FREE TEXT BOOKS.

The Cost of School Books in Two Villages Contrasted.

Lansing School Moderator: In a recent number of the Grass Lake News, the editor very pleasantly, yet pointedly gives the Moderator editor to understand that there is no free text book sentiment in his neck of woods, and seemingly rejoices thereat. (Of course, Grass Lake may not as yet have seen the light, but we have faith to believe that human nature there is nearly the same as in other enlightened communities, and there fore it won't be many years before Grass Lake people, and many other Michigan people, conservative though they are, will join the procession of enlightened, progressive states and districts and fall into line on the free text book question, which plan is the natural outcome of free education. But here is a little argument that will come home closer to Grass Lake. It, too, is a thriving country village on the Michigan Central railroad and about 11 miles from Grass Lake. The conditions at the two places must be nearly the same it would seem. Chelsea adopted free text books six years ago, and their text books have cost on an average but 54 cents per pupil per annum. During the same time Grass Lake has paid 98 cents per annum per pupil. In other words, Chelsea pays but little more to supply 400 pupils with text books under the free text book law than Grass Lake pays for 200 pupils under the present system. In Chelsea every child has his book the first day of school; in Grass Lake there is a child who is not yet supplied with the text books needed, though school has been running for weeks. Chelsea's text books are just as good as those of Grass Lake. It cost the district of Chelsea but $9.10 for text books in 1906. It cost Grass Lake that year with half as many pupils $105. How long will the conservation of Grass Lake stand battering by such knock down arguments? Is the News afraid that some of the childless wealth of the district will have to bear its little fraction of additional expense for free text books? That was the cry in Michigan that sought to oppose free education and retain the old rate bill. It won't stand public sentiment long after the public gets the light.

A Queer Case.

Acting Prosecuting Attorney Brown has just received a letter that is causing a considerable sensation. It is signed by J. L. Farrell of North Baltimore, O., and says in substance that there is a man in that county, a saloonkeeper by occupation, who confesses to having murdered a man in the woods between Ann Arbor and Dexter over nine years ago. He says the man's conscience is troubling him and that if the proper steps are taken to cause his arrest he will make a clean breast of the whole affair. Diligent inquiry fails to find direct information of the murder referred to. Ex-Sheriff Dwyer says that there was a case during his term of office of the body of a dead man being found near the railroad track and never identified. But the belief then was that the man met his death by falling from a moving train. The story told by the letter is not believed by the present officials and it is hardly likely that any steps will be taken to investigate the so-called confession. Ex-Sheriff Walsh says that he received a letter of the same character during his term of office, but knowing of no such case as the writer spoke of paid no more attention to it. Ann Arbor Courier.

Rambouillet Sheep.

Grass Lake News: Tuesday of this week there were brought to our express office three of as fine specimens of sheep as are seldom seen anywhere in our part of the state. They were rams of the Rambouillet merino breed and were grown on "Shadland Farm," just east of this village by M. L. Raymond, and were sent by him to Clarence Bailey, Matengo, Iowa. They were yearlings, each weighing respectively 183, 169, 162, of splendid form and each covered from nose to hoof with a fine, dense, long staple of wool as soft as silk, not of the greasy or grimy sort, but such as dealers like to buy.

It may not be generally known that there is a flock of the above breed being grown up among us, but there is and they are owned by M. L. Raymond, of Sharon (whose address is Grass Lake). Mr. Raymond now has about 30 breeding ewes and 24 spring lambs, all registered. He started in business three years ago by purchasing 15 of the choicest yearling ewes and the best ram obtainable, has made a few sales from the flock, and seems to be quite enthusiastic in his venture. He says he has ten yearling ewes that weighed October 1st an average of 117 pounds, also that he sold last month two spring lambs that weighed respectively 112 and 118 pounds. They are a fine wool breed, prolific and very long lived. Their wool is of very fine texture and grows from three to five inches long. Ewes weigh at maturity from 125 to 175 pounds and shear from 8 to 15 pounds of wool. Rams weigh from 175 to 250 pounds and shear from 12 to 24 pounds. They are bound to be quite an accession to this part of the country. People have become tired of the little, wrinkly 70 pound merino with its inevitable knotty and greasy fleece. These Rambouillet merinos are certainly the coming sheep and they are fast growing into favor. At any rate that is the way it looks to us, as this fine breed of sheep merit all that can be said of it.

