SENSATIONAL CHARGES

Made by the Beneficiary of Miss Sarah Prescott's Will Against Three Law Students at Ann Arbor.

When Miss Sarah Prescott, of Ann Arbor, formerly a resident of Chelsea, died in March last, she left a will which provided that after paying all debts and $500 for a family monument in Oak Grove cemetery, the residue was to go to her sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Fields, of Howell, who was appointed executor. That lady has now filed a bill in the Washtenaw circuit court against Alonzo H. Ranes, a law student from Taylorville, Ill., his brother-in-law Henry A. Weaver, and Henry E. Burgess, also law students, charging them with gross frauds.

In the bill of complaint, Mrs. Fields sets forth that she is the sister of Sarah Prescott, deceased, of the city of Ann Arbor, and by the latter's death she was entitled to property on State street valued at between $6,000 and $10,000. After paying all debts and for a $500 family monument, the rest was to go to Mrs. Fields. She says that Ranes and Burgess were appointed appraisers with a purpose to defraud, and that they set the value of the estate at $3,500 subject to a $1,200 mortgage.

She then alleges that Ranes, who was rooming in the house, fraudulently pretended that the deceased had made another will leaving all her property to the church and cutting her off, and that he read her a paper which he claimed constituted the will and informed her that she was in his power and unless she made a conveyance, he would hand over the will to the church. That her last will would be set aside, as the deceased was incompetent and all depended on his testimony. She says she consented, and he asked her to burn the will. She complied.

As a further intimidation, Ranes represented to her, she says, that the people of Ann Arbor believed that she had occasioned the death of her sister by administering too much medicine and if he should add his testimony to this, the public would have her arrested for murder.

Next she alleges that he wrote to her that a Chicago man had presented two $500 notes for collection which Miss Prescott had given for the woman's building at the world's fair. She says that she came here and Ranes told her that he would get himself appointed agent, and if she would sell him the real estate for $3,260 he "would burn up the notes and the smoke would tell no tales."

On July 15 she signed the land contract, the amount to be paid on March 1, 1901.

There is also a charge in the bill that Ranes tried to beat her on the lease of the property and for the cost of the monument.

She asks that all the papers be set aside.

Ranes denies the whole charge of fraud and misrepresentation and says that what he did was in the interest of Mrs. Fields. He characterizes the bill as "simply ridiculous." The trial of the case is set for Nov. 7. A. J. Sawyer & Son are Mrs. Fields' attorneys.

A QUIET HALLOWE'EN.

The Village Authorities Were on the Look-out and Prevented Mischief Making.

Not in many a year has Chelsea had such a quiet Halloween as this year. Formerly the youths and boys of the village have run wild and all sorts of mischievous pranks were played. Last year's episodes of tearing up sidewalks, etc., which cost the village a good many dollars to relay and replace, was, however, too much for the authorities, so this year special watchmen were appointed and the marshal and constables were on the look-out to check any lawlessness. The feelings of those who were disappointed in their mischief making was well expressed by one young fellow, who with three or four others was wandering down East Middle street, Tuesday evening, when he said, "This is getting to be a devil of a town; after a while they won't even let you whistle." President Staffan and the officers have the thanks of those who would have been the sufferers for their careful foresight.

Some of the boys who were so disgusted at not having any "fun" on Halloween hung the effigy of a man in the school-yard last night. They hung him so hard, too, that he was decapitated.

THE PASSION PLAY.

It Will Be Given at St. Mary's Church, Nov. 17 and 18 Without Fail.

As many persons having expressed a wish that at some future time the Passion Play could be brought to Chelsea, without incurring the risk of another disappointment, Fr. Considine and the trustees of St. Mary's church have determined that it shall be presented in Chelsea. Arrangements have been perfected with G. T. Hornberger to have the Passion Play in Chelsea on Friday and Saturday, the 17th and 18th of November. This time there will be no disappointment on account of a failure to appear. Mr. Hornberger is not only legally responsible for non-compliance with his agreement, but he bears the highest reputation in his home in St. Claire, Mich., for integrity and honorable dealings. And not only in his own home where he is so well known, does he bear an enviable reputation, but the subjoined letters show that he sustains the same reputation with whomsoever he may have dealings in other cities.

These same letters also indicate another fact of equal importance, viz: The Passion Play as presented by Mr. Hornberger and his associates is so real, so lifelike and so true to the original Ober Ammergau enactment, that the clergy (everywhere he has presented it) are unanimous in their words of praise. The letters hereafter quoted do not comprise all the commendatory letters written of Mr. Hornberger's Passion Play, but enough is quoted to show that both Catholics and Protestants unite in endorsing it. Nor should the fact be overlooked that these words of praise have been written by eye-witnesses after the play, and not before.

At this point it may be well to state that Fr. Considine, the trustees of St. Mary's church and the editor of the Herald have all read the original letters and have taken pains to convince themselves of their genuineness.

The following letters show in what esteem Mr. Hornberger is held, and what a splendid presentation of the Passion Play he will give:

Midland, Mich., Sept. 4, 1899.

I can recommend Mr. Hornberger as a gentleman and a man of his word. The Passion Play proved a success in our city.

D. E. MALONE,

Pastor St. Bridget's church.

Pinconning, Mich., Sept. 5, 1899.

To whom it may concern:

The Passion Play as reproduced under the gentlemanly management of Mr. G. T. Hornberger is an entertainment edifying, instructive and interesting.

