

If You Don't
Take The Standard, you don't get the news—you would if you did.

The Chelsea Standard.

A CHELSEA PAPER FOR CHELSEA PEOPLE.

VOL. X. NO. 35.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1898.

WHOLE NUMBER 503

H. S. Holmes Mercantile Co.

We Shall Offer
For This Week:

Any Ladies' Wrapper in stock in Percales and Best Prints, like cuts, worth $1.19 for 92 CENTS.

H. S. Holmes Mercantile Co.

Butterick's patterns for October now on sale.

OUR BARGAIN DAY IS EVERY DAY.

We are offering at the very lowest prices, the most complete stock of all the latest and newest MILLINERY GOODS to be found in the eastern markets, consisting of

Trimnings, Feathers, Novelties and Trimmed Hats.

Call and examine every article we have. They will bear the closest inspection.

MILLER SISTERS.

DEWEY

The hero of the whole Nation is our pattern. He said what he had to say in good strong words and stood by them. Just so with us. Not one item but you'll find just what we say. Cut out this list and come in and compare.

Suits $15.00 and up.

Overcoats $10.00 and up.

Pants $3.00 and up.

Odd Vests $2.50.

And in the largest stock to select from. All kinds of samples from the largest Importers and Manufacturers.

RAFTREY,

THE MAKER OF GENTLEMEN'S CLOTHES.

WE SELL

Pure cider vinegar. Pure spices of all kinds.
The best TEA in town. COMMERCE the best for the price.
Gasoline and Kerosene. Vegetable and Kinds of every description.
Baked hay and straw.

WE ARE NEVER UNDERSOLD

AT CUMMINGS'.

SCHOOL REPORT.

Names of Pupils Who Have Not Been Absent for Thirty Days.

Superintendent's report for the current year to date, September 30, 1898:

Total number enrolled, 248
Total number transferred, 0
Number re-entries, 11
Number left, all causes, 21
Total number belonging at date, 238
Number of non-resident pupils, 33
Number of pupils not absent or tardy, 234
Percentage of attendance, 97.5
W. W. GIFFORD, Supt.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Howard Armstrong, Ethel Bacon
Warren Boyd, Edith Bacon
William Dyer, Zoe Decker
Arthur Easterle, Florence Collins
Frank Egan, Edith Denny
Charles Finkbeiner, Carrie Goodrich
Earl Finkbeiner, Mattie Hammond
Chauncey Freeman, Edith Holmes
Warren Geddes, Anna Lighthall
Ralph Holmes, Eva Lulek
Fred Johnson, Florence Martin
Don McColl, Grace McKernan
Henry Mullen, Mabel McGuinness
Leigh Palmer, Evelyn Miller
Carl Plawe, Rose Mullen
O. Rionenschneider, Clara Noyes
Paul Schable, Nellie Noyes
Edward Zinke, Nellie Savage
Worthe Bacon, Bertha Schumacher
Claude Burkhardt, Emily Steinbach
Emma Whines, Genevieve Young
CARRIE McCLECKIN, Teacher.

NINTH GRADE.

Lee Ackerson, Nellie McKernan
Herman Foster, Cora Nickerson
Benjamin Froy, B. Schwickerath
Arthur Kruse, Rosa Zinke
George Sheer, Edgar Steinbach
Bertha Steinbach, Mabel Bacon
Helen Eder, Josie Foster
Vera Glazier, Louise Heber
Gladys Mapes
FLORENCE N. BACHMAN, Teacher.

EIGHTH GRADE.

Joak Bacon, Christina Kalmbach
Lillie Blach, Wirt Melaren
Helen Burg, Chas Moore
Luella Buchanan, Dwight Miller
Ernest Cooke, Arthur Raffrey
Grace Cooke, Cora Steadman
Harry Foster, Rollin Schenk
Leland Foster, Herbert Schenk
Leila Geddes, Clayton Schenk
Myrta Guerly, Warren Spaulding
Howard Holmes, Beale Wade
Lizzie Heselshwerdt
H. DORA HARRINGTON, Teacher.

SEVENTH GRADE.

George Bacon, Clarence Edmunds
Leon Kempf, Rudolf Knapp
George Keenan, Lenore Curtis
Florence Elsomman, Anna Eisele
Mary Hafner, Viola Lemmon
Mary Eder
MAMIE E. FLEISHER, Teacher.

SIXTH GRADE.

Nellie Ackerson, Paul Bacon
Ruth Bacon, Mildred Edmunds
Vera Graham, Bertha Snyder
Edna Glazier, Elmer Winans
Ruth Kalmbach, Emma Hunter
Austin Keenan, Paul Mirth
Sarah Koch, Julia Kalmbach
ANNA M. BRISSEL, Teacher.

FIFTH GRADE.

Blanc Atkinson, Mildred Atkinson
Pauline Burg, Grace Bacon
John Conway, Arthur Foster
Leon Graham, Josie Heselshwerdt
Myrta Hafner, Beale Kempf
Homer Lighthall, Louise Lemmon
Hazel Nelson, Mabel Raffrey
Hazel Speer, Lilla Schmidt
Leroy Wiley, Roy Williams
Florence Heselshwerdt
ELIZABETH DEWEY, Teacher.

FOURTH GRADE.

Nellie Ackerson, George Aiber
Ruth Bacon, Alice Chaudler
Vera Graham, Nina Greening
Edna Glazier, Bernice Hoag
Ruth Kalmbach, Ida Mast
Anna Mullen, Margaretta Martin
Beale Swarthout, Elma Schenk
Ray Snyder
MARY A. VAN TYNE, Teacher.

THIRD GRADE.

Reynolds Bacon, Harlow Lemmon
Emma Buehler, Helen McGuinnis
Vincent Burg, Paul Martin
Winifred Bacon, Ethel Moran
Don Curtis, Meryl Prudden
Lizzie Eisele, Algernon Palmer
Mable Elsomman, Harold Pierce
John Elsomman, Roy Quinn
Margurite Eder, Edna Raffrey
Ryben Foster, Don Roedel
Myron Grant, Lynn Steadman
Gladys Gorman, Cora Schmidt
Nina Hunter, Otto Schwickerath
Charles G Hoover, Mary Spinnagle
Garold Hoefler, Amelia Hummel
Clara Koch, Myrtle Kempf
Mary Lambrecht
CLARA B. HEMMENS, Teacher.

SECOND GRADE.

Herman Aiber, Eva Oesterle
Arthur Avery, Clara Oesterle
Fred Bennett, Rena Roedel
Daisy Brown, James Schmidt
Dorothy Bacon, Leon Shaver
Albert Bates, Sydney Schenk
Edith Bates, Lena Schwickerath
Melvin Buehler, Nina Schnaltman
Margret Eppier, Nina Belle Wurster
Ora Gilbert, Harold Spaulding
John Hauser, Walter Spaulding
Florence Hoefler, William Hafner
Ernest Kuhl, Carrol Nelson
MARIE H. BACON, Teacher.

FIRST GRADE.

Garrett Conway, Pheobe Turnbull
James Colyor, Cleon Wolff
Winifred Eder, Vesta Welch
Frances Eder, Leo Welch
Norbert Foster, Leo Wade
Marjorie Freeman, Edna Wackenhut
Lydia Hauser, Norbert Eisenman
Ralph Gilbert, Carl Lambart
Lewis Hauser, Loyde Merkle
Margaret Hoag, Ruth Raffrey
Nada Hoffman, Ellis Schultz
John Hummel, Mary Kolb
Mary Koch, George Kaescher
Ruth Lulek, Henry Schwickerath
LeRue Shaver, May Stelgelmair
LOUELLA TOWNSEND, Teacher.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS RITUAL.

It Was Planned in a Little Old School
House in Upper Michigan.
Mayor Miles S. Curtis, of Battle Creek, who is grand keeper of records and seals of the Michigan grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, has just received a souvenir that he highly prizes. It is a photograph of the old school house in Eagle Harbor, upper peninsula, where J. H. Rathbun, the founder of the order, while teaching school, conceived the scheme of writing a ritual of an order founded upon the story of Damon and Pythias.
Rathbun was born in Onondaga county, N. Y., Oct. 20, 1830. In 1857 he went to the Lake Superior country and taught in Eagle Harbor, Eagle River and Central Mine. While teaching at Eagle Harbor school-house he read the story of Damon and Pythias, and although he had never belonged to any secret society, and knew nothing of their workings, he planned
the ritual of the Knights of Pythias.

Supervisors' Committees.

The board of Supervisors met at Ann Arbor Tuesday and a full board was present. Chairman Whitaker announced the following committees:
Equalization—Clark, Allmendinger,
Donegan, Damon, DeWitt.
Criminal Claims No. 1—Beach, Dean,
Hall.
Criminal Claims No. 2—Lighthall,
Bibbins, McCullough.
Civil Claims—Boyle, Hunter, Millard.
To Settle with County Officers—Voorhels, Case, Tuomey.

