A CONGRESSMAN

Cured of Catarrh of Long Standing.

Ex-Congressman A. T. Goodwyn.

Ex-Congressman A. T. Goodwyn, from Alabama, writes the following letter:

The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen—I have now used two bottles of Pe-ru-na, and am a well man to-day. I could feel the good effects of your medicine before I had used it a week, after suffering with catarrh for over a year. Respectfully,

A. T. Goodwyn.

Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a national curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Prominent men have come to know of its virtues and are making public utterances on the subject. To save the country we must save the people. To save the people we must protect them from disease. The disease that is at once the most prevalent and stubborn of cure is catarrh. Public men of all parties recognize in Pe-ru-na a national catarrh remedy of unequalled merit. Send to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, for a free book on catarrh.

SINCE his return from Lewiston, Sergeant-at-Arms Ben Russell has been getting in the bills for the funeral of Hon. Nelson Dingley. Mr. Russell says the cost of the funeral will be a little less than $5,000. This amount is considered very reasonable for a state funeral such as Mr. Dingley's was.

JAPAN, with a population of 45,000,000, has 290 towns that have more than 100,000 inhabitants. In 1886 the number of such towns was 117. Osaka has increased from 300,000 to 510,000 inhabitants in ten years, Yokohama from 80,000 to 180,000, Kobe from 80,000 to 185,000, Tokio now has a population of 1,300,000.

THE costliest bicycle in the world has just been finished at a gun factory in Vienna. It will cost 500,000 gulden, which is a little more than $275,000. The owner is a rich South African diamond king and mine owner, who will present the machine to his wife on her next birthday. It is inlaid with precious stones and diamonds on every possible part.

THE X. I. T. ranch, in the extreme northern corner of the Panhandle of Texas, the largest ranch in the world, has an area of 5,000 square miles. Its herds of cattle aggregate 120,000 head, besides 1,500 horses, and the calf crop branded in 1897 exceeded 31,000. Surprising as it may seem, all the work on the ranch is done by 125 men, one man to every 24,000 acres.

CONSUL FOWLER, of Chefoo, under date of November 29, 1898, writes in regard to the floods of the Yellow river. One million people, it is stated, are in distress and Li Hung Chang has been deputed to devise some method to repair the damage to the embankments. It is understood that he has sent abroad for experts. Consul Fowler thinks that engineers in the United States could, no doubt, build a system of jetties that would prevent a recurrence of these disasters.

A DISTINCTION must be made between inoculation for the prevention or mitigation of smallpox and vaccination, which is the grafting of cowpox, as a protection against the severer malady. Inoculation was practiced by Turks, Greeks, Syrians and Circassians long before Lady Mary Wortley Montague brought it to England. It was after this that Jenner made his so-called discovery of vaccination or inoculation with virus from the cow instead of from the human subject.

THE International Paper Co. has just completed the biggest deal since its organization. It has purchased outright 14 mills engaged in the manufacture of paper and pulp outside the combination. These mills represent the chief opposition which the print paper trust has had to encounter. The trust has now almost undisputed possession of the print paper industry. The 14 mills purchased represent a capacity of 123 tons of print paper and 168 tons of wood pulp per day.

FOR many years all the quinine of commerce came from the wild trees of Peru, but with the present great demand the refined product obtained from the wild trees of its native habitat would supply but a small proportion of the world's requirements. At the present time two-thirds of the quinine used is produced in Java, an island of the East Indian archipelago, corresponding closely in size to Cuba, and having with it many features of soil and climate in common.

CHICAGO is getting ready for the census of 1900. She wants to make herself out a bigger city than New York. The plan is to make two distinct countries out of the territory now comprising Cook. The present city slightly expanded is to constitute one and the outside territory the other. To make it an object for towns like Evanston and Oak Park to become annexed, it is proposed to adopt a graduated scale for taxing real estate. The Civic Federation is hard at work and will ask for an amendment to the state constitution.

DURING a recent strike of compositors and pressmen in Brussels, Belgium, a tied-up newspaper called "Petit Bleu" appeared without the help of a single printer as a richly illustrated 16-page paper. The news had been "set up" on a typewriter, and the single typewritten sheets and pictures were pasted on a large cardboard corresponding in proportions to the size of the newspaper. Then the whole was reduced by photography to the actual size, and from the negative a print was made on a sensitized sheet of zinc. With the aid of nitric acid the type and illustrations were etched in, and the result was a complete, solid form ready for the press.

