As for the veterans who prefer to camp out, with a mattress only between their bodies and the floor, and their grips for pillows, two classes of free quarters will be provided. The most interesting by all means is Camp Sherman. Sunday night delivered an important official document to the state department stating that the armistice which the queen 'regent of Spain had commanded Gen. Blanco to proclaim was without conditions; that her majesty's government had granted liberal institutions to the island of Cuba which the coming Cuban parliament would develop; recalling the condolence and sympathy expressed by the queen regent and her government, on the disaster of the Maine and the horror this disaster had occasioned in Spanish hearts, and appealing to the courtesy and sense of justice of the United States government to enlighten public opinion upon the attitude of Spain. The note also repeats the offer of the Spanish government to submit the Maine question to experts designated by the maritime powers of the world.

This document was the official notification of the Spanish government to the United States of granting an armistice and its essential terms. Minister Woodford's dispatch Saturday field of many acres extent, which is to night had briefly stated the fact that be transformed into a tented city, with an armistice had been agreed upon, but a careful sewage system, with electric it was not communicated as coming lights and city water. Abstract of the Contents.

"The Spanish minister in Washington, deeply impressed by the numerous errors which seem to have obtained credit in public opinion in America in regard to the Cuban question, considers it his duty to call again the attention of the secretary

It requires four years and four months for a ray of light to reach us from the nearest star, and yet light travels at the rate of 186,330 miles in a second. At this rate a first-class express train, running at a speed of 37 miles an hour, would require a continuous run of 75,000,000 years to reach Alpha Centauri. It would take 250,000 years for a cannon ball, traveling at the usual speed of such projectiles, to reach this same point, which is our nearest star neighbor.

THE state superintendent of public instruction in New York is urging the adoption of a curfew law by the legislature. He says that in 300 western cities that have adopted the measure there has been a decrease of from 50 to 75 per cent. of the arrests of children, and a decrease of from 50 to 100 per cent. in commitments to the reform schools. He says that last year there were 179,000 arrests of children under 16 years of age. What he wants is a state law of uniform operation.

Ox the banks of rivers in South America a curious insect is found, an insect that fights its enemies with a natural explosive resembling a charge of gunpowder sent from the muzzle of agun. J. G. Wood, in his natural history, says that when this beetle is handled a sharpish explosion is heard, and on looking at the creature a tiny wreath of bluish vapor is seen to issue from the body. This vapor has a very pungent ordor, and when discharged against the skin leaves a yellow mark like that produced by nitric acid.

Blanco has been ordered to proclaim an armistice without conditions. He will determine later the duration and details of this armistice, so as to carry out the generous intentions of her majesty and the wishes of the friends of peace.

It will be their duty and privilege to put into practice and develop these institutions. In addition to this Cuba is represented in the parliament at Madrid.

"Third. Public opinion in this country appears to ignore the fact that the loss of the Maine was immediately followed by official and reiterated expressions of condolence from her majesty the queen, from her government, from her charge d'affaires in Washington, and from the authorities in Havana; all of which tended to affirm the horror which this disaster had caused to arise in Spanish hearts, as also the sympathy felt for the United States government and navy and for the American nation.

The Spanish troops will for the time being go into garrison. Their future disposition has not even been considered, for much depends upon the duration of the armistice and the course of the insurgents. If the insurgents continue their fighting, and make attacks upon the Spanish troops, the situation will become complicated, for it is hardly believed that the Spanish forces will lay down their arms for any length of time if they continue to be under fire from the insurgents.

Wheat Market.

Chicago, April 12, 1897. Wheat soared to-day, the May option reaching 107 while the July advanced from an opening at 835 to 8414, and at the close there were far more buyers than sellers.

The buige was caused by a better Con tinental demand, the cables from Paris being materially higher, while Liverpool was not up materially and Antwerp was unchanged. This set the shorts to cover ing, and towards the close they were eager bidders, although in the early part of the ses-ion they were not anxious, the best bidding at that time being done by some St. Louis people, who evidently had early information as to the situation on the other side of the Atlantic. The damage to the California crop also had some weight with both bulls and bears.

