WE WANT TO SELL YOU ONLY WHEN WE CAN SERVE YOU BEST

Great clearing up sale of all remnants and odd lots of dry goods. We dress goods at less than first cost. Remnants of dress goods, enough for skirts or small dresses at 50c, worth 75 to 85.

shall close out all remnants of silk and

Remnants of 50c dress goods for 25 to 37 dc.

Remnants of $1,00 silk for 56 to 75c yard.

Remnants of 75c silk for 50c yard. Remnants of wash goods and prints at about } price.

Remnants of carpets very cheap. All odd suits (ladies) at cost. All odd skirts at cost.

Big lot of linen skirts just received. We shall close out all shirt waists at low prices.

H. S. Holmes Mercantile Co.

Butterick's patterns for July now on sale.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE TO BUY

Fire Cracker, Torpedoes,

Sky rockets, Roman candles, wheels, mines, etc., is at the

That have

ning

Don't fail to call on us before the fourth.

7----

NEW SILVERWARE.

We are always headquarters for high grade silverware at moderate prices. When you want warranted goods come to the Bank Drug Store.

Pure Paris Green and London Purple.

You can always depend upon getting the Highest Market Price for Eggs

if you bring them to the Bank Drug Store.

GLAZIER & STIMSON.

John Drislane Drowned while in Bathing at Cavanaugh Lake.

Every Effort was Made to Resuscitate Him, but in Vain.

Last Thursday atternoon occurred an accident at Cavanaugh Lake which cast a feeling of gloom over the whole community. A number of young men from this place, among whom was John Drislane, went to the lake to spend the afternoon, and while there went in swimming. None of the boys were very expert in swimming and so they did not go into very deep water. They waded out as far as they dared, and had been in the water about ten minutes when John, who was taller than the others and who was some distance farther out in the water, was seen to make some peculiar motions and to sink out of sight. The boys thought that he was trying to swim under water, but after waiting some seconds for him to come to the surface, began to think that something was wrong. The waves were rolling quite high and the boys were unable to reach him, and a couple of them started for Mr. Glazier' boat house to secure a boat wwhile others went toward the eamp ground. The first boys returned and had just located the body when Frank Staffan, Dr. Armstrong and Judge Look arrived and took the body from the water. Every effort was made to resuscitate him but they were in vain.

The theory is advanced by many that a wave had struck John in the face and strangled him and rendering him unable to help himself. The remains of the unfortunate young man were brought to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T Drislane the same evening. Mr. Drislane, who was in Clinton at the time of the accident, was notified by telephone, and at once started for home, making the distance with his team in one hour and thirty-five minutes.

This is the first fatality that has occured at Cavanaugh Lake, which is some what remarkable considering the number of years that It has been used as a summer resort, and the number of people who visit it.

The funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon, at two o'clock at the Congregational church, by Rev. C. S. Jones. The church was filled with sorrowing friends who gathered to pay their last respects to the dead which revealed the universal love and esteem which all felt for the young man.

John Drislane was born July 19, 1880 and even in childhood showed a deep regard for the right. By his death the Christian Endeavor Society losses an active member, who was always faithful to every duty. He was treasurer of the Sunday school and loyal to all its interests. A conscientious member of the church he endeavored to lead others in the way of eternal life. . Mr. and Mrs. Drislane and his sister, Mamie have the deepest regard and tender sympathy of the entire community.

DON'T LIKE THE DISEASE.

has Written Another Letter.

The following letter was received by on the road.

Pasig City, May 12, 1899.

Dear Brother:lerial fever. I am weak still, but will be o. k. in a little while. The whole regi- marriage. But to express his own view ment was sick, caused by drinking bad on the subject he appealed to the famous water on the day of the last scrap. So Mr. Strauss, and read in closing that genyou think that if the niggers could shoot | tleman's queer German-English poem on | Cornwell, Ann Arbor, 1,500. we would all be dead men. My dear "Is Marriage a failure?"-Most emphatiboy, if you had been in the last scrap and cally, says Mr. Strauss, It is not. The Burg, Ypsilanti, 500. with my company you would think that toast to Our Benedicts was responded to they could shoot pretty good. We only by Miss "Ruth Ashmore" Morton, so ingot twenty of them while they dropped troduced by the toastmaster the author fifteen of the Washington boys. But they of "S(n) ide, Ta. .. s with Girls" in the 'Ladies' had the advantage over us, as we had to Home Journal. cross an open field to reach them. How marched across the open field as though they they were drilling. The niggers held their fire until we were within 500 yards and then they fired a volley. Every man dropped in his tracks and then the fun began. The niggers held out stubbornly, but in about fifteen minutes things got too warm for them as we had moved up about 200 yards. They had carried their wounded off but we found twenty dead on the field. Many of them before they shoot.

home, but as they go home in the order gram being closed, Mrs. J. E. McKune, OCCURRED LAST THURSDAY only volunteer regiment that have these dent was chosen by ballot, and C. LeRoy

> Your brother, RENO D. HOPPE.

ALUMNI BANQUET

joyable Time Friday Evening.;

Alumni Association of the Chelsea high man. The hard work which devolve school was a success. It was given last upon these two officers might be greatly Friday evening in the opera house, and reduced in the future by the appointment was attended by about seventy of the of larger committees, a thing the new members. The hall, prettily decorated officers will do well to look to. with bunting and flags, was divided with screens into a reception and banquet room and from 9 to 10 a reception was held. The banquet which followed was presided over by Henry I. Stimson, as toastmaster, and after a brief review of the history of the association he introduced as first speaker, K.Otto Steinbach, class of '92, who responded to the toast, "Everybody." He covered the subject well and incidentally touched upon everything worthy of note in the history and lives of the members. When he had finished it is doubtful if anyone felt that he had been omitted. The next toast, to Fame, the great undertaker, who pays little attention to the living but makes no end of ably and all the class were bountifully parade over the dead, had to be omitted as the alumnus to whom it had been assigned, Miss Linna Lighthall, was not present. Mr. Will Burkhart spoke on "Our Noble Selves," suggesting that we toast ourselves, since we have the best vocal duet by Misses Cora Nickerson and means of knowing all the good in our- Gladys Mapes, vocal solos by Miss Marselves. He decried the loud praise given to great heroes, the Deweys of our nation, and begged that a measure be bestowed upon the heroes and the ordinary men of common life. A piano duet by Misses Lettie Wackenhut and Beatrice Bacon followed, and Miss Minnie Allyn treated the Philippine question to the subject of "Our Outside Barbarians." She favored the view of the expansionists that humanitarianism demands that we give the Philippines the protection of our government and that the only thing to do is to unite them to our country. "Metaphysics, the Noblest of the Sciences," C. Le-Roy Hill dealt with humorously. He took the Scotchman's definition that "When a mon wha' kens naething about ony subject, takes a subject wha' nae mon kens onything aboot, and explains it to auither mon still mair ignorantthat's metaphysics." Webster's definition that metaphysics deals with everything outside of the physical, gave the speaker wide scope, and be levied freely on all phases of life-mostly school. The toastmaster, a little hurt at the insinuations at the ignorance of the people to whom the speaker was explaining the to Catherine Boutell, Ypsilanti, 1,050. broad subject called upon Miss Nellie G. Congdon, who then sang "An Open ti Savings Bank, Ypsilanti, 1,066.34. Secret," with Mrs. Ed. Vogel as accompanist. One of the cleverest and best re- Robins et al. Northfield, 70. ceived toasts of the evening was that on Marriage, "The gate through which the Northfield, 60. Reno Hoppe, Who is in the Philippines, happy lover leaves his enchanted ground and returns from paradise to earth." Mr. Hoag said that the easlest thing in Dorsey Hoppe. It was about six weeks the world is to pay a bill with a note, et al., Ann Arbor, 875. rolling off a log is comparatively difficult to this. The words, "I promise" bear with them a strange fatality, they are so I received your letter yesterday. I easy to say, the difficulty comes with the have just recovered from a touch of ma- payment. He spoke of the added re-

The recently deceased Miss Ashmore cool the fellows did it, though. They spoke very briefly to the benedicts of the outnumbered us four to one, but the boys prose which had entered their lives with marriage. A piano solo, "Cottonfield-Dance," by Mrs. Ed. Vogel came next and called forth much applause. "The infant class," the '99's was to be represented by Fred A. Johnson, and owing to his absence, the toast was given by et. al., Scio, 500. Francis Fenn. He spoke of The Present and said that while anticipation may be Ann Arbor, 2,650. very agreeable, participation is more George L. Loomis, et a practical and that they all were glad, very S. Loomis, Ann Arbor, 1. ad, to be with the association and be- William S, Loomis to Mary E. Loomis ome a part of it. With them, participa- Ann Arbor, 1. the grass at our feet and threw dirt in tion was indeed more practical. "The William N. Cooper et al. to Peter Ege our faces. They are adopting the Amer- last toast of the evening was to "A Happy noil and wife, Ann Arbor, $50.

ican tactics, viz, shoot low. They also Future," and Nathaniel N. Laird respondhold their fire and let us come up close ed with good wishes for the future of the the members and happy hints on individ-This morning's paper states that the uals, leaving the pleasantest sort of imvolunteers will soon be on their way pression upon the company. The proin which they came, it will be a long president of the association for this year, while before the Washington's start. called the meeting to order for an elec-They have just issued our regiment Krag- tion of officers for 1899. After a reading Jorgenson rifles, and it looks as though of the minutes for 1897 and 1898 by the our work was not done yet. We are the secretary, Miss Ella Barber, the presirifles, and I think for that reason we will Hill was elected by a large majority. be the last to leave. I guess that we can The rest of the officers were elected by stand it, though I am getting sick of it. acclamation, with Mrs. George BeGole as The hot rainy weather is starting in and vice president; Mrs. Wm. Campbell as there will be lots of sickness. I don't secretary and Ralph Holmes treasurer. mind bullets, but I don't like the diseases | The committees on general arrangement. that a man is subject to in this country. etc., were left to the president to appoint, Some business matters were disposed of and the meeting was finally adjourned at a late hour.

Much of the success of the banquet this The Alumni Association Had A Very En- year is due to the careful planning and work of Mrs, J. E. McKune, the president, The fourth annual banquet of the and Miss Ella Barber, the general chair-

The catering for the banquet was done by J. G. Earl.

GRAMMARIANS GRADUATED.

Interesting Exercises at the Hagh School Friday Evening.

The Grammarians of '99 held their exercises in the high school room last Friday at 2 p. m. The room was filled to its utmost capacity by the parents and friends of the members of the class. The decorations were tasteful and appro- Paris Green, London Purple, Hellebore priate. The decorations were tasteful and appropriate. Those of the class who participated in rendering the program acquitted themselves very creditremembered by their friends in the way of flowers and gifte. The musical part of the program was slightly changed on account of the illness of some who were to participate. A garet Nickerson and Miss Pauline Burg, and a violin solo by Howard S. Holmes accompanied by Miss Enid Holmes as planist were all beautifully rendered. The class historian stated that the class numbered 21; 10 boys and 11 girls. The age of the oldest was 16, of the youngest 12 and the average age of the class was Supterintendent W. W. Gifford in a very pleasing manner and with words of commendation and advice presented the It's Nobody's Fool

Real Estate Transfers.

Anna Brennan et al. to Charles F. Kayser, Ann Arbor, $900. Henrietta Wortley et al. to W.

Thornton, York, 1,650. Maria Schuh et al. to Lewis Schellenberger, Bridgewater, 290.

John W. Hull and wife to Alfred M. Humphrey, Lodi, 50.

Alfred M. Humphrey, to Luella Humphrey, Lodi, 50. Andrew F. Smith to Arthur C. Nichols,

Ann Arbor, 50. Horace Carpenter and wife by Sheriff

C. P. McKinstry by Sheriff to Ypsilan-

Charles A. Pray and wife to James Elizabeth Pray to James A. Robins,

Alice E. Hall to Leonard W. Gleason,

Ypsilanti, 800. Ellen F. Allen to Edward Schumacher, Rose A. Speechley to Henry Stall et.

al., Ann Arbor, 400. Henry Stall and wife to Louis Rohde,

Ann Arbor, 150. George H. Collins and wife to George sponsibilities which come to a man, with E. Marshall and wife, Lyndon, 300 Lena Heath to George A. Warner, > Ypsilanti, 350. Henry Cornwell and wife to Frank I. SOFT DRINKS OF ALL KINDS.

John E. Lambert and wife to John C.

Mary McHugh to Richard Buchholz, Northfield, 1,000. Frances A. Westfall to Warren Cushman, Lima, 1,200. Reuben Kempf and wife to D, F Schairer and wife, Ann Arbor, 450. Andrew M. Leonard to Alice Leonard.

Michael Klayzer and wife to Herman C. Breitenvisher, Bridgewater, 100

Titus F. Hutzel and wife to Elizabeth M. Weinmann, Ann Arbor, 350. Charles E. Wagner to George Wagner

Anna M. Rhodes to Miranda Lukins,

George L. Loomis, et al., to William

We wish to inform you that we are selling you the best line of at the lowest possible price; Roman candles, sky rockets, cannon crackers all sizes, etc.

Don't forget to buy your candies at the New Drug Store.

We are carry the finest line in Chelsea, Try them and be convinced.

Remember our

PERFUMES

are up-to-date, sweet and lasting. Have you tried Parislan pink, Parislan rose or Parisian violets? If not, you don't know their lasting quality.

We are here to sell you your moth balls, etc.

We pay the highest

Market Price for Eggs

Cash or Trade.

Yours for something new.

Druggists and Grocers.

That Buys Something to Eat When he is Hungry.

> When you are hungry and want something fancy in the line, just step into our market. We know that we can please you.

MEAT

Rich, juicy steaks,

Bacon and hams,

Salt and smoked meats, Sausages of all kinds,

Lard, etc.

ADAM EPPLER

THE BUTCHER.

Ice Cream Soda!

ICE CREAM

in all the latest styles. Special prices to socials, banquets and parties. Ice Cresm delivered promptly to all parts of the Choice Cakes and Confectionery always on hand. Give us a call.

J. G. EARL.

First door east of Hoag & Holmes Bassan

Anyone wishing to pur hase one or more of the seats rom the old M. E. church hould call at The Standard

County and Vicinity

Robinson's livery barn at Ann Arbon vas burned Saturday. Luckily the horses were all out of the barn at the time of the fire.

Grass Lake is making great preparations to celebrate the Fourth of July in grand style, W. W. Wedemeyer will be orator of the day.

The school bell, which has done service in this village for the past 30 or 40 years, is fractured and its melodious tones are gone forever .- Grass Lake

Last year an item appeared in the columns of the Leader that Charles Hale sheared 1,293 sheep in sixty days. This spring Mr. Hale has beat this record, having taken the coats from 1,-345 sheep in fifty days .- Milan Lead-

Prof. J. B. Steere, who has spent three years in the Philippines and who is thoroughly familiar with the Filipinos, is of the opinion that the war in the Philippines will continue for a long time. He does not believe the inhabitants will be so easily overcome as most people seem to think .- Ann Arbor Argus.

The announcement is made of the marriage of Andrew J. Sawyer, jr. (of Ann Arbor) and Miss Lulu Rose of overhead trolley. Manhattan has twice Stockbridge. Mich. The ceremony took place at Sandwich, Ontario, July 28, 1898, but has been kept a secret until very recently. Mis. Sawyer arrived here today to join her husband. lines in Manhattan are 1,053 horse -Evening Times.

Erastus S. Cooper of Sylvan while in this village last Wednesday informed us that a day or two before he found an abundant food supply in front of a hole occupied by a fox and her litter of young foxes. The menu consisted of turkey, a pig about a week old, three rabbits, a hen and a muskrat. All this game was fresh and it is believed was killed the previous night. -Grass Lake News.

News correspondent, has been in the land Ele tric 30, the Nassau line 694, Last evening, before leaving for Detroit, he stated to The Times that he of 3,468. intended making a present to the board of regents, to be used in their 228 cars, and on Staten Island the elecssions, a gavel. The wood is teak tric line has 70 cars and the Midland and comes from a part of the Christopher Colon, one of the ships of Cervera's destroyed fleet at Santiago. It will make quite a souvenir of the war and will be, undoubtedly, highly lyn fifty-four miles, to Patchogue. prized. - Evening Times.

Cows with artificial tails are not numerous and Hartford boasts of the only one in the state. A few seasons ago, a dog deprived one of O. White's cows of half of her tail and every seas on since then Mr. White ties a bunch of rope-ends to the cow's tail so that she may hold her own in fly-time. It is a simple method but works like the real thing. Mr. White was once a resident here. Dexter Leader This man is more humane than a Grass Lake man whom we once knew. He got so angry at a cow which he was milking because it switched its tail in his face cars over 34 000, and the other surface that he cut off the animal's fly switch- cars more than 237,000. Over 450,000 er and let it run about the streets, with people means more than the populathe bleeding stump vainly endeavoring to brush off the cruel flies. We have often thought that if there is a roast- South Dakota, of Utah, or of Washinging place in the hereafter that apology for a man will occupy a front seat.

The Detroit and Ann Arbor papers state that Miss Florence, the eldest daughter of Rev. D. R. Shier, was married two weeks ago at Cleveland, to Wm. Roberts, a successful insurance gines to draw this train, making each man. It appears that her father was section of ten cars. not much pleased with the match, although he knew nothing against the young man, and Florence decided upon $10,000,000 a year. Besides this army, and met her lover in Detroit, when they proceeded to Cleveland. Mrs. Shier was up the St. Clair river at the time and the papers say Florence wrote would be needed with 30,000 men, and her mother about it and received her forgiveness and best wishes, but that she had not heard from her father. We think the papers are inclined to get up a sensation over the matter as friend Shier is too sensible a man to make a fuss when his daughter's happiness is at stake. Manchester Enter-

TO VILLAGE WATER CONSUMERS.

This must be complied with at once as we shall start a man out to shut off the supply where the ordinance is not being carried out.

You are notified to live strictly according to the ordinance in regard to the use of water for lawn and street purposes. Your are prohibited from allowing your neighbor to use water from your hydrant for any purpose what ever. Any person violating the conditions of said ordinance will have their water supply shut off at

Electric Light & Water Works Com.

FIFTY MILES OF CARS

THIS NUMBER CAN BE SUPPLIED BY GREATER NEW YORK.

United in a Single Train, They Would Reach From Yonkers Almost to Pough keepsie-They Would Sent 450,000 Per-

To convey New York's three and a half million people, and the transients and strangers within New York's gates over its 295 square miles, Greater New York uses altogether on the surface and elevated railways over 8,000 cars. Half of them are on the Island of Manhattan alone. Here, too, can be seen the whole range of variety, for Manhattan's transportation system runs the gamut from the ramshackle horse car antedating the civil war, through the ranks of the elevated, cable, overhead trolley, underground trolley to the car propelled by compressed air. There is nothing too good or too mean for Manhattan.

The variety that this island offers in a hundred other ways is not denied in the matter of street cars. One can pay his five cents and take his choice, if he is indifferent as to route, speed and the previous condition of servitude of the car. The only horse cars in Greater New York are on proud Manhattan. So, too, are the only underground trolleys and the only compressed air cars. While Manhattan has representation on the list of overhead trolley cars, yet the line is short, and Manhattan leaves to the other boroughs, particularly Brooklyn, the pleasure of being vivisected by the as many "L" cars as Brooklyn, but it hasn't as many surface cars.

The Manhattan "L" has 1,151 cars, the Brooklyn "L" 298 and the Kings County "L" 236. On the Metropolitan cars, and all of the 192 cars of the Forty-second street, Manhattanville and St. Nicholas Avenue railway are pulled by horses.

Of other methods of propulsion, which include cable, underground trolley or compressed air the Metropolitan has 1,216 cars, the Third Avenue line 690, the Union or "Huckleberry," in the Borough of The Bronx, 189 cars. This makes, for the old city of New York, 1,245 horse cars, 2,095 other surface cars, and 1,151 cars for the elevated road, a total of 4,491.