GAINING IN IMPORTANCE.

Athletics Are Daily Becoming More of a Feature at the University of Michigan.

THEY ARE ALSO CAREFULLY REGULATED.

The Intent Is to Conduct Them in a Rational and Scientific Manner—Women, Also, Are Provided For—Gymnasium Work Is Compulsory—Sports of Various Kinds.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 2.—Athletics are becoming more and more important at the University of Michigan. Less than five years ago the gymnasium for men was completed. Some time later the large addition for the women was brought into service. Now both gymnasiums are scenes of considerable activity for six days in the week.

Athletics Carefully Regulated. Along with the increase in importance of athletics there has been a movement to conduct them in a more rational and scientific manner. It is safe to prophesy that the time is not far distant when athletics at the University will be as carefully supervised as the work in Greek and Latin now is. Already the office of director of athletics has been established and the incumbent given a voice in the management of the University affairs. Another office which was created last year is a graduate manager of athletics. He has to do with the business side of the 'versity contracts.

Women Have Their Faculty.

The women students also have their athletic faculty. At its head is Dr. Eliza A. Mosher, professor of hygiene and women's dean in the literary department. She is assisted by instructors who conduct the class on the gymnasium floor.

The Director.

Director of Athletics Keene Fitzpatrick came to the University of Michigan from Yale, where he secured a national reputation as a trainer. He knows hundreds of little points which will help to win in a sprint, to make a high hurdle, to throw the hammer a little further and to secure the last few inches that win in many contests. He is giving his best energy to seeing that the athletes here are properly coached, and that they win the contests that they enter.

Graduate Manager.

The graduate manager is Charles Baird, who was graduated from the literary department of the University with a bachelor of arts degree in 1895. He is thorough and through a college athlete. He is extremely popular and is conducting the financial side of the college games on a strictly business basis.

Gymnasium Work Compulsory.

Another innovation made last fall besides establishing the office of graduate manager was the introduction of compulsory gymnasium work. This work has been started with the freshmen of the literary and engineering departments. If it proves a success, however, it will gradually be extended until every student is required to take some gymnasium exercise before graduating. As now arranged every freshman in the two departments mentioned spends two hours each week in the gymnasium exercising under the supervision of the director of athletics or his assistants. He is given no extra credit for this work, but on the other hand he cannot be graduated unless he has taken it. Each student before being assigned to a class for gymnasium exercise is given a physical examination. His measurements are put on record. Later in the year he will be given another examination and the two sets of measurements compared to see what the result of the exercise has been.

A Peculiar Method.

In the woman's gymnasium there are classes like those in the men's. Here a peculiar method for taking measurements has been devised. Life-sized shadow pictures of the girls are taken and preserved to be compared with similar pictures taken later in the year.

A Fine Record.

In outdoor athletics Michigan has made an enviable record. Last spring the baseball team played winning ball, and the past fall the football team never lost a game. It closed the season Thanksgiving day in Chicago by defeating the University of Chicago eleven on Marshall Field.

Training Begun.

The work of training the baseball men for the coming season has already begun. Arrangements have been made in the large gymnasium so that practice at pitching, catching and even batting can be successfully carried on.

Sports Are Thriving.

All the other athletic sports also thrive at the University of Michigan. There are tennis tournaments, indoor and outdoor track meets, hare and hound runs, bicycle races, boating contests, golf games, and just recently a hockey club has been organized which will train for matches with the clubs of other institutions.

R. H. ELSWORTH.

A Michigan Man Has an Experience That He Will Remember as Long as He Lives.

George W. Sickles, of Pontiac, has just returned from the South Sea islands, where he had an unusual experience. While in the service of the South Sea Island Trading company he decided to go into the fruit-growing business on his own account on the island of Vanu Liv. Accompanied by his partner, Dr. Rothelmal, a German physician, he sailed for that island from Lauka, 185 miles away, on a vessel manned by native sailors.

The vessel was wrecked in a storm and the entire party was cast ashore on an uninhabited island without food or water. A valise containing the entire capital of the new fruit-growing firm—$17,000 in cash—went to the bottom of the sea.

Their first meal was turtles' eggs. A piece of sail which had been washed ashore was spread out to catch water, as it was still raining. The next day two big turtles and numerous shellfish comprised their food. Fishhooks were carved out of seashells and fishlines were made by unraveling pieces of rope which had also been washed ashore. In this manner they secured sufficient food for the eight days they were there. They were rescued from the island by a vessel which put in there to spend the night.

