"TENDER MEMORIES"

Twining Around the Celebration of Memorial Day.

KEEP ALIVE THE NATION'S GRATITUDE

Fine Celebration of the Memorial Season by Citizens of Chelsea and Vicinity.

As the years roll round the fact is more and more noticeable that the ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic are thinning out, and fewer and fewer of the old veterans are able to respond to the orders to celebrate Memorial Day.

The wet weather Sunday doubtless had something to do with the smallness of the turnout of the members of R. P. Carpenter Post, No. 141, to attend Memorial services at the Baptist church, and when the time came to proceed thither there were just 12 of the old boys in line.

The front section of the middle row of seats in the church had been reserved for them and the W. R. C. and a large audience filled the remainder of the seats. The rostrum was decorated with American flags.

The services commenced with the singing of "All is well" by the choir. Rev. C. S. Jones read the 83d Psalm for the scripture lesson. G. J. Crowell, adjutant of the post, called the roll of honor which contained the names of 86 comrades who have passed away. The male quartette sang a selection, and Rev. J. I. Nickerson offered an earnest prayer. The church choir then sang "Rest, soldier, rest," after which Rev. F. A. Stiles, pastor of the church, preached the Memorial sermon.

He said it was entitled "Tender Memories," the text being found in Lam. iii: 20, "My soul hath them still in remembrance." He spoke of the miseries endured by the captive Hebrews in Babylon with the memory of the desolation of Jerusalem ever before them. He did not believe that memories should always be joyful ones; the tender and sad memories have united the hearts and homes of every century. Those who have been eminently useful in the world's arena should be held in tender remembrance. He pictured the Savior's sufferings at the time of his betrayal, trial and crucifixion that he might pave the way back to the Father's love, and this should be held in tender remembrance. For love of religion the martyrs suffered, and our souls have them still in remembrance. Men and women have sacrificed all to carry the tidings of the Savior to the distant heathen, and the church has them still in remembrance.

For love of country, freedom and the flag a great army of men, with the spirit imbued in them of freeing that country from oppression and slavery, and to save their homes and those they loved gave up their lives—we have still in loving remembrance.

On the Sunday before Memorial Day when we come together to do honor to the G. A. R., and breathe anew the air of freedom, we shall not show to those who are dead that we are ungrateful. Forgetfulness is not the only cure for sorrow; joyful memories are not always the best memories. He pictured the scenes in the war of the rebellion and the freeing of the slaves—such memories should be held in loving remembrance. We owe the veterans of the war of the rebellion a debt of gratitude and remembrance for the brave soldier dead.

In speaking of the recent war with Spain and the fighting at present going on in the Philippines, he said there were those who prophesied evil for the American republic; but it will not be like those of Greece and Rome, it will go on in the grand work of civilization it is predestined to perform, carried forward by the patriotism of its people.

He paid a glowing tribute to the patriotism of the wives and mothers who sent forth their loved ones to battle, and to death that the country might be free—in the nation's casket of memories their memory is one to be kept green.

There are less and less of the G. A. R. at each of these services, but their memory and fame will be twined around the sacred memories of our national flag.

The audience then joined with the choir in singing "America," and was dismissed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. C. S. Jones.

ANDREW ALLISON DEAD.

He Founded the Herald in 1871 and Was Its Publisher for Many Years.

Andrew Allison, who passed away at 9:45 o'clock Tuesday evening, had been a familiar figure in Chelsea for the past 28 years and more.

Mr. Allison was born in Glasgow, Scotland, Nov. 16, 1827. When eight years of age he came with his parents to Toronto, Ontario, and there, at 14, he commenced to learn his trade as a printer in the Colonist office. After five years apprenticeship he started out as a journeyman printer and worked for two years in Faxon's job office in Buffalo, N. Y. Returning to Toronto, he was married April 8, 1850, after a three months' acquaintance to Miss Forrester Bentley, who survives him. After working in several places he settled down in Detroit and for many years was employed on the Free Press. In 1867 he went to Grass Lake where he started a paper called the Reporter. He remained in Grass Lake for nearly four years. Coming here Aug., 1871, he founded and started the Chelsea Herald, the first number being issued Oct. 5 following. He continued its publication until October, 1882, when he sold out to William Emmert, jr. June 4, 1885, C. F. Overacker acquired Mr. Emmert's interest and published the paper eight weeks when he sold it to Dr. Thomas Holmes. In May, 1887, Mr. Allison purchased the office and published the paper until Feb. 12, 1899, when increasing years and infirmity compelled him to relinquish the helm and he sold the office to the writer of this article. During two years of his absence from the Herald Mr. Allison published a paper called the Echo.

All last year he gradually failed and he had been confined to the house since last summer. The last few weeks of his life were more full of pain and suffering than he had had previously, but the end came rapidly at last. He was 72 years, 6 months and 18 days old.

The funeral services will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will be under the auspices of Olive Lodge, No. 156, F. & A. M., to which he belonged.

DID MUCH DAMAGE.

The Storm of Sunday Was Great in Its Destructiveness.

The heavy storm of thunder, lightning, rain and hail Sunday did great damage in the section of country west and southwest of Chelsea. In the southwest portion of Sylvan Henry Haffey's barn was struck by lightning and a horse was killed. The farms of Michael Merkle and others lying in the course of the storm were riddled with hail, the corn, fruit, and other growing crops being literally mowed down. The ground in that neighborhood is quite rolling and the rain washed the hillstones into large heaps so that as late as Monday afternoon it was possible to go and gather up hailstones by the bushel. The Lutheran church in Sharon, a mile north of the town hall, had all its windows broken.

At Francisco all the window lights but four on the north side of the M. E. church were broken in, the Lutheran church fared just about as bad and every house in the village suffered more or less. Mrs. Geo. Wasser's house in Sylvan, two miles this side of Francisco, had its windows all badly shattered. Chris. Webber had 37 lights broken in his house, Erastus Cooper 40 lights, and about every light of glass in Ludwig Rank's house was smashed.

E. W. Hobart's barn in Grass Lake township was burned together with its contents, among which was 400 bushels of wheat, and Ammon Lee's barn was unroofed. It was one of the most destructive storms we have seen in years.

A SQUATTER ARMY.

It Seizes a Tract of Land in Chicago—Makes Preparation to Fight, But Finally Surrenders.

Chicago, May 28.—Chicago was invaded at one a. m. Saturday by the army of a hostile state, numbering 13 men—the "District of Lake Michigan." The invasion ended in a farce comedy, but came near to being finished in deadly earnest. The casualties include one boy shot in the leg and one horse killed. Five of the invaders were arrested, the balance being allowed to escape. The trouble was precipitated by Capt. George W. Streeter, a squatter, who from time to time has created much trouble and litigation by his efforts to seize land along the shore of Lake Michigan. The land which he has for some time claimed to be the "District of Lake Michigan" consists of made land on the shore of Lincoln park, part of it including one of the main park boulevards. Courts have decided against the squatter again and again, but he has been persistent in his efforts to grab the property.

Streeter organized the force which made the descent upon Lincoln park Saturday, but was not with them in person. A transport containing the "troops" arrived off Lincoln park soon after midnight and without difficulty they made a landing at the foot of Superior street and formally took possession of 186 acres of land claimed by Capt. Streeter and his subjects as independent territory, the "District of Lake Michigan." Rapid-fire guns, it is alleged, were on the transport decks ready to cover, if necessary, the landing of the troops, but the shores were unprotected, and without opposition the men made their way through the surf, rallied around their leader, "Commandant" William Niles, and hoisted the American flag in the center of the invaded district.

Immediately on landing a line of fortifications was marked out. A line of plank was laid along the western edge of the claimed territory and barbed wire stretched about a foot above it. Two forts, each about 12 feet square, forming an embankment of dirt piled about five feet high, were hastily thrown up on either side of Superior street. Sentinels were detailed to patrol the picket line just inside the barbed wire.

Up at Lincoln park Secretary Erby received notification by telephone that park property laid off as an addition to the lake shore drive had been invaded by armed men. Erby jumped into a buggy and drove rapidly to the scene of the reported disturbance, taking with him as a companion Animal Keeper Charles McCurran. They attempted to drive past the picket line, but were stopped by a man with a rifle, who warned them back. In a short time Paul Redieski, Lincoln park superintendent, also came hurrying up in a buggy, but, facing the same situation, withdrew. At this juncture Capt. Barney Baer, of the park police, dashed up in a buggy. As his horse was about to cross the line Niles ran forward and fired four shots from a gun. It is supposed he did not mean to wound the captain, for he appeared to aim only at the horse. The animal fell dead. One of the shots wounded Reuben Manley, a boy of 14, who was one of a crowd of curious onlookers. Another bullet passed through the lapel of Detective Hiatt's coat.

