions more than it was in July. Members of the administration says that tariff receipts have so far been fully as large as they were expected to be, and that the debt statement does not differ from estimates made several months ago of what it would be. Since the beginning of the new fisical year expenditures have been very heavy.

Secretary Gage displayed wisdom when he declined havinig any to do with the factional fight among the Maryland repubheans over the appointment of a collector of customs for Baltimore, and said that President McKinley would have to settle it.

MANY ARE KILLED.

Deadly Explosions at Broad Ripple Ind., and Morton, Ill.

ormer, Caused by Natural Gas, Kills Six and Injures Many-Boiler Explodes at Latter Place, Killing Two Little Girls-Four Hurt.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6 .- Broad Ripple, a suburb of Indianapolis, ten miles from the city proper, was Saturday morning the scene of one of the nost terrible disasters that has ever vissted the state. Six persons were burned to death and many people are lying in the homes of neighbors burned, scarred and racked with pain from broken ones. Four buildings occupying a block of the town are in ruins. Of the six dead nothing but charred and blackened bones with hanging strips of foulsmelling flesh semain.

The Victims. Following is a list of the dead and injured:

Killed .- Jacob Darling, painter, crushed by falling wall.

Henry Ernest, laborer. Pius Gresh, grocer, aged 19, burned to Albert Heyworth, huckster, Westfield.

John Porter, farmer. Charles Yount, single, 35, crushed to Injured .- Harry Bolton, Oakland, cut Amos Day, cut in face by glass. lesse Day, blown out of second-story window and badly hurt. Frank Featherstone, arm cut.

Orville Heady, street car conducter, injured internally, will probably die. F. W. Heaton, bruised. Emuley Johnson Thomas Jones, cut about head.

Vinton Record, leg cut, injured about the Frank E. Watts, burned and bruised. Edgar Watts, burned and bruised. J. B. Watts, burned.

Joseph Wambaugh, injured about the Clare Whittaker, Oakland, ankle broken. Oliver Wright, bruised and cut.

The First Explosion. At ten o'clock a foul odor was noticed boards, showing the presence of escaping natural gas, and then up the walls. The next instant the exposion came. The walls were hurled in every direction and the top of the building fell with a crunching, grinding sound, covering all. The ruins were burning immediately and shrieks could be heard from those buried beneath.

Of the seven persons in the building three were burned alive. The rest are still alive and may recover.

The Second Explosion.

A hundred persons were at work on the ruins and trying to save Gresh's to save those buried beneath. While "thus engaged and 20 minutes after the first explosion when the second came from beneath the grocery it was with a mighty roar and hurled the building to atoms. Forty people were knocked senseless, were strewn in all directions with broken bones and burned bodies, while many more escaped with small bruises. This shock made the whole Gresh, the groceryman, was caught and ered before it was entirely burned. The ruins were added to those of the building adjoining, demolished by the first explosion, and the whole mass, together with an adjoining frame cottage and a livery stable, was burned to ashes, only the bucket brigade being on hand in time to do any good, and it is probable only prolonged the agony of the victims who were burned.

The money loss will likely not amount to more than $10,000. All of the buildings destroyed were wooden ones.

TWO GIRLS KILLED.

Awful Result of a Boiler Explosion a Morton, Ill.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 6 .- Morton, Tazewell county, ten miles from Peoria, was the scene of a terrible explosion Sunday afternoon. Tillie and Emma Beyer were killed outright, and Albert Beyer, Frank Beyer, Cassie White and Mrs. Louis Moschel were badly injured. The Beyer boys will probably die. The boilers in a brick building used as a mill, electric light power house and pumping station exploded, demolishing the building and damaging the water tower, 150 feet distant. Houses for blocks were also damaged. Fireman George Grimm entered the builing a few minutes before five o'clock, started the fires in the boiler and then went home for supper. He says there was 25 pounds of steam and cannot explain what caused the explosion, The Beyer children were playing in the yard next to the mill and were unable to get away. The boiler caught one of the little girls and carried her 150 feet, she landing on the top of a barn. She was crushed to pieces. Flying iron crushed the skull of her sister, killing her outright.

COST OF THE STRIKE.

It is Estimated That the Miners Have Lost $10,500,000.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 6 .- It is safe to say that the miners' strike will end within a week. It is understood here that the national officials of the miners' union are willing to accept the operators' offer of a compromise at 65 cents. an advance of 11 cents, although the strikers wanted 69 cents. The Pittsburgh miners, or a majority of them, are still insisting upon the 69-cent rate, but as their delegates to the Columbus convention will go uninstructed it is probable they will be persuaded to vote for the compromise.