Mr. Sickles returned to the United States as soon as he was able, and now resides with his brother, P. H. Sickles, in Pontiac.

WANTS TO KNOW.

The State Geologist Thinks the Board of Survey Is Entitled to Information from the Auditors.

The annual report of State Geologist L. L. Hubbard says that the absence of a knowledge on the part of the board of geological survey of a register of the exact locations in the state where deposits of different economic substances are known or supposed to exist is a serious drawback to the possible exploitation of such deposits by would-be investors, and retards the development of the state. The state geologist had outlined the work of the survey in the state upon a particular theory which he deemed of value, but he asserts that his work was rendered temporarily useless by the action of the board of state auditors in declining to cooperate with him in the publication of the reports. In view of the action of the auditors, the geologist says, the reports of the survey would be at least four years old before they would reach the public.

Cured by Prayer.

Mrs. George Meacher, of Gaylord, who has been an invalid 15 years, claims she is being cured of her infirmities by prayer. The woman heard that Rev. C. H. Holden, of Detroit, had been cured of a sickness by asking help from on high, and she asked Revs. R. C. Fenner and F. C. Wood, of Gaylord, to pray for her recovery. Now, it is said, Mrs. Meacher can use her right hand. She can hear as well as ever and can walk across the room. For 15 years she has been unable to do either.

PASSES THE HOUSE.

Bill for the Reorganization of the Army Is Disposed Of—Modifications Made.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The bill to reorganize and increase the standing army to about 100,000 men, but giving the president authority to reduce the size of infantry companies and cavalry troops to 60 men each, thus fixing a minimum of about 50,000 enlisted men, passed the house Tuesday by a vote of 168 to 125. This was the result of a week of hard and often picturesque fighting on the floor, during the progress of which the opposition compelled those in charge of the measure to give this discretionary authority to the president and to make other modifications, among which were a reduction of 331 in the number of staff officers.

The bill as passed provides in addition to the general officers and staff departments for 12 regiments of cavalry of 12 troops each, 144 coast batteries, 24 field batteries, 30 regiments of infantry of 12 companies each, a corps of engineers and one regiment of engineers, an ordnance department and a signal corps, the latter with 625 enlisted men. It also gives the president discretion to recruit the organizations serving in Cuba, Porto Rico and the islands of the Pacific in whole or in part from the inhabitants thereof.

The latter's liabilities, amounting to $260,909, are mostly collateral with those of his brother. His assets are placed at $71,000.

It was one very pleasant summer day when a maiden from the city tripped lightly amid the trees and sniffed the pungent odor that floated on the breeze. "O, tell me, ancient farmer, with arms so brown and bare, what is the wondrous flower that scents the morning air?" Loud laughed the ancient farmer till the tears rolled down his cheeks, "Why, bless me, that's a polecat, I've smelt it for a week."

One of Michigan's weather prophets says that robins have already been seen and the spring days are not far off. But as long as the ice and snow keeps remaining in many places, and zero weather comes, we may have old grim winter lingering with us up till the 1st of April; but we hope not, as Easter comes April 2nd, and the ladies wouldn't feel like coming out with their spring bonnets on, unless the day was nice and warm.

W. S. Crafts, one of the pioneers of Sharon, died Feb. 8d, 1899, aged 80 years. Mr. Crafts was a native of Vermont, but came to Michigan nearly half a century ago. In Vermont, Mr. Crafts was a lawyer, school teacher, and a breeder of fine sheep. When he decided to come West he drove overland from his native State, bringing a flock of sheep with him. When he reached Detroit he pastured his sheep on what is now the site of the Detroit Opera House. Mr. Crafts was not favorably impressed with Detroit, and pushed on to Sharon, where he settled on the farm on which he has since resided. He was probably one of the best-known men in this county, and one of the wealthiest. He had been closely identified with business interests in Grass Lake, and at one time was a director of the local bank. A wife and four children survive him—Mrs. A. F. Blanchard of Detroit; Mrs. Mortimer Raymond and E. W. Crafts, of Grass Lake, and Mrs. Julia Crowell, of Chelsea.

About one hundred and fifty partook of the supper, which was then served, when all returned to their homes, feeling that it had been an evening well spent.

The Small Advertiser.