A conference in the office of Acting Mayor Walker was held and the legal aspects of the case carefully gone over. It was determined that the squatters should be driven out at any cost. Chief of Police Kiple was instructed at once to mobilize his forces and use such measures as might be necessary. The cooperation of Fire Marshal Swenie was secured, and the tug Illinois was detailed to carry 40 men with rifles down the river to approach the district from the lake. All reserve forces were ordered to rendezvous at the Chicago Avenue station. By three o'clock 800 policemen were collected at the East Chicago Avenue station, and it was decided the attack should be made half an hour later.

The impending conflict ended in a fiasco about 15 minutes after three o'clock. When Niles and his four men, all that were left of his army, heard they were to be ousted, they sent word to Capt. Baer requesting a parley. Upon his appearance the five men surrendered, and were escorted to the East Chicago Avenue police station. After his rifle had been taken from Niles, and while on the way to the station, he was struck several times by men in the crowd that pressed around him. Once he endeavored to snatch a rifle from an officer who carried it, intending to shoot a man who had just hit him, but was quickly subdued by the police.

As the result of Saturday's raid upon the district Capt. Streeter will directly begin a suit for $500,000 exemplary damages against N. K. Fairbank, John V. Farwell, Chief of Police Kiple, Inspector Max Heidelemer, the city of Chicago and others, whom he accuses of criminal conspiracy to defraud him and his adherents of their rights.

Not a Candidate.

Frankfort, Ky., May 28.—Chief Justice Hazelrigg gave out a statement positively declining to enter the race for the democratic nomination for governor. This leaves Gov. Beckham the only active candidate so far.

How Much You Eat

Is not the question, but, how much you digest, because food does good only when it is digested and assimilated, taken up by the blood and made into muscle, nerve, bone and tissue. Hood's Sarsaparilla restores to the stomach its powers of digestion. Then appetite is natural and healthy. Then dyspepsia is gone, and strength, elasticity and endurance return.

Stomach Trouble.—My mother had a very bad stomach trouble. She weighed only 111 pounds. After taking four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla she weighed 138 pounds. She took it again after the grip and one bottle got her up. Miss Otie McCoy, 628 Lafayette Ave., Lebanon, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Blood Medicine.

Number "Sixteen."

In his history of New York, one of the classics of American authorship, Diedrich Knickerbocker (Washington Irving) wrote lovingly, yet with unctuous sarcasm, of the beauties and traditions of his loved "Nieuw Nederland," the peaceful valley of the Hudson from Albany to Manhattan, the many legends with which the entire region abounds—notably that of Rip Van Winkle and his long sleep—and of the ancient names and families whose descendants are still a power in that locality. So far-reaching were the effects of the "History" that in time the name "Knickerbocker" became the popular one for the patron saint of New York City, he usually being represented as a benignant old German of ample girth, clutching firmly the long-stemmed clay pipe which Irving immortalized and gazing over his beloved City. Recognizing the vein of sentiment in the American people long ago a train service was inaugurated to New York from St. Louis to which Father Knickerbocker lent his name and through the efforts of the line which introduced the service the "Knickerbocker Special" has become as familiar to the average traveled American as to the residents of his own City. Leaving St. Louis at noon, the traveler is borne swiftly and safely to Father Knickerbocker's abode, traversing by daylight those scenes with which he was so familiar, arriving at New York the next day in time for a leisurely preparation for evening.

So popular has the service proven that the Big Four has started a new train as a companion, it leaving St. Louis 8:00 A. M., receiving all Western and Northwestern connections and arriving in New York at 2:35 the next day. This train is known as the New York and Boston Limited, but the wayfarer who travels much will call it Number Sixteen in emulation of his railroad brethren and inquire if "she" is on time. A month's business has demonstrated that it is a success. The Big Four's motto is "Comfort in travel," and the train simply lives up to the motto, as a trip on it will prove to those who desire every convenience in travel. A letter to the General Office of the Big Four at Cincinnati about any of their trains will always receive a prompt and courteous reply.

Is known from coast to coast. It has cured more sick women than any other medicine. Its friends are everywhere and they are constantly writing thankful letters which appear in this paper.

If you are puzzled write for Mrs. Pinkham's advice. Her address is Lynn, Mass. She will charge you nothing and she has restored a million women to health.

THE LAND QUESTION.

A Subject That Will Be Agitated for Some Time to Come.

Fide Settlers Protest Against the Hogish Methods of Foreign Syndicates and Mining Adventurers.

(Special Cripple Creek (Col.) Letter.)

THE public land question promises to be a lively issue for the next few years. The issue is between the intending settlers and the land-grabbing syndicates. Several bills are before congress for the leasing of the public domain at a nominal rental for a period of years. Settlers throughout the west oppose some of these measures, and have held meetings and deluged congress with petitions of protest. In some sections their mass meetings have been little short of vigilance committees in tone. They have passed resolutions denouncing such leasing measures as land-grabbing schemes in the interest of capitalists, and propose blacklisting congressmen who favor them.

Of the several bills before congress one is to cede to the several states all of the public domain in each state. Intending settlers oppose this, on the alleged grounds that the syndicates could the better secure control of the domain through local politics, and by influencing the state officials. Why they should presume that all state officials could be corrupted is not clear. Texas is an illustration of a state which controls its own public lands, and is cited as an example why the lands could be better controlled in the interest of settlers than under the present system. Texas is the only state in the union, by the way, which did not cede its public land to the general government, as a price for statehood. The Texas system seems to work well, argue those who favor ceding government lands to the states. The states would be enriched by a large revenue from the sale of the lands, and thus relieve the general land office of a great deal of work.

Another scheme is for the general government to lease the lands by means of an appointed commission in each state and territory, at from one to three cents an acre, for a period of from 20 to 30 years. This would, it is claimed, place the land under the control of the large syndicates, as ranchers would not care for large tracts. Still another project is to permit the states to control the lands by a system of taxation, thus bringing in a revenue. It is argued that the lands are unproductive, and a burden upon the government. This taxation, on the other hand, would naturally force the lands upon the market to be sold for taxes, and the large tracts would consequently be sold for a song, the syndicate purchaser pitching the tune.

Thus it will be seen there are several sides to the public land question, and our congressmen are now called upon to solve the problem to the best interests of the people who are directly interested in the public domain.

From the measures before congress it seems that the present public land system is generally unsatisfactory, and that the lands should be preserved for actual settlers, and placed beyond the reach of the stock syndicates. Some of these control millions of acres, used for grazing purposes. The general government is thus deprived of sales, and the settlement of the country is retarded. The land, being denuded of vegetation, is practically valueless for several years after its abandonment by the stockmen. The syndicates use the lands as long as there is vegetation, and after the abandonment it is about three years before the vegetation grows out, and thus the lands are practically out of the market for a series of years.

The settler, or rancher, is content with a tract of 160 acres, and as his crops improve he may want an additional tract to suit the needs of his growing family, but the syndicate has got control of everything in sight, and there is no room for progress and development.

The leasing system, it is thought, will partly remedy this evil, as the syndicates could not then grab such large territories. Others, however, think that it would be more favorable to the syndicates. Under the system of ceding lands to the states, and taxing them, it is thought that the wholesale land-grabbing would be checked entirely. Yet objection is made that the land question would then be brought into state politics, and be a matter of local favoritism. Of the several schemes it seems difficult to decide which is the better, and public opinion seems to be divided upon it. The only deduction that can be made is the precedent furnished by Texas.

Statistics show that an astonishingly large area of the public domain in the west is unoccupied, and the facts show that many people are landless, while others possess or hold principalities in extent, for which they have paid nothing. Only about 40 per cent. of the total land area of California is occupied, and that is the most populous of all the western states. Colorado is not quite as populous. Of the other sections, about 25 per cent. of the public lands in Montana and Arizona are occupied; about 20 per cent. of Utah; about 15 per cent. of Wyoming, and only about five per cent. of the sagebrush borough of Nevada, which has two senators in congress, and polls only 10,000 votes. These sections have total areas, as follows: California, 99,000,000 acres; Arizona, 72,000,000; Montana,

WESTERN PLACER MINING.

