CAN'T SETTLE IT.

Dexter is Unable to Locate Its Government Cannon.

Ann Arbor Argus: The G. A. R. post, of Dexter, has been unable to locate the location of the cannon received from the general government and for which the citizens of the village raised $90 for a pedestal. There seems to be two factions in the post neither one of which is disposed to give in to the other. One wants the monument erected on the village park and the other at the cemetery. The monument would undoubtedly have been erected on the village park had the council allowed the cannon to come to the end of the point, so that if a person stepped on the walk he would run against it. But the council wanted the monument set back and trouble arose. It would have been dedicated last Fourth of July had it not been for an inability to settle the location. It was to have been settled last time for Memorial day this year, but that date has passed and Dexter is yet without its cannon. May the matter be straightened out during the coming month. The cannon is a siege gun accompanied by 12 balls.

Pleasant Occasion.

Chelsea's oldest established literary society, at present in existence, was this year reorganized as a Bay View Reading Circle of thirty-five members. The year passed very pleasantly and on the evening of June 5, the annual closing reception occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Holmes. To those who had met there before, this fact fully guaranteed the pleasure and general success of the evening. Rain came down in large showers at intervals during the evening, generously interspersed with thunder and lightning, giving to the weather a fine layer cake effect suitable to the occasion. The people also came in layers to correspond to the weather. When all were assembled order was called by the president and the company were presented with the following "Rose Program":

Quartette—"Welcome," Mesdames Congdon, Keenan, Cummings, Miss Nickerson

"There is more than one knows To the leaves of my rose."

Mrs. D. B. Taylor

Stringed Quartette—Selected, Mrs. Seper, Messrs. Gifford, Holmes, Palmer

"The Rose," Mrs. C. Martin

"The Token of the Rose," Mrs. G. W. Palmer

Vocal Solo—"The Mission of a Rose," Miss Maggie Nickerson

The Rose in History and Legend, Mrs. R. S. Armstrong

Piano Solo—"Feast of Roses," Mrs. E. Keenan

"Samantha Trying the Rose Act," Miss Nellie Hall

Quartette—"The Lonely Rose," Mesdames Congdon, Keenan, Cummings, Miss Nickerson

Beginning with the "Welcome" and ending with the last quartette every number was fine and well rendered. Through the kindness of Mrs. Seper and three of her young gentlemen pupils the "Stringed Quartette" furnished a pleasant addition to the music which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Refreshments were served after the program. The decorations for the occasion were all of roses which very fittingly emphasized the theme of the program. At a rather late hour the company "rose" to depart with the general impression that a very pleasant and sociable time had been enjoyed.

A Remarkable Case.

Ann Arbor Argus: Albert West, of Chelsea, has been in the Homeopathic hospital for almost two years. Hearing of his case an Argus reporter called at the hospital this morning to learn more about it. Dr. S. Porter Tuttle, the house surgeon, was most obliging and gave a history of the case which is one of great interest. Mr. West is a young man about 27 years old and when he entered the hospital two years ago was found to be suffering with tubercular abscess of the spine and was in a serious condition. In order to reach the seat of the disease, cavities were made in the back, two on either side. These were so large that the hand was easily inserted. Parts of three ribs were removed and several pieces of the vertebra were taken out. As high as 15 yards of iodoform gauze, three inches wide were inserted in one of these cavities at a time. At times the patient would be so weak that he could scarcely move his head or hand, but would lie and gasp for breath. At times he was not expected to live another day. This gauze is not considered an antiseptic but germs will not grow in its presence. At different times incisions have been made to the total number of perhaps 40 or 50. Two of the large cavities are now closed and the other two are in a state of healing and are greatly reduced in size. For some time the patient has been wearing a plaster cast. He wears one of these for from three to five weeks and has worn in all about 15 of them. Hoies are made in the back through which the cavities in the back can be dressed. Mr. West has so far progressed that he can be about the room. The plaster cast aids him in getting about. The physicians have feared pulmonary tuberculosis but it has not appeared, the lungs being sound. When the disease attacks the lungs there is no known remedy, except that in the earliest stages it may be arrested. The physicians expect Mr. West to recover from the trouble and think, if he continues to improve at the rate he is now doing, he will be out of the hospital in a month or six weeks. Dr. Oscar LeSeure is the surgeon in charge of the case.