There seems to be an idea prevalent among some business men that newspaper advertising is for large dealers only. This belief has kept many a small merchant from improving his opportunities in this direction. Nearly if not all of the large retail merchants of the United States have become so by extensive advertising. The advertising that they have done is not the sole cause of their success, but it has been the great contributing cause. Most all large enterprises which are successful have begun on a small scale. Their advertising was done in a small way, but it has been kept up day after day and year after year. Good business methods, untiring industry and good advertising are the factors which bring success in business.

Do not be afraid of being overshadowed by the big advertiser. Many times a well-worded reader of only a few lines will reach the eyes of more readers than the more pretentious display of the larger store. It tells the people you have goods to sell and what you will sell them for. That is all the big stores can say. It is the price that sells the goods. The dealer, be he the corner grocer, or the largest dealer in general merchandise, who will sell staple or special articles, quality considered, for the least money, and lets the people know it, will receive the patronage. Every town has plenty of examples showing how small dealers in all kinds of merchandise have made their business a success by means of newspaper advertising. Take what space in the paper you can afford, contract by the year, watch it, change the matter often, and you will soon need more room for your store and more space in the paper. Judicious advertising will develop any business that has a right to exist.—Ex.

No Further Hostilities.

Manila, Monday, Feb. 6.—9 a. m.—The Filipinos have apparently reached the conclusion that the Americans mean business, now that the barriers are removed, as there were no further hostilities Sunday night and no attempt was made to recover the lost ground. It is possible, however, that they are following the tactics they employed against the Spaniards and will merely lie off a few days to recuperate their forces before returning to the attack. It is impossible to ascertain as yet how the news has been received at Malolos, the seat of the insurgent government, but the Filipinos in Manila express the opinion that the movement for independence has received its death blow and that annexation will soon be welcomed generally.

Will Force the Fighting.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The warfare in the Philippines will be forced to a speedy end. The president and his cabinet on Sunday decided that inasmuch as the trouble was the choosing of the natives, the American policy must be shaped to meet the emergency. The surrender of the insurgents will be demanded, and Gen. Otis and Admiral Dewey were Sunday ordered to proceed against the forces of Aguinaldo with a view of demonstrating to the insurgents the hopelessness of their cause. The president is determined that the majesty of the United States shall be respected in the Philippines, whether the islands are annexed to this country or not, and it can be stated on authority that there will be no more temporizing with the Filipinos, whatever may be the action on the treaty.

Story of the Fighting.

Manila, Feb. 5.—The long-expected rupture between the Americans and the Filipinos has come at last. The former are now engaged in solving the Philippine problem with the utmost expedition possible. The clash came at 8:40 Saturday evening, when three daring Filipinos darted past the Nebraska regiment pickets at Santa Mesa, but retired when challenged. They repeated the experiment without drawing the sentries' fire. But the third time Corp. Greely challenged the Filipinos and then fired, killing one of them and wounding another.

Almost immediately afterward the Filipinos' line, from Calvoacan to Santa Mesa, commenced a fusillade which was ineffectual. The Nebraska, Montana and North Dakota outposts replied vigorously, and held their ground until reinforcements arrived. The Filipinos in the meantime concentrated at three points, Caloocan, Gagalangin and Santa Mesa.

Enemy Opens Hot Fire.

At about one o'clock the Filipinos opened a hot fire from all three places simultaneously. This was supplemented by the fire of two siege guns at Balik-Balik, and by advancing their skirmishers at Paco and Pandacan. The Americans responded with a terrific fire, but owing to the darkness they were unable to determine its effect. The Utah light artillery finally succeeded in silencing the native battery. The Third artillery also did good work on the extreme left. The engagement lasted over an hour.

Gunboats Take Part.

The United States cruiser Charleston and the gunboat Concord, stationed off Malabona, opened fire from their secondary batteries on the Filipinos' position at Caloocan, and kept it up vigorously. At 2:45 there was another fusillade along the entire line, and the United States sea-going double-turreted monitor Monadnock opened fire on the enemy from off Malate.

With daylight the Americans advanced. The California and Washington regiments made a splendid charge and drove the Filipinos from the villages of Paco and Santa Mesa. The Nebraska regiment also distinguished itself, capturing several prisoners and one Howitzer and a very strong position at the reservoir, which is connected with the water works. The Kansas and Dakota regiments compelled the enemy's right flank to retire to Caloocan. There was intermittent firing at various points all day long.

