Bert Rager Shot.

Bert Rager, aged about 30 years, living at Peter Kalmbach's, in Sylvan, invited his friend, A. Garbett, who lives in the vicinity, to come and stay with him Saturday night and go hunting Sunday. In the evening Garbett gave so much attention to Kalmbach's daughter, Louise, that Rager became jealous and wanted to know if she yet intended to marry him, and not having the courage to ask her handed her the following note:

"Louise: I will not stand this any longer. I have loved you as long as a man can love any woman. I could do anything you ask me to for you if I knew you love me more than any one else. I have known for a long time back you were deceitful. I curse the day I first see you. I wish I never seen you. It would be better for you and better for me.

"I have done all I could to get you to love me; but it's no use. I shall never live to see you marry another man if I know it, and I do know you are going to marry Alfa. It is your plan to get married at Dexter, as I—" (A portion of the letter is gone.)—"thought it was that wrote this letter to him threatening his life if he married you, but he may marry you if he wishes to, but I shall never live to see the day, Louise. I have loved you, but you have not loved me, though it is not my fault. I have told you before if you married anyone else I would go to hell, and I shall as quick as I can get there. If you love me, now is the time to prove your love, for I am not going to hurt you or Alfa, but I shall not leave your bedroom alive if you cannot prove your love. Now, this is your last chance."

As she did not give him any answer, it is said he went to Garbett's overcoat and getting a revolver shot himself in the forehead. This occurred about 12 o'clock at night, and he died Sunday night. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by his own hand. The funeral was held on Tuesday.

LEADERS CONDEMNED.

The War Commission's Report Will Censure Many.

Secretary Alger Will Not Escape. While Miles, Brooke and Breckinridge Will Be Criticized—Congress Also Hit.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Herald's Washington special says: The herald put, the commission to investigate the conduct of the war will place blame as follows:

Secretary Alger—For weakness in his relations with Maj. Gen. Miles; for permitting Gen. Miles to go to Santiago.

Gen. Miles—For his conduct before, during and after the war; for his selection of certain army camps. For telling Secretary Alger he was in the habit of making out his own orders; for bringing unfounded charges that bad beef was supplied to the troops in Porto Rico.

Gen. Shafter—For certain points which he admitted in his testimony.

Gen. Breckinridge—For leaving his department to take part in the Santiago battle; for not making more inspections.

Gen. Brooke—For conditions at Camp Thomas; for lack of inspections; for failure to carry out proper sanitary regulations.

Congress—For failure to make appropriations for smokeless powder.

Report Nearly Ready.

President McKinley will have in his possession the full report of the war commission within the next ten days.

This report, it is asserted, will not be a whitewash of the army administration. It will be unanimous upon all essential points. It will declare that the primary trouble is due to the lack of proper military organization.

It will show that Secretary Alger was weak, especially in his relation with Maj. Gen. Miles, but it will not find him responsible for the camp "horrors."

Subordinate officers will be blamed for the conditions which existed with respect to these matters. Neither the secretary nor any member of his family, it will be stated, had any interest in any of the camp sites.

Blamed for the Camps.

Maj. Gen. Miles will be criticised for his conduct before, during and since the war. The report will show that it was he who recommended the location of the camps at Miami and Chickamauga; that it was one of his aids who selected the camp site at Camp Alger; that before the war he recommended the concentration of the regulars at Chickamauga, and that Secretary Alger strongly objected to the location of a camp at Miami, but was overruled.

It will show that Gen. Miles was directed by the secretary to make an inspection trip of all the camps, but informed him that he was in the habit of making out his own orders. It is also stated that the secretary should never have permitted Miles to go to Santiago, though an observation of this kind may not be included in the report.

These instances convinced the commissioners that the secretary should have taken steps to compel Gen. Miles to comply with his instructions.

Beef Charges Unfounded.

Coming down to the beef controversy, the commission will find that Gen. Miles' charges were unfounded, that the 13 officers whose reports Gen. Miles submitted as showing the beef supplied for the Porto Rican army was unfit for use never served in Porto Rico, and that there was absolutely no criminality in any of the contracts made for supplies for the service.

So far as the Santiago campaign is concerned, the commission will report that Gen. Shafter conducted that movement as efficiently as could have been expected under the circumstances. No fault will be found with Gen. Shafter except as to the points which he in his testimony admitted.

The commission will recommend that the transport system be placed under the navy. Col. C. F. Humphreys, now on Gen. Brooke's staff, who had charge of the fitting out of the transports, will be called upon to-day to explain the condition of those vessels, and he will have to make a very good explanation to satisfy the commission. Commanding officers of the transports will also come in for a share of the blame.

Breckinridge Under Fire.

The commission will recommend the radical reorganization of the inspector general's department, and, it is said, will sharply criticize Gen. Breckinridge for his action in leaving his inspection department to take part in the Santiago battle, instead of staying at home to attend to his inspection duties. Had there been more inspection the commission is satisfied the epidemic of typhoid and many of the irregularities which prevailed would not have occurred.

Gen. Brooke will be criticised for the conditions which existed at Camp Thomas, and the medical department will be blamed for lack of inspections and failures to carry out proper sanitary regulations.

The quartermaster general will be acquitted of charges of high prices paid for animals for the army, and the report will state that he obtained them very cheaply; but he may be criticised for clothing furnished the men.

Why Congress is Blamed.

The report will also show that congress was responsible for the equipment of the soldiers with black powder, as the ordnance department did not get in time the necessary appropriations for smokeless powder.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

The Administration of the Affairs of This Great Institution Is No Small Matter.

