Olivet College Establishes a Scholarship in Our High School.

Reputation, equipment, and endowment are three things which make a college great.

At the very outset Olivet set up a high standard of scholarship which it has never lowered for the sake of numbers. as a result no college in the state ranks higher or is more widely or more favorably known.

Through the years the college has steadily added to its plant and equipment until the institution has eleven buildings, dne museums, laboratories, a splendid library of 30,000 volumes, four literary societies, and a faculty of 25 drawn from the leading institutions of America.

Its preparatory department is the strongest in the state. Its college courses are largely elective and offer much opportunity for specialization.

There is an art department, a conservaory of music of high order, and a normal department which is altogether unable to fill the calls it has for teachers. A di ploma from the college secures the state eacher's certificate.

Olivet is now increasing in capital stock Last commencement saw $100,000 added o its endowment fund, and a considerable amount in sight for a second hundred thousand.

These three conditions warrant Olivet college in assuming a more liberal policy in reference to students. For one thing this policy takes the form of establishing a free scholarship in a limited number of leading high schools of Michigan. This scholarship is offered to that graduate in our high school whose standing in studies is highest or next to the highest, is good for the coming school year, and is worth $45 90. This will do much in solving the problem of going to college, especially in view of the fact that at Olivet other expenses are so moderate that, with economy, from $100 to $150 will suffice. Superintendent Gifford has been notified of the action of the college, and blanks have been placed in his hands to

The Oleomargarine Fraud. Hoard's Dairyman, of a recent date hits the oleomargarine trade and manufacturers a few sharp raps in the following article. The raps are well deserved as the efforts of the oleomargarine gang to stifle legislation that would benefit the honest dairy farmer have been notorious in their fraudulent unfairness:

piring now-a-days, that are very interest ing to note, is the wonderful toning up of public sentiment against the great fraud oleomargarine that has come in the past year.

"The campaign that the National Dairy Union made, last fall and winter, among the people, in the newspapers, and with the members of Congress at Washington, has proved a great eye opener. Prior to that time there was a very uncomfortable amount of sentiment in favor of oleomargarine among the professional classes in cities and villages. They thought that the plea of the dairymen was solely a selfish one; that what we were after was to 'form a great butter monopoly', as some expressed it. But the National Dairy Union took hold of the matter determined to show to the country that oleomargarine was a fraud, conceived in fraud, colored to deceive, stamped and named to cheat, and that from the manufacturer to the last salesman, every method employed was steeped in deception.

"The big meat packers in Chicago and elsewhere with their millions of money had intrenched themselves everywhere. They were strong with leading politicians in both the great parties, because of liberal contributions to campaign funds. They had the sympathy of many of the leading newspapers of the country for reasons the managers of those papers best understood. "They had shrewdly led the public to believe that their cheating compound was clean, wholesome and nourishing. They had a host of hired chemists to swear that it was a good thing. Everything that money, hired dishonesty and large busi ness talent could do, was done to elevate and establish this prostitute among the WE SELL

M'KINLEY WILL AID. President Willing to Mediate Between China and the Powers.

Must First Be Satisfied That Ministers Are Safe-Will Demand Protection for Foreigners and Suppression of Boxers.

Washington, July 24 .- The president has listened to the appeal of the Chi nese government as transmitted through Minister Wu and has signified his willingness to mediate between the imperial government and the powers, but only upon conditions which first must be met by the Chinese government.

The Conditions.

It is known that Secretary Hay will demand these conditions upon which the president will accept the grave responsibility that would be imposed upon him by the emperor:

1. That the Peking government furnish absolutely incontrovertible proof that the foreign ministers and their suites are not only alive, but that they are at liberty to perform the functions of their several offices without interference.

2. That the imperial government is prepared to maintain law and order and protect foreigners and all Christians from massacre.

3. That the Boxers shall be suppressed and their leaders arrested and punished.

4. That the murderers of Christians, whether the victims were officials of foreign governments or only citizens or sub jects, shall be apprehended and punished without delay.

5. That the several governments, including the United States, which have troops and ships in Chinese jurisdiction shall be accorded wide latitude either in the work of assisting the imperial government to restore order or in protecting their own countrymen from murder and outrage.

6. That disloyal and revolutionary officials who are responsible for the existing uprising shall be dealt with in such a manner as to insure future peace.

There will be other conditions, but they will be of a minor character, and relate to the details of carrying out President McKinley's policy.

Must Be Complete Confidence.