EDWARD A. LEFEBVRE,

Pastor St. Michael's church.

Petoskey, Mich., Oct. 23, 1899.

To whom it may concern:

I would simply state that the Passion Play presented by G. T. Hornberger for us here was highly satisfactory in every respect. Indeed the company gave more than their agreement called for. The result of the entertainment was most satisfactory to all concerned. I cannot but strongly commend this company to the public. They are courteous and honorable in all their dealings. Respectfully,

J. W. ARMSTRONG,

Rector Episcopal church.

Cadillac, Mich., Oct. 20, 1899.

To whom it may concern:

I take pleasure in testifying that the Passion Play presented by G. T. Hornberger with the explanatory lecture were such as represented by the company, and that they gave at Cadillac, Frankfort and Lake City, as per engagement. They gave more satisfaction than could be expected.

L. M. PRUDHOMME,

Pastor of St. Ann's church.

Lapeer, Mich., Aug. 21, 1899.

Mr. G. T. Hornberger, City.

Dear Sir: The settlement on door receipts are satisfactory to me. I wish to say that I am pleased with the treatment I have received from your people. The pictures were very edifying and instructive, and Mr. Lamont's lecture was very appropriate and pleasing.

FRANCIS CLEMENT KELLEY.

The Rev. Francis Clement Kelley is the noted orator and lecturer engaged by the Epworth League, of Chelsea, to appear here on Jan. 8, 1900, and lecture.

A Manila dispatch says that Gen. Lawton has established a civil government at San Isidro.

A dispatch from Cape Town says that the British at Kimberley made a brilliant sortie, routing 700 Boers. The Boers under Gen. Cronje began bombarding Mafeking, the women and children first being warned to leave.

Florence Marryat (Mrs. Frances Lean), the well-known authoress, died in London.

A Manila dispatch says that Gen. Young's troops drove a force of rebels from their trenches near the Tuboatin river. The Americans lost two killed and one wounded. In order to stop ruffianism on the Mexican border American and Mexican troops have been ordered to Naco, Mexico.

Latest advices from South Africa gave promise of a battle at Ladysmith. The situation was causing great alarm in London, where the impression prevailed that the British forces in Natal were at a disadvantage. Mafeking was bombarded by Boers and at last accounts was still besieged, and the water supply had been cut off. Further details of the engagement at Dundee show the British retreat to have been a rout.

A dispatch from Manila says that Gen. Young scattered the insurgents north of San Isidro, and Capt. Evans struck a robber band on Negros and killed ten, wounded many and captured 20 prisoners. Refugees report that Aguinaldo is moving to Bayambing with 2,000 men instead of attacking Gen. Young.

MAY DIE SOON.

Vice President Hobart Suffers a Relapse and It is Thought He Will Not Recover.

New York, Oct. 31.—Vice President Hobart, who has been ill for weeks at his home in Paterson, N. J., suffered a relapse Monday morning. He had a succession of choking spells, resulting from an imperfect action of the heart, an old affliction, complicated with inflammation of the stomach. Mr. Hobart has not been able to attend to his private affairs for the past two or three days, and an intimate friend has been given power of attorney to sign checks and attend to other matters of that character.

One of the physicians in attendance at six o'clock Monday night said that, while the condition of Mr. Hobart was serious, he was better than at any time within the last 24 hours.

Word reaches here from Paterson that at 1:05 a. m. Dr. Newton, his wife and Hobart A. Tuttle were summoned to the residence of Vice President Hobart. No word comes from the sick chamber, but the summoning of these persons is not regarded as a favorable indication.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The news that Vice President Hobart had suffered a severe relapse and might not be able to survive the latest attack shocked Washington, where he is decidedly popular and highly respected. It had been known for some time that a sudden attack might completely prostrate him at any moment, and it was realized that his days of activity were over, but nevertheless his friends here were not prepared for Monday's advices. His loss, should his present attack result fatally, will be regretted sincerely by his colleagues in the senate, with whom he had a much greater influence than his predecessors in the vice presidential chair.

Senator William P. Frye, of Maine, is now president pro tem. of the senate, and as such presides during the absence of the vice president. In the event of the death of Mr. Hobart, Senator Frye, as president pro tem., will call the senate to order when it meets in December next.

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 31.—Vice President Hobart has been ill ever since the close of the last congress. Dr. W. E. Newton says that between 11 o'clock Sunday night and two o'clock Monday morning Mr. Hobart's condition was more critical than it had been at any time during the eight months he has been ill. After the passing of the critical period at two o'clock Monday morning he rested easy until daylight, when he began to gain strength again, and during the day he was in good spirits and improved some. During the day he had been able to sit up in bed, and he was able to talk with Mrs. Hobart and their son Garrett, Jr.

Dr. Newton refused to make any definite statement as to the cause of Mr. Hobart's illness. He said, however, that the report that Mr. Hobart's mind was in any way affected by the illness was untrue. This statement was also made by members of the family and by Herbert Tuttle, the vice president's secretary. Dr. Newton said he might make a formal statement relative to the illness of Mr. Hobart within a few days.

HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING.

Philippine Commission in Secret Session at Washington with Every Member Present.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The Philippine commission held its first meeting at the quarters selected for it in the Arlington Monday. It was announced before the meeting that all the sessions would be secret and that none of the deliberations would be made public until the commission had finished its labors. Col. Denby said that no programme had been arranged and that it was impossible to say even what general course would be followed till after the commissioners had discussed the matter.