Across the East River the Brooklyn Heights line has 1,962 cars, the Coney John Fitzgibbon, the well known Island and Brooklyn 242, the Long Is-6; a total of 2,934. Adding the two elevated lines' 534 cars, there is a total

The Long Island City Railroad has

All told, then, there are within the limits of the present city of New York 8,328 cars for local traffic. If all these cars were coupled together on a single track they would extend from Brook-Starting from the Flatbush avenue station of the Long Island railroad these cars would block every street crossing the track, and every cross road for all those miles. Through Jamaica, Springfield, Valley Stream, Lynbrook, Rockville Centre, Freeport, Massepequa, "Amityville, Babylon, Bayshore, Islip, Sayville, and Payport, to Patchogue the unbroken line would extend, making a barrier impassable for humbler vehicles. It would be a monster train that would extend through cities and villages and farms and swamps and woods and counties.

In those miles of cars, if they all were available at once, 450,000 persons could find seats easily. The "L" cars would hold over 175,000, the horse tion of "uffalo or Cincinnati, or Cleveland. It means more than the population of Colorado, of knode Island, of ton. It is more than twice the size of the volunteer army in our war with

If these persons were put into ordinary railroad cars, a locomotive to draw them would have to be 386 times as big as the passenger locomotive of to-day. That is, it would take 386 en-

A good sized army of more than 15 .-000 men is required to man these cars, and their wages amount to more than a secret marriage. She left Ypsilanti 2,500 horses find employment for their

If this street car population of near ly 450,000 were to be moved by horses entirely, as in the old days, 16,000 cars a doubled salary list.

A Crimean V. teran.

Major Lamar Fontaine, the author night," is now a civil engineer, living in Lyon, Miss. He first saw service with the Russians in the Crimea, and at Schastopol received the Iron Cross for signal bravery. In the War of the Rebellion he was a Confederate, fought skirmishes, was "ounced sixty-seven times, and five times was reported Gotham's Police Army.

The New York police department on vere detectives, thirty-three were in e senitary corps, and nine were deentice. There were also thirty-eight represented of Britania.

ACULTY OF OBSERVATION.

intelligence is the Effect of Critical Ob-

The world is full of intelligent men and fools. Individuals whose opportunities for intellectual improvement are about the same, present a vast difference in the extent of their attainments, it is astonishing how little information on general topics some persons obtain from a lifetime of experience and observation. They live in the midst of the phenomena of Nature, see curious machinery every day, and perform a thousand acts, without having their curiosity aroused in relation to them. No man can understand everything. The simplest operations of nature are often beyond the reach of the most profound philosopher; but the available knowledge of common things is to a remarkable degree a sealed book to housands who are in elligent and skilful in their own specialties.

There is a faculty of observation-a compound faculty, which is oftener the gift of nature than the result of personal application-which makes thousands of wise men, without the aid of books or school. One man walks through the world with both eyes open, and intuitively scanning, weighing, and philosophizing over every event and appearance that come to his knowledge, while another never sees anything but his own particular calling. One could travel all over the world without being much the wiser for what he had seen, while another becomes a complete gazetteer of places and a perfect dictionary of events and facts.

What we call intelligence is not so much the effect of extensive reading. as of keen and critical observation. What we know is less what has been printed, than what we pick up in the street and in the field. To an inquiring mind, one with this faculty of observation strongly developed, books and newspapers are the most convenient food for reflection, but they are by no means the only sustenance of such an intellect.

This faculty may be improved by cultivation, if any one thinks it worth the labor. But this is the faculty which makes men useful to their fellow-beings, and the possession of which almost insures them a respectable, if not eminent position in society. The habit of observation should be encouraged in children. They should be taught to inquire into the causes and antecedents, facts of events which transpire around them Slaves to Charms.

More people than one thinks carry city this week "doing" commencement and the Van Prunt and Erie Basin line charms and talismans. The gambler carries the device known as "Fatmah's hand," which he thinks holds in its fingers of gold and silver his luck.

Some women are made happy for a year if a black cat strolls into their their lives depended upon it. fashionables are the greatest fetich worshipers, and the crowds of society women who gravely throng to morning iginal customs are just as great slaves to superstition as the savages about whom they listen. Think of the old horseshoes proudly shown in dainty boudoirs the four-leaved clovers cherished, the salt slyly thrown over the left shoulder at dinner, and the there are thirteen at table.

Though they scoff women will flock like bees round a honeypot to the corner where the palmist or fortune teller holds forth, and try as they will they cannot quite disbelieve the future revealed them. In London especially there is a great rush each season after the latest seer and revealer of future lovs and sorrows. It is a society fad which has made clever men and women rich, and it is safe to say there is always wealth awaiting any one who can tell fortunes with some new wrinkle to allure the restless searcher for new things.-Chicago News.

The "Collecting" Mania.

We are accustomed to hear of postage stamp collecting, as also of coin and chins collecting; but we would persons with even more extraordinary fads. Among these are several collectors of legal documents, such as writs, summonses, etc., of all countries, and of the earliest times, which assist the student in reconstituting ancient forms of judicial procedure. painted ornamental wall-papers, of all nations and all times: collectors of colored posters, and handbills and menus, visiting cards, and snuff-boxes. Many people collect old violins and guitars, political pamphlets, printed plays, billheads, and trade cards, and tickets for the theatre, public fetes. and balls. Buttons of various sorts are in great request with certain colhe legion of collectors of multifarious specimens of hardware, of old chairs, dections of insects, of fossils and minin twenty-seven battles, fifty-seven erals, and prehistoric specimens of silex, and collectors of coins, ancient and modern

The figure of Britania on the coin of the realm is neither a fancy figure nor March 1 had a total membership of taken from the antique. According to 364 office's and men, of whom ninety- the historian Grammont, it is a fullone were in the bicycle squad, eighty- length portrait of Frances Theresa Stuart, Duchess of Lennox, painted by Lely, and still extant at Lethington Castle East Lothian, Scotland, It was gird for service in the House of De- Charles II. who caused this lady to be represented as the emblematical figure

BATHS IN PARIS.

A Novelty Experienced But Twice During

The question of baths-or the ques tion of no baths, rather—is one which every writer in Paris is constantly exploring, yet it is no wonder that such a theme is exhaustless since the sojourning foreigner who writes has the material for "copy" on this subject constantly before him. An English girl was telling me of her bath experience in Paris. Having just arrived and smacking of her soil as only an Eng'ish girl can, she hailed a bath man who was passing the street. When he had carried his tub ponderously up to her apartments she tried to explain to him that she wanted to buy it. At first her efforts of explanation failed atterly, and the man calmly process d to arrange the bath for immediate can pancy. Finally the girl succeeded in conveying to his mind an impression of what was in her own. - I was about to say that she made him understand that she actually wanted to buy the tub for everyday use; but no Frenchman could be made to understand so stupendous a

The man was dumbfounded. He explained that the tub was his only steck in trade, and that with it he furnished two bath a year to each of his Parisian customers. One, I-believe, was scheduled for about Christmas time, and the other ought, according even to French idea's of cleanliness, happen about the great July holidays. He furthermore explained that the madam of the Pension, where the English girl lived, had taken a bath a few days before, and then had gone to bed for two days from sheer exhaustion, as she frankly explained.

This all sounds awfully exaggerated, but it isn't. An American mother whom I knew, pot her sma'l daughter in a convent and requested of the nuns that she should be bathed at least twice a week, this leing in her eyes the for her child, who had, up to this time, been bat ed every day of her life. The sister of whom the request was made looked embarrassed and explained that the children were not bathed in the convent, but that when the parents thought it necessary to ablute their small bodies, they were taken to a bath house near by.

These remarks by foreigners on the lack of bathing facilities in France enrage French people; but if they would become enraged sufficiently to add such comforts to their houses and institutions, they would certainly raise themselves in the eves of those who come from foreign shores.

Fond of Early Ri inc.

"Of course you can't imagine what curlous experiences we have with sick people," confided a trained nurse, "! have just come from a very int resting case-a dear old lady, lovely in every way, but utterly unmanag able and unreasonable on the subject of early rising. The dear woman cannot turn over in her bed or put her hand to her head; she is fatally ill, poor creature. but she wakes me every morning at 5 o'clock to have her face and hands bathed; and her cap changed. 'Oh,' 1 groan, 't is only 5 o'clock, Mrs. Lorrimer; that is too early for sick peo-"'No, no,' she always answers, 'my father reared me to get up at 5 o'clock startled glances when it is discovered I can't disobey my training. You must make my toilet. I mustn't sleep any longer.' So I have to get awake, prepare the dear old lady for the dayeighty years old she is, and weak and sick-just because she was reared by a father with abnormal ideas of rising time."- Indianapolis Journal.

Fancy and Fact. It was on the eve of the wedding and he was bidding her good-night He softly whispered:

our journey as bride and bridegroompilgrims of life together; hand in hand will we journey down life's rugged road. We shall want to set out with a glorious equipment of faith and hope and courage, that neither of us may faint and fall by the wayside before the journey is ended. Will we not, darling?"

"I-I-oh, yes, to be sure. Only I really am worried about the train of my dress. It didn't hang one bit nice to-day when I tried the dress on, and I'd perish with mortification if it hung so at the wedding to-morrow. Go on what you were saying, dear!"

Council Proceedings.

[OFFICIAL]

Chelsea, Mich., June 21, 1899. Pursuant to the call of the President oard met in special session.

Meeting called to order by the President! Roll called by the Clerk.

Present, Geo. P. Staffan, President, and Trustees Vogel, Twamley, Avery, Schen

Absent, Trustee McKune.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING. To J. Schenk, J. E. McKune, I. Vogel, H. Twamley, H. H. Avery and J

I hereby call a special meeting of the village board of the village of Chelsea to be held at the council room in said village at 8 o'clock p. m. on this the 21st day of smallest possible favor she could ask June, A. D. 1899, for the purpose of granting a franchise to the State Tele phone Company to go through and do business in said village of Chelsea. Dated June 21, A. D 1899.

> GEO. P. STAFFAN, President of Chelsea Village.

I hereby certify and return that I served notices of which the above is a true copy on H. H. Avery, J. A. Bachman, J. E. Me-Kune, J. Schenk, H. M. Twamley and I Vogel personally at the village of Chelsea before the hour of 12 o'clock at noon on the 21st day of June, A. D. 1899.

Dated June 21, A. D. 1899. EDWARD MOORE, Village Marshal.

ORDINANCE NO. 20.

An ordinance granting a franchise to the Michigan State Telephone Company to set poles and string wires through the use of the same

The Village of Chelsen ordains:

SEC. 1. Consent, permission and authority is hereby granted to the Michigan sented with a one-horse work harner State Telephone Company, a corporation organized under and by virtue of the laws of the state of Michigan, for the period of twenty years from and after the approval of this ordinance, to maintain, ple to get awake. Let us have another erect and string in the streets, alleys and other public places in the village of Chelsea, all needful and proper poles. Do not gripe or sicken. Glazier & Stin wires and other apparatus to conduct and carry on its telephone business in and through said village, subject to the con ditions and restrictions imposed on said company in the succeeding sections o this ordinance.

SEC. 2. In constructing, extending or repairing said company's plant in said village, all poles or other apparatus that may interfere with the rights of others or the public use of the streets, alleys and public places of the village, shall be set "To-morrow, my darling, we begin and placed in such places as the common council of said village shall designate. And the said council reserve the right to order said company to change the locacation of any of its poles or apparatus in said village whenever it shall deem it DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, less than proper to do so and, said company upon receipt of such order shall make the receipt of such order shall make the Beware of counterfeits. Glazier & Stim change required within a reasonable son.

SEC 3. In constructing or repairing its plant in said village, said company shall Houton, "that in my travels in all part not unreasonably obstruct any streets, al. of the world, for the last ten years, leys or public places in said village and have met more peop. having shall leave all streets, alleys, sidewalks Green's August Flower wan any ob and public places in as good condition as stomach, and for constipation. I find they were in when disturbed as far as tourists and salesmen, or for persons possible and shall hold said village harm. ing office positions, whereheadaches less from damages resulting from its dis-turbance or obstruction of the streets at turbance or obstruction of the streets, al- grand remedy. It does not injure leys, sidewalks or public places of said system by frequent use, and is exce village, or any other neglect of duty on for sour stomachs and indige the part of said company. SEC. 4 As a consideration for the granting of this franchise, the said telephone company shall put in three machines, one in the office of the president of the village, one in the power house dead with croup." Glazier & Stimson and one in the office of the secretary of the plant and keep the same in order, to- Consumption Cure-Warner's Wa gether with the use of the same, all free of charge during the continuance of this

Sec. 5 This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its publi-

Dated this 21st day of June, A. D., 1899. Geo. P. Staffan, president, W. H. Heselschwerdt, clerk. Moved by Bachman seconded by Vogel that the ordinance in regard to New State Telephone Co. be accepted and approved as read.

Yeas-Schenk, Vogel, Iwamley, Aver and Bachman, Nays-None, Carrie On motion board adjourned. W. H. HESELSCHWERDT

SOCIETIES

should remember the when they are in need

Perhaps 'tv

But the b

Co with fac

And hear

With no he

Of fear th

Twas Free

With no

there pr

For each

great desi

oppres s i

Which

hand n

and jeering

another s

Till worn

carn at !

There can

Out stok

"Endorse

Then Lat

And each

And the

For a tall

Committe

s standing

And clea

Worsd tha

And then

Vermont,

Leautiful.

on Lake ( front of t

through th

across the rises the 1

and hazy

tummer-

like tulk

It is a root, and ally spend

The peo

pitable, an enjoyable

changed l

at the ex

well-mear

village.

The soc

perhaps :

masters (

character.

these, sev

city, who ucation:

the you enjoy m their so become thorough try frier

the town

Farme

summe largest :

a good

Westerr

of any hall,

'Mid patr

JAPANESE NAPKINS

to call and see the ne stock at the STANDARD OFFICE

"What might have been"-if that li-tle cough hadn't been neglected-is the sad reflection of thousands of consum ives. One Minute Cough Cure cure coughs and colds. Glazier & Stimson

For Sale—O e-horse three spring wagon, one-horse Gale plow nearly ne Gale cultivator new, corn planter new the village of Chelsea and regulate corn cutter new, wheelbarrow my man new, log chain, two whiffletrees. quire of Jacob VanHusen or William Schnaltman. Party buying whole on fit paying $20.00 therefore will be pr minus lines and one trace.

J. D. SCHNAITMAN.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers expel fro the system all poisonous accumula regulate the stomach, bowels and live and purify the blood. They drive awa disease, dissipate melancholy, and give health and vigor for the daily rou

NOTICE.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agre to refund the money on two 25 cent ! tles or boxes of Baxter's Mandrake Bit ters, if it fails to cure constipation, i ousness, sick-headache, jaundice, loss appetite, sour stomach, dyspepsia, liv omplaint, or any of the diseases which it is recommended. It is high recommended as a spring tonic blood purifier. Sold liquid in bottle and tablets in boxes. Price 25 cents for either. One package of either guard teed to give satisfaction or money re ed. Glazier & Stimson, Fenn & Voge

Thomas Rhoads, Centerfield, O., write 'I suffered from piles seven o years. No remedy gave me relief u

AUGUST FLOWER.

"It is a surprising fact," says Profes remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver Sample bottles free at Glazier & 80 son's. Sold by dealers in all civi countries.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Lackamp, Elston, write: "One Minute Cough Cure san the life of our little boy when ne

WINE of TAR SYRUP, the best cough red edy on earth, cures a cold in one day taken in time. 25 and 50 cents.

You can't cure dyspepsia by dietis.
Eat good, wholesome food, and plenty of it.—Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests food without aid from the atomach, and it made to the stomach. made to cure. Glazier & Stimson.

I build the Kitsleman woven wire is leadquarters Lima Center, Mich.

Just received a fine lot of those Stard sewing machines at C. Steinbach's IEY were seated round and talk-Not Jovial and nd with laughter light and mock-As guests might do at play.

But serious business faced them; Twas repellion, each man knew; Perhaps 'twas death or prison pen, But the bravest are most true;

Co with faces stern with feeling. And hearts as firm as face; With no honest care concealing, Of fear there was no trace. Twas Freedom's Star ascending, 'Mid patriotic fire;

no man there pretending. For each held great desirc.

Desire to rend oppres s io n's tyrant Which nolds hand fast: and jeering adds another stroke.

Till worm mua.

turn at !nst,

There can be no more receding," Out stoke a res'lute voice; Endorse you this proceeding, Then Liberty's your choice!" and each head nods assenting, And then all noises cease; For a tall form representing Committee of War or Peace, s standing proud before them all. And clearing voice to read. Worsd that shall ring throughout the hall,

And then, with lightning speed,

Spread far and wide o'er all the earth A challenge that decree. Each man to be of equal worth, By birthright is te Great Jeffersou!

Great Handcock! Great! ev'ry name there traced! Your creed's writ on Eternal Rock-God holds it where twas placed.

Love and 4th

The quiet little town of -- ville Vermont, is situated at the head of a leautiful, little, forest-encircled bay on Lake Champlain. From the waterfront of the town, one may look out through the narrow mouth of the bay. across the broad lake, beyond which tises the lordly Adirondacks, their dim and hazy outlines showing jointly in summer-and bold and hard their walllike tulk rises in winter.

It is a beautiful, healthful, quiet root, and a number of city people usually spend the summer months there. The people of the town are very hospitable, and take pride in making it as enjoyable as possible for their summe frests; and many a secret smile is exchanged between the elite of the city, at the expense of the simple, though

The society of the place consists of perhaps a score of young maids and masters of robust health and spotless of a man. tharacter. In summer are added to these, several young people, from the city, who are of superior birth and ed-thoroughly honest, open-hearted coun-

Farmer Elkins-in the language of the towns people—had never taken any largest and best farm in town, besides The party waited in breathless silence a good snug bank account, made in for-it seemed minutes-but it was Western speculation. He had no need only a few seconds—and then they saw of any other source of income, but this Jack rise to the surface with Mabel's summer he had decided to take a city apparently lifeless form in his arms. family recommended by a friend. The family—McHenry by name—consisted of old Mr. McHenry and his wife, and Miss Mabel McHenry, their daughter a boat was lowered and came to his and only only the commendation of the commendation and farmer Elkins had arranged every-thing for their comfort and enjoyment.

His eldest son-Jack-was the possor of a fine little steam yacht, and he often took the McHenry family onong cruises about the lake. He and Mabel were thus thrown very much together, and it is not strange that in his honest heart there should have sprung up a tender regard for this beautiful accomplished creature, fresh from the best society of a large city. He set her up as a divinity to be worshiped and served unquestioningly. She treated him, as she would have treated any other young man under similar circumstances-in a frank, open manner so natural to city-bred

However, to honest Jack Elkins, her manner meant far more than she would have cared to have it, had she known. Every succeeding day found her a little deeper engrafted into Jack's big heart, till she became a part of it, and, though he did not know it, he had learned to love her as but few women are ever loved-with a love wholely pure and unselfish-a love that any woman well might be proud

The month of June passed, and July came, hot and muggy. Jack Elkins had invited a party to spend the Fourth of July with him on an e cursion up the lake to Providence Island. where they were to picnic for the day, returning home in the cool of the even-

Mabel McHenry, of course, was one of the party-in fact, Jack had arranged the day's outing solely for her enjoyment, and in his honest heart expected nothing but that he was to be her escort during the day. Imagine, then, his chagrin, when the party assembled, to find that Walter Bragdona city friend of hers- had ingratiated himself in the place Jack honestly thought belonged to him-as Mabel's

It is needless to say that the day was spoiled for Jack; but he tried hard to no ltet the party see his perturba-

His yacht was gaily decorated with flags and bunting: and he had proon the homeward trip.