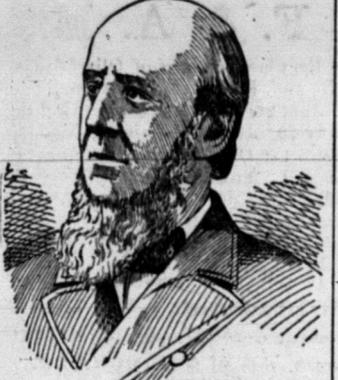

UNDER THE CARE OF A BOARD OF REGENTS

Eight Members in the Board, and They Have Supreme Control—Duties of President and Faculties—How the Various Departments Are Divided and Looked After.

[Special Correspondence.]
Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 12.—The administration of the affairs of the University of Michigan, with its seven departments, 200 instructors, 3,000 students and several million dollars' worth of property, is no small matter.

The constitution of the state of Michigan provides for the university, thus placing it on an equal footing with the state legislature, the supreme court and the executive machinery of the commonwealth. The constitution gives the management of the institution, save providing an income, into the care of a board of regents. The state legislature, however, has kindly come to the assistance of the regents in financial matters and has made liberal appropriations for increasing the income of the institution and for aiding in bringing about permanent improvements, such as erecting new buildings or enlarging the present structures.

The Board of Regents.
The board of regents consists of eight members, two being elected in the spring of each odd year for a term of eight years. These members serve without remuneration, other than for their actual and necessary expenses. The board has full control of the university. It creates departments, establishes professorships, appoints officers and instructors from the president down, and, in fact, is responsible for the success of the entire institution. It decides upon the buildings to be erected, the changes to be made, the supplies to be purchased, the budget for each department, the degrees to be conferred, the courses to be offered, the requirements for admission and for graduation, the amount of fees charged students entering the several departments and in general the conditions under which persons can pursue work at the university.

The President.

The regents select the president of the university, who is ex-officio a member of the board and its presiding officer. For the past 28 years Dr. James B. Angell has filled this highly honorable position. Last year, however, when absent as United States minister to the court of the sultan at Constantinople, Harry B. Hutchings, dean of the law department, was acting president, performing the duties of the president. The president is an executive officer; he is responsible to the regents for the carrying out of their policy; he is president of the whole university, and ex-officio a member of every faculty. He is to the university what a manager is to a railroad.

The president is also the presiding officer of the university senate. The senate represents the whole university, although it has no authority other than to consider, to discuss and to recommend either to the board of regents or to the several faculties. It is the result of growth and not creation. When the university was small and the professors met one another often the work was mostly of a social nature, but since the number of departments has been increased and each has become more comprehensive in itself the work of the senate in bringing the professors of the different departments together and making it possible for them to outline a single policy has been found to be extremely valuable. The senate concerns itself principally with affairs which belong to the several faculties but on which it is highly desirable that there should be uniformity of action. It also arranges for the special exercises in which the whole university is interested. Membership in the senate is limited to professors and other officers of equal rank.

The Faculties.

Next in importance after the university senate comes the faculties. There is one of them for each of the seven departments—the literary, engineering, medical, law, pharmacy, homeopathic and dental. The faculty includes all the instructors, but not the assistants to the instructors, in a department. It has to do with those things which concern the department only. Each faculty elects one of its number dean and another secretary. The former is the executive officer of the department, bearing about the same relation to the department as the president does to the whole university. Among his other duties he attends to the correspondence, presents the recommendations of the faculty to the regents, sees that the wishes of the board of regents in regard to his department are carried out, grants excuses of absence to students and attends to the matter of discipline. The secretary of the faculties is the record keeper and performs the duties which usually belong to secretaries.

The Deans.

The deans of the seven departments of the University of Michigan are Richard Hudson, professor of history, dean of the department of history, science and the arts; Charles E. Greene, professor of civil engineering, dean of the department of engineering; Victor C. Vaughan, professor of hygiene and physiological chemistry and director of the hygiene laboratory, dean of the department of medicine and surgery; Harry B. Hutchings, professor of law, dean of the department of law; Albert B. Prescott, director of the chemical laboratory and professor of organic chemistry, dean of the school of pharmacy; W. B. Hinsdale, professor of the theory and practice of medicine and clinical medicine, dean of the homeopathic medical college, and Jonathan Taft, professor of the principles and practice of oral pathology and surgery, dean of the college of dental surgery.

The Literary Department.

The literary department, with its 100 instructors and 1,300 students, is the largest of the seven departments comprising the university, and naturally has the greatest amount and best perfected machinery for conducting its administrative affairs. Faculty meetings are held on Monday evenings as often as there is important business which needs the attention of the faculty as a whole. President Angell regularly attends these meetings and presides. In his absence, however, Dean Hudson fills the chair. The secretary or clerk of the faculty is given the title of registrar. He not only does the clerical work of the faculty, but keeps the credit records of the students of the literary and engineering departments.

The Administrative Board.

The greater part of the work of the faculty of the literary department is now performed by committees. There is an administrative board, a committee that considers requests for permission to take extra work, a committee on substitutions that has to do with changes in courses, an advanced credit committee, and, in fact, a committee for each class of matters which belongs to the faculty for consideration. Probably the most important of these committees is the administrative board. This consists of 12 members and has to do with delinquencies of all kinds. It decides as to whether a student is fulfilling his mission in the department or not and whether his attendance is a benefit to himself and the university or a detriment. It takes under consideration violations of discipline on the part of students belonging to the department and the best methods for correcting the same.

The Registrar.

