MASONS HAD A GOOD TIME

Sixty Jacksonites Visited Chelsea on Tuesday Evening.

CONFERRED THIRD DEGREE

ON BERT J. HOWLETT THEN ATE AND WERE MERRY.—THE LADIES OF THE EASTERN STAR SPREAD A FINE BANQUET.—VISITORS MADE GOOD TALKS.

One of the bright spots in a person's recollection and one of the pleasantest evenings ever spent by the members of Chelsea Lodge, No. 156, F. & A. M., was the fraternal visit of about 60 members from the two lodges in Jackson, besides several others from Ann Arbor, Manchester, Stockbridge and Grass Lake, on Tuesday evening. The Jacksonites came down on a special train, which arrived here shortly before 8 o'clock. The members of Chelsea Lodge and the Chelsea Cornet Band met them at the depot and as soon as the brothers were formed in line the march was made to the lodge room, where, after a period of rest and refreshment, the lodge was opened in due form by Dr. R. S. Armstrong, W. M., and the officers of Chelsea Lodge. It was then turned over to a corps of officers from Jackson, who conferred the third degree in Masonry on Bro. Bert J. Howlett. The officers did perfect work and Bro. Howlett was a model candidate, so everything moved expeditiously and by 10:30 o'clock the work was finished. The brothers from Jackson who filled the officers' stations were:

W. M.—F. H. Newkirk, No. 17, R. H. Hunt, No. 50 (lecturer).
S. W.—E. D. Lowell.
J. W.—C. H. Patterson.
S. D.—E. Stimson.
J. D.—R. L. Austin.
Stewards—E. W. Johnson, F. Williams.
Fellowcrafts—1, E. D. Low; 2, W. H. Shores; 3, J. H. Lane; E. Stimson, Warner, Patterson, Coltrin, Austin, Roller, Johnson, Williams, S. Colwell, F. Colwell, Gaines and C. Mason.

At the close of the lodge work a move was made for the town hall where under the able and painstaking direction of the ladies of the Eastern Star a splendid banquet had been spread. The hall showed the evidences of the ladies' tasty handiwork in the handsome manner in which it and the tables were decorated. The hall was trimmed with American flags and tri-colored bunting, and the stage was banked with potted plants and palms, while all the tables and window sills had bouquets of flowers and ferns on them. The service was perfect and the ladies deserve all the praise the speakers bestowed on them and more too.

The inner man satisfied, Past Master T. E. Wood, as toastmaster, made a few introductory remarks and then introduced D. B. Taylor, who, in fitting words welcomed the guests to Chelsea and to the hospitality of the lodge. Then followed speeches in quick succession from Major H. S. Hunt, Charles H. Smith, Postmaster Edwards and Charles H. Townsend, of Jackson; Judge H. Wirt Newkirk, and A. J. Sawyer, of Ann Arbor. It is needless to say that a coterie of such speakers as these furnished an hour of wit and wisdom that will not be soon forgotten by those who were there. During the banquet excellent music was furnished by a mandolin orchestra. The program was brought to a close about 12:30 by the singing of "America." About 125 persons sat down to the banquet.

Married and Awa'.

At St. Mary's church, Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock Rev. William P. Considine spoke the words which united the lives of Mr. James Breitenbach, of Battle Creek, and Miss Eva Wackenhut, daughter of Mrs. John Breitenbach, of Lyndon. The marriage was celebrated in the presence of the relatives of the bride and groom, and many of their friends and acquaintances. Mr. George Wackenhut, of Lyndon, was the best man, and Miss Alice Mullen, of Detroit, was bridesmaid.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Martin Breitenbach, a brother of the groom, in this village. During the morning the wedding party drove out to the home of the bride's mother in Lyndon where a sumptuous dinner was served. The wedding presents were numerous, handsome and valuable.

Mr. and Mrs. Breitenbach will make their home in Battle Creek in a house which was already ready for their occupancy when they went to it Tuesday evening.

DUPUY'S CABINET RESIGNS.

Adverse Vote in the Chamber of Deputies Causes the Ministry to Give Up Office.

Paris, June 13.—The cabinet has resigned.

President Loubet has accepted the resignations of the cabinet ministers, but has requested them to retain their offices until their successors are named. It is presumed M. Loubet will summon the presidents of the chambers to-day in order to consult with them on the formation of a new cabinet.

On leaving the chamber, M. Dupuy observed to a group of deputies in the lobby:

"We hand over the business to luckier, but not to more courageous men."

The interview between M. Dupuy and his colleagues and President Loubet was brief but cordial. The president expressed his thanks for the support he had received from the retiring ministers, adding that he would always remember their services gratefully. M. Dupuy was agreeably surprised at M. Loubet's cordiality. There are already many surmises as to the composition of the new cabinet, but it is pointed out that as the Dupuy ministry did not fall on a question involving the political complexion of the ministry it is difficult to see on what basis the new cabinet will be selected.

An interpellation was made in the chamber of deputies concerning an episode in the conduct of the police at Longchamps Sunday. M. Dupuy made a statement in defense of the general conduct of the police, and promised an investigation of the particular episode in question. After some debate the closure was ordered. Half a dozen orders of the day were moved. Dupuy refused to accept anything but the motion of M. Saumaude. The house preferred the motion of M. Ruau, which to an outsider appears to be a clear indorsement of the course of the ministry. Thereupon the ministers left the chamber, which adjourned, and Dupuy sent his resignation to President Loubet.

