Mrs. Helen Ann Warner.

Helen Ann, daughter of Rosekrans and Salome Holmes, was born in the town of Royalton, Niagara county, New York, May 20, 1821. Her father came to Michigan with his family in 1827, and settled near Northville, Oakland county, on a farm obtained of the government.

In March, 1848, Ann became the wife of William Warner, a farmer, residing near Four Mile Lake, two and a half miles east of Chelsea. This was her home until 1870. After which six years were spent in Chelsea and fifteen in Dexter. In February, 1891, Mr. Warner died, and in the fall of the same year she went to Osceola, Neb., to find a home with her eldest daughter, Mrs. Eva Macken. Last April, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Sleator, she returned to Ann Arbor, to have a cataract removed from one of her eyes; and, after two partially successful operations, was visiting her sister, Mrs. Samuel Bassett, at Novi, Oakland county, when, on account of defective sight, she fell from a porch, and sustained injuries from which she died September 28th, 1898, aged 77 years, 4 months and 8 days.

Besides two daughters, Mrs. N. Macken and Mrs. Anna W. Sleator, both of Osceola, and ten grandchildren, Mrs. Warner leaves three brothers, four sisters, and friends almost innumerable, to sincerely and deeply mourn her departure.

On Friday, Sept. 30th, funeral services were held at the home of her sister at Novi, where she died, and, the next day, her remains were brought to Chelsea, and interred by the side of those of her husband, a darling son, Willie, who died in 1874, at the early age of 20 years, and a daughter, Mary Helen, who died in 1887, aged 7 yrs.

In the death of Mrs. Warner the world has lost one of its most perfect examples of a true human life. Persons who are possessed of a temper so equable, such complete self-control, such patience in trial and suffering, such unselfishness at all times, are very rare. As a daughter, wife, mother, neighbor, friend, she seemed to fill every particular of a perfect ideal. Considering her very limited opportunities for school education, she was a marvel of intelligence and information. A great reader from childhood, she never wasted time or labor on trashy literature. The result was that, in her later years, she seemed to all who knew her a living encyclopedia of information on almost all subjects of ordinary inquiry.

In religious matters Mrs. Warner was somewhat peculiar. Being a thoughtful Bible reader, possessed of good reasoning powers, and well endowed with that rare gift, common sense, she early saw the unreasonableness of the then prevailing Calvinistic system of theology, and rejected it. She possessed, however, a spirit of earnest devotion, thorough loyalty to God, faith in his saving power and grace as revealed in his Son, and her daily life was such as many a Christian might take for a profitable example. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace." "By their fruits ye shall know them."

KNOWLEDGE ENOUGH.

Although She Was from Boston She Cared Not for a Higher Subject Than Beans.

Notwithstanding her nose turned up, there were specs on it, and she was from Boston, which may be considered to be competent testimony that heredity isn't everything. She was visiting in Brooklyn before the hot spell and the first young man she met was one who prides himself on his intellects. Whether anyone else does or not is another story. As it happened, the young man had an opportunity shortly after the meeting to talk with the young woman alone, and he did not fail to throw a few brains at her.

"Ah, Miss Sophia," he said, with a soulful yearn in his gentle voice, "I presume you attend several of the numerous schools of philosophy in which Boston is so rich and Brooklyn is so poor?"

"I am sorry," she hesitated, "but really, Mr. Blank, I do not attend any."

"Indeed, and do you feel no interest in any of the concepts of modern philosophic thought?"

"None whatever, I fear," and she really seemed to be sorry to have been so careless of her golden, glorious opportunities.

"And does not the subjective idealism of existence in delightful Boston profoundly affect the reality of your ego?"

"So far I have not observed that it did," she said, apologetically.

"How can it be possible?" he exclaimed. "The sphere of your knowledge must be far wider than it is with us."

"No," she answered, measuring her words carefully. "I should say it was not. Don't you know as long as we Bostonians know beans when the bag's open we don't worry overmuch about the rest of it. Why should we? Isn't that enough for us to know?"

Proposed Alliance with England.
If the United States and England should form an alliance, the combined strength would be so great that there would be little chance for enemies to overcome us. In a like manner, when men and women keep up their bodily strength with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, there is little chance for attack from disease. The old time remedy enriches the blood, builds up the muscles, steadies the nerves and increases the appetite. Try it.

Free Homes in Western Florida.
There are about 1,000,000 acres of Government land in Northwest Florida, subject to homestead entry, and about half as much again of railroad lands for sale at very low rates. These lands are on or near the line of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, and Mr. R. J. Wemyss, General Land Commissioner, Pensacola, will be glad to write you all about them. If you wish to go down and look at them, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad provides the way and the opportunity on the first and third Tuesday of each month, with excursions at only $2 over one fare, for round-trip tickets. Write Mr. C. P. Atmore, General Passenger Agent, Louisville, Ky., for particulars.

Hawaii and the Philippines.
Send four cents (in stamps) for an illustrated booklet issued by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, the direct route across the American Continent to the New Trans-Pacific possessions of the United States. Full of latest reliable information and valuable for reference. Can be used as a text book in school. Address Geo. H. Headford, Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent, Chicago, Ill.

Unshaken Confidence.
"It's always pretty safe to judge a man by the company he keeps."
"Oh, I don't know. There are exceptions. My Uncle John's business makes it necessary for him to associate with aldermen a good deal, and still I'd trust him with every dollar I've got in the world.—Chicago Evening News.

"He that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent," even though he isn't out a cent.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Our idea of a difficult task for anyone to fill would be for a woman to make herself popular at her boarding house.—Aitchison Globe.

THE PROPER USE.

Hardtack Converted Into a Durable Souvenir of the War with Spain.

She was a collector of souvenirs. The young man who had just returned from the war could not refuse so slight a request. All she wanted was something which to remember the campaign in Cuba. He was about to respond in the usual manly fashion and offer himself, when she interposed.

"All I desire is some worthless trifle that will remind me of the hardships you went through in defense of liberty."

"How would one of the buttons off your uniform do?" he inquired.

"No," I want something that was associated with you in your daily routine of life not a mark that would designate any one of Uncle Sam's soldiers. I want to have it in the parlor and preserve it forever."

"It must be indestructible, then?"
"Well, the more nearly so, of course, the better."

He was lost in meditation for some minutes. Then, with brightening countenance he exclaimed:

"How thoughtless it was of me not to realize it before! I have the very thing I've carried off for weeks in my pocket on my heart as a piece of armor plate. You can take this hardtack and paint a little landscape on it and let it hang on the wall for the next century. Now that the war over I'm glad to see it put to some legitimate use. It will make a lovely plaque." Washington Star.

TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS FINE

For Wearing a Calico Dress and the Penalty for Selling the Goods.

It is a singular fact, but none the less true, that in England in the year 1700 women were not allowed to wear calico dresses at all, and in 1721 a penalty or fine of 45 was laid upon the wearer, and the unfortunate dealer who sold calico in those days had to pay a penalty of $100 for the offense.

