MERRY WEDDING BELLS.

In the World for the Money. A Pretty Coremony at St. Mary's Church Yesterday Morning.

MOKUNE-STAFFAN NUPTIALS

TWO PROMINENT YOUNG CHELSEA PRO-PLE MADE ONE IN THE PRESENCE OF A LARGE CONGREGATION OF THEIR RELATIVES AND FRIENDS.

St. Mary's church was yesterday morning the scene of another of the many pretty weddings that have taken place at different times within its sacred walls. In spite of the lowering weather a congregation of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties, Mr. J. Edward McKune and Miss Catherine M. Staffan, which nearly filled the church, had gathered before 8:30 o'clock, the time set for the ceremony. At that time to the ever beautiful music of Mendelssohn's wedding march, which was charmingly rendered by Miss Mamie Clark, the bridal party headed by Dr. W. A. Conlan, of Detroit, and Mr. George P. Staffan as ushers, marched down the aisle of the by Rev. William Considine and the groom. The bride leaned on the arm of Mr Herbert McKune, who officiated as best man. She was attended by Miss Mabel Gillam as bridesmaid.

Miss Staffan was prettily gowned in dotted silk mull, the waist being made with a yoke, and the skirt with a deep flounce, the whole was trimmed with fine New line Shirt Waists. lace. She carried a bouquet of cream reses. Her hat was a charming creation of lace and roses. The bridesmaid was The Puritan Shoe for Men. dressed in blue, with trimming of black, and carried a large bouquet of pink carnatious. Her large hat was heavily trimmed with flowers.

The solemnly beautiful marriage service New line Men's Summer Hats. Rev. William Considine, and was followed of the church was performed by the pastor, by the nuptial mass. Mr. Louis Burg sang in a masterly manner the "Ave Maria," and the Junior choir sang a bright and pleasing hymn. At the conclusion of the marriage sacrament Rev. Charles O. Reilly, D. D., of Adrian, who has been a litelong friend of Mr. McKune's family, gave an eloquent and stirring address on the sanctity of the marriage vow and the duties it involved on each of the newly wedded pair to perform, coupled with some timely advice as to their future conduct towards each other and the church of their choice. It was a touching scene to a good many to hear the doctor, who is almost blind, deliver his feeling address. After the services were concluded the wedding party which numbered about 30, repaired to the home of the bride's par ents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Staffan, on South Main street, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast'was served.

The wedding presents were numerous, handsome and valuable, and attested to the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. McKune are held by their friends.

They left on the 10:40 train for a brief trip eastward. They were attended to the depot by a number of their young friends who did their best to make the first hour of their wedded life very interesting for them. The quantity of rice that was showered on them should ensure them the choicest blessings that can follow a happy wedded life, They will be at home to their friends after June 1.

Among the guests from abroad were A. Wagner and daughter, of Dearborn, Miss Anna Harty, of Grand Rapids, V. D. Hindelang, of Albion, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Long, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Hodge, of Jackson, Dr. W. A. Conlan, of Detroit, and others.

Big Fire in Ann Arbor.

The large furniture store of Mack & Co, in Ann Arbor, was badly damaged by fire Monday afternoon. The fire originated by spontaneous combustion in a bale of cotton in the upholstering room on the third story, and spread with great rapidity on account of the inflammable nature of some of the goods. The second and third floors were a total wreck, together with the contents, before the fire could be got under control. The stock, worth $40,000, was damaged about $20, 000. The damage to the building is about $10,000.

Co. A, 31st Michigan, will arrive home in Ane Arbor tomorrow.

New overtures for peace have been received by Gen. Otis from Aguinaldo, and confidential advices to the administration in Washington lead to the belief that the end is at hand. The strong positions of MacArthur and Lawton and his complete separation of Aguinaldo from the other insurgents south of Manila has apparently paralyzed the insurgents. Fire at Fort Burwell, Ont., destroyed 27 business places and hotels. Only one business house is left.

LATER.

Adivces from Manila say that Aguinaldo has fled to the province Nueva Ecija, that nothing has been heard of him for over two weeks, and that the insurgent general, Gregorio Pilar, believes he has been deserted by the socalled Filipino government and is anxious to surrender to the Americans. Another dispatch says that the Filipino government has decided to continue the war at all costs until independence s secured.

WITH RETROSPECTIVE VIEW.

Ob, dear is the light of the sun that has In splendor above us in days we have known, When gently around up its glory is shed

When sweet dream-pictures of the hopes that are dead.

The songs that the heart once knew with When care was unknown and the future delight, was bright. Come back with a charm, like melodies

With an echoing voice through the halls of the past.

The ghosts of the flowers that fell with the frost On life's lovely gardens lamented and lost,

Beturn with their beauty, 'mid sorrow and strife, To lighten and brighten the pathway of Fair fame, fickle dame, with her glitter and glare. May fade, like a joy, in the dark of despair: And fortune and friends may forever depart. But love with its dream finds a home in the heart.

There are charms resistless that cling to the mind, and early life and the things left behind. Which brighten the future, for memory

With diamonds of joy that we never forget.