On Salaries of County Officers—Hall,
Kison, McIntyre.
On Apportionment of State and County
Taxes—Walter, VanSickie, Howlett.
On Public Buildings—Millard, Krapf, Lighthall.
On Rejected Taxes—Syler, Fowler,
Fischer.

To Examine Accounts of Supt. of Poor—Tuomey, Kison, Howlett.
On Finance—DeWitt, Case, Walter.
On Fractional School Districts—Donegan, Kanny, Clark.

On Claims—McIntyre, Bartless, Voorhels.
On Printing—Millard, Krapf, Beach.
On Contagious Diseases—McCullough,
Kenny, Hall.
On Per Diem—Howlett, Fischer, Boyle.
To prepare Statements of County Expenses—Beach, Hunter, Tuomey.

Real Estate Transfers.

Sarah E. Cushman to David C. Parton,
Manchester, $1.
George Niseley to Theodore Feltkamp,
Saline, $35.
Peter Hines to Eugene P. Hines, Ann
Arbor, $1.
Mary M. Doud to J. D. Curry, Ypsilanti, $51.80.
J. D. Curry to Helen McAndrew, Ypsil-
anti, $61.20.
Eugene M. Hooker and wife to Melvin
I. Hooker, Augusta, $140.

Maria Schmitt to William M. Field, Ann
Arbor, $1.
Jacob Schlitz to John G. Schneider,
Ann Arbor, $1.
Ann W. Wilson et al. to Wm. H. Walt,
Ann Arbor, $2,400.
Wm. H. Walt and wife to Mary W.
Dodge, Ann Arbor, $2,400.
William M. Field to Christina Haller,
Ann Arbor, $450.
Evert H. Scott and wife to George H.
Pond and wife, Ann Arbor, $3,000.
Minnie H. Adams to Elizabeth S. Mc-
Phail, Ann Arbor, $4,000.
Lena Koch et al. to Charles Adrich,
Manchester, $1,000.
Catharine Cramer to Sarah Cramer,
Ann Arbor, $800.
Ulrich Martin and wife to Christian
Salay, Bridgewater, $50.

A. Brown and wife to Minnie Adams,
Ann Arbor, $1,000.

Marguerite Baker to Christian F.
Kapp, Lodi, $1,050.
Emeline Drake to Hector Drake, Lodi.
Michael Schneider to Jacob T. St.
Clair and wife, Ann Arbor, $450.
Charles A. Smith and wife to John
Crawley, Saco, $1.
John Crawley to Charles A. Smith and wife, Saco, $1.
Maria L. Pierce to Catharine L. Reader,
Webster, $350.
Charles E. Foot et al. to Merchants
Life Insurance Co., Detroit, Ypsilanti, $677.

Frank Staffan to Louis Hindelang,
Chelsea, $50.
Mildred F. Sackett and wife to Oliver
M. Mull and wife, Manchester, $1,000.

Charles J. Downer and wife to Cordel in J. Leach, Lima, $600.
Paul Tessmer, Sr. to Paul G. Tessmer,
Ann Arbor, $1.
Arthur F. Sheldon to Anna Sheldon,
Ann Arbor, $7,000.

Betty A. Mason to City of Ann Arbor,
Ann Arbor, $1.
F. Pattison et al. to John P. Fryer, Ypsilanti, $1.

J. W. Knight to Fred Hertler, Ann Arbor, $250.
L. Gruner and wife to Lucy B. Whit-lark, Ann Arbor, $622.

A. H. Gage to John R. Bowdsh and wife, Ypsilanti, $500.
Betsey Green to Richard Clinton, Dexter, $500.

Richard Clinton to Perry E. Noah, Dexter, $500.
Lewis Schlewels and wife to J. W.
Hauschenberger, Manchester, $250.

Walter C. Hewitt and wife to James
Hueston, Ypsilanti, $2,000.
John S. Foley to James Otley, Ann
Arbor, $1,700.

Wm. H. Saylor to Huron Valley Asso.,
Ann Arbor, $1.
Daniel Tilden to George Tilden, Ann
Arbor, $100.

George Tilden to Daniel Tilden and wife, Ann Arbor, $100.
Mary S. Tibbals to Catharine C. Cas-pary, Ann Arbor, $1,800.

Theo. M. Burgess and wife to Cornelia
H. Burgess, Augusta, $1.
Emily Howard to Wm. E. Hoover,
Milan, $1.

Australian Oysters.

The Australian mollusk is of two kinds—the mud oyster and the rock oyster. The former grows to a larger size, but the rock oyster is more generally esteemed for flavor. Their names indicate their place of growth. The rock oysters love the beds and adjoining rocks of tidal streams. They grow in clusters, in a variety of shapes and sizes, and each cluster is attached to something solid. Here they are alternately bathed in salt water and in fresh or brackish. They are also left for hours high and dry until the incoming tide refreshes them. Nor do these oysters always select rocks on which to dwell.
These accommodating mollusks may frequently be found adhering to the roots and lower branches of the mangrove and other trees which delight in a sort of submarine residence. It is doubtless to this peculiarity that the sailor referred when he wrote to his mother at home, telling the old lady, and not untruly, that in Australia oysters grow on trees. Chambers' Journal.

Rate Old Irish Bulls.

One of the finest specimens of a real Irish bull was perpetrated by that clever and witty but blundering Irish knight, Sir R. Steele, when inviting an English nobleman to visit him. "If, sir," said he, "you ever come within a mile of my home, I hope you will stay there."

A rich bull is recorded of an alderman at cards who, on inspecting the pool, found it deficient. "Here's a shilling short," said he. "Who put it in?"

"At the time of the home rule difficulty and when the cause seemed to be languishing a meeting was held, and one of the speakers thus addressed the audience. "Friends, the cup of our trouble is running over, and it is not yet full."—London Telegraph.

A Fighting Diet.

In some remarks on vegetables as a fighting diet G. B. Shaw says: "Ninety-nine per cent of the world's fighting has been done on farinaceous food."

Compare the Tipperary peasant of the potato and buttermilk days with the modern gentleman who gorges himself with murdered oow. The Tipperary man never read bloody minded novels or cheered patriotic music hall tableaux, but he fought recklessly and wantonly. Your carnivorous gentleman is afraid of everything, including doctors, dogs, disease, death and truth telling.

Premature.

"You've kissed that young squirrel, good night and let him go, haven't you, Stella?" said a weary voice at the top of the stairway.
There was an awful silence for a moment, and then in a timid, hesitating voice the young man in the darkened hall below responded:
"Na, ma'am, but I—I think she's going to."—Chicago Tribune.

THESE PEOPLE

Are evidently reading Glazier & Stimson's adv. in regard to

NEW FANCY
CROCKERY
AND LAMPS.

They know by experience that they will find the assortments large and prices right.

NOTICE THIS LAMP

In our stock. Finely decorated bowl and globe.
Straight 19 inches. Large burner.

PRICE $1.95.

WE ARE SELLING:

18 pounds fine granulated sugar for $1.00.

8 cakes Jaxon Soap 25c.

10 lbs Best rolled oats 25c.

Honey in comb 10c lb.

Fruit Jars all Sizes

The Choicest Teas.

Try our New Orleans Molasses at 25c per gal.

You can be sure of getting the

HIGHEST MARKET PRICE FOR EGGS.

AT THE BARK DRUG STORE.

Pure Medicines at the lowest prices.

Pure Spices and Pure
Cider Vinegar.

Yours for the lowest prices

GLAZIER & STIMSON.

FLORENCE MARYATT.

old man's meals to be got, and he to looked arter! and the parson may go bluzós before you shall neglect your pr

10 "Ay! but I consider it's best whar
0- is."

CHAPTER XXIV

[illegible]

100 over the Dreyfus case.

It Will Cost More than $250,000 to Negotiate a Treaty

The California branch of the Railroad has placed an issue of $500,000 of 5 per cent bonds in London for the purpose of extending its line from San Francisco to Calypada, Ner.

~~Honor Is Given Miss Elizabeth St~~

to send congratulations to the Emperor of Russia upon his peace policy.

[illegible]

~~any form of government short of absolute~~ independence for the Cubans is established

France is in a greatly excited condition over the Dreyfus case.

Lumber Districts of the North Are Threatened with Destruction.

pose of extending its line
miles to Callyada, Nev.

Spanish Troops Mistook Americans

Indians subject to trial and punishment
by United States Indian Territory courts.

many settlers in the forests can only be conjectured. Fire departments in the big cities have been appealed to for assistance.

