NORTH LAKE PICNIC.

A Hot Day but a Large Crowd Present to Enjoy It.

The farmers' picnic at North Lake Tuesday under the auspices of the North Lake grange was largely attended, people from all the surrounding towns and villages being present. It was a regular basket picnic and with the exception of the table set for the speakers and the lunches that could be obtained at the only stand on the ground, it was a case of "short commons" for those who had not provided themselves with eatables, but there was no need for anyone to go hungry. It was a quiet, orderly crowd that had assembled and there were no evidences whatever of intoxication or anything approaching it.

The speaking began about 2 o'clock when the program opened with music by the Chelsea Band which also played at intervals all the afternoon. R. S. Whalian, master of the North Lake grange, introduced George B. Horton, the worthy master of the state grange, as the first speaker and also the chairman of the day. Mr. Horton devoted most of his speech to the grange and the benefits of organization among the farmers to secure needed legislation, etc. He also paid his respects to the question of taxation.

The next speaker was Thomas E. Barkworth, of Jackson, who drove some hard blows at the lobbies and trusts, and spoke briefly on equal taxation, which he said would only come eventually when the people were educated on the subject and then through the medium of the ballot.

Louis Burg next sang a humorous German dialect song about a German picnic which had the misfortune to get "busted up by a lot of Irishers."

Miss Jennie Buell, of Ann Arbor, secretary of the state grange, made a very neat speech in which she complimented the North Lake grange on its success in getting up such a picnic with its small membership—19—but which showed what organization would do, and if 19 could do so much how much more could a larger number do. She urged her hearers to join the grange.

Congressman Henry C. Smith was the next speaker, and for more than an hour he entertained his audience with an address which covered many of the leading questions of the day and was interspersed with humorous pleasantries that kept the people constantly on the lookout for what was coming next.

Judge of Probate H. Wirt Newkirk, was the last speaker and made only a few brief remarks as the hour was growing late and told the people he hoped to see them all again this fall before the election day Nov. 6.

A few remarks by Mr. Horton closed the program. During the afternoon a baseball match was played between a nine from Chelsea and one composed of players from Unadilla, Stockbridge and other places. The latter aggregation cleaned up on the Chelsea boys by a score of 25 to 9.

A dance in the early evening hours closed this very successful picnic.

Maccabee Day at Jackson.

Jackson will have a Maccabee celebration Wednesday, Sept. 12. Maccabees and ladies from every tent and hive within a radius of 50 miles of Jackson will be invited to be present. The committee on transportation will endeavor to get the railroads to run special trains to Jackson arriving about 10 a. m. and leaving on the return at 10 p. m.

There will be a grand parade of all Maccabees in the city and industrial floats at 11 a. m. During the afternoon there be a full program of sports on Main street.

Prizes will be offered for the best drilled uniform rank division, for the largest tent in line and for the most grotesque tent. First, second and third prizes will be given for the best bushel of wheat presented to the tent. Jackson members will not be allowed to compete for any of the prizes.

In the evening a fire works parade will take place, in which all the local members in line will be provided with fireworks, to be followed by a grand ball at Co. D armory under the auspices of the Uniformed Bank. The ladies will be provided with carriages. The parades will be led by Boor band and the 18 police men who are members of the order.

A DEARTH OF TEACHERS.

Washtenaw County Pedagogues Rank High in the Opinion of Educators.

At the rally of the school teachers, officers and patrons of schools held in Ann Arbor, Friday, the question of the supply of teachers was taken up for discussion. It was stated that commissioner Stillson, of Newaygo county, upon inquiry among 10 counties of the state, found that at that time there were less than 50 unemployed qualified teachers. This condition of a dearth of teachers prevails in Washtenaw county as well as in the rest. While the percentage of correct answers of teachers at examinations in this county today is no higher than it was 10 years ago, yet the percentage of successful applicants is continually growing smaller and the number of applicants is growing less, so that today it is a serious question with many commissioners to get a sufficient number of applicants through to supply the schools.

Some contended that the high school graduate was not prepared to teach. This position was taken by Commissioner Lister and strongly supplemented by Supt. Clauson, of Ann Arbor. The latter held it was not the province of the high school to prepare teachers and pleaded for professional training schools for rural school teachers.

Supt. J. W. McKone, of Albion, paid a high tribute to the teachers of Washtenaw county and said they were twentieth century teachers and taught twentieth century schools.

Three Fraternal Insurance Societies

The A. O. U. W., which is the oldest fraternal benefit society in the United States, is growing younger in its membership. The average age of the Workmen was lower last year than in 1898. The death rate was .04 per cent more per 1,000 members.

Last month the Modern Woodman society collected $402,934.05 into its benefit fund, and $11,476.50 into its general fund. The total number of members paying benefit assessments was 483,503, though the society has over 530,000 members in good standing. There are 29,000 social members, who do not pay benefit assessments.

On the 1st of July the Knights of the Maccabees had a total of 451,039 members in the United States and Canada. This membership is divided among the four branches of the society as follows: Michigan Great Camp, K. O. T. M., 93,016; Michigan Great Hive, L. O. T. M., 55,437; Supreme Hive, L. O. T. M., 30,110; Supreme Tent, K. O. T. M., 233,086.

The next regular meeting of the L. C. B. A. will be held Tuesday evening of next week, Aug. 14, as Wednesday is a holy day.

Itching Burning Scaly
Blotchy Humors
Instantly Relieved and Speedily Cured by

Cuticura

The itching and burning I suffered in my feet and limbs for three years were terrible. At night they were worse and would keep me awake a greater part of the night. I consulted doctor after doctor, as I was traveling on the road most of my time, also one of our city doctors. None of the doctors knew what the trouble was. I got a lot of the different samples of the medicines I had been using. I found them of so many different kinds that I concluded I would have to go to a Cincinnati hospital before I would get relief. I had frequently been urged to try CUTICURA REMEDIES, but I had no faith in them. My wife finally prevailed upon me to try them. Presto! What a change! I am now cured, and it is a permanent cure. I feel like kicking some doctor or myself for suffering three years when I could have used CUTICURA remedies. H. JENKINS, Middleboro, Ky.

IS EASY TO SHAVE.

Barbers Like to Operate on the President's Face.

Bryan, on the Other Hand, Has a Beard Like Stubble-Tossorial Artists Discuss the Merits of Shaving.

[Special Washington Letter.]

GUESS I have shaved Maj. McKinley from 500 to 1,000 times," said Henry Wilson, a well known colored man who has been a barber in this city for a quarter of a century.

"For almost 12 years, while he was a member of the house of representatives, Maj. McKinley lived in the hotel where I was head barber; and he always came to my chair, except when there happened to be several ahead of him, and he could not spare the time to wait. The major shaved himself a good part of the time, and I kept his razors in order for him. He shaves himself altogether, now that he is in the white house.