Corn held firm on the advance in wheat but the favorable outlook for seeding prevents any marked raise in that cereal just now. Provisions were dull.

An Interesting Article from the Pen of William A. French, State Land Commissioner.

ENCOURAGING WORDS FOR THE FARMERS

Those Expecting Rewards from Raising Sugar Beets Are on the Right Track-Hints That Will Prove of Very Great Value to Those Who Are Interested.

The following article on the beet sugar industry of Michigan, prepared by William A. French, state land commissioner, will be found both interesting and instructive reading for farmers:

Lansing, Mich., April 11 .- The farmers of Michigan who are expecting rewards from the beet sugar industry are the ones who are on the right track and those who are experimenting in the sugar beet raising are the ones who will be ready when a market for sugar beets is given them. It has been learned from experience in other states where sugar beets are grown for the market that it is first necessary that the farmer take some interest in the industry before the capitalist will put his money in a factory. He wants to be insured that after the factory is built the farmer will raise the beets. The best plan for the farmers to pursue in this case is to form county organizations, hold meetings, post the farmers on the culture of beets, and when the capitalist learns that the farmers of that county are thoroughly aroused and that the soil and climate is all right for the culture of beets he will be ready to invest his money.

Posting the Farmers.

The law enacted by the recent legislature providing for the payment of a bounty of one cent a pound upon all sugar manufactured in Michigan from beets raised in Michigan places this new industry in charge of the land commissioner, who is at present engaged in the work of posting the farmers and encouraging the investment of money to secure them a market for their beets. He has secured a very favorable expression from farmers living in that part of Michigan where sugar beets can be raised, and he is confident that in the course of a year or more at least a half dozen large factories will have been erected in the state.

Try Experiments.

This year it would be well for the farmers to do a little experimenting, and next year when they have a market for their beets they will not be a tenderfoot in the business. To experiment does not mean a loss of time or money, as the sugar beet makes excellent feed for stock, especially for fattening steers or for milk-producing cows. Several farmers furnishing milk for condensed milk factories write that they have met with great success. Mr. D. Shadduck, of Grand Ledge, writes that he raises beets with a one-horse cultivator, which was re-peated June 12 and 21. By the time the latter work was done the beets were show-ing the fourth leaf with roots as large as wheat straw

Thinning Process.

The thinning was therefore done imme diately. By means of a sharp hoe, a large share of the surplus beets were removed from each row, leaving bunches of beets eight or nine inches apart. From these bunches all but the strongest beets were removed. This was done by men and boys who were compelied to work on their knees. hunting out those that should be pulled In this manner the best beets are preserved at the proper distance. Do not leave beets closer than eight inches or the roots will be small, and a greater distance will make the beets too large.

The Harvest. After the thinning of the beets nothing further was done in the way of cultivation. That year September was warm and there was sunshine almost continually, and the first of October was wet and the following week warm and murky. It was therefore necessary to harvest the beets at once to prevent a second growth and consequently lessen the per cent. of sugar. The importance of deep preparation of the ground can be seen to be necessary to allow the roots to grow far below the surface, and thus get the benefit of the moisture during dry weather. When the soil is not plowed deep the beets will not have the desired long, conical form. The beets were harvested October 16. A plow was run along each side of the rows, throwing the soil away and leaving the beets standing on the very edge of the furrow. The beets were pulled by hand, the tops wrenched off and the beets thrown in piles and afterwards loaded and hauled away. The farmer would, of course, prepare his beets to be hauled directly to the factory, or prepare them for shipment as the case may be.

What It Costs.