BITTER FIGHT.

Another Law Suit the Result of Anti-Judson Content.

Deputy Sheriff Lester Canfield began suit Monday against G. Frank Allmendinger, the well known flour manufacturer, for $5,000 damages. Allmendinger, who was said to desire a place on the board of supervisors in order to get a chance at Sheriff Judson, was a leader in objecting to pay Canfield's bill for services a few days ago. Following up this attack on Judson's chief deputy, Allmendinger went after Canfield through the local papers. Among other things he wrote that Canfield was more fit to lift chickens from a henroost at night than to act as detective. Canfield claims that this is malicious slander, and brings suit for damages as above. This is the third damage suit resulting from the anti-Judson fight, and each one only increases the personal bitterness of the contest.

Grange Meeting.

LaFayette Grange met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilson, October 27. The subject for discussion "Feeding dairy cows," was opened by P. H. Sweet, land with a good paper which brought out a splendid discussion. The question "In the cultivation of flowers and taste for music a benefit to a farmer's family, morally and physically," was opened by Mrs. G. T. English who gave a nice talk on the cultivation of flowers and thought it a great benefit physically. Truman Baldwin then took up the question and gave a very fine talk.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Priemuth November 10th at 10 a. m. The subjects for discussion will be "Should farmers sacrifice personal interests for political purposes?" led by O. C. Burkhardt. "What is life and what are we going to do with it?" Discussion led by Mrs. H. Wilson. Come with a good question for the question box, and don't forget quotations.

Found His Overcoat.

Evening Times: James Taylor, one of Washenaw's superintendents of the poor, and residing at Chelsea, was wrong for the first time in his life yesterday. He maintained that he had left his overcoat in the county clerk's office and all of Sheriff Judson's deputies went hunting up clues on the supposed daring theft. An item was inserted in the Times concerning the remarkable incident. Judge Harriman informed the Times this morning that he had noticed someone had left an overcoat in his office. It was Taylor's he had gone into Mr. Harriman's office, dropped the coat on a chair and had gone out supposing he had left it at the court house.

Hallows' Eve Deviltry.

Someone was very active about town Monday night—halfway 'em. Anything that was movable and that had not been taken care of mysteriously changed places, signs were changed to suit the fancy of the artists, and in many instances the work that was done was not what could be called fun, but amounted actually to destruction to property. Outbuildings in several parts of the village were set on fire, and the boys had a chance to get out the hose cart and try the force of the water. Fences were torn down, sidewalks were torn up, and altogether the work done that night was not such as would make a self-respecting person think any more of himself.

The Death Rate of the U. of M. Hospital.

In some recently published statistics of university hospital of the University of Michigan, the death rate, through a printer's error, was given as 20 per cent. This, if it were true, would mean that only three out of every four patients who enter the hospital come out alive. As a matter of fact the death rate is about 2.6 per cent, which is much lower than in the majority of hospitals having a large number of operation cases. In such institutions the death rate is usually from 4 to 10 per cent. If in addition the customary reduction is made for moribund cases (those dying within 24 hours after arrival), the actual death rate among in-patients is but 2.99 per cent, and among all the patients 1.5 per cent.

Market Report.