The California branch of the Railroad has placed an issue of $500,000
5 per cent bonds in London for the purpose of extending its line from Mexico to Cullada, Nev.

Local Brevities

Messrs. Rooke & Laird have moved their bakery to Williamston.

The L. O. T. M. chicken pie supper Saturday netted the society $28.

Louie Wright won the horse, Judge Hatch, which rallied Saturday night.

There will be work in the third degree at the home hall Tuesday evening, October 19th.

The people of this vicinity were treated to a heavy rainstorm Monday night and Tuesday.

The W. R. G. meeting announced for Friday should have been for this week Friday.

Rev. J. S. Edmunds will exchange pulpits next Sunday with Rev. H. J. Haigh of Grass Lake.

H. C. Smith and P. T. Colgrove will expound republican doctrine at the town hall this evening.

Ralph Freeman has gone to Cleveland and Harvey Spigelberg occupies his position at L. T. Freeman's.

A number of people from this place attended the unveiling of the Blair monument at Lansing yesterday.

There will be a reunion of the Wilcox Division, Ninth Army Corps, at Battle Creek, October 27th and 28th.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Avery entertained a number of their friends at their pleasant home on Jefferson street last evening.

There is one less newspaper in Washington County. The Ann Arbor Argus and the Ann Arbor Democrat have consolidated.

Hereafter persons can buy money orders at the postoffice which can be paid to persons living in the same place as the sender.

Chas. R. Whitman and E. F. Rheinhardt will address the people of Chelsea at town hall Saturday evening from the democratic standpoint.

There will be a game of ball at Recreation Park Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock between Chelsea high school and Pinckney high school.

Here's a presidential ticket for 1900 that will please the most fastidious reformer and win with a big hurrah! Pinckney and Roosevelt of Michigan and New York. Blissfield Advance.

H. E. Wood of Niles will be in Chelsea on the evening of Thursday, October 20, to dedicate the new Masonic hall. After the dedicatory exercises the ladies of the Eastern Star will serve light refreshments. All brothers are invited.

Tuesday the board of supervisors by a vote of 45 to 14 elected Prof. DeWitt of the Dexter schools and a year ago democratic candidate for school commissioner, to succeed Miss Bertha Mills as member of the board of school examiners.

Rev. A. B. Bush will preach in the Methodist church in Franciscan Sunday evening, October 10th, at 10:30 o'clock; at 2:30 p. m., and at 7:30 p. m. The officers of the Epworth League at Lima will be installed at 7 o'clock.

An undertaker in a southern Michigan town which shall be nameless, recently received the following letter: "Sir, my efforts and wants to be buried to-morrow at-winner-cloak you no where to dig the hole, or the aid of my 2 other wifes - let me be buried."

Boy Leach went into Augustus & Elmer meat market Monday and thought that he would make himself useful, so he attempted to help turn the sausage hopper. He went to it again, as he thought his hand in the gearing and in the end of two fingers.

Col. Judson was noticed talking very confidently to a man near the postoffice this morning. "Did you ever notice the Judson wink?" asked a bystander. "Now watch the Colonel. There, so that why Judson can stand here and wink half way around the court house square." Evening Times.

It seems to be the general opinion among sportsmen that October 1st, the day set by the present law, is too early for the opening of the quail shooting season, and that the date should be changed to November 1st. Hunters say that they have found quail still on their farms, and many half-grown quail are seen.

Miss Mary B. Wirtz has a new social in the humorous story of an up-to-date city woman who attempts to reform a quiet village and educate the people up to the latest fads of the town. It is called "The Americans in the Country," and its serial publication will be commenced in the October issue of The Ladies Home Journal. It will have Mrs. Alice Barker Stephens as the illustrator.

Frank E. Jones of Ann Arbor, republican candidate for prosecuting attorney, is in town today.

F. J. Kern, ex-superintendent of schools, Butte, Montana, writes: "When we send our children to school now-a-days, we do not care for the percentages and averages, nor very much about text book or course of study. We care for an inspirational leader-for them; one who will develop a noble and sturdy manhood and womanhood; one who will give them culture and critical power; and, most of all, the power to set themselves to work under self-direction."

Report of school in district No. 4, London, for the month ending October 7th: Attending every day, Lillie Parks, Ethel Skidmore, Ernest Pickoff, Floyd Spencer and Francis Boyce; Anna Young, Inez Collins, Belle McCall, Millie Wallace, standing 90; Ethel Skidmore, Madge Young, James Young, 85; Grace Collins, Vincent Young, Lillie Parks, Belle McCall, Callista Boyce, 80; Millie Wallace, Madge Young, Alia Skidmore have not mis-spelled a word in written spelling during the month; Belle McCall, Grace Collins, Ethel Skidmore and Millie Wallace missing but one. Mrs. L. A. Stephens, teacher.

Saturday, October 8th, at the reunion of the Everett family at the old home in Chelsea the entire number-father, mother and seven children-were together for the first time since 1886. Twenty-four enjoyed the hospitality as well as the roast pig dinner. Exercises in the afternoon consisted of recitations by the little folks, music, "Home, Sweet Home," "Old Kentucky Home," etc.; fitting remarks by Mr. Jay Everett; an appropriate selection, "The difference between the old way and the new," by Mrs. Jay Everett; and Klondike experiences by Fred Everett. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Everett, Mrs. Carrie Coe, Mrs. Helen Gay, Mrs. Irene Fenner, Miss Jessie Everett, Fred Everett, and thirteen grandchildren.

Today Hazen S. Pingree wields a greater power in Michigan than was ever before exercised by any man. If he uses it wisely it will be difficult to set a limit to his ambition. A seat in the United States senate, or even a higher place, may be within his grasp before the end of this decade. Hazen S. Pingree's course during the next few years will be watched with more than passing interest by the politicians of the nation, for Pingree's influence is no longer circumscribed by the boundaries of Michigan. The name of the Detroit shoemaker is known throughout the United States, and the success of the Pingree reform movements will give that name, and the reforms for which it stands, additional prestige and popularity. Bay City Tribune.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Tillie Lummel entered school Monday.

Lloyd Gilford returned to school Monday.

Phil Stager visited the physics class Tuesday.

The 3rd grades are proud of their new book case.

Miss Sallie Van Tyne visited the 4th grade last week.

The juniors netted the sum of $8.40 at their social Friday evening.

Ralph Plant of Concordia, Kansas, was a caller on the 4th graders.

The high school foot ball team will soon get down to steady training.

Miss Anna Stevenson of North Lake visited the high school Wednesday.

A number of Dexter students attended the junior social Friday evening.

About $18.00 has already been subscribed for the benefit of the foot ball team.

During Miss Bachman's absence last Thursday, Ella Nickerson taught her pupils.

Mrs. H. H. Avery and Mrs. A. Avery of Pontiac, visited the 4th grade last week.

Apples and rubbers were flying around the high school room Tuesday afternoon.

The high school base ball team defeated the Pinckney team Saturday by a score of 29 to 23.

A committee from the University of Michigan is expected to visit our school in about two weeks.

The seniors will hold a social in the town hall, Friday evening, October 28. Watch for program next week.

The average standing of each class for the last month is as follows: 12th grade, 89; 11th grade, 90; 10th grade, 84; 9th grade, 90. Making a general average of 88.

Sophomores held a class meeting Friday and elected the following officers: President, Ernest Bacon; vice-president, Carl Vogel; secretary, Anna Lighthall; treasurer, Howard Armstrong.

The 6th grade pupils had a very enjoyable nutting excursion last Monday. The branches of the hickory trees were bare of nuts but were laden with the laughter and songs of the pupils.

Personal Mention

D. C. McLaren spent Monday in Toledo. Fred Hiles is spending this week in Chicago.

Elmer Smith of Detroit spent Tuesday at this place.

Miss Myrtle Lewin returned from Chicago Sunday.

Mrs. M. G. Hill was an Ann Arbor visitor last week.

Mrs. G. E. Hathaway visited Ann Arbor friends last week.

Miss Lena Foster visited friends in Jackson this week.

John Brighton of Ottawa is the guest of J. Geo. Webster.

Geo. T. English spent the first of the week at Coldwater.

Mrs. F. G. Fuller and son, Hazen, spent last week in Detroit.

Rev. W. P. Connelley spent the first of the week in Detroit.

Austin Howlett of Ann Arbor was in this place this week.

Miss Anna Pichner is spending this week at Chicago.

Miss Lucy Wallace spent the first of the week at Jackson.

Hazel Spoor and Elsie Maroney spent Saturday in Ypsilanti.

Mrs. T. B. Swarthout is visiting friends in Chicago this week.

Ed McNamara of Traverse City visited friends here last week.

Miss Amelia Miller and niece are visiting friends in Chicago.

Henry Wood of the U. of M. spent Sunday at his home here.