It is still impossible to tell exactly what the raising of beets costs per acre. At the college the raising of beets cost $29.40 per acre. To this would be added the cost of hauling the beets to the factory, where they would have brought about five dollars per ton as the per cent. of sugar averaged over 16. Beets with a per centage of 12 and coefficiency of purity of 80 bring a price of four dollars per ton, and the price increases with the per cent. and purity. The yield averaged 13 tons to the acre. At the factory the beets would have brought $65 to he acre. The cultivation cost that add seven dollars, to be allowed for carting to the factory, making a total expense of $36.40 and a net profit per acre of $35.60 per acre. Of course the cultivation by the average farmer will be a little more expensive, and it may be that his beets will not always be of such high standard, but it is safe to say that by careful cultivation he will realize from $15 to $20 net per acre on all of his beets, which far exceeds the profit derived from any article now raised on the farm

[Special Correspondence.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 6 .- The library building of the University of Michigan was first occupied in 1883. The books then numbered 40,000. The average annual increase in the 14 intervening years has been a little more than 4,000 volumes, bringing up the total to about 100,000. It was estimated that this building would shelve 113,400 volumes. This necessitated ten volumes to the running foot of shelving. An average of ten volumes to a foot is excessive. A truer estimate is seven volumes, which gives the capacity for 80,000 volumes. The overflow of 20,000 volumes are temporarily stacked upon temporary shelves, piled up under stairways, and scattered in other buildings railroad companies to twice their present on the campus. The main readingroom, seating 210 readers, and the two reading-rooms for advanced students, furnished for 100 readers, are all very much overcrowded, and more than twice the number are compelled to find accommodation there.

An Imperative Need.

It would be interesting to know the condition of this library five years hence. As to the readers, one cannot Enthusiastic Scene on Chicago Board safely predict, but there is no doubt that there will be 30,000 additional books. Thomas Carlyle was right in his hackneyed expression "The true university of these days is a collection of books." President Dwight, of Yale, says: "The need of large libraries for large universities is coming to be more and more fully appreciated. The changes in the methods and demands cf education which pertain to our era renders the need imperative for a university like ours."

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

Proceedings of the Extra Session of the Thirty-Ninth Assembly.

Lansing, Mich., April 8 .- The discussion of the Pingree railroad-tax bill in the senate yesterday caused excitement. Gov. Pingree, who was on the floor, was denounced as the "prince of demagogues" by Senator Thompson, who, in turn, was at-tacked by Senator Moore, the Pingree leader. The bill was amended so as to increase the membership of the board of assessors from three to five, and so as to bring electric railway companies within its provision.

Lansing, Mich., April 9.-The Pingree bill for the taxation of railroads, express, telegraph and telephone companies was killed by a vote of 15 to 16 in the senate yester-A motion to reconsider was tabled, day. thus placing the measure beyond resurrection. During the debate on the measure frequent allusions were made to the gov ernor, and he was often severely criticized not only for calling the special session of the legislature but for the manner in which it was alleged he attempted to force his measure upon it. He was charged with having brought his officehoulders to Lansing to lobby for the measure, and Senator Merriam read from the governor's message delivered one year ago, in which it was stated that the present specific tax system should not be disturbed. The executive was thereupon accused of changing his mind with every wind that blows.

Lansing, Mich., April 11 .- The senate was not in session on Saturday, having adjourned until the 12th.

House. Lansing, Mich., April 8 .- No business was transacted in the house yesterday.

Lansing, Mich., April 9 .- No business was transacted in the house yesterday.

Lansing, Mich., April 11 .- The house on Saturday passed a bill repealing the special charter of the Michigan Central railroad, and also passed the Bemis bill increasing the specific tax on the gross earnings of proportions. Its provisions are as follows:

Earnings of $2,000 per mile, 3½ per cent. between $2,000 and $4,000, 41/2 per cent.; between $4,000 and $6,000, six per cent; between $6,000 and $8,000, seven per cent.; in excess of $8,000, ten per cent.; earnings of union depot companies in excess of $20,000, 15 per cent., which is estimated to increase the taxes from $700,000 to $1,250,000.

A message was received from Gov. Pingree recommending authorization of a war loan of a half a million dollars; also advising recruiting the mational guard and volunteer militia companies to a strength not exceeding 150 men per company. A scene of enthusiasm followed the reading in the house, and the loan bill was passed within half an hour. A bill was also passed increasing an appropriation for the naval reserves from $2,300 to $11,000, and providing for raising the same.