Wherever we wander, wherever we stay, Our thoughts will grow fonder of the days far away:

And though time seems fleeter and the years come fast,

To live will be sweeter for the sake of the past.

Joseph W. Humphries, in Atlanta Constitution.

A return to Point Orote, to get my bearings, would have cost a good hour and a half; so I determined to trust the chart, which was laid out on a scale of three sixty-fourths of an inch to the mile, and make a straight run from divers who had been caught and suffocated in old wrecks flashed through my mind. But, finally, mustering courage enough to crawl inside. I began to investigate. The space evidently had been an afterhold in the galleon, for it was filled with packages done up in hides; they and their contents were now hard as coral rock, but had once been indigo bales, without doubt. A number of them must have been stove through the planking when the galleon struck, for I could almost stand upright without touching the deckbeams overhead.

Cautiously making my way aft, I came to a bulkhead separating the hold from a lazaretto directly beneath the captain's cabin. This I feared would be solid, in order to prevent communication from the forward part of the ship; and so it proved. As it presumably fenced in the strong room, or treasure chamber, there was nothing to do but force an opening through it without delay. (It must be understood that even a diver who has spent years at the business, and has an attendant pumping fresh air down to him, cannot afford to waste an instant of time or undertake anything requiring violent exertion while he is inside of a wreck, under water. The slightest miscalculation, the displacement of either to lose his head or to become entangled beyond the possibility of escape.) I hated to use another cartridge; the chances were even that it might blow the treasure into Father Neptune's subcellar. But the effects of the first explosion appeared to be merely local, there being no indication of radial splits in the coral incrustation; and that decided the question. The sledge had disappeared, so the shorter steel bar had to take its place I descended as soon as the rumbling had ceased; but the water in the hull was still violently agitated, and the current forced me back when I attempted to enter. After this had subsided. I crawled into a place so changed in appearance that it made me feel queer. The great lumps which had once been indigo were hurled in all directions, mostly forward. In some places they were piled even with the deck timbers; toward the after bulkhead they were scooped away to a depth of six feet, and the planking beyond was completely crushed through, leaving a large hole into the lazaretto.

I was exceedingly careful where I Tarofofo. Knowing as I now did the in. The moment had come at last when I had provided myself with a stout bag of cocoa matting, and was raking handfuls of the doubloons into it, when there came a sharp tug at the line fastea; so, dragging the heavy sack, I pulled myself up to the proa. It took our united efforts to get my burden over the gunwale; then Dorotea pointed off to the west-ard, where a gigantic sail was moving swiftly along.

To unscrew the helmet clamps and take it off was but the work of a few seconds; then I grabbed the glass and focused it upon the other craft. It was the padre's big proa, as I had suspeeted-his corpulent figure near the helmsman was unmistakable-but so far away as to be all but hull down; and, making to the s'uth'ard as she was, it was highly improbable that he had seen our mast. For a good half hour I watched the proa, not daring to raise our own sail lest it should be seen; then Sebastiano put about to some heavy object, may cause him This was our opportunity, so we were the west'ard and almost disappeared. quickly off in the opposite direction. calculated that by making 40 miles due east we should have the wind about right for a straight reach into Tarofofo, and could probably get there by six o'clock. It was actually a little before that when I concealed the gold and other articles in the fissure, so that, catching enough sea bass on the way to account for our long sail, we arrived at Agana by eight. In all my experience with sailing craft, extendas an explosive agent. On account of their strength and lightness they are practically indestructible, and their enormous sail area makes them the fastest things upon salt water. That my statement of having made 26 statute miles an hour with one, before the wind, is no exaggeration, anyone who has ever sailed in one will admit.