It would not, of course, be possible to take even the initial steps toward mediation were either party to the negotiations to entertain openly distrust of the accuracy of the statements of the other. There must be confidence between them. The United States' answer does not go to the length of the French answer to a similar appeal in faying down conditions which the Chinese government could A dispatch from Chefoo says the Chi- actually is struggling for its own exnot meet, even if so disposed, if it clusion of a sitting of the council. istence. It does, however, look to the immediate relief of the roreign missionaries in Peking, and, moreover, to the protection of all foreigners, missionaries and traders in China, and to the restoration of order. With that much accomplished, the state department feels that it can properly approach the powers with the Chinese propositions for a settlement of what has occurred. The Chinese appeal came to Secretary Hay Sunday through Minister Wu. The secretary promptly telegraphed it to the president at. Canton, and alter taking a full day for its consideration the president's answer came Monday afternoon to the state department. It was put in the proper diplomatic form and a copy delivered to Minister Wu, who is to forward it to his own government. Expect Adverse Criticism. The imperial edict made public Monday at the state department shows that the imperial government shows that one marriage out of five already has taken the first steps toward doing what the United States government requires as the principal Furniture Dealers elected John M. condition for the exercise of its good offices, in enjoining the viceroys, magistrates and leading men to stop the disorders and protect foreigners. Our government will await the result of this before proceeding further. It is expected that adverse criticism upon the action of the state department in this matter will be heard from Europe, where the governments are acting upon the belief that all of the foreign ministers in Peking have perished, but our government nevertheless regards its course as the correct one. All of the European governments have taken the stand above indicated. The last of the answers to Secretary Hay's note reciting the Conger message have come, and all of them in terms polite and diplomatic express utter incredulity in the authenticity of the Conger message. Consul General Goodnow, himself a man of good judgment, also capled a warning to Secretary Hay against the acceptance of the message without confirmation. But the state department has fully considered the message in all of its aspects, has carefully weighed the numerous objections and suspicions put forth here and in Europe, and without guaranteeing the authenticity of the message, feels it to be a matter of prime duty to act upon the theory mat it is genuine.

ing dispatch from Sheng, director general of Chinese railways and telegraphs and taotai of Shanghai, dated Shanghai,

"Information from Peking, dated July 18, says that the tsung-li-yamen deputed Won Jul, an under secretary of the department, to see the foreign ministers and he found every one well, without any and he found every one went, without any missing, the German excepted. Gen. Yung Lu is going to memorialize the throne to send them all under escort to Tientsin in the hope that the military operations will then be stopped."

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail asserts that there are differences of opinion in the Russian council of war. The minister of war, Gen. Kouopatkin, wishes to send 100,000 men to clear the rebels out of Manchuria. On the other hand, according to this correspondent, Emperor Nicholas wishes the operations limited to the defense and pacification of the frontier districts. Let two strong armies, one of the allies in the south and the other of the Russians in the north, confront the Chinese, and the rising-so the czar is said to argue-would be bound to collapse. "We want no conquests," he is reported to have declared at the con-"What we desire is to protect our frontiers and to steer into smooth waters the Chinese ship of state, now buffeted by the waves of civil war." Berlin, July 24 .- The Berlin government and press continue to disbelieve the assurances of the Chinese authorities that the Peking legations are safe. The foreign office surmises that the Conger dispatch was either sent about simultaneously with the dispatches of Dr. Von Bergen, secretary of the German legation, and Sir Robert Hart, but suppressed, or was captured from the messenger to whom it was intrusted, and is now produced to create the desired effect in Washington, or, on the other hand, that the whole dispatch was conceived for purposes of deception, with the aid of a cipher key somehow obtained. United States Ambassador White said that the latter theory was quite plausible; for, if the American legation had been captured and the records there seized, the cipher key would likewise be secured, and that then it would be an easy matter for anybody to do the rest. At all events, the German foreign office will continue to regard the report that the legations still exist as a myth until communication, now cut off for nearly a month, shall have been reestablished in the most indubitable fashion. New York, July 24 .- A dispatch to the Journal and Advertiser from Chefoo, July 20, says the Chinese army is now retreating toward Peking from Tientsin.

FOREIGN.

The state department at Washington received through Minister Wu a cipher dispatch from Minister Conger at Peking, believed to be authentic, which indicated envoys were safe after date of alleged massacre. Date thought to be July 18. Message stated envoys were in British legation under continuous shot and shell from Chinese troops, and quick relief alone could prevent general massacre. The London press regards the Conger message as a Chinese trick. A commissary depot for American troops in China has been es-

Washington; July 24 .- The government's holdings of gold on Monday reached the highest point in its history and amounted to $427,498,482, including the lawful reserve of $150,000,-900. The next highest amount was $427,238,600, which was in the government's vaults on May 2, 1900.

