Bound Over to the Circuit Court.

Charles M. Cole, who a year ago last April went off with John Webber's horse, and since then has led the officers a merry chase until he was finally arrested in Potoskey a couple of weeks ago, had his examination in Justice Duffy's court at Ann Arbor, Tuesday. John Webber, the owner of the horse, was the only witness sworn, and gave testimony as follows:

"Cole came to work for me last year. The horse was taken from me April 16, 1898. Cole asked me to let him take the horse to go to Chelsea and I let him have it. I have never seen the horse from that day to this. Cole was not drunk when he went away."

On cross-examination by W. W. Wedemeyer, he said: "I knew that Cole was a drinking man. Cole had broke this horse for me two years ago. He had no permission from me to sell the horse. The last I heard of it Cole was going north towards Bridgewater town hall."

It is thought that Cole's defense will be that he did not take the horse with the intention of stealing it, and that he had Mr. Webber's permission to sell it if he got a good chance. That he started towards Bridgewater to dispose of it, and that while the horse was hitched somewhere it was stolen, and Cole skipped out, fearing that he would be charged with the larceny.

Justice Duffy bound Cole over to the circuit court in the sum of $500 bail.

What the County Offices Pay.

The Ann Arbor Evening Times has been making 'careful inquiry from the present and former incumbents, and from people in the best position to know, as to what the different county offices are worth,' and finds as follows:

The sheriff's office is the plum and is worth $5,000 a year; the county clerkship pays about $2,200 a year, out of which he has to pay his deputy; judge of probate $1,800 net; the salary of the probate register being paid by the county; prosecuting attorney, $1,700; register of deeds, $2,000, out of which he has to pay a clerk; treasurer, $1,000 a year from the board and fees that will foot up to $800 more. For this he has to furnish a $200,000 bond. The circuit court commissioner at Ann Arbor gets about $350 a year in fees and the Ypsilanti commissioner $250.

In most of these offices after a man has paid the expenses of his campaign he does not have much over decent wages for his work. And yet they all want them.

Burglars Were Abroad.

Saturday night or early Sunday morning some persons broke into Jacob Schumacher's blacksmith shop and stole some tools out of it. They also entered Paist, Hirth & Huehl's shop but got nothing there. They then took the tools and effected an entrance into Fred Heller's saloon. Here they stole $2 50 in change out of the cash drawer and two bottles of whiskey. There is no clue to the perpetrators but it is believed they were local parties as they knew just where to find the key to the cash drawer. It is further believed that they did not intend to stop their depredations at the saloon, but that they meant to rob Mr. Heller, who sleeps upstairs over the store, personally, he being in the habit of having considerable money with him at all times. It is supposed that some noise frightened them and that they made off, as they left about $15 in pennies in a box behind the bar, which they had previously gathered up.

Prosecuting Attorney Kirk's Report.

The annual report of Prosecuting Attorney Kirk furnishes the following statistics:

Total number of cases.....	353
Acquitted.....	7
Dismissed on examination.....	15
Dismissed on payment of costs.....	7
Nolle prossed.....	7
Settled or escaped.....	7
Convicted.....	310

Counting those who were dismissed upon payment of costs and cases that are settled as convictions, Mr. Kirk's record really goes up to 324 convictions out of 353 cases.

The 23rd Michigan Infantry, of which Col. H. S. Dean was commanding officer, will held its annual reunion in Ann Arbor, August 24. About 100 old members are expected. An interesting program has been prepared, including a banquet at the Light Infantry armory.

DUE TO A LANDSLIDE.

Wreck on the Erie Railroad in Which Two Lives Are Lost—A Score Injured.

Port Jervis, N. Y., July 31.—The accident on the Erie railroad growing out of the landslide a mile east of Lackawaxen Saturday night were not as serious as at first reported. Only the fireman and engineer of the derailed engine of the west-bound Chicago express, which turned over on the track, were killed, though 20 passengers on the express, the vestibule passenger train for Buffalo and Cleveland, which left New York at seven o'clock p. m. Saturday, were injured.

The wreck, which occurred shortly before midnight, was preceded by a cloudburst and storm which lasted two hours. A section of the bank fell on the track, directly in front of a freight train. Several trees went down with the rocks and earth, and the freight cars and engine were turned over directly across the west-bound tracks of the Erie road. Sixty freight cars constituted the train, but only 22 were derailed, and the debris was piled up on the west-bound tracks just as the Chicago express put in an appearance, running at the rate of 50 miles an hour. The engine of the express train crashed into the wreck, and the baggage car, combination and buffet car and two Pullman sleepers were piled up on the tracks immediately in front of the wrecked freight cars. The first sleeper was split into two parts as a result of the accident, and the passengers were thrown 30 feet down a bank. Members of the train crew commenced to search different portions of the wreck and assisted those who were struggling to escape. Blankets were brought in from the Pullman cars and wrapped around shivering women and half-conscious men. Word was telegraphed to Port Jervis. A relief train was at once arranged for and soon reached the scene of the accident, and nearly all of the injured persons were removed to the hospital.

After several hours' search the bodies of Engineer Outwater and Fireman Sells were found under their engine by persons attached to the wrecking train. Both bodies had been burned to the waist.

Several thieves from Port Jervis, who it is supposed reached the scene of the wreck on the relief train, ransacked the clothes of the passengers during the period of excitement. F. View, a millinery decorator of New York, lost clothing containing $300 in bills and a gold watch. F. S. Gilpatrick, of Denver, lost $100, a gold watch, a diamond pin and a diamond stud.

OUTBREAK EXPECTED.

Situation in Santo Domingo Decidedly Critical—Warships to Protect American Interests.

Porto Plata, Santo Domingo, July 31.—The situation is critical. An outbreak is momentarily expected. The friends of the government are under arms and ready for action to protect property and preserve the peace. A feeble attempt was made to seize the body of President Heureaux by the assassins, Ramon Caceres, Manuel Caceres, Horacio Vasquez and Domingo Pichardo, who are in the country about Moca with their followers. The burial of President Heureaux was conducted with fitting honors. Gov. Pepin has assembled troops in Moca, and the governor of La Vega Real has 1,000 men. The minister of the treasury has arrived at Moca in haste. The government is taking steps for the protection of business and the finance of the country, and expects to carry out the contemplated cancellation of the state bank notes. In Porto Plata there is an urgent demand that the government send a sufficient force to Moca to hunt down the assassins of the president.

Kingston, Jamaica, July 31.—A private cable dispatch received here by way of Cape Haytien reports that the revolution in Santo Domingo is progressing rapidly. Great excitement prevails owing to the fact that the government has not been able to ascertain the extent of the ramifications of the revolution, and is growing demoralized through the death of the president. In the event of the revolution succeeding, according to the private cablegram, it is probable that Jimenez and Jitonal, the reputed leaders of the revolution, will agree to retire, offering the presidency to Gen. Maximo Gomez, who would prove acceptable to all parties. A deputation, it is reported, is going to Cuba to confer with Gen. Gomez.