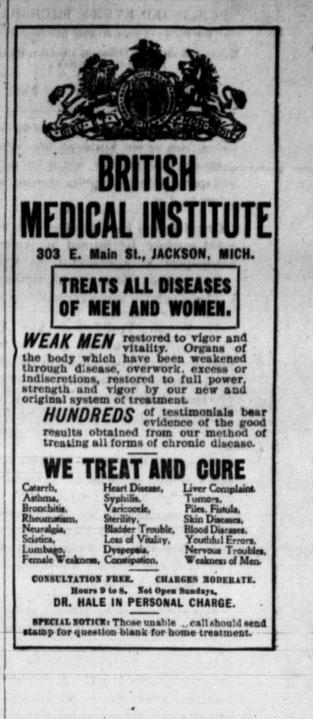

Sebastiano returned about nine o'clock, having left the big proa at Apra, and, while satisfying his voracious appetite, told us quite frankly that he had spent the day looking for stepped, but lost no time in crawling Col. de Garma's benefit, the conversations which had induced Capt. Halstead to sound for the shoal, the padre asked if I could remember the position given upon the Imray chart. When I repeated it, he said that an older Spanish chart which he had seen in Manila located the reef at least 20 miles farther west; that he had supposed at the time, and, in fact, until Halstead explained its nature, it was really a small islet which showed above water, and the most southerly one of the archipelago. This statement didn't exactly tally with the questions he had asked on the steamer. when looking at Halstead's chart, but I could hardly repress a grin of satisfaction, nevertheless. If my fat friend pinned his faith upon this last theory it would keep him at least 30 miles away from me whenever he pursued his investigations. The fact, however, that he intended making a systematic search for the shoal complicated matters a good deal. He was likely to overhaul me sooner or later and find that I was actually removing the treasure. He might have spies all over the island, for all I knew, and some day my visits to Port Tarofofo might be reported to him. but the explosion had thrown them all Then, again, if I succeeded in getting sure, it was sure to be spirited away by Sebastiano or the natives if they were successful in tracking me; and, cudgel my wits as I might, there fissure was. seemed no way in which I could secrete With a sense of unreality numbing it until the steamer returned without again before daybreak; so, running up my brain, I stooped and took some of exciting suspicion-suspicion which the east coast to a point where the the objects in my hand. In view of this fact, my friend with the diseased wishbong seemed particularly fitted for the purpose, if I could only spirit him away. Sebastiano had partaken heartily of his late supper that evening, and, between them, the padres had punished a vast quantity of wine. Aside from this, they were thoroughly tired out by their day upon the water, and in all probability would sleep like logs. So, an hour or so after they had retired, I cautiously slipped into the church through the little postern, as I had done before.

Not a soul appeared to be stirring. The fact of the door being unlocked was suspicious-I had expected to pick it with a piece of wire-but, as there was no time for investigation, I stole into the cloisters and through the passage which led to the chamber containing the horrible images. The figure I was after had been well put together, and was heavier than it should have been, besides; but, though the ghastly thing gave me cold shivers, I pulled it from the fastenings with little cere-LIODY.

Holding the dummy upright before me, I quietly returned, and was about to open the postern, when the door suddenly swung wide, revealing a burly form in the moonlight outside. It was Sebastiano; but, fortunately for me, his head was not as clear as usual. Being an inveterate smoker, his nerves often went back upon him; and no mortal digestion could stand the abuse he had given his that evening without protesting. Altogether, he was in a bad way. Nothing but an object of vital importance could have forced him to venture upon a nocturnal prowl in such a condition. The moonlight must have given that wax figure an aspect of blood-curdling horror, for, with a gasp of surprise and mortal terror, the padre turned and ran across the little square, around the tribunal, through the plaza, then over the bridge to the beach. I had seen my advantage in an instant, and, holding the figure so that exact position of the reef, it was a simple matter to figure the distance exactly-40 miles, south-southwest quarter west-and steer accordingly.

My calculations proved correct, the lead touching bottom at about half-past eleven. With my former dangerous experience in mind, I determined to locate the wreck, if possible, before going down, and steered directly along the precipitous face of the shoal with a firm grip on the sounding-line, which told the instant that we edged off over deep water. Proceeding in this way, the lead was, pretty sure to strike the wreck and drag when we came to it; but, as an extra precaution, I lowered away the rock anchor and let it hang six feet under water. This experiment was an entire success, for in a few moments it caught so sharply against the perpendicular side of the hulk as almost to snap its line; had there been more than a rag of the sail up, it would have done so.

As we needed all the time there was, I told Dorotea to turn around and gaze upon the wonders of the vasty deep while I got into that diving suit. It was just as well, however, that curiosity got the better of her before I put on the helmet, or my appearance might have scared her into a fit. The rig certainly made an uncouth monster of me. but it didn't frighten her half so much as did the idea of my remaining under water in it. She clung to me for several moments, letting me kiss her as much as I pleased, before I could bottle myself up. Her nervousness was contagious; but I impressed upon her mind the necessity of keeping a sharp lookout for other proas, and showed her how to signal with the line if it should be necessary.

The descent was accompanied by the same mecomfortable sensation that had been a feature of my former experience; but, regaining confidence a little more quickly I carefully examined the wreck with the electric lantern. dreaded to use dynamite, lest it might dislodge the stern and send it crashing down to unfathomable depths; but there was no choice in the matter. It would have taken all the afternoon to eut through the coral and timbers. Picking up a goodsized lump of coral, I threw it with all. my might and struck him fairly between the shoulders. That settled it; he ran as if the devil were after him, not daring to look round.

Since arriving at Agana, 1 had become acquainted with the islander Miguel, who had presented the church with his effigy in wax after recovering from his strange and terrible disease, well enough to remember the proa in which he always sailed. This lay not far from my own; and it seemed eminently fitting that the owner's ghost should put to sea in it. Lest anyone should have nerve enough to watch the proceedings, I propped the figure in the stern, where, concealing me, it would show distinctly, then sailed around the island to Tarofofo as fast as the craft would travel. Upon reaching the cove, I secured Br'er Miguel among the rocks on Point Paicpoue in such a way that, while invisible from the outside, no one could enter the bay without seeing him. Considering the possibility of discovery by some one with sufficient education and courage to investigate the thing, it seemed risky to put it on the point where my Memorial Day Services.

The beautiful springtime, never more welcome than this year, brings with its advent our sacred Memorial Day, May 30. The day set apart for paying special respect to the memory of our Nation's heroes, who, sleeping now in eternal rest, were once clothed in the uniform of their country's soldiery, doing such service as was commanded of them.