The successive votes in the chamber of deputies clearly demonstrated the existence of a majority, including members of all parties, who were determined to rid themselves of the premiership of M. Charles Dupuy. The interpellation of M. Vaillant was simply a cleverly selected pretext to conceal the real cause of the approaching crisis. Socialists and radicals alike are dissatisfied with what they have considered the contradictory attitude of the Dupuy cabinet in the Dreyfus affair. The moderates hope to secure the return of M. Meline to power. The revolutionaries, nationalists and anti-Semites hope, in their opposition to M. Dupuy, to find a more tolerant man in his successor. This is the explanation of the voting, resulting in the downfall of the cabinet. The supporters of the government only numbered 173, recruited for the most part from the ranks of the moderate radicals.

Many deputies agree that the Dreyfus affair is largely responsible for the cabinet. All the royalists and many radicals demand that their share of the responsibility must be brought home to Gen. de Boisdeffre and Gen. Mercier. At the same time, those taking this view have been all along persuaded that M. Dupuy would never proceed to that extreme. Accordingly they seized upon M. Vaillant's interpellation as a means of expressing their defiance and distrust of the Dupuy ministry. Certainly there is no denying the fact that the question of the final settlement of the Dreyfus case hangs like a dead weight on the situation and will prove a great obstacle in the settlement of the crisis.

NOT ABANDONED.

American Delegates to the Hague Have Not Given Up Their Plan of Arbitration.

The Hague, June 13.—The drafting committee of the arbitration committee of the peace conference met Monday and continued the discussion of the arbitration schemes. The delegates not having received additional instructions from their respective governments, the committee adjourned until Friday without further progress.

The American delegates have issued a manifesto to the effect that, although the English proposals have been used as the basis of the arbitration discussion, this does not mean the abandonment of the American plan, which will be presented by Comte de Redaction, with their own draft, to the plenary sitting of the third commission and judged on its merits with the rest.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Two years ago I began having such dull, heavy dragging pains in my back, menses were profuse and painful, and was troubled with leucorrhœa. I took patent medicines and consulted a physician, but received no benefit and could not become pregnant. Seeing one of your books, I wrote to you telling you my troubles and asking for advice. You answered my letter promptly and I followed the directions faithfully, and derived so much benefit that I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. for $1.00 per year strictly in advance.

THURSDAY, JUNE 15, 1899.

The bill to grant extra compensation of 48 cents a day to the Michigan boys who served in the Spanish war was defeated in the house Wednesday of last week by a vote of 51 to 41. It took 67 votes to pass it. If it had become a law it would have taken about $750,000 to pay up this item.

The editor of the Grass Lake News says:

"That woman Sickles ought to be prosecuted for her cruelty at the reformatory for girls at Adrian, and sent to the penitentiary for life."

If the evidence of some of the witnesses as to her brutality in punishment is true, we don't know but he is in the right, too.

Governor Pingree will veto the new garnishee law which reduces the amount exempted in garnishment proceedings to $750. He says, "Every collection agency, chattel mortgage shark and corner grocery man in the state has been writing me to get that bill passed." "Funny isn't it," he further said, "they all tell me it will hurt me if I veto the bill."

The hydra-headed trusts are still getting in their work and are gradually gathering one industry after another into their octopus clutches. The Northwestern Plow and Implement Association was organized in Chicago June 6, and beginning with the 1900 business farmers will have to pay an advance of 20 per cent on all riding and walking plows, corn planters, cultivators, disk and spike-toothed harrows, listers and all other ground working implements. When and where is this trust business going to cease, and what is this country coming to anyhow?

The Graham license bill, if it passes the house, will be hailed with delight by merchants who have been annoyed from time to time by itinerant merchants who drop into a place for a few weeks, dispose of a lot of cheap goods at cheap prices, and then fold their tents and silently steal away without paying one cent in taxes to help support the municipality whose people have supported them. The bill provides for a tax of $10 and not to exceed $100 for a license for such itinerant merchants good for a period not to exceed one year. Villages and cities that have in operation a transient traders licensing ordinance, or that may hereafter enact one, will not come under the provisions of the bill.

The latest attempt to dismember the homeopathic department from the University of Michigan has received its quietus, and Dr. D. A. MacLachlan, of Detroit, the man who promised when he was appointed a member of the state board of health by Governor Pingree, that he would not have anything further to do with such bills and yet, through a desire for personal gain, broke that promise and worked for the latest attempt, together with other Detroit homeops has gone down in crushing defeat. They attempted to get hold of the $25,000 apportioned two years ago to establish a homeopathic hospital in Detroit, which was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. The homeopathic physicians throughout the state wrote letters in opposition to the scheme on the grounds that it was the entering wedge for another campaign against the department at Ann Arbor, that extra colleges were not needed in Michigan, and that those favoring such were working for other interests than those of homeopathy. The committee of the legislature refused the request of the Detroiters and they have once more a fine case of "blasted hopes" on their hands.

A Minister Held Up and Robbed.