95,000,000; Idaho, 52,000,000; Utah, 52,000,000; Wyoming, 62,000,000; Colorado, 75,000,000; Nevada, 65,000,000. A very large area of this land is mountainous and desert, but the mountains are good for grazing purposes, and are so used. The settlers object to the grabbing of the lands available for agriculture. Much of the mountain land is rich in timber, and this is also being grabbed by the syndicates, denuded of the timber, thus lessening the rainfall, to the detriment of the farming lands in the valleys.

The Indians also raise a howl against the acquisition of the lands by the syndicates. They claim that the forests naturally belong to them for hunting purposes. This lessens their game supply and they must move elsewhere.

There are a number of these syndicates throughout the west, which are acquiring immense tracts of land, not only to the detriment of the Indian and the white settler, but to the tax payers and the general government. Most of these are English, with English representatives. They do not pay taxes, neither do they buy the lands, as the government lands are free to all for grazing purposes and mining prospecting. They occupy immense tracts of lands, and at the same time send out experts to prospect for gold. These desert lands generally are good placer mining sections, and when gold is found the syndicates locate the land as grazing lands, thus acquiring 100 times the territory they could under the law regulating mining locations. Their mining experts are constantly prospecting for gold on these lands, hence the miners have also a just cause for complaint. This abuse is as great as the other, and in both cases—the grabbing of agricultural or mining lands—the government and the public are alike swindled; and mining development and the settlement of the country are retarded.

SENIORITA ALFONSO.

She Has Just Been Declared Winner of El Figaro's Beauty Contest of Havana.

During the past two months "the dainty set," as Cubans dub the smart set of Havana, has been greatly interested in a contest of beauty initiated by the weekly El Figaro. The votes were registered by subscribers of El Figaro, and counted by a committee of prominent society leaders, presided over by Count Fernandina's daughter, Senora Josefina Herrera de Pulido, who obtained the prize for beauty in a contest held six years ago. The winner now is Senorita Silvia Alfonso y Aldama, a daughter of Florinda Aldama, who married Cristobal Alfonso, and granddaugh-

Silvia Alfonso is a great favorite in society, was born and brought up in Paris, and also resided in New York. Senorita Alfonso is a typical Cuban beauty, with a clear, colorless, olive complexion, beautiful dreamy black eyes, and she is endowed with personal magnetism and charming manners, which draw all hearts toward her. Leading tradespeople will tender costly gifts to the queen of charms in impassioned strains. Silvia's most prominent competitors will now become her maids-of-honor and attend her during the functions which will shortly follow.—Leslie's Weekly.

WATCHING THE SICKBED.

Why the Physician Frequently Prefers a Hired Nurse to Relatives or Close Friends.

It requires strong health and steady nerves to watch by a sickbed. For this reason a hired nurse is often preferred by physicians in a critical case to the relatives and friends of the sick. Nothing is so objectionable in a sickroom as a display of emotion or nerves. Steady watching, night as well as day, is often necessary when the disease reaches a crisis, and on such occasions the most devoted friends are likely to be so unnerved by anxiety that they cannot care for the sick properly. The night is the most dangerous time in sickness. There should be fresh nurses put on to watch the sick at night in cases of serious disease. One who has watched the sick during the daytime is unfit for watching at night, when the greatest care is necessary and when the faculties should be on the alert to notice any change. In regard to the sick at night, an eminent physician says: "The attendants on a sickbed are well aware that the objects of their anxiety experience in ordinary circumstances the greatest amount of suffering between midnight and daylight, or the usual period of the crowing of the cock. If we contemplate a frame at this period weakened by disease, we shall see that it should not be exposed to a cold temperature, against which it is ill qualified to contend. The depressed temperature and the air approaching to saturation in their combined influences act with painful energy, and require from an intelligent nurse a due amount of counteracting arrangements."

Sausage Meat for Summer.

Procure 1 1/4 pounds of trimmings from the packing house or pork store, mince it very fine, season with one teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper; mix well together and divide the meat into four equal parts, form each part into a round ball, then press it flat to half inch in thickness; dip them into beaten egg and cover with grated bread crumbs; place a frying pan, with one ounce of lard or fat, over the fire; when hot put in the sausages and fry over medium hot fire light brown. This recipe can also be used for sausage filling for turkeys or game.

One-third vinegar and two-thirds linseed oil make an excellent mixture to brighten furniture when rubbing it in spring cleaning.

THE BICYCLE RICKSHAW.

Latest Fad for Lazy Women Who Like to See the Summer Man Exert Himself.

The bicycle built for two is to go the way of all things that have had their day. A charming device is to take its place this season, known as the "bicycle rickshaw." The rickshaw is attached to an ordinary bicycle by means of a strong steel vise, and can be adjusted in a few minutes. It has pneumatic tires, and rides as smoothly as a bicycle. The occupant has merely to sit still and allow her husband, brother or sweetheart to propel the bicycle, and with it the rickshaw.

The weight of the rickshaw is only 25 pounds; and, with the easy movement of the light, pneumatic-tired wheels, it requires very little extra exertion on the part of the cyclist to carry it with him. The sight of these graceful little conveyances skimming along the bicycle roads and parking sideways will be a most enchanting one. They possess so many advantages over the tandem bicycle that they are sure to supersede these almost entirely.

In the first place, the spectacle of a woman riding tandem has never been one of which the average citizen approved. Then, again, there has always been a doubt about the comfort and sociability of this style of wheel. Conversation was next to an impossibility, except with the accompaniment of a mutual stretching of necks that was disagreeable and often dangerous, for the steersman has his work cut out to avoid obstacles, without trying to carry on a social conversation with the occupant of the rear saddle.

The question as to who was doing the work usually came in to disturb the harmony of the occasion in the event of husband and wife being the tandem riders. When the muscles began to tire and the wheel to drag, the mutual accusations of "You're not exerting yourself at all" were sure to be the prelude to a more or less acrimonious debate that marred the enjoyment of the outing.

Then the tandem was always the direct opponent to social intercourse with friends much on the road. It required too great an effort to start the tandem for the riders to dismount and engage in friendly converse when an acquaintance hailed them. The two were compelled to keep on their road, the rear rider having an uncomfortable time of it trying to stretch her neck to see where the steersman was taking her, and compelled to trust blindly to the care of her escort in the matter of safe steering. Many attempts have been made to obviate the objectionable features of the tandem and still retain its few good qualities. The effort to do this gave us the twin wheel, the riders of which were side by side. It was not a success. The wheels took up too much room.

The bicycle rickshaw solves all these problems at one shot. The lady in the charming little carriage cannot be accused of failing to help the bicyclist, for she has merely to sit still and be wheeled along. Instead of an unsightly double wheel, the rickshaw is one of the prettiest and most graceful conveyances ever put on the road. If a stop is desired it can be made without the slightest inconvenience, and bicyclist and occupant of rickshaw can converse with mutual acquaintances or with each other, and start off again with ease.

For anyone unable to ride a bicycle, and unwilling to learn, the bicycle rickshaw is simply the acme of delight, for all the pleasures of a bike trip can be enjoyed to the full, with the added boon of exertion not being necessary.

The bicycle rickshaw can be used by invalids, but not for long journeys, as the strain on the bicyclist going uphill is rather too much, and it is necessary for the occupant of the rickshaw to get out and walk on the up-grades. She gets her reward going down the decline, for this experience is one to be remembered always with pleasure. The bicycle rickshaws will probably be used by many with menservants to propel the conveyance. The sight of these occupants of the rickshaws meeting and holding social converse will soon be a common one in our parks and fashionable outdoor meeting places.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A BENEFIT TO FARMERS.

The Creamery in Chelsea Will Prove Such if It is Fairly Treated by Them.

Tuesday of last week a business that will prove of great financial and time saving benefit to our farmers commenced operations in Chelsea. We refer to the creamery established by the Towar Creamery Co., of Detroit, on North street. The neat frame building with its equipment of 30 horse boiler, 15-horse engine, cream separator, vats, automatic skim milk weighing machine and other machinery represents an investment of nearly $2,500, and is destined to be productive of good results to both the milk producers and the creamery company.

The editor of the Herald paid a visit to the creamery the other day to see how things were run and gleaned the following facts about the way the milk is handled from the time it arrives at the creamery until it is taken away again, which may prove of interest to many of our readers:

From the wagon which has been in the country gathering up the milk from the farmers the lactal fluid is taken into a 60 gallon weighing can and is weighed on a 5 beam Fairbank scale. From this the milk passes into a 700-gallon vat, through a Curtis milk sterilizing pump, being thoroughly sterilized thereby. From the vat it goes into an Alpha cream separator, the best machine of its kind made in the United States, with a capacity of 3,000 pounds of milk per hour, where the cream is all separated. From there it passes over a Star cooler, which cools the cream to a proper temperature, after which it is shipped to Detroit in 10 gallon cans. The skim milk is pumped by a rotary pump to a large receiver and by a Cornish automatic skim milk weighing machine each patron gets back 85 per cent of the milk he sent in.