The commission reorganized its clerical force and roughly blocked out the form of its report. There is a mass of material on hand and a good part of the report is already written. It was said after the meeting that it was too soon to say how long the work in hand would take, but the suggestion was made by one member that it would be a matter of some weeks, but not much longer. The commission will meet daily from ten till one, leaving the afternoons and evenings for individual work.

The Isthmus of Panama.

Its engineers believe that they have solved the problem of the successful completion of this great enterprise. If so, it will prove a great benefit to humanity, no more, truthfully speaking, than has Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the remedy which never fails to cure afflictions of the stomach—for of what use is prosperity without health? The Bitters invariably strengthen weak stomachs and torpid livers, and is one of the blessings of the age.

She Enjoyed It.

They had been sitting together for half an hour.

"I have enjoyed our conversation so much!" she exclaimed, as she rose to go. "It is so restful to talk with you!" And after she had left him he remembered that he hadn't been able to get in ten words edgewise throughout the whole conversation.—Somerville Journal.

Talk is cheap—probably because of the overproduction.—Chicago Daily News.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1899.

The Kansas aspirants for the United States senate are all in favor of Gen. Funston's return to the Philippines.

Mr. Bryan can see Democratic victories in every direction. Perhaps he has been traveling recently on a merry-go-round.

Possibly the Hon. Carl Schurz would be content if we were to move out of the Philippines and permit Germany to move in.

Expansion seems likely to bring about the existence of a new and important House committee, which will have jurisdiction over all legislation for our island possessions, as well as a new cabinet portfolio.

Judge Charles D. Long, of the supreme court, who has been prominently mentioned in connection with the nomination for governor of this state on the Republican ticket in 1900, has stated with emphasis and without reserve that he will not be a candidate.

Congressman J. P. Dolliver's lecture on "The Nations of America," at Ann Arbor, Friday night, was an eloquent vindication of the war policy of the government. It was enthusiastically received by the students. Straws show which way the wind blows.

From one-third to one-half of our national domain was acquired by Democratic Presidents through purchase or treaty with foreign powers, and without consulting the inhabitants. And the expansion of the territory under the American flag was as bitterly denounced then as it is now, and with as little reason.

There is a big scare in the government departments in consequence of the announcement that the rule against allowing man and wife to be employed by the government is to be enforced. There are hundreds of couples, some of them fairly well to do, employed in the departments, and it seems only fair that either the husband or the wife should get out and give outsiders a chance.

The British received a staggering body blow Monday in their campaign against the Boers in the Transvaal, when Gen. White was outgeneraled by Gen. Jonbert and two of the finest regiments in the British army fell into the trap prepared for them by the wily Boers and had to surrender. John Bull's job of subduing the Transvaal farmers is about as big an one as that which he undertook in 1776 to subdue the American colonists to his will.

The board of managers of the Washtenaw Fair at their last meeting investigated and discussed a whole lot of abuses that turned up at the recent fair. Among them were abuses of life membership tickets by their holders, illegal use of passes by managers of departments, the gatekeeper letting people into the grounds for 15 cents each when the tickets were 25 cents, and, of course pocketing the proceeds of his actions, city business men climbing over the fence to avoid paying the price of admission, and other equally mean actions. All of which goes to show that while the world may be getting better, and virtue may be triumphing over vice, there is still plenty of meanness and crookedness left to make honest people blush for the small, petty actions of men who would be "mad as hatters" if you intimated to them that their actions savored strongly of dishonesty and theft.

Archbishop Chappelle says that the question in the Philippines is whether we should retire under fire, and he does not believe in any such doctrine.

As a prevention of the tramp nuisance, which is such a costly item in the county's expenditures, the board of supervisors of Jackson county, on the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Charles H. Smith, will establish a stone yard at the county jail in which the hoboes can be made to work. The board will request justices, when sentencing tramps, to provide that they shall be kept at hard labor. The Herald is of the opinion that Washtenaw county could profitably follow in the wake of Jackson county. The large sum that it took last year to take care of this class of people should be argument enough in favor of at least an attempt to abate the nuisance.

Are Shipping Their Chicory.

C. A. Pryor, representing the Ann Arbor Chicory Co., has been in Chelsea the past few days receiving roots for shipment via the Michigan Central. He will ship a carload today and one next week. The carload shipped today is furnished from the land of R. A. Snyder, N. F. Prudden, Stephen, Laird and Henry Feldkamp, of Lodi. James S. Gorman has enough roots to fill another car and it will be shipped next week.

Chicory growing is a new industry in this section and has had a bad season to show what it can do in the way of being a good paying crop. The roots will average half a pound each in weight, and if the rows are sown a foot apart and only one root grown on each lineal foot of ground, will produce nine tons to the acre, which at $5 50 a ton, the price paid, would give $49 50 per acre. With a reasonably good season the crop will reach 12 to 14 tons an acre. The dry season this year was hard on all root crops and chicory was no exception to the others.

Notice—Life insurance companies will reduce the rate 23 per cent to all who agree to use Rocky Mountain Tea. A wise measure. 35 cents. Ask your druggist.