The most important work of the registrar is the keeping of the credits. His task has much in common with that of a bookkeeper of a large manufacturing concern. He opens what might be called a ledger account with every student who enters either the literary or engineering department, except that the entries made are of amounts of credit instead of sums of money. Another difference is that each account, instead of being given a page in a ledger, is placed on a large card, and these are arranged alphabetically. A card is made out for every student who enters the departments, and this card is preserved, so that a student may come back at any time and see just how his account stands or how it stood at any particular time. The cards of the students in college are kept in a case where they can be turned to at any moment when a student wants to know the condition of his educational account. The card system was adopted over a quarter of a century ago and has proved highly successful.

Form Groups.

The literary department is divided, so to speak, into subdepartments. The instructors in Latin, German, English, in history, political economy, botany, etc., each form groups by themselves and meet as often as desirable for consultation. Each instructor is his own superintendent as far as deciding upon how he shall conduct his class, what rules should be observed, what standards maintained and the particular methods by which he will present his work to the students.

The other departments of the university carry on their work in much the same way as the literary department. But as the number of instructors and students is smaller than in the literary department the machinery is not quite so elaborate.

DINGLEY PASSES AWAY.

Republican Leader of the House Dies at Washington—His Public Career.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Hon. Nelson Dingley, of Maine, leader of the republican side on the floor of the house of representatives and representing the Second congressional district of Maine in that body, died here Friday night at half past ten of heart failure resulting from extreme weakness due to pneumonia. He was unconscious during most of the day, and death came quietly without consciousness being regained. There were present at the time Mrs. Dingley, Miss Edith Dingley, Messrs. E. N. and A. H. Dingley, sons of the deceased; James C. Hooe, an intimate friend of the family; Dr. Deale, one of the physicians who has been attending him throughout his illness, and the two nurses. To within a few hours before his death his family firmly believed, as it has throughout his illness, that Mr. Dingley would recover.

Nelson Dingley, Jr., governor of Maine, 1874-75, and member of congress from the Second congressional district of Maine since 1881, was born in Durham, Androscoggin county, Me., in a farmhouse on the banks of the Androscoggin river, February 15, 1832.

He began his political career in 1861, being elected to the state legislature from Auburn. He was reelected in 1862 and chosen speaker of the house at the session of 1863. In 1863 he removed to Lewiston, where a few months after he was elected to the legislature, and with the opening of the legislative session of 1864 was unanimously reelected speaker. At the state election of 1864 he was elected to the house a fourth time, and with the session of 1865 was again tendered the position of speaker, which he declined, preferring to take his place on the floor. He was also a representative in the legislature from Lewiston in 1868 and 1873.

In 1873 Mr. Dingley was nominated as the republican candidate for governor of Maine by a vote of two to one against two popular opponents and was elected by about 10,000 majority. In 1874 he was reelected by over 11,000 majority, declining a third nomination in 1875.

In 1881 Mr. Dingley was nominated by the republicans of the Second congressional district of Maine to fill the vacancy in congress caused by the resignation of Hon. William P. Frye. He was elected by a majority of over 6,000, nearly twice as large as ever before given to any candidate in that district, and he has served continuously ever since.

In forming his cabinet prior to entering on the duties of chief executive March 4, 1897, President McKinley tendered the position of secretary of the treasury to Mr. Dingley, but he declined the offer, preferring to remain in his position as chairman of the ways and means committee and floor leader of the republican majority of the house. Under his lead the house, within 16 days after the Fifty-fifth congress was convened in extraordinary session on the 15th of March, 1897, by President McKinley, passed a bill revising the tariff.

FROZEN TO DEATH.

Terrible Fate of a Michigan Woman and Her Two Children During a Blizzard.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—A Tribune special from Hancock, Mich., says: During a blizzard here last Friday Mrs. Thomas Uren and her little daughter and son, aged four and eight respectively, were frozen to death. The bodies were not recovered until Thursday. The husband, who does not reside at home, came to visit the family, and found they had not been at home since Friday. After a search he found their bodies about a half mile from the house buried in a huge snow drift.

St. Louis, Jan. 13.—The Post-Dispatch says: St. Louis is to have a new national bank, which will result from the consolidation of the State Bank of St. Louis and the Commercial bank. It will have a capital of $2,000,000 and a surplus of $400,000. Both banks are among the oldest and most important of St. Louis financial institutions.

A Generous Offer.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie has offered to give $250,000 to erect a building for a public library for Washington provided congress would furnish a site and provide suitable maintenance, not less than $10,000 per annum. Steps will be taken at once to secure the needed legislation.

London, Jan. 13.—The Hong-Kong correspondent of the Daily Mail says that 5,000 additional Americans who had embarked for Iloilo have returned to Manila.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

Daily Summary of the Work Done by the Lawmakers in the Senate and House.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 12.—When the legislature reconvened yesterday afternoon, after a recess of nearly one week, Mr. Phillips sprang a sensation by the introduction in the house of a resolution providing for an investigation of the war expenditures. In placing five regiments in the field the military board expended over $500,000. This amount is deemed to be excessive, and there has been a good deal of talk about it. The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote. Lieut. Gov. Robinson and Speaker Adams both announced their committees.