Since last we observed Memorial Day our country has passed from a war with a foreign power to a condition of peace. We are yet compelled to keep our brave soldiery in line of readiness to battle with insurgents in our new possessions, but as a nation we feel that the real borrors of war are at an end.

New made graves mark the resting spot of many a hero who responded to the call of his country in our last war; the deep sea covers the form of many a brave blue coat of our navy. Let it be our special desire to see that the memory of these brave boys be kept fresh. Let all citizens lay aside their daily work on Memorial Day and see that the day be not given to sports and games, but rather treated as would be the Sabbath day, accompanied with that desire for a pleasant, restful season given to a talk of our nation's interests. Chelsea will not be unmindful of those who responded to their country's call when their services were needed and who so well, and will observe the season by exercises fitted to it.

North Lake.

Very little news in this part of the country now.

All the farmers are very busy getting ready for corn.

Cover your tomato plants, Jack Frost is lounging around.

The cold snap is putting corn planting back so that it and bean planting will rub together.

Strawberries now promise to be an aver age crop. If no unseen thing comes to hinder they will be fine.

Dr. English, of Ann Arbor, is at the Grove House for a short rest. The family will arrive later if at all this season.

There is room for every man to stand on his own head, but no room to stand on another man's head without permission from the man himself.

There is a big dog fish alive in North Lake with a spear tine in the back of his head to stop him swallowing other fish. They all ought to be muzzled in some way as they are so destructive to other fish.

Many of the bearing peach trees around North Lake are dead beyond hope of resuscitating, and all that remains to do is to pull them out and try again with one that wintered farther south or in a cellar.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. English, of Sylvan, were at the festival here Friday evening last. Mr. English gave happy words of encouragement and some good and wholsome advice to young grangers.

The Grange literary and maple syrup festival on Friday night last was very well attended, and in most ways was a decided success. The literary part was mirthful, instructive and entertaining. The sweet that followed was dealt out by the lump, yard and dish. Then the young people gathered in groups and played the old time games which served to take the remnant of sweet that had lodged on the young men's mustaches. It was all done neatly, sweetly and completely, while on their cheeks was left little cute red and pink kisses. It took some time to stir the young fellows up, but when started they went in as if bound to be in at the death. The old were saddened by thoughts of the days of yore, that this to them would return nevermore

Final examinations for eighth grade or 'common school diplomas" are announced by School Commissioner Lister to take place Saturday, May 27, at the following places: Ann Arbor, commissioner's office; Dexter high school, Chelsea high school, Manchester high school, Saline high school, Ypsilanti high school, Salem, district No. 3, Freedom, district No 8, and Mooreville high school.

This is the way the Dexter Leader puts it: "In one of our churches last Sunday morning, by actual count, 39 ladies bowed their heads in prayer and on each bowed head hung a corpse. Yes, the corpse of a murdered bird. How much of life, joy, happiness and song went out with the murder of these innocent little songsters of God's own creation." And anyone attending church in Chelsea could have duplicated the above.

A peculiar case has turned up in the probate court in connection with the estate of the late William Martin, jr When his father died he left William $500 and $500 to his daughter. William gave his mother a life use of the $500 and subsequently died after having been married about six weeks. Somebody told her that she would have to pay his funeral expenses out of this money. She did so and has since been informed that she need not have done so. She has now filed a petition for an administration of his estate so that she may file a claim against it for the funeral exenses.

Messages Are Sent Without Their Aid in the Laboratory of the University of Michigan.

EXPERIMENT WAS HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

The Visit of the State Legislature Was the Stimulus for the Undertaking-Encouraged to Continue the Work-Where Credit for Working Out the Details Belongs.

[Special Correspondence.] Ann Arbor, Mich., May 10 .- "It was the visit of the state legislature in the early part of April," said Dr. Augustus Trowbridge, of the physics department of the University of Michigan, when asked by the writer what was the beginning of the experiments in wireless telegraphy. "To show the legislators the character of work that can be and is done at the university, Prof. Carhart and myself arranged apparatus in the laboratory and sent messages across the room without wires. These experiments, which were conducted in the presence of the legislators, were so successful that we were encouraged to continue 'the work on a larger scale.

Where Credit Belongs.

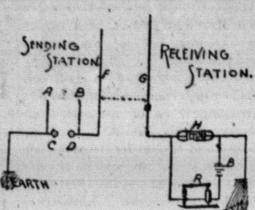

"No; neither the idea nor the methods of space telegraphy is original with us. Electro-magnetic waves have been duced resistance then allows a larger known since the experiments of the late Prof. Herty in 1888. But it is to Sig. Marconi, a young Italian now in London, that most of the credit for working out the details of wireless telegraphy belong. He has converted a laboratory experiment into a demonstration conducted on a commercial scale and with all the regularity which is absolutely essential to a public utility. He has a company organized to push the experiments and make wireless telegraphy a commercial success. We leave to him the matter of working out the details. It is bread and butter to him."