A brilliant dash against a large force of Chinese at Tientsin was made Monday morning by a detachment of American troops, assisted by some English fusileers.

The object was to capture a battery of large caliber cannon which had been doing great damage.

The Anglo-American troops charged a large fort across an open space, and were exposed to a hot but poorly directed fire from the enemy.

They dashed into the fort and, after ingaging the Chinese in a sharp handto-hand fight, put them to flight and remained masters of the fort.

Eight large modern guns were captured, together with carts and all the accessories. The battery was immediately turned upon the fleeing enemy, who under the well-directed fire suffered heavy losses.

The victory was won in an incredibly short time against an overwhelmingly superior force, and, despite the charge under fire and the fight in the fort. neither the Americans nor the British lost a single man.

St. Petersburg, July 24 .- Three hundred thousand soldiers from the various military districts are en route to China. While no information is given out as to the destination of this force, it is believed an early attack on Peking is contemplated.

[Special Washington Letter.] NE of 'the first things to be thoroughly learned by the young men who are seeking to enter upon the profession of journalism is that they must have absolute and complete respect for the confidences reposed in them, and they must never betray the source of their news. Unless this lesson is learned the young, men who enter the profession will never achieve success.

George Rouzer was a clerk in the war department, and he was also a newspaper man. He was working his way slowly, hoping to become successful and prominent, and that he might be able to leave the civil service and devote all of his time to journalism. On one occasion he received valuable information from an army officer, and printed it. Senator Proctor, of Vermont, was secretary of war at that time, and he sent for Mr. Rouzer to ascertain the source of his information. If Mr. Rouzer had given the name of the officer who had given him his news he might have been dismissed from the army. The army officer had no idea that the dissemination of the news would cause such a stir, and he had innocently given the news to help Mr. Rouzer in his ambitious work. been deceived. Their learned men are shrewd diplomats, accomplished courtlers and skillful statesmen. They have given the entire 400,000,000 of their people to understand that it would be simply a question of time when the integrity of their empire would be assailed. Those people have therefore known for years that the Christian nations of the world were gradually bringing about conditions which might seem to warrant the partition of China. These Christian nations, like so many banded pirates, have believed that thina would be an easy mark, and that ultimately their rapacity would be rewarded with rich lootings.

"In the meantime China has been preparing for the inevitable. Her enemies have reckoned without knowledge. University of Michigan, July 23 .-At the July meeting of the board of regents, held last week, the contract for the addition to the mechanical laboratory was let to Henry Carew & Co., of Detroit. The figures were $8,148. The work must be complete $35.35. c by October 1, so that the extra room may be available this fall for the recently established courses in marine engineering and naval architecture.

The New Tunnel.

The regents were not satisfied with the bids received for the tuanel to be built betwen the campus and the new homeopathic hospital, so this matter was left in the hands of Secretary Wade and Prof. Cooley.

The tunnel will be a little over 500 feet long, three feet wide at the bottom and something over five feet high. It is for the purpose of carrying the steam and water pipes and the electric wires to the new building. It will pass under one of the streets of Ann Arbor.

Resignation Accepted.

The regents accepted the resignation of Dr. Oscar Le Seure, of Detroit, as surgeon in the homeopathic hospital. Dr. Le Seure tendered his resignation because of his Detroit business, which has been increasing greatly of late. As yet there has been no man selected to fill the place made vacant by Dr. Le Seure's resignation, although the homeopathic department have several good fellows within reach.

New Appointments.

Two new appointments made are Miss Christine Mann, a graduate of Vassar college, assistant in English, and Dr. H. D. Carrington, instructor in German.

There is an in a the out with any monotone

In the forthcoming annual report of the superintendent of public instruction figures given are for the school year ending September 4 last. The superintendent says:

Reports have been received from 1,280 townships and cities containing 692 graded school districts and 6,469 ungraded school districts. Besides there were 115 town-ship unit districts in the state. The graded school districts show a school population of 416,169, the ungraded districts of 297,521. The total school census showed 713,690, and the total enrollment was 498,655. The estimated number of pupils attending select schools in the state was 45,568. There were 12,999 teachers employed in the public schools, and the aggregate wages of all teachers was $4,316,036.11.