The battle has been a costly one for the strikers, according to estimates made by their own officials. It is hoped work will be resumed by Friday next, just ten weeks since the strike ordered went into effect, and in that time the strikers have lost in wages $10,500,000. It is estimated that in the bituminous coal districts of the country, including Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and other states, 12,000 men were idle. The average earnings of the men is put at $1.40 a day.

If the compromise is accepted it will take two years of steady work for the strikers to recover what they have lost. Although the strikers are by far the heaviest losers, the operators claim that they too have lost, or rather will lose, $1,000,000. The operators say that up to date they have lost no money, because they have been able to sell at fancy prices immense piles of slack and mine refuse that is ordinarily worth nothing. But the advance of 11 cents proposed will result in their filling a number of large contracts at a loss, and for this there is no remedy until new contracts are made. The operators say there is but 1,000,000 tons yet to be shipped to the lakes under contract, but they are afraid they will not be able to get it out in time, because there will be a shortage of cars just as soon as the miners resume work.

ITS BUSINESS PARALYZED.

Norton's Defalcations at Durand May Amount to $100,000.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 6.-There are no startlingly new developments in the Durand bank case. Young Norton's father and Blake, his father-in-law, have. now turned over to the creditors of the bank every scrap of property they have on earth. Mr. Blake told a friend that he would not be surprised if the loss In the drug store of J. M. Watts, and a resulting from the debts of his sonlamp in a dark room used for amateur in-law footed up $100,000, although photography went out. It was lighted, those who have studied the matter say and as the burning match was thrown it will not exceed $50,000. The bank to the floor streaks of flame of a bluish still remains unopened. Much of Nortint ran along the joints between the ton's property has been attached several times over by the depositors in the hope of realizing something on it. Business in the town has been paralyzed by the failure, small merchants and working people having all their funds tied up in the bank. Nothing has yet been learned of Norton's whereabouts.

KILLS HIS FATHER.

Michael Meyer Shot by His Son Rob ert in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 6.-Robert Meyer is in jail and Michael Meyer, his father, is dead at the morgue. When the boy returned to his home from work the grocery, adjoining, pulling at the ruins father was smashing the furniture preperatory to deserting it. He attacked the son and was shot dead by the boy in sight of the family. The younger members of the family were fond of playing on musical instruments, which the old man detested. The wife was fond of society and the husband proclaimed her untrue and their children illegitimate. The dead man is said to have been a heavy drinker since he betown quiver. Beneath these ruins Pius gan to draw a pension of $12 a month as an old soldier. Strange to say, none crushed to death. His body was recov- of the family has visited the parricide in prison.

VAGRANTS BURNED TO DEATH. Set Fire to a North Dakota Jail and Three Perish in the Flames.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 6.—Tramps began to rob and pillage stores at Conway, a small town in western Walsh county, Saturday afternoon. The city marshal and a posse captured three of the ringleaders after a hard fight and placed them in the city jail. At one o'clock Sunday morning the jail was discovered on fire and before the flames could be extinguished one of the vagrants was cremated and the other two have since died of frightful burns. It is supposed the men tried to burn a hole through which they could escape and the blaze got beyond their control.

Germans Celebrate.

Cincinnati, Sept. 6 .- The anniversary of the first settlement of the Germans in America, at Germantown, Pa., was celebrated here Sunday with the largest demonstration of the kind ever known in this city. Over 100 German societies participated. All the railways brought excursions. There were parades in the morning and over 40,000 people assembled in the Zoological gardens in the afternoon. Carl Schurz was the orator of the day.

Fatal Railway Wreck.

Waterville, Me., Sept. 6 .- An excursion train on the Maine Central railroad was wrecked Sunday morning two miles west of Etha station. One person was killed and 32 wounded. The train was carrying excursionists from Dover and Foxcraft to the Etna camp meeting. The breaking of a flange derailed and overturned a car containing 65 passengers.

SCORE THE COURTS.

The Labor Conference at St. Louis-Another Convention Called.

St. Louis, Sept. 1 .- The conference of labor leaders of the country, which has been in session here two days, finished its work Tuesday evening.