Twenty Americans Killed.

The American losses are estimated at 20 men killed and 125 wounded. The losses of the Filipinos cannot be estimated at present, but they are known to be considerable. The Ygorates, armed with bows and arrows, made a very determined stand in the face of a hot artillery fire, and left many men dead on the field. Several attempts were made in this city Saturday evening to assassinate American officers.

Another Account.

London, Feb. 6.—The Morning Post publishes the following account of the fighting at Manila: The immediate cause of the attack was an advance by two Filipinos to the Nebraska outpost on the northwest of the city. When ordered to halt they refused and the sentry fired. An insurgent signal gun was then fired from blockhouse 7 and an attack was immediately begun on the Nebraska regiment. The fighting soon spread on both sides until firing was in progress on all the outposts around the city. The American troops responded vigorously, the insurgent fire being heavy and the attack evidently hurriedly planned. Firing continued throughout the night with an occasional cessation of from half an hour to an hour at a time.

At daybreak the warships Charleston and Callao began shelling the north side of the city. Their fire was followed later by that of the Monadnock on the southern side, the insurgent positions having been previously accurately located.

The Losses.

The Filipino loss is reported to have been heavy. The wounded on the American side are now estimated at 200. Few Americans were killed. The Americans began a vigorous advance all along the line Sunday morning, and were soon pressing back the insurgents in every direction, maintaining steadily their advanced positions and capturing the villages of San Juan del Monte, Santa Ana, San Pedro, Macati, Santa Mesa and Lomin.

In a subsequent telegram the following statements are made:

"Last night's (Saturday) and to-day's (Sunday) engagements have proved a veritable slaughter for the Filipinos, their killed being reported as amounting to thousands. The American forces could scarcely have been better disposed. It is now known that the attack was fully expected and that every preparation had been made to meet the contingency. Firing slackened at noon (Sunday), the enemy being apparently demoralized. The American troops, however, are fully equipped to meet a possible attack. Aguinaldo's private secretary has been arrested as a spy in Manila. Perfect quiet now reigns in the city. More than a hundred wounded Filipinos, taken from the trenches, are being cared for in the American hospitals."

The splendid police system prevented a general outbreak in the city, though several soldiers were attacked by natives in the streets. Lieut. Charles Hogan and Sergt. Wall were shot by three natives, the former being seriously wounded and the latter slightly. Lieut. Col. Colton was attacked by a native with a sword while riding in a carriage to the front. He killed his assailant with his revolver. A sharpshooter within the American lines shot and killed a sergeant while he was sitting at a window of the second reserve hospital. Col. William C. Smith died of apoplexy. Many of the insurgents were driven into the Bagis river and drowned. Several hundred were taken prisoners.

Spanish General Rios' Report.

Madrid, Feb. 6.—Intense excitement was caused here by the receipt Sunday evening of the following official dispatch from Gen. Rios, the Spanish commander in the Philippines:

"The insurgents have violently attacked and captured almost the whole of the exterior American line. The Americans offered a vigorous defense at the exterior barriers, using their artillery as well as the squadron. The warships destroyed and burned Caloocan, Paco and several towns in the neighborhood. Both sides suffered materially. Very sharp firing continues. The Spanish troops have been confined to quarters, but a sergeant has been wounded by a stray bullet."

CAME AS A SHOCK.

Opening of Hostilities Not Anticipated by the Administration.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Admiral Dewey on Sunday cabled the navy department that hostilities had begun between the American army and naval forces in and about Manila, and the Philippine insurgents. The insurgents, he said, had been the aggressors, and had been repulsed.

Admiral Dewey's cablegram is as follows:

"Manila, Feb. 5.—To the Secretary of the Navy, Washington: Insurgents here inaugurated general engagement yesterday night, which has continued to-day. American army and navy generally successful. Insurgents have been driven back and our line advanced. No casualties to navy."

"DEWEY."

The news came like a shock, for the administration, though apprised that an ugly situation prevailed in the Philippines, had clung steadily to a hope that by tact and patience actual fighting might be averted, and even those public men who felt that hostilities would follow, should the treaty be ratified and the United States attempt to occupy the islands, believed that Aguinaldo would not force the fighting when the treaty of peace was in its most critical stage. Some senatorial opponents of ratification of the treaty adhere to their position but the general opinion in Washington is that the news from Manila insures the ratification of the treaty this afternoon.

Otis Master of Situation.