Difficult Operation.

A very rare and most difficult operation was performed at the University hospital Thursday, by Dr. Nanerode, assisted by Drs. Darling and Spitzley.

The patient, Mrs. Bruce, of Dundee, was brought here for treatment. She was suffering from a cancer of the stomach. After a thorough diagnosis, the medical authorities came to the conclusion that the only possible chance for the prolongation of her life was a repetition of the famous case—the entire removal of the stomach.

The only authentic case of total extirpation of the stomach in a human being is given in the New York Medical Record, December 25, 1897. The operation was performed by Dr. Charles Schlatte, of the Zurich, Switzerland, on September 6, 1887, but the patient only lived a year. In this case a slit had been made at the esophagus, or opening into the stomach, and another at the duodenum, or the commencement of the first of the small intestines, and the stomach removed.

When the surgeons in the present case commenced the operations it was thought that the above famous operation would have to be duplicated, but upon making an opening into the abdomen it was seen that really only the lower half (the half nearest the small intestines) was affected by the cancer. A slit was made at the beginning of the small intestine, which severed the stomach from it. The half of the stomach affected was then cut off and all of the large opening thus made was sewed together except a place large enough for the small intestines to be joined. This small intestine was brought over and sewed to the opening left. Then the abdomen was sewed up again, and to-day the patient is resting very easy from the effects of the operation.

As was stated above, the cases of this kind are extremely rare, and it takes the most skillful "knife" to perform the difficult operation. A more detailed account of the case was asked for from Dr. Nanerode but he absolutely refused to talk except to give out the bare statement that the operation was performed. He gave as his reason for his silence—"Medical ethics."—U. of M. Daily.

Hamlet's Bowl of Gruel.

George Melville, an old English actor, was fond of telling a funny story at his own expense. He was acting Hamlet in Bristol. It was the actor's rule to take a bowl of gruel in the course of the evening, and his landlady sent over the usual refreshment from the lodgings in Queen square. She happened to have a "new" servant girl, who was explicitly directed to get to the stage door by the entrance from Bank street and then carry the gruel into the greenroom. She arrived at a moment when Mr. Melville was "on." Being unused to the ways of the theater, she asked a man at the wings where Mr. Melville was.

"There," said the super, pointing to the stage. The actor was in the middle of the soliloquy, "To be or not to be," when the girl advanced toward him, bearing the bowl, and said, "If you please, Mr. Melville, sir, here is your gruel."

A Fortune in Cement.

An interesting story is told about a Kansas cement mill. For years near Mulvane there used to be a large tract of "smoking prairie." It was good grazing ground, but during and after rain it smoked, and no one knew the cause until a stranger quietly bought the tract one day and announced that he had a fortune. The cement lies on the surface and in great quantities, and is worth $10 a barrel.—New York Tribune.

A Shipwreck.

Muggins, gazing intently at a dead dog, in a resigned tone at last said: "Here is another shipwreck." "Shipwreck! Where?" blurted out Juggins.

"Where, my dear friend?" quoted M.—"There is a bark lost forever." Juggins growled and passed on.—London Fun.

The largest price ever asked and paid for a single pearl was $550,000, which was the value of the great Tavernier pearl. It is the largest and most perfect gem of its kind known. It is exactly two inches in length and oval shaped.

An English Joke.

Mother—Why don't you play with that American boy?
Boy—He tells stories.
Mother—He does?
Boy—Yes. He came from New York, and he says he never saw an Indian or a buffalo.—London Sun.

Commissioner General Weston has received word from Havana of the award to Swift & Co. of Chicago of the contract for fresh beef for the troops in Cuba. Swift & Co. also secured the contract for Porto Rico. Both contracts provide for refrigerated beef and beef to be freshly slaughtered at the army posts. It will take about 18,750 pounds per day, or about 6,843,750 pounds for the entire year.