A resolution introduced by Mr. Mahon, of Detroit, calling upon all miners now at work to desert their posts, and terming them enemies of human liberty so long as they remained on duty, was adopted. The convention also ordered its chairman, Mr. Pomeroy, of the International Typographical union, to request President McKinley, in the name of the convention, to call a special session of congress for the purpose of "defining the authority of judges in the matter of injunctions.'

The platform adopted is, in part, as

"The fear of the more watchful fathers of the republic has been justified. The judiciary has become supreme. We witness a political phenomenon absolutely new in the history of the world; a republic prostrate at the feet of judges appointed to administer its laws.

"We have met to counsel together, and have come to the following conclusions

"Whereas, the present strike of the coal miners has again demonstrated the fact that our so-called liberty is not freedom, but is a stupendous sham, under which millions are degenerating, while hundreds of thousands of men, women and children are starving in hovels on the public highways:

"Whereas, this condition has become permanent for a large and ever increasing number of our population, as long as w permit a comparatively small class of legalized exploiters to monopolize the means of production and distribution for their private benefit-a fact again obvious in the case of the miners:

"Whereas, appeals to congress and the courts for relief are fruitless since the legislative as well as the executive and judicial powers are under the control of the capitalistic class, so that it has come to pass in this 'free country' that while cattle and swine have a right to the public highways, America's so-called freemen have not; "Whereas, our capitalistic class, as i again shows in the present strike, is armed, not only by policemen, marshals, sheriffs and deputies, but also by a regular army and militia, in order to enforce government by injunction, suppressing lawful assemblage, free speech and the right to the public highway, while on the other hand, the laboring men of the country are unarmed and defenseless, contrary to the word and spirit of the constitution of the United States. Therefore, be it

Shortly after the conference had as sembled for the afternoon session, there was a spontaneous call for Eugene Debs, and the famous Indianian rose from his seat and came slowly to the platform. When the cheering ceased Mr. Debs began a speech, which was interrupted at the end of nearly every sentence by cheering and hand-clapping. He said: "I believe the gravity of the industrial situation in this country is well understood. It is quite evident the delegates o the convention are cognizant of the fact that civil liberty is dead in America. have said, and say again, for the last time, I have appealed to the courts for justice, and shall appeal to them no more. The A. R. U. expended $45,000 to have the question of civil rights tested in the supreme court of the United States, only to be told that we have no rights that capital was bound to respect. Shall we appeal to the supreme court again? No. We appeal to this convention and to the country for the uprising of all the common people in every walk of life to beat back the courts and reenthrone the rights of the American people. Labor day is near. What shall we do? I predict, my friends, that we will see the extraordinary spectacle of enslaved labor rattling its chains and dancing to the music. Labor is the cheapest commodity on God's earth, and yet there are those who would have it at a lower price. From justice of the peace to justice of the supreme court of the United States all the judicial powers of the United States are directed against labor. All the organized sources of society are against labor, and if labor expects to emancipate itself labor itself must do it. "I hope in the march of common intelligence we will reach a point where we will be able to settle these questions without appealing to the sword or bullet. I cannot tell. Certain it is there are thousands of our fellow citizens suffering, and certain it is this cannot last. The time will come to incite the populace. When this time comes you can depend on me. I will not stand in the rear and ask you to go ahead. I will be in front and say to you: 'Come on.' I shrink from that bloodshed," and Mr. Debs paused impressively, "but if this is necessary to preserve liberty and our rights—in that event I will shed the last drop of blood that courses through my veins."

As Mr. Debs finished the delegates rose to their feet, jumped in the air, threw their hats in the air and crowded forward to greet the speaker. Miners May Resume Work at 65 Cents Until End of the Year.

Columbus, O., Sept. 4.—The end of the great miners' strike is in sight. Friday afternoon the national executive board of the United Mine Workers agreed to recommend to the miners a proposition from the Pittsbungh operators for a straight price of $5 cents a ton, to continue in force until the end of the year. A delegate convention of all miners who have suspended work has been called to meet in Columbus September 8 at ten o'clock a. m., to act upon the recommendation. President Ratchford and the other members of the board say there is not the slightest doubt but that the miners will approve the recommendation. The proposition does not involve arbitration, and in effect provides for an immediate settlement of the strike. President Ratchford said that there were special reasons for the board recommending the proposition. It the first place it concedes the miners a material advance. Had a 69-cent rate been secured he was confident it could not have been maintained for more than 70 days.