Officials noted one little flaw in Dewey's dispatch, in which he spoke of the American army and navy as "generally successful," conveying just the least intimation that at some points the results were not as satisfactory as at others. It is inferred here that this might mean the development of weakness at some of the more exposed points on the American lines, which might be easily explained by the fact that the attack was made at night, perhaps in places where the insurgents could creep close up in the shelter of the tropical jungle that grows nearly into the town of Manila. Every confidence, however, is felt that Gen. Otis is master of the situation. This confidence is based not only on Dewey's cablegram, but from repeated assurances to that effect conveyed by Gen. Otis to Washington from time to time during the past few months. The forces under his command, as shown by the records of the adjutant general's office December 10, the date of the last report, were 21,649 troops, and of these there were present for duty 19,516 men. Recent dispatches have estimated Aguinaldo's force at from 30,000 to 40,000 men, well armed.

POKAGON IS DEAD.

Famous Old Pottawattomie Indian Chieftain Expires at His Home in Michigan.

Old Chief Simon Pokagon, of the Pottawattomie Indians, died at his home in Lee township, Allegan county, January 27. He was nearly 80 years old and the last of the line of royalty in his tribe. He was born in Pokagon, near Niles. The funeral took place January 30, and the remains were buried at Rush Lake Roman Catholic cemetery beside his first wife and two children. Nearly the whole Pokagon band, 300 strong, attended the funeral.

[Simon Pokagon was born in Pokagon, Niles, Mich. He had always been a power for good among his people, recently securing for them $118,000 annuity due from the government, but many years in arrears. He visited President Lincoln soon after his inauguration, being the first Indian ever in the white house, and interviewed Gen. Grant there in 1874. He had an enviable reputation as a public speaker, his sentiments being pathetic and his addresses betraying kindness of heart and earnestness of thought. He was engaged when death claimed him in writing the Indians' side of the Fort Dearborn massacre, which he claimed had always been misrepresented. He was also pushing a claim for a large tract of land in the heart of Chicago which he claimed belonged to his tribe. Simon Pokagon was always a friend of the white people, and so was his father, Leopold Pokagon. It was in the year 1833 that the elder Pokagon signed away his right and the rights of his tribe to vast tracts of land which are immeasurably valuable today. Pokagon agreed to go west of the Mississippi, but a part of the tribe residing in Michigan was permitted to remain, owing to their religious creed. This part of the tribe was made up chiefly of Pokagon's band, numbering about 250. They continued to live in Michigan, and it was the surviving members of the band who with their chief, Simon Pokagon, brought suit to recover their proportion due them from former treaties.]

ALL THREE WON.

The "Queer Ending of a Lawsuit in Nashville Promises an Interesting Time Later On.

One of the queerest things in the line of a lawsuit was the "plow suit" in Nashville before Justice Feighner. The defendants, G. D. Schoonmaker and Sam Fowler, were tried together for stealing the plow from F. J. Brattin, but each had a lawyer of his own, W. S. Powers appearing for Fowler and Fred Walker appearing for Schoonmaker.

The latter claimed that he purchased the plow from Fowler, while Fowler claimed that he only helped load the plow into Schoonmaker's wagon and that Schoonmaker told him he had purchased the plow from Brattin. The hope of each defendant was to prove his innocence by proving the other fellow guilty. Attorney Powers was doing his level best to help Prosecuting Attorney Sullivan convict Schoonmaker. Attorney Walker was using his best endeavor to assist Sullivan in convicting Fowler. And the funny part of it is that they all accomplished what they set out to do. The three lawyers in the case all won—at least, both men were convicted.

The penalty named was a fine of $25 for each man, with the alternative of 60 days in Sheriff Ritchie's pephouse. Both defendants have appealed to the circuit court, and the outlook is for an interesting time before the affair reaches its end.

INDORSE THE PRESIDENT.

Michigan Legislators Put Themselves on Record as to the Conduct of the War with Spain.

Both houses of the Michigan legislature have adopted concurrent resolutions indorsing President McKinley and his administration of affairs during the Spanish war. The resolutions indorse "the conduct of our brave, generous, magnanimous president, Maj. William McKinley; indorse the patriotic services of every member of his cabinet; indorse most warmly the conduct of that gallant citizen and soldier of our own state, Gen. Russell A. Alger; indorse the work of the peace commission, and recommend the adoption by the United States senate of the treaty formulated by their will," and conclude: "This legislature expresses the utmost confidence in the ability of the national administration to deal with every problem now confronting the nation with wisdom, patriotism and statesmanship, thereby justifying the expectation of every true American that this nation will move onward to higher and grander heights of progress, humanity and civilization."

