Supper and Entertainment.

The supper and entertainment given at the Opera House, Wednesday, Nov. 23rd, '98, under the auspices of the ladies of St. Mary's Church, was one of the grandest. social and financial successes of the season. About 600 partook of a splendid supper, and then witnessed the delightful musicale. Miss Mildred Hardie, of Winnipeg, Can., who is temporarily residing with Mr. Mc-Gee, her grandfather, was the star attraction, and evoked most enthusiastic applause by her fine singing and perfect act ing. She is indeed a wonder for a girl of five years, and may always be sure of a cordial reception. 1t was in the opinion of good judges the best programme ever given in Chelsea. The proceeds amounted decorated with beautiful new furniture by Mr. George P. Staffan.

The ladies of the parish are very grateful to all who assisted in making the social such a grand success. No. 540, held by Mrs. John Lowry, drew the organ. Geo. Eisele was the most successful ticket-seller among the boys, and received a fine football as a present; while Miss Mary Eder won a fine gold cross for similar work among the girls.

It is said that Saturday has been a fatal day to the royal family of England for the last 185 years. William III., George IV., Queen Anne, George L. George II., George III., George IV., the dutchess of Kent, the prince consort, the duke of Clarence, the duke of Albany and Princess Alice all died on that day.

OF 1,000,000 babies 30,000 are likely to die of accident, 30,000 by remotely preventable diseases like consumption. 120,000 by absolutely preventable diseases like typhoid, measles, smallpox and scarlet fever. Only one in 20 will die of old age. Look out for the preventable diseases and you are adding years to your life chances.

WILLIAM ONION is credited with 1,000 convictions in the London police courts of being drunk and disorderly, and on the last occasion it was shown that his occupation, so far as he had any, was that of a temperance lecturer and poet. He was in the habit of writing and selling temperance poems and indulging in sprees on the proceeds.

EUROPE consumed in 1897 from Afriea, British India and Ceylon 1,763,680 pounds of ivory. Practically all of this passed through the markets of London, Liverpool and Antwerp. The ivory imported at Antwerp came from Congo Free State. The number of animals killed to furnish this supply is estimated to have been 88,185.

NEARLY one-third of the members of the next house will be men who are not now servinging congress, the number of changes being 110, but some of legislative experience in former congresses. More new faces will be in the delegation from New York than any other state, the number being 18. Pennsylvania is second on the list with ten and Illinois third with nine.

A REAL Spaniard, of ancient lineage, and thoroughly conversant with both the Castilian and the English tongues, will be reckoned among the republicans of the next house. He is no other than Delegate-elect Pedro Perea, of Bernallilo, N. M., son of one of the prominent men of the territory and scion of a family that traces its ancestors back 250 years, when the dons first set foot on the soil of that romantic section of the contineut.

THEY allow women to wear male attire in France, but they are taxed for the privilege. The French government charges women $10 to $12.50 per year for wearing the trousers. This however, does not give every woman who is willing to pay the tax a right to wear such garments. The government confers the right as a tribute to great merit, and makes it in fact, a sort of decoration given to women, as the ribbon of the legion of honor is given to

THE most decorated man in Europe probably is Count August of Eulenerg, the marshal of the German court, who has 63 decorations. This record vas not even equaled by the late Prince Bismarck, who had only 54 decorations. Count von Moltke, another much decorated man, had 44. Among living men, Gen. von Hahnke comes after Count August of Eulenberg, with a total of 52 decorations. He is folowed by Prince Albrecht of Prussia, vho has 44.

MRS. WILLIAM ASTOR has a collection of diamonds worth a fortune. But the inest diamond in the world belongs, it is said, to Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. It s a tiny affair, weighing one karat, yet it cost her husband $5,000. As the alue of a diamond increases in an inreasing ratio with its weight, up to a moderate size, the Vanderbilt brilliant, if as large as the Koh-i-Noor (10214 kaats) would be worth about $3,800,000. Mrs. Vanderbilt's marvelous gem came from Sombulpoor or Golconda.

A MEDICAL scientist is authority for the statement that children and old eople especially suffer from a lack of me in the system. Persons who habitually drink soft water, while they may enjoy immunity from certain of the ills of life, expose themselves to others perhaps quite as much to be avoided. Hard water helps the teeth and the bones by furnishing lime, which is necessary to health, growth and development. Old persons who drink but little lose their teeth more quickly than those who take a reason-able amount of drinking water.

NEEDY PATIENTS FINANCIALLY AIDED.

No Discrimination Between This and Other States-Cases of Imposition Are Rare-Organization of the Circle-The Fruit and Flower Mission Gives Cheer.

[Special Correspondence.] Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 23.—"We used nearly $325 helping needy patients last year," said Mrs. William H. Wait, president of the University Hospital Circle of the King's Daughters. "Our circle, although organized but 21/2 years, has done much good. What we aim to do is to give needy patients at the hespital financial aid. The hospital is not free, except for the services of the surgeons and physicians. The rules are that five dollars a week must be paid for every patient. This is to pay the cost of board and nursing. Now it often happens that patients come with only enough money to get them through one | buried all the dead, and officiated at all or two weeks when their case is such as really to require several weeks. These people we aid, if on investigation we find them worthy and find that their friends are unable to furnish the funds. However, we take particular pains to satisfy ourselves that the parties are Treat Everyone Alike.

"No, we do not discriminate between patients from this state and other states. The only requirement we make is that the patient be needy. It makes no difference to us as to what is his nationality, race, creed or politics. If he needs our aid he receives it.

"The rules of the hospital require that in very difficult operations $100 be guaranteed before the peration will be performed. This is to pay the expense of a private room, a special nurse and other necessary attentions. As soon as the patient is well enough he is put in the ward and then the extra expense ceases. Of course it does not often happen that the entire $100 is used, but the rules require that it be guaranteed. By agreeing to pay the sum, or as much of it as necessary, we new representatives have had have made it possible for several paaway. If we can get the patient's home church or his friends to raise a portion of the $100 we then only make up the

Rarely Imposed Upon.

"Several of the persons we have assisted are to-day earning wages for the support of themselves and those dependent upon them. In this way we have helped not only the patients, but also their families. Of all the patients we have assisted since our organization there is but one about whom there is the faintest suspicion of our having been imposed upon. We have had as many as five patients at a time on our Organization of the Circle.

"Our circle consists of about 30 members, nearly all of them wives of members of the faculty or college girls. We meet monthly and appoint a visiting committee whose duty it is to call how large, that anybody wants to pay. The exact amount is a secret between the members and the treasurer, not money we have used since our organization nearly all has been raised by voluntary subscription. Some of these contributions have come from persons at a distance, and for these we feel very thankful."