The following nominations were received from Gov. Pingree: Adjutant general, Fred H. Case, Three Rivers; quartermaster general, Wm. L. White, Grand Rapids; inspector general, Arthur F. Marsh, Allegan; aids de camp, with rank of lieutenant colonel, Truman H. Newberry, E. R. Sutton and C. W. Herbst, Detroit, and George A. Loud, Oscoda; judge advocate, with rank of major, Edward J. Rodgers, Port Huron; military secretary, with rank of major, Ralph Stone, Grand Rapids; members of state board of agriculture, for six years, Hollister F. Marsh, Allegan, and L. Whitney Watkins, Manchester; member state fish commission for six years, Horace W. Davis, Grand Rapids; member board of control of industrial school for boys, for six years, Franklin P. Sayre, Flushing.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 12.—In the senate yesterday a bill to take the place of the anticorporation law, recently declared to be fatally defective by the supreme court was introduced. Another bill seeks to tax incomes exceeding $1,500 per year two per cent. The house appointed a special committee of five to investigate the expenditure of the $500,000 war appropriation made at the special session of the legislature last spring. The Atkinson bill for the taxation of railroad property was introduced and referred to a special committee. A bill was introduced authorizing the insurance commissioner to revoke the license of any foreign company which appeals to the federal courts during litigation with the department, the object being to confine the cases to the state courts; also a bill making the anticorporation law apply to Michigan companies.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 14.—The anti-Pingree senators who did not fare well at the hands of Lieut.-Gov. Robinson in the appointment of senate committees got even yesterday by upsetting the entire arrangement. Under a rule of the senate the lieutenant-governor is authorized to appoint the standing committees unless otherwise ordered. Taking advantage of this rule the opposition senators put through a resolution increasing the membership of the leading committees. The resolution named the additional senators who were to have places on each committee and in this way the anti-s were given a majority on each committee they desired to control. The vote by which this action was taken was 18 to 9. In the house, among the bills introduced, was one repealing the law establishing a closed season for white fish and trout in the great lakes.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 16.—Bills have been introduced in the senate providing for the current expenses of the Michigan soldiers' home; expanding powers of fire and marine insurance companies transacting business in the state; providing local taxation for railroads and other corporations; authorizing voters to express their will regarding prohibition in certain counties and prohibiting the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors in same; providing for personal service upon owners of land to be sold by the state for delinquent taxes; providing for the registration of land titles incontestable after two years; preventing deception in the manufacture of oleo, imitation butter or butterine. In the house bills have been introduced relative to proceedings against concealed, absent and non-resident defendants in chancery; providing for a $15,000 woman's dormitory cottage at soldiers' home; to refund to William St. James $1,200 paid by him to the state for timber land; to prevent the use of sidewalks and sidepaths for vehicles or cattle; creating state veterinary board and protect titles of veterinary surgeons; providing additional circuit judge for Third judicial circuit (Wayne); repealing act as to appearing of fish in Long lake, Genesee county; to repeal Michigan Central charter; providing for payment of rents of armories of militia companies at the front or mustered out.

PREACHER'S SON KILLED.

Two Young Men Vent Their Spite for a Reprimand for Disturbing Divine Services.

Ironton, O., Jan. 14.—Robert Baldwin, aged 26, the son of Rev. Jarney Baldwin, pastor of the Baptist church at Kitts Hill, this county, was shot and killed by Salmon Farrel. Baldwin had trouble with Charles Webb, who had been reprimanded by Rev. Baldwin for disturbing a meeting. Webb and Farrel waited at the church door until young Baldwin came out, when they assaulted him and Farrel shot him through the heart. In the excitement Farrel and Webb escaped, but were followed by the sheriff and a posse. The fugitives appeared to be trying to reach West Virginia.

Detroit Capitalist Dead.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—Hiram Walker, capitalist, founder of Walkerville, Ont., situated opposite Detroit, and of the great distillery which bears his name, died in the family residence in this city. Mr. Walker's death is said to have resulted from paralysis. He received the first stroke last April, since which time he was confined to his bed, and the second stroke came Tuesday night, resulting fatally.

Off for the Philippines.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—The first detachment of the Seventeenth United States Infantry left Columbus at five p. m. Sunday for New York en route to the Philippines. The departure of the troops was the occasion for a great public demonstration, in which no less than 50,000 people participated.

A miserable imposter is working his game in some cities of this State, selling from house to house a salve which he guarantees to cure warts. All sensible people know that the only way to remove a wart is to rub it with half a potato, which is afterwards to be buried by a cross-eyed negro in the north-west corner of a graveyard at midnight during the dark of the moon. As the potato decays the wart disappears. The salve in the tin box is a delusion and a snare.—Ex. Chelsea people should look out for him.

$50 Reward.

Whereas, some person or persons have several times, recently, entered the school house, in this village, and committed various depredations upon the property of the district; and, whereas, it is deemed important by the School Board that the many patrons of the school, who fully appreciate the great and irrestrictable privileges furnished to them at such great expense, be protected in the employment of these privileges against the lawless depredations of the ungrateful and unappreciative few who perpetrate them; now, therefore to the end, that all such offenders against law and order may be brought to justice; we, the undersigned, on behalf of School District No. 3, Fractional, Lima and Sylvan, hereby offer a reward of fifty dollars for the proof that will lead to the conviction of the perpetrators of any of the recent depredations upon the property of said district, or any similar depredations that may be committed upon it in the future. We have just received a very unique calendar from the Michigan Agricultural College, which, by the way, is in the most prosperous condition of its history. There are at present in attendance 440 students taking the regular courses, and 65 the special winter courses. The enrollment will reach a total for the year of at least 540. About 80 of the regular students are ladies. The courses are all practical, and at the same time give a young person a very thorough general education. Perhaps the best evidence that this college is growing in popularity among the people of the State is the fact that during the last three years it has actually doubled its attendance of students in the regular courses. Copies of the calendar mentioned above will be mailed to any address, postpaid, on receipt of five 2-cent stamps. Address, College Field Agent, Agricultural College, Mich.