President McKinley has issued the amendments to the civil service rules which he has had under consideration for about a year. It releases from the operations of the civil service rules about 4,000 offices. Among such places are the following: Pension examining surgeons, Indians employed in the Indian schools service, and many places in the engineer department at large, the subsistence department at large and the ordnance department at large of the War Department.

With reference to those places in the outside War Department service it is provided that they shall be subject to regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of War and approved by the President, thus placing these branches of the service on substantially the same basis as the navy yard service.

Bradstreet's report for this week says: "Favorable features of current trade still, as for a long time past, largely outnumber those of an opposite character. Wholesale distribution is naturally less active as the season advances, but comparisons with last year are still very satisfactory. Industrial activity is widespread, and the prices of most staples are either very firm or tending upward, except in the cases of products affected by weather conditions. Reports from winter wheat become increasingly unfavorable. Wheat (including flour) shipments for the week aggregate 3,198,18 bushels, against 2,212,200 bushels last week. Corn exports for the week aggregate 3,845,818 bushels, against 2,753,414 bushels last week."

OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY.

Graves of American Soldiers Everywhere Are Decorated. The Memorial Day services at the Arlington national cemetery at Washington were especially notable by the presence of the President of the United States and most of the members of his cabinet. The crowd was larger than at any other observance in recent years, owing, doubtless, to the interest taken in Memorial Day exercises on account of the newly made graves of soldiers of the Spanish-American war.

Memorial Day was observed at the national cemetery at Chattanooga, where nearly 15,000 Union soldiers lie buried, by joint exercises, under the auspices of the G. A. R. and soldiers of the Spanish-American war. A large number of the latter who died at Chickamauga are buried in the national cemetery.

At Knoxville, Tenn., impressive exercises were held in honor of the nation's dead. The national cemetery, containing 2,198 known and 1,048 unknown dead, was filled by patriotic people from over the central South. Each grave received a floral tribute, several ex-Confederates assisting in the distribution. Defenders of the Union from thirty States lie within the ten-acre inclosure, which also includes a score of victims of the Spanish war.

Memorial Day was very generally observed throughout Nebraska, and especially at Omaha. The exercises there were more elaborate than anything of the kind for years. The effect of events transpiring since last Memorial Day was plainly apparent in the unusual interest manifested in the exercises.

All business was suspended in Manila in honor of the day set aside to decorate the graves of American soldiers. Services for the dead were held in Paco cemetery in the morning, and in the afternoon at Battery Knoll cemetery. Great crowds from Manila attended both services. The American soldiers, bearing wreaths of green and white, marched to the cemeteries with the regimental bands playing slow music. Following the soldiers came marines and sailors from the American warships. Gen. Otis and staff, Captain Barker in temporary command of the squadron, and the members of the United States Philippine commission, occupied positions near the speakers at both services. Nearly all the English and Spanish residents of Manila participated in the ceremonies.

Soldiers of our two last wars were joined in making the New York Memorial Day parade the largest and most impressive that the city has seen for many years. The day was observed at Havana in a notable manner. In the morning a committee of women were taken to the wreck of the battleship Maine, where they strung the skeleton of the unfortunate craft with ropes of laurel and wreaths of flowers. Exercises took place at the Quemados and Colon cemeteries. The day was also observed at Santiago. The remaining graves of American soldiers at Las Guimas and sailors at Guantanamo were appropriately decorated. Prominent Cubans displayed interest, and many are desirous of having the day officially recognized as a holiday for the decoration of the graves of the Cuban dead.

A large throng gathered in the cemetery of Picpus, at Paris, to assist in the annual decoration by Americans of the tomb of Lafayette. Interest in the occasion was enhanced by a speech from former President Benjamin Harrison.

Ten thousand men, including 2,000 soldiers and sailors of the Spanish-American war, marched in Chicago's Memorial Day parade. The column was headed by members of the G. A. R., followed by men who fought in the recent war, the Illinois National Guard, and semi-military and civic organizations.

Inez Leek of Ypsilanti was called home by the death of her brother, Wirt.

A great many from here attended the memorial services at Waterloo, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Musbach and Henry Musbach of Francisco were guests of Lyndon friends, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Leek and family wish to thank the many friends for their kind services during their sad bereavement.