Homeopathic Hospital Guild.

What the King's Daughters are doing for the old school hospital the University Homeopathic Hospital Guild is doing for the homeopathic hospital. The guild completed its first year's work the third of this month. Its receipts from members and friends for its year's work amounted to $104.95. The patients assisted during the year were three children and one adult. The children were from Mount Pleasant, nurse, who was her eight-year-old sister. When asked if she was going to take care of the patient the little nurse replied: "Why shouldn't I? I always have." The patient had defective eyes, which were greatly benefited by the hospital treatment. The patient from Ann Arbor was a boy who had been blind from birth. After the operation upon his eyes, when he began to see a little, it was a study to the physicians and nurses to hear him describe what Soule, wife of Harrison Soule, treasurer of the university, is an enthusiastic worker who gives much time and energy to the affairs of the guild. The present aspiration of the organization is to raise enough to maintain a free bed in the hospital.

Fruit and Flower Mission.

There is still another organization at the university that looks after the patients in the hospitals. It is the Fruit and Flower Mission. The object of this society is to cheer up the patients at the hospitals by visiting them and keeping them supplied with flowers. The college girls lend their aid to this work to a considerable extent. The holiday season is a time when the patients are especially remembered. Places Made Homelike.

Another work accomplished by this society has been the furnishing of the sun parlors at the university hospital and the parlors in the new building for the nurses. These places they have made very homelike, thus brightening the life of both patients and nurses.

The ten-year-old son of D. J. Harris, of Vandalia, was unable to recite his spelling lesson with sufficient accuracy to please his parent, and the latter sought to inject a little orthography into him by placing a hemp rope about his neck and tying the other end to a rafter. He then went away, and neighbors found the lad just in time to cut him down and save his life. Harris is in jail charged with attempted murder.

Seek Pardon.

Application for a pardon has been made for August Tanto and Gilbert, alias Gideon, Brown, serving life sentences in Jackson prison for murder. Tanto shot Mrs. Stoehel, of Delhi township, in 1889, through a window and wounded her husband, and as the deed was premeditated there is slight chance for his getting a pardon. Brown murdered his wife at Mason.

Thanksgiving Day at the White House-Celebrated at Santiago-Banquets Given Abroad.

Washington, Nov. 25 .- Thanksgiving day was observed in the usual manner. A snow and rainstorm kept people off the streets and reduced attendance at the churches. All the executive departments and business houses were closed. The president, accompanied by his brother, Abner McKinley, attended divine service at the Metropolitan Methodist church and listened to a sermon by Rev. Dr. Bristol. The remainder of the day the president spent at home. He ate his Thanksgiving dinner with Mrs. McKinley and his brother, Abner McKinley, and wife, who are visiting at the white house. Most of the members of the cabinet are in the city and spent Thanksgiving day quietly at their Santiago de Cuba, Nov. 25.—Santiago celebrated its first Thanksgiving since the American occupation. All the ships in the harbor were decorated with bunting and the officers entertained friends at dinner. The day was practically unobserved by the Cubans, except those employed in the government offices. A football game which had been arranged between teams from the Fifth regulars and the Fifth volunteers was postponed until Christmas day, the weather being still too warm for such sport. Several officers stationed at Guantanamo and Manzanillo, who had secured leaves of absence, spent the day with friends here. All the regiments celebrated as well as possible under the circumstances. Turkeys were few, but hopes are entertained by the Americans that their friends in the north will ship turkeys to them in time for their Christmas dinner. The Cuban papers make practically no allusion to the day.

Berlin, Nov. 25 .- A Thanksgiving dinner attended by 200 Americans was given at the Kaiserhof Thursday evening. John B. Jackson, secretary of the American embassy, presided at the banquet, and proposed toasts to President McKinley and Emperor William, both of which were received with cheers. President H. E. Gates, of Amherst college, made an address upon the significance of national holidays, after which Mr. Jackson introduced Maj. Gen. Frank Wheaton, U. S. A. (retired). Gen. Wheaton in his address said he hoped congress now realized the fact that the United States needed an army commensurate with the requirements of a great nation. London, Nov. 25 .- The Thanksgiv banquet of the American society in London, which was held at the Hotel Cecil Thursday evening, was a glorification of Anglo-American friendship. Three hundred Americans and their English guests sat at a table under the entwined flags of the two nations. Two notable speeches were made, one by Mr. Henry White, the American charge d'affaires, and the other by Sir Edwin Arnold, who was supposed to be nearly, at the point of death from paralysis, but who dragged himself into the banquet hall against the orders of his physicians, leaning on the arm of his Japanese wife and supported by a cane.

Paris, Nov. 25 .- Gen. Horace Porter, American ambassador to France, held a brilliant Thanksgiving day reception at the embassy, at which many persons were present.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26 .- The failure of Grant C. Gillett, the cattle man of Woodbine, Kan., was not generally known in Kansas City at the close of business hours Friday evening, though it was already known and had created a slight flurry in financial circles centering at the stock yards. It is stated that over $500,000 of Gillett's paper is held in Kansas City, distributed among a score or more of commission firms. Mr. Thomas Kelly, an old and respected resident of Chelsea, died suddenly, Friday, Nov. 25th, 1898. Mr. Kelly had been in poor health for some time, but his condition was not alarming. His funeral was held from St. Mary's Church, Chelsea, last Monday morning, at ten o'clock, with Requiem High Mass, the Rev. William P. Considine officiating. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Father Considine preached a beautiful sermon on death. Mr. Kelly is survived by a widow, one son, Wm. Kelly, and three daughters, Mrs. Jas. Shanahan, Mrs. Jas. Hagan, of Detroit, and Miss Mary Kelly, of Jackson. The remains were interred in Mt. Olivet Wm. Grau, of Lima, who has been home cemetery, Chelsea. May his soul rest in

The attorneys for the plaintiff in the follows: $10,000 libel suit of Wm. Judson vs. Selby A. Moran, have noticed the case for trial at the next term of the Circuit Court, which begins its sessions Dec. 5. This case, when it comes up, will draw a crowded house, and there is no danger of a settlement between the parties. As is well known, the suit is based upon statements of illegal practices on election day. The action is one of criminal libel, and if a judgment is obtained against the defendant he will either have to pay it, or be put in jail, if the plaintiff elects to pay his Mr. and Mrs. Milo Hunter spent the board there. The interests at stake are so great that the case will undoubtedly be hard fought one.—Argus-Democrat.