Now, as to what the farmer receives for his milk product. The company charges him one cent for each per cent of butter fat that his milk contains, and pays him one cent less per pound than Elgin, Ill., butter market prices. Thus, if the market price is 20 cents per pound, and the milk tests to four pounds of butter fat to the 100 pounds of milk he gets 76 cents per 100 pounds for his milk, and besides gets back 85 per cent of his milk product in skim milk. If his milk should be extra rich in butter fat and test to 5 per cent he would receive 95 cents per 100 pounds. If, on the contrary, the milk only tested 3.80 per 100 pounds he would receive 72 1-5 cents per 100 pounds. The milk sent in by each patron is tested by means of a Babcock Ideal tester once every week. So, the farmer who has a herd of six cows, yielding him say 250 pounds of milk per day, which tested 4 per cent, would have a cash income of $49.40 per month for 26 days' milk.

The creamery took in 1,258 pounds of milk the first day and has been steadily increasing. If the business will warrant it and our farmers encourage this creamery in their home town the company will put up another building and double or triple its capacity at the earliest moment that it shall be required.

All Going to the Circus.

Everybody is talking about Ringling Bros' famous big circus, which is to exhibit in Ann Arbor Thursday, June 7. Excursions will go from this vicinity and the popularity of the show will insure an enormous crowd. People from this locality should make an especial effort to arrive in time to see the new free street carnival which precedes the exhibition every morning at 10 o'clock. The procession is divided into thirty enormous sections, each of which is a complete parade, and presents in its entirety a bewildering-magnificent two-mile carnival of pageantry, such as the world has never seen. In this gorgeous display are shown over 100 beautiful dens and cages of wild animals, 500 horses, 25 elephants and nearly a thousand people, and the costumes throughout are of the finest silks, satins, and cloth of gold. The performance that follows is the most magnificent arene display ever presented by any circus in America.

It was 33 years ago yesterday since Memorial Day was inaugurated, and at that time Gen. John A. Logan was the commander in chief of the G. A. R. The celebration of the day in Chelsea was a fitting tribute to the nation's soldier dead, the citizens generally turning out to attend the exercises, and shortly after 2 o'clock, the time set for holding them, the town hall was filled to overflowing with people.

The exercises opened with a very appropriate selection of music by the Chelsea band, which embodied "Dixie," and other southern tunes, as well as "America" and other patriotic melodies.

The orders of Department Commander Pealer were read by Geo. J. Crowell and Lincoln's address at Gettysburg by T. E. Wood. Vocal music by the male quartet, Geo. Ward, Floyd Ward, Louis Burg and John Eisenman followed, and then prayer was offered by Rev. G. B. Marsh. The quartet sang another selection and then Rev. C. S. Jones delivered the Memorial Day address. Old attendants at Memorial Day celebrations, who have heard many an address appropriate to the occasion unite in saying that Mr. Jones' address was one of the finest they ever heard. To give a synopsis of it would spoil its effect and it is too late in the week for the Herald to set it up and print it in full. It was full of vim, fire and patriotism, paying a tender tribute to the fallen heroes; words of praise for the living soldiers; of emulation to the rising generation who following in the footsteps of their fathers are full of military ardor and desire; and of rebuke to the machine methods of the politicians of today, whose actions are not patriotic but wholly selfish. Loud and prolonged applause greeted Mr. Jones when he sat down at the conclusion of his masterly address.

After another vocal selection, Rev. G. B. Marsh pronounced the benediction and the audience filed out of the hall to the street, where the procession was formed in the order given in last week's Herald and marched to Oak Grove cemetery. At the soldiers' monument the ritual service of the G. A. R. was said and the graves of the dead soldiers in both cemeteries were decorated. After which the procession returned to its starting point and disbanded.

Death of Mrs. Jennie Martin.

A sadly sudden death occurred in Chelsea Sunday night at 11:45, when Mrs. Jennie Gorman Martin died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Alice Gorman, on Summit street, of congestion of the brain.

Mrs. Martin was the youngest daughter of James and Alice Young Gorman. She was born in Lyndon, April 15, 1861, and had lived at home all her life until the time of her marriage. She had never been the same since the death of her husband Feb. 12, of last year, just six weeks after their marriage, and she had constantly mourned his death, although she always performed her duties in life in a resigned and patient manner. She had been out canvassing Saturday afternoon, and after supper was sprinkling the lawn when she complained to her mother of not feeling well, saying she was blind and could not see. Her symptoms rapidly grew worse and when Dr. Thomas Shaw, of Ypsilanti, the old family physician, arrived he found her in a comatose condition from which she never rallied.

The funeral services were held at St. Mary's church yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. W. P. Considine. The remains were followed to their last resting place in Mt. Olivet cemetery by a large cortege of sorrowing relatives and friends.

Farmers' Club Meeting.

The Western Washtenaw Farmers' Club

met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Waltrous, Thursday, May 24, at 8 p. m., the president called the meeting to order and the program opened with singing by the club. The secretary's report was read and accepted, and the report of legislative committee was accepted. Mrs. Geo. Boynton gave an excellent paper on "The bright side of farm life." Then followed a duet by Mrs. Depew and Geo. E. Davis, and a select reading by Mrs. H. Fletcher.

"The present, past and future of farming," was given by W. E. Stocking and was discussed by the club. After a solo by Mrs. H. Fletcher and a recitation by Mrs. M. Lowry the meeting was closed by singing "America."

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. I. Storms, June 21. The program will be: "Our country schools," N. H. Cook; "The influence of literature in the farm home," Mrs. Thomas Fletcher; recitations, George E. Davis and Roland Waltrous, "Scraps," Mrs. Frank Storms.

The German Reading Circle will hold a necktie social at the home of Miss Pauline Barth, Wednesday evening, June 6. Everybody is invited.

Timothy McKune has had the old board walk taken up in front of his residence and vacant lot on South Main street and will replace it with a 5-foot cement walk.

The service held by Rev. W. P. Considine at the residence of T. Marrinane in Grass Lake Tuesday, were largely attended. Twenty-five persons received communion.

S. E. Francis, of Stockbridge, ships turtles and frogs to the Cincinnati market. He has made three shipments this season, his latest one embracing 20 turtles and two crates of frogs.

Special services were held at St. Mary's church this morning at 8 o'clock, consisting of the recitation of the rosary, singing by the Junior choir and the benediction, in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Nearly every bird's nest in Mt. Olivet cemetery has again been rifled this year by mischievous and unscrupulous boys, and the little dead birds lie around on the ground beneath the trees where the nests were.

City Assessor Seyler, of Ann Arbor, got a list of mortgages written one on a line on sheets of foolscap which was four feet long from one man. The list amounted to $30,000 and had never been on the rolls before. Who says the new law is no earthly good?

During the months of June, July and August, commencing next Sunday, the order of services in St. Mary's church on Sundays will be: 7:30 a. m., first mass; 10 a. m., high mass; 7:30 p. m., vespers and benediction. On week days the mass will be at 7 a. m.

F. P. Glazier returned home Monday night from his trip to the western coast suffering from the effects of a severe bruising and general shaking up, sustained in a railroad accident at Ogden, Utah, last Thursday night. His condition is materially improved at this writing.

Sister Evangelista, formerly Miss Emelie Neuburger, will make her solemn profession and receive the black veil at St. Mary's Academy, Monroe, Wednesday, June 12. Rev. W. P. Considine, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neuburger and Mrs. William Kress will be present on the solemn occasion.

Jacob Brenner had his right foot badly injured Thursday. They were moving a hay press from one place to another when the tire of one of the wheels became loose. The axle was jacked up to take off the wheel when the jack slipped and came down on Mr. Brenner's foot with the full weight of the machine resting above it.

John S. Nowland, the first white child born in Ann Arbor, died at his home there Tuesday, aged 74 years. In 1831, when he was five years old he came to Sylvan and lived with his sister, Abigail, and her husband, William A. BeGole, deceased, on their farm four miles south of Chelsea, for two years, after which he returned to Ann Arbor.