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, head. aches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. for his cows at a cost of about three cents per bushel, and that they are worth six cents for feeding. Farmers desiring to experiment thus can secure seed from the Michigan agricultural college.

Among the Fortunate.

It is not the people of every state who will profit by this new industry. There are comparatively few of the fortunate, but the Michigan farmers are among the fortunate. The sugar beet belt in Michigan is 200 miles wide, taking in almost all the lower peninsula. The soil upon which the sugar beet may be grown must contain a good supply of potash and phosphates, but the quality of the beet is injured by an excess of organic matter, causing a decrease of sugar, and thus the price will decrease at the market. Mucky lands and lands containing an excess of vegetable matter are not suitable for the raising of the beet for the market. An open-a loam sandy loam, clay loam, sandy soll or grav elly soil-with a penetrable subsoil is the ideal for growing sugar beets.

Requires Cultivation.

The sugar beet requires considerable cultivation to insure success. Last year ex periments were made by several hundred farmers in Michigan and also at the agricultural college. At the college four oneacre plots of level, well-drained sandy loam selected for the experiments. The field had been in corn the year previons on an inverted timothy sod, which had been covered with a heavy coat of manure in the fall of 1895. It was plowed and subsoiled April 17. The plowing was done with an ordinary hand plow, which was followed immediately by a subsoil plow, which loosened the ground to a depth of 16 inches. The hand plow cut a furrow 12 inches wide and eight inches deep. The subsoil plow loosened the soil eight to ten inches below the bottom of the furrow made by the hand plow, but did not move it from its place. The ground was harrowed thoroughly with a spring-tooth harrow and later with a lighter slanting tooth harrow, until the ground was in fine condition. The next thing was to mark the ground, the distance between the rows being 22 inche

The Seed Planted.

On May 8 the seed was planted. Between 13 and 14 pounds of seed were used for every acre, that there might be no breaks or vacant places in the rows, as experiments have proven that it is almost next to impossible to successfully transplant beets to fill up vacancies. Experience has proven that it is more economical to sow thick and thin cut than it is to attempt to save seed and then to transplant and fill up gaps.

Served a Double Purpose.

Cultivation was commenced May 17, which was before the plants had appeared above the ground. The ground was gone over with a weeder, which served the double purpose of killing the germinating weeds and stirring up the soft, shallowed mulch needed to prevent the escaping of moisture. June 1 the ground was cultivated to anyone who may want it. which was before the plants had appeared

Results Obtained. Hundreds of farmers experimented with the seeds furnished by the government, and an analysis made at the agricultural college proves that the results obtained from experiments at the college can be taken as a criterion. In 64 counties 465 samples were properly used on the proper soil. 'The average per cent. in such samples was 16.40, and the coefficient of purity was 84, so that it can be seen that both were much above the standard, which insures the Michigan farmer that he will receive more than the regular price for his beets. To Keep the Soil Good.

The sugar beet does not exhaust the ferillity of the land, as has been stated, if proper care is taken. The entire crop should not be removed. When harvesting leave the tops, which retain the potash and phosphate materials. Where pulp is fed the manure should be used for fertilizing, thus returning these ingredients to the soil While sugar is valuable as food it contains no element of fertility, no potash, lime, phosphate, nitrogen or manurial material therefore all of these substances are retained in that which may be used as fertilzer. Sugar consists of oxygen, carbon and hydrogen, the elements taken up by the plant from the air, directly or indirectly. Therefore it can be seen that that portion of the beet which goes into the sugar does not contain any of the material necessary to keep the ground fertile, and what is taken away in the course of harvesting can be returned in the two ways named above. Good Feed for Cattle.