Rev. Louis F. Koelbing, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, was driving between Dexter and Chelsea the other day in broad daylight when he was accosted by three tramps, one of whom asked him what time it was. He pulled out his watch to answer the question, and had no sooner done so than the other two pulled out revolvers and, pointing them at him, commanded him to make no resistance. The man who inquired the time of day then relieved him of his watch and what money he had, after which they disappeared.

Hon. A. J. Sawyer, of Ann Arbor, whose talent as a criminal lawyer is of the highest order, delivered a lecture on "What is the proper treatment of criminals after they have served their sentence?"
before the Congregational Business Men's Class at Ann Arbor, suaday. It was based on his 40 years' contact with criminals either in prosecuting them or in defending them against the charge of crime.
His views on the subject startled many,
but 'twas good sound reason at the bottom of his argument. He believes it impossible to reform a criminal and thinks that banishment as practised in ancient times is about the proper thing for criminals.

An exchange says that in an estate amounting to $350 95 that has just been

Fred Kaercher, of Lima, met with a painful accident Friday. He was driving towards home along West Liberty street, and kick and threw him out of the buggy. He was dragged along and had his right ear almost torn off so that he had to have it sown on again. His head was also severely cut.

Most persons, when mowing a lawn,
aim to cut the grass as close to the ground as possible. This is a mistake. The grass should be cut rather high, so as to leave enough leaf surface to enable it to grow again. When cropped often the grass is consequently compelled to make greater effort, and the shorter the grass the more difficulty in its way.

An ice cream social will be given under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sociality of St. Mary's church next Saturday house will be utilized. The ladies will

Dr. R. S. Copeland, of the homeopathic department, U. of M., says that our old friend William Judson cannot receive too much credit for what he did in Lansing the last day after the senate had refused to recall the quarter of a mill tax bill.
He went to the governor as soon as the senate acted and said, "Here, Governor, sign this bill," and the governor did.
There are no flies on your Uncle William.

Mrs. Winifred McKone, widow of Timothy McKone, died at her home on West Middle street, Sunday morning, aged 84 years. She had been a patient sufferer for 11 years from paralysis and respected by all her friends. The funeral church Wednesday morning by Rev.

William P. Considine, and the remains were interred beside those of her husband in St. Mary's cemetery, Sylvan. She had been a resident of Lyndon and Chelsea for about 60 years. Two sons, Thomas, of Chelsea, and Hugh of Lyndon, and two daughters, Misses Ella and Maggie McKone, survive her.

Terrific Cyclone Creates Awful Havoc in the Northwest.

Loss of Life at New Richmond, Wis., Estimated at from 250 to 500 Persons—Damage by Wind and Rain Elsewhere.

St. Paul, Minn., June 13.—A great storm swept over eastern Minnesota and western Wisconsin Monday evening. It broke over St. Paul at 5:57, over Hastings at 6:03, over Hudson, Wis., at 6:12 and over New Richmond, Wis., at 6:20.

The tornado spent its fury in the last-named village. The business portion of the town was swept away and all telephone and telegraph wires went down.

From the latest and most definite reports to be obtained the loss of life in New Richmond is appalling, some estimates even running as high as 200 and 500. The actual facts cannot be ascertained until after the parties sent by relief trains have had opportunity to go over the devastated district and bring order out of chaos.

Rumors of the disaster came in by way of Hudson at eight o'clock, but the first definite news of what had happened reached Stillwater at 11 o'clock.

Tells of the Disaster.

After a drive of 15 miles J. A. Carroll, a traveling man of Portage, Wis., reached Stillwater at that hour. He reported all the buildings on the main streets of the town were blown down, and that a good many people were killed. When the storm broke he was in the Nicollet house, New Richmond. He ran into the street and saw a funnel-shaped cloud moving eastward at a terrific pace. He ran back into the hallway of the hotel, and the building collapsed. The timbers fell in such a way, however, that he was not crushed and was able to dig himself out of the debris. He helped to get Charles McKinnon, the proprietor of the hotel, out of the place, also his wife and child and a laundry girl, all of whom were injured. Before he left, S. A. Moore and J. T. Barrett, guests of the hotel, were dug out of the debris. Both were seriously injured. Many other injured persons were rescued elsewhere, but Carroll left in haste for Stillwater for physicians and other assistance. A trainload of doctors, nurses and reporters left there for New Richmond at 11:20 o'clock.

At 11:45 a Wisconsin Central train left St. Paul for the neighborhood of New Richmond. It bore six doctors, 12 nurses from St. Luke's hospital and ten reporters.

The Stricken Village.

New Richmond is in St. Croix county, Wis., 18 miles northeast of Hudson, Wis., at the junction of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha and the Wisconsin Central railroads. By the line of the former road it is 36 miles from St. Paul. New Richmond is situated on the Willow river, a tributary of the St. Croix. In 1890 the town had a population of 1,408. There were two newspapers and three churches.

Doctors Drive Across Country.

Burkhardt, Wis., June 13.—A messenger has reached here from New Richmond and has telegraphed here for doctors and help, saying that the storm struck that town and a large number were killed and wounded. The railroad officials have endeavored to get out a special train, but on account of the several washouts are unable to do so, and the doctors and many others are now driving across the country as fast as horses can safely carry them. Three traveling men who drove from River Falls to Hudson were struck by the storm and the rig was torn to pieces. One man named Vollman suffered the fracture of one leg.