The proposition does away with all the uncertainties of arbitration and will bring the strike to a speedy termination. As soon as the miners ratify the proposition work will be resumed in all the mines. In the second place the proposition provides for a revival of the joint conference for the adjustment of prices. The operators are pledged to meet with the miners prior to the termination of the agreement and determine the rate of mining for the next year.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 4.—The settlement of the coal strike on the basis of the proposition now under consideration at the Columbus conference will have no effect upon the future action of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company, according to the statement of President De Armit. Said he:

"Even if the great bituminous coal strike is settled in every state and district involved, and all the strikers return to work pending arbitration on a new price, the miners of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company will have to fight it out with the company and return to work to carry out the contract legally signed and acepted by the workmen.

In the last great strike De Armit's men were induced to join the strike, and it was three months after the strike was settled before the miners of the New York and Cleveland company returned to work at the same price they were receiving when they quit. President De Armit figures that the strike has so far cost the miners of the country $8,000,000. He bases this statement on the supposition that 100,000 men were out, and that they averaged ten dollars per week. His men have forfeited $15,000 in wages to the company by breaking their contracts. The fight of the De Armits against the miners has also been a very costly one. Already about $115,000 has been spent by the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company for wages and board of deputy sheriffs.

ANDREWS DECIDES.

Will Be Head of the New Cosmopolitan University.

New York, Sept. 4 .- Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, president of Brown university, Providence, R. I., whose resignation as head of the faculty of that institution is still in the hands of the officers, has accepted the position of president of the new Cosmopolitan university, founded by John Brisben Walker.

Dr. Andrews resigned from Brown university because of his radical views on the silver question. His resignation was taken up recently by the trustees, and the learned president was requested to reconsider his action. Not that Brown university accepted or stood sponsor for his economic ideas, but that Brown university wanted Dr. Andrews.

In the meantime Mr. Walker had offered to Dr. Andrews the presidency of a university that, it was promised, should be world-wide in its scope-a university without fees, without diplomas, without red tape and expenses of any kind. Friday night Dr. Andrews gave out a statement in which he announced his acceptance of the offer, and said that the work to be done by the new corporation is in the nature of the university extension already carried on by Brown university, so that the head of Brown university might conceivably be the same person who had charge of the new work. He, however, did not deem such a union desirable, and if resorted to it will only be a device to tide over a temporary diffi-

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—Private advices have been received here to the effect that Enrico Mathou, the wellknown banker and promoter of several gigantic schemes in Central America, has failed for over $3,000,000. St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.-The morning session of the farmers' convention Thursday was given over to choice of place for next meeting, first vice president and action on more resolutions. Fort Worth, Tex., was chosen almost without opposition for the next place of meeting. L. H. Maxwell, of Louisiana, was chosen for vice president.

An amendment to the constitution was adopted intended to broaden the scope of the organization. All institutions and organizations interested in agriculture may hereafter be represented by delegates to this Farmers' national congress. A resolution favoring the government ownership of railroads was overwhelmingly defeated, receiving only five or six affirmative votes. A resolution urging congress to hurry work on the harbors of refuge on the great lakes went through without opposition.

At the afternoon session a resolution favoring silver was after debate rejected. Adverse report of the committee on resolutions was adopted with reference to the following subjects: Government ownership of railroads, the initiative and referendum, income tax. and a resolution declaring against corporate ownership of land for speculative purposes. Resolutions were adopted as follows: Commending the secretary of agriculture for his efforts in behalf of the dairy industry; favoring the grading of butter for export; favoring reduction of all official salaries; providing for a committee to report to the next congress a plan for cooperation between the states for the prevention of contagious diseases among domestic animals.

German Ire Aroused.

Berlin, Sept. 3 .- It is asserted upon reliable authority that the German government will demand from France an explanation of the dispatch sent by M. Meline, the French premier, in reply to the message of congratulation of the Alsace-Loraine society upon the signing of the Franco-Russian alliance, in which dispatch M. Meline expressed the hope of a reunion of Alsace-Loraine with the French republic. Germany, it is announced also, will demand satisfaction for the excesses committed before the German embassy in Paris on the evening of President Faure's return from his visit to Russia.

Three W. C. T. U. Conventions. Buffalo, N. It will immediately follow the fourth biennial convention of the World's W. C. T. U. October 23 to 26-which in its turn will follow the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of the Dominion of Canada; the last two to be held in the city of Toronto, Ont. These will, without doubt, form the most remarkable trio of woman's conventions ever held in this or any other country.