The concert given at the M. E. church Friday evening by Prof. E. N. Bilbie, assisted by Miss Minnie Davis, pianist, and local vocal talent, was an excellent one in every respect, but the attendance was not large. Mr. Bilbie's violin playing was of a high order of merit and was the best ever heard in Chelsea. One young lady's honest expression that "he fairly made the violin talk," voices the sentiment of those present. Miss Davis' piano playing was perfect in tune, time and expression, and the vocal numbers were much enjoyed.

The north side of the foundry building at the Glazier stove works has had a new roof put on it.

The regular monthly meeting of the L. C. B. A. will be held next Wednesday evening, June 6.

Henry Simms, of Webster, who was kicked by his horse Thursday night, died Monday from the injuries he then received. He was 61 years old.

A game of baseball was played on the fair grounds Saturday between juvenile nines belonging to Dexter and Chelsea. Our boys won by a score of 18 to 8.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Levi L. and Emma J. VanHorn, of Sylvan, for being drunk on the streets of Chelsea, Wednesday of last week.

Ann Arbor Argus: W. W. Wedemeyer has purchased the McLaren property on Kingsley street. Consideration $3,000. What's Wede going to do, get married?

A young man named Houck, living in Sharon, had the forefinger of his left hand broken Friday by a stone rolling on it off a pile while he was engaged in loading them on a wagon.

Next Sunday is the Feast of Pentecost and Rev. Francis E. Klauder, rector of the church of the Most Holy Redeemer, Detroit, will preach at the morning service in St. Mary's church.

Every painter and paper hanger in the village has all and more than he can do this spring, and mechanics and workmen of all kinds are fully employed. This indicates a prosperous state of affairs.

Owners of chickens that are allowed to roam at their own sweet will, should reflect on the fact that the supreme court has decided that all poultry running at large is considered wild game and is entitled to no protection by law.

The alumni of the Grass Lake high school will have their 30th annual banquet at the town hall, Grass Lake, Friday evening, June 15. Dr. G. W. Palmer and Miss Mamie Fletcher are alumni of the school and have received invitations to be present.

The Francisco correspondence of the Grass Lake News says: "A number of the farmers have quit sending their milk to the Grass Lake creamery and are sending it to the creamery just started at Chelsea." Will poor Grass Lake ever recover from such a blow as that?

Ypsilanti Chapter, No. 121, O. E. S., had an interesting special session Friday evening when visitors were present from Ann Arbor, Plymouth and Wayne. Miss May E. Creech, preceptress of the Chelsea high school, was the candidate, and the degree of the order was conferred upon her by the officers of the Plymouth chapter. Among the guests were Mrs. Ida Joslyn, of Plymouth, and Mrs. Lida Pratt, of Jackson, past grand worthy matrons of the order. Mrs. Joslyn was presented with a handsome silk flag by Mrs. J. MAY SUE FOR PEACE.

President Kruger Submits Question to His Subjects

Asks Them to Decide Between Surrender and Continuing the War—British Forces Enter the Transvaal.

London, May 23.—President Kruger, according to a special dispatch from Newcastle, has issued a proclamation asking the Transvaal burghers to notify him whether they desire to continue the fight or to sue for peace. President Kruger's proclamation is understood to say that they can quit now with the prospect of retaining their farms, or continue to the bitter end. Rumors are current in Lord Roberts' army that the Boers intend to surrender.

A dispatch from Lourenzo Marques says: Gen. Lucas Meyer says surrender would be at once proposed by the Boers but that everybody fears the ignominy of being the one to make the proposal. He declares that he is assured that his men will not stand. President Steyn and Mr. Reitz, the Transvaal state secretary, are strongly opposed to peace, but Mr. Kruger is not so much against it.

While Lord Roberts' 30,000 infantry, 20,000 horse and 150 guns are moving on Johannesburg and Pretoria, through a parched and deserted country, the situation at the Transvaal capital, as it was last Friday, is thus described by an observer who sent his message by private hand to Lourenzo Marques yesterday:

"The situation, both from a military and a political point of view, has become very critical. President Kruger yesterday admitted that for the first time matters are very grave. The Boer determination is to trust everything to a last stand on the Gats rand mountains, to the north of Potchefstroom, where 3,000 Kaffirs are digging trenches. To that point every available man and gun have been sent. The whole of the western border of the Transvaal from end to end is defenseless and Gen. Baden-Powell can march in when he likes. Lord Roberts, on the other hand, will encounter the greatest resistance. The Boer endeavor is to lure the British into appearing to threaten Johannesburg with attack, an excuse thus being given them for the destruction of property. The Transvaal government will not dare destroy the mines and property without an excuse. Much dynamite has been sent down the line, and 100,000 cases lie ready at Zuurfontein, near Johannesburg. Gen. Louis Botha and Gen. Lucas Meyer have pleaded for the preservation of property. Both are large landed proprietors and fear confiscation, but they have not received satisfactory replies from President Kruger."

Enters the Transvaal.

Kroonstad, May 23.—Gen. Hamilton has invaded the Transvaal, having crossed at Wonderfontein drift.

London, May 23.—The war office has received the following from Lord Roberts:

"Vereeniging, Sunday, May 27.—We crossed the Vaal this morning and are now encamped on the north bank. The advance troops, which crossed yesterday, were only just in time to save the coal mines on both sides and the other side of the river from being destroyed. Our casualties were four. Baden-Powell reports that the railway between Mafeking and Bulwer has been restored and that supplies are being brought into Mafeking. He says the Canadian artillery joined Col. Plumer from Beira with incredible rapidity. Lieut. Webber was taken prisoner at Helbron a few days ago. He went there on telegraph duty. It was not known that our troops had been temporarily withdrawn."

London, May 23.—When Lord Roberts wrote his first dispatch on Transvaal territory yesterday, shortly before two o'clock in the afternoon, he was 51 miles from Johannesburg and 77 from Pretoria. His immensely superior forces had passed the Vaal river, their last great natural obstacle, at three points. The Vaal forms a curve of 80 miles from Parys on the west to Zand drift on the east. The concave of the curve is toward the Free State. Thus Lord Roberts, advancing along the railway, was in a position to strike any part of the crescent by shorter lines than those by which the Boers could reinforce the threatened points. The Boers retreated almost without a show of defense. Gen. French and Gen. Hamilton apparently did not fire a shot. Of Lord Roberts' immediate force, 11 men belonging to the Eighth mounted infantry were the first to ford the river. They came upon a Boer patrol looting Viljoen's drift, and a skirmish lasting ten minutes followed. Two hundred Boers tried feebly to hold the Vereeniging colliery, but they were dislodged.

DUAL TRACK MEET.

Results of the Contest Between Athletes of Universities of Chicago and Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., May 23.—Chicago won from Wisconsin in the dual meet at Camp Randall Saturday morning, taking 71 points to 57 for Wisconsin. Chicago was first in seven events and Wisconsin in nine. The feature of the meet was the breaking of five Wisconsin records—the pole vault, mile run, half-mile run, broad jump and mile walk. Chicago was first in the 120-yard hurdles, 100-yard dash, mile bicycle, one-third-mile bicycle, show put and hammer throw. Wisconsin took first in the mile run, high jump, discus throw, mile walk, 220-yard dash, pole vault, broad jump, 80-yard run and 220-yard hurdles.

RANGE OF PRICES.

Dun & Co. Give Some Interesting Statistics—Situation in Trade Circles.

New York, May 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "Transition to a more natural range of prices after a time of extraordinary buying, speculation and rise is not wholly delightful, however needful it may be to business health. But the gradual change this year, though wearying, has given opportunity in various branches to avoid losses. It is nearly six months since the highest prices of pig iron were reached, November 23, and of wool, December 1, while hides reached their maximum December 13, leather and iron products January 10, boots and shoes January 24, woolens February 21 and cotton and cotton goods March 21. The tables given by this paper have shown that the highest point for all prices was March 16, and after two months of slow decline the range for all prices was but 4.5 per cent. lower May 16. But the past week has added its full share, a fall of 4 1/2 per cent. in cotton, 3 per cent. in pig iron, 1.5 per cent. in iron products, 2 per cent. in hides, 2 1/2 in boots and shoes and 3 1/2 in leather, 3 1/2 on petroleum, and a little in many other products."

"The decline in cotton was rendered sensational by the failure of the firm which had most strongly resisted it, and for some months had led the campaign for high prices in the belief that stocks for the rest of this year would scarcely meet demands with the next crop in doubt. The course of the market for some months to come cannot well be predicted, as provision for the future has been made by spinners on both sides of the ocean."

"Prices of finished products of iron and steel have declined more than 10 per cent. within two months, without any reduction in rails, structural shapes or in sheets. Doubt about sufficient supplies of steel making iron for coming months seems the one impediment to renewal of activity."