upon the distance which the message is to be sent. A wire 20 feet high will send a message a mile, and one 40 feet high four miles, one 80 feet high 16 miles. When the primary circuit of the induction coil is closed by a telegraph key an oscillatory discharge passes between the two balls. This causes an electrical charge to surge up and down the vertical conductor, which now becomes the source of electro-magnetic radiations in the ether. They are propagated in all directions in the same manner as light and with the same speed. When they encounter the vertical conductor (g) at the receiving station they give rise to electrical surgings in it. These surgings are detected by means of a coherer (h), which at the same time is made part of a local indicate that measles and pleuritis incircuit, containing a battery (b) and a relay (r). The relay may be so adjusted that its armature will not be drawn down by the very small current traversing the coherer till the electrical surging, due to an incoming ether wave, causes its particles to cohere. Its recurrent from the local battery to pass through the relay sufficient to operate its armature. The relay in turn closes another local circuit by which a bell may be rung, a tapper operated, an electric lamp lighted, a motor started, or an ordinary Morse recording instrument may be worked, and the dots and the dashes recorded on a strip of paper. The sensitiveness of the coherer, however, is the most remarkable fact yet brought out by the experiments."

Get the Right Message.

In answer to the question: "How do you know that the waves that the coherer detects come from your sending station? In other words, how do you know that you get the message that was sent to you, and not some other?" Dr. Trowbridge said:

"We know that we get the right message because we are the only persons in this part of the country working on the subject of wireless telegraphy. If there were others experimenting in this vicinity we would get their messages as well as our own, and they would get ours. The ether waves started by the electrical surgings in the vertical wire go in all directions in equal numbers and with equal speed, and influence vertical wires wherever they may find them. The solving of the problem of wireless telegraphy is to discover or devise methods of sending these waves in certain definite directions. The vertical conductor has its 'sphere of influence,' which is unfortunately too literally spherical. Increasing the height of the vertical wire not only increases this sphere of influence in proportion to the square of the height, but increases in a still greater degree its liability to be affected by vagrant waves from other sending stations. But these difficulties may yet be overcome."

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The Crop Outlook,

The weekly crop report for Michigan is as follows:

The April weather was very hard on wheat, lowering its condition ten per cent. from that of April 1, the condition in the state being now but 63 per cent. Most of the grain which suffered from the severe cold of February was totally destroyed last month, and 13 per cent. of that sowed last fall will be plowed under. Apples are practically uninjured and will yield well, while but little injury has been done pears, plums and cherries. Strawberries that were mulched are in good condition, but the crop of blackberries and raspberries will be greatly shortened.

An Awful Tragedy.

Joseph Harvey, aged 20, killed his wife, Robert Pierson, his uncle, and his grandmother at Howard City, and mortally wounded his baby and his fatherin-law. John Logenslayor, and finally shot hin, self, inflicting a serious wound. No motive was known for the wholesale butchery. Harvey was employed in a furniture factory, was well liked, and was married a year ago to the wife he murdered.

Health in Michigan.

Reports to the state board of health from 38 observers in various portions of the state for the week ended May 6 creased and consumption decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 151 places, measles at 68, typhoid fever at 20, searlet fever at 35, diphtheria at 11 and whooping cough at 11 places.

His First Veto.

Gov. Pingree took advantage of his veto power for the first time at this session of the legislature when he withheld McCallum's bill providing for the vacating of the townships of Au Train and Rock River, Alger county, and attaching them to the townships of Munising and Onada respectively.

Found Dead.

The dead body of Mrs. James Marks, the girl wife of James Marks, a barber, was found in Black river, near O'Neill's icehoùses in Port Huron, by some men who were at work there. It was difficult to tell whether the girl committed suicide or not, but there were rumors of foul play.

Midget Marries a Mammoth.

Charles Howard and Miss Mabel Grace Hamilton were married at Prescott by Justice John R. McDonald. The groom, who is 34 years old, is the smallest man in the state, weighing only 85 pounds; the bride, aged 30 years, tips the scales at 384 pounds.

MONEY FOR SCHOOLS.

The State Superintendent Makes the Semiannual Apportionment to the Various Counties in Michigan.

368.00

The twenty-eighth semi-annual apportionment of the primary school fund has been made by the superintendent of public instruction. The amount of money apportioned is $350,935.50, and the rate per capita 50 cents. The following table shows the number of children of school age included in the apportionment and the amount apportioned to each county in the state:

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE

Daily Summary of the Work Done by the Lawmakers in the Senate and House.

Lansing, Mich., May 10.-In the senate yesterday a graduated income tax bill that applies to the income of all corporations organized in Michigan was passed with organized in alteringan was passed with one dissenting vote. The rate provided is one-fourth of one per cent. on incomes from $1,000 to $2,500; one-half of one per cent. on incomes between $2,500 and $5,00; one per cent. on all in excess of $5,000. incomes of corporations were included so as to reach nonresident stockholders.....The house passed a bill making it a felony for a person to deal in stocks, grain or other commodity unless he is prepared to actually receive and deliver the commodit The' committee on revision of the laws favorably reported a bill providing for the application of the Indiana system of assessing all property, except that of rail-road, telegraph, telephone and express companies. This applies to all other corporate property. Two assessors, to be appointed by the governor, together with the auditor-general, are to constitute the state board.