It is hardly necessary to say that no one of them ever undertook to sell more than one dress pattern. The women of this country may bless their lucky stars that nothing has ever interfered with their privilege to buy and wear calico to their heart's content. Moreover, they can be thankful that they are able to purchase the best quality of the world produces right here at home. The goods of one firm are especially sought after by both consumers and dealers when the name William Simpson & Sons is found on the ticket. At least that is what the ladies and the storekeepers say, and they ought to know.

When a man who does know patiently listens to a fool who doesn't know it's a sign the latter has much money or a very handsome sister.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

There are some people so afraid they will be fooled that they refuse to believe the truth.—Aitchison Globe.

Cure your cough with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute.

Stop! Women!

And Consider the All-Important Fact,

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience in treating woman's diseases is greater than that of any living physician—male or female.

You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man—besides a man does not understand—simply because he is a man.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman, whose knowledge from actual experience is greater than any local physician in the world. The following invitation is freely offered:

accept it in the same spirit:

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION.
Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken.

Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

"The present Mrs. Pinkham's experience in treating female ills is unparalleled. For years she worked side by side with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, and for some time past has had sole charge of the correspondence department of her great business, treating by letter as many as a hundred thousand ailing women a year."

THE queen of Holland, when visiting Switzerland recently, received by parcel post a herring from one of her loyal subjects. A note explained that it was the first herring of the season's catch, and was the gift of some Dutch fisherman. Her majesty promptly cooked and ate it.

Mrs. MORA HOSHI, wife of the Japanese minister, has attracted a great deal of attention by reason of her striking type of oriental beauty. She has made a very favorable impression upon all who have met her and she is considered one of the most attractive women in the foreign diplomatic circles.

ALEXANDER THE GREAT was born in Europe, died in Asia and was buried in Africa. The preparations for his funeral consumed two years time. The immense car containing the golden sarcophagus was drawn by 64 white mules, richly caparisoned, a distance of 1,000 miles, from the Euphrates to the Nile.

APPROPOS of the czar's declaration for the disarmament of Europe, he is reported to have said, when a general assured him that the terrible catastrophe at his coronation was not so bad as a battle: "If I had my will there would be no more battles, and some day I may find the means to prevent them."

ADM. DEWEY's expenditures in powder and shell to sink the Spanish fleet at Manila, according to his own official report, was about $45,000. The most for the same item in disposing of Admiral Cervera's fleet off Santiago is about $90,000 and $100,000. Experts regard the figures in both cases as surprisingly low.

THE world has had 2,550 kings or emperors of whom records are known, and who have reigned over 74 peoples. Of these rulers 300 were overthrown, 14 were forced to abdicate, 28 committed suicide, 23 became mad or imbecile, 100 were killed in battle, 123 were captured by the enemy, 25 were tortured to death, 151 were assassinated and 108 were executed.

NEAR Wedowee, Ala., a child was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gladney a few days ago. The little one is absolutely limbless, having neither arms nor legs. He has a collar bone and little shoulders, but no semblance of arms, there being only slight flesh formations, not larger than the last joint of one's little finger. At the hips, where the legs should join, there is nothing whatever, except on one side a slight formation similar to those at the shoulder, and on the other a tiny attachment slightly resembling a little foot.

JAMES J. HILL, the already risen and now waxing star in the railroad world of the northwest, who is in the reported purchase of the Baltimore & Ohio, began life as a "mud clerk" on the Mississippi. He managed to keep the road, the Great Northern, out of the hands of the receiver in the crash which put all other northwestern roads over their heads in trouble, and has performed other feats that railroad men recognize as notable. He is always anxious to keep his doings out of the newspapers and has a record for success in that direction.

Josiah Goodenough had been postmaster at Squan Creek for about seven years, and nobody had ever kicked or complained when he went over to Philadelphia to see his sister die. It was not only the first time he had ever had a sister die, but the first time he had ever been in a town bigger'n Keyport or Cape May. When he knew he was goin' he put on considerable style about it, and stepped so high that Deacon Spooner felt it his duty to say to him: "Don't git too puffed up, Josiah. Pride goeth before a fall, and the shearer who goes out to shear may come back shorn. You are a big man here in Squan Creek, but you may find that they never even heard of you in Philadelphia."

Josiah found that to be the case. After seein' his sister die, he felt that he ought to call on the mayor and shake hands and smoke a pipe and swap lies with him. When he went to the city hall they wouldn't let him in to see his honor, and he decided to call on the postmaster and have a chat. He didn't get to see his man there, either, but he hung around and picked up a good many pointers. It was these pointers which raised the row at Squan Creek. Josiah kept a grocery in connection with the post office. If anybody was in a hurry for the mail they had the privilege of lookin' over the letters and papers, and it was allowable for anybody to read any newspapers comin' to anybody else. Sometimes the postmaster distributed the mail alone,

Goodenough to Nero, and ourselves to the Pilgrim Fathers, 200 people signed a petition to have the postmaster removed. Some folks thought he would leave the town that night, or that he would get out a hand-bill saying he had backed down and asked our forgiveness, but Josiah didn't scare. On the very next day he hung up a new sign, and it was worse than the others. It read:

"Lick on your own stamps. No loafin' in the post office."

Jacob Henshaw's wife was the first to discover that sign. She had come into the grocery early in the mornin' to get three eggs and a bar of soap, and she had a letter to mail. She asked Josiah to lick on the stamp, and he pointed to the sign. Jake Henshaw was foreman of the fire company, owned the only ice wagon in town and always had a barrel of hard cider down cellar. The idea that the postmaster would dare turn down such a man as that struck everybody as amazin'. A general move was made on the post office, and when the place was jammed with indignant citizens, Hiram Colby pounded on a soap box with his cane and said:

"Josiah Goodenough, I've bin livin' in this world fur 59 years, 7 months and 14 days, but of all the insults which have ever been heaped upon me, this one is the worst. Squan Creek is on the verge of an outbreak, which will make its streets run deep with blood, and you alone will be to blame for it. Do you mean that you ain't goin' to and sometimes he had help of three or four of the loungers. It was free and easy like, and that's what we all liked about it. The first move that Josiah made when he got home was to hang up a sign readin': "No stamps without the cash after this date."

For about half an hour the town held its breath. Then everybody tried to talk at once, but after awhile Adinabad Shefferly got the crowd quieted down, and asked:

"Josiah Goodenough, do you mean to stand or fall by them 'ere words? If any of us should come here for a stamp and didn't have the money would he be refused?"

"He would," answers Josiah. "I seen over a hundred people buyin' stamps in Philadelphia, and every last one of 'em had to lay down his cash."

In that crowd which had assembled in the store was men who was goin' to buy clothespins and soap and oatmeal and lots of other things, but every last one of 'em walked out and went down to Parker's. For three days Josiah didn't sell ten cents' worth of goods, but he was a determined man, and he hung up another sign readin': "Only the postmaster allowed to handle the mail. Please keep out."