"Payments through clearing houses south of the Potomac and west of the Alleghenies have at almost every point been greater than a year ago and the shrinkage at New York and eastern cities is largely because heavy financial operations connected with the creation of new corporations are not being repeated."

"Failures for the week have been 185 in the United States, against 142 last year, and 20 in Canada, against 16 last year."

RIOTING CONTINUES.

Another Man Wounded in St. Louis Strike—Dynamite Exploded Under a Car.

St. Louis, May 26.—Sympathizers of the striking street car men were again the medium of a riotous demonstration Friday, and as a result another name was added to the long list of wounded. In the afternoon, as a car on the Jefferson avenue line, running south, approached Sullivan avenue, it was attacked by a crowd of men and boys. Several shots were fired at the car. The policemen on board the car returned the fire, and in all about 100 shots were exchanged. Peter Wells, a patrolman, who was riding on the front platform, was hit in the left armpit, the bullet producing an ugly wound.

Twenty-two lines of the St. Louis Transit company are in operation, but not enough cars are being run to accommodate the thousands who still have to depend on "buses, wagons and wheels or walk to work."

At six a. m. an attempt was made by somebody unknown to blow up a car on the Spaulding avenue line of the St. Louis Transit company. The wheels of the first car out struck something that exploded with a loud noise and lifted the car two or three feet into the air. While the explosion startled residents for blocks around the vicinity, no damage was done and nobody was injured.

The injunction proceedings instituted by the federal authorities a week ago against W. D. Mahon, president of the International Association of Amalgamated Street Railway Employees, and others, were continued in the United States circuit court Friday to June 6.

Mills to Be Closed.

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—Superintendent David Griffiths, of the Republic Iron & Steel company's plant here, has received word from the company stating that owing to a shortage in orders and the general slump in iron, the works here would be closed entirely June 1, and would remain closed for an indefinite time. About 800 men will be thrown out of employment. The mills have been running only partially for some time. Of 36 mills controlled by the Republic Iron & Steel company but three are in operation.

Has Adjourned.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 23.—The seventy-first annual general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, which has been in session in this city for eight days, adjourned sine die Thursday afternoon to meet at West Point, Miss., in 1901. The most important work accomplished is the successful inauguration of the movement for a million-dollar centennial education endowment fund.

Murder Suspected.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 26.—The body of an unknown man was found Thursday night three miles from Ishpeming on the road leading to Dexter mine. Indications point to a murder. The skull is fractured, face battered and clothing torn. The man was lame and blind in one eye.

Celebrate Queen's Birthday.

London, May 25.—Queen Victoria on Thursday entered upon the eighty-second year of her age amid the patriotic acclaim of the nation. Flags waved and bunting screamed all over the United Kingdom and throughout the British empire.

THE ST. LOUIS STRIKE.

End of the Street Railway Trouble Seems as Far Away as Ever—A Sunday Riot.

St. Louis, May 23.—This is the twenty-first day of the street railway strike, and the end seems as far away as ever, both the Transit company and its employees standing firm in their respective positions. Not a car on the Transit company's system has been run since the strike began without police protection. In consequence of there not being enough police to guard the 800 or more cars usually operated, less than a quarter of that number has been run by the company over only a part of its 22 divisions and lines. Since the 8th of May, when the strike began, there have been numerous collisions between the police and the strikers and the latter's sympathizers. Hardly a day during that time has passed without somebody being wounded by bullets or injured by flying missiles and police clubs. The list of casualties presents four persons shot and killed, 22 wounded by bullets and 50 or more injured in other ways. Two of the killed were innocent bystanders, a striking motorman and an emergency policeman completing the number. Several of the wounded are in a critical condition and may die.

It is estimated by the strikers that less than 50 of their number—3,325—who struck have returned to work. These, with the street car men imported from other cities, are operating the Transit company's cars. It is asserted that at least 50 of the imported men have joined the strikers. All the points at issue between the company and its striking employees have been agreed to except that of reinstating all the men who went out in their old positions. The company refuses to displace the men they have hired since the strike began, while the strikers decline to sign any agreement that does not give all the old men their places again. Several attempts have been made to bring the employers and employees together, but without success, and thus the matter stands.

As the result of an encounter Sunday night between striking and nonstriking employees of the Transit system three men were shot, one being fatally and the others seriously wounded. As Philip Sullivan, James Sullivan and Patrick O'Connell, strikers, were passing through Lafayette park they were approached from the rear and fired upon by three men said to be in the company's employ. One of the bullets passed through Philip Sullivan's right lung, giving him a mortal wound. James Sullivan received a ball in the left cheek and O'Connell was shot through the right leg. Accounts of the affair differ, some bystanders claiming that it was a deliberate attempt at assassination on the part of the company's new employees, while others aver that it was nothing more or less than a pitched battle between the two factions. A riot call was at once sounded, but the three unknown men had made good their escape by the time of the police arrival on the scene.

BIG MINE AFIRE.

Disaster in the Calumet and Hecla—Many Men Overcome by Gas—One Is Dead.

Houghton, Mich., May 23.—Fire broke out at the twentieth level in No. 2 shaft in the Hecla branch of the Calumet & Hecla mine at seven o'clock Sunday evening. The shaft was promptly closed down, all the men escaping, and a force of men was sent down in No. 3 shaft adjoining to putty up the doors to prevent the fire from spreading. One consisting of 12 men was almost overcome with the gas from the burning timber and started for the ladders in order to escape. One man, Will McRae, fell behind and had to be abandoned. The men barely crawled to the surface, where the entire medical staff of the Calumet & Hecla mine had been called to their assistance with oxygen apparatus. After a rescue party had gone down twice after the missing man he was brought up from the ninth level, where he was found hanging on a ladder. Efforts at restoration failed. Five others of the party, Ben Saunders, John Haun, Richard Martin, Richard Richards and Simon Russell, are now in the hospital. Russell is in a precarious condition. The men are leaving other parts of the mine because of gas.

[The Calumet and Hecla mine is on the Keweenaw peninsula in northern Michigan, and was discovered in 1865, it is said, by a pig rooting about in some old leaves in a hole. This was the first clue to the lost copper mines told of in the legends of the Indians. The development was slow at first, but was continuous, and in the course of time the magnitude of the deposits became known. Over $5,000,000 has been paid in dividends since then and the plant as it stands now, while the company is capitalized for only $2,500,000, is considered to be worth $50,000,000. To bring the mines up to a paying stage of development, $1,200,000 was spent. The company owns mines, stamps, mills, smelters, railroads, and, in fact, several towns with a population of not less than 30,000 people dependent on the mines for their living. The mine company property covers hundreds of acres and the shafts in various parts are the deepest in the world. Prof. Agassiz made tests in the Calumet and Hecla pits for ascertaining by comparison the heat of the interior of the earth and the rate at which it increased or diminished. The last big fire in these mines was in 1887, and for a long period parts of the working were abandoned until the fire could be got under control.]

BARRED FROM AMERICA.

Two Irishmen of Notoriety Land in New York—Inquiry Board Orders Their Exclusion.

New York, May 23.—James Fitzharris, alias "Skin the Goat," and Joseph Mullett, the Irish invincibles who were recently released from prison in Ireland, where they were sentenced for complicity in the Phoenix park murders in 1882, were on Sunday excluded by the board of special inquiry at the immigration station and ordered deported. The exclusion was made under the interpretation of the law which forbids anyone being admitted to this country who has been adjudged guilty of a "felony, infamous crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude."

The two men were recently pardoned by Earl Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, from a sentence of life imprisonment, and reached this city among the steerage passengers on the Lucania Saturday last. After a conference with Commissioner Fitchie, the men were ordered back to Ellis Island to await the action of the board of special inquiry. This board was composed of William Weihe, chairman; H. H. Moller, James A. Toner and Maj. Charles S. Sensay. The two men were taken before the board on Ellis Island Sunday morning. The inquiry was secret.

After the meeting of the board it was learned that Fitzharris was the first of the two to be examined by the members. He admitted he had served nearly 17 years in prison. After being asked the usual questions as to his age, nativity and residence, Fitzharris was asked of what crime he had been convicted, and answered: "Treason." He was then questioned as to this charge, and he told the board that he had been arrested about nine months after the famous Phoenix park murders, in company with 23 others. These 23 were accused of having been accessories after the fact, while Fitzharris was charged with having been an accessory before the fact. Three months later he was brought to trial, with others of the accused. Five of them were sentenced to be hanged, and Fitzharris was sentenced to penal servitude for life.