Wirt H. Leek, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Leek, was born at the old home in Lyndon, Oct. 22, 1881, and died at the same place May 31, 1899 at the age of 17 years, 1 month and 9 days, of brain fever and measles. The deceased had spent the greater portion of his life in this immediate vicinity, always a favorite with school mates and neighbors. After receiving an 8th grade diploma he entered the Cleary Business College of Ypsilanti, which he attended for two successive winters. He was as always thorough and reliable in his school work, and would have graduated this coming winter. The funeral was held at the home, Saturday, June 3rd, at 1 o'clock from where the remains were taken to the Hope cemetery for interment. The funeral services were held at the Lyndon Baptist church, of which he had always been a member of the Sunday school. The church was beautifully decorated, and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. The vacant chair, spoke of his influence and work with more power and beauty than tongue can tell. All that loving hearts and kind hands could do was done by the hosts of friends and neighbors and the bereaved fully appreciate this kindness. A short time ago through his influence a Young People's Mission was organized, and he was chosen president, but his work was cut short and there is a vacant place in the hearts of his friends which can never be filled. By his death his parents and sisters have lost a true and noble son and brother, and his friends a sincere, trusty friend.

JUST A GLIMPSE.

A Man of Mature Years Sees a Strangely Familiar Face in a Mirror.

"Here," said a man of mature years, "was an experience that I fancy others have had. You know we don't realize the change in our own appearance as the years go by. We feel young, all right, and imagine that we look so, and never realize that we don't. But coming down from an upper story of a tall building in an elevator the other day and thinking of something else I happened to see a face in a mirror in the side of the car.

"It had a curious interest for me somehow. It was the face of a man of middle age, tolerably well preserved, but with hair pretty gray and with marks at the outer corners of his eyes showing where the crow had stepped on him—lightly, to be sure, but the marks of crow's feet nevertheless, the face of a man of years. But, old and gray, the most curious and fascinating thing about it was its striking resemblance to my own. This was almost startling, but a moment later, when I looked at it I saw a slight turn of my own head reproduced with a corresponding movement by the head in the mirror, I realized that what I saw was indeed a reflection of my own face, and that for a moment I had seen myself as I was.

"But when I got home I looked in the glass there. And did I see any middle aged folks now? Not by a jugful! I saw the man I wanted to see. A little gray perhaps? Yes, a little gray. Crow's feet? Yes, if you want to call 'em so. I'm no spring chicken. I don't set out to be that—that is, not this spring's—but I'm a young man still for all that, and I'm going to remain so for many years to come despite what the mirror in the elevator said."—New York Sun.

"The Best Laid Plans."

"When I was a young fellow, I was a dreamer," said a benevolent citizen. "I thought that my greatest pleasure would be to give money to the poor and live a life of simple, unworldly devotion and gentleness. That was when I was about 20.

"At 25 I came into some money rather unexpectedly. The first thing I did was to give a dinner. I got tipsy—the first time in my life. I had a fight with a waiter and nearly punched his eye out. I was arrested and had to be bailed out by my lawyer. The waiter sued me for damages, and I was so angry with him and myself and the downfall of my great ideals that I refused to compromise as my lawyer advised. The waiter lost most of his savings in fees and expenses, and his family came waiting to ask me to pay his doctor's bills and help him get a position and they would drop the suit.

"I came to my senses and did more than that for them. My old ideas, modified and modernized, took hold of me again, and while I am a hard headed business man today most of my friends are poor people. But my first use of money shows how firmly the pedestals of most ideals are and how foolish it is to say what we would do if we could."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Joe Seckinger is now in the employ of W. P. Schenk & Company.

Remember the Senior entertainment at opera house tomorrow evening.

Children's day will be held in the Lutheran church, Sunday evening, June 11.

Born, on Saturday, June 3, 1899, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Mohrlok.

Harry W. Beedon of Eaton Rapids is now employed as engineer at the electric light station.

Born, Friday, June 2, 1899, to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Dally of Cavanaugh Lake, an 11 pound daughter.

Dr. G. E. Hathaway has had the cellar dug for the residence that he will have erected on Park street.