Twelve Killed in a Mine.

Glenwood Springs, Col., Sept. 4.-At six o'clock Friday evening a terrible explosion of coal dust occurred in the old Sunshine mine, owned by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, 12 miles from Glenwood. Up to the present time 12 bodies have been recovered and so great is the excitement that it cannot be learned whether there are any more in the mine or not. Rescuing parties are still exploring the mine and great crowds surround the entrance. The bodies taken out are in a horribly mutilated condition.

Trusted Man Missing.

Chicago, Sept. 4 .- Warrants charging embezzlement have been issued for the arrest of Charles M. Charnley, for 15 years treasurer of the Presbyterian board of aid for colleges and academies. He cannot be found. The American Surety company caused the warrants to issue, and alleges that Mr. Charnley has confessed to a shortage of $50,000, the trust funds contributed for educational institutions having been used in speculations on the board of trade.

Dr. Richardson is authority for the statement that they breed in the barren grounds of Arctic America. The young are able to fly in August, and by the middle of September they have departed for the south. They mainly feed on rushes, insects and berries and in turn are very excellent eating themselves, but are rarely domesticated .- Orange Judd Farmer.

FEEDING PROBLEMS.

Balanced Rations Produce Better Results Than Corn Alone. There are several horns to the dilemma that confronts the man who settles down to one way of doing things without so much as a thought about changing his plans and methods to suit changing conditions, says the Kansas Farmer. We may use the feeding problem as an illustration of the point in question. When corn is comparatively cheap, or as might be said during the last feeding season, absolutely below cost of production, the feeder does not feel justified in buying more concentrated feeds in any form whatever for making up a balanced ration. In one sense he is a loser by this neglect, but upon the whole no doubt he is on the safer side, all things considered. But to fix upon this as a rule of action for all seasons, would be to invite and meet sure defeat. The Kansas experiment station has had under consideration some important phases of the feding problem. Their operations in the feed yard have shown conclusively that steers fed a balanced ration have eaten more pounds of grain and more pounds of fodder than steers that were fed on cornmeal and corn fodder, and likewise more than steers fed on ear corn and corn fodder. These balanced ration steers made a gain of 141.8 pounds more during the season than the cornmeal fed steers, and 164.2 pounds more than the ear corn fed steers. Being in better condition when sold they brought a better price than did the other lots. But what would appear to be the strangest part of it all, is the fact that they made their gains at a less cost than did the other two lots. This lot was fed on cornmeal, oil meal and mill feed, closely approxmating Wolff's feeding standards for fattening steers. The profit over that derived from feeding the other lots was quite small as we understand it, and for the ordinary feeder who has on his farm in a year like this, unlimited stores of corn, and who might have the corn fodder if he would, it would unquestionably be the better policy to teed simply corn and corn fodder. And this is exactly what feeders have been doing upon the whole. Yet the experiment is a valuable one in demonstrating how necessary it is that the feeder go about his business intelligently and Dipping Is a Good Practice. The practice of dipping sheep is a very commendable one. In fact, it is considered absolutely necessary for the preservation of a flock. Many on the western range think that sheep there are free from all diseases, but the fact remains that while sheep may run a year or two and show no signs of being affected in any way, there may be a few sheep that are affected must be dipped to reach the few as well as to prevent the growth of the disease until it affects the whole flock.

They Are Turned Into Damaging Testimony Against Luctgert.

Chicago, Sept. 6.-The strongest blow of the week was given the defense in the Luetgert trial Saturday. Mrs. Christine Feldt, in whom the state presents the motive for the alleged crime, took the stand for the prosecution and furnished the most sensational episode of the hearing. She related declarations made by the defendant which tended strongly to show that he purposed doing violence to his wife as soon as his business troubles were over and settled. She produced letters which he had written to her while in jail. They contained expressions of love, devotion and vows of fidelity. They informed the woman that if she would stand by Luetgert he would go away with her when the trouble was over and they would ever after be happy in each other's company.