Male teachers in graded schools, were paid an average of $70.17 per month, and in ungraded schools, $28.57, the average wages in all schools being $44.48. Women teachers are paid at the following average rate: In graded schools, $43.20; in ungraded schools, $24.23; in all schools,

It is shown that there are 6,121 frame school houses, 1,510 brick buildings, 71 built of stone and 271- of logs. The estimated value of all the schoel property of the state is $19,746,443. The amount paid for buildings and repairs during the year was $760,097, for interest on loans, $117,338, and for all other purposes, $1,446,-803; the total expenditures of the year, including teachers' salaries, being $6.665.-485. Toward the expenses of the schools of the state the sum of $1,052,871 was apportioned from the ordinary school money of the state, the rate per capita for the year being $1.50.

The school library system is becoming of some consequence. There are 431 townships reporting township libraries containing 158,000 volumes. There are also 3,292 district libraries with 723,813 volumes. Last year nearly $14,000 was expended for libraries.

During the year 67 state teachers' institutes were held .. They were attended by 1,317 men and 5,097 women. The state appropriated $2,974, and there was received from the county treasurers the sum of $11,257 for institutes. It is announced that 685 districts furnished free text books to pupils. The average length of the school year in the state is reported at 8.17 months.

Corset Steel Saved Her.

TITY HINY HISTORY

THE BURGEN BURGENESS THE PARTY AND

David H, Hearns, aged 38, became ealous of his pretty 19-year-old wife and attempted to end her existence in Saginaw. When she came into the house from a trip to Grand Rapids he fired a shot at her, mangling some of her fingers. He then chased her around the house, firing a number of shots, without effect. He finally threw her to the floor, and, pointing the revolver to her breast, fired. The bullet struck a steel in her corset and this saved her life. The would-be murderer then sent a bullet into his own breast and was fatally wounded.

Health in Michigan.

Reports to the state board of health from 82 observers in various portions of the state for the week ended July 14 indicate that cholera infantum and typhoid fever increased in area of prevalence. Special Courses.

The special courses in nature study in the summer session of the literary department began to-day. These courses are given by Charles R. Scott. They number three. The first is entitled "Plant Study," and takes up the topics of germination, tree growth, the characteristics of common trees, the study of a number of the most common large flowered, wild and cultivated plants. The lectures will be illustrated with stereopticon and slides. The second course is "Animal Study," and treats the inhabitants of the animal kingdom in a method similar to that used in the previous course for the vegetable kingdom.

The third course is entitled "Earth Study." It is really a course in physical geography and in geology.

Course of Lectures.

Another feature of the summer school work is the course of lectures to be given. The first lecture was by President Angell on the subject of "The Crisis in China." In this he called attention to the great crime that is supposed to have been committed in Peking and called it "the most audacious crime of the century." He then went into the history of the Chinese nation, the disposition of the people; pointing out wherein they differed from the European and American peoples. In closing he paid a high compliment to the tactfulness with which Secretary of State Hay has been conducting affairs concerning China.

Progress in Education.

The second lecture in the course was by Prof. Burke A. Hinsdale, on the subject of "The Progress in Education During the Past Century." This was a comprehensive consideration of the subject.

Pleasantly Entertained.

Suatchuan Yin, of Amoy, China, most pleasantly entertained a large group of people at the museum Saturday afternoon of last week. He explained many of the interesting exhibits in the Chinese collection. Mr. Yin is a freshman in the medical department of the university. Since the present trouble in China arose he has become a student of more than usual interest. Saturday he pointed out the more important exhibits in the Chinese collection and explained their use and importance to the inhabitants of the flowery kingdom.

Financial.

WIVES OF PRESIDENTS.

Personal Appearance of the Charm ing American Women Who Have Ruled the White House.

Of mistresses of the white house one of the most popular was Mrs. James K. Polk. Like Mrs. Cleveland, she was a brunette, and of fine presence; it was often remarked that not a crowned head in Europe could queen it more royally than the wife of the republican president. Poets penned verses in her honor, and on the last Sunday of her stay in Washington a clergyman addressed her from the pulpit. She was treated with great distinction, and after leaving the white house was visited every New Year's day by the legislature in a body.

Mrs. George Washington also had dark hazel eyes and brown hair. She was not a beauty, but she had a good form, rather below middle weight, and her manners were frank and engaging. She dressed plainly, and at a ball given in her honor she wore a simple russet gown and white handkerchief about her neck. One of her dresses, which she herself manufactured, was of cotton. striped with silk, which she obtained from favelings of brown silk stockings and old crimson chair covers.

Mrs. Monroe was considered a beauty. She was tall and gracefully formed, polished and attractive in society. Mrs. John Adams was never beautiful, but she was of imposing appearance and very intellectual.