The market the past week has been steady and generally firm. It has held up since November came in better than was expected. Wheat brings 64 cents for red or white. Rye 47 cents. Barley 35 cents. Oats 25 cents. Clover seed $4.50. Onions 25 cents. Potatoes 25 cents. Apples $1.25 per barrel. Butter 10 cents. Eggs 18 cents. Chickens 5 cents. Ducks 4 cents. Turkeys 7 cents. Dressed hogs $4.50. Beans 85 cents. Receipts have been free the past week in all lines except oats and rye. We are likely to have large receipts now till after the holidays as there are many claims to be paid before January first. War rumors have had much to do with keeping up prices. There is not likely to be much change in prices for some time unless some unforeseen influences appear to affect prices. Prices are likely to be well maintained unless the supply exceeds the demand when lower prices may be expected.

Washenaw County S. S. Association.

The annual convention of the Washenaw County Sunday-school Association was held in the First Baptist church, Ann Arbor, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. The attendance was good, delegates from a majority of the schools of the county being present. State secretary M. H. Reynolds of Owosso, gave many helpful suggestions. The officers elected for the coming year are: President, John K. Campbell, Augusta; vice president, W. E. Scott, Ypsilanti; field secretary, E. E. Calkins, Ann Arbor; recording secretary, Miss P. A. Noble, Ann Arbor; treasurer, Clayton F. Deake, Salem; executive committee, S. A. Mapes, Chelsea; Howard Bartlett, Saline.

Francis Hilaman Paine.

Francis H. Paine was born at Lundy's Lane, Ont., November 11, 1819; came to Michigan in 1836, and in 1837 returned to New York. In 1844 he returned to Michigan and in May of the following year was married to Margaret Kellogg. On the death of his wife in 1850 he returned to New York and remained there several years. In 1854 he was married to Mary J. Torpy, and with her came back to Michigan in 1862 and settled in Chelsea, which place he made his home until his death, October 14, 1898. He was the father of fourteen children, of whom five girls and three sons survive him. He was a kind father.

DISCOVERED BY A WOMAN.

Another great discovery has been made and that too, by a lady in this country. "Dyspepsia fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, and was so much relieved, on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz, of Chelsea, N. J. Trial bottles free at Glazier & Stimson's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

The official statement of the sealing industry for the season just closed shows a total of only 27,805 skins for the first thirty-five sealers, by far the lightest catch in years; also fewer sealers have been employed. The catch is divided thus: Asiatic coast, 440; British Columbia coast, 10,035; Bering Sea, 17,370.

Justice Cohen in the Supreme Court at New York, appointed Frederick W. Day of Elizabeth, N. J., and Edwin W. Sanborn of Andover, Mass., receivers for the New York Wool Warehouse Company, a New York corporation with a capital stock of $1,000,000, on the application of William MacNaughton, a stockholder.

A case of fanaticism of the extreme type was discovered at Los Angeles, Cal., when Miss Nell Thompson, colored, died while taken from the home of Mrs. Minerva Williams, who is said to call herself a representative of Christ, and who has been preaching the doctrine of fasting as a means of grace. The Thompson woman practiced this doctrine, having gone without food for eight days and sleeping in the river bottom on a piece of matting.

Dr. Simon Pollak, a prominent St. Louis, Mo., physician, is defendant in a suit for $10,000 damages brought by Miss Winnie Windhurst. For the last ten years, until recently, she was under Dr. Pollak's treatment for an affliction which destroyed the use of her limbs. She alleges that Dr. Pollak wrote an article for a newspaper, describing her case and referring to it as remarkable, and subjecting her to the treatment, to embarrassment and ridicule. She also asserts that some of the statements he made were untrue.

A dispatch from Havana says: "All agricultural industries are recovering with unexpected rapidity. In most of the provinces an almost average crop of sugar will be ground next spring. The winter grinding must necessarily be light, on account of lack of machinery, as well as the impossibility of getting ground ready for cultivation since Oct. 1 orders have gone from Havana to Boston for $1,500,000 worth of sugar-grinding machinery. Several other orders are now pending. A large transfer of property in Old San Juan, below Isabella square is rumored in mystery, but it is reported the purchase is for a New York department store."