The day at the island was spent with much enjoyment to all of the party but Jack-to him it was a day of torture, cured a quantity of fireworks to he sent up from the deck of the yacht for Mabel scarce y noticed him during the day; Bragdon had apparently appropriated her for the day's enjoy-

Jack had expected Bragdon to take his sister-Stella Bradgon-and ner absence made the party one lady short so that jack had to amuse himself as best he could. He kept apart from the rest as much as possible; but it was easy to see that he had no eyes for anyone or anything but Mabel Me-Henry. Occasionally he would cast a withering glance, full of contempt, upon Bragdon who was a thin, undersized for the accuracy of my statements, for ity gentleman. He appeared, to jack's they never told, and, undoubtedly their idea of manhood, a poor apology. He could not see how an intelligent girl like Mabel could tolerate such a funny hundred and eighty pounds. He was ninety-nine. all bone and muscle-a perfect Adonis than she did Bragdon; but Jack nad Leo Brownson. no way of knowing it, and went on beieving that Bragdon was Mabel's ideal

The day drew to a close at last, and the party were all on board the yacht, with her prow turned homeward, it was an ideal night, and the yacht glided out over the twilight waters like some huge waterfowl. In the first deepest darkness, that follows after twilight, Jack began to send up the fireworks from the stern of the yacht. The party were seated in the middle of the deck, with the exception of Mabel and Bragdon-tney were alone, leaning over the rail at the bow of the yacht, apparently oblivious to all that was going on about them. Mabel sat leaning her whole weight upon the slender rail, with one round arm hanging down toward the water. She was holding her handkerchie' by one corner, endeavoring to wer it into the riffle from the cutter the yacht. It would not reach, and she leaned far over-and then-the rail gave way beneath her weight-and with a frightened shriek, she plunged headlong into the lake, Bragdon stood as one paralyzed, his ucation: but they mingle freely with features white as marble. He made the young people of the village, and no effort to save her-not a man of enjoy many a rustic frolic unknown to the party made a move to rescue hertheir social city life; and they often until—as the yacht passed on—her become very much attached to their white form rose to the surface in the wake of the yacht, and Jack saw what had happened. Without even stopping to remove his coat-he plunged into the lake where Somehow I don't-catch the thrill Summer Loa. ders." He owned the Mabel had gone down for the last time.

took Mabel's unconscious form in nir arms again—for he was the only one of the men calm enough for such duty-and bore her on board and in the little cabin and tenderly laid ne upon a couch, but not before she na. regained conscience enough to know

The men withdrew and left her with the girls. She soon recovered tul possession of her faculties, and learne. from the excited girls-who were now all talking at once-how Jack-the last of all the men to learn of her dange. -had, without hesitation, risked his shouting Jack's praise, and Mabe congratulating him for his heroism. She knew that only for Jack, sh from the girls, that Bragdon had mad no move to save her. As she though of it all, a chamber in her heart wa loved Jack Elkins, and come what would-she knew she would continue

When they had reached home, and Mabel had removed her wet clothing, life-and as he came into the room.

"My boy," said he to Jack, "you have done me and mine a great service to-day, and I cannot thank you, or re-

"Nevertheless, if I ever have the oportunity of rewarding you in any way I shall be only too proud to do so, said Mr. McHenry.

in our regard," continued Mrs. Mc

Jack was becoming more embarrassed, and, out of kindness, Mr. Mc-Henry and his wife said good night, and left Jack and Mabel alone, to- DON'T FORGET THESE FACTS:

them, but if I did, I could not vouch conversation that night was too sa cred for publicity. Be it enough to say that, whe nthey parted, each appeared to be as happy as it is often

The opportunity for Mr. McHenry to reward Jack had come, when, the next morning, he made his plea tor Mabel's hand. True to his word, he gave the reward without question or

A week later, their engagement was announced, to the great astonishment of the village people, and to Walter Bragdon's discomfiture, who had thought himself deeply intrenched in Mabel's affections.

vogue, but Jack Elkins and Miss Macreature. Perhaps Jack underated bel McHenry are to be made man and him, for Jack stood six feet in his wife on July 4th in the year of Our stockings, and tipped the scales at one Lord one thousand eight hundred and

It is safe to say that the nation's in form and features, and was Brag- igreatest holiday will forever be doubdon's superior in all but education and ly memorable to Jack and Mabel. It ocial training. To do her justice-Ma- is hard to say which is the greaterwell-meaning people of this country bel admired him, as'a man, far more their love or their patriotism.-Earl ETTIN' near the Fourth agin: Sakes alive! how time does spin! Don't seem like it's sixty year Since I first begun to hear All the loud, triumphant noise At we made when we was boys,-When we ust to wish 'at powder Was lots cheaper and lots louder.

Recollect 'ith what delight Ust to stay up 'bout all night Helpin' 'em fire anvils or Makin' other sounds o' war. Ust to wish the earth was drilled Out inside and powder-filled, And that I could somehow just Touch 'er off and hear 'er bust!

Was no cannon-cracker then; Kind o' wish they had a been. Then they would o' sounded sweet, Now they lift me off my feet. I've begun to think 'at noise Was created just for boys, And the Fourth don's seem to me Nice as what it ust to be.

Just as patriotic, still When I was a little tyke. Wasn't nothin' then but I Had a finger in the pie, But that finger, as you see, Got blowed off eventually. -Nixon Waterman,

A Fourth of July fire in Elkton, Md., destroyed a will by which a young lady of that town had been disinherited by and were to stay till late in September, When they reached the yacht—Jack her father, and she got his property.

1917 1919

TO TO THE PARTY

RAND, McNally & Co's Universal Atlas of the World. EVERYTHING IS NEW!

1899 EDITION.

1899 EDITION.

life to save hers. All the girls were A GRAND OPPORTUNITY FOR THE PEOPLE OF CHELSEA AND VICINITY.

The Maps alone cost $50.000.00 and three years' time to produce.

This Atlas contains entirely new Maps of every State of the United States and of country of the world.

Always ask for Atlas Checks. 1899 Edition.

The maps in this book would cost $75.00 if purchased singly.

THE COMPLETE WORK EMBRACES:

64 pages of artistically colored diagrams relating to imports, exports, populations, etc. 157 pages of colored maps. 98 pages of illustrated history and biography. 125 portraits and biographies of eminent statesmen, soldiers and writers.

An index naming and locating every city, village, post office, railway and express station in the United States, besides giving the latest official census complete.

Totalnumber of pages, 456. Weighs eight pounds. Size of book when closed, 111x141 inches. Elegantly bound in half morocco. Sold for $6.00 at retail.

OUR OFFER:

We will give Atlas Checks at the rate of one with every 25 cents' worth of goods purchased. (Two for 50 cents, four for $1.00, etc.) When you have secured 300 of these, bring them to H. S. Holmes Mercantile Co., and you will receive a copy of the Atlas gratis.

me for doing my duty," said Jack, with some embarrassment.

H. S. Holmes Mercantile Co., dry goods, boots, shoes, clothing, carpets, cloaks, ladies' suits, groceries—sugar excepted.

Hoag & Holmes furniture, bazaar goods, crockery, hardware-nails and wire excepted.

Glazier & Stimson, drugs, groceries, jewelry, etc. sugar and paints excepted. Miller Sisters millinery.

J. J. Raftrey merchant tailor.

Adam Eppler meat market. E. E. Shaver photographer.

Checks only with Cash Purchases.

Checks from all stores count. You don't have to get them from one place That the Atlas can not be BOUGHT for less than $6.00. That you Get it for Nothing. To Ask for Checks.

NOTE .- The 300 Coupons may be obtained at the above places any time before May 1, 1900. Ask for them at once. Remember. -You can always see and examine the Atlas at H. S. Holmes Mercantile Co's.

Lawn sprinklers etc., in proportion.

PLUMBING and WATER WORKS TAPPING

at the lowest prices consistant with good work and material,

WE ARE ALSO OFFERING THE

Hudson Bicycle

BUILT TO OUR ORDER AS THE BEST WHEEL MADE. and keep them in repair during the season

FREE!

We have one $40 Wheel going at $25

Chelsea Manufacturing Co.,

NEAR DEPOT. NEW PHONE.

Ann - Arbor - Electric - Granite - Works Designers and Builders of Artistic Granite and Marble Memorials. On hand large quantities of all the various Granites in the rough, and are prepared to execute fine monumental work on short notice as we have a full equipment for polishing.

JOHN BAUMGARDNER, Prop., Ann Arbor.

CULTIVATORS AND HORSE RAKES RIVERY Kind of Fuel. at prices to close out.

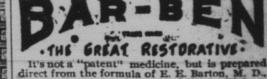

Binder Twine at lowest prices

FURNITURE

at reduced prices.

Hammocks, Ice Cream Freezers, Screen Doors, Window Screens and Fishing Tackle at the right price.

W. J. KNAPP.

celery compounds, nervuras, sarsaparillas and vile liquid tonics are over, BAR-BEN is cents, or we will mail it securely sealed on receipt of price, DRS. BARTON AND BENSON, 461 Bar-Ben Block, Cleveland, Q.

For sale by FENN & VOGEL, drugs

Digests what you eat. It artificially digests the food and aids Nature in strengthening and reconstructing the exhausted digestive organs. It is the latest discovered digestant and tonic. No other preparation can approach it in efficiency. It instantly relieves and permanently cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Flatulence, Sour Stomach, Nausea, Sick Headache, Gastralgia, Cramps, and all ther results of imperfect digestion.
Prepared by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

RHEUMATIC LIBERATOR

Is not a cure-all, but it does cure Rheumatism, and it contains no poisonous ingredients. It has cured hundreds of Clevelanders an i it will cure you. Do not be frightened by the approach of stormy weather, but secure a bottle of this famous medicine and ward off the enemy. Sold exclusively by Fenn & Vogel.

Wanted—A good span of ponies in ex-change for a piano of organ. Call at C.

For sale-An 80 barrel tank and stee

try friends.

in whose arms she lay.

could hear the men above, on the deck, Mabel said nothing, but it was easy to see that she was greatly moved. would have been drowned. She knew. suddenly unsealed that had been to love him to the end of life.

and arrayed herself in a loose gown of white lawn, she came down into the parlor and sent for Jack. She had told her parents how Jack had saved her Mr. McHenry arose to meet him, and took him warmly by the hand while tears of gratitude bedimmed his aged ward you as I would like."

"You will always hold a warm place gether." I might tell what passed between the lot of mortals to be.

eluctance.

July weddings are not quite the

THE FOURTH.

BY O. T. HOOVER. erms: $1.00 per year; 6 months, 50 cents

COMMENCEMENT.

The Class of '99 was Graduated With Appropriate Exercises.

On Wednesday evening of last week occurred the class day exercises of the of the Class of '99 of the Chelsea High School. The first number on the program was music by the Aeolian orchestra, this was followed by prayer by Rev. C. S. Jones, A quartete consisting of Messrs Burg, Ward, Eisenmen and Ward then entertained the people.

John Hindelang, delivered the salutatory. He bade the friends welcome in of this being the first class to graduate an examination. My classmates, we have reached the coveted goal. The ochas at length arrived. Our wildest hopes in regard to the happiness which this event would give us are now fully realized. But with the happiness which the present occasion gives are mingled memevening animates us with new vigor. In the critical moments of the battle into haps our hopes will falter and every outgives us this evening to be surrounded by the Class of '99. by friends, that remembrance will dispel hopes will be reviyed, and we will make received by the audience. another effort to win victory that our friends may again assemble to congratulate us, and that we may again have the pleasure of extending the hand in welcome to them with the same spirit that we do this evening.

Miss Emma Wines then read an essay on the subject of "Beauty." She said that the word beauty in its primary meaning denotes that which pleases the eye or the ear. But beauty in its true meaning does not end here, it has a much broader and grander meaning as applied to that quality in any object of thought which awakens admiration or approval in the Mr. Jones is an eloquent speaker and has daughter of Petty Weshington Lewis. mind, Beauty is everywhere. She said that physical beauty is not enough. There should also be beauty of character. Many think of beauty as divided into two class es, beauty ornamental and beauty useful. She said that all beauty is useful when used, all beauty is right when shared.

This was followed by the class history by Miss Edith Bacon. She took the class back to the time when they entered the high school, told of the many happy times that they had enjoyed, also of the many hard tasks that they had performed. The class numbered thirty when it entered the high school, but many of the members had dropped out. The graduating class contains but nine of the original thirty, the balance of the seventeen entering it later. Having completed four years of hard work, having gained many honors in athletics, much distinction on the stage she thought that they had earned a right for vacation. She said that they called it vacation, for they did not consider it the end, but only the beginning. They all look forward to deeper studies and higher honor. She said that these years have gone to make but a few pages of our history and we fully expect the more important to come. This was followed by the class poem by Faye Palmer, which was a gem of wit and which brought out a great many "grinds" on those who had come into contact with the class.

George H. Kempf then sang "The Brigand's Love Song" very acceptably." The oration, "Our Country in War," was delivered by Ralph Holmes. As far back as history records the inhabitants of the world have been engaged in warfare and rebellion. No nation or race has been exempt and none has risen to power and glory without first experiencing the honors of war. Thus it has been in the centuries past and thus it is today. We live in an age of war, and it is a mistaken idea that war times are passed and that America will forever be free from future combats. He spoke of the colonists who founded the various settlements being compelled to ward off repeated attacks of the French and Indians. As the rolling thunder and flashing lightning give warning of the approaching storm, thus the Stamp and Declatory acts followed by the useless resistence of the colonists, foretold the near storm of shot and shell, that would decide whether the American people should be free or crushed under the tyranical foot of England. The hour of the American Revolution was come. He told of the various phases of the war, and took his hearers own through the years to the last war. He told of the lesson that the nations of the earth had learned from the late war. and how they had learned to respect us ractically through a fear of a repetition of the fate of Spain.

The class historian, Warren Boyd, enced his history with the follow-

I lie low-colled in a nest of dreams; The lamp gleams dlm in the odorous

And the stars at the casement leak long Of misty light through the haunted,

When I lie low-coiled in dreams."

The moon casts its silvery ways through the transparent solitude. Electric phenomena beyond the mind's conception fill the room with a wierd spectral sensation of the ghastly future. In the center an awkwardlook piece of mechanism gleams in the moonlight with its nickel and brazen trimmings; oddly resembling a telescope, its long beak protrudes toward the heavens. It was through this instrument that the prophet looked into the future and saw the different paths that the various members of the class would

Miss Florence Martin, the valedictorian, said that history has been likened toa grand dissolving view. While one age is passing away, another is coming into prominence. During the last half century the distinctive features of society have been entirely changed. The religthe name of the class of '99. He spoke jous and political battles are over and we stand upon the threshold of a new era from the Chelsea High School able to that of material progress. She spoke of enter the University of Michigan without the impulse that modern inventions had while only seven members took part in given to manufactures, and said that with Class Day exercises, yet many of the these changes have come the new social casion to which we have looked forward conditions and problems which devolve the class were excellent specimens of with great longing during the past year upon the young men and women of the mastery of English thought, and it is to present day for settlement. The question be regretted that all could not have been sphere in life we may be called to fill, must be thrown all the energies and resources of our minds and souls. One of ories of the past and speculations of the the dangers that threaten our American to be. As it was, all members of the future. The interest that you show in life is a tendency to care too much for class are entitled to share the high honors our welfare by your presence here this the material comforts and delights which which all helped to earn and achieve. money can buy and to pay too little attention to the ideal and intellectual side which we are about to enter, when per- of life. She said farewell to the friends who had helped them along the rough look will seem dark and gloomy, if we thorny path of knowledge, and said that will but recall to mind the happiness it their kindness would ever be remembered

Miss Stella Conlan then sang a solo, enthe gathering gloom; by it our faltering titled "Angel's Tears," which was well

Rev. J. I. Nickerson dismissed the aud ience with the benediction.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

On Thursday evening the commencement exercises were held at the opera house. The first on the program was a piano solo, which was beautifully rend-This was followed by prayer by Rev. J. I. Nickerson. Messrs. Burg, Ward, Eisenman and Ward then entertained the aud-

The address was delivered by Rev. C. Mr. Jones is an eloquent speaker and has daughter of Betty Washington Lewis. an excellent delivery. His subject was sister of our first President, and also a "True Culture," and below we give a great-grandniece of Martha Washing-

Never before have educators done so much for child life and culture. There has been a wide diffusion of knowledge and the average man is far more intelligent than was his grandfather. The simole homespun individualistic life is past. Complex and closely associated will be the life of the future. The wants of the world grow larger and more urgent every lay. They call for leaders. Life is one ong series of adjustments from childgood to youth, youth'to manhood and vomanhood, and to meet ever changing ircumstances. There are only three ays of living, begging, stealing or workng. No one would choose the former, Therefore education should equip a manto work manfully, nobly and independ- probate in New York. Mr. Palmer's ently. "This fitting of the individual to its environment on the larger and broader scale is the field of education."

Our schools do not expect to train sordid toilers and keep them to make money. Their purpose is something higher-to teach serenity of mind and and loftiness of purpose, to make men see straight and think clearly. The child, the youth, the man are entitled to America, says that he has had all he hysical, scientific, literary, aesthetic, inaitutional and religious knowledge.

True culture is enlarged experience, which comes from being in touch with men and the conditions, social or otherwise of all places and times. It envolves knowledgeof self. "Know thyselves" the creeks wrote upon their temple. This is always embodied in true culture. The advice is old but not 'obselete, ancient or antiquated. True culture involves toil and is of paramount importance to greatness. Society should not be under the baneful law of competition but under the beneficient rule of co-operation. The world gains more in its ideals and achievements from those who live fully up to all the possibilities of heart, brain and muscle than from those who in order to excel narrow themselves to the ex-clusive path where greatness alone can folow. Culture is not selfish gratification of aesthetic taste but a reaching forth to grasp the fulness of life and invest its meaning that we may rise through growing knowledge to broader planes of living and loftier horizons of thought,

Tomorrow is the watchword of manhood, tomorrow not in procrastination but tomorrow greater in its possibilities and attainments. More glorious in its achievements, richer in Its experiences. May each tomorrow be greater than each today even to the end of our lives.

Louis Burg sang a solo, after which Supt. W. W. Gifford in a short talk to the members of the class presented them with their diplomas. This was followed by a solo by Miss L. Annie Bacon, and the audience was dismissed by Rev. W. P. Con-

Classical Course-Warren Boyd, Faye

Palmer, Leigh Palmer. Latin Course-Edith Bacon, Etta Foster, Ralph Holmes, Florence Martin,

Scientific Course-Lloyd Gifford

English Course-Francis Fenn, Carrie Goodrich, John Hindelang, Fred A. Johnson, Don McCall, Rose Mullen, Ella Nickerson, Paul Schaible.

All seniors were required to present their final essays before graduation. Florence Martin was chosen as valedictorian and was thus assigned first post of honor, having gained the highest average standing in all studies for the entire four year's course in the high school. In like manner, John Hindelang was chosen to fill second post of honor that of salutatorian. After the two posts of honor were assigned by the teachers in accordance with due merit, the class of '99 proceeded to its right of election in filling the other parts of the program and Miss Emma of Ypsilanti were the guests of Mr. Wines was chosen class essayist; Faye Gorton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Palmer was chosen class poet; Miss Edith Gorton several days of the past week. Bacon, historian; Ralph Holmes, orator; and Warren Boyd, class prophet, but, papers from the other ten members of is, are we prepared? Into whatever delivered with the same pleasing effect and with the same ability, without making the program too long for an evening so warm as a June evening is expected

NOTES OF NUTABLES.

Secretary Hay is the proud poscesso: of a quatrain of Fitzgerald's version of Omar Khayyam, written by the translator's own hand.

The suit of Senator Proctor, of Vermont, against the city of San Francisco, over the ownership of Lafayette Park, has just been revived in the California courts.

Alexander Dowling, a justice of the Supreme Court of Indiana, and a restdent of New Albany, bears so strong a resemblance to the President that he is known as "the man with the Mc-Kinley bead.

ered by Miss Blanche Seper Cushman. College for Negroes at Normal, Ala., is the only negro president of a college born in slavery and self-educated. He was 17 years old before he knew his

Miss Anna Danbridge Mitchell, a

Paul de Longpre, the well-known flower painter after spending seven years in New York, is transporting both his studio and his entire establishment to Los Angeles, where heproposes to spend the next three years. the beautiful and relatively unknown flora of the Pacific coast.