"You know I am something of a talking barber; that is, I know so many public men and they always talk to me, so that I have got into a habit of talking a great deal to them. I soon found that Maj. McKinley did not like to be talked to while he was being shaved. He was always kind and courteous and willing to spend a little time in conversation before being shaved, or afterwards, when he had time, but usually he was busy thinking, and he did not care to listen to a barber's talk.

"The major is easy to shave, although one has to be very careful. His skin is strong, but it is fine and delicate. Any careless barber would blister him or injure the skin in some way. His beard is strong and he likes a close shave, and that requires going over the face two or three times."

Alec Thomas is a colored man who has had charge of the barber shop in the cloak room on the republican side of the house of representatives for 35 years. He says: "Maj. McKinley often came to me to be shaved when congress was in session, although he usually was shaved at the hotel. Very often when his committee held, early sessions, and he could not wait for his turn at the hotel, he would come to the capitol and have me shave him before his committee met; or, if other congressmen were ahead of him, he would come to me after the committee adjourned, and I would shave him while the house was in session. What Henry Wilson has told you is correct. He likes a close shave and he does not like to listen to the chatter of a barber."

John Williams is a colored man who has had charge of the barber shop in the cloak room on the democratic side

"We barbers in the cloak rooms have shaved very many men of national reputation," said Alec Thomas. "I shaved Speaker Henderson scores of times. He has a large face and a stiff beard, and it requires great care to shave him right without hurting him. His skin is as tough as his beard, and yet it is very thin and easily injured. I always shaved him with the grain twice with lather, and then I used warm water to go against the grain. He is very generous with his tips and that goes a long way with a barber when he has a hard beard to contend with.

"I shaved Speaker Carlisle and Speaker Crisp, but usually they went to the democratic side. John Williams can tell you all about those gentlemen, and also about Mr. Bailey, of Texas; Mr. Mills, of Texas; Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, and other democratic leaders. John also shaved Speaker Randall for many years. The republican speakers, Cofax, Blaine and Keifer, wore beards, and Speaker Henderson

John Williams says: "Speakers usually have their servants and barbers at their homes, and hence I did not shave Speaker Carlisle very often, because he was speaker for so many years. But Mr. Crisp was a representative for a long time before he was elected speaker, and I shaved him very often. He was an easy man to shave, and always very amiable to the barbers and to everybody else. In fact, he was a lovely character and was absolutely without enemies; and that is something that cannot be said of any other public man. He was always kind and gentle in manner and speech. We barbers can tell more about the real character of men than can be told by the men who associate with them on terms of equality."

"It is strange how men change," said Alec Thomas. "Some of the great men in the house of representatives sink out of sight when they are elected to the senate. For example there was James F. Wilson, of Iowa, who was a forceful leader while he was here. He was chairman of the judiciary committee and prosecuted the impeachment charges against President Johnson. But after he was elected to the senate, where he remained 12 years, he did nothing notable, and seemed to be contented in the life of dignity and apparent inactivity which he led."

"There are some exceptions to this rule. Senator Morrill, of Vermont; Senator Frye, of Maine, and Senator Carlisle, of Kentucky, stepped right to the front when they went to the senate, and they kept to the front, too. Senator Burrows, of Michigan, is another man who kept well to the front from the time he left the house and entered the senate; but these are exceptions. If you look over the list of senators who formerly served in the house, without mentioning their names in print, you will notice that fully 40 or 50 men who were prominent here are obscure in the senate. I don't know what there is about the senate that changes them, but I know the fact very well."

Henry Wilson tells a good story about a nephew of Senator Voorhees. Henry was special barber for Senator Voorhees for many years, and always went to his residence on Sunday mornings. The senator's nephew was in the habit of going on occasional sprees, usually on Saturday nights. He is a good business man and writes a good hand, but on one occasion he was in a dreadfully nervous condition on Sunday morning, and he wrote a note to Senator Voorhees, saying: "Dear Senator: Please send me your barber." The handwriting was so rocky that the senator misunderstood the request and sent back a note saying: "Dear Paul: I haven't a Bible in the house."

"There is one thing observable here," says Alec Thomas, "that I do not understand. Quite a number of republicans have themselves shaved on the democratic side of the house, but not a democrat ever has a shave on the republican side. Ben Butterworth always went to the democratic cloak room for a shave. Joel Heatwole, of Minnesota, goes on the democratic side now; and there are others. I sometimes think that the democrats are more partisan than the republicans, for there can be no other cause for their exclusiveness. The barbers on both sides are negroes, and they are without politics and without votes. It is very singular, and I don't know how to account for it." SMITH D. FAY.

TRAIN HELD UP.

Passengers Robbed Near Hugo, Col.—One Is Killed by the Robbers.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 6.—A Journal special from Salina, Kan., says: Union Pacific east-bound passenger train No. 4, which left Denver Saturday night, was held up by two men several miles west of Hugo, Col., 90 miles this side of Denver. The passengers in the Pullman sleepers were robbed of their money and valuables, obtaining about $100 in cash, gold watches and jewelry. An old man, named Fay, a resident of California, who had been visiting in Denver and was on his way to St. Louis, refused to surrender his valuables and fired a shot at one of the robbers, but missed. Thereupon the robbers fired, one shot entering Fay's mouth and coming out at the back of his head, killing him almost instantly. The robbers stopped the train, jumped off and escaped.

Charles V. Fyke, a Kansas City lawyer, was among those robbed. Mr. Fyke gives a graphic description of the murder of Mr. Fay. He said:

"Near Limon two men were discovered on the platform of the rear Pullman. The Pullman conductor, D. E. Smith, mistook them for tramps, and ordered them to enter the car. 'Go to the smoking car,' he said, 'and at the next stop leave the train.' They entered the car and at once drew revolvers, both flashing weapons in the conductor's face. One handed him a flour sack. 'Hold it with both hands,' said he, 'and wake up the passengers.' Then they began a systematic search of the car. It was in semidarkness, and all the passengers had retired several hours before. One robber guarded the conductor, while the other extorted money and valuables from the dazed passengers at the point of the revolver. All of the passengers in the rear Pullman were soon plundered, and then the bandits entered the forward Pullman, where I was. An aged man, A. J. Fay, discovered what was taking place before anyone else in the car. He partially emerged from his berth and presented a revolver through the folds of the curtain. The bandits saw the revolver, and one of them opened fire at the same time Fay fired, and it is believed the bullet struck one of the men, but of that no one is sure. Fay fell like a log, and was dead before his body touched the berth. The bullet had entered his mouth and had passed through his head. His blood and brains were scattered over the bed coverings."