ARE ORDERED TO ACT

INSTRUCTIONS TO AMERICAN PEACE COMMISSIONERS.

United States Positively Declines to Tolerate Any More Jockeying—Spaniards Must Hurry Out of Cuba and Pay Cuban Debt—Debate to Stop.

Spanish sovereignty in Cuba must end forever with the advent of the new year, and all Spanish soldiers must be out of the island by Jan. 1, according to an ultimatum that was cabled to Madrid Tuesday. All of the Spanish troops that remain in Cuba after the date named will be subject to the regulation of the American army.

This question and several others of equal importance were finally decided at an informal cabinet meeting, which was attended by President McKinley, Secretary Long, Algeo and Hay, and Attorney General Olney, which was followed by the dispatch of warm messages to Madrid and Paris.

The United States will take possession of Cuba on Jan. 1, and will assume control of the custom houses and direct the civil government. Gen. Blanco will cease to be chief of the island, and must leave himself with the deportation of his troops.

Spain asked to be given until Feb. 1 to evacuate the island, but the cabinet decided not to extend the time beyond this year.

The American peace commissioners in Paris were directed to inform their Spanish colleagues in unmistakable terms that it is useless to discuss an Cuban debt, which will not be assumed by either this country or Cuba. They are to take up questions that are open to discussion, of which the disposal of the Philippines is the most important. It is reported that Spain has agreed to the cession of the island of Guam to the United States.

John C. Sharp for State Senator.

New Washtenaw Post: In the tenth senatorial district, which is composed of the counties of Washtenaw and Jackson, the republican Senator Campbell was relegated into retirement by his own party because of his opposition to Gov. Pingree's measures for equal taxation, and in his stead was nominated the Hon. John C. Sharp of Jackson.

Scarcely had this nomination been made when the report began to be circulated that he stood no better on the tax question than his predecessor, Senator Campbell. This report has now been proved to be totally false and untrue by the speech that Mr. Sharp delivered last Friday evening at Ypsilanti, wherein he openly and in a manner so sweeping as to remove all doubt, declared himself in favor of any law that would compel railroad corporations and other large monopolies to pay their just and equitable proportion of taxes. He made an open and mainly declaration such as only an honorable and courageous man would make. The writer was astonished and pleased at his words. He made a very favorable impression upon the audience.

Mr. Sharp is a sensible intelligent man, and a large farmer, whose interests and sympathies must naturally be with and for the farmer, and must ever remain so as their benefit will be his benefit and their loss will be his loss. Such people can not be purchased by railroad companies. The attempt is never made to buy them.

The opponent of Mr. Sharp on the democratic side is Mr. Charles A. Ward, former editor of the Ann Arbor Democrat, a democrat with populist ideas.

Some of the Pingree "push" had felt favorable toward him, but when the last issue of his paper appeared and was so saturated with sarcasm for everything republican even throwing suspicion upon our Gov. Pingree and Congressman Schmidt, the Pingree people lost all faith in him, and as Mr. Sharp has now come out in such a manly manner, he will receive their entire support.

THE PROFESSOR'S CONUNDRUM.
"Professor," they said, "give us a deep metaphysical conundrum."
"Well," he said after a moment's thought, "when is which? what?"
They gave it up.
"When is neither," explained the professor.
And when they had studied it out they understood it.—Chicago Tribune.

Crete has lost through political disturbances of recent years olive trees to the value of $10,000,000. It will take 40 years to restore the orchards to full bearing condition, and in the meantime 800,000 Mohammedans and 800,000 Christians will have to starve.

In Australia spring begins Aug. 20; summer, Nov. 30; autumn, Feb. 20; and winter, May 20.

There are said to be fewer suicides among miners than among any other class of workers.