That beet sugar pulp is a great feed for attle, especially for fattening, there is no mistake. Mr. H. M. Allen, general maniger of the Standard Cattle company, of Ames, Neb., has experimented quite extensively with the feeding of pulp to cattle, and reports it as being a great food. In the winter of 1892-93 he fed 275 head of cattle and he reports that the cattle would eat as much as a hundred pounds of pulp a day, that they ate it with satisfaction and great relish, and that they consume very little water while eating the pulp. He says that the feeding of pulp will affect a valuable saving of other food, both hay and grain, and that in the feeding of cattle for beef, he can effect an economy of 20 or 30 per cent. of the cost of food. Pulp is easily preserved, it being possible to pile it outside and the frozen crust will protect the interior. It is easy for a farmer to haul home a load of pulp from the factory when returning from delivering a load of beets, and in that manner he can lay in a sufficient supply of pulp to feed during the winter. Object of the Bounty.

Some farmers think that the bounty should be paid direct to the farmer. The object of the bounty is to encourage the investment of capital to make for the farmer a market for his beets. He cannot realize any benefit from his beets, except for feeding purposes, unless he is given a ready market. This law not only provides for a bounty for the manufacturer, but further provides that he shall pay the farmer at least four dollars per ton for his beets when Fruit and Flower Mission.

For the last five or six years the fruit and flower mission has occupied a distinct position in the student life of Michingan university. The aims and objects of the organization have broadened and expanded considerably since it was started. Then the idea was to simply take fruit and flowers to the sick in the hospitals to make their stay there a little brighter and pleasanter.

Hospital Work.

The mission would be glad to provide a free bed in the hospitals, but this cannot be done on account of the limited amount of room. Practically it has. for the last three or four years, accomplished the same end; that is, it has kept in the hospitals such poor patients as were recommended to it by the clinical professors. Money has been lent or given to patients for whom a few weeks' treatment could effect a cure. The limited amount of money usually at the command of the mission has made it impracticable to attempt to care for cases which would remain any length of time.

Students Appealed To.

The committee consists of five members, the president, who is always a wife of one of the physicians on the hospital staff, and four chosen from the student body, two women and two men. This year the Sorority girls are busy making washable pillows for the use of the convalescents during the day, to use in the window seats; and all the students are appealed to in helping to make the stay of the invalids at the hospital more cheery and bright.

Some Archaeological Finds.

Mr. Harlan T. Smith entered the university in the fall of 1891 as a special student in archaeology and ethnology. For several years past he has been connected with the American Museum of Natural History in Central park, New York city, and during the summer of 1897 Mr. Smith was sent out by the museum with a party carrying on anthropological investigations in British Columbia. The February number of "Monumental Records" summarizes Mr. Smith's archaeological work at four places in British Columbia, Kamloops, Spence's Bridge, the famous burial ground at Lytton and Port Hammond. The remains found at Lytton and Kamloops were objects of shell, copper, bone and stone. Their shape suggests that the people using them were the immediate ancestors of the tribes at present in these regions. They were concealed in ancient burial places or in caches. Being buried in shifting sand, their original order had been much disturbed.

F. N. S.

that a committee appointed to solicit funds for their benefit was able to collect nearly $1,000 in a short time. Further subscriptions will be taken during the next few days, and the money will be used by the reserves for the purchase of new uniforms and other necessary accoutrement to get them into war trim.

Enthusiasm in the trading pits was such that while the naval reserves were in sight business on the 'change was practically suspended. No similar scene has been witnessed on the Chicago board of trade since the stirring days of the civil war, when one of the most celebrated batteries in the union army was quickly equipped by action of members of the board of trade.

CREMATED AT GRACELAND.

The Body of the Late Miss Frances E. Willard Incinerated at Chicago.

Chicago, April 11. -- The remains of Miss Frances E. Willard were cremated at Graceland cemetery Saturday in the presence of her secretary and lifelong friend, Miss Anna Gordon; her successor as president of the National W. C. T. U., Mrs. B. M. N. Stevenson, and Dr. Perry, of Garrett Biblical institute, who said the prayer as the casket was thrust into the furnace. Miss Willard was a stronge believer in incineration, believing it a duty the dead owed the living, and in her autobiography, "Fifty Years," she declared that it was her wish that her body be disposed of in that way. Funeral services over the ashes will be held at Rose Hill Sunday afternoon and then the ashes will be interred in the Willard family lot. Miss Willard's grave will be next to that of her mother.