Miss Emma Halclo of Ann Arbor is spending this week here.

Mrs. D. B. Taylor will spend the next four weeks at Omaha, Neb.

Walter North of Ann Arbor was the guest relative here over Sunday.

Miss Vina Kingsley of Petoskey was the guest of Mrs. Anna Calkin Friday.

Messrs. Ed Keusch and Clarence Freeman spent Sunday at Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Blach of Ann Arbor spent Sunday with relatives at this place.

Fred Chatfield of Birmingham was the guest of Hiram Lighthall several days of last week.

Mrs. Whitaker of Ann Arbor spent Sunday at this place, the guest of her son, Charles.

Mrs. Wallace of Ann Arbor was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Taylor, over Sunday.

Rev. Thomas Holmes is in Newmarket this week attending the National Quadrennial Christian convention.

Have your jackets made and re-modded by Rafferty the Maker of Gentlemen's Clothes.

Young Shropshire rams for sale cheap. W. H. Daniels, North Lake.

For Sale-A gentle family horse; cheap. Inquire of W. K. Guerin, 36.

For Sale-A few choice half Blacktop rams. W. H. Laird, Sylvan. 80

Saved Life and Name.

The French author Martainville, who began his career toward the close of the last century, is said to have owed the preservation of his life to a witty piece of audacity. He was a royalist and did not hesitate to attack the French revolution and its authorities. Presently, of course, he was summoned to appear before the revolutionary tribunal. The revolutionary tribunals at that time did not hesitate to send every body to the guillotine who had ventured to attack them.

Martainville expected to go with the rest of the victims. "What is your name?" asked the judge. "Martainville," said the young author. "Martainville!" exclaimed the judge. "You are deceiving us and trying to hide your rank. You are an aristocrat, and your name is De Martainville." "Citizen president," exclaimed the young man, "I am here to be sentenced, not to be lengthened. Leave me my name!" A true Frenchman loves a witticism above all things, and the tribunal was so pleased by Martainville's grim response that it spared his life.

Queer Medicine.

The peasant pharmacopoeia of France is wonderful-most wonderful. Wine is an ingredient of every prescription. In fever cases it is always the predominant one. The French peasant's faith in fermented grape juice is truly beautiful. It is children are stricken with the measles, he gives them beakers of wine, well sweetened with honey and highly spiced with pepper. For a severe cold he administers a quart of red wine and a melted tallow candle mixed. For scarlet or brain fever he gives eggs, white wine and scotch well beaten together. Not all their superstitions are curious. Some are pathetic. A mother, for instance, often buries her dead child with its favorite toy or her own beautiful hair in the coffin, "that it may not feel quite alone." Paris Correspondent, once.

Corrupting an Echo.

At Killarney every visitor hears some laughable stories. Here is one-new and fresh, I think-which I picked up during my last visit to the glorious lakes: A number of boatmen who were quarreling about the division of "tips" indulged at the top of their voices in a good deal of profane language, which the marvelous echo repeated verbatim. "Arrah, look at that, now, for a scandal," said one of the party who was of a pious turn. "T'achin the poor harmless echo to curse and swear." Spectator.

Big Similarity.

"The minister and the policeman," said the young and cynical boarder, "are inseparable adjuncts of civilization." "They are very much alike," said the cheerful idiot. "One is a parlor, and the other is a peeler." Indianapolis Journal.

NEW FALL AND WINTER

MILLINERY!

Ladies' Misses and Children's Hats, Caps and Bonnets. Ask to see them.

VELVET AND TIPS.

The price will sell them.

ELLA CRAIG FOSTER.

OVER POSTOFFICE.

R- THERE

Mr. Oyster you'll be in the soup, you're so FRESH, PLUMP and SWEET. People with no appetite can eat you when they buy you off the ICE at

FREEMAN'S.

We have them, Selects and Standards in cans FULL of Oysters.

We are also offering some splendid values in molasses and syrups. It will pay you to try us on these goods, we have bought some new grades of New Orleans molasses we are selling at 25c, 40c and 50c per gallon. They are better than any we have ever sold, good bakers, the flavor and nice color.

WE ARE SELLING

17 lb Granulated Sugar for $1.00.
20 lb Light Brown Sugar for $1.00.
10 Bars Soap for 25 cents.
Salt Pork 7 c a pound. Fancy Pig Pork 10 c a pound.
Best Michigan Flour 45c per sack.
Fancy Breakfast Bacon 10c a pound.
And the best Teas and Coffees in Chelsea at

FREEMAN'S

A QUESTION OF PRICE.

Many people judge quality by price, and so measure all advertisements by this one rule. It's a mistake. You can't measure WEBSTER'S quality with the scales of the ordinary tailor. We seek the BEST and get it. Other tailors are not so particular. This is why WEBSTER'S clothing always gives so much satisfaction in wearing, as well as in appearance.

J. GEO. WEBSTER,
THE LEADING TAILOR.

The Right Way to Buy a Jacket or Cape

Is first to find a reliable place to purchase it, a place you've got faith in, a place where you can get satisfaction or get your money back if you want it--that place is our store.

Now, as to the garment itself. You don't want a back number, but a stylish, up-to-date garment, made from stylish material. WE ALWAYS HAVE THE BEST FITTING GARMENTS. We are offering better values this season than ever before.

Ladies' Jackets at $4.75 and $5.00, plain or rough material. Every one of them new, made up stylish and will do good service.

Ladies' strictly all-wool Jackets at $7.50. At this price we have a large assortment, and every garment is a bargain. The $9.00 and $10.00 garments offered by other dealers this season are no better than ours at $7.50.

Ladies' Capes as low as $2.50.

We have Capes lined throughout, fur trimmed, at $4.00.

Good Plush Capes, fur trimmed, at $6.50.

Misses and Childrens Garments

At $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $1.90, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00.

Hundreds of nobby garments to select from at these prices, and you cannot find the equal of any one of them at the price we ask.

COME AND LOOK.

W. P. SCHENK & COMPANY.

TALK IS CHEAP.

And while some people talk we do business. Do not miss the bargains we shall offer from now on. Bargains never before offered by any up-to-date Milliners. Our motto is good goods and lowest prices. Call and see the new styles in SAILOR HATS only 69 and 79 cents.

Misses CONATY & DERCK.

FRUIT JARS

Every one perfect. Caps and Rubbers absolutely the best.

We have the largest and best assortment in town of

FLOWER POTS

JOHN FARRELL'S

PURE FOOD STORE.

I will not be undersold.

A GOOD STEAK

Choice Roasts, Lard and everything good to eat in the Meat line--tender and cut right. If that is what you want, drop in and order it at

ADAM EPPLER'S Meat Market.

Stoves! Stoves!

Large assortment of the "World's Best" Garland Steel Ranges, Cook, Coal and Wood Heating Stoves, also the genuine

ROUND OAK.

Prices low. Several second hand heating stoves at prices to close out.

W. J. KNAPP.

THE CHELSEA STANDARD.

C. T. HOOVER, Publisher.
CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

WEEK'S NEWS RECORD

The Standard Consolidated Mining Company's 20-stamp mill at Bodie, Cal., was totally destroyed by fire. The fire started in the boiler room. The adjoining offices and the granite plant were saved. The estimated loss is $50,000, partly insured.

Upon her death, Mrs. Jeffers of Hillsboro, Ohio, confessed that she assisted in the murder of Louis Ball at Washington Court House eleven years ago. She implicated another woman and four men, all of whom reside about the city. Ball's head was cut off with a razor.

The Supreme Court in Brooklyn has decided that surface railroads which issue transfer tickets are obliged to accept the same even if the time limit has expired, providing the person holding the ticket has been unable to secure a seat in a car before the time specified has passed.

Following is the standing of the clubs in the National Baseball League:

W. L.	W. L.
Boston 48 35	New York 70 70
Baltimore 52 50	Pittsburgh 73 73
Cincinnati 60 58	Philadelphia 80 80
Chicago 61 45	St. Louis 81 81
Cleveland 77 52	Washington 84 84
Philadelphia 88 88	St. Louis 88 88

James H. Wicker and John C. Gentry, owners of a sawmill in the South Park, Colo., and Benjamin Wolf and Mary Deplin have been arrested on a bench warrant from the United States District Court charging them with the theft of 500,000 feet of lumber from Government lands in the South Park. John L. Russell, Government timber inspector, raised the arrests to be made.

George W. Clarke, under sentence to be hanged at San Quentin, Cal., for the murder of his brother, has made a confession in which he states he is innocent of the crime. He claims that his brother, who was a well-known actor, was the real murderer.

Comptroller James H. Bennett has inquest into the death of Emma Gill, whose dismembered body was found in the Yellow Mill Pond at Bridgeport, Conn. a few weeks ago, finding that she came to her death by foul play. The body was found in a shallow pond, and the cause of death was determined to be strangulation.