Mrs. John Quincy Adams was famed for her charming manners, and Mrs. Andrew Jackson for her amiable temper and kind heart. Mrs. Martin Van Buren, who died before her husband became president, was a pretty woman. with modest, unassuming manners and gentle disposition.

The first Mrs. Tyler was one of the belles of eastern Virginia, and was most attractive in her striking loveliness of person and character. The second Mrs. Tyler was the first woman to marry a president. Before her marriage she was, for the one season she spent there, the belle of Washington.

A sparkling brunette was Mrs. William Henry Harrison. She was very

Mrs. Andrew Jackson possessed the beauty of face and form which rendered her mother one of the most beautiful of women. Mrs. Grant was a blond of delicate figure, rather below middle stature. Mrs. Hayes was of very attractive appearance. Mrs. Garfield was noted for her tact, and her husband once said that he never had to explain awaysany words of his wife. Mrs. Arthur, who died before her husband became president, was known as "the beautiful Miss Herndon with the marvelous voice" béfore her marriage. Mrs. Harrison was fair as a girl and possessed the blond style of beauty, which also belongs to Mrs. McKinley .--

Lucia di Lammermoor Impersonated by Little Adelina Patti in Raven Tresses.

Quite recently, at her dainty little theater at Craig y Nos, Mme. Patti appeared as Lucia di Lammermoor. She dispensed with a wig in this part, for she has bleached her own raven locks a fiery gold. This fact is significant and recalls this same Lucia, these same "raven locks" and a rare performance of "The Bride of Lammermoor" in New Orleans one night in the early '60s. In the autumn of 1869 Adelina Patti, then a slip of a girl barely 16 years of age, with ropes of jet black hair and the throat of a nightingale-the throat which has since made her rich and famous-sang for the first time in public the part of Lucia in that fine old opera, "The Bride of Lammermoor," to a New York audience. As the Scottish hero-

THE TIENTSIN BATTLE.

DEAL AND COONTY FRAME

A Detailed Account of the Recent At tack on the City by the Allied Forces.

New York, July 23 .- The Evening World publishes the following from its Tientsin correspondent under date of Chefoo, July 19, via Shanghai, July 21: The attack on the native city of Tientsin on July 13 resulted in the narrowest escape from what seemed up to midnight would be a terrible disaster for the allies. The Russlans swinging north and the other allies south, at daybreak the Russians were to take the forts near the native city wall and the other allies the city itself. Gen. Fukushina, the Japanese commander, promised that the Japanese engineers after three hours' shell fire from all guns would cross the bridge over the moat before the wall and, blowing up the great south gate, make a breach for the infantry to enter.

Upon this depended everything. Gen. Fukushina had not scouted the bridge, and in 24 hours had not scouted the ground over which the charge on the bridge had to be made.

The Chinese destroyed the bridge and flooded, the land around it. The allies' shell fire in nowise subdued the Chinese rifle fire from the loop-holed wall, which was 30 feet high with a moat 20 feet in depth around it.

An outer wall of mud made it impossible for the infantry and marines coming on the field to reply to the Chinese

They lost 50 men in ten minutes, then rushed back from the mud wall, which they had reached.

Gen. Dorward, the British commander, hastened forward with a fragmentary instead of an integral skirmish line.

The American marines and the Welsh fusileers, together under command of Waller, were on the extreme left. Then the British marines and the French advanced with the Japanese along the road toward the gate in the mud wall.

Dorward's plan for the Americans to support the Japanese was not made clear to Col. Liscum, of the Ninth United States infantry.

Dorward lays the blame for the blunder and sacrifice of life on Liscum, but Dorward's chief of staff was heard to say when Liscum moved:

"Get in down the road anywhere, quickly."

Col. Liscum hurriedly led his men through the gate in as open order as possible. They were immediately under fire.

The staff saw them pass over the bridge leading to a field, which proved to be a cul de sac.

Before the two battalions of Amerthemselves, they were subjected, besides the fire from the loopholes in the fort, to a fierce fire from the embrasures in a line of fortified mud houses on their flank.

Three thousand rifles probably were turned on them with an accuracy which has amazed every officer among the allies.

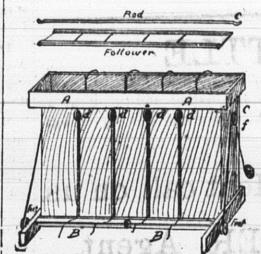

The blue shirts of the American troops made them distinct marks where the khaki uniforms of the other allies could not be seen. Col. Liscum, guiding his men, handsome, with a face full of anima- ine, of course, Adelina was compelled ducking his head while the bullets fell The Americans charged into the flank fire with rushes. The ground over which they charged was marshy and lined with ditches. It was evidently Col. Liscum's intention to rush the houses from which the flank fire was coming, and thus get a position for flanking the wall. At 12:30 the line had just reached the shore of the canal and 30 yards separated them from the houses, when the color bearce fell.