The Standard is considerably shy on local news this week. An large amount of extra work is the cause.

Arrangements are being made to hold the annual alumni banquet at the opera house, Friday evening, June 23d.

Children's Day exercises will be held by the M. E. Sunday school Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Everyone is invited.

There will be preaching services at the Baptist church on Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Patch. Children's Day exercises at usual Sunday-school hour.

Leach & Downer sold all of the fine wool they had on hand (33,600 pound) to the Clinton Woolen Mills, and shipped it the latter part of last week.

A ball team composed of the smaller boys of the village went over to Stockbridge Saturday and defeated a team there by a score of 13 to 10.

Commencement will be held on Thursday evening, June 22nd. The program for this and also the class day exercises will be published in next week's Standard.

A party of serenaders took an involuntary bath last Thursday evening while engaged in making life miserable for some of the residents of Middle street east.

If you are a stranger in this part of the country and have a horse to sell or trade do not call upon Charles Downer, as he says, that he will not do so again. Once is enough for him.

The spring term of school in district No. 2, of Lima, Miss Harriet Tucker, teacher, closed very pleasantly last Saturday. The school room was prettily decorated and appropriate exercises were held.

The subject to be discussed at the meeting of the Business Men's class at the Congregational church Sunday will be "The Christian and Popular Amusements," George P. Buss will lead the discussion.

Remember the senior entertainment at the opera house Friday evening. The class has gone to a large expense to get Mr. Conary here, and give our citizens a rare treat, and all should turn out and help them.

Friday evening, June 9th, Hoyt L. Conary, the impersonator will present at the opera house, "A Man About Town," for the benefit of the Senior class. Admission 15 and 25 cents. Turn out and give the young people a good house.

There is a scarlet fever scare here. Grace Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bacon, is ill with the dread disease. The second grade of the Chelsea schools which is presided over by Miss Marie Bacon, has been closed as a consequence.

Owing to the scarlet fever, Children's Day exercises at the Congregational church Sunday evening, June 11th will be postponed two weeks to June 25th. At that time a pleasing program will be given by the Sunday-school and others.

A special election has been called for Thursday, June 8th, in Dexter township, to vote on an appropriation of $650 for a town hall. If the appropriation carries, the hall will be built at the church corners, on land that has been donated by Wm. D. Smith.

The experience social which was to have been held at Mrs. L. Conk's on the 14th will be held at Jay Everett's on the same date. Tea at 6 o'clock, and ice cream will be served in the evening. All who have envelopes, but who cannot come please send them in.

Alton E. Fletcher has disposed of his interest in the firm of W. P. Schenk & Company and has purchased the Chadwick interest in the firm of Chadwick & Hall at Stockbridge, and left for that place the first of the week. His family will move there in a short time. The many friends of this estimable couple will regret to learn of their removal.

Born, on Tuesday, June 6, 1899, to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McLaren, jr., a daughter.

The wind did considerable damage Wednesday in the country near R. P. Chase's, blowing down trees and fences and unroofing sheds. It was as close a call from the terrible visitor as the people wish for.

All members of the L. O. T. M. are requested to meet at K. O. T. M. hall next Sunday, June 11th, at 2:30 p. m. to participate in Memorial services, to be held at town hall. Ladies having flowers are requested to leave them at Lady Burkhart's by 2 o'clock, Saturday.

Sunday, June 11, at 3 o'clock p. m., Chelsea tent, K. O. T. M., No. 281, will hold memorial services at town hall. They have been very fortunate in securing Past Grand Commander Rowland Connor of Saginaw, to deliver the address. Mr. Connor is considered one of the best speakers in the state. It would be a pleasure to the tent to have as many citizens as possible turn out and hear him. All cordially invited. J. W. Speer, Com.

Concerning a widow's right of inheritance a contemporary gives this information: In a general way and disregarding small matters that modify the rule only slightly, it may be said that the widow is entitled to her dower in the husband's real estate, that is, a life use of one-third of his real estate. Of the personal property, the widow takes a third if there be children, and if there be but one child, each takes half, and if there be no children the widow takes half and certain other heirs the other half.