FURY OF THE STORM.

New England and New York Swept by a Blizzard.

Many Lives Are Lost on Sea and o Land-Snow Blockades Trains-The Loss of Property Is .. Enormous.

Boston, Nov. 28 .- A record-breaking November blizzard swept over the greater portion of New England Saturday night and Sunday, completely demoralizing traffic of every description and well-nigh paralyzing telegraphic and telephonic communication, while the northeast gale, coming on a high course of tides, drove the sea far bewond its usual limits and made a mark along shore exceeded only by the memorable hurricane of 1851. While the storm was heaviest in the southeastern | the vesse! on the ways, took positions part of New England, the whole district was affected, and experienced a snowfall of from eight to twenty-four

Fortunately, the storm was heralded sufficiently in advance by the weather bureau to detain most of the coastwise shipping in safe harbors, but the warning was entirely unheeded and ignored by those on shore, with the result that nearly everyone, especially the railroads and electric companies, were caught napping and suffered accordthe great drifts, and the roads running | cheer that resounded through the hills. along the coast, like the New York, New Haven & Hartford and the Boston & Maine, had the added difficulty of frequent washouts in places exposed to the heavy seas. Trains north, east, south and west were nearly all stalled packed hard on the rails and held up started down the ways. even the heavy snow plows.

The loss to the Boston Elevated Railroad company will reach $100,000, while the different steam railroads terminating here suffer an aggregate loss of $200,000, and the loss to shipping will exceed $1,500,000, computing the value of the steamship Ohio and her cargo at $800,000.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 28 .- The storm in this city is the heaviest known since the blizzard of 1888. The snow is about two feet on a level and is drifted badly. John Ahren, an electrician, was killed on the Glastonbury trolley line while working at clearing the tracks. He was struck by the blade of a snow plow following and instantly killed.

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 28 .- The damage to the sea wall on the ocean front is between $30,000 and $40,000. Policeman Benjamin P. Boynton, while on duty, died in the snow from heart failure. In New York.

New York, Nov. 28 .- When the people of New York awoke Sunday morning they found the blizzard that raged when they retired was still in progress. The storm, which began with a soft, sleety snow on Saturday at noon, increased greatly as the day wore on, with heavier snow fall, the wind blowing a gale at midnight. There was a slight abatement of the wind Sunday morning but the snow still fell and drifted high and the temperature dropped rapidly. At ten o'clock a. m. there was a breaking away in the west, and finally the storm ceased altogether and the severest blizzard since the memorable one of March, 1888, came to an end. The wind blew at the height of the storm Many Wrecks. The terrific blow of Saturday night did much damage to the small shipping in New York harbor. It is reported that several tugboats belonging to the Kingston Towing company, together with a large number of canal boats, were sunk up the river by the force of the gale. The shores of the Hudson are littered with wreckage.

Several Deaths. An order was sent out from police headquarters to the various precinct commanders to have arrested all persons found alone in a condition that would raise even the suspicion of intoxication. As a result the police courts were crowded with eminently respectable-looking persons who were let go with a small fine and an admonition to get in out of the snow. Notwithstanding this precaution on the part of the police there were a number of casualties, including several deaths from exposure.

It is known that a total of eight lives were lost Saturday night and Sunday and that 16 persons were injured through exposure and freezing. The aggregate loss to street railroads in New York city is put at $110,000; to telegraph and telephone lines, $17,000.

In Pennsylvania. Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—The blizzard which came out of the west reached this city at 11 o'clock Saturday morning and raged furiously until one o'clock Sunday morning. As unexpected as it was violent, it wrought great havoc not only here but throughout the entire state. In those 14 hours the snow fall reached a depth of over nine inches and the wind a velocity of 45 miles an hour. These figures are unprecedented in the November record of the local weather bureau, and the officials there say that the storm in general was the worst since the memorable blizzard of 1888.

CHRISTENED WISCONSIN.

The Big Battleship Is Successfully Launched at Union Iron Works, San Francisco.

San Francisco, Nov. 28 .- The battleship Wisconsin was launched at 9:21 o'clock Saturday morning. Thousands of spectators witnessed the ceremony. Long before the hour appointed for the launching the visitors crowded the yards of the Union iron works, the adjoining housetops, and the hills. The launching party, which included prominent visitors from Wisconsin and this state, was given a place upon the large platform which had been built around the prow of the vessel.

Miss Elizabeth Stephenson, of Wisconsin, to whom had been given the honor of christening the battleship, and little Miss Lucile Gage, daughter of Gov.-elect Gage, who had been chosen to touch the button that started within a few feet of the ship's prow. Irving M. Scott, of the Union iron works, chose workmen to knock away the supports that held the vessel on the

Almost simultaneously Mayor Phelan stepped forward upon the platform above and introduced Margaret Duff, of the Irving M. Scott grammar school, who, on behalf of the school, presented to the battleship a large flag made by the pupils of the school. Commodore Watson, commandant at Mare island, ingly. Hardly had the mayor ceased reading than little Miss Gage, at the bidding of Mr. Scott, touched the button that freed the giant early in the night. In cities and towns | ship. The massive structure responded dependent upon electric cars service to the touch of the button like a thing was even worse, for the damp snow of life, and without the slightest jar

As it trembled on the move Miss Stephenson broke the bottle of wine upon the prow and in a clear, full voice said: "I christen thee Wisconsin." Gaining speed every moment, the great hull glided rapidly down the ways into the water, receiving its first touch of brine at just 9:21 o'clock. As the future sea terror settled in the water the crowd gave vent to a great cheer, which was soon drowned in the din created by the booming of cannon upon the United States gunboat Wheeling and the blowing of whistles upon the countless craft in the bay

Saturday evening the management of shifting the trolley bar when he was the Union iron works entertained 200 distinguished guests at a banquet here in a private dining-room of the Palace hotel. Speeches were made by Irving M. Scott, general manager of the Union iron works; Gov. Budd, Gov.-elect Gage, the latter a native of Wisconsin; Lieut.-Gov. Baensch, of Wisconsin; United States Senator Mitchell, of Wisconsin, and others.

The battleship Wisconsin, designed in the bureau of construction and repair of the navy department, is a sister ship of the Alabama, building in the Cramp's yard at Philadelphia, and also the Illinois, building at Newport News.