Everybody heard of it and went to the post office to see about it. Moses Schemerhorn was appointed spokesman, and he raised his voice and said:

"Josiah Goodenough, do you mean to say that if I come in here, and you are busy drawin' 'lasses or weighin' out codfish, I can't paw over the mail and get my letters?"

"It can't be done," says Josiah. "Up in Philadelphia everybody has to ask at the winder. The sacredness of the United States mail is a mighty sacred thing."

That was an evenin' long to be remembered in Squan Creek.

Sixteen members of the fire department got out and paraded in uniform, and carried a banner, on which was inscribed: "Down with Tyrants." Citizens lined the streets and cheered and hurrahed, and the fire bell was rung, and a public meetin' called at the town hall. We felt that our rights had been unjustly attacked, and after had been unjustly attacked, and after Aaron Lampwell had got through with a speech, in which he compared Josiah lick on no more stamps for our innocent and helpless women and children?"

"The postmaster at Philadelphia don't do it," replied Josiah. "I was watchin' around there most all day, and everybody who mailed a letter licked on his own stamp."

"And do you mean to say," continued Hiram, after rapping again and pointing to the sign—"do you mean to say that the people of Squan Creek—the men who have made this town what it is—the men who have made this post office—the men who wrested their liberties from under the heel of a tyrant king and poured out their blood like kerosene—can't come in here and sit on the cracker and sugar bars and talk and visit while waitin' for their mail?"

"I didn't see a single soul sittin' around the Philadelphia post office," replied Josiah, as his face began to grow pale and his chin to quiver.

"Josiah Goodenough, you are standin' on the brink of a precipice. You ain't postmaster of Philadelphia, but of Squan Creek. As freemen of a free country we have earned and enjoyed certain rights and privileges, and I tell you right here and now that we mean to maintain them at any cost of blood or treasure. We can fill honored graves, but we cannot be enslaved."

"What do you want?" asks Hiram, as he begins to shake.

"You must trust for stamps, same as ever. When you refuse to pass out a two-cent stamp to an American freeman who happens to be dead-broke, you impugne his honor."

"I'll trust."

"And you must lick on stamps, sir, and we are to sit around on the counters and barrels as before, and there must not be the slightest curtailment of the rights and privileges won by our forefathers at Lexington and Bunker Hill. Josiah Goodenough, will you crawfish and come off the perch, or shall our peaceful streets be turned into rivers of blood?"

Josiah crawfished. With his own hands he reached up and tore down the obnoxious signs, and ten minutes later a holy calm had settled down upon Squan Creek, and there was no dead to be buried.

ROOSEVELT IS NAMED.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

New York Republicans Choose Him as Candidate for Governor.

Convention Is Held at Saratoga, N. Y.—Very Little Opposition to His Nomination—The Rest of the State Ticket.

Convention Hall, Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The republican convention nominated the following ticket Tuesday: For governor, Theodore Roosevelt, of Oyster Bay; lieutenant governor, Timothy L. Woodruff, of Kings; comptroller, William J. Morgan, of Erie; secretary of state, John T. McDonough, of Albany; state treasurer, John B. Jaekel, of Cayuga; state engineer, Edward A. Bond, of Jefferson; attorney-general, John C. Davies, of Oneida.

At precisely 12:25 the convention assembled and Congressman Payne was chosen temporary chairman. At 1:25 the convention took a recess until 3:30 o'clock.

Soon after the opening of the afternoon session the convention decided to proceed with the nominations, and Judge J. Ryder Cady, of Hudson, nominated Gov. Black. Judge Cady finished amid tremendous applause, his closing remark about Gov. Black's faithfulness to the ticket calling forth the enthusiasm of the audience.

At 4:45 o'clock Chauncey M. Depew took the platform to nominate Theodore Roosevelt. When Mr. Depew told of the famous charge of the rough riders and mentioned Col. Roosevelt the audience went almost crazy. Mr. Depew finished at 5:25 amid applause that was almost a pandemonium.

At 7:15 a roll-call was moved, and it soon became evident that Mr. Roosevelt had a practical walk-over. When the roll-call was completed the vote was announced as follows: Roosevelt, 753; Black, 218.

The night session was called to order at 9:45 o'clock. Gen. Woodford, ex-minister to Spain, read the resolutions. This reading was frequently interspersed with applause, and when the reading was finished the platform was adopted unanimously. It congratulates the country on the conclusion of the war, praises the course of the president, declares for the retention of the Philippines, commends the annexation of Hawaii, favors the upbuilding of the American merchant marine, commends the administration of Gov. Black, the work of the legislature, and then deals with purely state issues.

After the nominations for the rest of the ticket the convention adjourned sine die.

They Indorse Roosevelt.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The colored republican state convention was held here Wednesday, Samuel Moran, of New York city, presiding. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the action of the republican state convention and promising undivided support to the entire republican state ticket, headed by Theodore Roosevelt.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

They Select August Van Wyck to Head Their Ticket.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The ticket as nominated by the democratic state convention is as follows:

- For governor—Augustus Van Wyck, of Kings.
For lieutenant governor—Elliott Danforth, of Chenango.
For secretary of state—George W. Battin, of Niagara.
For comptroller—Edwin S. Atwater, of Dutchess.
For state treasurer—E. B. Morris, of Wayne.
For state engineer and surveyor—Martin Schenck, of Rensselaer.
For attorney general—Thomas F. Conway, of Clinton.

When the convention met soon after noon Frederick Schraub was elected permanent chairman and was escorted to the chair. He made an address in which he scored the republican state administration, charged the national government with criminal neglect of troops in the Spanish war and said:

"Everywhere democrats were in the van, Dewey, Schley, Hobson, Lee, Wheeler, democratic heroes all, have written high their names in the American temple of fame." In conclusion he said: "Momentous questions affecting the future policy of America must be passed upon by the next national congress. It should be the earnest effort of every democrat to so shape the work of this convention that it shall render possible the return to the upper house, of our beloved senior senator, Edward Murphy."

After the reading of the report of the committee on resolutions, Andrew McLain, of Kings, recognized, presented the name of Augustus Van Wyck for governor; Judge S. S. Taylor, of Chemung, presented the name of John B. Stanchfield; M. Z. Haven, of Syracuse, nominated Mayor James K. McGuire; William F. Mackie, of Erie, nominated Judge Robert C. Titus.

The Ballot for Governor.

The vote for governor, as announced, was: Van Wyck, 350; Titus, 41; McGuire, 21; Stanchfield, 38.

The rest of the ticket was elected by acclamation.

At 3:30 the convention, after having adopted the star as the ballot emblem and appointing the usual committees to fill vacancies, adjourned sine die.

Freight Record Broken. The freight traffic passing through the Sault Ste. Marie canal this season breaks all previous records. The greatest previous traffic was in 1897, when 1,628,699 tons passed westward and 9,176,305 tons passed eastward, making a total of 10,805,004 tons. The official reports for this year show that 2,823,396 tons passed westward and 9,790,243 tons eastward, a total of 12,613,639.