Deputy Sheriff Lehman is getting up quite a reputation as a finder of stolen horses. His latest find was that of a horse which was taken from the livery stable of E. J. Hitchings of Detroit some time ago. It was found in the possession of Charles Downer, who had purchased it of Matt Lancaster of Clinton. Lancaster was arrested and taken before Justice Turnbull and is to appear for trial in two weeks, and will be given an opportunity to tell how the rig came into his possession. The buggy and harness were recovered at Clinton by Mr. Lehman.

A. J. Sawyer has drafted a decree in the divorce case of Freer vs. Freer, which Judge Kinne will undoubtedly sign. By the decree it will be ordered that the complainant, Allie L. Freer, shall have the custody of the son, Elmer, until he reaches the age of 14 years, but that the father, Nelson E. Freer, shall be permitted under proper conditions and circumstances, to visit the child. Further, that Nelson Freer shall, within 60 days, execute a deed to Allie Freer giving her the sole title to the Chelsea property, over which the divorce suit was bitterly contested.

Prof. Isaac N. Demmon of the University of Michigan visited Chelsea schools last Friday and speaks very highly of them. The interest and effort of both pupils and teachers is very satisfactory and commendable. He spoke very highly of the discipline and expressed entire satisfaction with the work being done by our efficient corps of teachers. Certainly the people of Chelsea have reason to feel a pardonable pride in their schools under the present management and it is agreeable to know that the Chelsea schools are now on the University approved list and also stands approved by the Normal. Pupils who now graduate from our schools can enter on diplomas and without further examination either the University, the Normal, Adrian or Olivet colleges. When you consider that there are very few schools in the state in places the size of Chelsea that are approved of all courses, it is very commendable.

Naval Heroes in the Abbey. The well known saying, "Westminster abbey or glorious victory," attributed to Nelson when he boarded the San Josef at the battle of Cape Vincent, seems to point to the hero's own wishes as to an abbey grave. But for some unknown reason, when the end came at the famous battle at Trafalgar (1805), Nelson was buried at St. Paul's, and the abbey authorities, finding crowds going there to gaze on his last resting place, had an effigy made of him and set it up near Kempenfelt's monument, in order to attract people back to Westminster, with the desired result.

The figure now stands in the Isip Chantry chapel with the other funeral effigies, and is a very lifelike and good representation of the great man. It is said to have been copied from a smaller figure for which Nelson sat, in all the clothes except the coat he actually wore. Mac'ise, who borrowed the hat for the picture of the "Death of Nelson," found the marks of the eye patch on the inner lining and the stamp of the period in the crown. —Pall Mall Magazine.

Explaining It. "Now," said the physician who was examining an applicant for life insurance, "I shall have to ascertain your chest expansion." "My what?" asked the applicant. "Your chest expansion." "He means," interposed a friend who had come in with him, "the difference between what you measure when your chest isn't inflated and what you measure when it is inflated." "Oh," said the applicant, beginning dimly to understand. "Ten years ago I measured around here"—indicating his rotund stomach—"only 33 inches. I measure 48 now. I guess what you call my chest expansion is 15 inches." —Youth's Companion.

"Come Here, Sir."

It was during evening "prep." Jones minor was always getting into mischief, and the master had his eye on him in consequence. "Jones minor, you're talking," said he suddenly.

"Yes, sir," replied Jones, meekly.

"What were you saying?" Pause.

"Well, I'm waiting. What was it you said?"

"Come here and I'll tell you, sir," answered Jones.

We stared aghast at our companion, and wondered what would happen next.

The master looked as if he had not heard right.

"What did you say?" he said, slowly.

"Come here and I'll tell you, sir," ventured Jones again.

We were on the tip-toe of expectation.

Such daring as this was unparalleled, even for Jones. The master rose from his chair. His anger was terrible to see.

"Leave the room!" he thundered, striding toward the trembling culprit.

"Why, sir?" faltered Jones.

"Why, sir?" sputtered the irate pedagogue.

"When I ask you what you were talking about you ask me to come to you and you'll tell me! Why, indeed!"