M. Anatole Deibler, the new public executioner of Paris, who while his father held the place, moved in society and was well-received, finds now that he has taken up his father's work that many doors are closed against him. decided the entertainment was a suc-He has even found it necessary to resign from his bicycle club.

The will of Richard Suydam Palmer, a well-known yachtsman, was filed for death occurred in Colorado Springs on March'l, as the result of hardships suffered during the campaign. He leaves $10,000 to Captain Casper F. Goodrich, of the United States navy, under whom he had served as an ensign on the auxiliary cruiser St. Louis.

Sir Martin Conway, who has returned to England after an extended mountain-climbing tour through South wants of that sort of thing, and he 'won't go there any more." He may do a little modest picnicking in the Alps, where there are railways, but he has given up forever the conquest of new peaks.

The Rev. Benjamin Du Bois Wyckoff, for thirty-five years a missionary in India, died the other day, in North Carolina. He was born in Ohio in 1834, was a graduate of Hanover Colnary, was married to Malissa Johnson in 1860, and, accompanied by his wife, started almost immediately for the mission field. After many years of service, broken only by occasional furloughs, he finally returned to the United States in 1895, very much shattered in health.

HERE AND THERE.

Marine underwriters paid $12,000,-000 in losses on the sea last year. The ice trust is formed to freeze out smaller concerns, of course.-Indianapolis News. The island of Malta has a population of 157,736. The number of deaths last year was 5,547, including eight victims of leprosy. A syndicate has been formed at Aixla-Chapelle for laying a cable between Bremerhaven and New York. The cost is estimated at $2,500,000. Production of Bessemer steel ingots in the United States during 1898 was more than four times as great as the year's production in Great Britain.

Henry Lee Higginson, the Boston illionaire, was asked the other day what he would do if he were suddenly I'd take the first job that offered."

WATERLOO.

C. G. Watson was an Ann Arbor visitor Saturday.

friends in Henrietta.

Bert Hubbard of Grand Rapids is spending this week with his parents There will be an ice cream social at the U. B. parsonage Friday evening, Mrs. Inez Leek has returned from Ypsilanti and will spend the summer

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Gorton and son

SHARON.

Henry Heselschwerdt has purchased

Seymour Kendall of Jackson was in town Sunday.

August Obersmith of the U. of M. is home to spend his vacation.

Mrs. S. Smith and daughter, Myra ton. of Manchester visited in town Sunday. here last week to spend vacation with. Davis. his parents.

Mrs. Geurin and son, Charlie of Ypsilanti visited her sister, Mrs. A. Holden part of last week.

Milton Heselschwerdt was in Ann Arbor last week having his hand treated. The doctors fear that it is consumption of the bone.

SYLVAN.

malarial fever. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wright of Lima pent Sunday at Jas. Young's. Mrs. Brown of Lima is the guest of Fred Gilbert and family, this week.

Forner, sr. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webber of fore said meeting.

Southern girl, who has just made her | Whitmore Lake spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Ed Branch of Brookyn, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Tuttle > of Chelsea and Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dancer spent Friday at M. B. Millspaugh'e. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Sylvan Christian Umon will meet at the home of Mrs. M. B. Millspaugh, Thursday, July 5. A cordial invita tion is extended to all. Children's Day exercises at the Sylvan Christian Union last Sunday evening was largely attended. The children being well trained, every one

LIMA.

Gottlieb Hutzel raised his barn Sat-

Mrs. Eva Fiske visited friends in Delhi, last week.

Miss Amy Morse visited friends in Chelsea last week.

John Pratt, sr., is suffering with sciatic rheumatism.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Freer spent Sunday at Ypsilanti. Floyd Page is attending summer

chool at Ann Arbor. Ed. Wenk and John Sodtz spent Sunday at Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs, Ed. Wildey visited friends in Manchester Sunday. Mrs. George Gould and children of Jackson are visiting Mrs. S. Cooper.

George Van Tassel of Chicago is visiting his sister, Mrs. E. B. Freer. Miss Alma Stanton of Webster spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. George

Mrs. W. I. Whitaker of Durand is visiting her parent, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Perry.

Miss Ada Yakley of Chelsea is visiting her grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Covert.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mayer and family of Sharon visited at Lewis Mayer's Sunday. The social Saturday evening was well attended and the society realized bout éleven dollars. Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Covert, sr., and

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Covert, jr., visited relatives in Chelsea Sunday. Miss Edna Reade of North Lake has been engaged to teach the school in the Leander Easton district for another LIMA IN 1834.

Owing to unavoidable circumstances

weshall be unable to give to our readers

as much of the past history of our ownship as we contemplated, or as we promised them in our last letter. The obtaining of reliable records has been considerable of a task, more so even than we had anticipated. We shall however endeavor to make a start with this issue and hope to be able to continue in each succeeding letter to tell something regarding the settlement of Lima township, and the experiences of Mr. and Mrs. S. Vicary are visiting some of our pioneers. We shall commencing with the organic.

The first township meeting was held first Monday in April, 1834. The meeting was called to order by Russell Parker, one of the justices of the peace, between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock in the forenoon and the electors present then proceeded to choose, viva voce, a moderator and clerk, John K. Bingham was chosen clerk, and Oliver- L. Cooper judge of election. The meeting being duly organized and the proclamation duly made for the opening of the polls, the electors of the township proceeded to business and the following persons were duly elected to fill the several offices:

Supervisor-Russell Parker.

Township Clerk-John K. Bingham. Pierce, Lemuel S. Scott.

Commissioners of Highways-Rod-Prof. Fred Irwin of Bay City came ney Ackley, Samuel Cooper, John

F. S. Sheldon, Solomon Sutherland,

Clements, John Davis,

Inspectors of Common Schools-Darius Pierce, Elkanah Downer Deacon G. Willits, Pound Master-John Harford. Fence Viewers -- Curtis Hurd, Joseph

NOTICE.

The annual school meeting of District No. 2, Fractional Lima and Sylvan will be held at town hall in the Village of Chelsea, Monday evening, July 10, at 8 Mrs. Geo. Steinbach of Lima spent o'clock, for the purpose of electing two Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chris trustees and for the transaction of such other business as shall properly come be-

William Bacon,

Assessors-Elijah Cooper, Darius Constable and Collector-Elias Eas-

Commissioners of Common Schools

Diver L. Cooper. Directors of the Poor-Samuel

Samuel Bradley, Oliver L. Cooper,

Mrs. Fred Seegar is seriously ill with P. Riggs, John K. Bingham.

Chelsea, June 29, 1899.

Director.

VILLAGE TAXES

For Sale—Two Premier, high grade '99 nodel, b cycles, fully warranted, $25 each. One new Ideal bicycle '99 model, fully warranted, manufactured by Rambler

One Sensation, '99 model, $15. These wheels are all new '99 models and can be seen be seen at J. S. Cummings' store. A. W. Wilkinson, Agent.

The friends of The Standard who have ousiness in the probate court, will confer The first township meeting was held a favor on the paper by requesting that at the house of John Harford on the their probate notices he published in this stinctively at her companion.

As a usual thing a young man and a young woman who love each other do not care much where they are so long as they are together. But when the bottom drops out and they suddenly go below in an unknown pirate cave the situation is startling, even in fiction. This is only one of the many thrilling situations in the unusual story

The Foundered Galleon

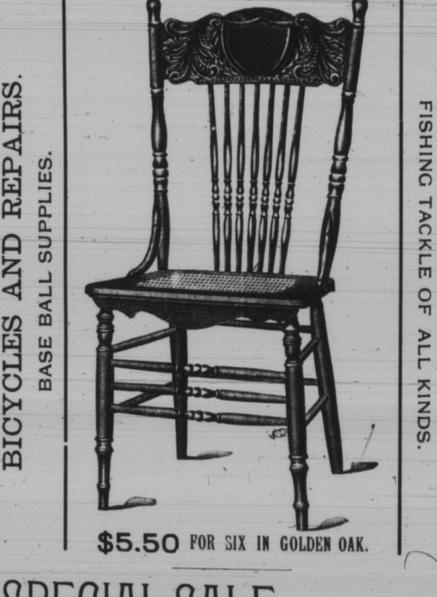

By Weatherby Chesney and Alick Munro

The foundered galleon was laden with gold, and a search for it with a boat that would travel on the bed of the ocean is the incident around which the story s built.

This story is now running in The Standard.

Subscribe for The Standard NOW, and thus obtain the whole of this thrilling story.

HAMMOCKS 95c to $3.50.

CONTINUED FOR

10 DAYS MORE

Easels 40c, 60c, 75c, $1.25 and up.

Pictures, 5 inch gold and white frame $1.25. Over fifty pictures to select from.

the tollowing low prices:

Full size oak suits $13.00 to $25.00. Ash and elm suits $9.00, $12.00, $14 00 and $16 00. Correct springs 95 cents. Diamond spring, made specially for us and warranted 5 years, $2.00. Mattresses $1.75, $2.00, $2.50.

The Bent Glass Front. Main Street South.

We have the largest line of bedroom suits in Chelses for 10 days only we give

The eagle w The work o oving at a g The Gramm u North Lake Dr. H. H. ew house ne. J. P. Foste ut down in Main street.

Walter Bain he hotel at C bis summer, Frank Broo now engage o his residen The Ypsilan reek with a the Fourth of good show of uit court ste W. W. Giffo ence resider and will soon L. Tichenor oats to one n per resort sou The Chelse. furnish m relebration n It is 'repor families wait and there is n It is though the Christi will attend th week.

It is said tha

Anumber attended the Freer to Mr. evening. The young ng St. Jo

Wednesday. The memb wish to than ty of the scho ave assisted returned hon

Paul Chase ne strawbe or thanks nost exceller Married, a

Arbor, on We Amy Cong ael T. Kenny Rev. W. F occupied the both mornin

preach there

REE

RIGER

0

RS

P

Q

80

Editor Gile well known the other di was called n

Arrangem he corner st on Wednesdi Allen of Yp Chris. Bag day, and rep aterritic win turned carri The L C. social at th ment will be new membe Geo. P. St out of one o the wind th It is placed evening at 7

store and a H. S. 11 about 30,00 farmers in been accum from whom Leek, W. E

Lyndon. Married, Manchester Manchester Arbor. Mr will join wi the newly happy life.

The Miss Horton, M Prentiss, M C. Dickinso G. Hamble spend a we ing Time Word co

The eagle will scream next Tuesday.

The work on the new M. E. church is wing at a good rate.

The Grammarians of '99 held a picnic Morth Lake, Saturday.

pr. H. H. Avery has the wall for his new house nearly completed.

out down in front of his residence on of Detroit is counsel. Main street.

this summer,

now engaged in building an addition enter the U. of M. next fall o his residence.

the Fourth of July.

It is said that Harry D. Morton stands a ood show of getting the position of ciruit court stenographer. W. W. Gifford has purchased the Lawence residence on Middle street east, and will soon move therein.

L Tichenor has sold nine of his fine oats to one man at Clark's Lake, a summer resort south of Jackson.

furnish music for a Fourth of July narrow escape. elebration near Manchester.

It is reported that there are fifteen and there is not one to be found.

A number of people from this place for penmanship. attended the wedding of Miss Maude Freer to Mr. C. W. Tuttle at Jackson last ave assisted them.

most excellent berries.

Married, at St. Thomas' church, Ann Arbor, on Wednesday, June 21, 1899, Miss Amy Congdon of Sylvan and Mr. Michael T. Kenny of Ann Arbor.

Rev. W. K. Dennis of Colebrook, O., occupied the pulpit at the Baptist church angel in front of the library. oth morning and evening. He will preach there next Sunday morning.

was called upon to pay a fine of $15.

Wednesday, July 12th. Rev. C. T.

Chris. Bagge was in Pinckney Wednesay, and reports that while he was there Herrific windstorm came up which overurned carriages and caused quite a little new members.

farmers in one neighborhood. It had all its action and moving scenes. een accumulating since 1893. The men rom whom it was purchased were Horace Leek, W. E. Wessels and S. A. Collins of Married, on Monday, June 26, 1899, at Manchester, Miss Emma Neebling of Manchester to Mr. J. B. Beissel of Ann Arbor. Mr. Beissel's many friends here will join with The Standard in wishing the newly married couple a long and nappy life.

The Misses Nina Mae Howlett, Grace Horton, Minnie Bunker, Mrs. James H. Prentiss, Messrs. Charles Hole, Bartlett C. Dickinson, James H. Prentiss and J. 6. Hamblen, Jr., left this morning to spend a week at Cavanaugh lake.—Eveling Times.

Word comes from Zukey Lake, a popular resort about fifteen miles north of Ann Arbor, that Senator and Mrs. Charles A. Ward had a narrow escape from drowning Tuesday. The boat in which they were capsized. Mrs. Ward sank three times, but they were rescued by resorters.

The water commission is prospecting or more wells for the water works.

t Cavanaugh Lake for the summer.

Only eleven of the forty applicants for teachers' certificates at the last examination successfully passed. Miss Nellie A. Lowny was one of the lucky ones, receiving a second grade certificate. Fred Detroit. Feldkamp received a third grade certifi-

W. W. Wedemeyer of Cavanaugh & Wedemeyer, attorneys, Ann Arbor, was at Ypsilanti: in Chelsea on business the first of the week. He has been retained as attorney day at this place. for The Glazier Stove Co., in an interfer-J. P. Foster is having a cement walk ence patent suit, in which C. F. Burton

The class of '99 gave a farewell recep-Walter Bain of Ann Arbor has rented tion to Miss Carrie McClaskie at the the hotel at Cavanaugh and will run it pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. relatives at Ypsilanti. Holmes, Monday evening. A very enjoyable time was had. Miss McClaskie has to spend a few weeks. Frank Brooks has built a new barn and closed her work in this school and will

The New York News association has The Ypsilanti Sentinel came out this sent to Hon. A. J. Sawyer for a copy of reek with a gorgeous cover, in honor of his address on "What is the proper method of dealing with criminals," which was delivered before the Business Men's association, and have asked him for the privilege of printing it. Mr. Sawyer has complied with the request.

Friday morning the three-year-old daughterof Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fletcher fell from a second story window of their home, a distance of about fifteen feet. No bones were broken and she sustained but a few bruises. She was able to be about the house within a short The Chelsea Band has been engaged time after the accident. It was a very

Victor Hindelang, the Misses Amy and Etta Foster, William Cassidy and Miss amilies waiting for houses in Chelsea Nellie Savage attended the closing exercises of St. Joseph's Academy, Adrain, Tuesday. Miss Winnifred Cassidy was It is thought that about fifty members graduated and received a diploma and a the Christian Endeavor from this place | gold medal; Miss Edith Foster received a will attend the convention at Detroit next gold medal for proficiency in music, and Miss Mary Gorman received a gold cross

There was another change of time on the Michigan Central Sunday. The only the guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred Schuschange that effects passengers is in the sler. The young ladies from Chelsea attend | Mail train going west, which now arrives ing St. Joseph's Academy, Adrian, at 10:12 instead of 9:17 a.m. If they returned home for the summer vacation would make a few more changes like this, a Chelsea man would be able to go to Jackson one day and come home the wish to thank the school board, the facul- together and petition the railroad com- week. y of the school and all the friends who pany to give us two more trains a day.

The Spanish mortar for the senior place. Paul Chase has been raising some very class of the university arrived at Ann ne strawberries this season. He has Arbor Tuesday morning from New York. our thanks for a couple of baskets of This is one of the four allotted to Michigan which Gov. Pingree is distributing about the state. The weight is 2,300 pounds and on it is inscribed "Ludovicus, 1. Hispan Rez. A. D. 1724." It was taken from Moro Castle and is of 1278 Anch bore. It will be mounted and placed on the campus near the flag staff in the tri-

Miss Marie Brietenbach of Chelsea received her diploma with high honors Editor Gildart, of the Stockbridge Sun, from the University of Michigan Trainwell known in this place was assaulted ing School for Nurses last Thursday. the other day by a Mr. Rose and Rose Miss Breitenbach has been a very succesful nurse during her two years of training. It may be truly said that she is one Arrangements are being made to lay of the best nurses ever graduated from be corner stone of the new M. E. church this school, her cheerful face and kind words will be greatly missed in the hos-Allen of Ypsilanti will deliver the ad- pital wards by the sick ones. She has a great many friends who join in wishing her much success in her grand profesion.

The Wonderful Biograph, the most perfect animated picture machine in the world, has returned to Wonderland, Detroit, for an indefinite period. It will re-The L. C. B. A. will hold their first main at least four weeks and probably social at the Maccabee hall Thursday longer. Some wonderful new pictures, evening at 7:30 o'clock. Light refresh: more perfect and interesting than any ment will be served after the initiation of that have yet been shown will be seen. Among them will be a trip across Brooklyn bridge and the audience will see the Geo. P. Staffan has made a wind mill bridge, its surroundings and experience, out of one of his bicycles and runs it with the sensation of riding just the same as the wind that is raised by an electric fan. if they were actually making a trip across It is placed in the show window of the the bridge on the cable car. The camera tore and attracts a great deal of atten- was placed on the front of one of the cars when the picture was taken and one can H. S. Holmes this week purchased easily imagine the effect when the picabout 30,000 pounds of wool of three ture is reproduced by the Blograph with

> Fourth of July Closing. We, the undersigned, agree to close our stores all day Tuesday, July 4th, 1899. H S Holmes Mercantile Co

Hoag & Holmes W J Knapp W P Schenk & Company Fenn & Vogel

J S Cummings C'Steinbach Glazier & Stimson H L Wood & Co Chelsea Steam Laundry

L Winans J J Raftrey J George Webster Miller Sisters Nellie C Maroney Ella-C Foster Jacob Mast John Farrell (at noon)

Anna Conaty & Co
Kempf & McKuhe
Staffan-Shell Furniture Co
Adam Eppler (at noon)
C Shaler (at noon)

A. R. Welch spent part of the week in

Rev. W. P. Considine spent Tuesday at

Rev. J. I. Nickerson spent Wednesday

John Beissel of Ann Arbor spent Sun- Considing the first of the week.

time at Jackson.

Miss Tillie Girbach visited friends at Ann Arbor Sunday.

Mrs. Amelia Glover has been visiting of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Snyder Monday.

Mrs. Chas. Leach has gone to Paw Paw Mr. and Mrs. William Rheinfrank were Dexter visitors Sunday.

with friends at Paw Paw.

of Dexter friends Sunday, Miss Swarthout of Fowlerville is the this week.

guest of Miss Edith Boyd. of Mr. and Mrs. A. Turner.

Chauncey Staffan of Ann Arbor spent outh and Detroit. Sunday with his parents here.

Miss Edith Boyd over Sunday. Mrs. Thomas Shaw of Ypsilanti is the guest of her father, F. M. Hooker. Miss Dora Schnaitman of Ann Arbor spent Sunday with friends here, Messrs. John Dunning and J. D. Watson spent Monday at Ann Arbor. Mrs. R. McColgan is spending a few weeks with her parents in Canada.

Miss Mary Kurfess of Jackson is the guest of Mrs. H. M. Taylor this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Babcock of Grass Lake spent the first of the week here.

Miss Hepburn of Detroit was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hepburn this week. Miss Jennie Hoffman of Cleveland is

Mrs. G. Gould and sons of Jackson was the guests of Mrs. James Taylor Tues-

Mrs. Robert Holmes of Lansing was The members of the graduating class next day. Our business men should get the guest of Mrs. J. C. Taylor, the past

> Mrs, J. D. Schnaitman of Ann Arbor spent the latter part of last week at this

Mrs. J. S. Gorman and children are ing some time with relatives at

Miss Kate fluoker, who has been in psilanti for some time, is home for the

THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O

Misses Minnie and Bertha Schumacher are in Ann Arbor where they will spend of Lansing were the guests of Mrs. Emma Gillam over Sunday.

Capt. Considine of Detroit was the guest of his son, the Rev. William P.

Frank Taylor of Mason and Miss Cora Dainty Figures, Miss Pauline Girbach is spending some Taylor of Jackson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Taylor Friday.