This rod runs across the top of the box above the "follower" The cord (f) extends down to the reels at each end of the shaft (b), and is fastened to it. To operate this device, first bring the ends of the twine from four balls over the top of the back side of the box, carrying the string down inside of the box, then across the floor and out through the space in the front near the shaft (b). Fill the box with hay or other material to be baled, tramping it down as hard as possible while filling. When full, bring the balls of twine over the top and thrust them through the holes at d. Then place the "follower" in the box above the contents and force the rod (c) through the space at the ends of the box, beneath the top of the frame and above the "follower." Put on to the ends of the rods the two pulleys carrying the cords attached to the reel. Now with the long lever used on the windlass, the reels are wound up bringing down the "follower" until the hay in the box is tightly compressed. Tie the twine and the bale is ready to be removed from the press .-- Orange Judd tion, and her health, which was robust added a glow to her features, which increased her charms. "Upon her countenance." it is recorded, "nature had been profusely liberal."

Mrs. Thomas Jefferson was remarkable for her beauty. Her complexion was brilliant; her large, expressive eyes of "the richest tinge of auburn." A little above medium weight, she was slightly and delicately formed. She danced, sang, played the spinnet and harpsichord and rode with great skill.

Mrs. James Madison was a pretty. buxom woman, with a smile and a pleasant word for everyone. She had regu lar features and sparkling eyes.

Mrs. Zachary Taylor was a quiet woman, but had great strength of character and the true spirit of the American heroine, enduring patiently privation incident to life on the frontier, where her husband, as Maj. Taylor, was stationed. She had no ambition beyond making her home happy.

A blond of rare beauty was Mrs. Millard Fillmore, with a skin of dazzling a little of the common compound tinctwhiteness and auburn hair. She was quite tall, with a fine figure and of commanding presence. She is ranked with the wives of the two Adamses as a learned woman, and it was through her that her husband asked for and obtained an appropriation of congress to buy books for the white house. Up to that time there had been a Bible there, and little more.

Another woman of rare beauty was Mrs. Franklin Pierce. She also had anany accomplishments. She was very refined and quiet, shunning society.

Mrs. Abraham Lincoln as a girl was very attractive and she had many suit ors. When she became the mistress of the white house she was "fair and forty." That she was the successor of the popular and accomplished Miss Lane was not a point in her favor. At the first levee she appeared in pink silk, decollete, short-sleeved dress and a floral headdress, which ran down to dry and close them. Dust frequently her waist and destroyed what comeli- carries germs of mold, which grow and mess simplicity might have given her.

o cover up her ebon braids with a wig of flaxen hair. Later on she reached New Orleans. In that city Patti, with her sister Carlotta and her brother Carlo, had spent her early childhood, and she knew and loved nearly all of those who came to greet her as an operatic star at the French opera house. Just before the curtain rose on the opening night Mr. Strakosch, who was to conduct the opera, appeared in the greenroom and was amazed to find the pride of Lammermoor waiting to go on the stage with her own black tresses waving down her back, instead of the pale, corn-colored locks of the Scottish lassie.

"Why. Addie, what does this mean?" excitedly inquired the great impresario.

"That I am going to wear my own hair to-night," answered the budding prima donna.

"But you must not. It is inartistic, inaccurate, absurd."

"Oh, no, it is not absurd," calmly responded Patti. "My old friends in New Orleans only know me as a blackhaired, skinny little Italian, and not as a golden-erowned Scotch girl. Besides, litters. will not disguise myself to-night to please anyone."

The distracted manager argued, protested, threatened and cajoled, but "Addie" stood firmly to her purpose. A tremendous welcome was accorded the youthful diva, but the audience greeted Lucia not as a fair-polled bride. but as their own "black-haired, skinny little Italian."-Chicago Chronicle.

The Toothache in Summer. Warm weather is trying enough in itself without the extra annoyance of toothache, and it is well to have a reliable remedy at hand. Even the most troublesome tooth may have the pain almost instantly stopped by the use of ure of benzoin, sold everywhere in the drug stores. Put a few drops on cotton and place it in or around the tooth.

Adjuncts to Fruit Course.