STRANGE TRAGEDY.

Man and Wife Fight a Duel in Philadelphia—Both Are Killed.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—A duel between a young man and his wife Saturday night ended forever a tale of conjugal misery. Shots were heard on the premises of Arthur Sinclair at Duffryn Mawr. Then there was a scream, and listening passers-by heard no more. Several men who were neighbors went into the garden of the Sinclair premises. In the pathway lay the body of Sinclair, across that of his wife. Both were dead. In the hand of each was a pistol.

It had evidently been a duel between man and wife. So far as any of the neighbors knew, Sinclair and his wife had been on the best of terms. Mrs. Sinclair used to wait for her husband at the gate every evening and welcome him affectionately. Friday, however, there was a quarrel, but no one knows how it came about. The housekeeper at the Sinclair home says she saw Mrs. Sinclair handling a revolver. When asked what she was going to do with it she said she was going to use it; that she was not going to put up with any more foolishness. Further than this the affair is a complete mystery.

The police authorities made every effort to unravel the mystery. There are three theories as to how the tragedy occurred. One, that they agreed on mutual suicide; second, that both fired at the other in a duel; and third, that the wife killed the husband with her pistol, threw it near his body and then took her own life with his revolver.

ANARCHISTS LOCKED UP.

Lucy Parsons and Companions Not Allowed to Speak in Chicago—Five Are Arrested.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Anarchists were excluded from the West Twelfth Street Turner hall Sunday afternoon, where they intended to hold a meeting to rejoice over the assassination of King Humbert. The hall was kept closed by direction of the police, and scores of plain clothes men and uniformed officers patrolled the vicinity. Members of the organization who found the doors shut to them were not permitted to remain in the locality. Mrs. Lucy Parsons refused to move out of the shade of an abandoned church across the way and was carried from the sidewalk to a patrol wagon. She protested against her arrest and reviled the officers who had her in charge. Two of her friends were arrested for persisting in remaining near her. The formidable array of policemen caused most of the men and women who had gathered to hurry away, and the few who were not rapid of movement were hastened along by the gruff shouts and heavy hand of the officers. Five arrests were made, and the prisoners sent to the Maxwell street police station. Any riot or incendiary speech was nipped in the bud by the decisive action of the police.

MRS. JOSEPHINE RUFFIN.

She Is the Colored Women of America What Fred Douglass Was to the Race at Large.

Josephine St. Pierre Ruffin, whose application for membership was rejected by the board of the General Federation of Women at its recent convention in Milwaukee, is one of the most notable colored women in the country. For many years she has been a conspicuous figure in the life and public movements of the people in the city of Boston. She is a native of the American South, and is close to 55 years old. The St. Pierres have been well-to-do colored people in Massachusetts for nearly 200 years, the original stock coming from Martinique, in the French West Indies. Mrs. Ruffin was reared in a home of refinement, culture and comparative luxury. Her education was received in the best schools of Boston; her social intercourse has been with the gentlest and most thoroughly genuine of both races who make the "Hub" of American culture their abiding place. Beacon Hill regards her as one of the city's remarkable women, and there is scarcely a public movement started among women that Josephine Ruffin is not consulted and made a chief spirit in the project. She is the mother of the club movement among the colored women of the country, the National Association of Colored Women being the direct outcome of her zeal and individual effort. She is aggressive, resourceful, farsighted and possessed of a gift of tact. It is said that she went to the Milwaukee convention with a distinct notion of placing the colored women in a new light before the people of the country. It is a fact that the more prominent colored women in the various sections of the land did not think the game worth the candle, and attempted to dissuade her from the course she had decided to pursue. They argued that the General Federation of Women offered no special inducements to colored women to join with them, and apparently did not want their company. They also set up the statement that their own federation was doing as comprehensive and far-reaching work among the colored women as the white women were doing among their kind. Mrs. Ruffin retorted that it was not social intercourse she was seeking, but the vindication of the broad and high principles upon which the general federation based its right to existence.

"Womanhood is the gentler aspect of life," she contended, "and should not be prostituted to the baser motives of society. What is to become of the race if woman disregards the sacredness of motherhood and sisterhood? The general federation must rest its head upon the breast of the Mother of Tears or else go out into the shadows of the night and die."

During her brief stay in Chicago Mrs. Ruffin was graciously received and entertained by the women of both races. She is determined to carry her fight to the next biennial of the general federation, and is said to have received substantial assurances that she will be supported in her contention by the most influential women in the north and west.—Chicago Tribune.

Indiana in Great Britain.

British statisticians are reckoning up what Great Britain owes to the scourge of influenza. There have been two serious epidemics of influenza there in the past ten years, one in the winter of 1891-92, when the amount of property paying death duties advanced $150,000,000 above the average, and again in the past winter, when the increase was about $140,000,000 over the previous year. The fact that influenza was almost the sole cause of the increase is shown in elaborate statistical tables.

LECTURES FOR MINERS.

San Francisco Young Woman Will Try to Refine the Argonauts at Nome City.

Miss Janne M. Long, a resident of San Francisco and a graduate of the Northwestern university at Evanston, Chicago's northern suburb, proposes to spend her summer vacation at Cape Nome and to give a series of entertainments there of higher order than is usually known in mining camps. Miss Long went to the Pacific coast a little over a year ago, where she engaged actively in educational work. Now she has been invited to the Nome camp by Capt. and Mrs. Howland, of Oakland, who have been successful in Alaskan mining, and she will make her home with them while in the north. She is under contract with a prominent Boston magazine to write her impressions about Nome.

"The Cape Nome camp," said Miss Long, recently, "has attracted thousands of educated and refined persons, and these will undoubtedly appreciate the opportunity for entertainment that is above the plane of the dance hall and gambling den. I shall offer methods by which the cultured may obtain relaxation from the actual mining work without frequenting the places that they would not think of visiting at home.

"My attention was recently called by eastern connections to the fact that in all Bret Harte's literature about the mining camps there is no allusion to any form of entertainment above the dance hall level. I intend to ascertain whether the lower forms of amusement can retain educated patrons, even in the frontier and mining settlements, when something is offered that is thoroughly entertaining and amusing."

Miss Long will not return to San Francisco until August or September.

SOME COLD DESSERTS.

They Require Little or No Cooking and Are, at the Same Time, Good and Wholesome.

Pineapple fool is made by grating the fruit quite fine and adding sugar enough to sweeten. Drop a candied cherry or a small spoonful of jelly into the bottom of a punch glass and cover with the pineapple, when ready to serve, add a spoonful of whipped cream to each glass and put a candied cherry on top. Jelly may be substituted for the cherries, and the glasses after being filled should be placed on ice for 20 minutes.