NATURE'S EPITAPH.
Who knows where the graveyard is
Where the fox and the eagle lie?
Who has seen the obsequies
Of the red deer when they die?
With death they steal away,
Out of the sight of the sun,
Out of the sight of the living; they
Pay the debt and are done.
No marble marks the place;
The common forest brown
Covers them over with Quaker grace
Just where they laid them down.
But a few years, if you see
In summer a deeper green
Here and there, it is like to be
The spot where their bones have been.
Thus, not more, to the poor dead year,
No grave nor ghostly stone,
But a greener life and a warmer cheer
Be the only sign that he's gone.
—Christian Register.

BURNE-JONES.
Rossetti's influence in causing the artist to hyphenate his name.
It may or may not be true that it was Rossetti who urged Burne-Jones, when at the outset of his career, to connect with a hyphen "Burne" and "Jones," says William Sharp in The Atlantic. "Jones" is nobody," Rossetti would declare, "only a particle of a vast multitude." But Burne-Jones—that is undeniable.

It was an amusing trait in Rossetti that he was wont to designate the good work of this or that friend as the work of "and he would mention the most distinctive name or part name of the person concerned." Thus, he would say, "Yes, that is Burne-Jones, but this, this here, you know, is only Jones," or "That now is the real Holman Hunt; but this here is only Hunt," or "You can hear Denbyson, in that, but Alfred wrote the other lines."

I recall two amusing instances where Burne-Jones more or less unconsciously adopted the same method. He was asked once if he thought William Bell Scott more akin to a poet, or as an artist. "I never thought very highly of Bell," he replied. Then, seeing a look of surprise, added, with a humorous twinkle, "I read old Bell Scott—old Scotts, as we always called him—immensely, and I think William Bell Scott wrote some very fine verse, but I always thought it was a pity that Bell took to painting!"

The other instance occurred when some one remarked to him that "Parnell was only an agitator." "Charles Stewart Parnell," he replied with emphasis, "was one of the greatest public men of our day and far away the ablest Irish leader." "But Parnell," etc., resumed the objector, to be again corrected by the other disputant, "Charles Stewart Parnell," etc.

The Oldest Patent.
The question as to the holder of the oldest patent in this country has brought out from the files of Joseph Jencks some additional facts which tend to show that he was the first inventor in this country. Patents granted from the sovereign power of England for land, water and other privileges were not uncommon in early colonial times. Joseph Jencks of Lynn, Mass., a number of years previous to receiving a patent for an invention of a scythe had been granted one for "an application of water power to mills." Biographical notes state that Mr. Jencks introduced to the Massachusetts colony the idea of patenting inventions, and that he might protect and introduce his ideas seems to have been a reason for coming to the new country. The grass scythe patented in 1662 was perhaps the most valuable of his inventions. The improvement over the old English scythe, with its short, thick blade like a bush scythe, consisted in lengthening the blade, making it thinner and welding a square bar at the back and strengthening it. Today this scythe, practically unchanged, is used in Europe and America. The patent was withheld from Mr. Jencks for fifty years as it was thought to be too valuable to be monopolized.—Hartford Courant.

A Popular Delusion.
"Did you read this, dear?" said Mrs. Grigby to Orlando the other night. "It's a strange case. A harmless lunatic imagines that he's a grain of corn and will not go into the yard test a chicken eat him. Isn't it an odd delusion?"
"Oh, the world's full of such delusions," said Grigby. "Know a harmless lunatic who seems to imagine that she's a piece of cheese and she will fly from a room when a mouse enters it for fear the little creature will devour her."—London Tit-Bits.

New Dramatizations.
Some great man was taking a party of friends over his newly built house. One of the party would not admire it and complained that there were too many anachronisms. "Oh," said a lady who was noted for her tactfulness and who had been unkind in her admiration, "don't you like anachronisms? I think they are such a beautiful ornament."

The Professor's Conundrum.
"Professor," they said, "give us a deep metaphysical conundrum."
"Well," he said after a moment's thought, "when is which? what?"
They gave it up.
"When is neither," explained the professor.
And when they had studied it out they understood it.—Chicago Tribune.