The dimensions of the Wisconsin are as follows: Length, on load water line, 368 feet; beam extreme, 72 feet 21/2 inches; draft on normal displacement of 11,525 tons, 23 feet 6 inches; maximum displacement, all ammunition and stores on board, 12,325 tons; maximum indicated horse-power (estimated), 10,000; probable speed, 161/2 knots; normal coal supply, 800 tons; coal supply, loose storage, 1,200 tons; full bunker capacity, 1,400 to 1,500 tons. Complement of officers, 40; seamen, marines, etc.,

The main battery will consist of four 13inch breech-loading rifles in Hichborn balthe rate of 59 to 60 miles an hour during anced turrets, oval in shape, and placed in the center line of the vessel, and 14 sixinch rapid-fire guns. The secondary battery will consist of 16 six-pounder rapid-fire guns, four one-pounder rapid-fire guns, two Colt guns and two field guns. She will carry four torpedo tubes.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

Secretary Bliss Reviews Work of Penston, Indian, Land, Patent, Educational and Territorial Bureaus.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The annual report of Secretary of the Interior Bliss reviews in detail the progress of pension, Indian, land, patent, educational and territorial affairs. Reviewing the gradual diminu-tion of public land area, Secretary Bliss says: "Of 301,000,000 acres of desert land requiring irrigation to render them valuable farming lands, the available water supply is sufficient for only 71,500,600 acres, leaving 200,676,000 acres suitable only for grazing purposes. There are 30 forest reservations embracing an estimated area of 40,719,474 acres." The Indians are declared to have made substantial progress and the Chippewa outbreak was the only serious disturbance of the year. Referring to this trouble the report points to Commissioner of Indian Af-fairs Jones' successful efforts in bringing about the surrender of the Indians and says the origin of the trouble is now under joint investigation by the departments of the interior and of justice.

Considerable effort has been made to induce the Mille Lac Chippewas to go to White Earth reservation, but with meager success, though Chippewa Commissioner Hall hopes quite a number will remove this autumn. The senate is urged to ratify the treaty with the Uintah Indians to re-ceive such Uncompangres as should be allotted to lands on the Uintah reservation. No agreement, however, can be made with the Uintahs for the sale of all their lands in order that all not needed for allotment might be offered for sale. The commission reports its failure and says the terms specified were not acceptable to the tribe. The workings of the Curtis Indian territory act are praised and 'he more progressive element of the Indians in the territory are reported as inclined to accept the situation in good faith.

Reviewing pension matters, Secretary Bliss reports 635,000 claims of all classes pending, and says a separate division has been organized for the adjudication of claims growing out of the war with Spain. These soldiers will receive their pensions under the general law for permanent disabilities contracted in the service. He also concurs in the recommendation for the creation of a commission to revise the pension laws and regulations in the interes of a future reliable, intelligent and uniform practice. Early legislative enactment for the taking of the twelfth census is urged in view of the necessary large amount of work preparatory to the enumeration of the population

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Webster Davis, in his annual report, says the 12,681 appeals from the pension bureau and 626 motions for reconsideration filed during the year make up a number unprece-dented in any one year or two years in the history of the board of pension appeals. The proportionate increase still continues and on October 1 last there were 11,820 such appeals and motions pending and Secretary Bliss concurs in Assistant Secretary Davis' recommendations for providing for three additional members of this board; for additional legislation amending the act of August 7, 1882, relating to marriages; legislation regulating the payment of pensions to soldiers who deprive their families of the use thereof because of immoral habits and incompetency; and a legislative amendment in behalf of widows whose husbands died while in the service, death not being the result of any violation of any law, regulation or rule of the military or naval service, death under such conditions to be held to be equivalent to an honorable discharge, as now required.

The advancement along educational lines is outlined by an increase of over 250,000 of school pupils in the United States for the fiscal year 1896-7, over the previous one, but yet the total average amount of schooling per individual for the whole United States, measured by the present standard, does not quite equal five years of 200 days each for each inhabitant. The total number of school pupils in the country, in elementary public and private schools, colleges, uni-versities, high schools and academies, is Secretary Bliss, summing up the report of Gov. Brady, of Alaska, calls attention to the difficulty of preventing the smuggling of liquor into Alaska, it being impossible to enforce present regulations without a fleet of revenue cutters and steam launches to patrol the tortuous channels of southeast Alaskan waters. Smuggling prevails and saloons are open in all of the towns and mining camps. The governor reports a consensus of opinion in favor of a stringent high license law which would tend to stamp out smuggling and liquor selling to the natives. The application to Alaska of the liquor laws in force in the District of Columbia with several minor modifications, is urged as meeting a majority approval. The governor believes that, Alaska should and can pay revenue into the United States treasury. Under a high license law he estimates that the liquor traffic would yield an annual revenue of not less than $200,000; a tax of a few cents per case of salmon would produce from $35,000 to $50,-000; ten cents per ton on wharfage collected during the past year would have yielded $100,000. He recommends, however, that any system of taxation for the territory be deferred until land laws shall have been provided.

Many sections of Alaska, it is shown, ar suitable for agricultural purposes. With proper care, cattle can be raised in the milder districts. It cannot be doubted that in the course of time vast herds of reindeer will cover the plains of northern Alaska and a few thousands of dollars spent now in helping the Eskimo to obtain herds will save the expenditure of many thousands in the future.

Representation in congress for the citizens of Alaska is strongly urged. The past year has been one of great progress in mining operations. Many Americans who located claims in the northwest temitory have abandoned them and have settled on the Alaskan side of the international boundary line, where a new town, Eagle City, has sprung up. There has been great development in quartz mining in southeast Alaska and along the coast as far as Unalaska. Coat has been discovered near the upper Yukon, the Tanana, and on Prince William sound.

Public buildings at Sitka are urgently needed for the accommodation of the officials. It is recommended that congress appropriate $110,000 for the erection of a penitentiary and other buildings.

THE WEATHER BUREAU.

Interesting Facts Regarding Its Work-Report of Chief Willis L. Moore to Secretary Wilson.

Washington, Nov. 23.-The doings of the weather bureau during the past fiscal year are set forth in some detail in a report recently submitted by Chief Willis L. Meore to Secretary Wilson. The most prominent event chronfoled in Mr. Moore's report is the extension of the bureau's field of operations to include all of the West Indies and the shores of the Gulf of Mexico. The weather service has also been extended in our own country by the establishment of a climate and crop center in Alaska, and new observing stations in Montana, Idaho, California, Arizona, Utah, Colorado, Texas, Mississippi, Georgia, Kentucky, West Virginia and Michigan. These additional stations will assist quite materially in the development of agricultural and industrial interests in the immediate localities wherein they are located. It is yet toogearly, the report concludes, to express an opinion as to the value in practical weather forecasting of the obervations secured by kites.