The Canadian police are completing the establishment of a chain of police stations along the Upper Yukon from Dawson City to Lake Bennett. The stations are now about thirty miles apart. The police are being supplied with two years' worth of supplies.

J. M. Edmondson, a prominent attorney of San Antonio, Texas, formerly of Dallas, has sued the Pullman Palace Car Company in the United States Circuit Court at El Paso, Texas, for $15,000 damages. The plaintiff's grounds for the suit are somewhat novel. He claims that while traveling in a Pullman car from San Antonio to Denver he was drenched with rain water through a hole in the roof while sleeping in his berth. From the effects of the wetting, he says, he contracted a severe cold, which resulted in consumption.

Freeman Thomas, Duke of the Chicago, was killed in a wreck on the Northwestern Railroad a few miles south of Milwaukee. The passenger train which left Chicago at 10:40 a. m. on Tuesday morning, and was bound for St. Paul, was derailed by a freight train which had stopped at a short distance south of Chicago station. Several freight cars were derailed and the wreck at once took form in the passenger engine, which was derailed. The mail car was destroyed, and together with the baggage and one other car out of the freight train. Duckwall was killed outright. Engineer Lane, who escaped injury, claims that he was not given the proper signals, but the Pullman Company device was found to be working all right and the freight train crew claims that the usual precautions adopted when a train stops on the main track were taken.

It is announced at Madrid that Admiral Cervera will be appointed a life senator. Wright Smith, colored, was taken from jail at Jones Station, Ind., by a lynch party and his body riddled with bullets. The Democrats of Massachusetts nominated Alexander D. Bruce for Governor. The platform demands for silver and opposes expansion.

A special despatch from Shanghai, China, says that 1,000 lives were lost in a great fire which partly destroyed the city of Hankow on last Sunday.

Trustworthy indications are that the cotton crop in Georgia will not drop at least 200,000 bales by the present season's storm. The money damage will amount to nearly $5,000,000.

Edith Hamilton, administrator of the estate of Charles Carter, a young man who committed suicide in June, has filed suit for $10,000 at Pittsburgh, Pa., against C. M. Merquitt, the druggist who sold Carter poison.

All the sugar refining interests are now openly selling glutted sugar at a low price, owing to the fact that the crops are not so large as the refiners had expected. The price is now at a low point.

Samuel Wolfstein has been appointed by Judge Robinson administrator of the estate of John H. Smith, who died at Cincinnati, upon the application of John H. Smith, one of the partners who, after the failure to agree among the partners and increasing debts, the assets were estimated at $30,000, with liabilities amounting to $10,000.

Indians and Gen. Bacon's soldiers fought a desperate battle. The scene of the conflict was a promontory in Leech Lake, near Bear Island, thirty miles from Walker, Minn. Several were killed on either side.

EASTERN.

Caroline M. Hoyt, the actress and wife of the playwright, Charles H. Hoyt, died at New York.

With $2,000,000 due to small tradesmen depositors, the Trustee's National Bank of New York closed its doors.

The Plymouth, Mass., Woollen Company, composed of Henry Sawyer and Rowell S. Douglas, has assigned.

Henry E. McDermott, assistant professor of chemistry at Columbia University, New York, committed suicide because of ill health.

Henry George declines the nomination for Governor of New York by the Chicago platform Democracy and Henry M. McDonald has been named in his stead.

Donald Robinson, of New York, president of the New England Loan and Trust Company, has been missing since the day when a receiver was appointed for the company.

At a meeting of the Chicago platform Democrats in New York, Henry George, the son of the single tax advocate, was nominated to head an independent Democratic ticket.

Judge Henry T. Sampson, of Centerville, Pa., while engaged in arranging some gear at one of the circular saws while it was in motion, was caught by a saw and cut in two.

Kate Phillips, 33 years old, a variety actress, tried to kill herself at New York by taking laudanum. She comes from Illinois, ran away from her husband, and fears he means her injury.

Peter Clark, Peter Coward, John Loranski and Martin Simonowitch, miners, were buried to death by a gas explosion in the Lehigh shops of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company in Middletown, Pa.

A special train from New York, N. Y., to A. J. Sawyer, woolen manufacturer, has been assigned. The train is estimated at $1,000,000. The Governor, Charles H. Sawyer, is President of the corporation.

Scott Inglis, 35 years old, an actor, recently in Miss Julia Arthur's company, shot and killed himself in a New York theatrical boarding house. Inglis had been dismissed by Miss Arthur's manager.

Robert Coveney, 10 years of age, died at the Boston city hospital as a result of injuries sustained while playing football on Franklin field that day. Three players fell upon him and caused a injury to his spine, which resulted in total paralysis.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

A sad accident, resulting in the drowning of a small child, occurred at the home of Emanuel Nott, at Bellefonte, Pa. The child, containing nine feet of water, had been left uncovered by an inmate of the house, and Anna Lamb, a young girl, toddled to the reservoir and fell in.

At a meeting of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania it was announced that Col. Joseph M. Bennett, the late merchant and philanthropist, had bequeathed to the institution a number of valuable properties valued at over $400,000.

Inspector Mayer of Chicago on a charge of stealing postage stamps. Stevens had sent $304.95 worth of stamps to a Chicago firm as payment for goods he had ordered.

Captain Thomas Young, who was stabbed at Sedalia, Mo., by J. H. McManical, while the two were talking in a saloon, is dead. McManical is in jail under a heavy guard, as threats of violence have been made against him by friends of the dead man.

Forty-two business houses in the business district of Lowell, Ind., were destroyed by fire early this morning. The blaze broke out in Dr. Bacon's barn, in the rear of Main street, and as the wind was high the flames spread rapidly and laid a whole block in ashes. Among the buildings burned were Nichols' drug store, the postoffice, Waters' drug store, the Viatic building, Haywood's studio, Gorsham's tailoring establishment, Spindler's store, the Lowell Record printing house, Hacker's saloon, George Deane's hardware store, a millinery store and several others. The loss will probably reach $40,000, with little insurance.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the murderer. The many old abandoned mining shafts in Joplin and Galena have enabled murderers to quickly dispose of their victims by dropping them down into the shafts. Last February an old miner, known as "Red" Smith, and his son, who disappeared 24 hours later, his body was found in an old shaft with indications of foul play, but the murder remained a mystery until a dispatch from La Grande, Ore., stated that a man named Wood had confessed to murdering Bill Smith at Joplin last spring. Wood will be brought to Joplin for trial.

At Joplin, Mo., an old murder mystery that has puzzled the police for months has been solved by the confession of the

MICHIGAN MATTERS.

NEWS OF THE WEEK CONCISELY CONDENSED.

Blacksmith Shoots His Daughter and Kills Himself—Verdict in the Van Dam Case—Potions for Two Babies—Rich Mari Deposits in Branch County

George Watson, a blacksmith living at Trafton, requested his 18-year-old daughter to go with him after milk. Her mother, Mrs. Watson, was present. The girl, who was named Mary, was shot by her father. Watson returned to work without his breakfast, but returned to the home at 10 o'clock and asked the girl to write a letter to his brother in which he said he was going to kill himself. There was no quarrel, and Watson pulled a revolver, shot his daughter in the left temple. The bullet made a flesh wound across her forehead, inflicting no serious injury. He then shot himself in the right temple, the bullet lodging behind the left eye, and he died in a few hours. At the inquest it was decided that he came to his death by his own hands. The family, say they are glad he killed himself.

Michigan on the Eve of Revolutionizing the Cement Business of the World.—William L. Holmes, president of the new company which has been laying plans for a year, and which has enormous buildings, nearing completion. The company's expert found apparently inexhaustible beds of marl and remarkably clear lime. The company is capitalized at $2,500,000, and has 1,000 acres of marl. The buildings, which are situated on a chain of lakes in Branch County, are entirely of steel and glass. They will have a capacity of 1,000,000 barrels a year. English capitalists have already made an offer for the entire output of the fields.

Woman Poisons Two Babies.—Mrs. J. A. Williams of Marquette, poisoned her two children and cut her own throat. A neighbor found the woman's 2-year-old boy on the floor crying and her 6-month-old baby lying dead. Mrs. Williams declared she had given them both some medicine and that the children would soon be in heaven and she herself in hell. The woman went for help and when she returned, Mrs. Williams was in the cellar and had cut her own throat. The jugular vein was not severed and her life may be saved. The baby died; the older child's condition is precarious. The woman had lately been carried away by religious enthusiasm.