PERIODS OF PAIN.

Menstruation, the balance wheel of woman's life, is also the bane of existence to many because it means a time of great suffering.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical pain, it does not seem to have been nature's plan that women otherwise healthy should suffer so severely.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It relieves the condition that produces so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors. Here is proof: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—How can I thank you enough for what you have done for me? When I wrote to you I was suffering untold pain at time of menstruation; was nervous, had headache all the time, no appetite, that tired feeling, and did not care for anything. I have taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of Blood Purifier, two boxes of Liver Pills, and to-day I am a well person. I would like to have those who suffer know that I am one of the many who have been cured of female complaints by your wonderful medicine and advice.—MISS JENNIE R. MILES, Leon, Wis.

If you are suffering in this way, write as Miss Miles did to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for the advice which she offers free of charge to all women.

Washington News.

Washington, D. C., February 3, 1899.—Are we to have another big court-martial? Gen. Miles, by reiterating his statement that embalmed beef was furnished the army and announcing his readiness to prove it, has seemingly invited a court-martial of himself, thus forestalling what has been publicly announced for weeks past as Secretary Alger's dearest wish. In fact, the last statement of Gen. Miles is regarded as a dare to the Secretary of War. It would be wise on the part of the administration to give Gen. Miles an early opportunity to prove his charge, for it cannot be truthfully denied that public opinion, as represented by the masses who are not interested in the welfare of particular officials, either civil or military, is at this time inclined to believe that Gen. Miles is right, although it has been semi-officially stated that the report of the War Investigating Commission, which, by the way, was to have been made this week, but has not been, would declare that embalmed beef was not issued to the army. The people want the truth and the whole truth, regardless of consequences, in this business, and sooner or later they will get it.

Although the opponents of the treaty of peace are still claiming 34 votes against it, the general impression is that the treaty will be ratified when the vote is taken on Monday, because some of those who are on the list as opposed to the treaty will fear to go on record against it.

The President now has the finding of the Eagan court-martial. That the sentence of dismissal from the army will be carried out, no one in Washington believes, but opinion differs as to how far the President will modify the sentence.

No speech in favor of the treaty of peace was more carefully listened to than that made by Senator Gray, who was one of the Peace Commissioners. He started out by frankly stating that he went to Paris opposed on principle to the acquisition of the Philippines, or any other distant territory, by the United States, and that circumstances had convinced him of the wisdom of making an exception and signing the treaty, which he declared to be a wise conclusion of a most delicate diplomatic undertaking. He said that while he would not retract what he had said as to the undesirability of the principle of acquiring distant territory, there were times when nations, as well as individuals, have to choose between evils. Speaking of the future of the Philippines, he said that he had unlimited confidence in the American people and believed that they would not only give the natives their freedom when they had shown a capacity for taking care of themselves as a nation, but that they would manage the affairs of the islands wisely and well while they controlled them, and give the islanders a fair start in civilization before turning them loose to shift for themselves.

The bill for the increase of the regular army to something like 100,000, after being amended to give to the President discretion to keep the number down to 50,000, and by the abolishment of the army "canteen," and in other minor ways, passed the House by a vote of 168 to 125. It came very near to being a strictly partisan vote, as only six Republicans—Loud, of California; Connolly, of Illinois; Johnson, of Indiana; McEwan, of New Jersey, and Wadsworth, of New York—voted against the bill, while four Democrats—Taylor, of Alabama; Barry, of Kentucky; McClellan, of New York, and McAleer, of Pennsylvania—and one Populist—Skinner, North Carolina—voted for the bill. Members of the administration express confidence that the bill will get through the Senate practically as it is, but others have doubts.

A report has been made to the House in favor of the Hill financial bill, from the Coinage Committee, not because there is any probability that the bill can get through Congress, but to satisfy the demands of those who are in sympathy with the Indianapolis Monetary Conference. The Hill bill starts out by declaring that the gold standard shall be maintained; provides for interchangeability of all forms of money; separation of the note issue from the fiscal branch of the Treasury Department, and for the gradual retirement of the greenbacks.