The officers arrested eight of them and they paid $117.04 for their fun. A student also had to be taken to the hospital for treatment, but got away next morning without disclosing his name.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and, to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed at Glazier & Stimson's Bank Drug Store.

George E. Davis had two very successful sales the past week. Last Thursday he sold a large number of cattle and sheep for George C. Reade, of Dexter, and on Monday he had a general farm stock sale for A. W. Buckelew, of Webster.

The Manchester Enterprise says: "The hunters are making the woods ring with the sound of fire-arms. From the constant shooting heard one would think game was plentiful, but when the hunters return they are not much burdened with trophies." Must be that their aim is poor.

A preacher was called on to "say grace" at the table the other day. After he got through the little girl of the family blurted out: "That isn't the kind of grace papa says sometimes." "What kind does he say, my little girl," inquired the preacher. "He sometimes says: 'My God! what a supper,'" was the answer.

Miss May Gorman closed a very successful term of school in the Lyndon Center district last Friday. For the closing exercises the children were invited to her home where they had an elegant dinner and an all round good time, which the children enjoyed very much. Miss Gorman will teach the winter term in the same district.

Three weeks ago we sent out bills to subscribers who were indebted to the Herald. A number of these have been kind enough to call and settle and we thank them for so doing. We trust the others will be equally kind as we cannot do business on wind and the fact that a man is "good" for what he owes us, any more than other business men can.

In the official table just given out at Washington, of the receipts and expenditures of the presidential post offices for the year ending June 30, 1899, the receipts of the Chelsea office are put down as follows: Gross receipts, $3,864; expenses, $1,790; net revenue, $2,079; increase of net receipts over last year, $112. The percentage of expenses to receipts is 46, and is the lowest of the five presidential offices in Washtenaw. Wonder whether fossilized old Grass Lake, which according to the News is getting all of Chelsea's business, can make such a showing? Hardly!

The director of district No. 11, Lyndon, (Lyndon Center), informs the Herald that he last week wrote up the last order in a school district order book, the first order of which according to the stub, was written in March, 1867, and given to E. B. Sackrider, teacher. Some of the older residents of the district will undoubtedly remember Mr. Sackrider. He was a resident of Grass Lake, and afterwards in a fit of despondency committed suicide by jumping overboard from a boat on Lake Michigan. The name of Anastasia Welsh is also found on a stub as teacher for the summer term in the same year. Miss Welsh is known now as Mrs. Wm. Cassidy.

The Dexter Creamery Co. is paying its patrons $1 per hundred pounds for milk.

George F. Key, city engineer of Ann Arbor, has been granted a patent on a filter.

The St. Thomas Catholic church fair at Ann Arbor had cleared $2,000 when it closed last Thursday night.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered at the Congregational church next Sunday morning.

The U. of M. library is among the finest in the country. On June 30 last there were 138,204 volumes of books and 1,530 maps in it.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Welch gave a pleasant Halloween party Tuesday evening to about 75 of their friends, at their home on East Middle street.

The Chelsea orchestra drove over to Dexter Friday night to play for a social dance at the opera house, but the heavy rain prevented the young people from attending and there was no dance.

The office of the American Tyler, the Masonic paper of this country, which has been heretofore published in Detroit, is to be removed to Ann Arbor. The paper will be printed at the Inland Press office.

A gang of 15 men under the direction Mrs. Francis Copeley Seaver, of Chicago, is beautifying the Michigan Central depot grounds at Ann Arbor. They will be given up largely to shrubbery and vines and $1,000 is to be spent in the work.

Practice for the cantata "Jephtha's Daughter" which is to be given Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17 and 18, under the auspices of the Congregational church, goes steadily on, and a great degree of proficiency is being attained by the soloists and choruses.

The matter of placing the cannon donated by the government to Jeffords Post, G. A. R., at Dexter, which has been such a subject of debate and difficulty in the past for a year past, has been finally left to Judge H. Wirt Newkirk, Col. H. S. Dean and the Dexter village council.

Cuyler J. Barton, who has just completed a five years' term in the state prison for burning Stephen O. Hadley's barn in Lyndon, and who was jailed to stand trial for attempting to burn Mrs. Myra May's house in Unadilla, was released on condition that he leave Michigan. He left last Friday for California.

The first goods that John Wanamaker ever sold brought him $35. He delivered his goods in a wheelbarrow. He collected the $35 and went directly to a newspaper office and plunked it down for advertising space. Some men would have spent $1.50 for some cheap dodgers and "saved" the rest. They would have been wheelbarrow merchants today.

Lafayette Grange will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Keyes, in Lima, next Thursday. The questions to be discussed are, "Is painting, sketching and fancy needlework a labor or recreation with women?" led by Mrs. F. H. Sweetland; "What effect will a revival of the sheep and cattle raising interests in this country have upon the dairy interests?" led by O. C. Burkhardt; "What is the relative condition of farming today with that of three years ago?"

Don't growl because newspapers fail to give every scrap of news, so long as you take no trouble to give the editor or reporter information. We know readers who are greatly put out at times because we don't make a note of the arrival or departure of friends, or of social affairs, or the babies that come to their homes. The average newspaper man isn't a medium or mind reader, but gets most of his news items as some milkmen get milk—by pumping.