Sheep Sale—I have 300 large smooth body heavy shearing ewes, that I will sell at public auction on the fair ground, at Chelsea, Mich., Saturday, Feb. 4th, 1899, beginning at 1 p. m. sharp, in lots of 25 or more, to suit the buyer. These ewes I have selected especially for this sale, to give the farmers and sheep breeders of this section a chance to buy as few or as many of the best ewes ever offered for sale in Washtenaw county. Michigan Crop Report.

The ground in the principal wheat-growing sections of Michigan was fairly well covered with snow until the latter part of the month. The common opinion among correspondents is that wheat suffered only a slight injury, if at all, during December.

In answer to the question, "Has wheat during December suffered injury from any cause?" 110 correspondents in the State answer "yes" and 508 "no," and in answer to the question, "Has the ground been well covered with snow during December?" 165 correspondents in the southern counties answer "yes" and 230 "no;" in the central counties 39 answer "yes" and 102 "no," and in the northern counties 61 answer "yes" and 11 "no."

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in December is 1,988,600, and in the five months, August to December, 9,769,166, which is 735,112 bushels more than reported marketed in the same months last year.

The average condition of live stock in the State is reported as follows, comparison being with stock in good, healthy and thrifty condition: Horses, cattle and sheep 97 per cent., and swine 96 per cent.

The average prices January 1st of some of the principal farm products in the markets, where farmers usually market such products, were as follows:

The average price of wheat was 63 cents per bushel; of corn 36 cents, and of oats 27 cents, and the average price of hay was $6.21 per ton.

The average price of fat cattle was $3.58 per cwt., of fat hogs $3.08 per cwt., and of dressed pork $4.00 per cwt.

The average price of each class of horses was as follows: Under one year old, $21.26; between one and two years old, $32.58; between two and three years old, $46.87; three years old and over, $66.53.

Milch cows were worth $32.82 per head. Cattle other than milch cows, under one year old, were worth per head $10.48; between one and two years old, $18.52; between two and three years old, $27.87, and three years old and over, $35.41.

The average price of sheep, under one year old, was $2.91, and one year old and over, $3.77; and hogs not fattened were worth $2.77 per cwt.

The prices given here are for the State. The prices of all kinds of live stock are higher than those of one year ago except sheep under one year old, which show a decline of only 3 cents per head.

The prices of farm products vary considerably when compared with those of January 1, '98. The price of wheat shows a decline of 23 cents per bushel, while the prices of oats and corn have increased 5 cents and 8 cents respectively. One year ago the price of hay showed a decline of $1.39 for the previous year. At this time it shows a still further decline of 13 cents per ton. The average price of dressed pork has declined 12 cents per cwt.; fat hogs 8 cents per cwt., and stock hogs 23 cents per cwt.; the average price of fat cattle is the same as one year ago. The price of live stock as a whole shows an increase of 8 per cent.

A curious display is evident in the authoritative estimation of the heat of the sun. Pouillet places it at 1,400 to 1,800 degrees (centigrade), Ste. Claire-Deville at 2,800 degrees, Lord Kelvin and Prof. Langley at 8,000 degrees, Sporer at 3,700 degrees, and Pater Leodic at 10,000,000 degrees.

It has been demonstrated that from the stalk of the cotton plant can be produced a fiber which is just the thing for cotton bagging. The stalks yield 15 per cent. of their weight in fiber, much more than enough for bagging the crop. The Scientific American predicts that the new industry will soon take on great proportions.

A KANSAS CITY grocer, who lost $2,800 by the failure of a bank, decided to be his own banker. In the ground, six feet below the floor of his store, he buried an iron box. He ran a two-inch iron tube from the floor through the top of the box, and through this tube he drops his profits of ten dollars a day. The top of the tube he plugs with a wooden cork, which looks like an ordinary knob.

ACCORDING to the Etoile Belge, the health of Princess Louise, of Coburg, daughter of the king of the Belgians, who has been for many months shut up in a lunatic asylum in Austria, is beginning to decline. Her memory is, it is said, completely gone, and she never asks for any news of her parents or other relatives. She passes her time in walking up and down her apartment, where she is always strictly watched, and in cutting little paper patterns.

PRINCE GEORGE of Greece, the new high commissioner of the powers in Crete, is a big, handsome fellow, powerfully built, standing six feet four and one-half inches in his stockings and weighing over 19 stone. Despite his weight, he is said to be very active, and a fine boxer and wrestler. The prince, who was born in 1869, is the favorite nephew of the Prince of Wales, and is on terms of the most affectionate friendship with his cousins of the Danish court.

JACOB FONZ, a gentleman who resides at St. Michaels, Md., a little town not far from Washington, on the banks of the Potomac, makes a business of raising bull frogs for the market, and ships them in crates containing a dozen each and plenty of seaweed to the hotels and restaurants of New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia and other cities of the east. It is a profitable business. No farmer in that part of the state makes half as much money with double the labor as Mr. Fonz.

DEAN & SHIBLEY, brokers and bankers, have taken charge of the arrangements to consolidate the paper manufacturers of this country. The deal will involve about $40,000,000, and will include the mills making fine writing paper, bond paper, wrapping, ledger, envelope and news paper. There are 47 important mills in the United States, 35 being in New England, within a radius of 70 miles. These mills have been making an average of 350 tons of paper a day, which is said to be from 30 to 40 tons over production.

WHEN the senate met on the first Monday of December its membership was complete for the first time in a number of years. The death of Senator Morrill makes another break in the list, and there are some people who argue from this fact that it is unlucky for the senate to have its list of membership filled. They claim that the record of the past shows that whenever there has been a full senate death has followed shortly afterward. This fact, however, will not probably prevent a general scramble for Senator Morrill's shoes.