Forecasts of several atmospheric dis-turbances, including floods in rivers, frosts and freezing weather in Florida, California and the truck growing regions of the gulf and south Atlantic states were promptly and accurately made. There were no unusually disastrous storms during the year, and few cold waves, although unusually cold weather prevailed in the fruit region of California. There were five floods during the year, the floods in Ohio and Indiana in the latter part of March of this year being the most detructive. Over 23,000,000 forecasts were distributed during the year exclusive of those printed in the daily papers. Ohio received the greatest number, 2,157,300; New York the next greatest, 2,033,400, ollowed by Michfgan, 1,530,000; Illinois, $1,485,000; Missouri, 1,392,600, and Pennsylvania, 1,219,200.

A line of new work recently undertaken by the bureau is the collection through the cooperation of agents and adjusters of farmers' mutual insurance associations, and many private persons, of statistics of loss of farm property, including stock in the fields, by lightning. The farmers' mutual insurance associations, of which there has been a large increase in some states within recent years, insure a large amount of isolated farm property. One of the most prolific causes of damage is lightning. The number of lightning strokes fluctuates within rather large limits year by year; thus, in Michigan, there were 316 cases one year and 1,509 the following year. It is hoped that the statistics collected will in the course of time enable those interested to determine the relative frequency of lightning stroke throughout the United Costly Baldwin Hotel at San Francisco Burns-Several Lives Lost in the Flames.

San Francisco, Nov. 24 .- The Baldwin hotel, for almost 30 years one of the principal landmarks of San Francisco, is no more. A fire which broke out in the east end of the building shortly after three o'clock Wednesday morning, supposedly in the property-room of the Baldwin theater, totally destroyed the immense structure, entailing a financial loss of nearly $1,500,000, besides destroying property that no amount of money or science can replace.

The loss of life so far as reported has been miraculously light, but four deaths having occurred as far as known. The loss of dead and injured and missing, as far as known, is as follows:

DEAD-Capt. J. L. White, San Francisco, capitalist; Lewis Myers, Skagway. Alaska, merchants J. M. Lighthead and INJURED-F. P. Noon, St. Louis, Mo.,

both ankles broken; George Huber, San Francisco, cut about body; Miss Bridget San Francisco, Nov. 25 .- A careful estimate of the loss by the Baldwin hotel fire places the total at $1,500,000, on which, at the outside, there was not over $150,000 insurance. E. J. Baldwin said that the fire meant a loss to him of about $2,500,000, as he had expended that amount in building, altering and furnishing the hotel. Fire Marshal Towne declares that the structure was a death trap, and says that no such a flimsy structure shall again be erected in the heart of the city.

Sharkey-Corbett Fight Awarded to Sharkey on a Foul - Bets Declared Off by Referece.

New York, Nov. 23. - The Sharkey-Corbett fight, which was witnessed by the largest and most representative gathering of sporting men that ever congregated to see a ring contest, ended in a most disgraceful flasco Tuesday night at the Lenox Athletic club. Corbett had all the worst of the encounter when one of his seconds, "Connie" Mc-Vey, jumped into the ring, appealing to the referee, thus violating the rules, and the referee, "Honest John" Kelly, had no alternative but to disqualify Corbett and award the bout to Sharkey.

When Corbett realized what had occurred he was furious with passion, and rushed at McVey. Had he caught the latter there is no telling what Corbett would have done in his frenzy, but the police were on hand and rushed between the men, thus avoiding a scene which would have added to the disgraceful exhibition. Just what effect the untimely incident will have on the boxing game in this vicinity in future cannot now well be gauged, but that it will injure pugilism in this city is beyoud question. A close estimate placed the attendance at 9,000, and it was learned that the receipts exceeded $45,- McVey's interference was absolutely inexcusable, and the referee, believing that there was a "job" in McVey's action, took it upon himself to declare all bets off.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The most interest-ing review of the postal service for some years, owing to its operations in military and naval fields, is the report of Postmaster-General Charles Emory Smith. Aside from the discussion of the regular branches of the department, it tells of the work co-complished and policies adopted in our territorial acquisitions. The postmaster-gen "The war entailed the necessity of a mill-tary postal service, and prompt measures were required for handling the mails of the army of a quarter of a million men. Large post offices were suddenly created at the eamps of concentration, the exigencies of constant changes and movements were met and the military and naval forces on active service in the West Indies and Philippines had prompt and constant postal communication with home. These military post offices were clothed with all postal powers. Some of the larger camps increased the volume of postal business to that of cities of high rank. Quick and it. telligent management was demanded and trained clerks detailed from available points. Railway mail cars were stationed at convenient points on side tracks as post offices. To provide bonded officials and postal supplies these offices were constituted branches of some city office. At some camps a temporary rural free delivery service was operated. A special appropriation of $50,000 by congress for military postal service was inadequate, and with our campaigns on remote soil already has been exhausted."

Continuing, the report says: "When our troops advanced into Cuba the postal service also advanced with them. When Santiago surrendered United States Postal Agent Eben Brewer took possession of the post office of that city, which was made the military post office. He removed the Spanish director and ten of its large force of clerks. retaining some as interpreters, and gave the office a far better footing with a much smaller force. Now there are four deliveries in the business portion of Santiago city and regular mail communication has been established with Havana and intermediate seaports and with Jamaica and other West Indian islands. Service also has been extended into Santiago province.

"The postal service accompanied our arms and our flag to Porto Rico. From Ponce it was extended as rapidly as different places passed into our possession, until now there are 12 military postal stations there, having postal connections with many smaller places. They are under the direction of a superintendent detailed from the railway mail service, who acts is conjunction with the military commander, with a force of six railway mail clerks, three pos.al agents and thirty-two clerks, including four Spanish translators. In the Philippines two military postal stations have been es-tablished, at Manila and Cavite, supervised by a veteran division superintendent de-tailed from San Francisco and conducted by a force of railway mail and post office clerks and agents, assisted by details from the army of occupation.