The Herald has received a copy of "Letters from Michigan soldiers in the Spanish-American war." It is a neat little booklet, compiled and edited by Gen. W. L. White, of Grand Rapids. The volume gives the opinions of the majors, captains and other officers of the Michigan volunteer army regarding the manner in which Michigan cared for its troops at Camp Eaton, how well it equipped them and sent them to the front. These letters come as testimonials to Gen. White for his indefatigable industry, his unswerving devotion and his magnanimous conduct during that period.

FOUND BY ACCIDENT.

The Strange Case of Harvey W. Rogers, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Left His Comfortable Home Twenty-Three Years Ago and Has Since Been an Absolutely Aimless Wanderer.

[Special Washington Letter.] Students of mental philosophy are often baffled when they try to explain some of the peculiar workings of the human intellect. There are ample evidences of the fact that some men have dual natures; and many men of research and profound thought believe that every human being is so endowed. Some investigators claim that each lobe of the brain is in some degree independent of the other, and that good impulses come from one lobe of the brain, while bad impulses come from the other. Some scientists assert that if subjects could be found, who would permit surgical operations, so that one lobe of the brain might be removed, in that manner they could discover which is the good and which the bad side of the human thinking machinery. Lapses of memory are well authenticated, and intellectual freaks abound in the daily experiences of observant men.

Twenty-three years ago last September Harvey W. Rogers, a railroad station agent at Hamberg, a suburb of Buffalo, N. Y., left his position, home, friends and a comfortable fortune to go to the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia. He has since been a wanderer up and down the country, from one extreme to the other, but has never returned to his home. Not once in that time did he communicate with his relatives, and they, hoping almost against hope that he was still alive, have been steadfastly searching for him for more than a score of years.

Their diligence was rewarded one day recently, when a meeting between Rogers and his family was effected at the office of his attorney in this city. It was through the efforts of the latter that Rogers' sisters were enabled to find their long-lost brother and that they came here from Buffalo to meet him. Their recognitions were mutual, and while the women wept for joy, the old man was so overcome by emotion that for a few moments he could hardly speak.

The story of the eventful life of the old man, now 62 years of age, is an interesting narrative. His father was a well-to-do farmer in Erie county, and possessed a fine tract of land in what is now a growing suburb of Buffalo.

When Rogers was a boy the land was reckoned to be worth about $50 an acre; now $50,000 would scarcely purchase that much of it. When a young man he enlisted in the Ninth New York cavalry, and served throughout the civil strife. There the romance of his nature developed. The home life was to him rather shiftless and aimless, and he became imbued with the spirit of a wanderer. However, he returned home after the war was over and went to work for the railroad.

His father died, some of the estate was sold, and by economy Rogers managed to acquire a considerable sum of money. He kept an account in the savings bank, loaned money on mortgages, had a good position as station agent and became well-to-do. Still he was never wholly contented.

During the centennial year he started for Philadelphia, fully expecting and intending to return after spending a few weeks at the exposition. He took with him only enough funds to pay the expenses of an economical trip, for he was never a spendthrift, but rather frugal and modest in his wants. Weeks went by, and finally they lapsed into months, but no tidings came from Rogers. His sisters, with whom he lived, waited anxiously for his return. Finally they wrote to Philadelphia and asked the authorities to find their missing brother.

No man who answered his description could be found; in fact, no trace of him was discovered, and the family continued to hope that he was still alive. Still no message came from him, although they could see no reason why he should remain away and still less why, if alive, he should be silent. Year after year passed, but from time to time the family continued the search for the missing relative. Once, during the first inauguration of President Cleveland, some Buffalo people reported to Rogers' sisters that they had seen him in this city. Again hope was revived and efforts were made to follow up the trail, but to no purpose. The police in large cities were asked time and again to look out for him.

In his wanderings Rogers frequently came into Washington. In fact, he has been in almost every town of any considerable size in both Maryland and Virginia. Upon one of these trips he went to the office of a Mr. Gitt, to have him intercede for him in obtaining a pension. The attorney, however, had no knowledge of his client's wanderings. In this city Rogers also met Capt. Wooley, of the post office department, who was the commander of one of the companies in Rogers' regiment during the war. He, too, was in ignorance of the fact that the former soldier was a wanderer from home and that his family was endeavoring to find him.

After laying his case before the attorney Rogers again disappeared, and even his attorney did not know his whereabouts for a long time. One day, however, he learned that one of the Buffalo congressmen had received a request from Rogers' sisters, asking him to make inquiries concerning their brother, whom they had once more learned had been seen.

Mr. Gitt assured the congressman that Rogers was still alive, and he made renewed efforts to find him. For a long time he was unsuccessful. Finally he again found his client's trail and followed it to Danville, Va. There Rogers was discovered, and induced to come to Washington to meet his sisters, who were advised of the success of the attorney's search, and hastened to this city to see their long lost relative.

Why Rogers never returned to his home and never wrote to his friends he himself is unable to explain. He is a bright but somewhat eccentric old man, amiable, but aimless. He tells many interesting stories of his travels and experiences with people and affairs. For 20 years he has worked in one place and another, both in cities and in the country, although a large portion of the time he has traveled with circuses. For several seasons he was with Barnum & Bailey; then he was with Adam Forepaugh, and again with two or three other traveling shows, and thus wandered up and down the country, through many states and hundreds of towns.

A phase of his carelessness is illustrated by a fact in connection with his arrest while upon one of his periodical visits to this city. He was taken into custody as a vagrant, merely because he stood upon the street thoughtlessly gazing at one of the public buildings, and because he told a policeman, in answer to his queries, that he had no home and wasn't going anywhere in particular.