A published interview with the German Ambassador to the United States, in which he declared that Germany was not interfering with plans of this Government in the Philippines, would have been received with more pleasure if the Ambassador had not added that the reason for German non-interference in the Philippines was that the United States had not attempted to interfere when Germany made its recent grab of Chinese territory, which means, if it means anything, that Germany is not keeping its hands off because it is none of its business, but as a payment for our not meddling with its Chinese grab. It is a sort of notice to this government that if Germany concludes to grab more Chinese territory we must keep quiet about it or take the chance of Germany putting a finger in the Philippine pie.

Odd and Ends.

Next month will wind up the auctions for this season, so bring in your auction bills early and don't put it off too long.

This year will "cap the climax" in building electric railways. Next summer a line will probably run through Dexter and another one through Saline.

An exchange says: "Why is it that a boy of twenty can run a mile or ascend a flight of steps three at a time, while his sister of the same age can't run a hundred yards or walk a flight of steps without becoming exhausted? It is easy to answer the question. Of 'corset' it is."

An exchange says that a young married man near Stockbridge got into a rather hot altercation with his mother-in-law. The old lady replied, "Well, there will be peace in heaven, when I go there." The son-in-law replied, "You will never go there, but down below you will go." Then they had a skirmish with the brooms.

Another clever swindler, this time a female, is making a canvas in Michigan villages and cities. She claims to be representing a Chicago woolen mill. She has swindled hundreds of women out of $2.50 each, and is very clever at it. She takes your measure, but you never see the fine dresses. Look out for her, as she may visit Chelsea in the near future.

The report having been recently circulated in the public press that the Homeopathic State Society desires the removal of the Homeopathic department to Detroit, it is interesting to note that at the last meeting of this society a vote of confidence in the faculty and its administration of the affairs of the college in Ann Arbor was passed without a dissenting vote.

A large number of exchanges seem to have been informed that the post-office department has made a ruling compelling every postmaster in the United States to wear a uniform consisting of light blue trousers with bright red braid down the legs, white blouse with gold shoulder-straps, and a skull cap with a silver star on the front. We haven't heard whether the rural district postmasters will wear the uniform or not.

A little chap in Grass Lake had a dirty face and his teacher told him to go and wash it. He went away and after a few minutes came back with the lower part of his face tolerably clean, while the upper part was dirty and wet. "Johnny," said the teacher, "why didn't you wash your face?" "I did wash it, mam," said the boy. "You didn't wipe it all over then," said the teacher. "I did wipe it as high as my shirt would go," replied the young boy. Smart boys in Grass Lake, and that boy should have a chromo.

An exchange says that the smoking of cigarettes is destructive to the nerves is acknowledged by the most ardent pufflers of the coffin nails. When I see a bloodless, worn-out fellow blowing the smoke of the poison through his nostrils it makes me think of the degenerate. The superintendent of some electric railways say this about cigarettes: "Under no circumstances will we hire a man who smokes cigarettes. He is as dangerous on the front end of a motor as a man that drinks."

Money is a servant, use it to build up your manhood. Money is power; use it to lift up the weak, to bring comfort to those in distress, to bless those whom it is in your power to help. Keep ever in mind that you are here in the world to develop manhood, and that money is to be used so as to make you a nobler, broader and more generous brotherly man. "Money makes the mare go," so bring in your money and the HERALD will continually grow—in circulation as well as in local matter during the coming century.

The following notice is tacked to a roadside tree near Manchester: "Straid or Swiped—a young hog shote with the left ear krupt and tale gone. Also black spot on the left-hand hip and hole in other ear. Said hog shote disappeared from premises of undercined owner at nite under circumstances pointing to him being a pet and not apt to go off of his own akord. Said hog shote answers to the name of Nellie, and he will eat from the hand and can stand on his hind legs like a dog, and is of affecksunate nature. Any one returning said hog shote or letting me know where he is at, will confer a benefit on a invalid lady whose pet said hog shote was."

A country minister, south of Chelsea, took leave of his congregation in the following pathetic manner: "Brothers and sisters, I have come to say goodbye; I don't think God lov's this church, because none of you ever die; I don't think you love each other, because I never marry any of you; I don't think you love me, because you have not paid my salary. Your donations are moldy fruit and wormy apples, and by their fruits ye shall know them. I am going to a better place. I have been called to be chaplain of a penitentiary, and where I go ye cannot come, but I go to prepare a place for you, and may the Lord have mercy on your souls. Good bye."