S. H. AGGERS has discovered near Rawlins, Wyo., a perfect petrification, in a good state of preservation, of a monster saurian (lizard), which measures 180 feet in length. The body is about 140 feet long, and a section 60 feet long can be taken out as a whole. The fossil lies close to the top of the ground, and the head tapers to the point of the nose. This is an important discovery, and fortifies the well-known scientific fact that Wyoming is the grave yard par excellence of the gigantic animals of the past geological epochs.

FOR countless generations spiders they have practiced the art of sailing through the air on tiny parachutes which they make from woven strands of gossamer. Now, however, the tables have been turned, and instead of weaving parachutes for themselves the poor spiders are set to spin ropes for human aeronauts. This novel idea has been put into operation at Chalals-Meudon, near Paris, where a spider factory for the special manufacture of balloon ropes for the military aeronautic section is now in full swing. Each little creature is made to spin 30 or 40 yards of thread before it is allowed to have a rest.

PHILIPPINE COMMISSION.

President Said to Have Decided to Appoint One, with Dewey at the Head.

Washington, Jan. 16.—President McKinley has decided to send a commission to the Philippines to make a thorough study of the situation and advise him as to what the policy of the United States should be regarding those islands. He has asked these men to serve on the commission:

Rear Admiral George Dewey, commander in chief of the Asiatic squadron.

Maj. Gen. E. S. Otis, military governor of the Philippines.

Prof. J. G. Schurman, president of Cornell university.

Col. Charles Denby, former minister to China and now a member of the war investigation commission.

Admiral Dewey will be president of the commission.

It is now only a question as to whether those named will consent to serve and as to the date when the commission will start for the Philippines. The fact that Prof. Schurman has been summoned to Washington to confer with the president indicates that Mr. McKinley contemplates appointing the commission immediately, though there is a probability that he may wait for the ratification of the peace treaty. The president desires not only Prof. Schurman's views regarding the future attitude of this country toward the Philippines, but advice as to the phases of the question that ought to be considered by a commission. Should he consent to serve there will be but little difficulty in making up the rest of the personnel of the commission, as all of the other men named are thoroughly familiar and interested in the subject, and will doubtless be glad to accept the service.

The entire administration takes it for granted that the present senate will ratify the pending treaty of peace. When this is done congress will naturally look to the president to outline a policy of some kind for the future control of the Philippines.

Thus far the president has refused to commit himself officially any further than to urge the ratification of the treaty, which will give the United States complete sovereignty over the islands, and to favor military control until the situation can be studied.

Manila, Jan. 16.—Great hostility toward the Americans is evident on the part of the natives. Friday two natives attacked and wounded a sentry of the South Dakota regiment, who shot one and cut the other with his bayonet. Aguinaldo is massing his troops around Manila and they now number 40,000. He has many secret allies inside of Manila. It seems difficult to prevent hostilities. Aguinaldo, emboldened by the waiting policy of the Americans, will not listen to a reasonable agreement. His army is strong enough to control public opinion. The Indians will take 200 tons of provisions and a full cargo of coal to Iloilo.

Manila, Jan. 16.—Official dispatches just received here from Iloilo, island of Panay, indicate that the natives are disposed to be friendly, although absolutely opposed to the landing of the United States forces without orders from Malolos, the seat of the so-called Filipino national government. Some of the officials at Iloilo are not in accord with the revolutionary government, but are willing to accept an American protectorate and to go to state the case to Aguinaldo if furnished transportation by the Americans.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Senor Felipe Agoncillo, the representative of Gen. Aguinaldo in Washington, has filed with the state department a memorandum setting forth at length the reasons for his claim that the Philippine government should be recognized by the United States. The memorandum is along the same lines as statements heretofore made public by the Filipino representative. Senor Agoncillo asserts the Filipinos established and for seven months have maintained a form of government resembling the American, in that it is based upon the right of the people to rule; that Spain having at the time of the signing of the treaty of peace possession of only one port and the remainder of the Philippines, except Manila, being in possession of the Philippine republic, Spain could give no title to the United States for the islands, and that having no title to give her claim cannot be rendered better by the ratification of the treaty of peace.

A QUEER FINDING.

Said Court of Cassation Will Find Dreyfus Probably Guilty But That He Should Be Released.

Paris, Jan. 16.—The Matin and the Gaulois say they understand that the inquiry of the court of cassation into the Dreyfus case is on the point of terminating, and that the court will probably report that acts of treason actually occurred, but that sufficient proof of the guilt of Dreyfus does not exist and that his sentence, therefore, is quashed. The papers add that there will be a fresh court-martial. Dreyfus, it appears, was informed of the revision proceedings some time ago, but he is under the impression that they are due to the initiative of the general staff, and in his letter the prisoner thanks Gen. Boisdeffre, the former chief of the general staff, and his comrades of the army for the action taken.

NINETEEN MEN DROWNED.

British Bark Adeline Capsizes and Sinks at Tacoma During a Storm in the Night.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 16.—The British bark Adeline, 2,395 tons, of Nova Scotia, Capt. G. W. Stalling, sank in 22 fathoms of water in front of the St. Paul mill wharf some time Friday night and the captain, mate and 17 of the crew were drowned. No one witnessed the accident. Friday night a terrific gale raged on the bay, the wind blowing 36 miles an hour. Two great boom logs were placed beside the Adeline, one on each side. During the gale, between two and four o'clock Saturday morning, one of the logs went adrift, causing the ship to lurch and then to capsize with very little warning to the crew. The vessel was entirely without ballast and the hatches were open. All on board were caught like rats in a trap and had no chance to escape. The ship simply careened over, the water flowed in the open hatches and she sank.