When searched at the police station a large amount of money was found in his pockets. Notwithstanding, he was sent to the workhouse, from which place he was released through the efforts of Mr. Gitt. Still Rogers never returned to the police department to ask for his money, and it remains in the hands of the authorities.

Rogers has concluded to return to Buffalo and secure possession of the money and estate which has long been held for him by his sisters. The interest upon the several thousand dollars which he had in a savings bank has caused the amount to his credit in that institution to double during his absence. His mortgages have been renewed by his sisters, and his property held intact so that he will have a comfortable fortune, the income from which should support him in luxury for the remainder of his years. He expressed the desire, however, when all his financial matters have been settled up, to come back to Washington and take up his residence in this city.

He remembers leaving home, remembers that he intended to return, and remembers that he was attracted to circus life, upon witnessing an interesting performance, and remembers that he sought employment in order to be with the circus. Beyond that he knows of no reason why he should have left his home and relatives, and remained away from them so long.

BRISK FIGHT RAGES.

Ladysmith Is Shelled by the Boer Batteries.

Gen. White's Command Makes Reconnaissance in Force—After Hours of Fighting It Is Ordered to Retreat.

London, Oct. 31, 3 a. m.—Gen. White, at the head of 12,000 British, and Gen. Joubert, commanding 15,000 Boers, measured arms in the vicinity of Ladysmith yesterday, and the British, as usual, claim the victory, but in the official reports, which are glaringly half-hearted, the English admit casualties of from 80 to 100. The Boer loss is said to be much larger. Later reports may tell a different story, as the battle is evidently unfinished. The two armies fought from daybreak to the middle of the afternoon, when both apparently took a recess. That hostilities will be reopened to-day is considered certain. Gen. White's official dispatch to the war office, dated four p. m. Monday, says:

"I employed all the troops here except the obligatory garrison before the works, sent a mountain battery, the Royal Irish fusiliers and the Gloucesters, to take up a position on the hills, to clear my left flank. The force moved at 11 yesterday evening, and during some night firing the battery mules stampeded with some of the guns, which, however, I hope to recover. These two battalions have not yet returned, but are expected this evening."

"I detailed two brigade divisions of field artillery and five battalions of infantry, aided by cavalry under Gen. French, to attack a position upon which the enemy yesterday mounted guns. We found this position evacuated, but our force was attacked with considerable vigor by what I believe were Gen. Joubert's troops. They had many guns and showed in great numbers. Our troops were all in action and we pushed the enemy back several miles, but did not succeed in reaching his laager. Our losses are estimated at between 80 and 100, but those of the enemy must have been much greater, the fire of our guns appearing very effective."

"After being in action several hours I withdrew troops, and they returned unmolested to their cantonments. The enemy are in great numbers and their guns range further than our field guns."

"I have now some naval guns which have temporarily silenced, and, I hope, will permanently dominate the enemy's best guns, with which he has been bombarding the town at a range of over 6,000 yards."

Assault on Ladysmith Begun. Ladysmith, Oct. 31.—Firing commenced at 5:20 in the morning, the Boers shelling Ladysmith with 40-pounders.

After seven shots the British guns succeeded in silencing the Boer fire. A force of Boers is now advancing on the British left flank.

The British Advance.

The advance was made at dawn with the object of shelling the Boers from the position where they had mounted a number of guns. On reaching the spot, however, it was found that they had evacuated the position. The British continued to advance, and the movement developed into a reconnaissance in force. The enemy were posted on a range of hills having a frontage of about 16 miles. Our artillery quickly reduced the volume of the enemy's fire, but the attack delivered on our right flank was the principal one, and the column was compelled to change. The Boer attack had been silenced for a time, and our infantry advanced, covered by cavalry.

Orders a Retreat.

The enemy now began to develop a heavy counter attack, and as they were in great numerical superiority Gen. White gave orders for the infantry to be gradually withdrawn. The movement was carried out with great steadiness under cover of our guns, which made excellent practice.

Losses Heavy.

Some shells were thrown into the town from the enemy's 40-pounders at a range of over 6,000 yards, but no damage was done. The engagement lasted several hours and resulted, on our side, in casualties estimated at from 90 to 100. The Boer losses must have largely exceeded this total.

The attack was admirably delivered by our right and the Boers were fairly driven out of their strongholds near Lombard's kop. It was not possible, however, to push the success much further, as beyond that point lay a long, broken ridge, affording every kind of natural cover. Of this the enemy took the fullest advantage.

Our shells failed to dislodge the Boers, and as our infantry moved forward in extended order they came under a heavy and well-directed rifle fire, the effect of which was soon apparent. Gen. White, who was with the center, seeing that the troops on the right were somewhat pressed, sent to their assistance the whole center column, with the exception of the Devonshire regiment.

Work of the Naval Brigade.

The battle had then lasted four hours, during which the artillery fire on both sides had been almost incessant. The naval brigade, which landed at Durban, had arrived on the scene toward the end of the fight and immediately brought their heavy guns into play. Their practice was magnificent. At the fourth shot the enemy's 40-pounders had been knocked out of action.

The town is now freed from apprehension of bombardment. Throughout the engagement the Boers held their ground with courage and tenacity, and, considering the intensity of our artillery fire, they must have suffered severely.