CONTRASTS IN NAPLES.
Only a Step From Royal Magnificence to Crowds of Half-Naked Workers.
One of the strangest contrasts in Naples is to walk from the royal palace, with its fine marble staircase, up the new Corso Re d'Italia and to climb up to the steep streets around the Church of San Soverino a Scolo.
These streets are the dwelling places of the dyers, and one steps from regal magnificence into a crowd of semi-naked people, who are busily dipping great hanks of cotton or wool into scolding caldrons. As elsewhere, the work is carried on in the street, and little streams of water—red, yellow, brown and black—pour over the rough stones and gather in multicolored pools, while on low benches against the walls women are washing clothes, standing in the dirty, soapy water that splashes over from their tubs.

The passerby walks heedlessly through the dye and soapuds, while the children find pleasant occupation in throwing mud of every variety of color at anybody who chances to be wearing light colored garments. It is a veritable feast of color from the merely spectacular point of view, but a visit to these streets leaves a bodily as well as a mental impression.

Very often in the depths of these sordid alleys one comes across a forgotten old palace, built when carriages were unknown, its great court of honor crowded with booths, its vast halls filled with a heterogeneous collection of men, women and children, fowls, goats, sheep and occasionally a donkey, all living together in the happiest proximity. The massive old walls are hidden beneath centuries of dirt; the wood-work has, for the most part, disappeared; the rooms that once knew the revels of Angevin nobles now shelter the hapless existence of hazzarini.—Ludgate.

FUN IN THE FOOTNOTE.
A Popular Librettist's Conundrum Withhold a Joke on Prospective Bride.
W. S. Gilbert does not retain all of his humor for use in his librettos.

In the early days of his success, when the Gilbert and Sullivan were considered by managers as the "sure winners" in the comic opera field, a young woman who was a member of one of the "Pinafore" companies wrote to Gilbert telling him of her approaching marriage with a young man of good position and family.

Gilbert congratulated the young woman and expressed the hope that her future might be prosperous and happy. Only a little more than a month passed, and another letter from the same girl reached him, in which she stated that her engagement with the young man had been broken and that she had accepted another suitor.

He replied that he had every confidence in her judgment and again expressed his hearty wishes for her welfare.

It was almost two months after that that Gilbert received a third letter from the same girl, who informed him that the young man—had proposed and that she had accepted him after breaking her engagement with No. 2.

Gilbert's humor could no longer withstand the temptation, and he wrote, "I desire to congratulate you on your approaching matrimony with"—Here he placed an asterisk and in a footnote added:

"Here insert the name of the happy man."
This is probably as characteristic a piece of humor as any that appears in his "Bab Ballads" or in his works for the stage.—New York Press.

Wonderful Pumping Engines.
The standard attained by the performance of modern pumping engines is pretty high, as was illustrated by an incident which occurred not long ago here in New York, where some large pumping engines that had recently been set up and were working at rather high speed and almost absolutely without noise were inspected by an expert in such matters who hailed from an interior city. He remarked: "Well, these engines work very nicely now, but wait until you get to pumping water at that speed and then you will hear something from them probably."

His astonishment may perhaps be imagined when it was demonstrated to him that they were at that moment pumping water and had been continuously doing so for 48 hours.—American Machinist.

They Help One Another.
A singular custom prevails among the Tartars or Kurds. If a man gets into difficulties—that is, loses his cattle or other movable property—he pours a little brown sugar into a piece of colored cloth, ties it up and carries one such parcel to each of his friends and acquaintances. In return he is presented, according to circumstances, with a cow or sheep or a sum of money. He is thus at once set on his legs again. The same method is adopted when a young man wishes to marry, but is not in a position to satisfy the parents of his intended bride in the matter of the "bushy" —that is, marriage dowry. Only in this case he does not go round himself, but sends a friend or a servant.