Fruit napkins and finger bowls are the proper adjuncts to the fruit course. Every housekeeper realizes the extra work entailed in removing fruit stains from her white table linen, and it is the wise woman who minimizes this necessity.

How to Make French Toast.

To make French toast plunge slice of bread into milk and then into an egg, the white and yolk of which have been beaten together thoroughly and seasoned with salt. Fry a golden brown in butter.

Care of the Bread Box.

Do not "air" your bread boxes after they have been scrubbed and scalded; contaminate the bread.

Col. Liscum picked up the colors and stood looking around apparently for a ford "Better get down or they'll hit you," shouted Maj. Regan. "I guess not," was Liscum's reply.

The next instant a sharpshooter's bulet went through the colonel's abdomen. "I've got it," he said as he fell.

"Get at them if you can," the dying officer said, and added as his last words: 'Don't retreat, boys; keep firing."

Regan was hit immediately afterward. All day long the allies' line lay under any cover they could find, running out of ammunition.

The July sun was beating down on them, and they had nothing to drink but the salty marsh water.

Meanwhile, the wounded came straggling and crawling through the gate in the mud wall.

There was no order. They were sent anywhere without men to carry the The doctors were hit by the sharpshooters while trying to attend the wounded of the Ninth.

They could not attempt to carry off the wounded from the bloody field. Maj. Regan, Capt. Bookmiller and Capt.

Noyes were all hit twice. Noyes, who was adjutant, was hit in the arm before going into the field, and then hit in the leg. He crawled back through the ditch, with the water to his neck, to report the situation to Col. Dorward.

At one o'clock Gen. Fukushina reported in writing to Dorward that the Japanese. were in the city. I could see the loopholes blazing with bullets and lyddite shells. No infantry could charge in the face of this fire from two o'clock until five.

Though acting conjointly, neither Dorward nor Fukushina knew each other's whereabouts.

Under cover of the darkness the men of the Ninth crept back from their dangerous position, bearing their wounded. They executed this movement with a loss of one man killed. The casualties were 91 men and five officers out of 426.

The marines lost 30, including Capt. Davis, who was shot through the heart, while talking to Col. Meade, on the night of July 13.

It was decided to withdraw, when news came that the Chinese were evacuating. The Russians were not so successful as hoped during the day, and the total loss of the allies was 700

The Japanese losses were severe. The Japanese were most gallant in the fight. But for the Americans stopping the flank fire, the Japanese loss would have been much heavier.

There is a terrible row over the burning of the town. Several foreign officers are reported lost.

The tired soldiers remained on the walls. The natives went looting through the Chinese town. The bank and the arsenal were heavy sufferers. An advance movement on Peking is not contemplated soon. 'The American wounded crowd the hospitals, but all are doing well.

The flags of the allied armies are all half-masted. Col. Liscum was buried at Tongku.

AMONG THE POULTRY.

Farmer.

Nursing crippled, deformed and stunted chicks is a waste of time and energy.

As to hatching chicks, this is the best time not to do it. Break the news gently to the broody hens.

Thin out the beets and other garden truck and give them to the hens that are shut in yards. They like the lawn clippings, too.

Whole grain should be fed on a clean platform where it must be picked up one kernel at a time. This will insure thorough mastication.

From July 1 to September, or through the hot weather, the hens are better off if shut entirely out of the hen houses. Fix up roosts outside in larvae are the wireworm, the plantsheds, or under a temporary roof on eating grubs and the various cut poles .-- Farm Journal.

Not everybody realizes how much water the hen will drink if she can get it. Most people have an idea that she can get all she needs in her own way; but just try putting a panful of fresh water every day where the flock can get at it, and note results.

Spread the Manure Evenly.

Manure should not be dumped in the fields, but spread on the ground at the time of loading at the barnyard. If manure is dumped, and a rain comes before it is spread, the spot upon which was placed the manure will receive the larger share of the soluble portions. This may be noticed on all fields where manure has been dumped, as certain portions were enriched and the growth of the crop, especially of grass, is very uneven. These enriched portions show the effects of the extra allowance of manure for years, and give good evidence in favor of its liberal use:

COOP UNDER TREE.

Its pie-shaped form fits it to be revolved about a tree trunk, giving a succession of new strips of ground for the chickens to scratch in, and an equal fertilizing of the soil all about the tree. The coop and yard are made together, the hinged cover giving access to the interior. The hen can be given her liberty in the pen, or be confined to the coop proper by nailing slats to its front .- American Agriculturist.

MISTAKE MANY MAKE.