Washington, July 31.—A cablegram has been received at the navy department from the commander of the Machias, now at St. Thomas, W. I., stating that, in conformity with the department's order, he would sail from that port Sunday for San Domingo. She probably will stop at San Juan, P. R., on the way, to land Commander Snow, who is to take charge of the naval station there.

The commander of the New Orleans also announced his readiness to start for San Domingo Saturday, so that before the middle of next week the American navy will be sufficiently represented in San Domingo to protect American interests of all kinds should there be a revolution.

The Battle Field Route.

The Veterans of sixty-one and five and their friends, who are going to attend the 33rd G. A. R. Annual Encampment at Philadelphia in September, could not select a better nor more historic route than the Big Four, Chesapeake & Ohio, with splendid service from Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis on the Big Four, all connecting at Indianapolis or Cincinnati and thence over the Chesapeake & Ohio along the Ohio river to Huntington, West Va., thence through the foot-hills of the Alleghenies, over the Mountains through the famous Springs Region of Virginia to Staunton, Va., between which point and Washington are many of the most prominent battle-fields: Waynesboro, Gordonsville, Cedar Mountain, Rappahannock, Kettle Run, Manassas, Bull Run, Fairfax, and a score of others nearly as prominent. Washington is next, and thence via the Pennsylvania Line direct to Philadelphia. There will be three rates in effect for this business: 1st. Continuous passage, with no stop-over privilege; 2nd. Going and coming same route with one stop-over in each direction; 3d. Circuitous route, going one way and back another with one stop-over in each direction. Mrs. Col. Richardson SAVED BY MRS. PINKHAM.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 72,896]

"You have saved my life, snatched me from the brink of the grave almost, and I wish to thank you. About eighteen months ago I was a total wreck, physically. I had been troubled with leucorrhoea for some time, but had given hardly any attention to the trouble.

"At last inflammation of the womb and ovaries resulted and then I suffered agonies, had to give up my profession (musician and piano player), was confined to my bed and life became a terrible cross. My husband summoned the best physicians, but their benefit was but temporary at best. I believe I should have contracted the morphine habit under their care, if my common sense had not intervened.

"One day my husband noticed the advertisement of your remedies and immediately bought me a full trial. Soon the pain in my ovaries was gone. I am now well, strong and robust, walk, ride a wheel, and feel like a girl in her teens. I would not be without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it is like water of life to me. I am very grateful and sincerely your well-wisher, and I heartily recommend your remedies. I hope some poor creature may be helped to health by reading my story."—MRS. COL. E. P. RICHARDSON, RHINELANDER, WIS.

Biliousness

A prominent republican politician of Bay county is authority for the statement that Col. Aaron T. Bliss, of Saginaw, will be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor in 1900.

Pingree & Smith's workmen did not make much by their strike except a loss of wages while they were out of work. All hands have gone back to work and the firm retains the right to run its business as it sees fit.

Clyde E. Frances, proprietor of the Ypsilanti Weekly Sentinel, started Tuesday to issue that paper as a daily. The Herald wishes him success in his venture, but daily newspapers in small cities are ticklish things to handle.

The total expense of the state for printing and binding last year was $83,643.53. If the state printing office amendment had carried it would have cost $150,000 to do that work, besides the expense involved in putting up a building and equipping the office.

Michigan's welcome home to Gen. R. A. Alger at Detroit yesterday was a well deserved tribute to his worth as a man, a citizen, a soldier, and a statesman. It was an event without a rival and showed the esteem in which the general is held by the people of the state.

The editor of the Grass Lake News is evidently an out-and-out believer in the hell fire doctrine to judge by his utterances on the late Col. Robert G. Ingersoll in last week's issue of his paper. For a good, God-fearing christian man the editor certainly uses very strong, coarse and uncharitable language.

The employees in the Pingree & Smith shoe factory at Detroit lost just $26,000 in wages by reason of their recent four weeks' strike, and it is safe to say that it took over $20,000 to keep them while they were idle. This is a loss they never can make up, and just how much better off they are it is hard for the average outsider to see. They did not carry a single point that they presumably struck to carry, and are now back in their old places, but instead of contentment being with them, there is rank distrust and bitterness gnawing at their hearts every hour they work. It is a bad business this striking and usually tells most on the folks at home, the helpless wives and families of those who engage in them.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her, and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night, and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz, of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Glazier & Stimson's Bank Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed.

One of the old landmarks of Ypsilanti was obliterated Thursday, when the old Showers residence on the outskirts of the city was removed. The building was erected in 1830 by James Saunders who was then sheriff of Washtenaw county.

Former Chelsea Boy Married.

The following item taken from the Battle Creek Journal of Monday will prove a great surprise to many of the gentleman's friends in this village:

"The announcement of the marriage of William W. Durand and Mrs. Phoebe Palmer of this city, which occurred in Chicago yesterday, will be quite a surprise to their many friends. The bride is a well known milliner and a lady much esteemed in her circle of friends, while the groom is a prominent young business man of the firm of Godsmark, Durand & Company. Mr. and Mrs. Durand will continue to make Battle Creek their home and the Journal with their numerous friends extends congratulations and best wishes."

His Battle Creek friends did not forget him at this time and the following account of a "decorative surprise" that was given him by some of them on his return to Battle Creek will be read with interest by those who knew Mr. Durand when he lived here:

"Not among the least of the many evidences of the matrimonial step of W. W. Durand, whose marriage is elsewhere announced in this paper, was the bike which was displayed in front of Beedon's drug store this morning. The machine was certainly a model of decorative art, old shoes, crockery, bags of rice, white ribbons, an alarm clock, bag of beans, and numerous other articles of divers natures and kind, adorned it promiscuously. Will had left the wheel against the curb while he attended to a little business matter and during that time the work was done. When he returned, a large concourse of his many friends happened to be standing near waiting to see the effect. He took it very calmly and managed to escape amid the clapping of the witnesses, ostensibly, to secure the services of a photographer so that the decorations might be photographed, but that was the last seen of William until the crowd had nearly dispersed and then he appeared and succeeded, after some difficulty, in removing the trimmings, with one exception, a pair of infant's shoes that had been tied to the wheel with a long black thread, and the groom pedaled away, unaware of that which was trailing along behind him until a lady pedestrian accidentally stepped upon the string, breaking it, much to the rider's relief and the grief of the onlookers. Will says it is a most auspicious beginning, but he does not know what next is coming."

A $40 Bicycle Given Away Daily.