For cherry snowballs, select large red and white cherries, firm and ripe. After stoning them, roll each one in a soft icing made of confectioners' sugar and colored pink, for the white cherries, then roll them in freshly-grated cocoanut. Place on ice for a short time before wanted.

Strawberry charlotte requires slices of sponge cake, with which a mold is lined, cover the bottom of the mold with crushed, sweetened strawberries, then fill with stiff whipped cream, which may be colored with strawberry juice. Put in the ice box until wanted, when it should be turned out on a glass dish.

A dish that is pleasant to the eye as well as to the palate is made with a pineapple, four oranges, four bananas and cherries. Place in the center of a dish a pineapple, pared, cored and sliced, yet retaining as near as possible its original shape. Peel, quarter and take out seeds of the oranges; arrange in a border around the pineapple. Put the bananas into lengthwise slices and arrange zigzag fence fashion around the border of the dish. In the spaces put stones and sugared cherries. Whipped cream is poured over this, or clear sugar sirup flavored with a little brandy.

Strawberry velvet takes a little more time for preparation, as gelatine is required—a half ounce once dissolved in a gill of water; add to it a half-pint of sherry, grated lemon peel, the juice of one lemon and a quarter of a pound of sugar. Stir over the fire until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved; strain and cool; before it sets beat into it a pint of cream. Half fill small molds with strawberries and pour the cream on top. Put on ice until needed.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A political party that puts forth a platform and then tries to explain that it doesn't mean what it says naturally invites the suspicions of the voters.

Mr. Brockway has been prominent in the history of penal institutions for 50 years and was at one time superintendent of the Detroit house of correction. Of late years he has been the butt for a great many attacks and a great deal of criticism on account of his alleged cruelty in handling prisoners and maintaining discipline.

President McKinley as an Editor.

One of the department heads at Washington recently wrote an article for The Ladies' Home Journal which required the President's approval for publication. The President asked that the article be given to him. At the end of a week the manuscript came back edited in a way which completely won editorial admiration. The President was apparently thoroughly conversant with all the marks which editors use in making corrections. Every erasure and interlineation had its proper sign, and each was in the President's own handwriting.

Jackson Driving Club Races.

At race meetings throughout the country, especially in the horse breeding districts, a notable feature is the exhibition of the stallions of the locality. The Jackson Driving Club desires to add this feature to its program for Friday, Aug. 24, which will be known as Breeders' Day, and respectfully ask the co-operation of all owners of stallions. All such owners are requested to show their horses to lead bridle in front of the grand stand on that day, the starting judge to announce name of horse, owner, pedigree, record, produce, etc. Horses and attendants will of course be admitted free and stalls provided. The Driving Club desires to arouse interest in the horse business and believes this plan to be a good one for all concerned. Let all stallion owners assist in making Breeders' Day the success it should be by showing their horses. All communications may be addressed to W. W. The supplement of 10,000 so-called "new words," which some of these books are advertised to contain, was compiled by a gentleman who died over forty years ago, and was published before his death. Other minor additions are probably of more or less value.

ONLY WOOD AND PLASTER

University of Michigan Does Not Consist of the Campus and Seventeen Buildings.

PUPILS AND TEACHERS REAL FACTOR.

The Beautiful Grounds and Structures, However, Come First to the Majority of Visitors—Improvements Under Way and Several More Are Being Planned.

[Special Correspondence.]

University of Michigan, Aug. 6.—On more than one occasion President Angell has said that the university does not consist of the campus and the 17 buildings scattered about it, but of the men and women that meet in these buildings. The buildings are but wood and plaster. The real university is the 4,000 students and instructors that gather together because of the buildings.

To Be More Attractive.

While this is strictly true, the campus, with its buildings, trees, walks, class membership and flower gardens, is the phase of the university which the majority of the people that visit Ann Arbor see. Because this is so, as well as for aesthetic reasons, a comprehensive plan for making the campus more attractive is being worked out. The new buildings which are slowly taking the place of the old ones are designed and arranged with an idea of the general effect when the campus is viewed as a whole. The same principle is followed in the laying out of walks and the planting of trees. Slowly the campus is being converted from an open space containing a dozen and more buildings into a beautiful park where walks, grass plots, gardens and even buildings are so grouped as to produce a pleasing effect.

The Botanical Garden.

One improvement which has been particularly successful in adding to the attractiveness of the university grounds is the establishment of the botanical garden. This garden had its conception in the mind of Dr. J. O. Schlotterbeck, assistant professor of pharmacognosy and botany, who, in 1896, while visiting the pharmaceutical exposition held in Prague, Austria, became interested in the garden of medicinal plants. On his return to Ann Arbor he began in a small way, at first, the garden on the campus. His plan was to bring in from the woods and acquire by purchase as many of the medicinal and economic plants as would flourish in this latitude and under the conditions which could be provided on the campus. The result was surprising to many people. Few knew what a large number of plants were native to this locality. In the words of Dr. Schlotterbeck:

"The state of Michigan contains more native plants than any other state in the union, and more even than any other country in the world, except Japan. Michigan has more than 2,000 varieties of native plants and more than 200 varieties of trees and shrubs."

Over Sixty Beds.

While there are small gardens scattered all over the campus, the largest and most important one occupies the irregularly triangular piece of ground between the general library, the physical laboratory and the chemical laboratory. This garden contains over 60 beds. These are irregular in shape and separated from each other by sod. A broad green sward ten or more feet wide separates the monocotyledons from the dicotyledons. In each of these two divisions the plants are arranged in families in such a manner as to show, as near as possible, relationships. This arrangement has proved valuable to the students in botany.

Variety of Families.

The garden now contains representatives of fully 60 different families. Many of the plants were secured through the state agricultural college and the department of agriculture at Washington. Among the recently added plants are many belonging to a tropical climate. These are carried through the winter in a greenhouse.

Of Great Value.

This garden and the smaller gardens scattered about the campus, besides adding to the attractiveness of the grounds, are of great value to the students of pharmacy and botany. The student comes in actual contact with the medicinal plants, which he could otherwise see only in pictorial form. The impressions which the student gains by studying living examples is infinitely more deeply engrossed upon his memory than the most detailed description of a textbook.

An Arboretum.

Another idea which in the working out is adding to the attractiveness of the university grounds is the developing of an arboretum. This work has been started by the department of pharmacy. The plan is to have growing upon the campus as many different kinds of trees and shrubs as will thrive under the climatic conditions here existing. The task of securing these trees was begun by the class of 1899 of the pharmaceutical department. Each member of that class selected and paid for a tree that would be of interest from a medicinal or economic point of view. These trees (there were 30 of them) were planted in suitable places. The campus on which the location of each tree is indicated and the name of the donor recorded being kept so that the returning alumnus, ten, twenty or thirty years hence may find the memorial which he left his alma mater.