As all on board perished, only surmises as to the cause of the disaster are obtainable. Judging from indications, shipping men say the ballast log found was from the port side of the vessel. The ship, according to all accounts, was headed in a southerly direction, or toward the head of the bay, at the time the gale swept down the sound. The heavy winds caused the ship to strain on the chains, making the log on the weather side taut and giving a tendency to lift the log from the water, but the strain was too great for one of the chains and it snapped. This released the towering craft from the greater restraint on the weather side and she lifted with the wind, and, there being little restraint from the other end of the log, raised it enough to allow the right or mooring chain to slip off. The ship, freed from ballast and floating like a chip, careened over under the pressure of the heavy gale, shipping great quantities of water, filling completely the hold and fore-castle, caused her to capsize and sink to the bottom, all in a very few minutes.

Late Sunday afternoon the ill-fated vessel was located. She lies on the bottom of 23 fathoms of water, close by the spot where she had been anchored. When the ship entered this port she was manned by a crew of nearly 30 men. Some deserted and others were discharged, until only 18 were left. The only list of victims obtainable is that given by Percy B. Buck, an apprentice, who was injured two days prior to the disaster and taken to one of the Tacoma hospitals. It is said the ship was insured by an English agency for $100,000. No bodies have as yet been recovered, although every effort is being made in that direction.

WILL VISIT BOSTON.

President McKinley Accepts Invitation to Home Market Club Banquet to Be Held February 16.

Adams, Mass., Jan. 16.—William B. Plunkett, president of the Home Market club, arrived home from Washington Saturday. He has practically completed arrangements for the banquet February 16, which will be attended by President McKinley. The president will stop at the Touraine hotel while in Boston and will be accompanied by Mrs. McKinley, Secretary Long and Postmaster-General Smith. Mr. Plunkett will preside at the banquet and besides the addresses by the distinguished guests Gov. Walcott and Mayor Quincy will speak. President McKinley and party will be in Boston less than 36 hours, returning to Washington the day after the banquet.

BAD GANG CAPTURED.

Chicago Police Arrest Robbers Who Recently Murdered an Officer—One Prisoner Confesses.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The Chicago police, by accomplishing the arrest of three men Saturday in Minneapolis and one on Thursday in Waukega, Ill., believe they have four of the six robbers who held up the dry goods store of H. C. T. Borrmann and murdered Policeman Edward J. Wallner January 5. The men caught in Minneapolis are Frank Ford, Thomas McFadden and Frank Johnson. The fourth man, taken in Waukega by Detective Keefe after a sharp fight, gave the name of Samuel Ritch. Soon after Ritch was brought to this city Capt. John Wheeler succeeded in securing from him a full confession of the killing of Wallner and a dozen other crimes committed by the gang of which he was a member.

COURT-MARTIAL FOR EAGAN.

Secretary Alger Said to Have Decided to Proceed Against the General for His Attack on Miles.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary Alger had a long conference with the president Saturday afternoon, and it is reported on good authority that the secretary has decided to court-martial Commissary General Charles P. Eagan for his vituperative language toward Gen. Miles before the war investigating commission. The court will not be named until next week. It is understood the charge against Gen. Eagan will be that he was guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

DENOUNCES GEN. MILES.

Commissary General Eagan Causes a Sensation in the War Inquiry—Censured by Commission.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Commissary General Eagan, in the course of his testimony before the war investigating committee, called Maj. Gen. Miles, commanding the army, a "liar who lied in his throat, lied in his heart, lied in every part of his body," who "perpetrated a gross scandal and who should be drummed out of the service and imprisoned," and should be avoided by every honest man and barred by every club. He characterized his interviews as "filth."

The subject in controversy was Gen. Miles' already famous "embalmed beef" testimony and the letters and documents supporting it. Gen. Miles had charged that the canned and refrigerated meats sent to the army in Cuba and Porto Rico were unfit for use, that they were preserved by the use of chemicals and that they had "been bought and sent to the army under pretense of an experiment." This reflection upon both the ability and honesty of the commissary department had angered Gen. Eagan and caused him to request to be recalled to reply to Gen. Miles' charges. That his statements concerning the commanding general were not the result of a sudden outburst of passion was clearly shown by the fact that Gen. Eagan read his remarks from a carefully prepared typewritten copy.

Washington, Jan. 14.—The war investigating commission Friday passed a resolution of censure of Gen. Eagan for the language he used Thursday when he appeared to answer the charges made against the commissary branch of the army by Maj. Gen. Miles and returned to him the carefully prepared typewritten statement which he left with the commission after reading it to that body. With its return was sent a letter explaining the reasons for this action and a copy of the resolution passed.

The following is the text of the letter ordered by the war inquiry commission to be sent to Gen. Eagan:

"Washington, D. C., Jan. 13, 1899.—Brig. Gen. C. P. Eagan, Commissary General, War Department: We respectfully inform you that after your testimony was read yesterday the following resolution was unanimously passed:

"Moved, That the commission receive Gen. Eagan's testimony without comment, that it be not printed at once, but held for the consideration of the commission. Carried."

"Having now considered the questions involved we have determined that in many instances the vituperative language used by you was not such as ought to have been addressed as a witness to this board. We think that the personal attacks and irrelevant statements contained in the papers submitted should be eliminated, and before receiving it as testimony we request that you will revise its language and if you choose resubmit it for our consideration. We herewith return your papers. Very respectfully,
(Signed) "CHARLES DENBY,"
"Vice President."

Washington, Jan. 14.—It was gathered from friends of Gen. Eagan that he is prepared to accept the suggestion conveyed in the letter of the war inquiry commission and will amend his statement so as to exclude the matter complained of.