FIXES THE DATE.

President McKinley Names Thursday November 30, as Thanksgiving Day.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The president Wednesday issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

"A national custom dear to the hearts of the people calls for the setting apart of one day in each year, as an occasion of special thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings of the preceding year. This honored observance acquires with time a tenderer significance. It enriches domestic life. It summons under the family roof the absent children to glad reunion with those they love."

"Seldom has this nation had greater cause for profound thanksgiving. No great pestilence has invaded our shores. Liberal employment waits upon labor. Abundant crops have rewarded the efforts of the husbandman. Increased comforts have come to the home. The national finances have been strengthened, and public credit has been sustained and made firmer. In all branches of industry and trade there has been an unequalled degree of prosperity, while there has been a steady gain in the moral and educational growth of our national character."

"Churches and schools have flourished. American patriotism has been exalted. Those engaged in maintaining the honor of the flag with such signal success have been in a large degree spared from disaster and disease. An honorable peace has been ratified with a foreign nation with which we were at war, and we are now on friendly relations with every power on earth."

"The trust which we have assumed for the benefit of the people of Cuba has been faithfully advanced. There is marked progress toward the restoration of healthy industrial conditions, and under wise sanitary regulations the island has enjoyed unusual exemption from the scourge of fever. The hurricane which swept over our new possession of Porto Rico, destroying the homes and property of the inhabitants, called forth the instant sympathy of the people of the United States, who were swift to respond with generous aid to the sufferers. While the insurrection still continues in the island of Luzon, business is resuming its activity, and confidence in the good purposes of the United States is being rapidly established throughout the archipelago."

"For these reasons, and countless others, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do hereby name Thursday the 30th day of November next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed as such by all our people on this continent, and in our newly acquired islands, as well as by those who may be at sea or sojourning in foreign lands; and I advise that on this day religious exercises shall be conducted in the churches or meeting-places of all denominations in order that in the social features of the day its real significance may not be lost sight of, but fervent prayers may be offered to the Most High for a continuance of the Divine guidance without which man's efforts are vain, and for Divine consolation to those whose kindred and friends have sacrificed their lives for country."

"I recommend also that on this day, so far as may be found practicable, labor shall cease from its accustomed toil and charity abound toward the sick, the needy and the poor."

"In witness whereof, I have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed."

"WILLIAM MCKINLEY."

REBELS REPULSED AGAIN.

Sharp Engagement of Gen. Young—Otis Declines to Receive Filipino Commissioners.

Manila, Oct. 28.—Gen. Young's column, which left San Isidro Friday morning at daybreak, moving northward in the direction of Santa Rosa, encountered the enemy strongly entrenched just beyond the Tuboatin river. A brisk fight ensued and the rebels were repulsed. Two Americans were killed and one wounded. Pursuit was impossible on account of the width and depth of the stream.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The war department has received the following:

"Manila, Oct. 27.—Adjutant General Washington: Insurgent government submitted application to send five commissioners to Manila to arrange difficulties attending release of Spanish sick prisoners and discuss peace conditions. Declined. No negotiations necessary, as we would gladly receive all Spanish prisoners at our lines, welcome them from their cruel captivity and labor for their welfare. Correspondence by mail. OTIS."

Mason May Resign.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—William E. Mason, junior United States senator from Illinois, declared Thursday at the Grand Pacific hotel that he would resign his toga if the republican national convention in 1900 did not declare against "criminal aggression" in the Philippines. Then Mr. Mason proposes to stand for a reelection, to see whether the Illinois general assembly sides with him or with the policy of the McKinley administration.

He experienced an acute attack of the disease about five days ago and was conscious several hours before his death. Mr. Black was 71 years of age.

Indicted for Murder.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 27.—The grand jury has indicted Ralph Hawley for murder in the second degree. Hawley was a nonunion conductor on the Broadway line during the street railroad strike. On July 24, during an attack on a car, he shot and killed Michael Kornswelt, a boy who was riding by on a horse.

HOUSEHOLD DON'TS.

Things One Should Not Do in a Well-Ordered and Truly Well-Furnished House.

Truth publishes a few "don'ts" that might well be recommended to the young housekeeper:

Don't ornament your table in a mixed color of embroideries. The well-appointed board is one in which a tone is well carried out, not only in the needlework, but in the floral decorations.

Don't dress your walls with conflicting colors. A fine background for pictures is a cartridge paper of a solid tint, which, as a foil, will show off any subject which tends as a decoration.

Don't buy a piece of furniture because it is "one of the latest styles." The artistic home-maker knows that fashionable furnishings are often crude, and that an atmosphere may be given by the homeliest of appointments, provided the placing is a right one. Don't select covers in which there is overelaboration of design. Quiet tones are always the best; they do not intrude, are restful, and generally hold their own.

Don't let your rug be one of loud pattern; remember it is the foundation of your color scheme, and often the charm of your room.

Don't serve your food on china dishes of different make; give the pure white ware, with the ordinary gilt band, a precedence above all others. Let your decorations be in your damask, embroideries and flowers.

Don't let your kitchen be a work-room only. For the convenience of your maid, let there be an easy-chair; in one corner put a looking-glass, in the other a timepiece. If there is an unused door, make it a pretty closet by setting in the framework some three or four shelves, which, when painted, make a tidy place for odds and ends of table ware.