H. G. Prettyman of Ann Arbor and Dr. Prettyman of Chicago were the guests

Miss Edith Baldwin returned to New York city Monday after spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. TurnBull. Mesdames A. F. Freeman and Elwin

English of Manchester were the guests Miss Inez Leach is spending sometime of Mr. and Mrs. L.T.Freeman this week. Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Burkhart of Perry

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter were the guests and Mrs. R. Johnson of Dexter were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Burkhart Mrs. D. H. Wurster and daughter,

Miss May Davis of Delhi is the guest Nina, and Miss Nina Crowell are spending a few weeks with relatives at Plym-

Arthur Corwin, who has been employed Miss Lizzle Derck was the guest of by Frank Shaver for the past year, left the first of the week for Flint, where he has secured a situation.

The rules and regulations governing St. Mary's cemetery, Sylvan; and Mt. Olivet cemetery, Chelsea and which constitute the undersigned the bishop's representative, having been approved by Rt. Rev. Bishop Foley of Detroit. The Bishop has also approved and published the deeds to be given to lot owners in each cemetery. Therefore, all persons interested are hereby notified that a noncompliance with these laws will subject them to prosecution.

Chelsea, June 28, 1899. William P. Considine, Rector St. Mary's Church.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our appreciation to the kind friends for their assistance, sympathy and flowers during our late

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Van Tyne. Mrs. Wm. Yocum Mrs. Lewis Conk.

Lost-A gold ring with black set. Finder leave at Standard office.

Get Your 4th of July

ORDERS IN EARLY.

Our Store will be Closed all day the 4th.

We are prepared to fill all orders for this to eat and at prices that are right.