Many Buildings Demolished.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 13.—A special to the Tribune from Hudson, Wis., says: One of the most terrific cyclones ever witnessed by the citizens of Hudson passed through the country here at about 5:30 p. m. Monday. It formed in a waterspout four miles south of Hudson on Lake St. Croix. It was witnessed by hundreds of people, and seemed to follow the lake and to be making directly for the city, but about two miles south it veered to the east and left the lake and crossed the country. It was about 20 rods wide and destroyed everything in its track.

The following places are known to be damaged: House on one farm and all buildings except house on another farm of Henry Madison; the barn belonging to Ed Dailey; Julius Beers' barn; Dave Heffron's barn; all buildings belonging to Mr. Lacy, north of Burkhardt's; small flour mill at Burkhardt's; barn and house of Mr. Beebe, near same place; corner and windmill belonging to Frank Wade were smashed into kindling wood. The roof of Graves' barn was blown off.

The first building struck was over on the farm of F. C. Mattison. One edge of the storm struck his buildings, twisting his barn out of shape and throwing his windmill some rods. It then struck the Gridley farm. The family, seeing it coming, fled for a large stone quarry about 20 rods from the house, where they remained safely until it passed. The house is a small brick one, and held to the foundation, but the angles were torn from the roof.

The cyclone veered to the north, leaving the buildings unharmed, but tearing large oak trees three feet in diameter out by the root and twisting them into every conceivable shape.

Cellar Was a Refuge.

About one-half mile northeast from there it struck the buildings of H. S. Mattison. Just before the storm reached the place the family and farm help fled for the cellar. This place was directly in the line of the storm, and not a building, tree, wagon or piece of machinery is left whole. The house was completely swept from its foundation and nothing remained but the floor which covered the people in the cellar. Not one of them was harmed. Every piece of furniture was carried for rods and literally torn into shreds. Beside the house there were two large barns, machine sheds and outbuildings, and all were destroyed. Forty cattle and about 100 sheep cannot be found at this hour. W. J. Gilpin, who was passing at the time, drove in there for shelter, but was unable to reach the cellar. He says it was not over two seconds after the cyclone struck him before it was all over, and he found himself under a part of a lumber wagon with timbers, horses and machinery everywhere about him. He was unhurt but badly shaken up.

Driven from Their Homes.

Milwaukee, June 13.—A Journal special from La Crosse, Wis., says: The worst rainstorm in 17 years swept over this section Sunday night and Monday. Nearly five inches of rain fell. It came down in sheets, doing great damage to railroad property. All railway communication except on the C., B. & N. from South Dubuque and Southern Minnesota division of the Milwaukee line is cut off. Fifty families in North La Crosse were compelled to desert their homes in boats, and the water is still rising. Over 100 head of live stock were drowned. Nearly every bridge in the La Crosse river valley is gone.

Farms Inundated.

Milwaukee, June 13.—A special to the Sentinel from Tomah, Wis., says: The storm here was the hardest and the water is the highest ever known. All farms in the Lemonweir valley are inundated and much damage has resulted to corn and grain crops. Hay on the bottoms will be worthless, as it is flat and buried in mud. Road bridges on Bear, Deer, Mud and Mill creeks are also reported all gone.

At Sparta, Wis.

Sparta, Wis., June 13.—Much damage was done by the heavy rainstorm. Beaver creek, running through this portion of the city, undermined the C. R. Cinover brick building and it fell with its contents into the flood, the occupants barely escaping. The C. E. Rich brick block is badly undermined. The approaches of five iron bridges in the city limits were washed away. The dams of the Bacon mills, the Miller and Kaser flouring mills, Evans sash and door works, and the G. H. Bunnell mills were washed out. The dams of the Newton paper mills and flouring mills and electric light plants are considerably damaged. Crops were damaged and many head of live stock drowned.

Damage at Winona, Minn.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 13.—A Winona (Minn.) special to the Journal says Sunday night's storm was the most severe ever known there. Dams and bridges were swept away on all the water courses, including a dyke and stone arch bridge built to protect South Winona. The entire South side is under water and many families have been carried out on rafts. A large steel bridge over Gilmore creek was carried away. Every street in the city was flooded above the curbing and many families were driven out. The Mississippi has raised a foot and a half since Sunday morning, and wires are all down. It is reported that the C., M. & St. P. steel bridge at Minnesota City has gone down and great damage done at Fountain City. Fruit and crops on all lowlands are a total loss. Several horses and cattle were drowned and the railroads report many washouts. The probable damage in Winona and vicinity will be in excess of $25,000. Henry Schultz, of Stockton, was struck by lightning and killed.

In Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 13.—One of the most severe storms that ever passed over Minneapolis prevailed here between five and seven o'clock p. m. Monday. For fully an hour midnight darkness fell over the city and the sky had all the appearance of a tornado. There was very little wind, however, but an immense volume of water fell, the gauge showing 2.34 inches. So far as learned little damage, other than the flooding of basements and floating of pavements, resulted from the storm. Bridge square in the lower part of the city was afloat for a time and was passable only in boats.