The publishers of The New York Star, the handsomely illustrated Sunday news paper, are giving a high grade bicycle each day for the largest list of words made by using the letters contained in "T-H-E-N-E-W-Y-O-R-K-S-T-A-R" no more times in any one word than it is found in The New York Star. Webster's Dictionary to be considered as authority. Two good watches, (first class timekeepers) will be given daily for second and third best lists, and many other valuable rewards, including dinner sets, tea sets, china, sterling silverware, etc., etc., in order of merit. This educational contest is being given to advertise and introduce this successful weekly into new homes, and all prizes will be awarded promptly without partiality. Twelve 2-cent stamps must be inclosed for thirteen weeks trial subscription with full particulars and list of over 300 valuable rewards. Contest opens and awards commence Monday, June 26th, and closes Monday, August 21st, 1899. Your list can reach us any day between these dates, and will receive the award to which it may be entitled for that day, and your name will be printed in the following issue of The New York Star. Only one list can be entered by the same person. Prizes are on exhibition at The Star's business office. Persons securing bicycles may have choice of ladies', gentlemen's or juveniles' 1899 model, color or size desired. Call or address Dept. "E," The New York Star, 286 W. 39th street, New York City.

Attempted Hold Up.

Stockbridge Sun: While Charles Clark, of Lyndon, was returning home from Chelsea a few nights ago and was near what is known as the Letts' bridge a man jumped out of the bushes and grabbed for his horse, which frightened the animal, and being a spirited horse, it leaped to one side and started out at a high speed. A short distance farther on two other men were encountered standing in the center of the road. They made no attempt to clear the road until the horse was nearly on them, when perhaps observing that the occupant of the buggy was not the one they were looking for, they moved out and Mr. Clark continued his way home without further hindrance.

LOCAL ITEMS.

H. Lighthall is putting a new stoop on his house on Harrison street.

The Parsons & Hobert canning factory at Grass Lake has begun operations for the season.

A baseball game is in progress at Recreation Park this afternoon between the Chelsea and Manchester juvenile nines.

The trees around the school property have been trimmed so that the light is let in on the somewhat dark places around that spot.

H. S. Holmes has been giving his double store a liberal coating of paint the past week much to the improvement of its appearance.

Rev. C. S. Jones having returned from his vacation, regular services will be resumed at the Congregational church next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association will hold an ice cream social at the opera house on Saturday evening, Aug. 5. All are invited to attend.

The Herald has received a copy of the Ypsilanti High School semi-centennial catalogue for 1898-99 with the compliments of the superintendent, Prof. Austin George.

F. H. Belser and Fred Hutzler, of Ann Arbor, caught 173 fish in Crooked Lake Thursday. Several of their friends in the university city enjoyed fish dinners and suppers in consequence.

The roof of the passenger depot has been shingled, now, if a gang of painters should be sent along to paint it up the dingy old building would look more of a credit to our enterprising town.

It is expected that Rev. Mr. Stiles, of Mendon, will be the next pastor of the Baptist church. The congregation will vote on extending him a call at the business meeting to be held next Saturday.

Harry Beeden, one of the engineers at the electric light works, was putting a new lamp into a socket Monday evening when the socket blew out and his left hand was burned in a very bad manner by the electric current.

A young man named Laurison, who works in C. Steinbach's harness shop, was running the heavy leather sewing machine Thursday when he accidentally ran the needle three times through the end of his right forefinger. It was a very painful injury.

Ann Arbor Times: One of the most remarkable inmates of the county house is Mrs. Blount. She is 93 years of age, and not only does sewing but assists in the necessary ironing about the institution. And she does these things without the use of glasses.

The Michigan Central Railway Co. will beautify the depot grounds at Ann Arbor and to that end has had an expert landscape gardener at work drafting plans, which if approved by the head officials of the road will be followed out in laying out the grounds.

Emma Weller, aged 19 years, of Bridge-water, who has been employed as a domestic in Ypsilanti, was on Monday adjudged insane and sent to the Wayne county asylum by Judge of Probate Newkirk, there being no place to keep her in this county.

The K. O. T. M. and L. O. T. M. have leased the rooms over the post office and H. L. Wood & Co.'s store. The owners of the buildings, M. Alber and J. P. Wood, will fix the rooms up for them and some time in October the two bodies will occupy them for lodge purposes.

Emmer Fenn, while painting the cupola of the grainery on H. S. Holmes' farm in Lima Friday, fell from it and rolling down the roof went down to the ground, a drop of 16 feet. He sprained his left ankle in a very bad manner and it will lay him off from work for some time to come.

Luke Reilly, of Lyndon, was mowing a piece of marsh land Thursday when his horses got mired. He went round in front of the horses to unhook the neck-yoke when they made a plunge to get out of the mire and in some way his left elbow was struck and the cap knocked off.

Jackson Elks have decided on plans for their new temple to be built next summer. The plans and specifications have been prepared by Architect Kamper. It will be 64 by 133 feet, three stories high, and will have an auditorium that will seat 2,500. There will be lodge rooms, billiard room, dancing room, parlors, bowling alley, shower and plunge baths and kitchen. Pressed brick will be used in its construction, and it will cost $40,000.

Robert Leach will occupy the Beasley house on Buchanan street.

Mrs. Thomas J. Stinson is having her house on Park street remodeled and enlarged.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Fenn are rejoicing over the advent into their home of a bright baby boy, born last Saturday.

John Heselschwerdt, of Sharon, has struck a flowing well on his farm at a depth of 20 feet. The water rises a foot above the ground.

Hickory and butternut trees are loaded with nuts and the prospects are that there will be a big crop. There will be very few walnuts, however.

Ann Arbor Argus: J. E. Durand, of Jackson, is in the city looking over the Sanitary Milk Co.'s plant. He expects to establish one in Jackson.

This is not very agreeable news. A New York dispatch states that all order for coal not filled by July 31 will be cancelled by the anthracite companies and an advance of 25 cents a ton will go into effect.

Dexter Leader: Interest now centers on the proposed electric line from Ann Arbor to Jackson. We hope it will materialize, but are compelled to confess that our confidence in "projected" electric lines has been badly shattered.

Cavanaugh & Wedemeyer, of Ann Arbor, seem to be doing quite a legal business in that city. On Saturday they entered appearance in four suits and appeared in three justice court suits. And yet this is vacation time with the lawyers.

State teachers' examinations will be held at Lansing, Cadillac and Marquette, Aug. 15 to 18. Applicants for state teachers' certificates must have had two years' experience as teachers, or have graduated from the state university or other incorporated college of the state.

With the fixing of the walk across Main street from the post office and the sidewalk opposite the McKune block on East Middle street two dangerous pitfalls for the unwary have been done away with. The Herald is glad to see its words of warning have borne such good fruit.

There is one man in Jackson that would shave the edge from a flint. He sold his house, and after a lot of dickering he agreed to leave the carpets on the floor. He left them all right but when the purchaser moved in, he found that the mean man had removed the lining and the tacks.

The Farm Journal is the boiled-down, hit-the-nail-on-the-head paper, cut to fit the wide-awake farmer and villager. We give the Farm Journal for the balance of 1899 and all of 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903, nearly five years, as a prize to every one of our subscribers who will pay a year ahead for the Herald.