Ambitions to Excel.

With the completion of the new homoeopathic hospital building the grounds about this structure are to be used in furnishing additional room for the botanical garden and the arboretum. The side hill facing the north will give conditions which cannot be secured on the level campus.

It is the ambition of Dr. Schlotterbeck to increase the size and importance of the garden and the arboretum until they are equal if not superior to any in the western world.

MICHIGAN GRAND ARMY.

Interesting Facts and Figures Given in the Semi-Annual Report of Assistant Adjutant General.

Col. Pond, the assistant adjutant general of the Grand Army of the Republic in Michigan, has completed his semi-annual report to national headquarters, showing the condition of the organization in this state on the first of July, 1900. He says:

On January 1 there were 332 posts and 15,102 members in the department. On July 1 last, there were 333 posts and 15,256 members, an absolute gain of 154 members, notwithstanding there had been a loss by death of 15. Since July 1 last there have been three new posts organized, one each in Jackson, Tuscola and Antrim counties.

The report makes a remarkable showing of an organization made up entirely of elderly men, and one that does not increase its membership by the addition of young blood. Col. Pond says that he believes the veterans of the civil war now living in Michigan are more closely united than ever before. As the years pass there seems to be a growing desire to continue the shoulder to shoulder touch.

The number of musters of recruits during the last six months was 456, of which number Charles T. Foster post, No. 42, of Lansing, mustered 106, 50 of the number standing in the post room altar at one time as they took the obligation.

The amount of relief reported as expended was $738.50. The financial condition of posts as shown by their reports is very good. There was cash in the general fund $8,847.30, and in the relief fund, $1,768.80. The estimated value of real estate owned by the posts is $27,196.50, and of all other post property, $41,481.55, making the total assets $79,292.55.

RAILWAY EARNINGS.

Report of Railroad Commissioner Osborn Shows an Increase of Over $5,000,000 for the Past Year.

According to the report of Railroad Commissioner Chase S. Osborn, the total Michigan earnings of railroads for the month of June were $3,372,962.50, an increase of $216,352.67 over the corresponding month of 1899. The total earnings for the six months ending June 30 were $18,770,726.96, as against $16,492,219.46 for the corresponding period of last year. This statement shows increased earnings for the first half of the year of $2,278,507.50, which indicates an increase of more than $5,000,000 for the year. On this basis there will be an increase of railroad taxes next year of $200,000, even if the present laws are in force. The per cent. of increase this year is 13.75.

STATE WAR MONEY.

Amount Received from the Government Goes Into the General Fund of Michigan.

The general belief that the money received by the state for the war expense would go to retire the war loan bonds is erroneous. Deputy State Treasurer Steel says that the law provides for the turning of the money into the general fund of the state. The money that was expended by the state for equipping the troops amounted to something like $515,000, and was raised by issuing bonds which are now outstanding. These bonds must be paid off from money to be raised by direct taxation, so that the people will be paying the war debt for several years although the general government may have returned the full amount expended.

LOTS OF GAME.

Report of the Game Warden Shows an Increase Over Last Year in Every County in the State.

Game Warden Morse, in his monthly report to the secretary of state, says: Reports from every county in the state show an increase in quail and partridge over last year, and a marked increase in brook trout and other game fishes in the trout streams and lakes of the state. The catch of trout and whitefish by the commercial fishermen of the upper lakes is reported to be better than for several years, which is decidedly encouraging. During the month of July 27 complaints for violation of the state game and fish laws were investigated. Prosecutions were commenced in 63 cases. Fifty-four convictions were secured, and there were two dismissals but no acquittals. Seven cases are still pending. The total amount of fines imposed were $522.50. Of the convictions 53 were for violations of the fish laws and ten for violating the game laws. Property of the value of $1,332.51 was seized.

PEKING OPENS DOOR.

Foreign Ministers to Be Escorted to Tientsin.

An Imperial Edict Orders This to Be Done, and Also Grants Them Permission to Communicate with Their Governments.

Paris, Aug. 6.—Cheng, director general of railway and telegraphs, has just communicated to the consuls at Shanghai, according to a special dispatch to the Temps, dated August 5, an imperial decree, dated August 2, authorizing the foreign ministers in Peking to communicate without restriction with their governments and ordering their departure for Tientsin under a good escort.

Thinks It Correct.

Cape May, N. J., Aug. 6.—Minister Wu said that the dispatch to the Paris Temps stating an imperial decree was issued under date of August 2 allowing the ministers in Peking free communication with their home countries was probably true, and was the result of the memorial of the Chinese ministers in all countries asking through Li Hung Chang and other viceroys for this privilege. He, however, had no official news confirming the issuance of the edict.

Wu May Have It.

Washington, Aug. 6.—There is good reason to believe that the imperial edict referred to has reached Minister Wu, who is with his family at Cape May. If so it will probably be delivered to the acting secretary of state when the minister returns to Washington to-day. At the Chinese legation here, however, there is no information as to its receipt.

Message from Conger.

Washington, Aug. 6.—A belated message from Minister Conger was received Sunday at the state department. It came through Consul General Goodnow, at Shanghai, who transmitted messages received by Mr. Ragsdale, United States consul at Tientsin, from Mr. Conger and Mr. Squiers, secretary of the United States legation at Peking. In effect the advices are the same as those received a day or two ago by the state department from Consul Fowler, at Chefoo. Mr. Goodnow's message was transmitted to President McKinley at Canton, and Mr. Ade, acting secretary of state, later in the day, issued the following statement concerning it:

"Consul General Goodnow, in a cablegram dated Shanghai, August 5, which was received at the department of state at four o'clock this (Sunday) morning, reports the receipt by Consul Ragsdale, at Tientsin, of messages from Minister Conger and the secretary of the legation, Mr. Squiers, dated July 21, to the following effect: 'All well. No fighting since the sixteenth by agreement. Enough provisions. Hope for speedy relief.'

"Mr. Goodnow adds that the director of posts, Sheng, had, on the 5th, communicated to him an imperial edict, dated July 30, ordering Jung Lu, to provide an escort for the ministers to Tientsin, when the ministers fix the date. The edict says the ministers can receive messages not in cipher; but notwithstanding this, plain messages were returned to some consuls on August 4."

Still Thought to Be Safe.