Bad for the Crops.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 13.—A special to the Times from Faribault, Minn., says: The severe storm here will result very damaging to crops. The rainfall was astounding, everything was flooded. Straight and Cannon rivers are full and still rising. Lightning struck Skinner hall at the feeble minded school Monday morning. The occupants were unharmed, but the building was badly damaged.

Another Shipment of Gold.

New York, June 13.—The National City bank will ship $2,000,000 gold on the steamship Lahd, sailing Tuesday.

THE SLANG OF STUDENTS.

Many of the Idioms Commonly Used in the University Are Meaningless to the Uninitiated.

PECULIARITIES ENTIRELY THEIR OWN.

A List Recently Compiled Contains Over Four Hundred Different Words and Phrases—Nearly One Hundred Belong Exclusively to the College World.

[Special Correspondence.]
Ann Arbor, Mich., June 7.—College slang, although it has much in common with all other slang, yet has peculiarities of its own. In consequence many of the more commonly used idioms in the student world are meaningless to the uninitiated.

A list of slang expressions recently compiled at the University of Michigan contains over 400 different words and phrases. About 100 of these belong exclusively to the student. Many of the expressions are simply abbreviations which are adopted as a matter of economy. The student, instead of saying "the University of Michigan football eleven," says the "varsity eleven." So when speaking of the other organizations, e. g., the "varsity nine," the "varsity gee and banjo club," etc.

How Students Are Known.

The students of the seven departments are known as "lits," "laws," "medics," "engineers," "pharmics," "homeops" and "dents;" and the post-graduate students as "p. g.'s." A woman student is spoken of as a "co-ed" (from the word coeducational). If she be in the medical department she is called a "hen-medic," or simply a "hen." Sometimes the women in the law department are designated as "sisters-at-law." Students specializing in chemistry are occasionally called "chemics." A few years ago there were "one-year men" in the law department. These were generally persons with some experience in legal affairs who entered the department and remained a year so as to secure a degree.

"FRESHIE."

Another Way.

A freshman is termed a "fresh," "freshie" or a "freshlet." Sophomores are "sophs." Another way of locating persons in their college careers is to give the year they graduate. For instance, a senior (for this year) belongs to the class of '99. He is spoken of as a "ninety-nine" (written "99," e. g., "the '99 students were in the rush." A junior (class of 1900) is a "naughty-naught" ('00); a sophomore a "naughty-one" ('01). The simple figures also stand for the class of '99, '00, '01, etc., e. g., "The '99 lits will elect officers to-morrow."

Student Language.

In the student language professor is shortened to "prof" and instructor to "tute" (from tutor). The courses given are classified as "snaps" and "grinds," according to the amount of effort required on the part of the student. The instructors "lecture," "quiz" or give "exams" (examinations). The student who is absent from a recitation is said to have "bolted," while one who was present but failed to recite correctly "flunked." After an "exam" students are rated, according to the success with which they have solved the problems or answered the questions, as "passed," "coned" (conditioned) or "plucked." In certain courses, particularly those in the medical department, the examinations are given in the form of a "star" (star chamber). Here the instructor meets his students one at a time in his private room and gives them a searching oral quiz.

Studying is called "bohning," and when a student believes that he has his lesson unusually well he announces the fact by the expression "down pat." Success in the quiz room or in the examination is made known by the phrase, "knocked the instructors' eye out." Cheating is called "cribbing" and the book or paper used a "horse" or a "pony."

Abbreviations Used.
As the lectures, recitations, etc., begin on the hours they are known as an "eight o'clock," "nine o'clock" or "ten o'clock," as the case may be. Abbreviations are used for the names of many of the subjects taught. The word mathematics is shortened to "math;" political economy is called "poly ec;" physiology, "physiog;" trigonometry, "trig;" psychology, "psych," etc. A dictionary is known as a "dic;" a diploma is a "dip" or a "sheepskin." The "J hop" is the name for the annual junior reception and dance. Laboratories are known as "labs." The "gym" and "gym work" are the student expressions for gymnasium and gymnasium exercise. A "frat" may be a member of a fraternity, or it may be the contraction for the organization itself.

TAPPAN HALL.

A "Spread."

"Ypsi" is an abbreviation for Ypsilanti (the home of the Michigan normal college). "Chumming" is a word employed in speaking of a room-mate. In the medical department a cadaver is called a "stiff." A "spread," which is an informal and diminutive banquet in a student's room, is generally given when a "box from home" is received. "Fudges" are a kind of bonbons concocted out of sugar, butter, milk and chocolate in the student's rooms.

Other Expressions.

Money is known as "dough," or "tin," and silver dollars as "rocks," "plunks" or "cart wheels." Dining halls are "chew houses;" tables laden with food, "grub piles;" lettuce, "grass;" hot water, "cambric tea;" milk, "cream," etc. The servant girl in the kitchen is called a "K. M." (kitchen mechanic).

"Painting the town red" and "making a stab" mean about the same in the college world as elsewhere. "Glad clothes" are new garments of the prevailing style. "What's the matter with —?" He's all right!" is the expression of hearty approval.

Little Permanency.

Nearly always the students have nicknames for the officers, professors and instructors. Generally these are abbreviations, although sometimes they characterize some peculiarity of the person to whom given. As the personnel of the faculties is constantly changing, these expressions have but little permanency in the vocabulary of student slang.