Japanese Fireworks.
In Nagasaki, Japan, there is a fireworks maker who manufactures pyrotechnic birds of great size that when exploded "fall" in a lifelike manner through the air and perform many movements exactly like those of living birds. The secret of making these wonderful things has been in the possession of the eldest child of the family of each generation for more than 400 years.

No Cause For Commiseration.
"Poor Dibble! They say he got a pair of beautiful black eyes lately. I feel sorry for him."
"You needn't. He got a very handsome girl with them."—Short Skits.

No One Stopped the Stage.
The morning after the assassination of President Lincoln the telegraph operator of a small town in Ohio read a passing dispatch which conveyed the sorrowful information to him. This speedily spread through the surrounding country, and at 11 o'clock when the mail train was due, nearly 100 men had congregated to buy a morning paper.

As a matter of course not a single paper remained, and all were in despair, until some one remembered that the postmaster was a regular subscriber, and that the mail bag must contain a morning newspaper addressed to him.

The coveted paper found the aged postmaster proceeded to read to the people who had crowded into the long store the details of the murder. In the crowd stood a very patriotic but ignorant old man, who was ever making pertinent suggestions.

The voice of the reader uttered more than once as he read the account, now so familiar to all Americans. Finally he reached the point where it was said of Booth that he "shrieked out 'Sic semper tyranni,' leaped on the stage and made his escape."

Throwing his old poke hat upon the floor, the patriotic old man lifted his hand aloft and shouted:

"Sic semper tyranni! Why didn't some body have sense enough to stop the stage?"—Chicago Chronicle.

D. C. McLaren wishes to inform the farmers of this vicinity that he has another large lot of that damaged wheat and corn from Toledo, which he is selling at $1 a ton.

BENEFACTORS OF THE RACE.
Office of "KINGDOM'S TIMES,"
Kingfisher, Okla., Dec. 18, 1899.
Gentlemen:—I believe it my duty to write you a line in regard to the beneficial effect of your "Four C Remedy," so far as I am personally concerned. A week ago last Thursday, I was taken with a severe attack of la grippe and in a short time became so bad I could not speak above a whisper. The night previous I had coughed nearly the entire night; just before retiring I took a teaspoonful and slept the entire night as well as I ever did in my life, not coughing once. I was greatly relieved before taking one bottle. Phelps' Cough, Cold and Croup Cure should be in every household in the land. I send you this which is appreciated by anyone, for you are benefactors of the race in giving it the widest of some of the most afflictions to which it is liable.
Very Truly Yours,
C. J. NASHLEY, Editor.

A MIRACLE.
Kansas City, Kansas, Dec. 24, '99.
Last Friday, Dec. 19, my attending physician stated that I was better by morning, but could do nothing for my relief. That night I commenced taking Phelps' "Four C" remedy, stopped all other medicines. The first dose stopped my cough, sleep and rest, and a few minutes later removed all soreness from my lungs; the second day I was up; the third day I was out on the porch and to-day was up and purchasing holiday goods.

UNBROKEN REST AT NIGHT.
J. B. HILL, Notary.
Office Commercial Printing Co.,
196 South Dearborn St.,
Chicago, Nov. 18, 1899.
R. R. Phelps, Esq., City.
Dear Sir:—I wish to bear testimony to the great efficacy of your "Four C" remedy in time and lung ailments. As a child I have been afflicted with the same ailment, and have to confess that a last of your remedy is worthy of use. My children all take it with the least objection, from which to guard it and it is particularly noticeable that the least colds in their beginning; it gives us a broken rest at night. In my family it is as indispensable as salt and I recommend it to all.

ACUTE LARYNGITIS.
Chicago, Sept. 28, '99.
For years back each winter I have suffered with acute Laryngitis. Last winter was no more I could not leave my room for two weeks of great distress. I was coughing day and night and down to my knees. I was in such a state of distress that I was induced to try Phelps' "Four C" remedy. The first dose relieved my cough, giving me a good night's rest. I have never been without this wonderful remedy as it is as different from other like remedies as molasses from vinegar or sugar from salt.