While telling his story to the board Fitzharris declared that at the time of his trial he was offered £10,000 by the English government if he would turn informer against the other members of the band. This he refused to do, and of his life sentence he served about 17 years in the Mount Joy, Chatham, Downpatrick and Marybone prisons. Eight months ago he was pardoned. Fitzharris said that he and Mullett had about $25 between them when they reached this port. He asserted that while he was on British soil he was compelled to report to the police every month as to his doings and whereabouts. "I came to this country," he added, "because I want a chance to rest and recuperate. I wanted to stay here about three months, and then go back to my family."

Mullett indignantly refused to answer any of the questions put to him by the board. He declared he was not being accorded proper treatment by the government. His examinations lasted only a short time, as he would not respond to questions. The men were then sent to the "excluded pen." The case will probably be appealed to the authorities at Washington, and if not, Fitzharris and Mullett will leave this port on Saturday next on the Lucania.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Minor Engagements Are Reported—Charge Against Gen. Funston Unsubstantiated.

Manila, May 23.—Scouting, small engagements and the capture of arms and prisoners continue daily in northern Luzon. Last week's operations by the Ninth, Twelfth, Thirtieth, Thirty-fourth and Thirty-sixth regiments resulted in the killing of 46 of the enemy, the taking of 180 prisoners and the capture of 300 rifles and a quantity of ammunition.

Peace reigns and no trouble is expected in Manila, although the city is crowded with people from the provinces who are leaving the unprotected hamlets in order to avoid the conscription which the insurgent leaders are enforcing, as well as robbery and outrages at the hands of roving insurgents and bandits.

The investigation of the charge against Brig. Gen. Frederick Funston of having summarily executed two natives in the province of Zambales has resulted in a discontinuance of the proceedings. It developed the fact that Gen. Funston caught the natives in the act of murdering bound Maccabebe scouts, his action, in view of the circumstances, being regarded as justifiable.

Is 81 Years Old.

Boston, May 23.—In the midst of flowers sent in generous quantities by friends from all over the country, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, one of the foremost women of the country, received her friends Sunday, on the eighty-first anniversary of her birth. Messages of congratulation also poured in. Mrs. Howe is in excellent health.

LEGISLATION RECOMMENDED.

Synopsis of Report of Industrial Commission Submitted to Congress.

Washington, May 26.—The industrial commission, in its report to congress on labor legislation, recommends improved legislation to the state legislatures rather than to congress directly.

"The subject of greatest public interest to-day," says the report, "is perhaps that of the regulation of the hours of labor permitted in industrial occupations and especially in factories."

As congress has no power to legislate directly in this matter the committee recommends that a simple statute be enacted by all the states regulating the length of the working day for all persons between the ages of 14 and 21 years who work in factories.

The report in brief says:

"The employment of children below the age of 14 should be prohibited in factories. The length of the working day in all public employment should be fixed at eight hours. The same time should be fixed for workmen in underground mines except in cases of emergency. Employment in mines of children less than 14 years of age, and all women and girls should be forbidden. Congress might well enact that no person under 18 should be employed as a telegraph operator upon railroads, and that all engineers and switchmen should submit to an examination for color blindness, also that it be made a misdemeanor for an engineer or switchman to be 'intoxicated while on duty.' A simple and liberal law regulating the payment of labor should be adopted by all the states, providing that all laborers shall be paid in cash orders without discount, not in goods or due bills, and that no compulsion, direct or indirect, should be used to make them purchase goods at any particular store."

"The question of the enforcement of the labor contract by injunction or contempt in equity process is a very difficult one, mainly made so by the abuses which have arisen from injunctions carelessly issued. It is suggested that it might be well to limit punishment for contempt to imprisonment for a brief period, but equity courts must not be deprived of the power to protect themselves and to make their decrees respected. The practice of awarding blanket injunctions against all the world, or against unnamed defendants, as well as the practice of indirectly enforcing the contract for personal service by enjoining employees from quitting work, should be discouraged not only by popular sentiment, but by intelligent judicial opinion."

On the subject of railway labor, the commission is of opinion that congress should adopt a consistent code of law regulating all matters concerning employment, such as hours of labor, limitation of continuous runs by engineers or continuous service by telegraph operators or switchmen; the enactment of a consistent employers' liability code; the liability of the employer or corporation for defective appliances, etc. The statutes already adopted in the several states, discriminating as between union and nonunion labor by making it a penal offense for an employer to exclude union labor only, seem to the commission to be unconstitutional, being class legislation. The statute should apply to non-union as well as union labor alike, if it is to be enacted at all. The right to be employed and protected without belonging to a union should be preserved; but every facility should be given labor to organize if it desires, and the last vestige of the notion that trade unions are a criminal conspiracy should be swept away. The use of private police detectives or other hired bodies of men to be used in connection with labor troubles has aroused considerable attention, and congress probably has the power to enact reasonable legislation to prevent abuses in this direction.

In a general way the commission reports that conciliation laws have been found effective, but that strict arbitration machinery rarely works well. It is recommended that labor bureaus or commissions be established in all the states.

Commissioners E. A. Smyth and C. J. Harris unite in a minority report, in which they express the opinion that it would be both unjust and impracticable to attempt any uniform laws regulating labor in all the states, if labor and capital are to have their full development. They say the right of private contract should be allowed to both laborer and employer, and therefore the limitation of hours of labor would be fraught with danger.

Commissioner John W. Daniel in a separate report concurs in the spirit of the views expressed by Commissioners Smyth and Harris.

Charged with Fratricide.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—Edward Erickson was arrested late Thursday afternoon, charged with the murder of his brother, Martin P. Erickson, in February, 1894. Gustav Wall, a former citizen of St. Paul, but for several years living in Montana, called on Gov. Lind and told him he had been an eyewitness of the murder, but had been scared and ran away, leaving town afterwards. Since then he was troubled about what he knew, and for two years had been unable to sleep because of it.

Against the Negro.

Richmond, Va., May 26.—Enough returns have been received from Thursday's election to show that the state has gone for a revision of the constitution by from 10,000 to 15,000. After the returns are inspected the governor may call an extra session of the legislature to provide for a convention. Almost the entire object of revision is the disfranchisement of the negro, and almost all the counties having a negro majority went against it. The vote cast was the lightest in years.

Will Hold Two Conventions.

Frankfort, Ky., May 25.—The democratic state executive committee held a meeting here Thursday afternoon and issued calls for two state conventions. The first will be held at Louisville June 14, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the democratic national convention. The other will be held there July 19, and at this convention a democratic candidate for governor will be nominated.

A CONVENIENT BARN.

Frames with Open Centers Like the One Here Described Coming Into General Use.

Modern haying tools are hard to operate in the old-fashioned string-girt centerpost style of building, and a frame with an open center like the one shown in Fig. 1 is coming into use. Aside from the free swing of the horse fork, it has the advantage of allowing hay or grain to settle without interference from cross girts.

the usual upright post a plank post is made by nailing one plank to the edge of another, T-fashion. Two planks bolted to the foot of this and extending to the purlin within the braces, as shown, form a truss, which takes the place of the usual cross-tied frame.

Fig. 3 shows the barn in perspective and Fig. 4 shows the ground plan. The break between the stanchions is a gate for carrying feed through to the box stalls. The dotted line extending across the barn by the side of the drive floor is really the imaginary boundary of the feeding floor. A slight additional expense would have provided a partition with rolling doors, similar to that in the rear which separates the stable from the boxes, thus inclosing the stable. Over the stables and boxes is a loft with a matched floor. The mow floor is also matched.

Nearly under the granary window is a cat-hole, by which the cats enter the barn through a circuitous alley around the granary. They say this entirely prevents the depredations of rats and mice. For my own part, I should have preferred lining the granary with sheet iron, which could have been done for three cents per square foot.

The "lean-to" which forms the manure pit was built under a separate contract. The timber for sills and ground floor, and also the stones for underpinning, were furnished by the party for whom the building was erected.

The site was that of a former barn that had been destroyed by lightning, and sloped away about four feet in the rear; six-by-eight-inch posts, 16 feet long, were used instead of the T-plank ones in this particular building. The dimensions were 60 by 30 feet. The building complete, with horse fork in working order, and two coats of priming metallic paint, with white lead trim, was put up a year ago for $600. Probably $150 would have to be added to that amount to duplicate it to-day. The fact that the builder was architect, contractor, boss carpenter and journeyman combined probably saved $100, but even with that addition to the expense it is a cheap barn, considering its capacity, and for those desiring that combination seems to meet the requirement in an effective manner.—Richard H. Mitchell, in Country Gentleman.