Why Beekeepers Should Not Continue Their Destructive Warfare Against the King-Bird.

Many beekeepers feel it their duty to destroy any king-bird seen about the apiary, as much as poultry keepers would a hawk or a fox around the cricken yard. But if the report of our agricultural department is correct, this is a mistake." They examined the stomachs of 281 king-birds shot in different . parts of the country, and found bees in but 14 of them. In these there were 50 bees, of which 40 were drones, four were workers and six could not be identified, being too badly broken.

There was then only a possible ten worker bees to 281 birds. On the contrary, there were ten robber flies which often do much damage among bees. There were beetles such as those whose worms, the cut worms themselves, caterpillars, grasshoppers, grain weevils, leaf hoppers and other insects injurious to fruit and grain, with some wild berries and grapes .-- Rural World.

Drinking Fountain for Bees. A drinking fountain for bees, which consume large quantities of water when rearing brood, may be made of a piece of smooth board or plank, and a common glass fruit or candy jar. Mark a circle on the board as large as the top of the jar and cut a number of grooves, one-quarter inch deep, from the centre of the circle out two inches beyond the edge of the circle, but not to the edge of the board. Fill the jar with water, place the board over the jar so that the top is upon the marked circle, and holding the board down closey on the top of the jar, quickly turn the jar upside down. Put it in a shaded place. The grooves remain full as long as there is any water in the jar.-Midland Farmer.

Women May Learn Their Husbands Secrets by Assuming Indifference.

An experienced woman who has manared to live with her husband for many years and who seems to know everything he does and contemplates doing tells the secret of her success to a friend, and that friend, womanlike, has told it to the public, says the Chicago Chronicle. "It is the part of dignity to aretend you do not want to know, or, at least, that you are not anxious or inquisitive, when he makes a mystery of anything," says this woman. "When I was first married I was an old-fashfoned girl, completely wrapped up in my husband and his interests, and thought I was entitled to know where and what and why he did anything and everything. That, of course, was many rears ago. The way I was cured of what I called interest and solicitude and what he called curiosity-perhaps to himself he even called it interference was simple, but effectual enough to last through all these years.

"One evening he was writing letters and I was sewing. Some of the letters were of a business nature and others were to friends. As he finished each one he read it aloud. I thought this an willic performance, such communion f interests, such interchange of thoughts and ideas. I think I fancied was assisting him, too. The last note e wrote was short, but he blotted it furtively and folded it carefully. He did not read it to me I looked surrised, and then asked him what it was. Oh nothing, nothing of any imporance,' he answered, and thereupon popped the note into a drawer of his lesk, and in some confusion turned to is letters again. I was annoyed. I imply had to see that paper, but I was qually determined that he should now nothing of it. He had said that it as of no importance, so I felt that he could only have himself to blame if I ook a look at it. And look at it I did. s soon as I had an opportunity. And his is what I had the pleasure of read-g: 'I wager a new spring hat from Ime. Toque's that your curiosity will ot permit you to let this alone.' Did claim the hat? Well, hardly, my dear. fear I would now, in a similar predicaent, but then I was proud as well as lly. I shut that drawer tight and ever by word or look betrayed to him hathe had won his wager. And I asked more questions."

STORY OF MANDY HIGGINS' BABY.

"Have you heard how Mandy Higgins' baby is?"

"Oh, she is better, and just as clean and sweet as any baby ever was."

"Well, I'm mighty glad to hear it. It's about time the poor little critter had some rest. I tell you what it is, if Mandy had washed its head with CUTICURA SOAP first-off, and put on some CUTI-CURA Ointment when her baby's head began to get crusted, she'd have saved herself heaps of trouble, and the poor little kid would have been a different being. Think of the days and nights Mandy's walked the floor with that baby. I ain't got no kind of patience with people that has to be told about a thing a hundred times before they begin to believe in the virtue of it.

"Now, I told Mandy more'n three weeks ago about CUTICURA SOAP, and she knew just as well as you do, Liz, that we'd used it here going on five years or more, and that none of our family ever had a pimple, or any kind of irritation of the skin since we first begun using it. She was that contrary that I could n't get her to try it on her baby, even though I offered to give her a cake of the soap and some of the ointment from our box.

"But now she comes here about every day to thank me. Fact is, the youngster's head is as clean as a whistle, and her skin is just as pretty as you ever see on any baby."

MOTHERS: Mothers, to know that a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single anointing with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients, will afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep to both parent and child, and point to a speedy cure, in the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, crusted and scaly humors, rashes, and irritations, with loss of hair, and not to use them is to fail in your duty.