The German M. E. Sunday School and the Sylvan Union Sunday School will hold their annual picnic at Cavanaugh Lake Wednesday, August 9. A number of popular speakers will be present, among them Carl G. Zeidler, of Detroit, and Dorsey Hoppe, of Sylvan. The Francisco band will furnish the music.

George P. Glazier has bought the lot next west of Mrs. Mary J. Winaus, on South street, from that lady, and has filled up the lot with dirt taken from the lot on the opposite side of the road next Mrs. J. C. Goodyear's property. He has moved the house he purchased from F. P. Glazier on it and will make it into a comfortable dwelling.

Prof. J. B. Steere, of Ann Arbor, the well known authority on natural history, gives it as his opinion that the "kissing bug" and the "strangling bug" are two humbugs. He says the superstition concerning them strongly reminds him of the fears of the Filipinos or the natives of Brazil. They live in deadly terror of harmless winged insects, while they step about among venomous snakes and reptiles without fear.

A deed was presented Tuesday of last week at the register of deeds office for recording, which was drawn by a Saline justice. The peculiar feature about it was the signatures to the deed. Evidently the husband and wife were unable to write their names, so they made their marks. After the first mark was written "his mark," after the second mark was written "her mark." The names were absent and it was nowhere told who made his mark or who made her mark.

Albion Mirror: Under the new law relating to distribution of estates a widow is given all of the household goods. Under the old law, the widow was given only household goods to the value of $250. The new law provides that where there are no children when the estate is settled and ready to be distributed, the widow is first allowed $3,000 before the remainder of the estate is divided between her and the relatives of her husband. Under the old law she was given only $1,000. This means that if the estate is worth only $3,000 or less after it is settled and ready for distribution the widow is entitled to all of it, and the husband's relatives get nothing at all.

In the case of Carl F. Wuerthner vs. the Workingmen's Benevolent Society, of Manchester, the supreme court has ordered a new trial.

H. G. Ives, of Unadilla, has purchased the Royce farm in Sylvan from Thomas S. Sears, and will move on it in the near future. The property consists of 37 acres of land and a brick house. The consideration was $2,400.

The date fixed for the visit of Ann Arbor Lodge, No. 325, B. P. O. Elks, to the Elks' Carnival at Detroit, is Thursday, Aug. 24. The boys will go to Detroit by motor and will be met at the city hall, Detroit, by the Detroit Lodge with the Metropolitan band.

In the probate court Tuesday Judge Newkirk admitted the will of Martin Widmayer, deceased, of Lima. Mrs. Aggie Widmayer the widow was appointed executrix. She is sole legatee. The estate is estimated at $1,200. The appraisers and commissioners appointed were John Wuster and Daniel Wacker.

William Snow's double team hitched to a canopy top surrey was tied opposite the town hall Saturday forenoon when they broke loose and tore down East Middle street at a 2:30 clip. At McKinley street they turned and ran across the railroad track. They got tangled up with a hitching post and were stopped by the men who were employed in laying the cement walk on that street. The surrey was badly wrecked but the horses were not hurt any to speak of.

Cases of appendicitis are largely on the increase in this state. In conversation with a prominent medical professor of the university the other day, the editor of the Herald asked him if there was any particular cause why this should be the case. To this question the doctor replied that the greatest cause for most of the cases was catarrhal inflammation. In some cases of catarrh the disease attacks the head, throat and nasal organs, in others the lungs, and again in others the bowels and intestines are attacked and thus the disease extends to the appendix.

Probate Order.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 15th day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

Present, H. Wirt Newkirk, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the Estate of Ann Simpson, deceased. On reading and filing the petition duly verified of Anna Knapp, praying that a certain instrument now on file in this Court, purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased may be admitted to probate and that administration of said estate may be granted to herself or to some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered that Friday, the 15th day of August, next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the devisees, legatees, and heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted: And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the CHELSEA HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

CRITICS ANSWERED.

Gen. Alger Defends His Course with Reference to the Army.

He Confines His Statement to the Question of Army Appointments, and Denies Charge of Misuse of Funds.

Washington, Aug. 1.—One of Secretary Alger's last official acts was to prepare a statement covering several matters regarding the conduct of the war which have been the subject of criticism in the public press, particularly with reference to the appointment of staff officers in the volunteer army. The statement follows:

"I am led to make the following statements on account of the many criticisms which have been made by the public press, and especially on account of a recent article which appeared in the London Times, containing assertions which have no foundation in truth.

"At the commencement of the war with Spain and for several years prior to that time the regular army consisted of only 25,000 men, with the minimum number of officers prescribed by law. The situation can be partially appreciated when it is remembered that within 60 days from the declaration of war the strength of the army was increased to 275,000, and everything for the equipment of this great force, including clothing, tents, transportation, medical supplies, camps and camp equipment and all that pertains to equipping an army for service had to be manufactured, transported and distributed for use.

Army Officer Appointments.

"From the statement referred to the public might be made to believe that the volunteer army was officered by men selected through political influence with the secretary of war by special favor and without any regard to fitness for the duties they were to perform. As is well known, the volunteer force, with the exception of three regiments of engineers, three regiments of cavalry and ten regiments of infantry, was made up of regiments from the various states, the officers of which were all appointed exclusively by the governors of the respective states from which the regiments came, and any officer found unfit for service and discharged was replaced by another in the same manner. The president had no voice or control in the matter.

"The returns of the volunteer army show that in August, 1898, there were 207,244 enlisted men and 8,785 officers in those regiments. This, with the regular army recruited up to the war strength, made an aggregate force of about 275,000 officers and men.

"The volunteer officers appointed by the president numbered, all told, 1,632. Of this number 441 were taken from the regular army and 591 from civil life. The scarcity of regimental officers in the regular service, owing to appointments in the volunteers, special recruiting and mustering details, had so reduced their number that to have taken a larger number for service with the volunteers would have seriously impaired the efficiency of the regular regiments.

Thousands of Applications.

"For a little over 1,000 appointments made by the president, the number of applicants was over 25,000, and each application was accompanied by a certificate of his ability, and in most instances the military service, either in the regular army or a state organization, and not infrequently in both. Three certificates showed that each one was as well qualified for the position he sought and to which he was appointed as could be possible for men in civil life in this country. Of the number appointed there were, for instance, 26 major generals, of whom 19 were taken from the regular army and seven from civil life. Of these seven all but one were graduates of West Point military academy and all had distinguished themselves in command during the civil war.

"Of brigadier generals there were 102 appointed, 66 from the regular army and 36 from civil life. Those from civil life had all seen service during the civil war or on our western frontier, and all had proved themselves competent to command.

His Own Appointments Few.