"Yes, sir. But that's really what I did say," the boy replied. "Mobbs asked me what the exercise was, and I said, 'Come here and I'll tell you.'"

Then the band played.—Buffalo News.

A Siamese Swell. One of my neighbors was an interesting creature, and evidently well pleased with himself. He wore long finger nails, and seeing me look at him spread out his left hand, evidently for my admiration. On the fourth finger he wore a large Chinese ring, and all the nails were long, particularly those of the fourth and fifth fingers, which had grown to a length of at least an inch. They looked like huge claws, especially when he tried to pick up anything from the seat. The owners of such nails regard them with extreme satisfaction and cultivate them so carefully that they sometimes attain a prodigious length.

They are largely affected by Siamese and Chinese clerks who fancy themselves exquisites. They are supposed to indicate the fact that their owners do no manual work. Curiously enough, in so far off a place as Mexico, the same idea exists, but there it is generally confined to the little finger. I do not know what else he had to be proud about unless it was his right leg, which was elaborately tattooed above the knee. He was dressed in only a panung, and to a cord around his waist was attached a wallet for his tobacco, betel nut, etc. He also carried some food wrapped in a piece of green plantain leaf.—Gentleman's Magazine.

Climate and Consumption. I am in favor of treating tuberculous patients near their homes and in the same or nearly the same climate as that in which they will have to live and work after their restoration to health. My reasons for advocating such principles are founded on the experiences of all modern phthisio-therapists, who have demonstrated that the hygienic and dietetic treatment in special sanitariums is feasible and successful in nearly all climates.

I know from personal observation that cures of pulmonary tuberculosis effected in our ordinary home climates, which are on the average not considered as especially favorable to this class of sufferers, have been more lasting and more assured than cures obtained in more genial climates.

And, with all due deference to the opinions of others, I do not believe there exists any climate which has a special curative quality for any form of pulmonary tuberculosis. Climate can only be considered as a more or less valuable adjuvant in the treatment of consumption, but not a specific.—S. A. Knopf, M. D., in North American Review.

Didn't Lose Any Sleep.

Jenner, the famous English physician, was essentially a strong and self-reliant man. He attended the prince consort through his fatal illness, he was the Prince of Wales' doctor when the heir to the British throne had so narrow an escape in 1872, and he also went to Darmstadt and remained in attendance upon the Princess Alice till she died. To practice medicine in "the fierce light that beats upon a throne" is not calculated to lessen the physician's anxieties, and one who knew Jenner well once questioned him on this point and hinted that his responsibilities must sometimes be sufficient to render sleep or rest impossible.

"Sleep," replied Jenner in his characteristic way. "I don't think that anxiety about a patient ever kept me awake five minutes in my life. I go to a bedside. I do my best. What more can I do? Why should I not sleep?"

Paper Bath Robes.

The latest use for paper, according to a German technical paper, is for the production of bath robes. The material used for this purpose is somewhat thick and resembles common blotting paper. The bath robes made of this material cling to the body immediately after being put on, and, as the paper takes up the moisture very eagerly, the drying of the body takes place rapidly. Furthermore, the paper is a bad conductor of heat, and as such it acts as a protection against quick changes of the temperature, preventing the wearer from catching cold. Slippers and hoods are also made of the same material.—Paper Mill.

"THE GREAT RESTORATIVE."

It's not a "restorative" medicine, but is prepared direct from the formula of E. E. Barton, M. D., Cleveland's most eminent specialist, by Hjalmer O. Jensen, Ph.D., R. S. BAR-BEN is the great restorative for men and women. It creates solid flesh, muscle and strength, cleans the blood, makes the blood pure and rich and causes a general feeling of health, strength and renewed vitality, while the generative organs are helped to regain their normal powers and the sufferer is quickly made conscious of direct benefit. One box will work wonders, six should perfect a cure. Prepared in small sugar coated tablets easy to swallow. The days of celery compounds, nervous, saraparrilla and vile liquid tonics are over. BAR-BEN is for sale at all drug stores, a 60-dose box for 50 cents, or we will mail it sealed on receipt of price. DR. BARTON AND DR. JENSEN, Bar-Ben Block, Cleveland, O.