Annie Van Dam Killed Herself.—At Muskegon, the coroner's jury in the case of Annie Van Dam met and rendered a verdict of suicide. The authorities learned from the first believed it to be such in spite of the suspicious circumstances, such as the push on the head, and the absence of previous despondency, or indication of premeditation, and only a few witnesses were examined. No examination of the girl's private condition as furnishing a motive for suicide or murder was made. Chief of Police Daniel James was on the jury, as was also Bernard Danabush, father of the girl's lover, Fred Danabush.

Bridgegroom's Horse Ran Away.—Charles B. Mastin, of Rochester, was married to Beulah Smith of Acon at Pontiac. He took his wife to a hotel and went to have his harness fixed, intending to drive to his home. He returned the bride and the horse ran away with Mastin clinging to its neck. The buggy was overturned, jamming Mastin against a hitching post. He was severely bruised, but escaped without broken bones. The horse stampeded after a zigzag course in the door of a cypressery store, doing considerable damage to the stock.

Paper Mill Blazes.—Mill No. 2 of the Peabody Paper Co. at Muskegon was burned. The fire started in the wheel room, probably from an overheated engine, and burned everything except the east wing and boiler house. The loss is about $75,000, and is fully insured. Twenty men are thrown out of work, though the plant will probably be rebuilt soon.

Burglars in Postoffice.—Burglars broke into the postoffice and Winter's hardware store at Stephenson and secured about $4 in stamps and money in the postoffice and $50 worth of tools, knives and razors in the hardware store. The safe in the postoffice was drilled into, but failed to open.

Jenious Lover Seeks Revenge.—Thomas Nimble, aged 26, a horse trainer of Ypsilanti, shot Millie Young, a waitress at the Hawkins House. Although Miss Young is seriously wounded, it is believed she will recover. Jealousy on the part of Nimble is supposed to have been the cause of the deed.

State News in Brief.—L. M. Lesmet was acquitted of the charge of perjury at Corunna. George Morris was sentenced at Flint to five years in Jackson prison for stealing a suit of clothes and a watch. Rural postal delivery has been secured by Congressman Hamilton for the thickly settled district near Pontiac.

Blake Bros. of Galesburg shipped 584 Shropshire hucks to Denver, Colo. This is their fifth annual consignment of sheep to that State.

The body of E. D. Gough of Ayova, who disappeared from the steam barge Quind at Ashland, Wis., Sept. 18, has been found in the harbor there.

Thomas has sent more than fifty young men and women to the various colleges of the country this year. The majority of them go to the U. of M.

The Bell Telephone Co. is putting in a massive effort in the Detroit Rapids office, enabling subscribers to talk direct with the large cities of the country.

Frank Kinser was accidentally shot near Alton by George Palmer, who was shooting at a target. Kinser was struck in the chest, and is in a critical condition. Samuel Ringland, who was being tried in the Circuit Court at Bay City on the charge of attempting to wreck a Michigan Central train near Livonia, was adjudged insane and remanded to the county jail, whence he will probably be sent to the local reformatory.

The contract for dredging Maple River for the distance of nineteen miles was let at Maple Rapids to Charles Kerr of Ash-ley. The contract price is $6,454 a rod, which will bring the total cost to between $30,000 and $40,000. The work is to be done under an act of the last Legislature to reclaim the lands along the river.

AGRICULTURAL NEWS

THINGS PERTAINING TO THE FARM AND HOME.

Damage Done by the San Jose Scale—New Pest in the Sugar Beet—A Profitable Crop—Corn as Horse Feed—Brief Horse Hints.

It is estimated that the scales do an enormous damage to apple trees and crops of this country, and while the San Jose scale seems to attract some attention it is not by any means the only injurious insect of this class. There are probably a dozen very active and voracious scales found in the orchards of this country. All of them do more or less damage, and the question of destroying them is annually becoming a more important one. The department of agriculture has made special inquiries and investigations into the subject of checking their ravages, and since the German authorities made such a disturbance about not admitting our apples because of the scales in them the subject will assume even more prominence the coming season.

Some interesting experiments have been made to destroy the scales, and we are likely to reap some benefit from them. While oil soap has been used to destroy them, but it must be admitted that this merely checks the scales, and does not destroy them. Moreover, it takes nearly enough while oil to check the scales as the crop of fruit is worth. In one orchard in Maryland it took 800 worth of whale oil soap to hold the San Jose scale in check.

The real remedy promised is found in hydrocyanic gas—a gas that is so searching and penetrating that when applied to the trees hardly a scale escapes. It is death to every form of life, and not expensive. The method of application is to place tents or coverings, double-oiled, over the trees, and then liberate the gas under them. The results so far are very encouraging. For nearly every scale was killed on the trees so treated. N. E. Farmer.

Pests in the Sugar Beet.—A sugar beet pest has developed in California which promises trouble unless soon checked. Prof. Woodworth describes it as "a small maggot which burrows between the membranes of the leaf, eating out all the green substance, and when full grown, falling to the ground, producing an oval brown pupa, in which is developed a fly about the size and general appearance of the common house fly. This insect lays its eggs upon the beet leaves, generally two, side by side, in a place, and the young worms when they hatch from these eggs again enter the leaves and begin their work. The eggs are very conspicuous, slender white bodies, found on both the under and upper side of the leaf, and the shells remain attached to the leaf long after the worms hatch from them and become adult and enter the ground. The insect appears to have two or three generations a year, and seems to be capable of doing a great deal of injury, especially upon the sugar beet where the effect of the destruction of the green matter of the leaf would materially reduce the sugar contents of the beet." The new pest is so threatening a danger that the University of California is making a special study of it with a view of ascertaining its origin, spread and best method of combating it.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Growing Winter Onions.—Select large, full-sized onions; the red or yellow onion is the best, as they can resist the frost. Select a warm, dry situation facing the southwest, plow the ground deeply and harrow until fine; then lay out the ground with a one-horse plow, running the rows across the hill side or east and west. Spread one inch of fine manure in the bottom of the furrow; then plant the onions six inches apart on the manure, and cover the onions over two inches in depth. The onions should be gotten in by the middle of the month. Onions, mellow soil, onions will produce four to five bushels, though for one bunch. These bunches in winter sell quickly at two and a half to three cents per bunch. Near a factory village one acre yielded to onions, kale and spinach, the land being warm, well worked and made fine and fertile, will yield a profit of forty to sixty dollars per acre before spring opens, and the same ground can be then planted to some early spring crop.—Baltimore American.

Broad-Tired Wagons.—If broad tires were used exclusively on the roads the ruts would be correspondingly wide, but with narrow tires the broad tires will sink in the ruts in case of freezing and will pull hard. The tendency of broad tires to pick up dirt is a strong argument against the use of steel wheels. With broad tires the wagon bodies must be set high, which will require more lifting to load it, for it must be made long and narrow. In my opinion, if a farmer keeps two farm wagons, one of them should be broad-tired, to use when or where the ground is soft. The other should be narrow-tired for use when necessary when the mud is deep. If but one is kept, it will be safest to have the tire not over 2 inches wide.—American Agriculturist.

Corn as Horse Feed.—Why are horses preferred to corn and feed for horses? It is never the object to put a horse for market, though it should be in excellent condition at all times. Onions contain more protein than corn, and less starch, but onions contain fully as much oil (or fat) as corn, about 4 per cent, but the proportion of oil is too small to render either grain unfit for horses. It is the starch in the corn that produces fat on an animal.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE LESSON.

Reflections of an Elevating Character—Wholesome Food for Thought—Studying the Scriptural Lesson Intelligently and Profitably.

Lesson for October 10.
Golden Text: "And the men did the will of the Lord."—Matthew 23:39.

This week's lesson, entitled "The Temple," is found in 2 Chron. 24:1-18.

The evil results of a long and ungodly reign of a monarch are shown in the story of the reign of Ahaziah. The king of Judah had married his son Jehoram to a daughter of Ahaziah and Jezebel, Athaliah, and this woman ranks as one of the monsters of history. Her husband Jehoram reigned eight years, and "did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord." He failed in war, he set up high places for the people to worship on, he despised the written warning of Elijah, sent from the northern kingdom, in a raid of the Philistines and the "Arameans" his household suffered disaster, and all his sons save the youngest, Ahaziah, were slain, or carried away. Shortly afterward he died, unlamented.

Ahaziah's reign of one year is chronicled in chapter 22. His mother Athaliah led him as he had led Jehoram, as her mother had led Ahaziah. Athaliah made herself the ally of his brother-in-law, Jehoram or Joram, king of Israel, successor of Ahaziah. They fought against Syria, and Jehoram was wounded. At Jezreel, where Ahaziah went to see the wounded Jehoram, occurred the massacre ordered by Jehu at the outset of his revolution, and not Ahaziah himself, but several nephews who were with him were slain. (22:1-10).