great holiday with the best of everything good

~~~~

WE OFFER:

Fancy large ripe Port Limon Bananas 20c dozen

Extra fancy Royal Anne cherries 10 pound boxes

Extra fancy Black Tartarian cherries 10 pound boxes

Extra fancy Royal Apricots

Fancy Burbank plums 50c basket.

Fancy Highland Mediterranean sweet oranges 50c dozen

California late Valencia oranges

Large bright waxy Messina lemons 20c dozen

Extra large waxy Messina lemons 25c dozen

Large bright Florida pines 15c, 20c and 25c each warranted ripe and sweet at the lowest price.

New Tennessee Triumph Potatoes.

Green Peas, White Spine Cucumbers,

California silver leaf onions 5c per pound

Large ripe Tomatoes fresh and solid

W. J. G. brand Japan Tea the finest brand for making

ICED TEA or hot either that money will buy.

JAMO COFFEE the worlds best.

Standard Mocha and Java coffee 25c pound

Golden Rio, Santos, and blended coffees of excellent flavor, strength and purity.

Fancy Breakfast bacon

Dried Beef knuckles, chipped or whole

Cold boiled ham, tender and sweet

We do cut the best CHEESE.

CHELSEA TELEPHONE NO. 10,

THE PEOPLE SAY:

Heinz's preserved sweet

pickles......25c bottle

Gilt Edge lobsters and Columbia

River salmon

F. Delory French sardines

Fancy Seville olives . . . . 35c bottle

Selected Queen olives....25c bottle

East Inda pickles...... 25c bottle

Keystone midget pickles. 30c bottle

Keystone chow chow . . . . 25c bottle

AND

QUEEN QUALITY SHOES

Always $3.00, never more; never less

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Gillam and son, Robert The most Perfect fitting Ladies Shoe on the American market; for solid wear and comfort they are excelled by none.

Tastely Attired-

TRADE / MARK

Made perfect by wearing faultless

Shoes for ladies.

THE FAMOUS Queen Quality Shoe For Women. Price $3.00 In presenting

"Queen Quality" we have placed before the Women of America a shoe of exceptional value for $3.00. Highest Quality of material and workmanship.

Made in thirty styles suitable for street, dress, home, or outing. For reand fitting where others fail, they ave no equal.

STYLE

Foerderer's

Vici Kid used

The popular up-to-date proprietor and manager of the Glass Block

MERCHANT TAILORING PARLORS

with the largest stock to select from and by far the best mechanics to make them. We are solicitors and get the trade and pay out more money for labor than any other merchant tailoring establishment in western Washtenaw county.

RAFTREY

The Popular Tailor with

POPULAR PRICES.

All work to be as represented. We are responsible.

PURE FOOD STORE

YOU WILL FIND AT THE

the best goods that money will buy. No cheap trash. We are thankful for the trade we enjoy. We can't do it all. We are not mad because we can't. We don't snoop around to see what our neighbors are doing. We have no time. You will always find goods as represented.

> Good Salt Pork 5 cents per pound. JOHN FARRELL, PURE FOOD STORE

REMOVAL

I have removed to my rooms ov Fenn & Vogel's drug store, where I shall continue my business as an OPTICIAN.

and the general repairing of Watches Clocks and Jewelry, and should be pleased to have all my old customers and many new old to give me a call in my new quarters.

F. KANTLEHNER.

AUCTIONEER

Geo. H. Foster,

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Terms Reasonable.

Headquarters at Standard Office.

CHAPTER I.

THE YELLOW MANUSCRIPT. Two men sat and smoked in a small an untidy room, and through the pungent incense of ship's plug, which one sure that the story is true!"
of them was smoking, there struggled Dr. Tring nodded, and. another and more unpleasant odor, the musty spirituous smell of a badly kept arm bones littered the tables, monstrosities is wide mouthed bottles jostled other stuffed and moldy monstrosities on there were none of these things there were books—books everywhere—even plug) was sitting. Their sharp edges e dimples in the comfortable roundness of his figure, but he was excited, and if they hurt him he did not seem to notice it.

heavy, and the hair growing in a close mat down over his wrists gave a suggestion of burly outdoor strength strangely incongruous in such a room as this. His dress, which was that of a captain in the merchant service, bore out this appearance of incongruity. Presently he removed the pipe from his mouth and, leaning forward, tapped the other man's knee with the stem.

"Can we do it, doctor?" he asked anxiously. "The gold must be there; enough of it to make us both millionwe lay our hands on it?"

At this question the other man rose from his chair and walked over to the glass case where the serpents were. For fully five minutes he watched their slow, purposeless contortions without cigarette. Now, whether it was that Dr. Tring did not sha his comrade's excitement or that his leathery brown emotion to affect his expression it is impossible to say, but the fact remains that even Captain Nicholas Colepepper's sailor's eye was unable to read anything, whether of encouragement or the reverse, on the shriveled, chartlike face of his friend.

The doctor took a long pull at his cigarette, drew the smoke deep down into his lungs and kept it there for about half a minute; then he spoke, and with each word the imprisoned smoke crept furtively in broken spurts from his mouth and went to join forces with the heavy clouds which the captain was blowing with impatient energy from his pipe.

"Captain Colepepper, sir, you ask me whether we can raise that Spanish gold (a whole shipload of it, if your story is true) from where it now lies, imbedded deep in the coze of the Atlantic. I answer you that I don't know." The captain had evidently expected a more encouraging reply, and the vicious way in which he bit at his pipestem showed how much he was disappointed. "You've thought over what I told you?" said he.

"Yes. I've thought it over."

"And you don't think it can be done? Man, it's bound to be a million at least! And it's there, I tell you, just waiting for us to take it."

"I don't go so far as to say that it can't be done," replied the doctor with some hesitation. "It may be, Colepepper, it may be. But I'don't like to commit myself until I'm sure.'

"Oh, come, that's better!" exclaimed the captain with returning animation. "If you say it's possible at all, that's enough for me. If Dr. Tring says a thing can be done, then Dr. Tring and Captain Colepepper between 'em will do

"Umph!" said the doctor shortly. "A million of gold-or two millions, maybe," went on the other, mouthing the big numbers as though the very manner of saying them would make them bigger. "We shall be able to do things with that." "No doubt," said the doctor dryly, "if we get it, but it seems to me that if we try we're more likely to lose the little we have and our lives, too, per-

"But the manuscript, doctor, the manuscript!" It's all down there as plain as the rule o' the road at sea." "Who was this Nicholas Colepepper, and where did you find his log?'

"I found the log in a lumber chest down at our old farmhouse in Devonthire, and the Nicholas Colepepper who wrote it was an ancestor of mine. I expect," added the captain meditatively, "I'm called after him in a way, as my name's Nicholas too. But, for the matter o' that, my grandfather's name | dulls the fresh glances of any mariner's was Nicholas. There always has been one in the family, you see.

"And this Nicholas the First-what "Pirate," replied the captain shortly. "He doesn't say so himself, of course. Calls himself an bonest buccaneer in an eminently respectable calling in the time of good Queen Bess.'

"Of course it was!" agreed Captain om in Shaftoe street, Bristol. It was | Colerepper excitedly. "And, don't you

sently with a human thigh bone which years, and had lost half our number was lying on the table, smoked for a through wounds, scurvy, calentures and my museum. Human skulls and little time in thoughtful silence. Cap- other sickness, and so could muster but tain Colepepper meanwhile fldgeted incessantly in the big chair, and with fumbling fingers cut another fill of plug from their bunks by the rustle of prepathe shelves, and a couple of bloated ser- and rammed it into his pipe with so ration. The don was a 1,000 ton galleon ents twined themselves into slimy knots | much unnecessary violence that the n a glass case in one corner. And where shining black clay was in imminent Manger of breaking under the strain. | nigh 500 men fit to carry arms. All of which is merely an evidence that in the corners of the deep armchair in the captain's agitation was overpowerwhich one of the men (he of the ship's | ing, for he loved his cutty, and would have grieved for a month if he had broken it.

as the doctor's in playing with the was surely yellow ballast enough in her He was a big man, red faced and thigh bone, for when he had done he did not light it, but laid it on the table, and, resting his elbows on his knees and his chin in his hands, leaned for- third, or perhaps a half, might lose the ward and anxiously watched his com- number of their mess during so hot an panion's face. His whole attitude be- engagement as the one whereon we tokened an excitement the suppression were entering promised to be, there of which was actually painful.

in deciding what he would have for dinner, so utterly calm was his expression. It was a terribly anxious moment for the sailor, for on his friend's desires, most likely. The point is—can | cision rested everything. Excellent seaman though be was, Captain Colepepper knew well enough that without the other's assistance he could do nothing. He could fit out a ship, it is true, and ments of the master painter's art. She take her to the very spot where the galleon with all her precious freight had foundered; that much he knew he close quarters and with all the Spanish speaking. Then he returned to the ta-ble, reached for the tobacco jar and could do, but that was not enough. rolled himself a thin and very tight | And for the rest he relied absolutely on the scientific skill of his friend Dr. Tring. If Dr. Tring said "No," then the Spanish gold must stay where it face was too thickly seared with deep, was, and Captain Colepepper would permanent lines to allow any passing spend his life in the sailing of ships and die at last a humble merchant captain. If Dr. Tring said "Yes," Captain Colepepper would cheerfully spend every penny he had in the world in fitting out a vessel in which to make the venture and would be content to die in the end a pauper, if only he could first have a fair shot at being a millionaire. Meanwhile the suspense was slowly driving him frantic. Beads of perspiration were rolling unheeded down his nose and dropping on to his beard. At last he could stand the strain of inaction no longer, and, throwing himself back in the chair, began, utterly unconscious of what he was doing, to whisper strange sailor oaths beneath his breath.

The captain spread the yellow manuscript out on the table.

These turgid mutterings had the effect of rousing Dr. Tring to speech: "Have you got your respected ancestor's log with you?" he asked. For answer the captain produced the stained yellow sheets from his pocket and handed them across to his com-

"Read it to me again," said the doctor. "I want to get a clear grasp of all the details." "The whole of it?"

"No. Only where he tells about the

The captain spread the yellow manuscript out on the table before him and read as follows:

"From the log of Nicholas Colepepper, Esq., master of the snow [brig] Lucky Venture.

"THURSDAY, iij February, 1591. . . . "The night had been a thick one, and mayhap our lookouts, being somewhat tired of their task, had not been overspry in their watch. Three weeks of peering through the weather for a vessel that never heaves in sight eye, and we had been lying hove to or standing on and off for the galleon for five days over that time. So when dawn sicklied over the waters, and the great ship was spied bowling along good five miles to windward, I was at first minded to shoot the fellow on the foreyard his log, but I expect pirate was about for keeping such lubberly watch, but re-the real size of it." membering that we should presently ight little snow of which she was ca-

"The Spaniard's lookout was smart at work when first we espied him, so he nust have known of our presence before we knew of his. Now, it is the custom of the yearly plateship to sail only during the day and to remain hove to during the night hours, but this fellow must have been under weigh all through the darkness, having been advertised of our snow's presence, probably, and so from this departure from custom we took heart accordingly.

"A chase to windward is always tedious work, but as we sailed better and faster on every point than the Spaniards, 'twas only a matter of time, and our grapple. The Spanish gunners we could tell the hour to a nicety when we should be able to bring them into see, that's just what makes me so cock- action. The thing that vexed some of hanger and boarding ax we scaled my men was the disparity in numbers. their lofty upper works and hacked our Dr. Tring nodded, and. toying ab. We had been at sea, off and on, for two a poor 83 all told, and many of them resisted, and save for a party headed to testify to its merits. My face today is half disabled and brought scurvy rotten by the Spanish commandant-who renewly out of port, with all her complement hale and sound, and with well "As we rose her hull above the plain of ocean we saw it was pierced for ordnance innumerable, for pieces both great and small; but, though this was somewhat discomforting, her lowness in the His action in filling his pipe was, water was such that fears were swamped however, apparently just as unconscious as they rose to the surface, for there holds to make us all rich men for life, even supposing that none of us was killed, and as out of our small 83 a would be the greater share for the sur-Dr. Tring's face, however, betrayed vivors. So all were eager for the cast of nothing. He might have been engaged fortune's dice box, which might bring them their death or might render them independent of mariner's trafficking for the remainder of their natural lives.

"The don was ablaze with banners and ancients [ensigns], and on the ample belly of her forecourse was depicted the head of St. Catherine, her patroness, with all the gauds and embellishwas replete with carvings and gildings, with high fore and after castles, with devices for naval fortification, and in good sooth she was as brave a ship as ever breasted Atlantic or lured honest English buccaneer to plunder.

"Thus far had I writ before we came within shot range. Our fellows, as is always their wont, had set a cask of strong ale abroach in the waist and were feasting and making merry, for slip, triced boarding nettings up to his lower yardarms, opened his ports and ran out the guns, and in fine made all ready for action. He was willing enough to run had chance been given him to do so, but now that he was cornered had no notion of yielding his treasure without a battle. But as this fell out as we had anticipated we were in nowise dismayed nor surprised, but cleared our pipes with a loud voiced drinking song. worked round to windward of him and held on to within musket range without throwing a shot.

"The don had been burning powder for a good half hour before our culverins and falconets hurtled back their message. Indeed his great ordnance on both broadsides had been spitting away at one and the same time, so that we guessed at the confusion that was raging in his 'tween decks and took comfort therefrom mightily, remembering/ that one small ball driven home is worth a dozen score of heavy ones which miss their bourne. Owing to the closeness of our approach, the don's gunners could not well depress the muzzles of their pieces, by reason of the narrowness of the gun ports; so that even the few shot whose direction was true had too great elevation and whistled harmlessly over our mastheads or sang through the upper rigging, and save for a cheesehole punched in the main topsail and a lee fore topmast backstay shot in twain we were not a whit the worse for his pelting when at length we began our own.

"Having run up into such short range before I gave the word to fire, we hacked him through and through with our very first broadside, and the groans and yells from his 'tween decks told us that we had made commendable slaughter, but by this time the arquebusiers in his roundtops had steadied down to their work and were browning my gun crews somewhat too cavalierly. So I bade my fellows load up with bar and chain shot, knock out some of their quoins and have at the don's rigging for all their skins were worth, which salute the galleon acknowledged by bowing to us with his foremast head, which had been twice hit by a shot from my main deck culverins. Roundtop and sharpshooters, foreyard and the great bellying course with its gaudy painting up head to wind, in spite of her timoour mercy.

"After this I ran ahead and in a series of short tacks raked her with if you but whisper it." alternate broadsides, to which she could hardly reply with a gun; for her bow chasers were masked by the raffle of wreckage, and when any of her people laughing hysterically all the time. It sought to remove this they, too, were mown down by our incessant fire. And | doctor's leathern face was at last surhad the fates permitted me to carry on this game of long bowls, she must perforce have yielded unconditionally.

"But when another half dozen broad-"Yes," said the doctor. "The law need all the hands we could get I anointed him with a few ahrewd blows from a calker's mallet, lying handy, and afraid that you are doing an injustice to your ancestor's memory. Piracy was we might get all the pace out of our sides must have reduced her word was passed that the powder had run completely out, for we had come into action with but a poorly stocked magazine, not having found opportunity to resides must have reduced her word was passed that the powder had run com-pletely out, for we had come into action plenish it of late. Forgetful of this, we had been burning the precious grains with feverish haste, and the grinning little powder monkey who brought me the tidings declared that there was not another tub left.

" 'Tis truly vexatious when an honest buccaneer finds himself in a strait like this, but there was no help for it. We could not get more powder by mere wishing, and we could not fire shot without it. We had naught therefore but cold steel left to rely upon, but cold steel has laid many a Spaniard low judged that he feared us, and our lads at my hands (and will, please heaven, knowing it has absolutely cured thoustook heart accordingly. ing in that, I sang out, 'Up helm!' and cried for boarders.

"We ran down alongside and threw poured in a fierce fire to our deserted tween decks, but armed with pike, way through the nettings inboard.

"Flushed with victory and nerved with strength by thoughts of the golden has cured some cases here that physicians hoard below, my fellows were not to be treated beyond the break of the poop and held the after castle in spite of all our efforts to dislodge them-save, I say, for these few, the whole crew was ful kept stubbornly at bay, and so, when, tiring at length of their resistance, they called for a parley, we staid our arms for a moment, being willing to make a truce and grant them quar-

"But the knave commandant, aping-'I yield to pirates on no terms whatever,' quoth he. 'Get you gone, and your lives are spared,' quoth he, 'or stay and press your present advantage that I will send you and the Santa bottles cured her. Catarina and myself and my crew skyward in one smoky shower. Beware, accursed English picaroon! A volcano is underfoot! At this instant I turn the glass. If in a minute's time you and your robber band have not made retreat, I fire my magazine, quoth he.

"His speech was in Spanish, and but few of my lads understood it. For myself, I never thought the fellow would be as good as his threat, and so, unwillto be hauled in, loaded, slewed round and trained so as to sweep his defenses. 'Thou truculent braggart,' quoth I, 'down on thy marrow bones and sue for quarter, or I blow thee and thy handful of ironclads out through the stern ports and into the sea! But scarce had the words left my beard when there came a roar from underfoot, the deck heaved, and we were all shot skyward together. "Beshrew me if the knave Spaniard had not been as good as his word! "For myself, I fell into the water amid a shower of other solids, unhurt by twice a miracle, and gained the and dented. The remainder of the crew had gone skyward in pieces that no surgeon, be he never so skillful, could

"But worse remains to tell, and surely gentlemen of fortune were never entreated so evilly. The port side of the galleon-that furthest from us-was blown completely out, and she foundered incontinently; foundered, I declare upon my manhood, before we could spoil her of anything; foundered without yielding us a solitary piece of eight, no not a maravedi; foundered in 200 fathoms of water, in latitude" "Stop!" interrupted Dr. Tring sharp-

The captain looked up from his reading. "We're just coming to the point,"

"Exactly!" was the reply, but for the present we will allow the precise latitude and longitude of the treasure to remain a secret, or, better still, commit your bloodthirsty ancestor's figures to memory, and I will do the same, and came down by the run; the galleon slid | then you can destroy that part of the manuscript which contains them, and," neer's every effort, and we had her at added the doctor, laughingly, "even in your dreams remember that there may be listeners waiting to steal the secret,

At these words Captain Colepepper sprang up, and, seizing the other's hand, wrung it hard for fully a minute, is, moreover; to be recorded that the prised into betraying an emotion; for under that grip he winced with pain.
"You agree?" cried the captain, when his delight allowed him to become

"Yes," was the answer; "I do

We'll have a try for the Spaniards' "Hurrah!" shouted the captain. "I ought you would. We shall be milionaires, doctor!"

"Or paupers, captain," said the doctor quietly TO BE CONTINUED

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of medicine; and have the satisfaction of chitis, hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are cured by it. Call on Glazier & Stimson and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50 cents and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

HAD KIDNEY DISEASE 27 YEARS.

Mr. G. A. Stillman, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes: "Foley's kidney cure s meeting with wonderful success. It pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face today is a living picture of health, and Foley's kidnaw. The undersigned having been appointed by the Probate Court for said County, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against the estate of Albert Hindelang, late of said county deceased, hereby give notice that six months from date are allowed, by order of said Probate Court, for creditors to present their claims against the estate of said deceased, and that they will meet at the office of the W. ney cure has made it such. I had suffered twenty-seven years with the disease, and today I feel ten years younger than I did one year ago. I can obtain some wonderful certificates of its medical qual-

RED HOT FROM THE GUN

Was the ball that hit G. B. Steadman f Newark, Mich., in the Civil War. It aused horrible ulcers that no treatment aused horrible ulcers that no Puck. of Newark, Mich., in the Civil War. It caused horrible ulcers that no treatment ment helped fer 20 years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. Cures cuts, bruises, burns, boils, felons, corns, skin eruptions. Best pile cure on earth. 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by Glazier & Stimson, druggists.

THE BEST COUGH REMEDY ON EARTH

State of Michigan, County of Wash-tenaw, s. s. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate office in the city of Ann Arboron Monday, the 5 day of June in the year one thousand eight hundred, and ninety-nine. Present, il. Wirt Newkirk, Judge of Probate, In the matter of the estate of William Fletcher decrased. A diseased stomach surely undermines health. It dulls the brain, kills energy, destroys the nervous system, and predi-In the matter of the estate of William Fletcher deceased.

Emery Fletcher executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, comes into court and represent that he is now prepared to render his final account as such executor.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Friday, the 30 day of June next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing such account and that devisees, legatees and heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate of the city of Ann Arbor, in said county and sposes to insanity and fatal diseases. All an insolence that would have sat ill on dyspeptic troubles are quickly cured his betters, must needs dictate terms to by Kodol Dyspensia Cure. It has cured us—to us, who held his ship and his shipmates' lives at our swords' mercy. thousands of cases and is curing them every day. Its ingredients are such that it can't help curing. Glazier & Stimson.

were feasting and making merry, for fear lest the hap of war should take from them other opportunity of doing that same again. The don, seeing that his heels were too dull to give us the his heels were too dull to give us the his heels were too dull to give us the his heels were too dull to give us the his heels were too dull to give us the his heels were too dull to give us the his heels were too dull to give us the his heels were too dull to give us the his heels were too dull to give us the him to be nor to the roomal of said count, then to be holden at the recommendate that his decount and the healt account should not be allowed. And it is further office, in said executor give notice to the published to try Foley's kidney cure and in less than a week after she began using to the consulted several physicians and tried a number of kidney cures without getting relief. She was induced to try Foley's kidney cure and in less than a week after she began using to be published. writes: My wife suffered from kidney minute glass hath drained its sand I less than a week after she began using swear to you on my honor as a caballero it, she was greatly improved and three Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down. and don't care whether he lives or dies. ing to be worsted by mere bravado, or- It did more to give me new strength and dered a couple of main deck culverins good appetite than anything I could take I can now eat anything and have a new ease on life," Only 50 cents, at Glazier & Stimson's drug store. Every bottle

> TRUTHS TERSELY TOLD. Foley's kidney cure is a safe sure remdy for all kidney and bladder diseases. Suaranteed 50 cents.

WORKING DAY AND NIGHT.

The busiest and mightiest little thing eat ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar coated globule of health, that changes weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, snow with some trouble, and there I was brain fag into mental power. They're joined by five and twenty of my fellows, wonderful in building up the health. all with their hides more or less singed Only 25 cents per box. Sold by Glazier

> TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take WARNER'S WHITE WINE OF TAR Syrue, the best cough remedy on earth. 25 and 50 cents.

> > ANY OLD SORE.

Cut, bruise or sprain quickly healed with Banner Salve the greafest healing remedy in the world.

BACKACHE should never be neglected. It means kidney disorder which, if allowed to run too long will result in bright's disease, diabetes or other serious and often fatal complaints. Foley's kidney cure is guaranteed for kidney disorder.

Tetter, eczema and skin diseases yield quickly to the marvelous healing qualities of Banner Salve made from a prescriptions of a skin specialist of world wide fame. 25 cents.

PROBATE ORDER.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASH Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Atpor, on Wednesday, the 21 day of June in the year one housand eight hundred and ninety nine.
Present. II. Wirt Newkirk, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Margaret Leach On reading and filing the petition duly veri fled. of Kobert Leach praying that the administration of said estate may be granted to G. W Turn Buil or some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Wednesday, the is day of July next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, he assigned for the hearing of said petition, and, that heirs at law of said deceased, and ail other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this Order to be published in the Chelsea Standard a newspaper printed and circulated in said county 3 successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

H. Wirt Newkirk Judge of Probate.

P. J. Lehman, Probate Restate.

PROBATE ORDER

A true copy. P. J. Lehman, Probate Register.

COMMISSIONERS NOTICE

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

PROBATE ORDER.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASH-

G. J. CROWELL, JAMES TAYLOR, Commissioners.

B. B. TURNBULL,

WM. SCHATZ, Commissioners.

that administration of said estate may be manufed to herself the executrix in said will mamed or to some ot er suitable person.

Thereupon it is ord red, that Wednesday, the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the devisees, legalees and heirs at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Court in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the pedifioner should not be granted: And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in The Chelsea Standard, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

H. Wirt Newkirk, Judge of Probate.

A true copy.

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASH
TENAW. The undersigned having been appointed by the Probate Court for said County, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against the estate of Joseph Schatz, late of said County deceased, hereby give notice that six months from date are allowed, by order of said Probate Court, for Creditors to present their claims against the estate of said deceased, and that they will meet at the office of G. W. TurnBull in the Village of Chelsea, in said County, on Thursday, the 14 day of Sept. and on Thursday, the 14 day of Sept. and on Thursday, the 14 day of Poet ext., at ten o'clock A. M. of each of said days, to receive examine and adjust said claims.

Dated, June 14, 1899.

B. B. TURNBULL, Gun shot wounds and powder-burns, cuts, bruises, sprains, wounds from rusty nails, insect stings and ivy poisoning,—quickly healed by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Positively prevents blood poisoning. Beware of counterfeits. "DeWitt's" is safe and sure. Glazier & Stimson.'

WARNER'S WHITE WINE OF TAR SYRUP, CONSUMPTION CURE, cures a cold in 24 beaten below, and we thought the ves- hours if taken in time and does not stop sel our own. But this pestilential hand- a cough in one minute by paralyzing the throat, but it cures the disease and leaves the throat and lungs healthy and strong. 25 and 50 cents.

CURED WHEN OTHERS FAILED.

S. A. INGALLS, Crown Point, N. Y.

BRAVE MEN FALL

Present, H. Wirt Newkirk, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Martin Widmayer deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Aggie Widmayer praying that a certain instrument now on file in this Court, purporting to be the last will and testament of said ing to be the last will and testament of said deceased may be admitted to probate and that in the Chelsea Standard a newspaper printed and circulated in said county three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

H. Wirt Newkirk, Judge of Probate.

PROBATE ORDER.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASH-

Stenaw, s. s. At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate office in the city of Ann Arbor, on Saturday, the 3rd day of June in the year-one thousand eight hundred and ninety-deceased may be admitted to probate and that administration of said estate may be granted to herself the executrix in said will named or to some other suitable person.

A true copy. P. J. Lehman, Probate Register.

Thereupon it is ordered that Saturday the ist day of July next at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the devisees, legates and heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate Court, in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted: And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Chelsea Standard, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

H. Willey Newsyng, Judge of Probate. to said day of hearing.

11. Wirt Newkirk, Judge of Probate.

A TRUE COPY, P. J. LEHMAN Probate Register.

MORTGAGE SALE. Default having been made in the conditions