Don't decorate your rooms with photographs, either of your friends, of actresses, or of people you don't know. In every house there should be a folio large enough to hold these treasures.

Don't hang your pictures too high or too low; recollect the level of the eye is the correct guide. Don't fill up your walls with poor prints; one good etching is worth a dozen such.

Don't purchase furnishings merely for their own beauty. Bear in mind the room in which they are to be placed, and above all their relation to other effects.

Don't buy over-ornamental pots for your plants; they should serve as foils rather than attract too much attention in themselves.

COOL DRINKING WATER.

A Plan That Answers for Both Summer and Winter and Has Been Tested Carefully.

George H. Young, of Elmira, N. Y., sends to the Scientific American a description of a simple means of cooling drinking water, which he has tested in an experimental plant at his residence. The plan answers both for summer and winter. Mr. Young's well is about 16 feet deep and the water in the well is about three feet deep. A tank made of any suitable material is put in connection with the city main or the supply from a tank. The outlet pipe ends near the bottom of the tank, insuring the coldest part of the supply being delivered in the house. The device is simple and can be made by any plumber or steam fitter. Often wells have been abandoned when the town or city has put in a system of water supply, and they can be utilized to cool the water from the mains. After wells have become somewhat contaminated, making the use of such water questionable from a sanitary point of view, they can be fitted with the device we have described with perfect safety, provided all the connections are tight. In winter the tank takes off the icy chill from the water, and in Mr. Young's plant the water is drawn at a temperature of about 50 degrees.

Fashionable Japanese young ladies, when they desire to look attractive, gild their lips.

AFTERNOON BODICE.

A New Mode Carried Out on Truly Elegant Lines in Chiffon and Renaissance Lace.

The accompanying model is a specially pretty design for an afternoon bodice, and an elegant one. The yoke is made of renaissance lace set over a foundation of white silk, and the sleeves are of the same material. At the sides a short corsage of the lace fits close into the figure and extends below the belt line at the front.

The bodice proper is made of dark mousseline de soie embroidered in figures of swirling design. Bows of ribbon to correspond with the color of the mousseline de soie plentifully trim the bodice and is run through the lace of the sleeves. At the elbow there is a scant ruffle of white mousseline de soie edged with a narrow band of renaissance lace.

The hat which matches the bodice has a roll of chiffon set around the edge of the brim. Over the chiffon are bands of the ribbon used upon the bodice.

At the left side there is a large buckle which confines several curling quills and a bunch of "watered" crepon. Under the brim are massed white roses with rosettes of dark mousseline de soie.

ARRANGING THE VEIL.

To Judge by the Appearance of Many Women This Is Not Such a Very Easy Task.

The art of arranging a veil successfully, and at the same time fashionably, cannot be so simple as it seems, since so many women fail to accomplish the desired result. They put their veils on so tight that they wrinkle across the face and flatten the end of the nose, and the unneeded length is left to hang in untidy ends at the back. All veils should be gathered a few inches from the middle of the upper edge to make them fit. Fashion varies in the disposition of this little article of dress which, if not properly arranged, can make a woman look as if everything she has on had been thrown at her. Just at present veils are made crescent shape with applique lace borders, and are worn very loose, leaving the chin entirely free. Afternoon teas are responsible for this fashion, as loose veils are more easily managed than tight ones. The latest novelty in veiling has a blue chenille dot, and Russian net mounted over white tulle.

To Clean Furs.

Furs will look much improved if they are cleaned with bran. The bran should be placed in an earthen receptacle and heated in the oven. When hot it should be rubbed well into the fur. Flannel is the best thing to use for rubbing the bran into the fur. After the husk has remained in the garment for about half an hour shake it thoroughly to remove all particles and brush until the article is perfectly clean. Fur collars that have become soiled from rubbing against the hair may be made to look like new by using hot bran on them. Two applications of the bran, and probably three, will be necessary if the fur is badly soiled.

The Care of Oak Furniture.

Oak furniture is better for being rubbed with linseed oil, in which some alkali root has been steeped, and then brushed with a brush stiff enough to get into every crevice of the carving. Or into every application of beeswax and turpentine used by our grandmothers for polishing furniture, is still as good a polisher as can be found.

WOMEN do suffer! Even so-called healthy women suffer! But they are not healthy!

The marks left by pain are on the young faces of many of our daughters. Pain that leaves its mark comes from a curable cause. If that cause is not removed its influence reaches out and overshadows a whole life. The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so uniformly successful for over a quarter of a century in overcoming the suffering of women, is that it is thorough and goes directly to the cause. It is a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

MISS EMILY F. HAAS, of 148 Freeman St., Greenpoint, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I wish to state that I used your Vegetable Compound with the greatest success. I was very sick for nearly a year with hysteria, was down-hearted and nervous; also suffered with painful menstruation and pain in back and limbs. I often wished for death, thinking nothing would cure me. I had doctors, but their medicines did me no good. At last, by the advice of a friend, I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am happy to say it has entirely cured me.

JENNIE SHERMAN, of Fremont, Mich., Box 748, writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I feel that I must write you and tell you what your medicine has done for me. I had neuralgia of the stomach for two years, so bad that I could not do any work. I had two or three doctors, but did not seem to get any better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and improved from the first, had better appetite, and after taking three bottles of Compound and one box of Liver Pills, can say that I am cured. Your Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine."