"It has been stated and repeated many times that the secretary of war made these appointments, when the truth is that very few were made upon his recommendation, although he caused the entire list, with the recommendations, to be compiled and placed before the president for his selection. I would only be too glad to have had the honor to have made these appointments. No better, no more loyal or more patriotic set of men as a whole ever served their country, and their appointments were a credit not only to the appointing power, but to the country they served. There were exceptions, but that could not have been foreseen. In every walk of life men are found who cannot carry out satisfactorily the work they have undertaken.

"There were three regiments of cavalry, the officers of which were appointed by the secretary of war. Col. Leonard Wood, now a brigadier general and commanding the departments of Santiago and Porto Principe, was one of these. Col. Grigsby and Col. Torrey, both good officers, were the other two. There were three regiments of engineers, the colonels of which were all graduates of the military academy, and not only the officers, but the enlisted men, were selected with a view to their special fitness, and in most instances upon the recommendations of the colonels themselves, and all proved themselves most efficient.

"There were also ten regiments of immune infantry, of whose colonels eight were graduates of the military academy, who were selected for special fitness to command, and in the short time these regiments were in service developed remarkable proficiency.

Denies Misuse of Money.

"Criticisms as to the amounts and methods of expenditures which could imply the wrong or careless use of money were also made by the London Times. This charge is false. So far as the conduct of the service was concerned, no person with any knowledge of the facts can ever charge truthfully, and no one can ever show that a dollar was misappropriated, stolen or embezzled out of the hundreds of millions of dollars that were expended. The records are an open book, and I will be glad to have them rigidly examined, and ask my successor to open those accounts to the country whenever properly called for, in order that the entire truth may be known.

Secretary of War.

FIGHTING THE FEVER.

Precautions Are Being Taken to Prevent Spread of "Yellow Jack" Beyond Soldiers' Home.

Washington, Aug. 1.—The latest official advices received up to eight o'clock Monday night show a total of 37 cases and seven deaths from yellow fever at the soldiers' home at Hampton, Va. One new case occurred at the home Monday. Thus far the disease has been confined to the home, but all surrounding towns are excited and a vigorous quarantine is being maintained. Dr. Wasdin, of the marine hospital service, is in charge of affairs at Hampton, and is working in cooperation with the local boards of health. He has strengthened the cordon about the town of Phoebus, which he reports is in a very bad sanitary condition. The fact that only one new case appeared Monday is encouraging to the officials here, who are taking every measure to prevent a spread of the disease. They feel that the fact that the affected locality is in the hands of the government and under one management will be of great value in dealing with the scourge, and enable better results to be obtained than where epidemics break out in commercial places.

Already a number of inquiries have been received by Dr. Wyman from quarantine officers throughout the United States asking whether they shall impose a maritime quarantine against Norfolk. He has replied that there appears to be no necessity for such restriction in the case of either Norfolk or Newport News.

Dr. Wasdin's official report of his examination of existing conditions at the soldiers' home reached Dr. Wyman Monday. It is dated Sunday and notes the fact that the doctor has seen all the cases of suspected diseases at the home. He sums up the history of the contagion as follows:

"Early in July an 'old soldier' entered the home for a short rest, and soon afterward appeared at the dispensary, where he informed the physician in charge that he was but recently from Santiago via a transport to a northern port; thence he started for Manila via San Francisco, beat his way to the home on a freight train and entered with his baggage. He complained of dumb chills and fever, and was prescribed for. He mingled freely with the inmates of the home, and a short time ago disappeared. From this as a possible cause the outbreak is as follows: Preceding Friday, the 21st instant, there had been noticed nothing of a suspicious nature. The weekly death rate was as usual. But on the 21st and 22nd there became ill during the night, with sharp or less chill, high fever, some eight or ten inmates, men of usually good health. These seizures, although noted as peculiar, had occasioned no alarm until about Thursday, the 27th, when a death occurred, the man becoming distinctly yellow some time prior to death. On or about the same day another one died without having attracted particular attention; he also turned quite yellow. Autopsies were held on both by the resident pathologist. It was then, or a little later, that the telegram was sent you asking for an expert. I found there was 3,500 inmates, and that 35 had been taken ill since the 21st."

Dr. Wasdin says he withheld a positive diagnosis in his first communication because of the assertion of Surgeon Vickery at the home that there had been no communication of the inmates with any Cuban soldiers returned since last May or early in June. With the discovery of the probable origin of the infection and the two autopsies Monday there can be no doubt, he says, about the disease being yellow fever, and continues:

"I have advised Maj. Vickery to empty the dormitories infected at once, putting the men preferably in tents. The grounds are closed. There has been a very free intercommunication between the inmates and people of Phoebus, a public house near the grounds having been freely visited until Sunday night. I have suggested to Dr. Pettus to meet one or more of the local boards of health, and informing them of the state of affairs, ask their cooperation in watching the village. These inmates, as I understand it, do not mingle much with people outside of the village. From this fact it would seem possible to confine it in the home."

Hampton, Va., Aug. 1.—This usually tranquil town has been in a state of feverish excitement since the discovery of yellow fever at the soldiers' home. Scores of people took advantage of the first opportunity to leave the place. Sunday a special train left Old Point with fully 300 of the guests of the hotels. Business in the town of Phoebus, adjoining the soldiers' home, is suspended. It is difficult to obtain information from the home. The entrance, and in fact all points from which escape is possible, are carefully guarded. Late Monday afternoon a self-appointed guard of 15 Hamptonians with Winchester rifles went to the home to assist in enforcing the quarantine regulations. Chesapeake & Ohio trains have discontinued their service to the city.

Newport News, Va., Aug. 1.—After a day of intense excitement over the yellow fever outbreak at the soldiers' home, Newport rests with a feeling of comparative security. The city officers and the various municipal bodies have been busy since early morning, and it is felt now that no loophole has been left in which the scourge may find its way to this city. The universal hope now is that the disease will be confined within the home limits, and the authorities at the institution express confidence that this will be done. Although hundreds of people left the city on account of the scare, their departure is regarded with indifference and amusement, rather than as a judicious precaution, by the great majority who stay at home. The city council appropriated $10,000 for immediate use in maintaining the quarantine.

WAS A FIERCE FIGHT.

Detailed Account of Sunday's Engagement with Filipinos at Calamba.

Manila, Aug. 1.—Sunday's fight at Calamba was a warm one. The insurgents were unwilling to abandon the place, which is the key to the lake road. Gen. Hall, hearing that Gen. Malbar was preparing to make an attack, sent Maj. Weisenberger with three companies of the Twenty-first infantry, three troops of cavalry and one of Hamilton's guns to attack the insurgents. This detachment found a force of 1,000 rebels behind hastily-made intrenchments. The rebels held their fire until the contingent of the Twenty-first regiment was within 300 yards, when they fired a volley. The Americans dropped in the high grass out of sight and returned the fire. Lieut. Love, who was walking erect along the front of the men, was shot in the arm. An insurgent officer, equally brave, stood at the top of the trenches, directing the fire of the insurgents until he was killed, when the Filipinos fled.