THE BROILER BUSINESS.

Some Reasons Why No One Should Engage in It Without a Long Course of Preparation.

One must be more or less of a specialist to raise broilers successfully for market, and unless the business is thoroughly understood it is discouraging. I would not advise anyone to start in this work without a long course of preparation. That can come only through general experience with poultry, and then by attempting to raise a few broilers each year for market, increasing the output year by year and making additional facilities and improvements as the returns warrant it. To hatch out a chick and make it grow to the broiler size just when the market demands it must all be accomplished through artificial methods. It is going contrary to all of nature's rules, from the time you put the egg in the incubator until you kill and pluck the bird for market. Consequently we must understand not the laws of nature, but the rules that all have learned through long years of experience.

In every lot of young broilers some will grow much faster than others, and it will be necessary to make an early classification of the strong and weak. Otherwise the strong will crowd down the weak ones, take most of the food, the best of everything, and actually keep them from growing properly through fear and intimidation. Keep the weak ones together and the strong chicks by themselves, and it may be even a third division will improve matters. The pugnacious chicks might well be kept in a separate pen, where they can fight it out among themselves and not vent their anger upon the more peaceful ones. The most important disease the young broilers and spring chickens suffer from is bowel trouble, and the food must be given to them very carefully. This is often due to the fact that the young chicks have not taken enough grit in their food to grind it properly. Chick size grit should be given to them regularly, and if they do not take it mix it with their mash. Grit must be eaten by the birds if their health is to be maintained, and as they grow older large size grit must be fed to them. Bowel troubles will rarely develop where sufficient grit in one form or another is given to the birds. Growing chicks should never be crowded, and when the days are warm enough they should be given all the outdoor exercise possible. When they have to work for their food they have good digestion, and when they have that few troubles or diseases will bother them.—Annie C. Webster, in American Cultivator.

AN OILCLOTH ANNEX.

made so that they can be easily taken apart and the gap may be closed with a lath fence. The main structure in the illustration is 12x6x8 feet high and the cloth run is 12x6x6 feet. The floor of the main house is raised about two feet, allowing an extra run underneath. The oilcloth is the same as that used for hotbeds; strong cotton cloth coated with oil.—American Agriculturist.

Do Fowls Need Exercise?

As fowls are ordinarily fed exercise is positively necessary to enable them to digest the food they take. A ration of grain in large part and other things in small part means that the fowls will have to develop muscle and energy to do the work of grinding. But it is possible to so feed the fowls that exercise will not be of any value. This is shown by the French method of fattening fowls. They are shut up in a cage and fed on a soft mash several times a day. They are given no room at all for exercise, yet keep perfectly healthy and develop meat and fat at a great rate.

Use Feeders for the Bees.

For all heavy feeding some kind of feeder should be used. Little wooden troughs are best, and may be made any size desired. The best kind is a two-inch block guttered out by cutting heads or wabble saws, cutting slots half an inch wide, and leaving stationary centers of an eighth of an inch thick to give the bees a foothold, which keeps them from drowning in the sirup. When open troughs are used, some floating material should be placed on the sirup to answer this purpose.

Sleep Changes the Verdict.

The jury in a recent law suit unanimously agreed upon the verdict, sealed it and went home to bed. After sleeping over it, they went home the next morning. This shows the power of sleep to strengthen the human mind. Those who are troubled with insomnia should try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It puts the stomach in good condition and induces sweet, sound sleep. It is the best of remedies for kidney, liver and blood disorders.

Mortgage Sale.

WHEREAS default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated the 21st day of July, A. D. 1898, executed by Robert J. Cromie and Catherine M. Cromie, his wife, of the city of Detroit, Wayne county, Michigan, to William Osius, of the city of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw county, Michigan, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the county of Washtenaw, in liber 91 of mortgages, on page 106, on the 22nd day of July, A. D. 1898, at 10:05 o'clock a. m., and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of One Thousand One Hundred and Eighty-seven Dollars and Thirty-three Cents, ($1,187.33), of principal, interest, taxes and insurance premiums, and the further sum of Thirty-five Dollars ($35.00) as an attorney fee, and the whole amount claimed to be due on said mortgage is the sum of One Thousand Two Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Thirty-three Cents, ($1,222.33), and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction to the highest bidder at the south front door of court house in the city of Ann Arbor (that being the place of holding the circuit court in and for said county) in said county of Washtenaw, state of Michigan, on the Seventh day of July, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situated in the township of Lodi, in the county of Washtenaw, state of Michigan, viz.: The southwest part of the northwest fractional quarter, section nineteen (19) in township three (3) south of range five (5) east, containing thirty nine and sixty one hundredths (39 60/100) acres according to the United States survey thereof.

Said mortgage was given as a part of the purchase price for said premises.

Dated March 22nd, 1900.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Albert F. Vanatta and Maria A. Vanatta, his wife, to Lewis S. Anderson, bearing date the 31st day of January, 1898, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for Washtenaw county, Michigan, on the 31st day of January, 1898, in liber 84 of mortgages, on page 21, at 2 1/4 o'clock p. m., on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice (the mortgagee electing to consider the whole amount of the sum secured by said mortgage due on account of the non-payment of interest), the sum of Sixteen Hundred and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifteen Cents, and no suit at law or proceeding in equity having been instituted to recover the amount due on said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Saturday, the 14th day of July next, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day there will be sold at auction to the highest bidder at the east front door of the court house in the city of Ann Arbor, (that being the place for holding the circuit court for said county,) the premises described in said mortgage or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount of said mortgage and the legal costs of this foreclosure. The premises so to be sold are described as follows:

The east half of the north-east quarter of section sixteen in the township of Salem, being township one south, range seven east, in said county of Washtenaw.

Dated Ann Arbor, April 14, 1900.

Lost a Finger.

Carl Mast was working at a No. 5 press in the Glazier stove works Friday morning, cutting holes in stove legs, when in some manner the machine made a second revolution and came down on his left hand in which he held a piece of iron that he used for drawing the legs out after having the holes punched in them. The middle finger was so badly crushed that Dr. Bush had to amputate it in the afternoon. It was a fortunate thing that the press did not mangle the whole hand.

Mortgage Foreclosure.

DEFAULT having been made in the payment of a certain mortgage made by Clarence B. Dixon and Mary E. Dixon, his wife, to the Huron Valley Building and Savings Association, dated the 11th day of July, 1890, and recorded in the Register's office of Washtenaw county, Michigan, on the 11th day of July 1890, in liber 75 of mortgages, on page 178, at 3:15 o'clock p. m. of that day, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, the sum of eight hundred and thirty and 35/100 ($830.35), dollars, and no suit at law or proceeding in equity having been instituted for the collection of said amount or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Saturday, the 2nd day of June, 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, there will be sold at auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Ann Arbor, (that being the place for holding the circuit court for said county is held,) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, and the costs of this foreclosure including the taxes paid and attorney fee provided for in said mortgage. The premises so to be sold are described as follows:

Beginning on the east line of Lincoln avenue, three hundred and ninety feet from the east corner of Lincoln avenue and Wells street; thence easterly parallel to Wells street, one hundred and thirty-two feet; thence northerly parallel to Lincoln avenue sixty-six feet, thence westerly parallel to the south line one hundred and thirty-two feet, thence southerly along the east line of Lincoln avenue sixty-six feet to the place of beginning, in the city of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw county, Michigan.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by James Baker and Sarah Baker, his wife, to Willard B. Smith, executor of the will of Ranson S. Smith, deceased, dated the 28th day of January, 1898, and recorded in the register's office of Washtenaw county, Michigan, on the 31st day of January, 1898, at 4 o'clock and 45 minutes p. m. in liber 63 of mortgages, on page 11, the said mortgage having been assigned by said Willard B. Smith, executor, to the Ann Arbor Savings Bank, by deed of assignment, recorded in liber 7 of assignments, on page 565, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Three Hundred and Nine Dollars and Eighty-six cents ($309 86) and no suit at law or proceeding in equity having been instituted to recover the amount due on said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Saturday, the 7th day of July next, at 11 o'clock a. m., at the east front door of the court house, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held,) there will be sold to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the said mortgage and the legal costs of this foreclosure. The premises so to be sold are described as follows:

All that part of the west half of the south east quarter of section four in township two south, range six east, which lies south of the center of the Pontiac road (so called) running through the south part of said lot in a south easterly direction, together with all the buildings and fixtures on said premises.