Luetgert was placed in the strong light of a lover who was waiting to gain his freedom to join the woman with whom he was infatuated. "Dear precious Cristine" his letters were addressed. Their effect upon the jury was remarkable. Here was a man charged with the murder of his wife posing as the lover of another woman and writing her letters which showed that their relations dated far back of the alleged crime. Luetgert trusted the wealthy widow. He expected that she would furnish him the money to pay for his defense, and when he had gained his freedom they would be happy to-

How the state induced the woman to desert the man who felt that he had the right to send her such letters did not appear. It was the original purpose of the state to make Christine Feldt the motive for the crime. There was evidence to warrant this. The woman realized the position in which she had been placed by Luetgert and determined to place herself right before the Luetgert was visibly affected by the appearance of Mrs. Feldt as a witness. His effort to appear unconcerned was painful. Slowly the great drops of perspiration came upon his forehead and trickled down his wrinkled face and ran down his huge neck. The fear that showed in his face was intense. He tried to laugh, and it was a hollow sham. Then he sank deep down in his chair and diligently wiped from his face the perspiration that was coursing down it. The blow had struck home. Gottlieba Schimpke, 14 years of age, testified that on the night of the disappearance of Mrs. Luetgert she saw at about 11 o'clock, as she was returning from a dance, the defendant and his wife enter the factory This was at a time when the watchman was absent, Luetgert having sent him on an errand to a drug store. On cross-examination and consequently the whole flock the girl broke down badly, and denied several things she had previously said. She was given time to compose herself, and took the chair again. She broke down a second time, and then the court took matters into his own hands, and asked her if she saw Mrs. Luetgert enter the factory that night in company with her husband. She was very positive that she had seen them.

The Blue and the Gray.

Both men and women are apt to feel a little blue, when the gray hairs begin to show. It's a very natural feeling. In the normal condition of things gray hairs belong to advanced age. They have no business whitening the head of man or woman, who has not begun to go down the slope of life. As a matter of fact, the hair turns gray regardless of age, or of life's seasons; sometimes it is whitened by sickness, but more often from lack of care. When the hair fades or turns gray there's no need to resort to hair dyes. The normal color of the hair is restored and retained by the use of

A Mean Track.

In Mexico feed of all sorts is very cheap. To bring it into the United States involves payment of a heavy duty.

Poultry is very high in Arizona, and these two facts set a lively Yankee at work. He built a range, part in Arizona, and part in New Mexico. There is grain storehouse in the Mexican end of the range, and when the hour for feeding comes this man assembles his flocks near the storehouse and supplies their wants bountifully. They come home to roost under the American flag, and there spend the most of their time until feeding hour comes again.

In this way their owner effects a saving of at least fifty per cent on his food supplies and at the same time kills and markets his birds under the Stars and Stripes, and doesn't do a bit of smuggling, either.

The ingenious evasion of law creates no little amusement among his friends, and he is serenely conscious of having committed no crime against the laws of the country. It their is any fault whatever, "the plaguy hens" are guilty of it, and the question arises whether or not they can be called to account for their conduct.

A Story of Lincoln.

President Lincoln when he was a young lawyer practicing in the courts of Illinois, was once engaged in a case in which the lawyer on the other side made a very voluble speech full of wild statements to the jury. Lincoln opened his reply by saying: "My friend who has just spoken to you would be all right if it were not for one thing, and I don't know that you ought to blame him for that, for he can't help it What I refer to is his reckless statements without any ground of truth. You have seen instances of this in his speech to you. Now, the reason of this lies in the constitution of his mind. # Barnyard Manure.

Conclusions reached by a German au thority are that the manure pile must be carefully constructed and protected from extremes of moisture and sushine. It should be kept moist, but not wet. It is well to turn cattle in upon it occasionally to tramp it down, and thus exclude excess of air. When the heap is completed, it should be covered with earth. If these precautions are observed, the use of preservatives may be dispensed with. The profitableness of the use of the latter in any case is determined by their cost.

I began by sowintroducing other crops for this purpose, until to day it bears, as I have said, good crops of clover. The ground should be kept covered. After oats sow rye, working the ground with a spring tooth harrow, then the next spring plow the rye under and sow clover or plant corn. If you can't grow clover for plowing under then try peas.

Orign of Potatato Bugs.-The Colorado potato beetle receives its common name from the fact that its native home was in the eassern base of she Rocky Mountains, where it fed upon a species of wild potato quite common to this region, known 18 the Sand-bur (Lolanum rostratum). It was collected there and described by Thomas Say in 1824. It was first mentioned as an injurious insect insect in 1859 when some of the carly settlers of western Nebraska reported it feeding in large numbers upon the Irish potato. We thus see that the species changed its food from a wild to a cultivated plant, as has been the case with many of our injuribus inscects.-Ex.