Then this inhuman queen, Athaliah, plotting for a crown in her miserable old age, coolly ordered the assassination of all the princes of the royal house who might succeed to the throne—that is to say, she murdered her own grandchildren and grand-nephews. One only escaped—a baby, about a year old, son of the dead king Ahaziah and grandson of Athaliah, Josiah. He was reared by his aunt, Jezebel, and her husband the priest Jehoiada. For six years they kept the child hidden in a secret room of the temple, where indeed he was safe enough amid the general neglect of public worship that prevailed during his great-grandmother's reign. (23:1-12).

In the boy's eighth year Jehoiada made a careful plan for a restoration to power of the true heir. The story is told in some detail in chapter 23, with some discrepancies from the account in 2 Kings 11. In the latter account it is soldiers who form the bodyguard of the boy prince in the temple; in Chronicles it is Levites. When everything was ready, Josiah was crowned, and hailed as king by the assembled dignitaries and priests. When Athaliah entered the temple from the palace to learn the cause of the shouting and music, she was seized, and by command of Jehoiada was slain just outside the temple gate.

Josiah began to reign in his eighth year, which was probably about 830 B. C., and reigned forty years. "As long as the priest Jehoiada lived, first as his guardian and later as his counselor and friend, the young man made a good ruler. Under the priest's influence he instituted a movement for the repair of the temple, which had probably had no repairs since the time of Jehoshaphat, twenty-five or thirty years before. This, besides the destruction of a temple of Baal, was Josiah's chief service to religion. The method of securing funds was unique, for that time. It is described in the lesson.

Explanatory.
The priests and the Levites, the religious dignitaries of the nation were in charge of men of the tribe of Levi. Among them the men of the family of Aaron were priests, and had in their hands all matters connected with sacrifices, etc. In the case of the temple and various subordinate capacities many other Levites, besides the sons of Aaron, were employed, and these latter are called in a special sense "the Levites," though of course the priests might also have the same name applied to them if desired.

Josiah had been reading his Bible. He knew how to call even the priest Jehoiada to account for neglect of duty. The text to which he referred, which had been allowed to remain uncollected for so long, was that described in Ex. 30:11-16, which said:

"Since it was not convenient, or practical, to collect the tax by sending out collectors, the king very sensibly decided to make the people come themselves and pay their dues." A chest at the house of the Lord to receive contributions was a new thing in the land.

One wonders what form the proclamation took that it won such willing and prompt obedience from the people. Was the boy king a religious enthusiast, a precocious devotee, an ancient Edward VII? Did he appeal to the loyalty of the people, did he recall their glorious traditions and lament their recent apostasy? Or did he point out the relation between religious fidelity and national prosperity, showing them that if they did not want a reputation of the horrors of the three previous reigns, they must pay more attention to the service of Jehovah? At any rate, he was successful.

There was even money left over after the building was repaired, to be used for other purposes. The best kind of an offering is that which overflows.

The rest of Josiah's life is far from being so picturesque. When his mother, the aged priestess, died, he allowed the idolatrous propensities of his princes fall away, turned a deaf ear to faithful prophets, and went far to undo all the good that he had done. He was unable to defend himself against a little band of Syrian marauders, and was finally murdered by his own servants.

Next Lesson.—"Isaiah Called to Service."—Isa. 6:1-13.

No Figure of Speech with Him.
"There goes a man who has literally carved his way to fame."
"Who is he?"
"The man that won first prize in the boxing contest at the butchers' picnic."

Explained.
"What do you suppose makes that Rough Rider look so tired?"
"Well, you know, the walking was very bad in Cuba."—Philadelphia North American.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE LESSON.

Reflections of an Elevating Character—Wholesome Food for Thought—Studying the Scriptural Lesson Intelligently and Profitably.

Lesson for October 10.
Golden Text: "And the men did the will of the Lord."—Matthew 23:39.

This week's lesson, entitled "The Temple," is found in 2 Chron. 24:1-18.

The evil results of a long and ungodly reign of a monarch are shown in the story of the reign of Ahaziah. The king of Judah had married his son Jehoram to a daughter of Ahaziah and Jezebel, Athaliah, and this woman ranks as one of the monsters of history. Her husband Jehoram reigned eight years, and "did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord." He failed in war, he set up high places for the people to worship on, he despised the written warning of Elijah, sent from the northern kingdom, in a raid of the Philistines and the "Arameans" his household suffered disaster, and all his sons save the youngest, Ahaziah, were slain, or carried away. Shortly afterward he died, unlamented.

Ahaziah's reign of one year is chronicled in chapter 22. His mother Athaliah led him as he had led Jehoram, as her mother had led Ahaziah. Athaliah made herself the ally of his brother-in-law, Jehoram or Joram, king of Israel, successor of Ahaziah. They fought against Syria, and Jehoram was wounded. At Jezreel, where Ahaziah went to see the wounded Jehoram, occurred the massacre ordered by Jehu at the outset of his revolution, and not Ahaziah himself, but several nephews who were with him were slain. (22:1-10).

Then this inhuman queen, Athaliah, plotting for a crown in her miserable old age, coolly ordered the assassination of all the princes of the royal house who might succeed to the throne—that is to say, she murdered her own grandchildren and grand-nephews. One only escaped—a baby, about a year old, son of the dead king Ahaziah and grandson of Athaliah, Josiah. He was reared by his aunt, Jezebel, and her husband the priest Jehoiada. For six years they kept the child hidden in a secret room of the temple, where indeed he was safe enough amid the general neglect of public worship that prevailed during his great-grandmother's reign. (23:1-12).

In the boy's eighth year Jehoiada made a careful plan for a restoration to power of the true heir. The story is told in some detail in chapter 23, with some discrepancies from the account in 2 Kings 11. In the latter account it is soldiers who form the bodyguard of the boy prince in the temple; in Chronicles it is Levites. When everything was ready, Josiah was crowned, and hailed as king by the assembled dignitaries and priests. When Athaliah entered the temple from the palace to learn the cause of the shouting and music, she was seized, and by command of Jehoiada was slain just outside the temple gate.

Josiah began to reign in his eighth year, which was probably about 830 B. C., and reigned forty years. "As long as the priest Jehoiada lived, first as his guardian and later as his counselor and friend, the young man made a good ruler. Under the priest's influence he instituted a movement for the repair of the temple, which had probably had no repairs since the time of Jehoshaphat, twenty-five or thirty years before. This, besides the destruction of a temple of Baal, was Josiah's chief service to religion. The method of securing funds was unique, for that time. It is described in the lesson.

Explanatory.
The priests and the Levites, the religious dignitaries of the nation were in charge of men of the tribe of Levi. Among them the men of the family of Aaron were priests, and had in their hands all matters connected with sacrifices, etc. In the case of the temple and various subordinate capacities many other Levites, besides the sons of Aaron, were employed, and these latter are called in a special sense "the Levites," though of course the priests might also have the same name applied to them if desired.

Josiah had been reading his Bible. He knew how to call even the priest Jehoiada to account for neglect of duty. The text to which he referred, which had been allowed to remain uncollected for so long, was that described in Ex. 30:11-16, which said:

"Since it was not convenient, or practical, to collect the tax by sending out collectors, the king very sensibly decided to make the people come themselves and pay their dues." A chest at the house of the Lord to receive contributions was a new thing in the land.

One wonders what form the proclamation took that it won such willing and prompt obedience from the people. Was the boy king a religious enthusiast, a precocious devotee, an ancient Edward VII? Did he appeal to the loyalty of the people, did he recall their glorious traditions and lament their recent apostasy? Or did he point out the relation between religious fidelity and national prosperity, showing them that if they did not want a reputation of the horrors of the three previous reigns, they must pay more attention to the service of Jehovah? At any rate, he was successful.

There was even money left over after the building was repaired, to be used for other purposes. The best kind of an offering is that which overflows.

The rest of Josiah's life is far from being so picturesque. When his mother, the aged priestess, died, he allowed the idolatrous propensities of his princes fall away, turned a deaf ear to faithful prophets, and went far to undo all the good that he had done. He was unable to defend himself against a little band of Syrian marauders, and was finally murdered by his own servants.

Next Lesson.—"Isaiah Called to Service."—Isa. 6:1-13.

No Figure of Speech with Him.
"There goes a man who has literally carved his way to fame."
"Who is he?"
"The man that won first prize in the boxing contest at the butchers' picnic."

Explained.
"What do you suppose makes that Rough Rider look so tired?"
"Well, you know, the walking was very bad in Cuba."—Philadelphia North American.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE LESSON.

Reflections of an Elevating Character—Wholesome Food for Thought—Studying the Scriptural Lesson Intelligently and Profitably.

Lesson for October 10.
Golden Text: "And the men did the will of the Lord."—Matthew 23:39.

This week's lesson, entitled "The Temple," is found in 2 Chron. 24:1-18.