Lansing, Mich., May 11.-The senate yesterday passed by a bare majority the Sayre anti-trust bill. It prevents trusts and monopolies of capital, skill or arts from cr ating or carrying out restrictions in trade or commerce, from limiting or reducing production or increase, from reducing the price of merchandise or any commodit or from fixing any standard or figure whereby the price to the public consumer of any article or commodity of merchandise shall be in any manner controlled or established. In addition to criminal and civil penalties provided, any person injured in his business by a trust may sue and recover twofold the damages sustained. Lansing, Mich., May 12 .- In the senate yesterday the Wagar bill for taxing earnings of railroads, which is intended to in a measure take the place of the Pingree-Atkinson railway taxation act, declared unconstitutional by the supreme court was passed, and favorable report made on bills providing for the incorporation of employment insurance companies and appropriating $400,000 for a beet-sugar boun-ty fund. The latter bill provides that any sum earned in excess of the amount named shall be paid out of the general fund, thus placing no limit on the appropriation A resolution was adopted providing that the business of this session end May X In the house a bill was passed making it a misdemeanor for any person not a member of the order to wear the G. A.R. button, and passed to third reading a bill taxing the stock of all corporations. Aneffort to consider a final adjournment resolution failed. Messages Across the Campus. "But, doctor, on how extensive a scale are the experiments which you are conducting being carried on?"

"So far we have succeeded in sending messages across the campus, between the physical laboratory and the gymnasium building, and between the laboratory and University hall. In the first case, although the chemical building was between the two stations, the messages were correctly received, and in the second they were transmitted with perfect ease."

The distance between the laboratory and gymnasium is about one-fifth of a mile, and from the laboratory to University hall somewhat less. Continuing, he said:

Seeking New Light.

"At present the experiments are at a standstill. We are waiting for some new apparatus. In the meantime I am working on the theoretical side of the problem, and am in hopes that I will be able to obtain new light that will help explain some of the things not clearly understood. As soon as the new apparatus is ready we shall continue the experiments on a larger scale. Possibly we will arrange to send messages between the laboratory and Ypsilanti. This, I believe, we can do without difficultý."

"And how do you send these messages? How do you know they are going where you want them to? What kind of apparatus do you use?"

An Illustration.

"Well, I will illustrate with a diagram. At the sending station the wires (a and b) come from a secondary of an induction coil capable of giving a spark eight or ten inches, long between two balls (c and d), which are about an inch In diameter. One ball (c) is connected ago. It was a great place for old-time with the earth and the other (d) with dances, and was known to every old in · vertical wire, whose height depends | habitant for 50 miles around

Prof. Carhart, head of the physics deartment, said, in speaking of space telegraphy:

"In England Marconi has placed a lightship in the Goodwins in instant communication with the South Foreands lighthouse, 12 miles distant. A touch on a key on board the lightship rings a bell in a room at the South Forelands. An attendant sleeps near this bell, and he in turn can call up the Ramsgate lifeboat and dispatch it on any needed service to save life. Marconi has for weeks sent hundreds of messages without a break.

Of Great Value.

"With sending apparatus in lighthouses, ships provided with receivers may be warned in thick weather of their near approach to dangerous coasts. Further, such ether waves sent out from ships at sea may serve to warn other vessels at night and in a fog of dangerous proximity. In such cases a beam of ether waves may be sent by a metal parabolic mirror in any direction in a manner exactly like the beam of ether waves from a searchlight. Additional uses in war immediately suggest themselves."

Chief Poke's Monument.

The old Poke monument near Marcellus is a thing of the past. The old stone around which the aboriginal had for ages gathered for his powwows and to smoke the pipe of peace, has, like the red man himself, been overcome by the march of civilization. The stone was located on the Karl Buckhold farm. It took its name from old Chief Poke, and was the meeting place of the tribes occupying this section. The stone was 12 feet high and 45 feet in circumference.

Gen. James McNulty has purchased about 2,000 acres of land, a portion of which comprises some of the choicest hardwood timbered lands in the vicinity of Kalkaska. The balance of the McNulty purchase is composed largely of swamp land and contains the finest duck hunting and fishing grounds in the state. The land is situated at the head of Round lake. The general will spend a large sum of money on the lands, which will be devoted to private fishing and hunting.

Sugar Beet Growing.

About 100 acres of sugar beets will be raised this season on the sandy land adjacent to Muskegon for the Holland Beet Sugar company. Next year this will probably be increased to 500 or 600 acres, and this amount will insure a sugar factory for Muskegon. It is said this sandy soil produces the finest sugar beets both in size and percentage of sugar.

Spreading Out.

TheCentral Telephone company, with headquarters at Kalamazoo, will extend its system to Jackson to connect with the New State company. Further extensions will be made from Buchanan to Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, and from Buchanan to South Bend, also south to connect with the Ohio & Indiana independent telephone interests.

His Story Was Trac.

The little daughter of E. E. Howard, an ex-union soldier, has been admitted to the children's home at Grand Rapids through the influence of Judge of Probate Lane. Last February, Howard wheeled the little girl in a cab from Athens. It was thought to be a tramp's dodge to get sympathy and support, but his story proved to be true.