Named for Senator.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 11.—At the caucus of the republican members of the legislature Tuesday night Albert J. Beveridge, of Indianapolis, was nominated for United States senator on the twelfth ballot. His election was effected by a consolidation of the Taylor and Steele forces, which, added to his own following, secured him the nomination. The campaign has been hotly contested. Hanly, of Lafayette, was Beveridge's strongest opponent.

TWO GRATEFUL WOMEN

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Can Do My Own Work."

Mrs. PATRICK DANNEY, West Winsted, Conn., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It is with pleasure that I write to you of the benefit I have derived from using your wonderful Vegetable Compound. I was very ill, suffered with female weakness and displacement of the womb.

"I could not sleep at night, had to walk the floor, I suffered so with pain in my side and small of my back. Was troubled with bloating, and at times would faint away; had a terrible pain in my heart, a bad taste in my mouth all the time and would vomit; but now, thanks to Mrs. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound, I feel well and sleep well, can do my work without feeling tired; do not bloat or have any trouble whatever.

"I sincerely thank you for the good advice you gave me and for what your medicine has done for me."

"Cannot Praise It Enough."

Miss GERTIE DUNKIN, Franklin, Neb., writes:

"I suffered for some time with painful and irregular menstruation, falling of the womb and pain in the back. I tried physicians, but found no relief.

"I was at last persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me. I feel like a new person, and would not part with your medicine. I have recommended it to several of my friends."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

TOO MUCH OF A BAD THING.

She Thought They Had Gone Out to See a Man Several Times Too Often.

It happened not so very long ago. Three girls had come to the theater together, and they, with the usual feminine impedimenta of coats and hats and opera glasses, quite filled up the three end seats near the middle aisle. Beyond them sat three men, who had also come to the theater together. They arrived late, after the curtain had gone up, in fact, and the girls had to gather up hats, programmes and all, and rise to let the trio file past them. That was all right. Not one word was said, and both parties settled quietly down to enjoy the play. But at the end of the first act the men wanted to go out. There were one or two smothered groans this time, as the clumsy masculine feet tramped to and fro across the skirts and toes of their neighbors, but the groans were smothered, and everything looked as merry as could be. But no sooner had the curtain dropped on the second act than once more the three arose, grabbed their hats, and signified that they wished to depart again. This time the girls looked wrathful. But never a word said they. They rose in stolid silence. Even when a dainty bit of crimson velvet headgear was knocked to the floor by a switching coattail and kicked three seats away, not a protest passed their lips. Back came the men, and for the fifth time did the long-suffering women folks grip their possessions and arise. "This must surely be the last time," murmured the young chaperone. "Ugh! just smell them! They certainly must know they can't drink any more without getting drunk, and as to cigars, why don't they buy better ones!" But the hope was false. The curtain went down on the third act at exactly the same moment that the three men arose from their seats. To their surprise the girls sat still. "Will you please let us pass?" asked the foremost man of the one nearest him. "It happened to be the chaperone, and with all the dignity of her two months' old wedding ring, she gazed blankly up at him. "Pass?" she murmured, sweetly; "why, I thought we had let you pass five times already. We're very tired. Don't you think you could use somebody else to climb over?" The man looked at his comrades, and, as if moved by springs, the three sat down. And what is more, they stayed there. The other two girls patted the plucky one on the head and presented her with a box of candy next day, and after the play was over, three women of different parties in the neighborhood of those seats leaned over and thanked her for what she had done.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Where He Repaired It.

When illicit distilling was common in the Highlands there was an old man who went about the country repairing whisky pots. The gauger met him one day and, surmising that he had been doing repairs at no great distance, asked what he would take to inform him (the gauger) where he repaired the last whisky pot. "Och," said the old man, "she'll shust tak' hauf a croon." "Done!" retorted the gauger, "here is your money, but be careful to tell me correctly." "Och, she'll no' tell the gentleman a lee." Getting the money, the old man quietly remarked: "I shust mended the last whisky pot where the hole was."—London Spare Moments.

In the treasure-room of the maharajah of Barnda is said to repose a carpet which cost close upon $1,000,000. It is only ten by six feet in size, but is woven from strings of pure pearls, with center and corner circles of diamonds. It required three years to manufacture this jewel of a carpet, which was intended as a gift to a beautiful Mohammedan beue.

Germany and Asia Minor.

It is inevitable that Asia Minor shall eventually pass into the possession of Mohammedanism, and whether Germany accomplishes the task or not, the Sultan must yield to a Christian nation. It is just as inevitable that diseases of the digestive organs must yield to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The disorders of this kind are usually called dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness. The Bitters are equally good for all such complaints, regardless of the name.

No Use at All.
"Mistletoe is awfully scarce this year," she said. "I'm afraid ma won't be able to get any."

"What's the use?" he asked.
"And the sounds which forthwith ensued indicated that it was absolutely useless.—Philadelphia North American."

Looks Like Rain.
"It looks like rain to-day," said the affable milkman, as he dumped the regular quart into the picher.
"It always does," said the woman, and the milk man drove off wondering why some people take such gloomy views of everything.—Keystone.

A Remedy for the Grippe.
A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the grippe is Kemp's Balsam, which is especially adapted to diseases of the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease, but get a bottle to-day and keep it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. The Balsam prevents this by keeping the cough loose. All druggists sell the Balsam.

He went to the war a vigorous farmer's boy and came back broken in health, a victim of sciatic rheumatism. He says: "Nothing seemed to give me permanent relief until three years ago, when my attention was called to some of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.