Health in Michigan. Reports to the state board of health from 74 observers in various portions of the state for the week ended September 24 indicate that pneumonia and typhoid fever increased and cholera morbus decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 186 places, measles at 6, typhoid fever at 111, scarlet fever at 25, diphtheria at 17, and whooping cough at 20 places.

Shot a Woman. Mrs. Solomon Shoemaker, aged 39 years, was attacked by John Williams on a back street of Benton Harbor, and when the woman screamed for help he shot her three times in the face and once in the side, causing fatal wounds. Williams then undertook to take his own life. He was found in his room in a half stupor. For some time there was talk of lynching him.

Back from Alaska. Ex-Gov. A. P. Swineford, of Alaska, arrived in Marquette direct from the coast, to visit his daughter. He has just returned from Alaska, where he represented a Chicago bonding company. He thinks that about $15,000,000 will be taken out this year, $10,000,000 from the Canadian and $5,000,000 from the American side.

Shot by Thieves. While passing the post office in Blissfield at night Samuel Rothfuss, teller in the Blissfield state bank, was held up by robbers intent upon robbing the post office, who commanded him to hold up his hands. In doing so he exposed a revolver, whereupon one of the men opened fire on him, inflicting fatal wounds.

Depositors Will Get Little. The inventory of the private banking house of Daniel F. Parson, at Burr Oak, was completed by Assignee Himebaugh and the experts. The liabilities were found to be $88,000, the assets $12,000. The books show over $80,000 due depositors. This will leave the depositors practically nothing.

Five Sailors Drowned. Five sailors were drowned in St. Mary's river by the foundering of the lighter Monitor. They are Joseph Prior, William Corbier, John Robare, Emanuel Robare, all of Sault Ste. Marie, and John Foley, of West Bay City. Their bodies were recovered by a diver.

Big Sawmill Burned. Thompson Smith's Sons' sawmill, the largest in northern Michigan, was destroyed by fire. The plant was valued at $150,000 and was insured for $50,000 in different companies. The mill was located at Duncan City, a suburb of Cheboygan.

News Items Briefly Told. A. Langer, one of the oldest bread winners in the state, lives in Royal Oak. He is 93 years old, and drives a milk wagon daily from Royal Oak to Beddow and return, a distance of 14 miles. The annual reunion of the Twentieth Michigan volunteer infantry was held in Saginaw. The Michigan Federation of Labor favors the establishment of a state printing plant. Some one deliberately chopped down 32 fine apple trees on the farm of John Q. Pierce in Greenbush township, Clinton county. Gen. William R. Shafter attended the reunion at Constantine of his old regiment, the Nineteenth Michigan, of which he was colonel during the civil war.

Martin Dooley, of Calumet, defeated B. W. Gordon in a 100-yard run at Houghton in the remarkable time of 0:09 4-5. The forty-ninth annual county fair was held at Hillsdale and was the banner meet of its kind in Hillsdale county. Rev. W. T. Smith, a native of Van Buren county and a pastor of the Baptist church at Litchfield for 14 years, died at Wakarusa, Ind., aged 56 years. Hosea A. Pratt, a veteran who had been drawing a pension of $72 a month for total disability, died in Saginaw, aged 60 years. The sheriff of Lenawee county surrounded in the woods the three burglars who robbed the Blissfield post office and shot Samuel Rothfuss. The Carnegie company has secured control of another northern Michigan iron mine at Escanaba. The mine was owned by Escanaba men and has been little worked. Nicholas Thompson was in jail in Houghton under suspicion of having murdered his wife at Portage Entry. No trace of the woman could be found. Joseph Lewis, of Long Rapids, dropped dead while walking from his barn to his house. Heart disease.

Here and There.

Snow in Minnesota.
 Another fine week for fairs.
 Another organ-grinder was in town.
 When are we to have our next hall show?
 Our legal columns keep up good right along.
 Having no frost is keeping back the nutting season.
 Ninety-five degrees in the shade, some places lately.
 Take in the "Windy City" excursion on Monday next.
 Foot ball and hunting catches the boys every day now.
 Fowlville fair now taking place. Next week Brighton fair.
 A fine drove of cattle went through our streets this morning.
 They are having a second crop of strawberries, raspberries, etc., in some parts of the State.
 The second month of school. Let us have the first monthly report, in and out of Chelsea.
 Prosperity is coming, and when it comes bring along that dollar or two you owe on subscription.
 Among the real estate transfers are: H. S. Holmes and wife to Louis P. Vogel, of Chelsea, $125.
 Tramps have been shooting at the officers in Ypsilanti. Our officers would like to get a chance at them.
 Vegetables, fruit, etc., are still being shipped East, but the warm weather has brought prices down.
 Last week the Fowlerville paper came out in green. What paper will be the next to come out in red, white and blue?
 Bad sidewalks in Ann Arbor is costing the city a great deal of money for injury caused by people getting a leg broke by stepping into a hole through a broken board. Chelsea should take warning.
 He who goeth into a saloon and standeth up before the bar and drinketh too much "licker" is just as bad as he who goeth to a Sunday school picnic and maketh a hog of himself eating ice-cream and watermelon. In fact there is no difference.
 Some growers burn the strawberry beds over in winter or as soon as the ground is frozen, and then mulch the rows with clean straw or salt hay. By so doing weeds that have died down are cleared away and many seeds on the surface of the ground are destroyed.
 The farmer will soon be able to tell what all his crops for the season will amount to. In some respects they could no doubt have been improved or made better, and this is the time to note such items carefully that they may be remembered and aid us in our farm management another season.
 You should burn your rubbish in the back yard, it don't look right on the street; now don't you think that we are hard, but the smoke don't smell very sweet; now when the leaves are falling, and you rake them on a heap, burn them late in the evening, when the people are asleep.
 The second fall month now is here, and the weather it is fine; but the cold winter people fear, so put up with it and don't whine. The printer he must be warmly clad, as well as the rest of mankind, so pay up your subscription and don't get mad, and such little things you should not mind.
 It requires less labor to do all necessary work on a farm that is in tip-top shape than one where everything is in a dilapidated condition, even if the soil is fertile alike. It may take a little extra effort to put things in proper shape on a farm, but it is an investment of money and labor that pays big returns.
 President James B. Angell, of the University of Michigan, while abroad as minister to Turkey, made addresses in several colleges. On one occasion he spoke to the students of Beirut College, Beirut, Syria. This is an American institution conducted in connection with the Presbyterian mission located at Beirut. President Angell also delivered the commencement address at the American College for girls at Constantinople, and gave an address at the close of the commencement exercises at Robert College, a school for young men, also located at Constantinople.

Washington News.