"The acquisition of Hawaii has not thus far been followed by any change in our postal relations with that country. The absorption of its postal system into our the incorporation of other features of its local administration, have awaited the :port of the congressional committee and the legislation which will follow. There was the more reason for observing this obilgation, as Hawaii already has a good mail service which is more than self-sustain-

Regarding the effective work of auxiliary cruisers and merchant marine in the war, the postmaster-general says: "The great value of the aid contributed during the war by steamships employed in our mail service and converted under the act of March 3, 1891, into auxiliary cruisers is universally recognized. Our recent experience has illustrated and emphasized the importance of this resource and has demonstrated that one of the most effective and economical bulwarks of naval power is the possession of swift mail steamers capable of immediate conversion into armed cruisers. In the further development of our naval force this factor cannot fall to receive consideration, and it supplements and strengthens the reasons for govern-mental action which are found in the wisdom of promoting the upbuilding of a mer-chant marine. The advancement of our commerce requires that we shall have carrying facilities. A commercial marine is not only vital to commercial expansion, but it provides the best source for the expension of the naval force which becomes necessary in time of war. From every poli of view it is thus a legitimate object of governmental concern, and the adoption of practical and reasonable measures within our power for the promotion of this object seems to be dictated by every consideration of public interest. Postmaster-General Smith calls attention so the rapid and amazing growth of the postal business in all its branches. In the last fiscal year the gross revenue was $3. 012,618, against $33,315,479 in 1880, and the gross expenditure $98,033,523, against $35.542,804; the number of post offices 73,000, against 43,000. Within this period the pop ulation has increased about 50 per cent, while postal business has multiplied nearly threefold. The general increase of expenditures for the past year has been little more than the preceding one, despite the fact that nearly $1,000,000 earned in mail transportation by the aided Pacific railroad companies was paid this year directly out of the department appropriations. There was an increase in postal receipts of nearly $6,500,000 over the aggregate of 1897, which is cited as a proof the country is again prosperous.

The estimate of revenues and expenditures for the fiscal year ending June N. 1900, follows: Total estimated revenue, $100,958,112; estimated expenditures, $1%. 224,000; deficiency for 1900, estimated, 44 266,888. But for the gross abuse of second class matter privileges the deficit would have disappeared long ago, and its present and promised decrease is in the face of this

The most marked advance in volume money order business in the history of the system was this past year, the increase being 17,000,000 in number and $16,000,000 in money carried. There were 28,753,412 money orders issued; face value, $204,593,891. Leg-islation is asked for at the next session of congress to correct the evils growing out of the practice of bidding for star route service. There were 15,000,200 pieces of mail service. There were 15,600,220 pieces of mal matter registered at the post offices during the year, and the aggregate of $98,133 in feets collected, was an increase of over seven per cent, over the previous year's business.

Discussing rural free delivery, the post-master-general says replies to circulars sent out suggest some assurance of the permanence of the service. A revision and rearrangement of the service established prior to 1897 is contemplated.

A HISTORY OF THE WAR.

Capt. Crowninshield's Annual Report Is One of a Most Interesting and Valuable Character.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Far out of the lines of the ordinary annual report of the bureau officers is that of Capt, Crowninshield, chief of the bureau of navigation, navy department, which has just been made public. Not only was the head of this bureau a member of the war or strategy board, as it came to be known, but he was responsible for the execution of the plans formed by that board and for the movement of every ship and the assignment of every officer. Consequently no bureau officer had equal opportunity to know the moving purposes and exact history of the war. The report is absolutely free from personalities; there is no reference whatever to the now happily-ended Sampson-Schley controversy; no criticism of any officer nor any commendation that might be regarded as invidious and discriminating. But the report is confined to the statement of hard facts, with a few important recommendations for the betterment of the navai service.

The war history begins with the simple statement of certain precautionary orders that were issued, but even in the ab-sence of comment, attention cannot fail to be attracted to the remarkable foresight exhibited in the preparation of the official orders. They begin with an order dated January II last directing the commander of the European stations to retain in service men whose enlistments were about to expire, and those following provide for the successful extrication of the European squadron from the danger to which it was exposed upon the outbreak of the war, show how the south Atlantic squadron was brought up to reenforce Sampson, how the Oregon started on her famous race around South America, how stores and ammunition were forwarded to the squadrons, and finally they wind up with the famous laconic order to Dewey of April 24: "War has commenced between the United States and Spain, proceed at once to the Philippine islands, commence operations at once, particularly against Spanish fleet. You must capture vessels or destroy. Use utmost endeavors." These orders show that four months before Cervera's fleet reached this side our whole north Atlantic fleet was ready for any emergency within striking distance of one of the two points from which attack might come.

"The completeness of our naval victories during the war and the almost absolute immunity from injury which our ships and crews enjoyed, naturally led to a general conclusion that our gunnery had much so do with the matter. As a matter of fact, all reports bear out this conclusion. In fact it appears that the experience of each combat was that our marksmanship was so far superior that, at a range at which the Spanish guns and gunners were ineffective, our guns and gunners were so effective that before the range was or could be reduced, the Spanish ships were either seriously crippled or their crews demoralized."

Capt. Crowninshield declares that the experience of the war has been another demonstration of the importance to the nation of sea power. He says that from the first the only apprehension felt in this country was on account of the Spanish navy. It was Cervera's ships that were feared-we did not fear the Spanish army -would not have feared it "if it had been three times as powerful, unless it had been supported by a navy powerful enough to have formed an efficient convoy and brought it to this coast. On the contrary, the Spanish navy, even without the Spanish army, would have been a menace, though it had consisted of only one firstclass cruiser. Until that cruiser had been blockaded, captured or destroyed any unprotected point on our coast and all of our sea commerce would have been at its mercy, and no army, however efficient, could have protected us from it. It required a navy for this work, and an effective navy.

Touching upon the combined operations of the army and navy, the reported dif-ferences which arose between the commanders during the campaign were satisfactorily solved by victory. One glar-ing defect of the system of joint operations was found, however, in the matter of transporting and convoying troops, and it is recommended that to secure smoother handling of such a campaign, the navy be by law charged with the transport

The navigation bureau recommends that congress authorize the increase of the naval force to 20,000 men for general service and 2,500 apprentices, and an argument is made to show absolute necessity of some such increase, unless the reserves on the receiving ships are to be reduced below the danger points; and that was very closely approached during the last war.

He shows that difficulty was experienced in mustering the men in, the department having no right to call upon them, and they having no responsibility to the navy de-partment, were not subject to orders. Therefore the bureau recommends the passage of the Cummings bill, which provides in substance for appropriations for the naval militia on an entirely different basis. This would provide for the creation of a national naval reserve entirely under the control of the department, recruited from the seafaring classes, who would be compelled to serve in war times under penalty of desertion. The men would be required to report once a year for drill for which they would receive one month's

Another recommendation is that the sysanother recommendation is that the sys-tem of rewards by promotion be abolished, and that medals of honor be substituted, so that officers may be rewarded without detriment to others. Finally, the sug-gestion of the superintendent of the coast signal service, that this should be made a permanent institution is approved, as it will afford a skeleton at small cost, around which a highly-efficient service could be promptly built up upon the outbreak of

WORK OF THE NAVY.