May Move to Michigan.

Mount Eaton, O., April 9.-The Amish people, a strange religious sect, which constitutes a large portion of the farming population of Wayne and Holmes counties, are planning an exodus into Michigan. Ten of the leading men of the sect are now looking for a suitable location in the peninsula of Michigan, and if their report is favorable the entire company will emigrate there. The Amish are bitter in their denunciation of compulsory education and the school tax, do not send their children to school, and are very conservative.

Fatal Family Feud.

Knoxville, Tenn., April 11.-Saturday morning near McGhee station, Monroe county, John McGhee and his son Joseph shot and killed Henry and Ernest Howard and James Murrand and mortally wounded Thomas Howard. The Howards were brothers, and sons-inlaw of McGhee. The killing was the result of a family feud. The McGhees are prominent people and highly connected.

panish People Revolt at the Granting of angArmistice to the Cuban Insurgents.

Madrid, April 11 .- Spain may have to jecide very quickly between a war broad and a revolution at home. The eabinet's decision of Saturday to suspend hostilities in Cuba has borne fruit is scenes of turbulence Sunday and Sunday night which indicate a perilous condition of affairs. The demonstrations began as the crowd was returning from the bull fight. A boisterous party recognized Gen. Castelvi, bourbon pretender to the throne of France, who was wearing a scarf of the national colors. The crowd immediately nised cries of: "Viva Espana!" "Viva Cubal" This outburst took place in front of the presidency, and Senor Aguilera, the civil governor of Madrid, rushed into the crowd and by personal persuasion succeeded in restoring a measure of quiet. But the incident seemed to be the signal for a crystallination of the discontent that has been forming since Saturday, and Sunday night at ten o'clock the Puerto del Sol was filled with a noisy, dangerous crowd that seemed ready for violence. At that hour a large body of police was drawn up near the Hotel de Paris, where the civil governor was dining. Occasionally the cry, "Viva Espana!" would be raised and reechoed by a thousand voices. Senor Aguilera rushed into the thickest of the mob, brandishing a stick, but hitting nobody. Senor Aguilra is a man of gigantic proportions and curred. the best-loved individual in Madrid. The police acted admirably and the military were kept in reserve at the barracks in case of an emergency. At 10:30 a large crowd was still pa-

A moment later a blue hen fluttered into view, followed by the old hen huttered into view, followed by the old lady, who came running toward the cars, smiling and holding aloft in triumph the coveted egg. INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

From St. Lawrence Plaindealer, Canton, N. Y.

To suffer for years with a prevailing pain-ful ailment, which baffled skillful medical Tur aliment, which baffled skillful medical treatment, yet which was cured by a simple household remedy, is the lot which befell Mrs. George L. Rogers, of West Main Street, Canton, N. Y. "Thirteen years ago," said Mrs. Rogers to a reporter, "I was attacked with inflam-matory rheumatism and a complication of diseases. "MY WIFE'S LIFE."

When the lungs are attacked and the symptoms of consumption appear, then begins the struggle between affection and that destroying disease which slays its to the struggle when disease is conquered and health restored. Such an issue does not always end the struggle, but it did in the case of Mr. K. Morris, Memphis, Tenn, who saw his wife wasting and weakening and physicians helpless, and then sug-gested the simple remedy that wrought the cure. He tells the story thus:

The question: "Is consumption cura-ble?" is still debated, and still debatable. It is easy to say that this was not a case of consumption. Yet the physicians said it was. They should know. As a matter of fact, Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has wrought so many similar cures that it seems to argue the curableness of con-sumption, in its earlier stages, by the use of this remedy. There is no better medi-cine for pulmonary troubles than Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It gives relief in cases of Asthma, and Bronchitis, where re-lief has been heretofore unattainable. It promptly cures Coughs and Colds, La Grippe, and all affections of the throat and lungs. Heretofore, Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been put up in full size bottles only, at $1.00 per bottle. To meet a world-wide demand for a smaller pack-age, the remedy is now put up in half size the cure. He tells the story thus: "Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the phy-sicians pronounced consumption. The cough was extremely distressing, espe-cially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood. The doctors being unable to help her, I in-duced her to try Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle she was cured, so that now she is strong and quite healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life I have not the least doubt. I always keep Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. Whenever any of my family have a cold or cough we use it, and are