While the messages from Minister Conger and Secretary Squiers bear date of July 21, the belief, founded not only upon them, but also upon collateral and later information, is that the legationers are yet safe from at least immediate harm. At present there is no means of knowing whether the ministers will accept the offer of the Chinese imperial government to provide an escort for them to Tientsin, but it is surmised they will prefer to remain within the British legation at Peking until the arrival of the allied forces. Should they leave for Tientsin in all probability it would be because they regarded it the safer course to pursue. It is thought to be not unlikely that the Chinese government may be very insistent upon the departure of the ministers, in the hope, if they can be gotten to Tientsin in safety, the storming of Peking may be averted.

Statement by State Department.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The state department Saturday morning issued the following: "Minister Wu this morning handed to the acting secretary of state a copy of a telegram from the taota of Shanghai, dated August 2, and received by Mr. Wu on the evening of the 3d. It confirms the message of Yuan Shih-kai, governor of Shantung, to Mr. Fowler, consul at Chefoo, purporting to communicate the same telegram of July 30, from the tsung-li-yamen, but it is to be noted that it contains a passage omitted from Gov. Yuan's message, namely, the announcement that as fighting is going on in Tientsin, it is inexpedient to send cipher telegrams to the foreign ministers in Peking. In this particular, the present telegram agrees with Consul General Goodnow's report, received yesterday, that Earl Li Hung Chang had told the French consul at Shanghai, on the 3d, that no messages would be delivered to the ministers because the foreigners were advancing on Peking. "The tsung-li-yamen's cable of July 30 is as follows:

"Foreign ministers in Peking are all safe and well. Recently vegetables, fruit and provisions have been repeatedly supplied to them. Relations most friendly. At present consultations are going on for the protection of various ministers going to Tientsin for temporary shelter, which as fighting is going on in Tientsin, it is expedient that cipher telegrams should be sent. Different consuls have been notified so that they may inform their respective governments. Please inform the foreign office. Besides wiring to other ministers, I transmit the above to you."

"YULIEN YUEN."

DOUBT HIS WORD.

Consuls at Shanghai Discredit Li Hung Chang's Statement That Ministers Have Left Peking.

London, Aug. 7.—A Shanghai special, dated August 6, says: "Li Hung Chang has officially informed the officials that the ministers left Peking for Tientsin last Friday, August 3, with Gen. Yung Lu in command of the escort. The consuls are by no means disposed to credit Earl Li's statement."

All other reports that have reached London up to this hour indicate that the ministers have not left Peking.

A cablegram from the British consul at Tientsin says: "News from the Japanese legation has been received up to August 1." Therefore the edicts announcing the safety of the ministers on that date are confirmed.

Monday the Chinese minister, Sir Chih Chen Lo Feng Luh, communicated to Lord Salisbury a message from the tsung-li-yamen, dated July 31, reiterating the statement that the ministers were safe on that date and recounting the friendly relations existing between them and the yamen, as well as reporting the sending of supplies to the legations by the yamen. The message contains this important statement:

"A successful termination of the conference with the ministers for their conveyance under escort to Tientsin is expected; but, on account of the recommencement of hostilities at Tientsin, code telegrams for transmission to the representatives are considered undesirable."

"The advance of the allied forces commenced to-day," cables the British consul at Tientsin, under date of August 4. This is the first official information received here that the attempt to relieve Peking has begun. It is accepted as correct. The British consul does not mention any fighting; but the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing Sunday, says: "The Peking relief column is reported to have suffered a shock. The Chinese are said to have adopted Tugge tactics, and after several hours of fighting, to have retreated."

This is the only message received in London this morning bearing out the reports of Admiral Remy and Commander Taussig regarding an engagement at Peitsang. The fact that the advance did not begin until Saturday is taken to strengthen the accounts of a battle Sunday.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Active negotiations are proceeding between Russia and the United States, the probable outcome of which will be a resolution to uphold the integrity of China unconditionally."

ONE LIFE LOST.

Disastrous Result of a Collision on the Monon Road at South Raub, Ind.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 7.—The south-bound Monon passenger train No. 3, leaving here at 12:40 this (Tuesday) morning collided with a light engine at South Raub, ten miles south of here. James Hudlow, fireman of the passenger train, was instantly killed. Louis Raub, the engineer of the freight engine, and his fireman, are missing. Henry Whitesel, passenger engineer, was probably fatally scalped. Eugene McCool, freight brakeman, was badly bruised and may die. C. T. Callahan, freight conductor, was seriously injured. None of the passengers received any serious injury. The parlor and sleeping cars remained on the track. The wrecking crew is at work clearing the track.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

A Kentucky Widow Is Killed by Her Nephew, Who Confesses the Crime.

Brandenburg, Ky., Aug. 7.—The horribly mutilated dead body of Mrs. Annie Brunton, a widow, 35 years old, was found on the Cedar Grove road Monday morning. Blood stains on the fingers of Mrs. Brunton's nephew, Jesse Durham, caused his arrest, and he later confessed the murder, and was hurried to Louisville by Sheriff Hagan, as a lynching seemed certain. Durham killed Mrs. Brunton with a hickory club while they were returning from a church wedding. He is 27 years old, and recently left an insane asylum. He said of the crime: "I did not mean to kill her; only to knock her down. She had been talking about me and got me into trouble several times."

TRAINS COLLIDE.

Switch on a Southern Railway Falls to Work, and Five Men Lose Their Lives.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Aug. 7.—A disastrous collision occurred on the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) railroad at Aurich, 40 miles north of here, Monday, in which five men were killed and two seriously injured. Fast freight No. 15 took the siding to allow south-bound passenger train No. 3 to pass. The switch failed to work and the passenger train crashed into the caboose of the freight train at full speed, killing or injuring the occupants. The passenger engine and baggage car were turned over and are complete wrecks. Four freight cars were demolished.

IS LONG DRAWN OUT.

Powers' Trial Begins Its Fifth Week—Will Not Go to the Jury for Some Time Yet.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 7.—The fifth week of the trial of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers, for alleged complicity in the Goebel murder conspiracy, began Monday morning. Ex-Gov. John Young Brown, chief counsel for Powers, says the defense will conclude its testimony probably on Friday, but possibly not till Saturday. After that the prosecution will consume three or four days in rebuttal. Capt. D. B. Walcutt, who had charge of the soldiers that were quartered in the arsenal at Frankfort prior to the assassination and who were called out immediately after the tragedy, was the first witness called Monday. The troops he said were placed in the arsenal January 4, the day the legislature met.

Capt. Walcutt stated that it was about 15 minutes after the assassination when the company was called out. On cross-examination he said he had never before seen the state arsenal under guard for the same length of time. He got his orders from Adj. Gen. Collier and did not know for what purpose the guard was placed there. He said it was merely incidental that the soldiers were equipped with side-arms and equipments and ready for active service when Goebel was shot, although it was not customary for the men to be equipped inside the arsenal. He denied that the men were already in line, but said he formed them after they heard the first of the shooting.