Washington, D. C., September 30, 1898.
 The presence of the representative of Aguinaldo, the Philippine insurgent general, who came from Manila with Gen. F. V. Greene, who brought reports from Admiral Dewey and Gen. Merritt on the situation in the Philippines, has not caused a ripple in Washington. He has no official status and can have none. That portion of the Philippine Islands not in possession of the U. S. troops must be recognized as belonging to Spain, until the Peace Commission, at Paris, decides what disposition shall be made of the territory. Aguinaldo's man is a bright lawyer, and has made a very clever statement of his claims to the public. He has also talked with the President, as a private individual, and he says he may go to Paris and ask a hearing from the Peace Commission. No matter what he may do, there is little likelihood that Aguinaldo will have anything to do with the government of the Philippines.
 Members of the Commission engaged in investigating the conduct of the war evidently regard it as an extensive job, as a number of them have gone to their homes to give their entire attention to the investigation. Daily sessions have been held this week, but the taking of testimony will not begin until next Monday, when all of the Commissioners expect to be on hand. The public will not be admitted, but representatives of the press associations will be present when testimony is being taken. Capt. E. P. Howell, one of the Commissioners, says the President assured him that speedy punishment would be meted out to every man found guilty of wrong doing by the Peace Commission, regardless of his position. The Commissioners ask that complaints be forwarded to them, and promise a thorough investigation of every complaint made.
 Few relics of the war have attracted more attention than two flags exhibited in Washington this week. One was the Spanish royal standard that was hauled down when the Cristobal Colon, which Lient. Hobson is now working to save, and confident of success, surrendered to the Brooklyn and the Oregon, in the naval battle off Santiago, which ended in the destruction of Cervera's fleet, and the other the battle flag of the battle ship Oregon, which was carried throughout the famous trip of the Oregon from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and until the war closed.
 Senator Chandler, one of the men in public life who always has opinions and who is always ready to express them, regardless of who may be pleased or displeased by them, doesn't blame Secretary Alger for the troubles in the army. He said of Secretary Alger: "He has intended to do his duty faithfully and courageously. Unfortunately he has too little power. Nearly every act of his must be performed through a bureau chief appointed for life and over whom he has little control. He cannot remove him. He can give him specific orders on many points, but he cannot get rid of him, even if he is sure that another officer would do better. The Secretary remains in office four years; the bureau chief until he dies or is retired at sixty-four years of age. This is a most unwieldy organization of the War Department but it is the existing system, and while it prevails it is absolutely ridiculous to charge a Secretary of War with inefficiency or anything else but downright corruption, which is not here asserted. The actual responsibility for omissions or neglect is with the Quartermaster General, the Surgeon-General, the Chief of Ordnance, and other life officials. They must bear it in full measure in the pending investigation, and we may be sure will ably defend themselves, but the Secretary will have but little to bear. In the Navy Department the case is different. The bureau chiefs are selected from naval officers and hold their places but four years, and the President can remove them at pleasure. The Secretary, therefore, has greater power and responsibility, and there has been no complaint. The Navy Department record is magnificent."

The following extract from a report to the Department of State by A. Burlingham Johnson, United States Consul at Amoy, China, is specially commended to those who are fond of saying that we get only inferior grades of tea in this country: "Americans may be surprised to hear it generally conceded among the experts that there is no country in the world where a finer cup of tea can be procured than in the first-class hotels of America, and the private houses, where an effort is made to properly prepare it."

In view of the fact that Senator Platt was recently in conference with President McKinley, the flat-footed declaration of the platform adopted by the New York Republican State Convention, in favor of the retention of the Philippine Islands by this government, the belief that our Peace Commissioners were instructed to stand out for the entire Philippine group has been considerably strengthened. It is argued that the plank would not have been placed in the platform if the President had not given his consent, and that his consent would not have been given had the plank misrepresented the policy of the administration.

Aunt Jemima's Observations.

Some voices caress us; others bruise.
 The saint and the sinner attend the same church.
 We give most when we expect nothing in return.
 It is better not to weep till the telegram is opened.
 Every woman can teach her neighbor something.
 Only morbid people have an antipathy for the human race.
 Most men who are searching for their equals look too high.
 We need not be paid for our virtues. We owe them to the world.
 Work for what you want and you'll be sure to get something.
 To some people the up-to-date combines both beauty and grace.
 It is not always a bad plan to walk in other people's footsteps.
 Because we expect to live to-morrow is no excuse for not paying our debts to day.
 Buy an article because it is high-priced and the dealer gets the best of the bargain.
 Never call yourself superior to the person who could substitute virtues for all your vices.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at Chas. and Sonson's Drug store.

GREAT NEED FOR AID.

Gov. Scofield Asks Help for Losers by Wisconsin Fires.

Nine Known to Have Perished in the Blazing Forests—Over 100 Are Missing—Inhabitants Are Absolutely Destitute.

Cumberland, Wis., Oct. 3.—From reports received here, nine people have perished.

A dispatch from Rice Lake says that many unidentified bodies have been found charred in the woods, and that so far as heard from there are over 100 persons missing. Advice from Rice Lake state that the fires in the neighborhood are worse than ever, and that the loss of life will be much greater than it was supposed it would be.

The property loss in this county will aggregate $400,000 besides the farm buildings and crops. A large amount of stock has been burned and much hardwood timber has been destroyed.

Gen. Boardman and party, from Madison, representing the state relief, arrived here Sunday morning and after taking a census of the fire district drove to Rice Lake. He has listed 73 destitute families in Turtle Lake, 52 families in Cumberland, 40 families in Stanford and Rice Lake, and 30 families in Clinton and Barron, also 19 families in Cumberland, all of which need immediate assistance. He has arranged for the distribution of relief from Turtle Lake, Cumberland, Rice Lake and Barron and supplies will be forwarded immediately to these points. The danger is now mostly past, though it is still unsafe to travel through some fire districts in the vicinity of Cumberland.

Gov. Scofield's Appeal.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 3.—In response to calls for assistance from the forest fire sufferers of the northern part of the state, Gov. Scofield has issued the following public call for their relief: "To the People of Wisconsin: Forest fires have again devastated a portion of our state and rendered homeless several hundred people, and a request has come for assistance. These people require clothing, food and shelter, and they will have other needs than these which it will be necessary to meet in order to enable them to undertake again their own support. The people of Wisconsin have always given a ready response to calls of this kind for help, and I feel confident that this demand upon them will be generously met."

Col. William J. Boyle, Milwaukee, will receive contributions of provisions, clothing and money for the fire sufferers, and is hereby appointed to take charge of the contributions and attend to their distribution. The people in any part of the state who desire to help the fire sufferers can communicate by telegraph or mail with Col. Boyle at Milwaukee.

Send Supplies to Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Oct. 3.—Col. William J. Boyle, who has been appointed by Gov. Scofield to receive contributions and take charge of the relief work among the families who have lost everything by the forest fires in northern Wisconsin, has completed his plans for the work. Quarters will be opened in this city to-day, where supplies of clothing, food, furniture and money will be received. The first shipment of supplies will go north over the Chicago & Northwestern road at six o'clock to-night, and other shipments as fast as carload lots can be made up. Col. Boyle says that supplies from all over the state should be sent to Milwaukee to be distributed systematically from here.