During the fighting on the north side of the town, a small body of insurgents attempted to enter on the south side, but a troop of cavalry repulsed them.

The total American loss at Calamba was seven killed and twenty wounded. Sixteen dead insurgents have been found. The American garrison at Morong is going to Calamba.

A body of insurgents has visited Taytay, where they killed several natives who were friendly to the Americans.

DIES AT WASHINGTON.

Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague Passes Away After an Illness of Three Months.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague, wife of the former governor of Rhode Island and the daughter of the late Salmon P. Chase, governor of Ohio, United States senator and chief justice of the United States supreme court, died at her home, "Edgewood," in Washington's suburbs, early on Monday morning. She was 59 years old. For three months she had been suffering from a complication of liver and kidney troubles, but had consented to medical treatment only ten days ago. She grew steadily worse and the end came a few minutes after three o'clock in the morning. At her bedside were her three daughters, Miss Kittie Sprague, who lived with her mother, Mrs. Portia Sprague, of Narragansett Pier, and Mrs. Donaldson, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday and will be private. The body will be deposited temporarily in a vault at Glenwood cemetery, this city, later to be removed to Columbus, O., where the remains will be interred by the side of Mrs. Sprague's father and mother.

A VETERAN GONE.

Death at St. Louis of Brig. Gen. Nelson A. Cole, Who Fought in Two Wars.

St. Louis, Aug. 1.—Brig. Gen. Nelson A. Cole, a hero of two wars, died at his home in this city Monday after a lingering illness. He went into the civil war a captain of the Missouri volunteers and came out a colonel. He had charge of the expedition in southeast Missouri and captured Fort Jackson. He participated in many of the great battles of the war with distinction, at one time acting as chief of artillery on Gen. Pleasanton's staff. On the outbreak of the Spanish-American war he was among the first to receive the appointment as brigadier general, being assigned to the Third brigade, Second division, at Camp Alger. He was subsequently transferred to the camp at Columbia, S. C., and was mustered out owing to ill health.

BOILER EXPLODES.

Disaster on a Michigan Farm in Which Six Men Are Killed and Two Injured.

White Cloud, Mich., Aug. 1.—Shortly after a threshing crew had started to work Monday at Big Prairie, eight miles east, Engineer Crabtree noticed that the water in the boiler was low. The fire was raked out and the engineer turned more water in the boiler. Almost instantly the boiler exploded, killing Charles Haight, Alfred Haight, Charles Crabtree, Bert Salter, Cecil Priest and Raymond Howe, instantly. George Overly was so badly injured that he cannot recover. Oscar Evans had his leg broken. Three of the men left families. The explosion blew the engine 150 feet, driving it through a barn and carrying half of the separator through the barn with it.

Fatal Duel.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 1.—A fatal duel took place across the line in Letcher county, Ky. William Smallwood killed his uncle Clelland Smallwood, and the younger man was himself fatally wounded by his uncle. The men had been at daggers' points for two years, and a recent quarrel brought matters to a head. The men met upon a mountain road and both fired at the same time. Young Clelland dropped his revolver and fell heavily to the ground. His uncle tumbled over dead, shot near the heart.

SUMMER DOOR HANGINGS.

Three Charming Designs That Can Be Carried Out for Less Than One Dollar Each.

This is the season when doors are taken off and stored in the attic. A free draught of air is what is desired throughout the house. Artistic door hangings can be made of inexpensive materials. There comes this year an old blue linen which is very decorative, and, being smooth, it is easily worked.

If the door curtain is to be used as a screen, select a linen of the desired width and make it a little narrower than the opening in the door. String the top upon a rod and run a rod through the foot of the curtain to keep it in place. It is, of course, easily brushed aside. Thread your needle with coarse embroidery cotton and work circles and crescents upon the linen, letting one cross over the other. Embroider one in red, white and blue if you desire a national curtain, and fill them in with small designs to suit your fancy.

A denim curtain can be worked in scroll design with four-leaf clovers. The curtain when stretched out will look something like this. It should be a third wider than the door.

Plain brown muslin makes a very artistic door hanging. Sew a band of figured creton at the top and bottom, and if you desire to use the doorway frequently you can drape back one of the curtains with a cord. These are extremely simple curtain designs and can be carried out for less than one dollar each.

A Luncheon Delicacy.

Beat for half an hour the yolks of eight eggs; add to them one-quarter of a grated nutmeg, eight tablespoonsful of wine, a pinch of powdered cinnamon, six tablespoonsful of syrup, made by boiling one cupful of sugar and half a cupful of water until thick, and six tablespoonsful of chicken stock. Put all these ingredients in a porcelain-lined saucepan, cook for half an hour, or until quite thick, stirring frequently. Serve cold.

A Sure Coffee Test.

There is no drink more delicious than a cupful of coffee when the beverage is made from the best seed. To test coffee put a spoonful gently on the top of a glass of water. If the coffee is pure it will not sink for some minutes, and will scarcely color the water; but if chicory is mixed with it it will sink to the bottom immediately, rapidly absorbing the water and also giving it a dark reddish tinge.

FLIES AND THEIR WAYS.

Pests Which Annoy Households Found in Greatest Numbers in the Vicinity of Stables.

"House flies," said Dr. L. O. Howard, the famous entomologist of the agricultural department, "come from the stables and the dirt left about the streets by horses. If we could away with horses we would not have many flies. A single stable in which a horse is kept will fill an entire neighborhood with flies. People living in agricultural communities will probably never get rid of the pest, but cities, with better modes of disposing of garbage and with the lessening of the number of horses in stables consequent upon the increased use of electric street railways, bicycles and horseless carriages, the time may come when window screens may be discarded."

"How fast do flies multiply?" "An ordinary house fly will lay 100 eggs during its existence, and 90 percent of them will be hatched out. During the ordinary summer 12 or 13 generations of flies will be produced, so you can make the calculation yourself. Every female fly is the progenitor of millions of flies during a single summer."

"There are four or five kinds of house flies. The most common known to entomologists is the 'musca domestica,' medium-sized grayish fly with its mouth spread out for sucking up liquid substances. It cannot bite. There is another called the 'stomoxys calcitrans,' which resembles it closely, but differs in having an important appendage that is built to pierce the skin. It is second in abundance. Both of these flies are chiefly bred in manure. In our experience and those of other entomologists it has been discovered that they will seldom lay their eggs in anything else."

"There are several other kinds of flies, but these two are the most common, and to them we owe the nuisance that housewives suffer. The eggs are hatched into larvae within 24 hours after they are laid. They remain in the larval state from five to seven days, and in the pupal state a similar time. The average life of a fly is from ten to fourteen days."

"Does the fly serve any useful purpose?"

"Not so far as we have ever discovered," said Dr. Howard, "and it does great deal more injury than people commonly suppose. We are accustomed to think of flies simply as a nuisance, but they are undoubtedly the carriers of contagion, as was abundantly proved during the war of the rebellion and also in the camps of our army last summer. It is the judgment of the highest authorities that a considerable part of the typhoid fever was due to flies in the camps."—Chicago Daily Record.