LUMBER STATISTICS.

During May the Receipts on the Saginaw River Were in Excess of the Shipments.

Lumber shipments from the Saginaw river during May were 9,125,000 feet, while there came to the river in the same period 9,130,000 feet, making the receipts actually more than the shipments. From the opening of navigation to date there has been shipped from the river 16,855,000 feet of lumber. Nearly all the lumber manufactured now on the river is handled by Saginaw operators in the yard trade, and millions of feet in addition came by water and rail. The rail shipments during May were very heavy. The Saginaw Lumber & Salt Co. moved 4,500,000 feet, and Bliss & Vanauken over 3,000,000 feet, while many other concerns shipped about as much.

Pay of Supervisors.

In response to a question propounded by the prosecuting attorney of Branch county, Attorney-General Oren says that supervisors are limited to pay for one regular session of not to exceed 12 days, and not to exceed two special sessions of six days each, making a total of 24 days. There is nothing in the law to prevent supervisors from remaining in session and doing business beyond the limit noted, but they are not entitled to draw pay for the extended time.

A Wilderness.

Within 30 miles of Grand Haven, up in Blue Lake, Muskegon county, is a region as wild as one could imagine. There are only 138 people in the township, and the forests and brush make it almost a jungle. There are trout streams in the township, and if one wishes to visit a wilderness he need go no further. It is a bit of no man's land in the midst of civilization. Some of the people there haven't been out of the woods in years.

COAL OUTPUT.

An Increase of Over Two Hundred Per Cent. Has Been Made in the Past Two Years.

Washington, D. C., May 30.—Michigan's coal output has increased more than 200 per cent. in two years. There were produced 223,597 tons in 1897 and 315,722 in 1898. The total product of the state in 1896 was 92,882 tons. The gain is due to the development of the coal fields in Saginaw and Shiawassee counties. The output in these two counties has risen from 62,056 tons in 1897 to 156,532 tons in 1898. Bay county also shows a large increase, while the Genesee and Huron fields show a decrease. Following are the details of the state's production by counties:

SUGAR BEET PROSPECTS.

Reports from Various Portions of the State Show That Excellent Progress Is Being Made.

Reports show that the sugar beet crop of the state is making excellent progress. The various Michigan sugar beet companies have about 45,000 acres under contract, the acreage being so distributed that nearly every county below the straits of Mackinaw will share in the benefits. The contracts of the different companies are as follows: Michigan Sugar company, Bay City, 4,100 acres; Bay City Sugar company, 6,100 acres; West Bay Sugar company, 6,000 acres; Holland Sugar company, 3,700 acres; Kalamazoo Sugar company, 5,000 acres; Benton Harbor Sugar company, 4,500 acres; Detroit Sugar company, Rochester, 4,000 acres, and the Alma Sugar company, 3,500 acres.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

Figures Given at the Annual Meeting of the Farmers' Insurance Company of Calhoun County.

The annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company of Calhoun county was held in Marshall. The secretary's report showed over $600,000 of insurance in force and a net increase in the membership of 302 the past year. Ten thousand five hundred dollars were paid for losses, the rate being 22 cents per $100. The pay of officers was increased from one dollar per day to $1.50. The following officers were elected: President, L. L. Harsh, Burlington; vice president, C. C. Worthington, Homer; secretary, Onyx Adams, Battle Creek; director, Samuel Bosserd, Marengo.

Most Economical.

President Angell, of the University of Michigan, recently made an interesting statement concerning the size and current expenses of large universities. Michigan, with 3,000 students, costs $420,000 a year; Yale, 2,500 students, $800,000; Columbia, 2,600 students, $800,000, and a debt of $30,000; Harvard, 3,900 students, $1,200,000.

No Law Provision.

The supreme court has decided that there is no provision in law which attempts to prohibit poor people from remaining in any particular county, or to provide for a liability on the part of one county for the support of such poor person who has voluntarily sought another place of abode.

SOUTH SEA MAIDENS.

They Are Kept Close Prisoners in Wicker Cages Until They Become Brides.

There are no breach of promise suits on the island of New Britain, in the South sea, says a New York exchange. The natives, in their simple Polynesian ways, have solved the problem that worries so many American mothers of young daughters, and the maidens of the island never get into bad company or entanglements of any sort up to the day of their marriage.

These natives are a simple sort of folk, if simplicity can be used in connection with a people that renounced cannibalism only within the last 15 years. They are of a dark brown color, of medium height, and they would rather eat than fight. It was not so long ago that a feast followed every fight on the island, and the edibles were the roasted or fricasseed bodies of the worsted combatants in the battle. But now the tribes no longer make war on one another. Instead, they loaf and eat and do as little work as they can.

Their ideas of morality could be given in a very short chapter—almost as short as the famous one about snakes in Ireland—but they are great sticklers for their complicated and peculiar marriage customs.

There are two classes, and a man may not marry out of his class. Girls become wives at 11 or 12 years of age, and their wedding is literally their "coming out party."