Hundreds Are Homeless.

Turtle Lake, Wis., Oct. 3.—The damage done by the forest fires of the last few days cannot be estimated or overestimated. Hundreds of families are homeless, many are almost naked, and in a few days all will want for food, and the small supplies in the towns are not sufficient. The people are in no condition to pay for what there is. The devastation wrought by the fire is so great that it cannot be comprehended by anyone not on the ground.

Chippewa Falls District.

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 3.—It is reported that the timber near Graves wood is on fire. At Livermore dwellings, barns, granaries and crops have been burned. At Chippewa Falls it is reported that all the camp outfits on Cedar lake have been destroyed, and it is feared that several lives have been lost. Men and horses of August Mason's outfit only escaped by plunging into the lake and staying there for hours, almost suffocated by the smoke. At Stout's camp 500 oxen perished. Hundreds of people are homeless. The loss of farm property in Clark, Barron and Chippewa counties is estimated at $300,000. The latest reports say that all hopes of checking the flames have been abandoned. Nothing but rain will save the remaining property.

Colorado Fires Checked.

Denver, Col., Oct. 3.—Snow and rain have checked the progress of the forest fires on the main range in Colorado, and it is now thought that further destruction of timber is prevented. At least all danger to the threatened towns is over. The temperature here has fallen perceptibly and dispatches from the mountain towns indicate a similar fortunate change. At present nothing like a correct estimate of the damage done can be given and it will be days before an accurate statement of the losses by the fires that have been raging for a week or more can be made.

GREAT DAMAGE BY STORM.

Cyclone and Flood Creates Havoc in Georgia—Crops and Shipping Suffer.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 3.—For 18 hours, from three o'clock Sunday morning until six o'clock at night, Savannah was in the grasp of a West Indian cyclone. During that time the wind blew steadily from 50 to 70 miles an hour. While the city escaped with comparatively little damage, the loss of property among the Sea islands of the Georgia and South Carolina coasts is believed to be heavy.

For eight miles north of Savannah the entire country is a lake with only the hammocks visible. At noon the water was eight feet above the highest tide. Driven on shore by the north-east storm it filled up on the islands, swept over banks and dams, carrying away the remnant of the rice crop that was left by the August storm and had not been gathered and wiping out farm crops. The loss to river growers alone will be from $50,000 to $75,000. Of the entire rice crop along the Savannah river, valued at $250,000, all but about 15 per cent. was lost in this and the preceding storm. The damage to shipping is considerable. The schooner Gov. Ames, which was on her way to sea with a cargo of 1,500,000 feet of lumber, went adrift in the harbor, but was secured safely. The wharves at the quarantine station at the entrance to the river here were partially carried away. The quarantine officer and his family and servants were rescued early in the day by a tug. Four vessels which were at anchor at the station were torn from their moorings and driven into the marshes. How badly these vessels are damaged is unknown. No news has been received from Tybee since early in the morning and nothing is known of the damage there.

NOT YET CONSIDERED.

Report That Canada Demands Cession of Important American Territory Is Premature.

Quebec, Can., Oct. 3.—During the past 24 hours the American members of the international commission have received many telegrams from different parts of the United States, and particularly from Seattle, asking about the cession of American territory to give the Canadians freer access to the Yukon river in Alaska. It has been reported that the Canadian commissioners were demanding the cession of the territory from Yakutat bay to Dixon's entrance, including the cities of Skaguay and Taiya, thus extending the Canadian boundary line to the Pacific ocean between the points named, this cession being given in return for the surrender of all British rights to the seal fisheries in the Behring sea. It is quite possible that such a proposition has been made by the Canadian commissioners, but it is stated upon official information that the matter has not been considered by the joint commission in a conclusive way and that no proposition whatever has been submitted but no adjustment has been reached, and a member of the joint high commission stated that in this, as in all other matters, there was no ground for apprehension that vital interests of the United States would be sacrificed.

BIG STRIKE IN PROSPECT.

Printers Are Preparing to Make a Determined Fight for the Nine-Hour Day.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 3.—The Post says: One of the biggest strikes in the history of typographical unions is an event of the near future. It will be a concerted movement for a working day of nine hours and will evidently be fought to a finish. It will be waged with a fat treasury at its back and the sympathy and cooperation of local labor unions of all kinds throughout the country. The movement was begun about one year ago and it has been announced that the climax is near at hand. It will affect only certain offices. Book, job and publishing establishments that are working more than nine hours a day will be the victims of the strike. Telegraphic orders will be issued and the fight will be on in earnest. The prevailing opinion among the trade seems to be that it will be called on or before October 10.

BANK PRESIDENT ROBBED.

Securities Worth $10,000 Stolen in Philadelphia by a Substitution of Satchels.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—Samuel Greenwood, of Coatesville, Pa., president of the Coatesville national bank, was robbed Saturday of a valise containing bonds and mortgages valued at $10,000. While Mr. Greenwood was shopping and transacting business some one managed to substitute a valise similar in appearance to the one carried by the bank president. Mr. Greenwood did not learn of the substitution until he reached a broker's office on Fourth street. When he opened the valise to negotiate for the exchange of the bonds it contained but a bundle of old newspapers.

FIERCE FOREST FIRES

They Cause Millions of Dollars' Damage in Wisconsin.

Many Other States Also Visited—Timely Downpour of Rain Saves One Town—in Colorado and the Dakotas.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 1.—The forest fires which have been burning in various places throughout western Wisconsin for the past few days were fanned into furious storms of flame by Thursday's winds and did great damage through Chippewa, Barron, Dunn, St. Croix and Polk counties. A very general destruction of telegraph wires make the reports very incomplete, but it seems that the villages of Clayton, Almema and Poskin have been wholly or partially destroyed, that Cumberland has suffered heavy losses and that Glenwood, Barron, Prentice, Phillips and Turtle Lake have been threatened and only saved by great efforts. Reports of loss of life are coming in, but have been verified only in two instances. A rough estimate places the losses at not less than $3,000,000 to $5,000,000.

The forest fires in the vicinity of Rice Lake, Wis., are nearly abated, but great damage has been wrought for miles west of the city. It is estimated the losses to Barron, Polk, Washburn and Sawyer counties have been at least $1,500,000. It is estimated that fully 10,000 tons of hay, besides grain, other products of farm and machinery have been destroyed.

Outlook Is Gloomy.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Oct. 1.—Forest fires that started two days ago have assumed vast proportions. There is no abatement in Chippewa and Clark counties. Fires are rampant in the heavy forest north of Stanley, a city of 2,500, 20 miles east. The loss to the Northwestern Lumber company at that place was 2,000,000 feet of skidded logs. The company's fire service was called to battle with the flames. The village of Cadott, 14 miles east, is invested on all sides. Great black clouds of smoke darken the horizon. The devastated district extends through counties running from Abbottsford along the Wisconsin Central for distances of 200 miles, and north for 75 or 100 miles. Many homes are desolated, for more than 100 farms in this county have lost buildings and grain.