R. C. Blandford, of Marion county, was present at the conference at Frankfort at which W. H. Culton presided. Sheriff Burton, of Breckinridge county, made a speech saying: "The only way to stop the contest was to explode cartridges in the neighborhood of the Capitol hotel," and was rebuked by Powers.

Stuart Stone, Gov. Taylor's stenographer, testified he was in the governor's room when the shooting occurred. When they heard what had happened, Gov. Taylor expressed fear that all of the occupants of the executive building would be mobbed. They broke into the office of the secretary of state to get some guns in there to protect themselves with. Gov. Taylor told Capt. Steve Sharp, of Lexington, to arm everybody in the building and take charge of the men.

In the afternoon Stenographer Stout continued his testimony. He told of Youtsey coming into the executive office carrying a rifle a few minutes after the shooting. Gov. Taylor was not armed when he first came into the office, but went back and got a pistol. Dr. Gray Falconer, of Lexington, testified further regarding the conference at Lexington following the unseating of Berry, and also to matters that transpired on the day of the assassination. He received a telegram from S. G. Sharp at Frankfort asking him to come to Frankfort and bring 500 men. He went himself, but took no men. He remained in the executive building that night with some of the state officials who did not go to their homes.

ALABAMA VOTES.

Democrats Elect State Ticket by a Majority Which Will Reach More Than 50,000.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 7.—A general election for state and county officers and for members of the general assembly was held in Alabama Monday and a large majority was returned for the democratic ticket, headed by William J. Samford, of Lee county, who will be inaugurated governor December 1. The republicans, populists and prohibitionists, besides the democrats, had tickets in the field, but returns so far indicate victory for the democrats by an overwhelming majority. The democrats have also gained several members of the general assembly. The populists and republicans will together possibly have 12 of the 133 members of the legislature, a loss of about 50 per cent. The democrats have elected county officers in several counties which have heretofore been strongly populist.

Reports are slow in coming in and Capt. Smith, of the state campaign committee, gives out no figures, but it is estimated by the democratic managers that the majority will be more than 50,000. The election was regarded as a test of opinion on the mooted question of holding a constitutional convention, which is favored by the democrats, and the increased majorities are taken to indicate that the people are favorable to the holding of a convention which will eliminate the negro from politics.

The legislature, which meets in December, will elect Senator Morgan to succeed himself and will be called upon to legislate upon important matters.

In this, the Ninth district, Congressman Underwood was nominated without opposition to succeed himself. In the Eighth district Judge William Richardson, of Madison county, was elected to succeed Gen. Joe Wheeler, who resigned his seat in congress, a special election having been ordered by Gov. Johnston.

ALLIES VICTORIOUS.

Force Chinese to Retreat in Fight at Peitsang.

The Battle Rages for More Than Seven Hours—Loss of Allied Troops Is 1,200 Killed and Wounded.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Interest in the Chinese situation was intensified Monday morning by receipt of two dispatches from naval officers at Chefoo, repeating unofficial but apparently reliable reports of active and extensive hostilities between the allied forces and the Chinese on the line between Tientsin and Peking. The dispatches indicate unmistakably that the relief column has started in earnest and that it is meeting with determined opposition. Although neither of the naval dispatches mentions the presence of American troops in the reported engagement it is generally assumed that a part of Gen. Chaffee's small army was on hand and took an active and aggressive part in the affair.

The dispatches are as follows: "Chefoo, Aug. 6.—Bureau Navigation, Washington: British Fame reports unofficial engagement at Peitsang, Sunday morning, three to 10:30. Allied loss killed and wounded 1,200, chiefly Russians and Japanese. Chinese retreating."

"TAUSSIG." "Chefoo, Aug. 6.—Bureau Navigation, Washington: Official report believed reliable, about 16,000 allies heavily engaged Chinese at Peitsang daylight of the 5th."

"REMEY."

According to information in possession of the war department, the town of Peitsang is at the head of tide water on the Pei-Ho river, between 11 and 12 miles by road beyond Tientsin. It is a village of mud huts of considerable size, but not walled. The river at this point is not navigable by anything larger than a good-sized steam launch, and it is thought that the troops probably reached there in small boats, towed by the naval launches. The country all along the river between Peking and Tientsin is a low, alluvial plain almost impassable for wheeled vehicles in the wet season, and under quite a high state of cultivation. It presents no natural defensive features and the war department knows no strategic reason why the Chinese should have made a stand there rather than at any other of the dozen villages east of the walled town of Tung Chow, where is stored an immense amount of provisions upon which the city of Peking would have to depend in case of siege.

From the fact that the engagement lasted 7½ hours, it is argued in the department that either the Chinese must have been heavily entrenched or that there was an immense horde of them to so stubbornly contest the advance of the 16,000 international troops. It is figured by military experts that a loss of 1,200 killed and wounded on the part of the allies probably means a loss of from three to six times as many by the Chinese.

Opinions Differ.

Opinion among the various officials now in Washington is somewhat divided as to just what is presaged by Monday's events. The more optimistic are inclined to think that such a severe blow as the Chinese must have received at Peitsang will result in the speedy disintegration of the forces now opposing the march of the international column. In line with this prediction it was prophesied that the Chinese government would find means to send the ministers from Peking under escort and thus stave off the advance upon the capital.

On the other hand, there was a number of officers in a position to judge equally well who held that the fight at Peitsang was only the beginning of a strenuous resistance that would be continued to the gates of Peking or beyond. It was urged in support of this view that the Chinese had a hundred men to lose against one of the allies; that they were well armed with modern guns, and had apparently an abundance of ammunition. It is stated that considerable apprehension exists among those conversant with oriental affairs at the reappearance in Peking politics of that rabid anti-foreign fanatic Li Ping Hung. It is understood that his appearance in Peking affairs may have had something to do with the Shanghai rumors of Li Hung Chang's suicide. It is certain that with Li Ping Hung and Prince Tuan in control of the de facto government in China a religious war of servilelike fanaticism probably will be waged against all foreigners, and friends of the more liberal Chinese statesmen are exceedingly anxious as to their fate under the Tuan-Li regime.

Death of a Millionaire.

Toledo, O., Aug. 7.—Dennis Coghlan, the wealthiest man in Toledo and northwestern Ohio, died at his home Monday night after a lingering illness. He owned many of the large business blocks in the city, and was a stockholder in many banks, besides being the owner of large brewery interests. He was a native of Ireland, and was about 80 years of age. It is estimated that his wealth amounted to $15,000,000.

The American Working Man.

Much comparison has been made between the endurance of the Chinese and the American working man. Those with authority to speak say that the average working man of America is as superior to the Chinese as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to any other dyspepsia cure. The Bitters does not claim to cure everything, but it does cure constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, liver and kidney troubles, and prevents malaria, fever and ague.