Secretary Long Presents His Report-Makes an Interesting Record-Wants a Bigger Navy.

Washington, Nov. 26 .- The annual report of the secretary of the navy is much longer than the usual annual report. The first sentence explains this as follows: "For the first time since its rehabilitation the navy has been put to the supreme test of war. Years of patient, persistent training and development had brought it to a point of high efficiency, which resulted in the unparalleled victories at Manila and Santi-ago-victories which have given the names of our naval commanders world-wide fame and added an additional page to the glorious naval history of our country."

The report describes in rapid order the steps that were taken to consolidate the squadrons and put the navy in readiness for hostilities. Sigsbee's famous telegram asking a suspension of public opinion in connection with the blowing up of the Maine is quoted, and the secretary says: "This judicious telegram did much to secure in the public mind a dispassionate view of the disaster."

The story of Dewey's victory at Manila is told, and of it the secretary says: "Aside from the mere fact of having won without the loss of a single life such a brilliant and electrifying victory at the very outset of the war, with all the confidence which it infused throughout the country and into the personnel of every branch of the service, it removed at once all apprehension for the Pacific coast. The indirect pecuniary advantage to the United States in the way of saving an increase of insurance rates and in assuring the country of freedom from attack on that coast is incalculable."

The secretary tells how Cervera's fleet, having sailed from Cape Verde islands April 29 for an unknown destination, Sampson sailed east with a portion of his fleet for tho purpose of observation. At Cape Haitien May 7 the department was advised that the Spanish squadron was reported at St. Thomas. The following statement explains officially why the bombardment of san Juan was not forced to an end: "Instructhons were also received that the vessels accompanying him were not to be risked or crippled in the bombardment of fortifications, as it was considered unwise to risk any of the vessels of our navy until the Spanish fleets had been met and destroyed.

• • • The squadron did not arrive off San Juan until the morning of the 12th. A bombardment of that place followed for two hours and a half, but as there was no land force to hold it in case of its surrender and as the Spanish fleet was not there it was determined to return to Havana, where it was possible Cervera might have gone."

The report shows that the flying squadron under Schley was ordered to Cienfuegos upon notice that Cervera's squadron had been seen off Curacoa. The report then gives a considerable length to the instructions sent to Sampson and Schley and the various, movements of the squadron until the moment the Spanish fleet was destroyed in Santiago harbor.

On June 23 the Merrimac was sunk, and of this the secretary says: "This attempt, although unsuecessful in its object, was daringly executed. It is now one of the well-known historic marvels of naval adventure and enterprise in which Naval Constructor Hobson and his men won undying

The report deals next with the seizure of the harbor of Guantanamo and the callant three-days' fight of the marines; with the convoying of the Shafter expedition from Tampa to Santiago and with the conferences that took place between Shafter and Sampson in the effort to secure the cooperation of the army and navy in the reduction of Santiago. The story of the operations at this stage involves the recital of the destruction of the Spanish fleet, which is told, however, in the most concise official form.

The secretary, in summing up the work imposed upon the department in its vastness, says that the country as well as the service has cause for congratulations in the results which have followed and which have been so generally approved, and in the further fact that no personal feeling has arisen to mar the glorious victories and magnificent work of the service. The secretary compliments the equipment bureau for the satisfactory manner in which, notwithstanding the many difficulties which developed, in providing coal for the flects. The largest single item of expenditure was for the purchase of coal-452,551 tons being bought, at a cost of $2,122,000.

The secretary includes in his report a short and oncise statement, under separate heads, of the operations of each of the bureaus of the department, and sub-mits estimates for the next fiscal year aggregating $47,098,251, which is an increase of $9.869,173 over the appropriations for 1899 and contains new items aggregating $7,027,834. Of these new items the most important is $4.729,899 for yards and docks. There is also an item of $1,620,000 on account of the naval academy.

In reference to the workings of the system of labor employment at navy yards, which is said to have been severely tested during the war, the secretary says that in continuation of the policy of giving preference in appointment to veterans of the civil war, he proposes to give the preference now to the persons who served during the Spanish-American war, rating as first those who served in foreign waters or on foreign soil, and next to those who served in the United States or its waters, providing they have had honorable discharges.

The secretary indorces the recommenda-tion of the navigation bureau authorizing the increase whenever necessary of the enlisted force to 20,000 men and of the apprentices to 2,500. The most important chapter of the report is that relating to the increase of the navy, and under this head the secretary transmits and indorses the report of the naval board of bureau chiefs looking to the increase of the navy by no less than 15 ships, some of the most powerful character. The secretary says: "The navy should be increased; the development of its various branches should be homogenous, and the increase in ships should be accompanied by a gradual increase in officers and men and in naval stations, coaling stations, repair plants, etc. With the territorial acquisitions of the present year, if the Philippines are also annexed to the United States, its outlying territorial possessions will be so great and so extended that this increase of navel force will be that this increase of haval force will be necessary."

In conclusion the report pays a high compliment to the naval war board, composed of Admiral Sicard, Capt. Crowninshield and Capt. Mahan, saying it was equal to every demand, enabled the department to control movements on the water, yet left ample discretion to commanding officers. Charged with delicate and important duties, the department is not aware that the board committed a single error.

Confession of a Millionnire.

A millionaire confessed the secret of his success in two words—hard work. He said he put in the best part of his life in gaining dollars and losing health, and now he was putting in the other half in spending dollars to get back health. Nothing equals Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for restoring health to the overtired body and brain. It gets at the starting point—the stomach—and overcomes starting point—the stomach—and overcomes nervousness, sleeplessness, dyspepsia and indigestion.

OUR WAR IN TWO HEMISPHERES"

A HISTORY OF THE WAR WITH SPAIN

by Albert Shaw (editor of the American Monthly Review of Reviews), and many other notable contributors of special chapters. Over 1,200 pages, over half a thousand portraits and other illustrations. The first edition of this book is printed on the finest enameled paper, and bound beautifully in half morocco, in three large volumes.