The mob visited the Military club and the offices of the liberal newspapers. Many were injured. At a late hour it was reported that the crowd had dispersed and only small groups of stragglers remained in the streets. The vicinity of Gen. Woodford's residence and the linited States legation had been desertjustification of the government's course are adroitly put in circulation.

El Imparcial (independent) says that Lieut, Gen. Correa, minister of war, in a conversation with several people expressed himself as follows:

"It is an error to say that the governmenthasgranted an armistice to the rebels. I would never give that before leaving the ministry, because it would be the same thing as recognizing the belligerency of the rebels. The government has granted the wishes of the powers that we should cease hostilities during the delay which Gen. Blanco judges prudent for preparing peace. I acceded to a cessation of hostilities, because to refuse the wishes of the powers would be to divorce Spain from the world. If I left the cabinet I should be placing my successor in an awkward position.

"Gen. Blanco will probably publish a proclamation of truce and also another offering indulgent terms during the cessation of hostilities. If, during this period, there are important submissions and the United States withdraws its ships from the neighborhood of Cuba and the Philippines, all will be well, and peace will soon be reached. Otherwise the Cuban war will be continued. and the powers will be obliged to demand that the United States maintain absolute neutrality, and enforce a dissolution of the filibustering committee in New York. The armistice is not to prevent the Spanish Sovernment from continuing its military preparations and placing the peninsula, the Canaries, the Belearic islands and Porto Rico in a state of defense."

Eye-witnesses say that the great mountain of snow, ice, earth and rocks rolled down the dizzy Taiya heights with the speed and rumble of a mighty train, burying beneath its weight scores of human beings. To those who were in the path of the destroyer escape was impossible. They were overwhelmed in an instant by the great weight of this mass of matter. Lansing, Mich., April 11 .- Gov. Pingree Saturday sent a message to the legislature recommending authorization of a war loan of a half million dollars; also advising recruiting the national guard and volunteer militia companies to a strength not exceeding 150 men per company. A scene of enthusi-asm followed the reading in the house, and the loan bill was passed within half an hour.

A bill also passed increasing an appropriation for the naval reserves from $2,300 to $11,000, and providing for raising the same. As the senate had adjourned until Tuesday, no action was had in that body.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 8, 1898 .-Washington has been more like a mammoth lunatic asylum this week than anything else. The wildest sort of statements have been made, for atime found believers. In fact, everybody including the President the Cabinet, and both branches of Con- ing re-election:

gress, is in a state of mervous lension which cannot possibly last much longer. Just when everybody was expecting the President's message, recommending forcible intervention in Cuba to go to Congress. and the action thereupon by Congress to Fischer, r. practically open the war with Spain, the announcement came like a thunderclap Krapf, r.* that the message would not be sent in until next week, because Gen. Fitz Lee had telegraphed the President that he could not get all the Americans out of Ouba before they and that he did not consider that the life of any American who remained in Havana until after the message was made public would be worth a row of pins. This excuse for delay was such a valid one that no objection could be raised to it, but Congress is very impatient and has been made more so by the old game of stereotyped telegraph messages sent from their constituents at the request of parties in Washington who have undertaken to change the overwhelming sentiment of Congress by manufacturing a demand for peace.

But the pendlum has taken a short swing to the other side, and circumstances have made peace talk more prevalent, where the made-to-order telegrams failed But if peace is maintained it will not be by the action of Congress, but by the clean backdown of Spain, Quite a respectable number of the best informed men in Washington, including the President, are expecting that Spain will agree to every demand the U. S has made, including the relinquishing of its control of Cuba. But the overwhelming majority still believe that we will have war with Spain, and the administration has not slackened any of its preparations for war.