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain indenture of mortgage executed by Chelsea Recreation Park Association of Chelsea. Washtenaw County, State of Michigan, a corporation organized and doing business under the laws of the State of Michigan to Frank H. Sweetland of the township of Sylvan, state and county aforesaid on the 2d day of October A. D., 1886 and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for the county of Washtenaw in the State of Michigan, on the 10th day of February A. D., 1880 in Liber 75 of Mortgages, on page 62 by which default the power of saie conpage 62 by which default the power of sale contained therein becomes operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due as the date of this notice for the principal sum secured by of this notice for the principal sum secured by said mortgage, and the interest, covenanted to be paid, in all, the sum of Seventeen liandred and Ten Dollars and Sixty six cents, to gether with an Attorney's fee of Thirty Dollars, provided for in said mortgage, in case any proceedings should be taken to foreclose the same, and no proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover said sums or any ceedings should be taken to foreclose the same, and no proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity to recover said sums or any part thereof: Notice is therefore hereby given that on Monday the 17th day of July A. D. 1859. It at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the Court House, in the city of Ann Arber, in said county, the said Court House being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county, said mortgage will be foreclosed by virtue of the power of sale therein contained by a sale at publice auction to the highest bidder of the mortgaged premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage as follows, viz: All that certain piece or parcel of land situated in the Township of Michigan and described as follows, to wit: Commencing in the interior of the southeast quarter of section eleven (11) on the south line of the Michigan Central Railroad Company's land at the northwest corner of Bernard Keelan's land being four 14 Chāins and sixty seven and one half [67/4]-links west and two [2]chaics and eighfy six [86] links, north from the center of the John C. Depew road at its intersection with the section line between sections eleven and the section line line line he great car oom being and Duffield great interes manimous in the most en have attende ing officers commander, Three Rivers J. C. Bonte vice-comman Lake Odessa Palmer, of Burnham Tr adjutant-ger

Lansing; ass eral, A. A. I cers of the O. B. Curtis, Grand Rapid paw, F. Sch Carver, of delegates to were elected were passed nembers o handsome n been entert Anot Bert New 25th by He pital from t the day foll man was a home with in Detroit. fatal shot v assassin we manner, N Kent sittin ped asleep, a stinging looking u him point him. He the revo into almo realized he injured. the house hospital to Here it w had entere the heart recovery lingered for died in n was the r Newman Fortune T Several then a we of Danby his fortur substance She told him he v farm; said business lastly, th money ar wealth th be nothin the predi left for p been hea letter w friend at was in A more th does not will, if t teller's s Superviso There miles fro

taxing t panies v Attorne question should 1 supervis on accor law pas legislat the asse compan be asser which l for son phone. nies wi law, w

taxon

ance as

Kall A gi Kalkas recent elothir parent quarre her o came t be eas man, a succes Falls

Charg On Perou Hillse in an short that them shipped to his stock farm at

Mrs. Julia Willard, an old woman who in a dream located the body of Richard Miller, the Battle Creek boy, then found it in a sand bank, has re-reorganization of the latter.

congregation. Fully insured.

was damaged $4,000 by fire on the 25th.

The blaze was caused by defective wiring. It was discovered by the pastor just after he had dismissed the Farmers in the vicinity of Jackson report grasshoppers are doing much harm to the grass crop and will cer-

ter. Some of the farmers are already Saline is booming this summer. The electric road is about completed through the corporation, a fine new church is being constructed, several dwellings are in process of construc-

Secretary Hanshue, of the Michigan farmers cannot spend their time to better advantage during the next fort-wheat fields and cutting out the rye

Miss Lulu Perry, formerly of Grand

it is alleged with suicidal intent. Phy-caused her to take poison.

dents are in the habit of rising.

seeking to establish his American citi-

Frank Ball, the barber of St. Joseph, who married a Kentucky belle, while cold cash from his wife's parents to alleviate his wounded heart, and by so

The rainfall in the copper country

On June 8, a young man called at the house of H. P. Hale, of near Lakeview, and told him that his mother wished to hire his daughter. The old as intended and the father is heartbroken, believing that the young fel-

The "biggest time" ever seen in Washtenaw county will be at Ypsilanti on the Fourth, for, besides the nation's birthday will be celebrated the 75th anniversary of the founding of the city. There will be present on the occasion Mrs. Morse, of Leslie, who was one of the 12 white residents of

A farmer named Pierce, living in Attica township, near Lapeer, was curry-was in progress and a bolt of lightning

the hair from a portion o its body, but the man and boy miraculously es-were knocked .....less and Pierce's

Judge Edward Cabill, of Lansing, from Gogebic county, in which he was associated with ex-Atty. Gen. May-

Pentwater residents are beginning with mail order houses in Chicago.

nard, whose claim is yet to be filed.

arm is badly swon 1.

low is a scamp.

tion and others will soon be started.

cutting to prevent further injury.

ceived $200 reward.

& A. R. Encampment Ended. The auditorium at Bay View, where the great camp fire of the G. A. R. was beld on the 22d, was packed, standing on the 25th. It was deliberately planned, She took a clothest camp fire of the G. A. R. was beld on the 25th. It was deliberately planned, She took a clothest camp fire of the G. A. R. was beld on the 25th. It was deliberately planned, She took a clothest camp fire of the G. A. R. was beld on the 25th. It was deliberately planned, She took a clothest camp fire of the G. A. R. was beld on the 25th. It was deliberately planned. the most enjoyable camp fires they J. C. Bontecou, of Petoskey; junior Lake Odessa; medical director, Oscar living in poverty. Palmer, of Grayling; chaplain, D. Burnham Tracy, of Detroit; assistant adjutant-general, C. V. R. Pond, of Lansing; assistant quartermaster-gencers of the council of administration, 0. R. Curtis, of Detroit, S. M. Kent, of Grand Rapids, Fay Wyckoff, of Saginaw, F. Schneider, of Lansing, O. P. Carver, of Traverse City. Seventeen delegates to the national encampment were elected. Very strong resolutions were passed thanking the citizens and members of Lombard post for the handsome manner in which they had been entertained.

Another Murder in Detroit.

Bert Newman, who was shot on the 25th by Henry Kent died at the hospital from the effects of his injuries on the day following the tragedy. Newman was a divorced man and made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kent in Detroit. A short time before the fatal shot was fired Newman and his assassin were conversing in a pleasant manner, Newman lying on a sofa and Kent sitting near him. Newman dropped asleep, but was shortly aroused by a stinging feeling in lis side, and, looking up saw Kent standing over him pointing a smoking revolver at him. He sprang to his feet, seized the revolver and pounded Kent into almost insensibility before he realized how seriously he himself was injured. This accomplished, he left the house and boarded a car for the hospital to have his wound dressed. Here it was learned that the bullet had entered the left side just below the heart, and that chances for his recovery was doubtful. The patient lingered for about 20 hours when he died in much agony. The shooting was the result of Kent's jealousy of been let. Newman towards his wif :.

Fortune Teller's Preditions Came True. Several years ago Jacob J. Wilcox. then a wealthy and prominent farmer of Danby township, Ionia county, had his fortune told by a gypsie, and the She told him of his circumstance; told victimized by a gang of "short change" substance of it was about as follows: him he would soon move from the operators.

farm; said he would engage in other business and lose about all he had, and lastly, that he would go thousands of ing the past year. miles from the place where he lost his money and would there gain so much wealth that his first possessions would | feet while digging a well. be nothing as compared to it. All of the predictions came true and Wilcox and the city may purchase Gute's Hill left for parts unknown. Nothing had been heard of him until last week a letter was received from him by a friend at his former home stating he was in Alaska, where he has been for more than a year. While his letter does not say he has dug any gold, he will, if the remainder of the fortune teller's story comes true.

d by hel-n, a

Supervisors Should Assess Telephone Cos. There seems to be a general ignorance as to the shape in which the laws taxing telephone and telegraph companies were left by the last legislature. Attorney-General Oren has advised all questioners that telephone property should be assessed locally by township supervisors and other assessing officers on account of the fact that the new law passed just before the close of the legislature was not enacted in time for the assessment this year. Telegraph companies and express companies will be assessed by the state under laws which have been on the statute books for some time. Next year all tele- state. phone, telegraph and express companies will be assessed under the new law, which provides for a 3 per cent ### tax on their earnings. Kalkaska Girl Disguised as a Man.

A girl 14 years old, hailing from Kalkaska, was arrested at Boyne Falls recently for masquerading in men's clothing. She was sent back to her the season. parents. It appears that she had a quarrel at home, and decided to earn her own living. She said that she came to the conclusion that it would be easier to do so in the guise of a bris, breaking their necks. man, and she donned male attire. So successfully did she play the part that she associated with men in Boyne Falls for a week and her sex was not even suspected until her story leaked

Charged With the Murder of Her Husband On June 7 Lyman Putnam, a pros-Hillsdale county, was found in his barn in an unconscious condition, and died. shortly afterwards. It was intimated that it was a case of suicide, but rumors of foul play caused an investigation. A coroner's jury on the 24th brought in a verdict that Mr. Putnam met his death from injuries inflicted by a blunt instrument in the hands of his wife.

Suicided in Two Feet of Water, who mysteriously disappeared, and dresses by Generals Wheeler, Alger one end to a stake used for hitching dresses by Duffield were listened to with boats to on the bank of the mill pond, great interest. The G. A. R. were tied the other end around her neck, by fire recently, together with several great interior considering this one of walked into the pond, and threw herself on her face in less than two feet tained in it. The loss was $2,500, parhave attended in years. The follow- of water. She had left her suntially covered by insurance. have attended were elected: Department bonnet on top of the stake, evidently ommander, Judge R. R. Pealer, of to mark the spot. She had laid out ized by the young men of Hubbards-Three Rivers; senior vice-commander, her best clothes on her bed and written ton and the governor will be petitioned on an envelope a message to her hus- to secure the admission of the com-J. C. Bollecom. S. H. Mailory, of band, "Jim, good-bye. I am tired of pany to the national guard upon the

Alice Lonsdale Convicted.

"Dr." Alice G. Lonsdale, of Detroit, has been convicted of performing an eral, A. A. Udell, of Three Rivers; offi- operation which resulted in the death of Cora Ethel Hetherington. She will demand a new trial. If the case comes up again and Mrs. Londsdale takes the stand, the police have certain evidence which they will spring on the defense. It is the record of the female doctor in Minneapolis, where her name was mixed up with the story of a mysterious fire, and in Omaha, where she was openly charged with malpractice.

Dogs Again Getting in Their Work.

Farmers throughout Eaton county are complaining of the loss of sheep being killed by dogs. The heaviest loss thus reported falls on ex-Supervisor Warren Davis, of Carmel township. Two dogs attacked a flock containing 100 sheep in the daytime, kill- night than by going through their ing 28 outright and wounding 15 more that had to be killed, besides five are thoroughly. missing, causing a loss of $200. Preparations have been made to protect flocks from another such attack.

Not a Victim of Foul Play.

Wesley Arnold, a farmer living in Chester township, Eaton county, was found dead in his barn on the 26th. After supper Arnold left the house to do some work at the barn. Not returning at the usual hour his wife went to search for him and found his dead body. It was at first suspected that he had been a victim of foul play, but the coroner's jury decided it was heart disease.

STATE GOSSIP.

Hartfo.d is going to have a system charge of high treason against the of water works, the contract having Transvaal government. Nicholl is

A fine grain elevator is being built zenship. at Mancelona with a capacity of 25,000 A $10,000 sanitarium is among the she was being treated at a retreat in probabilities at Maple Rapids this his village, has agreed to accept some Calumet business men are being Nine children in Huron county have been named after Admiral Dewey dur-A fine quality of hard coal was struck at Standish at a depth of 12

Owosso's water supply is inadequate to be thinned out to allow it to ma-park which contains large springs. Carleton & Cole, of Port Huron, dealers in machinery supplies, have closed their doors. Liabilities, $4,500. The wheat crop in Sanilac county, it anybody else. Surface explorations is said, will be one of the poorest in and general out-of-door work has been the history of the county. Corn is also seriously hampered, while farm lands below the average. John W. Baumgarten, of New Balti- been all but ruined. more, this year sheared 300 pounds of wool nom 25 yearlings, an average of 12 pounds per head.

lot against a saloon owned by a friend man consented and his daughter Jenon the big prizefight of a couple of nie, aged 22, accompanied the fellow weeks ago, and won.

There are 12 cases of typhoid in the first ward in Saginaw. The trouble started in a milkman's family and spread to his customers.

Spinal meningitis has been epidemic in Houghton county this year, the death rate for the first five months being 10 times as great as the rest of the Alpena is to have two new manufacturing institutions before winter comes the city at the time of the first celearound again. One is a big roller pro- bration 75 years ago. cess flouring mill and the other a veneer works.

Nearly 1,900 acres of land in Muske- ing his horse in the barn while a boy gon county is devoted to the raising of held a lantern. A thunder shower sugar beets, and the plants are doing well, considering the backwardness of struck and killed the horse. burning

Charles Wilson and Johnnie Premo, aged 8 and 10, respectively, of Flint, caped with their lives, though both were watching a fire at Hurley's soap works and were struck by falling de-has presented a bill for $250 for advis-The body of Orian C. Temple, son of ing the governor that a valid law along a farmer living near Ionia, was found the lines of the Atkinson bill could cut to pieces on the 25th. It is thought not be enacted under the present conon the D., G. R. & W. tracks literally he was a victim of foul play.

ids, asks $475 for his services in trying the case brought to collect back taxes The contract has been let by the Presbyterian society of Escanaba for the construction of their new church. perous farmer of Cambria township, The edifice is to cost over $13,000 and will be completed early in October.

Despite the fact that the sugar to think that their village is hoodooed. bounty has been knocked out, the peo- Within three years there have been 12 ple of Sebewaing are still hustling to deaths by violence in the place, alsecure the location of a factory in though the population is only 1,400. their village for the campaign of 1900, Saranac merchants have been sufferand local capitalists offer to take $100,- ing somewhat from the amount of bus-000 of the stock if a company can be iness done by residents of the town

ing in the orchard where he was working. It turned out instead of containing water, as Park supposed, the jug held a solution of arsente which had been used in spraying trees. He disd shortly afterwards in great agony.

of widow ladies in Eaton county. They they offer to duplicate for their customers any prices to be found in the catalogues of any of the Chicago houses. If that doesn't keep the business at home it will be because the people and Grandma Sayre, 92. The combined age of the seven is 681 years. Charlesworth boasts of the nicest lot They finally got together and now

Wm. A. Roland, the New York BILLS THAT PASSED, banker, has purchased the famous herd of short horned cattle owned by Asron Barber, of Avon, N. Y., and will have LAWS MADE BY LEGISLATURE

OF 1899.

All of the More Important Measures Summarized in a Readable Form-The Number Falls Below That of the 1897 Session.

The fortieth session of the Michigan legislature convened Jan. 5, 1899, and was in session 170 days. From the first both houses were divided into Pingree and anti-Pingree camps, and the squabbling began, even before the session opened, when Gov. Pingree attempted to secure control of the organization of the House and to prevent the re-election of Hon. J. C. Burrows to the United States Senate. In both ambitions his excellency was frustrated. Edgar J. Adams, of Grand Rapids, was elected speaker of the House over the Pingree man-John J. Carton, of Flint-and Burrows' strength so increased that his opponent, the late Albert Pack, withdrew 1 fore a vote was taken and Burrows rece ved 110 votes to 13 cast for D. J. Campau, Democrat, of Detroit. A large warehouse of the Alpena Excelsior Co., at Alpena, was destroyed carloads of the finished product con-A military company has been organ-The First Baptist church of Allegan,

Detroit.

Gov. Pingree's message to the leg'slature at the beginning dealt at length on the great evils of the prevailing epidemic of trusts and declared that unless they were restrained the United States would be forced into a state of revolution. He also strongly condemned "imperialism." More equitable taxation of railroads and other corporate property, his excellency other corporate property, his excellency, pointed out as the most important duty tainly raise the price of hay this win-pointed out as the most important duty of the legislature and urged early action to compel them to bear their just share of the people's burdens.

The first bill noticed in the House was the Atkinson equal taxation bill, offered by Rep. Henry M. Cheever, which had a stormy career in both houses, but was finally passed and signed by the governor on Tuesday, Feb. 28. The final vote in the House was 72 to 23. All the effort spent on the measure was useless, however, as soon after it became a law it was indirectly declared unconstitutional by the supreme court, in a test case.

The first bill to pass both House and Senate was Rep. Alward's to legalize the assessment roll of Polkton township, Ottawa county, for 1898.

tawa county, for 1898.

The total appropriations for 1899-1900 are $7,196,986.37, an increase of $2,659,308.47 over 1897-8. State Millers' association, says that

A total of 1,774 bills was introduced in both houses—the largest number by one man being 66 by Rep. Colby, of Detroit—and of this number 519 passed and went to the governor for his signature or disapproval. Of the bills which failed to pass the most important provided: For the adoption of the Torrens system of registering land titles; Sunday closing of places of amusement; placing the Michigan Central railroad under general tax laws; extra compensation of 48 cents per day for Michigan soldiers of the Spanish-American war: permitting liquors to be Rapids, who has recently been living at St. Joseph, took a dose of morphine sicians saved her life. Disappointday for Michigan soldiers of the Spanish-American war; permitting liquors to be sold on Fourth of July; all proposed text-book legislation; substitution of salaries for fees for county officials; giving state railroad commissioner jurisdiction over street and interurban railway companies; regulate fees charged by express and te egraph companies; requires ment in a love affair is said to have The people of Armada have long wanted to secure manufactories for companies; regulate fees charged by express and te egraph companies; requiring state and private banks to give bonds for security of depositors; applying principles of the interstate commerce law to Michigan; to prohibit banks and trust companies from owning stock in other corporations; abolition of convict labor; labeling of 'all prison-made goods; preventing coloring of butter; for a state fire marshal; providing that druggists must have saloonists' license; incorporation of hunting and fishing clubs; licensing horseshoers; equal suffrage; income tax; single tax. their village, but now that they have got one they kick because it blows its whistle at 5 a. m., whi h is several hours earlier than the easy-going resi-Richard Floyd Nicholl, a former Marquette county miner, was arrested May 15 at Johannesburg, South Africa, and placed in jail in Pretoria on a tax; single tax.

THE SUGAR BOUNTY. Of all the bills which falled to become laws probably the most important and that which created as much disturbance that which created as much disturbance as any was Dudley's sugar bounty bill which was passed by the House April 12 and from that until the day of adjournment was tossed back and forth from one end of the capital to the other, as first one house and then the other made changes in it. As it went to the governor the bill provided for an unlimited bounty of one cent per pound. The governor on leviate his wounded heart, and by so doing he also consents to the annulment of the marriage.

One square mile of land in Covert township, Van Buren county, will, it is estimated, produce 8,000 bushels of peaches this season, which is fully half the entire crop expected from the whole township. In some of the orchards on this tract the fruit has had to be thinned out to allow it to mature.

The bill provided for an diminitary of one cent per pound. The governor, on June 6, in a special message, asked the House to have the Senate recall the measure, as it would increase taxation beyond the point of endurance. When the House got hands on it again it was amended so that but $35,000 could be paid to any one beet sugar factory and limiting the total appropriation to $400,000.

Below we publish the number the bounty to one-half cent per pound, but cut off the limits, with a proviso that any factory entering a trust should forgoty entering a trust sho of one cent per pound. The governor, that the bounties might reach $800,000 or $900,000. Rep. Laisk at once introduced a substitute limiting each factory to $25,000 per year on a one-half cent bounty until Jan. 1, 1901. The Senate amended by making it operative until 1904, but all in vain, for the House had adjourned meantime and could not concur and the bill fell to the ground. It is now a disputed question whether the law of 1897 for an unlimited one cent bounty remains in force. There is an item in the omnibus appropriation bill for $200,000 for sugar bounties. for the past month has been unprecedented and so heavy that it has been anything but a benefit to farmers or are soaked so badly that crops have

BILLS VETOED. The governor's veto also put a quietus on Nevins' bill changing garnishee exemption from $25 per month to $7.50 per week; also Fleischhauer's bill making it a misdemeanor for unauthorized persons to wear G. A. R. or Loyal Legion buttons. Smith's bill permitting mining companies to increase their capital stock from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000 or permitting two or more companies to consolidate from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000 or permitting two or more companies to consolidate was disapproved also, the governor saying he thought the stock should be reduced instead of increased. His excellency also threw down the $40,000 appropriation for a Michigan exhibit at the Buffalo exposition in 1901, leaving it to the next legislature. The temporary tax commission bill was killed by the governor, as were the militia reorganization and Horticultural society's appropriation and Horticultural society's appropriation

The unfortunate fate of the Atkinson bill bool Speaker Adams to offer a plan for a commission to investigate the entire subject of taxation in Michigan and report in January. Reps. Gillam and Dingley each offered bills embodying the idea, but the House did not take very kindly to them and on May 2 Gov. Pingree sent in a message in which h stated that in his opinion the House had enough information at hand to frame a taxation bill and he urged the appointment of a commission to at once draft a measure taxing railroads, telephones, telegraph and express companies upon cash values and not on earnings. He also suggested that if the Michigan Central's special charter could not be repealed that the road be brought under the general law as to taxes and regulation of rates of fare. THE ATKINSON BILL.

of fare.

Two weeks later the governor presented another lengthy message, together with an opinion from Judge Cahill, of Lansing—who with Judge Speed of Detroit—had specially investigated the matter, setting forth that under the present constitution it is impossible to frame a valid law to make railroads and other corporations pay their just share of taxes upon actual cash values the same as other property. The governor therefore recommended the following: The passage of joint resolutions amending fore recommended the following: The passage of joint resolutions amending sections 10, 11 and 13 of article 14 of the constitution to provide for such taxation; the calling of a special election to submit the amendments; a state board of assessors; amending the Merriman law at once so as to provide at least $1,000,000 taxes from railroads; amending or repealing of all existing charters of railroads.

The interest aroused by this message railroads.

The interest aroused by this message led to a conference of Pingreeites and antis at which a committee was appointed to draft a bill for a special tax commission, naming John Patton, of Grand Rapids; George H. Durand, of Flint; Devere Hall, of Bay City; Roland Morrill, of Benton Harbor, and O. C. Ostrander, of Lansing. This was passed by both houses, as was a bill drafted by Atty-Gen. Oren for the creation of a permanent tax commission of three members.

WAR NOTES,

The insurgent army has taken to the swamps and hills beyond Imus. The largest force is supposed to be in the neighborhood of San Francisco de Malabon, holding a position more toward the lake or toward the coast according as exigencles demand. Gen. Wheaton returned to Imus on the 21st, bringing three men who were wounded in the battle the day before. The heavy rains that fall nightly make campaigning uncomfortable. The roads are still good, but the rice fields adjoining them are pools of water. The Filipinos will not fight unless they can meet our troops in positions most advantageous to themselves or take our reconnoitering bodies in am-

Surgeon General Wyman, of the ma rine hospital service, has received word from Dr. Park, the quarantine officer at Santiago, reporting the existence at that port of 14 cases of yellow fever, and four deaths from that cause. The fact that the season had advanced thus | the window and took 50 $100 notes and far with the appearance of only a few five $1,000 notes. A young lady stensporadic cases of yellow fever led to the general hope that the improved sanitary condition of Santlago, Havana lately took his departure from that and other Cuban cities since the Amercan occupation might result in preventing an outbreak. But now that hope is blasted. Every precaution is being

Two new cases of yellow fever and four deaths from the disease have been officially reported at Santiago, making a total of 35 cases and 11 deaths. The army surgeons now think they have the fever under control. The sanitary department is working day and night. the city has been literally flooded with disinfectants, and the entire garrison in camp is under rigerous quarantine. Considerable disorder has been caused in the city by the American teamsters and packers who have been discharged for incompetency. They wander about the city, provoking disturbances.

Capt. Clarke, Capt. Watson, Lieut. Ball and 200 sick or wounded from the 20th Kansas regiment, have been sent home. Only 450 men are still doing duty. They are on the firing line. ing three lower sails with sheet well The other members of the regiment flattened. It took the Columbia about are relieved from duty on account of three minutes, sailing from the Desickness. The Kansas regiment's nor-200 sick and on the way home and 450 on yards ahead, going past the old cup the firing line, 550 are left among those defender as if the latter was anchored. "unfit for duty."

Owing to the murders, robberies and depredations in the vicinity of Guanajay, the peasants are sending their famili s into Havana. The mayor, gain in a hard blow anxiety as to the having decided it would be impossible safety of the American cup will be to reach the culprits through the ordinary processes of law, issued an order for the arrest on suspicion of all disreputable characters.

Advices received from Gen. Otis on the 26th says it is now too wet to do Maj E. S. Ingr ham of Seattle, who much fighting and that 12 per cent of writes under date of Feb. 22, 1899.

on the army is laid up. He says the rebels

Maj. Ingraham is the leader of a party the are scattered and that their largest

BASE BALL.

Below we publish the number of games of ball played by the Western and National Leagues, giving the number of games won and lost, together with the percentage of each club WESTERN LEAGUE STANDING.

Games Played Won Lost Cent

| 54                         | 30                                                         | 14                                                                                              | .556                                                                                                                 |
|----------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                            | 28                                                         | -0                                                                                              | .528                                                                                                                 |
|                            | 29                                                         | 26                                                                                              | .527                                                                                                                 |
| 53                         | 27                                                         | 26                                                                                              | 506                                                                                                                  |
|                            | 26                                                         | 29                                                                                              | 473                                                                                                                  |
| CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF | 23                                                         | -31                                                                                             | .426                                                                                                                 |
|                            |                                                            | - 32                                                                                            | .40                                                                                                                  |
|                            |                                                            | ING.                                                                                            |                                                                                                                      |
|                            | JI AND                                                     |                                                                                                 | Per                                                                                                                  |
|                            | Won.                                                       | Lost                                                                                            | Cent                                                                                                                 |
|                            | 45                                                         | 15                                                                                              | .75                                                                                                                  |
|                            | 38                                                         | 21                                                                                              | .644                                                                                                                 |