Town of Almema Wiped Out.

Rice Lake, Wis., Oct. 1.—Great damage has been done in this county by forest fires. It is impossible yet to estimate the loss, but it will run into thousands of dollars. The town of Almema, this county, was entirely wiped out, the long Soo railway trestle near Almema was burned, stopping all trains on that line. No loss of life has so far been reported. The greatest damage has been done in the townships of Cumberland, Turtle, Lake Clinton, Stanford, Barron, Oak Grove and Clear Lake.

Only a Smoldering Heap of Ruins.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 1.—A Cumberland (Wis.) dispatch to the Dispatch says: Cumberland presents a sad sight. The mill portion of the country is a smoldering heap of ruins. Loss, $185,000. A timely downpour of rain lasting about 20 minutes enabled the firemen to check the progress of the flames on the west side of the city, but no human power could save the city east of the Omaha railroad, including the lumber yard and mills of the Beaver Dam Lumber company and the residences, including the fine house of Mayor Waterman. The loss is roughly estimated at $185,000. About 40 farmers southeast of the city lost all their homes and crops.

Aid Is Needed.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 1.—Gov. Scofield received a telegram from J. H. Bunker, president of the village of Turtle Lake, Wis., saying that 75 families are left destitute there as a result of the forest fires, and asking aid.

Situation in Colorado.

Denver, Col., Oct. 1.—Reports from the western portion of the state continue to tell of the ravages of the forest fires which bid fair to devastate the greater part of the forests of the state. From Glenwood Springs, Kokomo, Montrose and many other points come reports of the terrible destruction of the fires.

There appears to be no hope of a cessation of the conflagration except by a very heavy rain or the demolition of the timber by the destroying element.

J. S. Swan, game commissioner, states there is no doubt but that the fires are caused by carelessness of campers and people generally during a season of exceptional dryness.

In South Dakota.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 1.—The prairie fires are still doing immense damage in this section, having extended over many miles of valuable farming lands.

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 1.—A destructive prairie fire has been raging in the western part of this county for four days. A number of buildings and a large quantity of hay have been destroyed, together with stock.

Deadwood, S. D., Oct. 1.—The timber fires which have been raging with great fierceness all over Lawrence county have been checked by rain. The total loss will reach $300,000.

RUIN BY FIRE.

Colorado Springs Only Saved from Total Destruction by Demolishing Antlers Hotel by Dynamite.

Colorado Springs, Col., Oct. 3.—Use of dynamite at a critical time was the only thing that saved Colorado Springs from utter destruction by fire Saturday afternoon. As it is, practically the entire business section of the city is in ruins, and a monetary loss footing up between $600,000 and $700,000 has dealt a severe blow to the city. The Antlers hotel, the pride of Colorado, proved to be the salvation of the city, but at the cost of its total dismantlement. The huge structure stood in the center of a large vacant area on the dividing line between the business district and the residence section. Three hours after the fire started the hotel was being consumed by the rapidly advancing flames. The firemen were powerless to check them, aided as they were by a fierce gale. Then the order was given to blow up the building, and in a few moments the deafening roar of dynamite sounded its doom and also the gradual checking and final subduing of the fire.

The explosion of a car of powder in the freight depot used jointly by the Rock Island & Denver and Rio Grande railways started the conflagration at two o'clock. Before it was conquered the fire had laid eight squares of the business district in ashes. Two hundred buildings were burned in the short space of three hours. Wind and flames combined completely overpowered the firemen until they resorted to the use of dynamite. When the fire started the wind was blowing at the estimated velocity of 90 miles an hour, spreading destructive sparks for blocks around; coming from the southwest, as it did, it blew these sparks directly across the entire city. By the time the flames had reached Antlers hotel, though, the gale had partly subsided. Had it continued in its furious strength even the use of dynamite would not have saved the city.

The fire fed on old frame buildings, reed stores, lumber yards and warehouses until two squares were laid in ruins. It then crossed Huerfano street, leveling two more squares on the north side. Pursuing its destructive course directly across the center of the city, four more squares were leveled before the Antlers hotel was reached.

The avenues surrounding the hotel are 200 feet wide. The upper three stories were frame and burned like tinder, but the wind having quieted down, the flames ascended almost perpendicularly until the dynamite leveled the building. The rest of the work was comparatively easy for the firemen.

Colorado City, Pueblo and Denver sent aid to this city's exhausted firemen as quickly as possible. The Pueblo department made the run, 40 miles, up grade, in 40 minutes. The greatest alarm prevailed throughout the city during the conflagration. Tejon street and Pike's Peak avenue were filled with wagons and all manner of traps, carriages and other conveyances loaded down with merchandise of every description ready for removal to places of safety. The big First national bank building, situated directly east of the Antlers hotel, was nearly emptied of its merchandise, office outfits and other movable fixtures, under the general impression that the city was doomed.

A partial list of the principal losers is as follows:
The Antlers ..... $250,000

Crisley & Davis ..... 50,000
Denver & Rio Grande ..... 30,000

KILLED HER MOTHER.

Terrible Crime of a Young Lady in Pittsburgh, Deranged Through Grief at Her Father's Death.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 3.—Bertha Bellstein killed her mother Sunday and later put four bullets into her own body from the effects of which she cannot recover. The only explanation the girl has given for her terrible deed were these words: "I was tired of life. It held no pleasure for me. I wanted to die, and did not want my mother to live and fret over my death. For that reason I killed her." Frederick Bellstein, the father of the family, was one of the best-known residents of Allegheny. He died suddenly in December last from apoplexy, and since then Bertha, who was 20 years old, is said to have lost all of her youthful beauty. From a lighthearted, happy girl, she became a quiet, depressed, despondent woman. Hence the friends of the family think she was temporarily insane when she committed the awful crime.

Driven Out of Town.

Washington, Ind., Oct. 3.—Sunday 150 Pana (Ill.) miners came here and joined the union home miners. They organized masked and went to the shacks where negro scab miners live, corralled them and drove about 50 out of town. One negro refused to go and was shot. The police could do nothing. A fire alarm was turned in and the citizens called out and several deputized, but the trouble had then ended. If there is a new outbreak there will likely be much bloodshed. The miners have hidden somewhere near town and may be preparing for an attack on other shacks.

AN EQUESTRIAN LION.

He Was Thoroughly at Home on the Back of His Friend, a Pretty Piebald Pony.