The evil results of a long and ungodly reign of a monarch are shown in the story of the reign of Ahaziah. The king of Judah had married his son Jehoram to a daughter of Ahaziah and Jezebel, Athaliah, and this woman ranks as one of the monsters of history. Her husband Jehoram reigned eight years, and "did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord." He failed in war, he set up high places for the people to worship on, he despised the written warning of Elijah, sent from the northern kingdom, in a raid of the Philistines and the "Arameans" his household suffered disaster, and all his sons save the youngest, Ahaziah, were slain, or carried away. Shortly afterward he died, unlamented.

Ahaziah's reign of one year is chronicled in chapter 22. His mother Athaliah led him as he had led Jehoram, as her mother had led Ahaziah. Athaliah made herself the ally of his brother-in-law, Jehoram or Joram, king of Israel, successor of Ahaziah. They fought against Syria, and Jehoram was wounded. At Jezreel, where Ahaziah went to see the wounded Jehoram, occurred the massacre ordered by Jehu at the outset of his revolution, and not Ahaziah himself, but several nephews who were with him were slain. (22:1-10).

Then this inhuman queen, Athaliah, plotting for a crown in her miserable old age, coolly ordered the assassination of all the princes of the royal house who might succeed to the throne—that is to say, she murdered her own grandchildren and grand-nephews. One only escaped—a baby, about a year old, son of the dead king Ahaziah and grandson of Athaliah, Josiah. He was reared by his aunt, Jezebel, and her husband the priest Jehoiada. For six years they kept the child hidden in a secret room of the temple, where indeed he was safe enough amid the general neglect of public worship that prevailed during his great-grandmother's reign. (23:1-12).

In the boy's eighth year Jehoiada made a careful plan for a restoration to power of the true heir. The story is told in some detail in chapter 23, with some discrepancies from the account in 2 Kings 11. In the latter account it is soldiers who form the bodyguard of the boy prince in the temple; in Chronicles it is Levites. When everything was ready, Josiah was crowned, and hailed as king by the assembled dignitaries and priests. When Athaliah entered the temple from the palace to learn the cause of the shouting and music, she was seized, and by command of Jehoiada was slain just outside the temple gate.

Josiah began to reign in his eighth year, which was probably about 830 B. C., and reigned forty years. "As long as the priest Jehoiada lived, first as his guardian and later as his counselor and friend, the young man made a good ruler. Under the priest's influence he instituted a movement for the repair of the temple, which had probably had no repairs since the time of Jehoshaphat, twenty-five or thirty years before. This, besides the destruction of a temple of Baal, was Josiah's chief service to religion. The method of securing funds was unique, for that time. It is described in the lesson.

Explanatory.
The priests and the Levites, the religious dignitaries of the nation were in charge of men of the tribe of Levi. Among them the men of the family of Aaron were priests, and had in their hands all matters connected with sacrifices, etc. In the case of the temple and various subordinate capacities many other Levites, besides the sons of Aaron, were employed, and these latter are called in a special sense "the Levites," though of course the priests might also have the same name applied to them if desired.

Josiah had been reading his Bible. He knew how to call even the priest Jehoiada to account for neglect of duty. The text to which he referred, which had been allowed to remain uncollected for so long, was that described in Ex. 30:11-16, which said:

"Since it was not convenient, or practical, to collect the tax by sending out collectors, the king very sensibly decided to make the people come themselves and pay their dues." A chest at the house of the Lord to receive contributions was a new thing in the land.

One wonders what form the proclamation took that it won such willing and prompt obedience from the people. Was the boy king a religious enthusiast, a precocious devotee, an ancient Edward VII? Did he appeal to the loyalty of the people, did he recall their glorious traditions and lament their recent apostasy? Or did he point out the relation between religious fidelity and national prosperity, showing them that if they did not want a reputation of the horrors of the three previous reigns, they must pay more attention to the service of Jehovah? At any rate, he was successful.

There was even money left over after the building was repaired, to be used for other purposes. The best kind of an offering is that which overflows.

The rest of Josiah's life is far from being so picturesque. When his mother, the aged priestess, died, he allowed the idolatrous propensities of his princes fall away, turned a deaf ear to faithful prophets, and went far to undo all the good that he had done. He was unable to defend himself against a little band of Syrian marauders, and was finally murdered by his own servants.

Next Lesson.—"Isaiah Called to Service."—Isa. 6:1-13.

No Figure of Speech with Him.
"There goes a man who has literally carved his way to fame."
"Who is he?"
"The man that won first prize in the boxing contest at the butchers' picnic."

Explained.
"What do you suppose makes that Rough Rider look so tired?"
"Well, you know, the walking was very bad in Cuba."—Philadelphia North American.

The freedom with which the Spanish minister for foreign affairs, the Duke of Medinaceli, has given publicity to the instructions to the Spanish peace commissioners as to the disposition of the Philippines has given rise to the suspicion among the officials at Washington that there is behind it a deliberate purpose to draw out in advance the position of the American commissioners on this most important point. It is stated now that before the Spanish Government has yielded upon the United States Government to make each of the steps towards final peace before making a move on their side, so that this sudden change in policy is accounted for only on the ground stated. There is beside this apparent purpose a veiled threat in the last instruction, not under any circumstances to allow the United States to interfere with any disposition of the Spanish empire or those retained by the United States, such as Luzon, the Philippines, and the Marianas. This is believed to be an invitation to some of the continental powers to step forward in support of Spain in this emergency in the hope of receiving as a quid pro quo some of the Philippines as a coaling or naval station.

President McKinley will probably recommend in his message to Congress the creation of a new cabinet office, the incumbent to be known as the Secretary of the Colonies. The enlarged foreign policy of the United States will, it is believed, make this new office necessary for the purpose of giving unity and coherence to the policy adopted in the colonies. The President will not formulate the organization of the new department until the peace commission has determined the final disposition of the Philippines. The colonial office would have charge of the civil government, the judiciary and the financial administration of Porto Rico, the Hawaiian Islands, Cuba, the Philippines and of the island of Guam in the Ladrone.

Secretary of the Navy Long has received complete estimates from his subordinates regarding the amounts they deem necessary for the operation of their respective departments during the coming fiscal year. Their figures foot up to $47,000,000, the largest peace estimate which has ever been submitted. Secretary Long proposes to recommend to Congress an important ship building program, which will necessitate the expenditure of considerable money during the next four years.

The Nicaraguan Canal project is forging to the front in a manner that foreshadows an aggressive campaign during the short session of Congress next winter. The necessity of a waterway across the isthmus is now recognized in every quarter. Nevertheless the opposition, which has heretofore been able to defeat congressional aid in the construction of the canal, will reappear prepared to continue the fight hard as ever.

Gov. John Hay was sworn in as Secretary of State at the White House shortly after 11 o'clock Friday morning. Justice Harlan of the United States Supreme Court administered the oath. The ceremony was performed in the presence of President McKinley, Secretaries Smith and Wilson and Attorney General Griggs.

It has been decided by the Navy Department to establish a naval station on the Island of Culebra, which is located east of Porto Rico and guards the Virgin Passage. This island furnishes a magnificent natural harbor with a depth of fifty-four feet, in which the largest ships in the navy can enter without difficulty.

Both classes of the Cuban population are represented continually in Washington. They are industrious in many ways. They are ingenious in schemes to influence public opinion for an independent government and for annexation, as their interests lie.

Secretary Alger has returned to Washington. The Secretary looked much improved by his trip. He made a verbal report to the President on the inspection of the army camps which he had concluded.

Admiral Schley will be restored to his old position as chairman of the lighthouse board after enjoying a leave of absence. He is said to prefer this to sea duty.

Dan Creedon was knocked out by Jack Bonher in two rounds at Coney Island.

Bill Hoffer has typified instead of marred a fever, and he is not at all likely to play ball again this year.

Tom Cannon, the European champion wrestler in this country, Cannon has already defeated Evan Lewis, the "Strangler."

In battling Boston and Baltimore are stronger than Cincinnati. The latter is stronger in the pickling department than Baltimore.

Kid Lavigne and Frank Erno were not permitted by the authorities to box in the new arena of the Hawthorne Club at Cheektowaga, N. Y.

Mysterious Billy Smith and Andy Walsh, who fought a 25-round draw at the Greater New York Athletic Club at Coney Island, received $225 each for their trouble.

"I'm out of baseball politics forever," said Harry Patterson, the clever president of the Louisville club. "No more for me. From now on I'll confine my efforts to baseball strictly to my own club."

Big Bill Lange's home run hit over the fence cost the Cincinnati club more than any other hit made at the Cincinnati park this season. The ball that Lange hit bounded into a saloon and broke a mirror.

JOHN BAUMGARDNER, Prop., Ann Arbor.