From the age of one year to the date of their marriage these poor little maidens are kept in wicker cages inside the small thatched huts. They are as much prisoners as any unfortunate criminal behind prison bars. The cages, to be sure, are light and airy, and the occupant is able to see all that is going on in the free world outside. But they can't "come out and play," and all the pleasures of childhood—even a South sea childhood—are denied them. This is not such a hardship as it would seem at first consideration, because the little ones are immured in their cages at such an early age that they grow up without thinking to rebel against their enforced captivity.

Once a day only are they taken from their cages to be washed. Food is given them through the interstices, which are plenty large enough to admit the little fresh air that gains entrance to the low cabins. The girls grow fat and healthy on this sort of life, and these are doubtless the qualities deemed most desirable in a South sea wife. But to an American it seems almost incomprehensible that a people living almost altogether out of doors in an equatorial climate should so bring up their young females.

Still, the plan has its advantages. There is no fear of the frisky maidens staying out too late at night, nor need their parents be alarmed lest the daughters get into bad company. When the ardent young man finds a girl whom he would like to make his wife he is compelled to do his wooing through the bars. Papa's chairs are never broken because of having to carry double weight, and all the courting is necessarily done in the daytime. As a consequence, when the young girl leaves her cage to become a wife, the husband is possessed of none of those harassing doubts that come with a higher civilization. And they make good wives, too, and are ready, should the fates bring them daughters, to keep them close within the same cages.

Still, the South sea girls of to-day are luckier than those of 30 years ago. They were not brought up at all then, but simply killed at birth—and the young men of the tribe went to neighboring islands for wives. So the march of civilization has the island of New Britain in its path after all.

Needs a Hard Job.
A New York man has filed a petition in bankruptcy, claiming that the income of $30,000 a year which he receives from his grandfather's estate is not sufficient to enable him to keep his debts paid. The Chicago Times-Herald suggests that what that poor fellow needs is a job that will keep him good and busy about 11 hours a day.

RARE TREASURE BOX.

Carved Cherry Stone, Brought from India, Contains Twelve Dozen Solid Silver Spoons.

A burglar ransacking the old house of Miss Phoebe Ann West in Nantucket, the quaint little island off Massachusetts, would scarcely notice 12 dozen solid silver spoons, which form part of the family plate. In fact, no one would observe them except with the aid of a powerful magnifying glass, for these 12 dozen spoons are so diminutive that they are all held in the interior of a cherry stone. This statement is as true as it is preposterous, and the cherry stone, which is of ordinary size, is one of the most wonderful works of skill ever wrought by its makers, the Hindus. Miss West's father, a sea captain, brought two of these little curiosities from India years ago, but all trace of the other cherry stone, which contained six dozen gold spoons, was soon after lost.

The cherry stone is cleverly carved and mounted on a little ivory and silver stand, and the top screws off, showing the gross of spoons, each about the size of a pin head, within. Each spoon, when seen under a glass, is perfect in shape.

TO IRON TABLE LINEN.

There Is an Art in Giving It Luster and the Smoothness Admired by Housekeepers.

Linens by good rights should be dried only enough to make it possible to iron it well. It is well-nigh impossible to iron out wrinkles that have once dried in; even with good sprinkling this is a difficult task to do, as anyone may know who has tried it. After the linen is washed and rinsed until quite clean, then let it hang in the sun if possible until just dry enough to iron nicely. Have the iron hot; a luke-warm iron will not do. Fold the cloth lengthwise, if at all, for the first pressing; press hard and iron smoothly, until the linen is quite dry; unless it is perfectly dry it will not have that luster and brilliance that all well-ironed linens has. Fold the cloth lengthwise until it is narrow enough to suit the taste, and then crosswise folding is allowable.

The only points to be observed are these: Iron the linen before it is dry and iron it until it is perfectly dry. This will insure perfect work.

Avoid starch in linen as you would upon silk or such fabrics. It is entirely out of place.

Table linen should be ironed in the same way as tablecloths, and all fancy foldings avoided. Sometimes in hotels fancy foldings are used, but for the home table let the napkins be folded in plain squares and be ironed perfectly that their gloss will be an attractive feature of the table decorations.

DAINTY SILK HOSIERY.

Here Are Three Styles as Delicate as a Spider's Web for Girls Fond of the Dance.

If there is one thought that reigns supreme in the mind of the girl who is fond of dancing it is her hosiery. Here are three designs that are worthy her consideration.

The first is a network of delicate silk threads of a pale violet hue. The front of the calf is embroidered with dark green silk in a succession of loops that reach nearly to the knee.

A design to be worn with figured gowns is the diamond. The background of the stocking harmonizes with the background of the gown, and so with the figures.

The half hose is quite the proper article to wear with fancy high shoes. The upper part of the stocking is of striped silk, the stripes being separated by a delicate open network.

Astronomers tell us that in our solar system there are at least 17,000,000 comets of all sizes.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

A Farmer Robbed.

Two men posing as real estate agents swindled Day Terbush, a wealthy farmer at Holly, out of $5,000. They made him a good offer on some property he wanted, and he agreed to meet them to complete the deal. They agreed to put up $10,000 to guarantee their appearance and asked him to put up $5,000. He procured the money, and they told him they would trust his honesty and let him keep the whole $15,000 until they called. All the money was put in his satchel. The swindlers then adroitly changed satchels with him and left.

Health in Michigan.