|                            | 35                                                         | 22                                                                                              | .61                                                                                                                  |
|                            | 36                                                         | 24                                                                                              | .60                                                                                                                  |
|                            | 85                                                         | 26                                                                                              | .57                                                                                                                  |
|                            | 82                                                         | 25                                                                                              | .56                                                                                                                  |
|                            |                                                            | 31                                                                                              | 49                                                                                                                   |
|                            |                                                            |                                                                                                 | .49                                                                                                                  |
|                            |                                                            |                                                                                                 | .43                                                                                                                  |
|                            |                                                            | 335ATO - 2022014                                                                                | .35                                                                                                                  |
| A STATE OF THE PARTY OF    |                                                            | COMPANIES NO.                                                                                   | .29                                                                                                                  |
|                            |                                                            | The second second                                                                               | -17                                                                                                                  |
| 31                         | 10                                                         |                                                                                                 | 100 State                                                                                                            |
|                            | 5355555454LEAGUE SGamesPlayed. | 53 28 55 29 58 27 58 27 59 27 59 28 50 28 50 28 50 28 50 28 50 28 50 21 50 50 28 50 21 50 50 29 | 53 28 28 28 28 28 28 28 29 26 26 28 29 26 28 28 29 26 28 29 26 28 29 28 29 28 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 29 |

THE MARKETS

LIVE STOCK. New York- Cattle Sheep Lambs Hogs

| Best Grades $4 75 05 6                     | 0 $5 40                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 6 50         | 84 35 | ğ |
|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|-------|---|
| Lower grades .2 2524 5                      | 0 3 50                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 0 30         | 4 30  | ä |
| Chicago-                                    | 5 25                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 6 70         | 3 85  | ķ |
| Best grades5 05@5 6Lower grades3 65@5 0 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 5 00         | 8 50  |   |
| Detroit-                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |              |       |   |
| Best grades 4 2:04                          | 500                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 6 57         | 8 90  |   |
| Lower grades2 50@3                          | 75 8 50                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 5 75         | 3 80  |   |
| Buffalo-                                    | 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 7 21         | 4 10  |   |
| Best grades 4 50 84                         | 90 5 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 4 00         | 3 45  | ě |
| Lower grades4 2)24                          | 3, 200                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |              |       | i |
| Cleveland-                                  | 00 4 50                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 6 75         | 3 95  | į |
| Best grades 4 50 25Lower grades 3 75@4  | 25 3 25                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 5 50         | 3 15  |   |
| Cincinnati-                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |              | 4 00  | l |
| Best grades 4 50755                         | 35 4 40                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 7 206 2) | 3 60  | Ē |
| Lower grades. 3 3004                        | 21 3 30                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | / 1          |       | ı |
| Pittsburg-                                  | 45 4 90                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 6 75         | 4 15  | ı |
| Best grades 5 25 35                         | Control of the Contro | 5 00         | 8 40  | ı |
| Lower grades. 2 5004                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |              |       | 1 |
| OPAL                                        | N. ETC.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |              |       | 1 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | GRAI                | N, ETC.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | •                   |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| ,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Wheat,No. 2 red | Corn,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Oats.No & white |
| New York                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 82@82%              | 41@41                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 31 : 31 %           |
| Chicago                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 78@76%              | 31031%                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 21@21%              |
| *Detroit                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 79 579%             | 8:@35%                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 30@30%              |
| Toledo                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | TT & TT 14          | 250.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 2572.1%             |
| Cincinnati                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 73@73               | 36 13614                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 28728               |
| Cleveland                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 75@75%              | 37 487                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | - 32 432            |
| Pittsburg                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 81281%              | 37@374                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 32@3214             |
| Buffalo                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 80 2 80%            | 3623614                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 81@31%              |
| *Detroit-Potatoes, 3:chickens, 9:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | c per bu.           | Live Poufowls, 84c:ictly fresh,ic per lb, cr                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | turkeys, 9          |
| A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR |                     | DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPERTY OF |                     |

For the first time in a decade every board of the Presbyterian church be gins the fiscal year without debt.

structive fires. The government is ing him to five years' imprisonment now investigating means to prevent or and to pay a fine of 5,000 francs. control the latter.

President McKinley has been breaking the handshaking record again. No less than 4,816 shakes in one hour and 45 minutes is his achievement at the latest White House reception. This is at the rate of 46 shakes per minute.

AT HOME AND ABROAD

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS FOR THE WEEK BY WIRE.

The American Tacht Cup Defender Columbia Made a Host Satisfactory Trial Trip-The Transvasi Compli cations may be Settled by Arbitrat

Boston Thief Arrested at New York. A sneak thief entered the Metron itan National bank at Boston on the 22d and stole $10,000 while the paying teller's attention was drawn away for a moment. At the teller's window he asked for some directions about sending a money order. The teller gave the information desired and the stranger stood at the counter, apparently making notes. Just then the teller was called to another part of the office and the visitor quickly thrust his arm through the grating of ographer in the bank saw the man's action, but he escaped. He immedcity, but New York detectives nailed him as he alighted from a train at the grand central station on the same day that the burglary was committed. taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

The stolen money was found on his person. He gave his name as George Shea, and said he was 21 years old. His real name was is Philip Zambele, and he lives in Chicago and is a wellknown crook.

Trial Trip Very Satisfactory.

The first trial trip of the new American cup defender, Columbia, which took place in Narragansett Bay, was more successful than either her builders or her owners had reason to hope. Not only did the new boat show herself to be able in every particular, but she met the old racer Defender in a friendly brush of a mile to windward and vanquished her with the greatest ease. The race between the flyers, which was over in five minutes, was sailed in an eight-knot breeze under the same conditions, each boat carryfender's wes her quarter, to blanket mal strength is about 1,200 men. With her, and in five minutes she was 100 Under these conditions it would seem as if the Columbia were from 15 to 20 seconds a mile faster than the Defender, and if she can make the same considerably allayed.

Struck it Rich in Alaska.

The latest advices from the newly discovered gold fields at Cape Nome, Alaska, are contained in a letter from of 14 men fitted out by Prince Luigi, of Italy, and local business men. He went first to Kotzebu sound, but finding nothing there crossed overland to Cape Nome with a portion of the party, enduring great hardships. Part of the time the men had but two pancakes a day. On Sept 25, six men went to work to test their claims, some on Snow creek and the rest on Anvil creek. The best pan was obtained on Snow creek and amounted to $8.52. The aggregate of four days' work was $4 le than $1,800. The gold was of good quality and sold at St. Michaels without assay for $16.85 per ounce.

War Cloud Not as Dark.

The firm attitude of Great Britain appears to be having the desired effect n the Transvaal complications. The latest cablegrams from South Africa talk of various semi-official missions for negotiations between Cape Town, Bloemfontein and Pretoria, aiming to arrange a franchise compromise on a basis of five or six years past residence. President Kruger is represented as agreeable to some such arrangement, but is finding difficulty in handling his own conservative elements. In a reported interview he is alleged to have said regarding the war rumors that mountains were being made out of mole hills and that he was firmly convinced that Queen Victoria would never allow "letting loose the dogs of war" over South Africa.

$300,000 Fire at Toledo. Fire entirely destroyed the Michigan

Central freight house, partially de-stroyed the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton freight warehouse and burned 100 loaded cars, at Toledo on the 26th. The , gate loss amounted to over $300,000 and is only partially covered by insurance.

An Aged Man Killed His Wife.

Benjamin Lang, aged 84 of Boston, killed his wife, Clara Lang, with an axe, on the 27th. The aged murderer has for a long time been despondent and it is thought he committed the deed while in a fit of mental aberration. Lang was arrested.

Chinese Raid'a French Consulate. A dispatch from Hong Kong says that the Chinese custom house and the French consulate at Neng-Ting, on the Yun-Nan frontier, were plundered and burned by a band of armed Chinese. The demonstration is believed to have been anti-French.

The trial of Gen. Giletta di San The United States has about 450,- Guiseppe, the Italian charged with es 000,000 acres of forest, but this is being pionage, who was arrested at Nice, rapidly depleted by the ax and by de- June 12, resulted in a verdict sentenc-

Harvey J. Ramsey, a ticket seller at the Madison Square garden, New

Reubeo Ke apt, pres. H. S. Holmes, vice pre-

THE KEMPF COMMERCIAL & SAVINGS BANK CAPITAL $40,000.

ericial and Savings Departments. Money to loan on first class security.

tors: Reuben Kempf, H.S. Holmes, C. H. Kempf, R. S. Armstrong, C. Klein.

Q A. MAPES & CO. FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS. FINE FUNERAL FURNISHINGS, Calls answered promptly night or day. CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

G. BUSH

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Formerly resident physician U. of M. Hospital, Office in Hatch block. Residence opposite M, E, church.

D McCOLGAN.

Physician, Surgeon & Accoucheur Office and residence corner of Main and Park Streets, Graduate of Philadelphia Polyclinic in diseases of eye, ear, nose and throat. CHELSEA. MICH.

H. AVERY, DENTIST All kinds of dental work done in careful and thorough manner. Special attention given children's teeth. Nitrous oxide and local anasthetics used in extracting. Permanently located. Office over Raftrey's Tailor Shop

G. E. HATHWAY,

GRADUATE IN DENTISTRY. Why not have a new set of Furniture for your dining room? Useful as well as arrived they were invited out into the ornamental. We always try them in be- back yard where Mr. Cheney waited on fore they are finished so that any changes in arrangment can be made. Gas admin- boxes filled with sawdust, which the istered when desired. Also a safe and boys guessed at once contained torpereliable ansesthetic for extracting.

W. S. HAMILTON Veterinary Surgeon

Treats all diseases of domesticated animais. Special attention given to lameness and horse dentistry. Office and res- broomstick, and then began a merry idence on Park street across from M. E. church, Chelsea, Mich.

ACOB EDER, J TONSORIAL PARLORS Shaving, hair cutting, shampooing, etc., executed in first-class style. Razors honed.

GIVE ME A TRIAL. Shop in the Staffan block, Main street.

FRANK SHAVER,
Propr, of The "City" Barber Shop. In the new Babcock Building Main street.

Bathroom in connection.

R. P. CARPENTER, W. R. C. NO. 210, meets the Second and Fourth Friday in each month. The Second Friday at 2:30 p. m. The Fourth Friday at 7:30 p. m. R. M. WILKINSON, Secretary.

OLIVE LODGE NO 156, F. & A. M. Regular meetings of Olive Lodge, No. 156, F. & A. M. for 1899. Jan. 24, Feb. 21, March 21, April 18 May 23, June 20, July 18, Aug. 15, Sept. 12, Oct. 17, Nov. 14. Annual meeting and election of officers Dec. THEO. E. WOOD, Sec.

DO YOU WANT LIFE INSURANCE? DO YOU WANT FIRE INSURANCE?

I represent "The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New, York," the largest insurance company in the world. Also, six of the best Fire Insurance Companies. Can carry farm risks. Call and get figures before you place your insurance.

B. B. TURNBULL, Agent.

INSTRUCTIONS

given on Mandolin, Violin, Clarinet and Bass Viol.

K. OTTO STEINBACH.

DEWEY white wash, and wash white,

MAINE point is quality and the

MERRITT of our work is such! peo-MILES to patronize us. Our prices

HOBSON'S choice, but standard CERVERA high as some people think and we want to

C-U-B-A customer of ours.

The Chelsea Steam Laundry

FINE If you are in need of Printing of any kind call at the Standard Steam Printing House, Chelsea, Mich. Bill Heads, Note 100 Heads, Letter Heads, Enveloper JOB celpts, Wedding Station-Visiting Carss, Programs

MICHIGAN CENTRAL

"The Niagara Falls Route." Time Card, taking effect, June 25,1899.

TRAINS EAST: No.8-Detroit Night Express 5:20 a.m. No. 12—Grand Rapids 10:40 a. m. sometimes takes its place, but the re-No, 6—Express and Mail 3:15 p. m. sult is never so satisfactory.

TRAINS WEST, No. 3—Express and Mail 10:12 a, m. No. 13—Grand Rapids 6:20 p. m. No. 7—Chicago Express 10:20 p. m. O. W. Ruugles, Gen. Pass & Ticket Agt. E, A. WILLIAMS, Agent.

A LIBERTY PARTY.

One of the Old Fashioned Kind Which Mrs. Chency Provided for Her Boys. HE Fourth of July is a boy's own feteday, and it is his natural right to make all the noise he wants celebrating his country's birthday. So thought motherly Mrs. Cheney, when every one of her five boys, from wee Ted to Carl, in the dignity of his first long trousers, began teasing two for money which to buy fire-crackers. No doubt this conclusion had something to do with her hunting up that tryside, and Mrs. Co.kin's tiny fingers day a long neglected paint-box and he'ped sew the banner which led the spending the afternoon industriously boys to the fray. The flercest part of snipping and painting stiff water-cotor paper. She surely felt justified for distance from her home near Plattsher painstaking when she showed her boys several dozen clever copies of the old liberty bell, on the reverse side of which was written an invitation to a liberty-party on the afternoon of the ting, terrifying them so that they were Fourth of July. Carl posted these the glad to hide away in the home cettar next day, and then followed ten days until the last echoes of battle died of wonderment among the playmates away. and chums of the boys. What could Mrs. Cheney want with the old tin pans she had requested them to bring in the invitation?

But not a boy came to the party without his tin pan, which he handed over to his hostess in exchange for a pretty liberty-cap fashioned from paper-muslin flags. After all the guests the porch in charge of a stack of does. On the board walk was chalked in circles of red, white and blue an immense target, such as is used in archery practice.

Leaders and sides were soon chosen up by the lot of "hands-over" on a contest to see which side could explode the most torpedoes on the bull's-eye, with the player throwing from the porch steps. Mrs. Cheney acted as umpire, to keep tally and decide between contestants. The game lasted as long as the torpedoes, and then the victor as a Corkin' flag veteran. and vanquished drew up in double file, and to the rat-tat-tat of Teddy's toy drum marched around to the shady side of the house.

There a gnarled old cherry-tree vaunted a gay foliage, decked out as i liberty-bell with flags, bunting and anterns, while perched way up in he topmost branches was a farm dinner-bell from which hung down a strong rope, long enough to be within each of even Teddy's chubby arms. Mrs. Chency came out of the house aden down with old tin pans, and er husband followed dragging along a ig iron chest labeled "Fire-crackers." By the charm of "hickory, dickory, dock," Teddy counted out from the circle of boys two to be "it;" one to stand guard over the bell-rope and the other to set off a bunch of fire-crackers under one of the pans. As soon as the boy at the tree noticed that the fuse had burned nearly to the firecrackers he rang the bell with a right good will as a signal for the rest to run a safe distance. The din of the fire-crackers exploding under the pan, the clanging of the bell and the uproarous shouts of he boys produced a fusilade worthy a crack regiment of infantry. So the fun went on until never a fire-cracker or whole tin pan was left to tell the tale.

After noise eating is dea est to a, boy's heart, and Mrs. Cheney had remembered this when she fortified her table with an ammunition of good things. How pretty he polished wood work of the table looked with its napery of soft Japanese napkins in red. white and blue and lighted by colored apers shaded with the national colors! In the centre of the table was the choicest of the feast-a huge cake crowned with a monstrous cannon cracker and wreathed with tiny firecrackers cunningly embedded in the frosting, so that when the cake was cut each boy received a fire-cracker.

HAVANA thing washed at the Chel- With the dessert came another surored with red sugar and frozen in individual molds shaped like a cannoncracker. In the hollow top of each cracker had been placed a few drops of alcohol, and as each guest was In open day we blaze away served he was given a lighted match with which to set off his frozen cracker into a flash of flame.

> Boyish glee knew no bounds at the sight of this culinary phenomena, for burning ice cream is not to be had every day. When the party broke up And "pop!" and "fizz!" and "bang! everybody-went home shouting happy, with hearing powers in no wise impaired, but with a regret in his heart And that's the way we use to-day. that next day he could not have the fun all over again .- J. Maud Sonders, in Woman's Home Journal.

Usefulness o Hickory. Hickory has its place in carriage uilding that has never yet been displaced by any other wood or artificial substitute. For light spokes it has ne equal. Ironwood and lancewood are used in its place for heavy spokes, where the weight is of less importance than the strength and cost. But for the slege of Venice he was summoned light buggies and carriages hickory spokes must be used for years to come. No. 36-Atlantic Express 7:15 a. m. as it has been in the past. Forest ash

Mr. Black-Chile, yo' mus' allus tell

The Chile-S'posin' folks wants to now ef we hab chicking fo' dinner?

MRS. CORKIN'S FLAGS.

She Made Her First Star-Spangled flanner in 1812.

There lives on the shores of Lako Champlain a nonogenarian of the genle sex, who though her name has nevor been graven on the page of fame, has played her part in the history of the nation. To few women is it given to make flags for four wars, but Mrs. A. C. Corkin can boast of helping ashlon the star-spangled banners which waved the boys to victory in 1812, in the Indian war; in the Civil War and the Yanko-Spanko war.

Mrs. Corkin was born in 1804, and when a mere slip of a girl watched from the top of her father's barn the famous battle in which Ethan Allen weeks in advance squared accounts with the British orces and American grit won the day. The flag carried by Allen's blue-coats was made by the women of the counthe struggle took place only a short burg, and a big cannon ball sailed into the yard and the grass and dirt it plowed up were thrown on the stable roof where she and her sister were sit-

The old lady saw many of the soldiers off to the Civil War, and he!ped supply two regiments with full stands of colors; in the Indian war also her bandy needle pieced stripes and her scissors cut stars for the fighters around Lake Champlain. When Lafayette visited the battlefields of 'the two great wars for American inde-pendence he was the guest of Mrs. Corkin's mother, and partook of dinner at their house on the night of the battle at Rouse's Point. The place takes its name from Col. Rouse, who was the first man to settle in that ter-

Though ninety-four years of age, the old lady is still hale and hearty, and en route on a visit to Michigan she stopped in Cincinnati last week to visit her son. It was here that she went to work on her fourth batch of flags. Her son has a large embroidery store and he received a rush order for ome handsome banners. When Grandma Corkin heard of it she tendered her services and made a record

THEN AND NOW.

When they first invented gunpowder, They did most dreadful things with

They blew up popes and parliaments, And emperors and kings with it.

They put on funny hats and boots, And skulked about in cellars, oh! With shaking shoes they laid a fuse, And blew it with the bellows, oh!

They wore great ruffs, the stupid muffs!

(At least that's my opinion), then; And said, "What, ho!" and "Sooth, 'tis ~ so!"

And called each other "Minion!"

But now, the world has turned about Five hundred years, and more, you

And folks have learned a thing or two They did not know before, you'see.

So nowadays the power serves To give the boys a jolly day,

And try their Aunt Louisa's nerves,

And make a general holiday.

With popguns and with crackers, oh! With rockets bright we crown the

(And some of them are whackers,

and "whizz!"

Sounds louder still and louder, oh! The funny-gunny-powder, oh!

The Military Butcher. Julius Jakob (Baron Von) Haynau was born at Cassel, in 1786 and died 1858. He entered the Austrian service in 1801 and signalized himself during the Italian campaigns of 1848 and 1849 by his ruthless severity, especially at the capture of Brescia, where his flogging of women gained him the name of the "Hyena of Brescia." From to the supreme command in Hungary in 1849, and his successes at Raab, Kormoria and Szegedin did much to secure Austrian supremacy, though his atrocious severity excited the detestation of Europe. Appointed dictator of Hungary after its pacification, he was dismissed in 1850, and that same rear in London was assaulted and severely handled by Barciay and Perkins' draymen.-Brooklyn Eagle.

A SHAFT ERECTED,

In Honor of the Mother of the First President of the United States.

Down in Fredericksburg, Va., a monument has been erected to Mary Washington, the mother of the first President of the United States. A shaft of granite has been raised.

The handsome park in which it stands was the gift of the Fredericksburg Memorial association. The shaft will be shaded by the boughs of trees that were transplanted there from Mount Vernon. The grounds are enclosed by a handsome railing, and a lodge has been built where a keeper will always be in attendance. In this pretty little building meetings of the board that has in charge the building of the memorial will be held. This lodge is now occupied by a woman of a distinguished Fredericksburg family. who acts as custodian. It is intended hat the grounds surrounding the monument shall be decorated with shrubs

Within the enclosure lies the snaft given many years ago by Silas Burows, of New York. This was intended for the monument, but the stone was too much injured to be of any service. There the stone lies, cherished gratefully by the Memorial association as a tribute of one man's patriotism.

America. "Great as were the issues that we have put behind us forever, yet greater issues will rise dimly upo nthe view. Who shall fathom them? Who shall Corecast them? I seek not to lift the veil on what may lie beyond. It is enbugh for me to know that I have a country and that my country leads the world. I have lived to look upon its dismembered fragments whole again; to see it like the fabled bird of wondrous plumage upon the Arabian desert, slowly shape itself above the plains and ashes of a conflagration that threatened to devour it. I have watched it gradually unfold its magnificent proportions through alternating tracks of light and shade; I have stood awe-struck in wonder and fear est the glorious fabric should fade into darkness and prove but the insubstantial pageant of a vision; when 'o, ut of the misty depths of the far away Pacific came the booming of Dewey's guns, quickly followed by the answering voice of the guns of Sampson and Shafter and Schley, and I said: 'It s not a dream. It is God's promise redeemed.' With the right of sectional confusion that is gone, civil strife has passed from the scene, and, in the light of the perfect day that is come, the nation finds, as the first fruit of its new birth of freedom, another birth of greatness and power and renown."

-Henry Watterson.

Origin of the Fing. The first alteration to the flag was made on the occasion of the admision of Vermont and Kentucky, in 1795, into the Union, when a resolution was passed "That the flag of the United States should be fifteen stripes afternating, red and white, and the Union, fifteen stars, while in a blue field."

The bill was attacked by several members of Congress, it being declared that "at this rate we may go on adding and altering for a hundred years to come." It was not until 1817, when five new States had been admitted to the Union, that Congressman Peter H. Wendover, of New York, proposed to make a change in the flag, in view of the fact that there were five States not represented on the flag. A committee was appointed to consider the proposition, and Captain Samuel C. Reid, whose fame in confection with the battle of the General Armstrong at Fayal with a British fleet in 1814 made him widely known, was invited to suggest a design.

Captain Reid recommended that the stripes be reduced to thirteen, to repesent the original thirteen States; that the stars should represent each of the States and be formed into one grand star, symbolizing the national motto: "E Pluribus Unum," and that a star be added on the admission of each new State.

The design was accepted, and a bill to establish the flag was passed and approved by President Monroe on April 4, 1818, as follows:

That from and after the fourth day of July next the flag of the United States be thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union have twenty stars, white in a blue field; that on the admission of every new State into the Union, one star shall be added to the Union in the flag, and that such adition shall take effect on the fourth day of July succeeding such admission. The law as then passed remains in force to-day, The first flag, as designed by Captain Reid, was made by Mrs. Reid and her young friends, and hoisted over the hall of the House of Representatives on April 13, 1818.

In Confidence, Marie (meeting friend on the avenue)-And did you finally get rid of that persistent Mr. Gusher, who used to pester the life out of you? Madeline-Almost, I only see him once or twice every week in the very early morning now, and sometimes a while on Sunday.

Marie-Indeed? How did you man-

Madeline-I married him,

The Hindoos Rebelled

Because they did not like the cloak of Eugi rule. It does not fit them. If they had one of

WEBSTER'S SUMMER SUITS

they would be perfectly contented for the fit can-not be excelled and the style makes any man feel good natured with himself.

Give me your order for your summer suit.

J. Geo. Webster, Merchant Tailor.

Hurrah for the 4th of July

We have a full stock of

FIREWORKS.

Hammocks, folding chairs, croquet sets, flags, Japanese lanterns, etc

We are sole agents for the

PLYMOUTH BINDER TWINE!

Best twine on earth at bottom prices.

HOAG & HOLMES.

Rakes and Cultivators at closing out prices.

UP-TO-DATE.

That's what people want now days, and that's just what you get at C, STEINBACH'S; everything of the best quality and at prices that defy competition. How can that be? You ask. I will tell you why I can sell cheaper than others. I buy in large quantities and for cash and do not make my good customers pay for the poor ones. The

HARNESS DEPARTMENT.

I carry the largest stock of heavy and light, double and single harness of any one in the county made of oak leather and the best of workmanship. Nets, whips, dusters, curry combs and brushes I have a great variety. Trunks, telescopes and valises a good assortment. Axle grease and oils of the best. Harness oil, machine and burning oils of the finest quality.

BUGGY DEPARTMENT.

I carry a complete line of all kinds of Buggies, surreys, road and spring wagons, extra shafts, poles, repair for buggies and tops.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT.

Do you want a Piano or organ, or any other instrument? If so then call on me before purchasing and I will assure you fair treatment and a bargain if you buy of me. I keep on hand a large assortment of sheet music and books, also strings for all instruments.

C. Steinbach:

CAN COVERS AND RUBBERS.

We have them and at rock bottom prices.

FRUITS.—Leave your orders with us for fruits and berries for canning. All orders promptly filled.

J. S. CUMMINGS

NEW

We have opened an up-to-date meat market, and we shall keep constantly in stock a full supply of

Fresh and Salt Meats,

Hams and Bacon,

BEEF, VEAL DO MUTTON

LARD AND SAUSAGES.

We solicit a portion of your patronage and shall aim to keep a market second none.

Klein Building, Main Street.

CTIVE SOLICITORS WANTED Murat Halstead, commissione ment as Offlicial Historian to ment. The book was written i San Francisco, on the Pacific v ritt, in the hospitals at Honolul in the American trenches at Ma dent commercial Accordated

Japanese napkins for sale at Thi