Every American, and especially every American who had a relative or friends "at the front," will wish to own this work. It is far more than the mere story of the fighting. It gives a comprehensive account of the condition of Cuba and of Spain before and after the war, of both the outer and hidden causes of the war, and tells about nearly every one who had anything important to do, at home and in the field, with carrying on the struggle. It is truthful, well informed, and complete, and forms an elaborate picture of the United States at this critical stage of its history, when it suddenly finds itself with imperial duties. There are character sketches, too, by special writers who know their subjects, of Dewey, McKinley as War President, and other notable figures of the war. The naval lessons that the war taught us, the new facts it brought out about the best rifles, machine guns, and equipments, and many other special subjects, are treated in separate chapters by expert military writers. Dr. Shaw (who is the author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain" and other important books) has had the benefit of the official reports and documents issued by the Government, and the history is as authentic as possible. It should stand on the shelves of every American library.

history is as authentic as possible. It should stand on the shelves of every American library.

Its hundreds of portraits, maps, scenes in Spain, Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines, are handsomely printed and are selected for their real value rather than for mere ornament. Many striking cartoons are reproduced from Spanish and French papers, showing what the Spanish thought of us, and how they believed they were beating us until the very end.

The history is being published by the Review of Reviews Co., which also publishes the American Monthly Review of Reviews, the monthly magazine. Lawyers, doctors, teachers, clergymen, business men, especially in the country, progressive farmers, and up-to-date people generally rely on this magazine to give them the timely news of the world; it also gives the best that is in the other important magazines all over the world. Its regular subscription price is $2.50 per year.

Washington News.

Washington, D. C., November 25, 1898. -Associate Justice Frear, of the Supreme Court of Hawaii, is in Washington to attend the meetings of the commission that will recommend a form of government for Hawaii, of which he is a member. Speak ing on the subject he said: "The people of Hawaii want a territorial form of government, with a Governor appointed by the President, a delegate in the House of Representatives, and a legislature elected by Gen Garcia and the other Cubans representing the Assembly recently held in Cuba will come to Washington, prepared to tell the President just what they would like to have done; but some letters got shead of them that are calculated to lessen their in fluence with the President. Official str tuthey have not, and would not have even if there were no doubt of their speaking for a majority of the residents of Cuba. The President will not decide until some time after American occupation how he will proceed in turning the government of Cuba over to the residents of the island.

One of the notable things of the week in Washington, is Mr. Andrew Carnegie's personally conducted talking campaign against our taking possession of the Phil ippines. He seems to think that he can accomplish something by such talk as wish ing that the Philippine insurgents would shoot down Americans when they attempt to take possession of the Philippines; but if he could hear some of the things said about him he would probably change his mind. Right or wrong the policy of taking the Philippines has been fully determined upon, and there isn't the slightest doubt that it is endorsed by an overwhelming majority of the people of the United States, regardless of their political affiliations. That being true, such talks as Mr. Carnegie is induiging in can do no possible good. Abuse of those wno differ with you has never and will never convince any body. The only thing that Mr. Carnegie has accomplished by his visit to Washington, and his frantic anti-expansion, talk is the raising of a suspicion of his motives. The substance of a hundred questions asked is. "How much money has Carnegie got in Spanish bonds ?"

For the second time within a year Wash ington is being visited by the President of another Republic. The first, it will be re membered, was President Dole, of Hawaii, who is now one of us. The present guest is President Iglesias, of Costa Rica, who is being treated with as much official consideration as was possible after his announcement that his visit was incog. President McKinley has exchanged visits with him and extended other courtesies, besides placing an army officer at his disposal while he remains in the United States. All the other officials are also assisting in making his visit to Washington a pleasant one. The voluntary statement of Pres Iglesias that Costa Rica would grant no concessions for the building of the Nicaragua canal, that was not approved by the United States government, is regarded as very important, as no new cancel concession will be valid until approved by Costa Rica.

Hot Talk.

Rev. Henry Frank, pastor of the Metropolitan Independent Church, in Brooklyn, says: "Whosoever has studiously observed the religious signs of the times, the apathy of the masses for the pulpit, the handful congregations in the vast void of ecclesiastical auditoriums, the pitiful cry of the man of the cloth for a hearing, while, just across the way, the man of the 'sawdust' fills his house to overflowing, must agree with the Brooklyn clergyman that there is something 'rotten in Denmark.' Rampant sensationalism is supplanting antiquated earnestness.

"The pulpit baboon is a better drawing card than the best trained monkey that ever featured a traveling circus. The evan gelistic buffon who grins and squeal and substitutes ribald humor for serious eloquence, tickles the palate of the multitude with facetiousness, and palms off plaguarisms for popularity, and platitudes for patronage, is the religious liop of the hour. The bargain counter advertiser of Sunday wares never fails to secure immense crowds on special bargain days.

"No minister need be without a church or surrender a salary who will but casually examine the methods of the 'sawdust' mountebank, the negro minstrel or tight rope acrobat. Though seemingly the ingenuity of the vaudeville pulpiteer has already exhausted all situations, we shall see he Las not begun. For the benefit of chancel cartoonists in our suffering and unpop ulated churches, just imagine at the correct moment in the sermon your beholding slowly descending from the ceiling the gyrating dangling divinity legs of your be loved pastor, comfortably ensconced in a common clothes-basket. To palliate their offenses the professional sensationalists say that Jesus was one himself, because he drove out of the temple all the money changers with a whip of cords.

"I admit it; but if any preacher to-day will take a horsewhip and run through his congregation lashing all the bypocrites, the liars, cheats, the defrauding bank cash iers, Sunday-school embezzlers and other penitentlary candidates who worm them selves into society of respectable people, I for one shall vote him a genuinely useful sensationalist, and pray that his tribe may increase; but the sensationalist who does it just for his own fun is really too impudeut for this serious age "-N. Y. Herald.

Dairy Pointers.

Stringy milk can be cured by keeping the cows clean.

Wash all milk vessels with cold water before scalding.

A cow that tests below 8 per cent, is not worth keeping. Whitewashed stables mean fewer flies and more milk.

Crosses are usually better for farmers than pure breds.

Warm milk from the cow does not absorb odors. While cooling keep it in a pure atmosphere.-Practical Dairyman.

A preacher once came to an editor in this way: "You dare not tell the truth. If you did you could not live; your newspaper would be a failure." The editor ing at the south-east corner of lands consaid: "You are right, and the minister. who at all times, and under all circumstances, tells the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth about his members, alive or dead, will not occupy his pulpit more than one Sunday, and will find it necessary to leave town in a hurry. The the land formerly used as a railroad track running to the City mills, all in the City of whitewash brushes and pleasant words, magnifying little virtues into big ones The pulpit, the pen, and the gravestone are the great saint-making triumvirate." And the minister went away looking very serious, while the editor sat down and wrote about the surpassing beauty of the bride with her wealth of golden hair .- Ex.