Reports to the state board of health from 79 observers in various portions of the state for the week ended on June 5 indicate that pneumonia increased and tonsillitis, intermittent fever, measles and diarrhea decreased in area of prevalence. The United States a Power for Good.

A distinguished historian writes, while referring to this nation's advent as a colonizing power, that we represent the "century's political conscience," and that our influence for good over European spheres will be immense. This result was just as inevitable as is the cure which follows the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the great remedy which is found in every home and drug store throughout the country. It cures indigestion, constipation, overworked kidney and liver, allays nervousness, and tones up the whole system.

An Irritating Phrase.

"Are you seriously ill?" asked the well meaning friend. "Oh, no," answered the dyspeptic, with a jarring, sarcastic laugh. "I hurt all over and don't care whether the sun rises to-morrow or not. But I'm not seriously ill. I'm jocosely, flippantly and farcically ill. I'm going through all the symptoms, but don't mean one of them."—Washington Star.

His Practice.

"Say, you knew Deacon Hardway's boy Hen, who went up to the city to study medicine, didn't you?" "Oh, yes; I knowed Hen well. What about him?" "He killed himself day before yesterday." "You don't say! What was the matter? Couldn't he get no outside practice?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

What to Say About the Baby.

Maccabee Memorial Sunday.

The K. O. T. M. had one of those rare days in June on Sunday, when with flowers, music, prayer and speeches they honored the memory of their dead brothers who lie buried in Oak Grove cemetery. The services were held at the town hall Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and were largely attended. Commander J. W. Speer, of Chelsea Tent, No. 281, presided as chairman.

He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. Received the White Veil.

Miss Agnes Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, sr., of Lyndon, received the white veil of the Order of St. Dominic, and will hereafter be known as Sister Mary Ignatius, at St. Joseph's Chapel, Adrian, on Tuesday, June 6. The edifice was beautifully decorated for the occasion and was crowded to the doors with people anxious to witness the ceremony. A solemn high mass was celebrated, Rev. Wm. Considine, of Chelsea, being the celebrant, Fr. Brock, of Marblehead, Ohio, the deacon, and Fr. Krebs, of Gagetown, Mich., sub-deacon. After the mass Rev. Bishop Foley delivered an eloquent and impressive sermon. Then followed the reception of the seven novices. There were 12 priests present on the occasion. The singing by the nuns' choir was most beautiful.

An interesting little incident happened after dinner when Mr. and Mrs. Miller, their 12 children and one grandchild were presented to Bishop Foley at his express request. After a brief conversation the bishop addressed to them a few kindly words and gave them his blessing. The record of this family is something remarkable. With the exception of a son's wife that is dead, the family circle has never been broken. Mrs. A. C. Pierce, of Chelsea, a niece of Mrs. Miller, was also presented to the bishop with them.

About the Coming Circus.

The Daily times, of Dubuque, Ia., among other good things in a column of favorable criticism, published the following paragraph:

The public always delights in a meritorious circus. This explains why the Dubuque public was eminently pleased with the Wallace show. It was entertaining, amusing, thrilling and delightful. There were numberless acts that came with what seemed endless continuity; they thrilled and bewildered the observer; they occasioned joy; they provoked breathless suspense till their completion. To enumerate the best acts would be a task equal to finding merit in Spanish atrocities. Every act was good and there were a few that especially centered attention. The aerial work was fine and the ring work of the highest order. The Nelson family, the Strk family, the Earl sisters, O'Brien and Thomas, and innumerable other stars, among the very best in the business, was the plaudits of the multitudes. The date for Ann Arbor is on Monday, June 19.

Injured in a Runaway.

Adam Eppler met with a serious accident Friday evening about 5:40 which might have terminated even more seriously than it did. He was driving along Park street when his horses became frightened and bounded forward. At the same time the pole dropped out of the neckyoke, which was defective, and this still further frightened the animals. They ran still faster and the wheels of the wagon struck the large stones which were lying in the street to be used in the construction of the new M. E. church. Mr. Eppler was thrown violently into the air and lit on the ground fully 25 feet from where the wagon struck. His 1-ft collar bone and two ribs on his left side were broken and he was bruised considerably so that he suffers great pain internally. Blood issued from his ear, nose and mouth, and it is not yet known by his physician whether he suffered a rupture of the drum of the ear or not. Drs. G. W. Palmer, S. G. Bush and R. McColegan were soon on the scene and attended to Mr. Eppler's injuries. He is getting along as well as possible but it will be some time before he can attend to his business.

Reviving Demand for Horses.

Grand Rapids Herald: As business revives the demand for well bred road horses gradually increases. During the past few weeks there has been quite an active call for good horses, and a more ready sale for cheaper stock. It would seem that this will stimulate horse raising. Values may not be expected to go as high as in the eighties, yet sales will be made on a margin. The exportation of horses has greatly increased in the past two or three years, almost tenfold in the past ten years, at four times the average prices, showing conclusively that the demand is only for good horses, fine drivers, spans for carriage use, coach and omnibus stock and good draft horses. Livestock of this kind will come nearer keeping the average farmer in funds than any other form of rural industry. The bicycle, the trolley and the automobile will not destroy the market for good horses—not for a long time to come, at any rate. The horse cannot be displaced.