The performance of the lion whose equestrian portrait is here given was even more distinguished than the photograph suggests. He would not only mount into the pad saddle shown above, but would ride round the whole arena, keeping his balance without any apparent effort. A cat on a horse's back in the stable was not more at treat. He would step out and sit on the shelf in front of his cage until the pony was brought, and then take his ride round, with no bars or chain to prevent his jumping among the people had he been so disposed. Sixteen months after this portrait was taken the pony had the misfortune to break its leg. By that time the lion was too large and heavy to ride on anything but a much larger horse, and some time would have been occupied in training the latter; so the performance was reluctantly abandoned.

A GREAT GAME FOR ACTIVE BOYS.

Tub Racing Is a Water Sport Which Is Real Fun for Both the Contestants and Spectators.

PERHAPS no aquatic sport furnishes more entertainment to both contestants and spectators than does tub racing. Do not think, says the Boston Globe, that anyone may jump into a tub for the first time, paddle hard and win a race.

Practice is necessary. It is more than probable that a beginner will finish his race by swimming ashore; he will even find difficulty in getting into the tub at all, without upsetting it.

To step into it is to court an almost certain ducking. Watch some one who has had experience. He will grasp the tub, a hand on each side, the left hand in front of the left leg, the right hand behind the right leg (see figure 1), and then let himself gradually down.

course, make these as light as possible. A framework covered with canvas is really best. The balance pole after practice may be handled very dexterously, and enable a tubber to keep right side up in comparatively rough water.

They are sometimes held under the bend of the knees, but generally four uprights, like oar-locks, are used to hold them in place.

A Sailing Tandem.—On the connecting plank rig a step for your mast as shown in Fig. 7; also four uprights to hold your balance pole. If you wish to devote the tandem entirely to sailing, extend the connecting plank across each tub and fasten on both sides. This will stiffen your work considerably.

Then cover the tubs with canvas or light boards. This will prevent the danger of A tub race usually extends over a distance of from 25 to 100 yards. Longer races are occasionally indulged in, but will be found rather exhausting.

The different courses should be staked out by anchored flags. (See Fig. 3.)

The start may be made from a float or shallow water, each contestant being obliged to climb into his tub after the word, Go! Or the racers may line up for the start in deep water under the direction of a judge or starter and commence paddling at the command.

A raft or skiff must be anchored at the finish, and should contain three judges. The judges must draw an imaginary line between the two floats which mark the finish. The first to completely cross this line wins.

Tandem races are popular, and quite exciting, because considerable skill is necessary in order to avoid tipping over.

A tandem consists of two tubs connected by a plank about three feet long and one-half foot wide. Fig. 4 shows the manner of connecting each end of the planks to the tubs. A is the rim of a tub; B a piece of some tough wood, cut convexly to fit on the inside, and C, two bolts which run through the sides of the tub.

Paddles are often used with tandems, but in order to keep the balance what is known as a balance pole must be resorted to. Fig. 5 shows this. Its size must be regulated by the taste and strength of him who uses it.

Fig. 6 shows one of the so-called feet before being decked over. You will, of swamping. You can now crowd on sail without end, and if you tip over, which is not probable, you can easily right your boat again and continue with the loss of very little time.

The course for a sailing tandem must be determined at the time by the direction of the wind, for these racers, extremely seaworthy, as far as carrying sail or standing rough water is concerned, have a decided tendency to steer their own course, in spite of all that hands and feet can do. A sailing tandem is supposed to hold but one occupant, and he sits astride the connecting plank.

A good programme for a day's racing is as follows: A 25, 50 and 100-yard single tub race, 100 and 200-yard tandem scull race, 200-yard tandem, with paddles and balance pole; sailing tandem race, course to be decided by the wind. Such a programme should be easily carried out at any resort near the water.

Choose a committee of three, who shall attend the entries, and have the date of the races announced.

Entry fees are a mistake, for anything which tends to lessen the number of contestants encourages failure.

A small flag upon which has been embroidered the event will be a sufficient reward to the winner. These the girls should furnish as a just equivalent for the fun they will have in watching the races.

The embroidery should read: First, 100-yard single; second, etc.; first 200-yard tandem, scull; first, 200-yard, tandem, paddle; first, sailing tandem.

THE APPARENT REASON.

The Readily Accounted for the Constant Wearing of the Halos.

Dotty sat on a stool beside her mother looking at the pictures in an old church book. There were angels and cherubim and harpists galore, and in them the child found much to interest her. The last picture in the book was of a dozen or more angels floating on the clouds. Above the head of each shone the symbolic halo. Those halos bothered Dotty. She had never seen such a head dress and she was perplexed.

After a minute's thought she held the book up to her mother and said: "See, mamma, the ladies what's got wings and funny things on their heads."

The mother looked. "Those are angels, dear," she said.

"And what's the funny rings on their heads, mamma?" the child asked.

"Those are halos, Dotty."

"Does they wear them always, mamma?"

"Yes, Dotty. All angels wear them and they wear them all the time."

"When they're in the house?"

"Yes, Dotty."

"When they're asleep?"

"Yes."

"I guess they wear their halos all the time, mamma, 'cause they're afraid if they took 'em off and hung 'em on the hat rack they'd get broke, don't they?"—Detroit Free Press.

A SOLDIER'S ESCAPE.

From the Democrat-Messenger, Mt. Sterling, Ill.

When Richmond had fallen and the great commanders had met beneath the historic apple tree at Appomattox, the 83d Pennsylvania Volunteers, prematurely aged, clad in tatters and rags, broken in body but of dauntless spirit, swung into line for the last "grand review" and then quietly marched away to begin life's fray anew amid the hills and valleys of the Keystone State.

Among the number Asa Robinson came back to the old home in Mt. Sterling, Ill., back to the fireside that he had left at the call to arms four years previous. He went away a happy, healthy farmer boy in the first flush of vigorous manhood;

he came back a ghost of the self that answered to President Lincoln's call for "300,000 more."

To-day he is an alert, active man and tells the story of his recovery as follows:

"I was a great sufferer from sciatica rheumatism almost from the time of my discharge from the army. Most of the time I was unfitted for manual labor of any kind, and my sufferings were at all times intense. At times I was bent almost double, and got around only with the greatest difficulty. Nothing seemed to give me permanent relief until three years ago, when my attention was called to some of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had not taken more than half a box when I noticed an improvement in my condition, and I kept on improving steadily. I took three boxes of the pills, and at the end of that time was in better condition than at any time since the close of my army service. Since then I have never been bothered with rheumatism. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is the only remedy that ever did me any good, and to them I owe my restoration to comparative health. They are a grand remedy."

They were knocked down for $2.15 apiece, and the detective noted that they were bought by this confidence man. Two months later the detective met him and asked him what he had done with the watches. The scoundrel explained his scheme. He had hired a room, put in a desk and a few chairs and made himself up to look like an old man. Then he inserted an advertisement in various papers, something like this: "Found—A solid gold watch; Elgin works. Loser can have it by paying costs. Apply," etc. Nearly every smart thief in town answered the advertisement, claimed the watch and paid ten dollars for "costs." In two days he disposed of his entire stock in this way, and about 100 smart thieves were fuming over their loss.—Golden Days.