FOLDING PIAZZA COUCH.

A Convenience for Lounging or Sleeping in Open Air During the Warm Weather.

For the summer piazza one of the most convenient pieces of furniture is a folding couch that can be raised up and fastened to the side of the house somewhat similar to a mantel folding bed.

The illustration shows such a couch that is attached to the weather boards of the house at the inner side, by means of large strap hinges, while the outer edge is supported on legs fastened to the under side of the woodwork.

An old hair mattress can be employed as the topping, and it should be laid on the platform and held down by means of denim, which is drawn down all around the edges and tacked securely to the wood.

The tufted effect shown in the illustration is obtained by making holes in the wood and with a long pack needle string is drawn up through the mattress and tied at the top through the edge of a metal or cloth-covered button.

Where the string is tied the mattress is depressed so the bottom is deep seated. A valance of the denim is made and gathered around the front and two ends, as shown.

In rainy weather, or when more plan space is required, the couch can be raised, valance tucked in and the whole thing fastened to the weather boards by means of a strap. — Louisville Courier-Journal.

How to Press Flowers.

Place them before they have time to wither between sheets of writing paper. Spread the flowers out in as natural a way as possible, with neither leaves nor petals crumpled. Lay on the top of them several sheets of drying paper, then more flowers, putting a stout board over all and heavy weights. The paper must be changed several times each day.

Bright Colors at Newport

WHEN one compares the present season with that of last year, and the showing made by the honorable set at Newport, one must believe that the fairy godmother appeared to bestow unlimited wealth upon her fair charges. It actually seemed last year as though they were cared for pretty gowns, or if they had pocketbooks would not permit their purchase, while this year Newport grows gayer with each suc-

ing week, and no one can as yet prophesy the end of it all. Last season many a fond wife or pretty belle was weeping her heart out for loved ones who were away to the tropics, for even America's smart set conducted its quota of men to fight the Spaniards in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, and for that reason, even though we give them credit for having other, they cared for the gayeties of the season less than usual. But they are mainly making up for the loss of a season this year, and the entire world has been called upon to furnish novelties with which the women may best themselves.

While Newport is witnessing this season it is a becoming gayety, for the American woman knows what she may wear and what she may not probably wear than her sisters in any other part of the world. No matter how much she may like the bright colors that are in vogue she abstains from them if they are not becoming, and in this she shows her superiority over the French women, who let their passion for colors run riot.

BLACK MOHAIR SWISS TRIMMED WITH BLACK VELVET.

With their better judgment, as a rule of which they often make frights of themselves. The rage of the present moment, and as a fact that has but recently appeared, is the black dotted swiss. The material for these costumes is not new, either in white or black, or a combination of both. The black swiss and mulls are most popular, and the black mohair swiss, with all white dots thickly strewn over it. This makes either a very cool-looking gown for the summer days, or a very stylish costume for summer evenings.

For trimming on this class of gowns laces of all kinds are being used. Some of the more popular are the oriental laces, the open work guipure effects that are so neatly designed, those having the fine net tops being mostly used; point d'esprit and cotton Brussels net are all among those often seen, and the exquisitely wrought range in renaisance laces, and the very broad use of appliques in different forms. Another is the choice Battenberg varieties in all over edgings and bands, and the great craze for muslins and malines which are always stylish.

One of these black swiss gowns is a jet black of rather a heavy weave, and dotted closely with white dots. The foundation skirt is very long, and of bright green silk. While it is very close fitting around the top it seems to have several yards of sweep at the bottom. This sweep has 12 rows of narrow black satin ribbon ruffled on it, while down each side of the front the narrow satin ribbon is brought in a small and large scallop effect, and extending all the way around the skirt, at the top of the trimming. It has a tucked yoke and high collar of the bright green silk, also a small vest of the silk, with the black swiss for a turn-back collar around the yoke, and fitting the figure for the rest of the CANARY COLORED CREPE DE CHINE bodice. Also outlined around the yoke and on the sleeves, and down the front on each side of the vest with the black satin ribbon.

A second is of the new black mohair swiss with a figure in white, and trimmed with black velvet ribbon, and white lace applique insertion. The foundation of this gown is of cerise silk, with tiny ruchings of white mouseline de soie edged with tiny black velvet ribbon. The tunic overskirt is of the black mohair swiss long in back, and in a short scallop in front. This is edged with the black velvet ribbon. The oddity of this gown is in the way the white applique insertion is put on around the upper part of the skirt with a row of black velvet run in and out through the black swiss, two rows of each. The same idea is carried out on the bodice that was made with a blouse effect, having a full front of the white mouseline de soie, with a knot of the same at the back. Large turn-back revers of white silk embroidered in black chenille, and a stock collar of black velvet with a roll of the black velvet at the waist line with a rosette.

A gown that is very noticeable is of a canary colored crepe de chine, and trimmed with narrow black velvet. It has three tunic flounces on the skirt, each edged with black velvet ribbon. The upper part of the bodice is made of a silk dotted liberty gauze in a canary shade, and is opened at the neck to disclose a tucked chemisette of cream white chiffon. The lower part of the bodice is decorated with a lattice work of black velvet ribbon, and the sleeves are also made with the black velvet ribbon in a lattice work. Wide black tulle forms a sash, with long floating loops and ends reaching to the bottom of the skirt.

With a white or black gown one sees white shoes made either of linen or of white chamois leather. And then one sees the bright colored shoes in green, violet, red or blue with colored gowns. SARAH DAVIDSON.

IS THE MAIN FEATURE.

Strikers at Cleveland Rely More Upon Effect of the Boycott Than Upon Deeds of Violence.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 1.—Whether the boycott upon the Big Consolidated Street Railroad company is having any effect or not, the company shows no indication of a desire to change its policy with respect to the strike. A special meeting of the directors of the company was held Monday afternoon. At its conclusion President Henry A. Everett was asked if the strike had been discussed.

"Incidentally it was," was his reply. "Is it the intention of the company to move for a settlement of the strike?" was asked.

"No," said President Everett. "We are going ahead as we have been going. We are hiring new men all the time, and we now have nearly all we want. Some of the new men are being discharged when found to be not the men we want and others put in their places. We are satisfied with the situation."

On the other hand, the leaders of the strikers profess to be very much encouraged by the working of the boycott, and they say they must surely win, because, they declare, the public is with them. The president of the union has been busy all day listening to the complaints of merchants and others who claim they have been boycotted without warrant, and when he discovers that the person who complains is innocent of the charge of having ridden on a Big Consolidated car he gives notice to union men accordingly.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 1.—Beyond an outbreak in the Polish settlement, which was promptly suppressed by the militia, the night passed without serious trouble.

Many cars were stoned in the suburbs, but so far as learned no one was injured. A mob which formed on Fleet street, in the south end of the city, was dispersed by the militia with fixed bayonets and a number of the ring leaders arrested.