Fine Mirage Seen.

A fine mirage was visible in South Haven for more than half an hour the other evening. It was of a steamer far out in the lake. There were two images, one straight, the other inverted. A peculiar feature of this mirage was the lower image was erect whilst the upper was inverted, which is just the veverse to the ordinary.

Cost Him Dear.

Charles H. Mann, a paroled convict, was returned to Jackson prison from Hastings, having broken the terms of his parole. Mann was sent from Hastings on a ten years' sentence and two years ago was paroled. He stole some wine the other day, and will have to semain in prison 21/2 years.

Joseph Harvey, Who Murdered Three Persons at Howard City, Mich., Is Not Insane.

Howard City, Mich., May 13 .- Joseph Harvey, murderer of his grandmother, uncle and wife, who also fatally wounded his father-in-law and tried to commit suicide, was taken to the county jailat Stanton after being arraigned beforea justice of the peace. He waived examination and was held for trial. The young man slept soundly all night, and when questioned by weeping relatives he expressed no emotion. over his atrocious crimes. He has given no eridences whatever of insanity, saying only that Pierson, his uncle, abused him and quarreled with him because he had been driving Pierson's horse in the rain. He still insists that his dead uncle killed his grandmother and that he then killed his uncle out of revenge. He says he is sorry that he killed his wife, but did it because he intended to kill himself and did not want her to live after he was gone.

Aside from having a fiery temper, Harvey was not known to have any vicious traits.

Aged Lady Murdered.

Detroit, Mich., May 16 .- A Tribune special from Hastings, Mich., says: Mrs. Sarah Newberry, of Yankee Springs Township, aged 75 years, was assaulted Sunday evening and killed. She lived alone in a little log hut ten miles from the city. The disordered condition of the hut shows that she made a, desperate struggle before she was assaulted. . Robbery was evidently not the motive, as what little money she possessed was found in the pocket of a dress in the room where her body was discovered. A half-witted youth named Charles P. Smith has been placed under arrest. Several damaging circumstances seem to connect him with the crime. He tells conflicting stories.

Fire in Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 16.-Fire broke out in the Grand Rapids veneer works at ten o'clock Monday night, and an hour later the plant had been completely destroyed. It was the largest institution of the kind in the country and contained a large amount of expensive machinery, which cannot be duplicated here. The loss is estimated at $80,000 to $100,000. It is insured for $40,000 or $45,000. Over 200 men were employed and have been working overtime for the past six weeks.

Gen. Gomez Withdraws Aid in Paying the Cubans.

Forced to This Step by Strong Opposition of Other Leaders-Rumor That Gen. Brooke Has Yielded on the Arms Question.

Havana, May 16 .- Gen. Maximo Gomezinformed Gov. Gen. Brooke Monday that he must withdraw from the plan for distributing the $3,000,000 appropriated to the payment of the Cuban troops to the extent that he will not name other commissioners to replace those originally named by him, who have refused to serve.

Gen. Gomez added that he had arrived at this decision with great reluctance and with the most friendly feelings toward Gen. Brooke personally and officially, but he felt he could no longer represent the Cuban army because a cabal, composed of many of the subordinate commanders, existed to oppose and, if possible, defeat the plans for partitioning the money.

Gen. Brooke expressed sympathy with Gen. Gomez and said he regretted the position he had taken; but, the American commander added, if his

Gov. Gen. Brooke is to go ahead with a new plan, Gomez remaining in an attitude of friendly inactivity. Gen. Brooke will issue an order for Cuban privates and noncommissioned officers to meet at specified places on specified. dates to receive payment. They are to be accompanied by their company officers, for the purpose of identification. Both Gen. Gomez and the governor general feel that the privates ought not to lose their share in the American gratuity merely because the schemes of certain high officers in the Cuban army have interposed obstacles. The belief among the Americans is that the company officers will assist in this way. Gen. Brooke's order will be disseminated through the newspapers, placarded in the post offices and given the widest circulation practicable.

Monday afternoon Gen. Gomez wrote a history of his relation to the army payment question. It includes the correspondence that has passed between himself and the governor general, and it is intended to make his position clear trenches, from which the Filipinos to the public, and to contrast his con- were firing, killing two captains and duct favorably with that of the other three lieutenants and wounding 27 of Cuban leaders. REJECTS PEACE TERMS.

Filipino Junta Says Aguinaldo Declares He Will Continue the War.

London, May 16 .- The Filipino junta here has received the following message from Aguinaldo, cabled from Hong-Kong under date of May 12:

"The Filipino government, in accordance with the general feeling of the country, has decided to continue the war at all costs until independence is secured.

"The Filipinos energetically refuse the American peace overtures, based on restricted autonomy coupled with promises of subsequent self-government.

"The Filipinos demand a strict fulfillment of the articles of the American constitution and treaties contracted by the American representatives when imploring a Filipino alliance in combating the Spaniards.

All the Filipino generals support Aguinaldo. Gen. Luna's reported overtures for. peace are untrue. Our army is near Manila, simultaneously attacking the whole American line.