O-T-C

When a preparation has an advertised reputation that is world-wide, it means that preparation is meritorious. If you go into a store to buy an article that has achieved universal popularity like Cascarets Candy Cathartic for example, you feel it has the endorsement of the world. The judgment of the people is infallible because it is impersonal. The retailer who wants to sell you "something else" in place of the article you ask for, has an ax to grind. Don't it stand to reason? He's trying to sell something that is not what he represents it to be. Why? Because he expects to derive an extra profit out of your credulity. Don't you see through his little game? The man who will try to sell you a substitute for Cascarets is a fraud. Beware of him! He is trying to steal the honestly earned benefits of a reputation which another business man has paid for, and if his conscience will allow him to go so far, he will go farther. If he cheats his customer in one way, he will in another and it is not safe to do business with him. Beware of the Cascarets substitute! Remember Cascarets are never sold in bulk but in metal boxes with the long tailed C. C. on every box and each tablet stamped C. C. C.

Crops in Nebraska.

There is a broad smile on the face of nearly every farmer in Nebraska, because of the satisfactory crop conditions in that remarkable state. In the Northwest, drought has seriously injured the wheat yield. In the South again there has been more or less damage, but in Nebraska they have had reasonable, heavy rains, and not too much of them. A full crop of oats and wheat will, from present indications, be followed by a bumper crop of corn. During the past week heavy rains all over the state have put this crop in fine condition, and it may break the record.

The expectation is that great numbers of people will go to Nebraska this fall, when the cheap harvest excursion rates are in effect, to investigate the country and confirm by actual experience the stories of prosperity so often heard.

The Boxers of China

are attempting to solve a gigantic problem, but they are going about it in the wrong way and will never succeed. Some people, in this country, seem to think that they have as great a puzzle on their hands in selecting a location for a home. They will certainly go about it in the wrong way unless they inspect the beautiful farming country on the line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway in Marinette county, Wisconsin, where the crops are of the best, water pure, fine markets, excellent climate, pure, soft water; land sold cheap and on long time. Why rent a farm when you can buy one for less than you pay for rent? Address C. E. Rollins, Land Agent, 161 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY, Notre Dame, Indiana.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of St. Mary's Academy which appears in another column of this paper. The 40th year opens September 4th, 1900. We do not need to expatiate upon the scholastic advantages of St. Mary's for the catalogue of the school shows the scope of work included in its curriculum, which is of the same high standard as that of Vassar and Bryn Mawr, and is carried out faithfully in the class rooms. We simply emphasize the spirit of earnest devotion which makes every teacher at St. Mary's loyally strive to develop each young girl attendant into the truest, noblest, and most intelligent womanhood. Every advantage of equipment in the class rooms, laboratories and study rooms, every care in the matter of food and clothing, and exceptional excellence of climatic conditions—all of these features are found at St. Mary's, in the perfection of development only to be obtained by the consecration of devoted lives to educational Christian work, in a spot favored by the Lord.—The Fine Arts Journal.

A literal reproduction of any great event is difficult, but that obstacle was overcome in the getting up of the Naval Battle of Manila, located at Wabash avenue and Hubbard court, Chicago, opposite the Gettysburg Cyclorama.

The exhibition is as near the original as advanced pictorial art and realism can make it. There is the noise and action of a genuine sea fight. There are many other features which contribute to the entertainment that the original great scene enacted in the now historic bay of Manila on that beautiful Sunday morning when the map of the globe was changed.

There is the voyage of the Asiatic Squadron under Dewey from Hongkong to Manila, the storm at sea with actual lightning and roar of rushing waters, the shining of the moon that comes up in plain view of the spectator from behind the clouds, the coming and fading of the stars, the preparations for the battle that was to come, the entrance of the American Fleet under the shadow of night into the bay, the rising of the sun in which the spectator passes from night to morn, then the engagement, the terrific thunder of the guns of the struggling fleets, the explosions of mines, and at last the hauling down of the Spanish colors to ensign of the United States. All this is reproduced not on a painted canvas, but with action, with thunder and lightning, the fall of rain, the roar of guns and all of the other grim features which make a fight at sea grandly terrible.

Not one word of the accompanying brief description is inaccurate, and in so far as words are concerned can not begin to describe the profoundly majestic and overwhelming magnificence of the naval drama that is played on the acre stage fitted for its illustration at Wabash avenue and Hubbard court.

To the brave and battle-scarred veterans who will attend the forthcoming G. A. R. Encampment in Chicago, no trip will be so pleasant or one that will recall so many of the eventful scenes which they passed through when they stood in the front line under a withering blast of bullets during the dark days of the Rebellion and fought for "Old Glory." To the rank and file of the National Bee Keepers Association, many of whom are old soldiers and all of whom are patriotic, the strongest assurance is given that a visit to the Naval Battle of Manila will be both entertainingly and instructively spent.

An English tourist, who had left a waterproof on a train, went back to look for it. On asking the occupants of a third-class carriage compartment whether they had seen anything of a "mackintosh," "Na, na," one of them replied, "we're a Macphersons here."—Glasgow Evening Times.

For several years I was in such wretched health that life was almost a burden. I could hardly walk across the floor, was so feeble. Several of our best physicians attended me, but failed to help. I concluded to write to you for advice. In a few days I received such a kind, motherly letter. I followed your instructions and am my 'old self' again. Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. It is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Cure guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by Stimson, the druggist.

It's Mostly Uphill.

There are few truer words spoken or written than the following taken from the columns of an esteemed contemporary: "It is the fashion of the young man who tries to dodge work, to berate the town he lives in. He thinks if he could only get out of town, he would own a silver mine, or be president of the steel trust in a couple of years. A conversation was overheard in which one of the young men said, 'As soon as I get a few dollars ahead I am going to jump the game.' But the most of them never make the required raise. As a matter of fact all towns are about alike. There is a place for a worker in every community. But the kid glove jobs go mostly to men who have worn overalls and hickory shirts. There is no bicycle track along the road to short hours and fat salary. It is all walking—mostly up hill."

Mooswa of the Boundaries.

The possibilities of the "animal story" are remarkably well shown by Mr. W. A. Fraser in his new tales, entitled Mooswa of the Boundaries. These are stories of Rod, the Boy, and the fur-bearing animals of the Northwest and the half-breed trappers who hunt them. Each of the tales teems with curious bits of wood-lore and little-known facts about the moose, beaver, bear, lynx, fox and wolf.

Mr. Arthur Heming, who has illustrated the stories, is a sportsman and naturalist, as well as an artist.

The first of the Mooswa stories will appear in The Saturday Evening Post of September 1.