Several Cleveland military companies will probably be relieved from duty by Adj. Gen. Axline. The troops which have been brought here from other cities will be retained until all danger of rioting is past. Even then the outside companies will be withdrawn gradually.

The Cleveland naval reserves, under command of Lieut. Radder, were released from further strike duty by Adj. Gen. Axline.

The boycott movement has reached a point where it is almost impossible for anyone who rides on the Big Consolidated cars to purchase the necessities of life. This is especially true in the outlying districts of the city.

"Do you ride on the Big Consolidated cars?" is the almost universal question put to a would-be purchaser by the merchants. If the answer is in the affirmative, the customer is politely informed that he or she cannot be served.

The strike leaders called upon the owner of the Hotel Garlock and asked him to refuse to longer permit General Manager Douglass, of the Big Consolidated, to reside there. They met with a prompt refusal.

New York, Aug. 1.—At a special meeting of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders, district No. 2, Atlantic seaboard, Monday night, a strike was formally declared in all of the shops which have refused to grant the demand for a reduction in the hours of labor. The strike will affect shops in Manhattan, Brooklyn, Port Richmond, Green Point, Hoboken, Jersey City, Elizabethport and Bayonne engaged in the shipbuilding industry. It is estimated by the leaders of the strike that more than 1,500 men will fail to report for duty in the shops to-day. In addition to these, about 1,000 others, blacksmiths, steam hammer drivers, machinists and others, will be thrown out of work by the action of the boilermakers and shipbuilders. The men are well organized, and the statement that their brethren who are on strike in Chicago for the eight-hour principle had about won their strike, emboldened those who were inclined to wait a day longer. It is also said that three shops, employing 137 men, had acceded to the demands of their men, and that these shops would not be affected.

WAS HARD TO KILL.

Electrocution of Two Murderers in Sing Sing Prison—One Resists the Current.

New York, Aug. 1.—Louis Pullerson and Michael McDonald were put to death by electricity in Sing Sing prison Monday. Pullerson, who was a colored man, was taken to the electric chair at 8:21 and a current 1,720 volts strong was turned on at 8:22. After 55 seconds he was declared to be dead by the attending physicians. McDonald was put to death at 8:42, a current of 1,710 volts being turned on at that time and continued for 65 seconds.

McDonald's body resisted the electric current more than that of any other man put to death in Sing Sing. It took two seconds longer to kill him than it did Pullerson.

Louis Pullerson killed his common law wife, Kate Smith, a white woman, and Michael McDonald, a beef carrier employed in the Eastman company's slaughter house in New York, on May 4, 1898, shot and killed Stephen Titus, the head timekeeper at Eastman's.

Rich—Yet Starving.
Doctors frequently have very wealthy patients who are starving to death. They have money to buy food, but their stomach has not the strength to digest it. It lies there a heavy fermented mass, the sole cause of dyspepsia, nervousness and biliousness. The surest remedy to cure a weak stomach is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It will restore vigor to the digestive organs. Nothing is "just as good." See that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

Does Your Head Ache?

Are your nerves weak? Can't you sleep well? Pain in your back? Lack energy? Appetite poor? Digestion bad? Boils or pimples? These are sure signs of poisoning.

From poisons that are always found in constipated bowels.

If the contents of the bowels are not removed from the body each day, as nature intended, these poisonous substances are sure to be absorbed into the blood; always causing suffering and frequently causing severe disease.

There is a common sense cure.

AYER'S PILLS

They daily insure an easy and natural movement of the bowels. You will find that the use of

with the pills will hasten recovery. It cleanses the blood from all impurities and is a great tonic to the nerves.

COUNTY NEWS.

A third substitute mail carrier has been assigned to the Ann Arbor post office by the postal department.

A second petition for free mail delivery in the sections surrounding Ann Arbor has been forwarded to Congressman Smith.

Rev. J. J. Staley, pastor of the Congregational church at Dexter, has been granted a month's leave of absence by his congregation.

The University authorities will sink a deep well on the campus at Ann Arbor, and will go down 3,000 feet if necessary, to get good water.

The deed of the city of Ann Arbor to the regents of the University of the site for the new homeopathic hospital is drafted on parchment and filled seven large sheets. Lawyer E. B. Norris drew the deed and John R. Miner did the penmanship.

Twelve years ago John T. Smith, of Saline, gave his wife a note for $1,800 and drawing 10 per cent interest. Two years later she indorsed "two pounds butter, two dozen eggs, two bushels wheat" on the note, and last year made a simple indorsement of "ten." Smith died last December. His wife presents the note as a claim against the estate. The question puzzling the probate commissioners on claims is whether the note could be kept alive by that kind of indorsement, especially as they continued to live with each other. They are inclined to believe that it is outlawed.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything, and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at Glazier & Stimson's Bank Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

FOR SALE—Two carriages, a set of single harness and two tons of hay. Will sell them cheap. J. J. RAFFERTY, 411f

A Renowned World Trotter.

There passed through Chelsea Tuesday afternoon a young man who has made a name for himself in a somewhat peculiar manner, which is known almost the whole world over. The address given on his card is "Capt. G. Melville Boynton, explorer, lecturer and pedestrian. Headquarters, the Brooklyn Citizen, Borough of Brooklyn, Greater New York." Last year during the war with Spain, he walked through that country with the American colors wrapped around his body and had several narrow escapes from death by poison and otherwise.

At present he is engaged in a walk from New York to San Francisco and back, a distance of 7,444 miles, which he is to cover in 365 days. He left the office of the Brooklyn Citizen June 26 and expects to reach San Francisco between 6 and 7 p. m. Dec. 20. He will stay there five days and on the morning of Dec. 26 will start on his return journey.

He arrived in Chelsea at 4 p. m. Tuesday and left at 4:30 for Leoni, where he spent the night. The conditions of his trip are that he had not a cent of money when he started. Everything he eats must be secured without the expenditure of a cent and he must sleep out doors. In order to accomplish his feat he must walk an average of 21 miles a day. But as he does not travel on Sundays and wants to gain several days on his allotted time, he has to walk more than 21 miles a day. His object is to raise a fund of $50,000 with which to defray the expenses of his expedition to the North Pole. Next year he will spend at the exposition in Paris, France.

An Interesting Letter.

Saugerties, N. Y., Nov. 7, 1894.

B. H. Bacon, Le Roy, N. Y.

For over forty years I have been a sufferer from sick headaches. About a year ago my attention was directed to Bacon's Celery King. With but little faith in it I however gave it a trial, and the result was gratifying and surprising; my headache leaving at once.

Since that time I have used it at regular intervals and would not be without it under any consideration.

My headaches used to always return every seventh day, but thanks to Bacon's Celery King, have had but one in the last eleven months. You are at liberty to refer any one to me for further particulars. Hoping that what cured me will help others, I remain, yours truly,