"The heat and rains are causing many casualties in the American army. All the hospitals are crowded with sick and wounded. Four hundred of the Cincinnati regiment have been imprisoned by Gen. Otis for insubordination in refusing to fight. The regular troops quartered in Manila and other towns are quiet. The volunteers are abused and are always at the front, with scanty rations.

"The discontent between the Americans and Europeans is general."

New York, May 16 .- A dispatch to the Herald from San Miguel, via Manila, says: It is said that Aguinaldo decision was unchangeable he would has fled into the province of Nueva proceed to deal with the question Ecija. On April 29 he retreated by carriage from Balinag through San Isidro, and nothing has been heard from him in the two weeks since. The 5,000 Spanish prisoners who are reported to be held by the insurgents have been carried into a northern province and scattered among small garrisons. They are beyond American succor this season unless a Filipino surrender takes place within three weeks. Five American prisoners were carried through this town last week. Their names are unknown.

Manila, May 16 .- The New York Journal correspondent cables: Gen. Lawton's brigade advanced northward Monday morning and captured Ildefonso without resistance. After posting a guard at the town Gen. Lawton pushed on to San Miguel. The scouts in advance of Gen. Lawton's column were surprised as they approached the city, by a fire opened upon them at a range of about 500 yards. Chief of Scouts Young and two privates were seriously wounded. The Minnesota regiment reenforced the scouts and charged the the enemy. The Filipinos retreated before the charging Americans, and Gen. Lawton occupied the city. In San much credence to the effect that Gen. Miguel were found 600 insurgents. At the Front with Lawton's Column, San Miguel, May 14, via Manila, May 16. -The insurgent Gen. President McKinley Decides to Be Present at the Return of the Volunteers.

Hot Springs, Va., May 16 .- It is the intention of President McKinley to be in the western states at the time of the return of the volunteers who have done heroic service in the Philippines. It is expected that the necessity for the retention of volunteers in the island of Luzon will not exist much longer, and when the volunteers reach their native states for muster out Mr. McKinley hopes to be there to greet and honor them. If the trip to the west, already planned, should not occur when the volunteers are returning another journey will be made to carry out this purpose. This action on the part of Mr. McKinley is forecasted in a dispatch sent to Senator Davis, of Minnesota, Monday by Representative Loren Fletcher, of that state. This dispatch savs:

President McKinley has promised, if pos-sible, to make a visit to Minneapolis and St. Paul this summer or fall, in connection with a western trip.

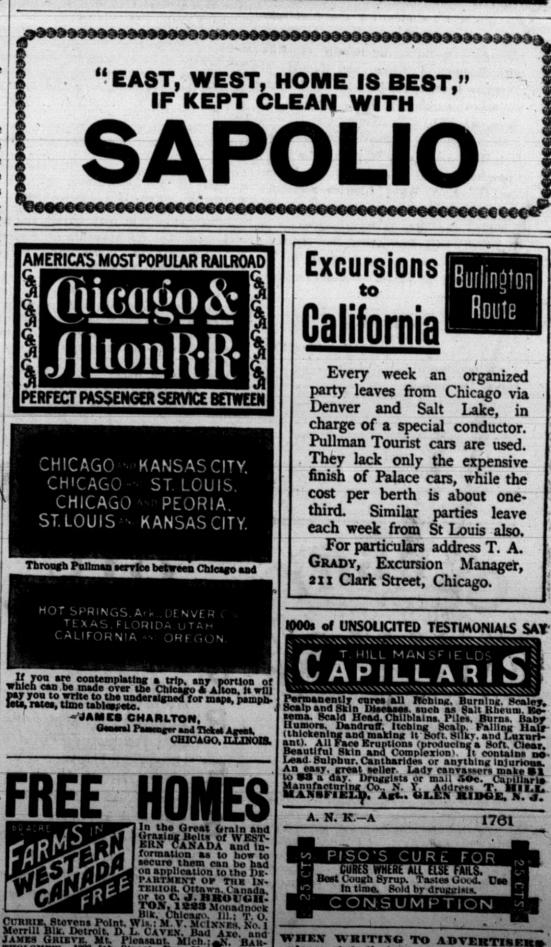

Mr. Fletcher came here to extend an invitation to visit St. Paul and Minneapolis, and the foregoing telegram shows the result of his visit.

The war department on Monday forwarded here advices from Gen. Otis stating that there now remain in the Philippines about 2,000 Spanish soldiers who must be returned to their homes by the United States in accordance with the terms of the treaty of peace. Information also was received of the situation in Cuba. Gen. Gomez, it is said here, is considered insincere in his dealings, and nothing unfavorable or disconcerting was announced.

Big Mills Change Hands.

St. Paul, Minn., May 16 .- A West Superior, Wis., special to the Pioneer Press says: The United States Flour company assumed charge of six flouring mills in this city Monday, the filing of the deeds transferring the property being the final step towards putting the trust in control. The properties, which were a few days ago transferred from the mill companies to Thomas McIntyre, were transferred by McIntyre to the United States company for a consideration aggregating $1,280,000.
