THE NEW FACTORY

Of the Chelsea Manufacturing Co. is a Convenient, Well Arranged Building.

The Chelsea Manufacturing Company is now permanently located in its new quarters, and a brief description of the convenient factory that has been erected during the past summer for its occupation will not be out of place.

Entering the ground floor we first find a fire proof stock room extending entirely across the west end of the building, very conveniently and systematically arranged for the reception of the materials used in the different articles manufactured. It is also used for storing the most valuable tools and patterns when not in use. The press room is also located on this floor, in which the raw material is worked up, and from which it proceeds to the polishing room, fitted up with the most modern equipment. Beyond it lies the plating room with its equipment for silver, bronze and nickel plating, and which is in close proximity to the annealing room, brass foundry, sand blast, tinning department, etc. Underneath the floors the building is drained and s-wed, and it is also perfectly ventilated. Wherever water water is used the floors are made of cement and drainage is provided.

On the floor above is the main work room, 60 x 60 in size. Here are placed the machine shop, tool room, mounting, finishing and packing departments. A stock room is divided from the main work room by a picket fence, and here all the finished goods are stored ready for shipment. In the southeast corner a pattern shop, for making patterns, boxes for goods, etc., is located, and is one of the most useful adjuncts to the plant. An electric motor furnishes the power to operate the machinery. The building all through is well lighted and ventilated. Ribbed plate glass is used in the windows, which gives a softness to the light, entirely devoid of shadows, and is much less fatiguing to the eyes of the workmen than light coming directly through common glass.

The offices are in the front part of the building. They are two in number—a business office 16 x 22, and a private office 12 x 16. They are finished in quarter sawed oak, with polished hard wood floors, and the trimmings are of oxidized copper. Lavatory, telephone and coat rooms, as well as a large amount of cupboard space for office filing purposes, built in the paneling, is arranged for, and everything is very neat and convenient. The heating radiators are set in under the windows with ventilating flues behind them, providing a constant inflow of pure hot air, and an outflow of impure air. The whole building is heated by steam.

In conducting the business of the factory the card check system is used throughout, which keeps tab on the time and material used, and the cost of each job turned out. A time clock and turnstile keep account of the time of the workmen, it being recorded as they enter and leave the building. Altogether, the factory is a model one in every respect.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

Program of the Meeting to Be Held in Chelsea Next Week.

A very interesting program is promised for the county convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union which occurs on Thursday and Friday of next week. District President Mrs. S. T. Carpenter, Mrs. Lucy F. Morehouse, state superintendent of institute work, County President Mrs. Daisie L. Thrasher, and other able speakers will be here throughout the entire convention.

A "Matrons' Contest" will be held on Thursday evening, which speaks for itself as to being a matter of interest to all who have attended such entertainments. Ladies from six different unions will participate, Mrs. E. B. Hammond representing Chelsea. While the judges are making their decision a short after-program will be given by some of our little townspeople, consisting of music and recitations, as follows:

Solo—Winifred Bacon.
"The Secret of It"—Nina Bell Wurster.
"The Reason Why"—Dorothy Glazier.
Duet—Vesta Welch and Esther Schenk.
"Baby Logie"—Marjorie Freeman.
The Duet—James Schmidt.

Quartet—Claire Hoover, Reynolds Bacon, Donald Bacon and Harold Pierce. Miss Lillian Phelps will address the audience on Friday evening. She is a fine speaker and will please and instruct all who attend. Good music will be an added attraction throughout the entire convention, which will be held in the M. E. church. No admission will be charged at the evening entertainment, but a generous collection will be expected toward convention expenses.

WARD RENOMINATED

For State Senator by the Democrats of the Tenth District.

At the Democratic convention held in Ann Arbor yesterday to nominate a candidate for state senator from the tenth district Charles A. Ward, the present incumbent of the office was renominated but not without some opposition from men in his own county delegation. James S. Gorman, of Sylvan, was put in nomination against Mr. Ward. When the ballot was taken it stood:

Washtenaw delegation—Ward 11, Gorman 7, Lowden 1.

Jackson delegation—Ward 9, Gorman 6. Under the ruling of the convention the Jackson delegation of 15 men was credited with their full quota of 21 delegates so that each Jackson vote counted as 1.5 votes.

The official result of the ballot was: Ward 23 3-5, Gorman 15 2-5, Lowden 1.

Very Sudden Death.

John Grau, an old and highly respected resident of Lima, died at his home in that town, after only 20 hours sickness, on Saturday morning. He went about his work as usual Friday morning but soon complained of feeling unwell. He grew rapidly worse and suffered untold agony despite the efforts of Dr. G. W. Palmer, who remained almost constantly with him until he died, and of Dr. C. G. Darling, of Ann Arbor, who was called in consultation.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning. The services at the house were largely attended by his old friends and neighbors. The remains were taken to the Scio churchyard at Weinsberg for interment. Rev. Julius Klingmann conducted the services.

Nominated Byron C. Whitaker.

At the first representative district Democratic convention held in Ann Arbor Saturday, James S. Gorman, of Sylvan, was chosen as the presiding officer. Three names were presented for the consideration of the convention, Byron C. Whitaker, of Scio, Philip Duffy, of Northfield, and S. W. Beakes, of Ann Arbor. The only ballot taken resulted in Whitaker getting 70 votes, Duffy 15, and Beakes 5. Mr. Whitaker was made the unanimous choice of the convention.

WOMAN'S KIDNEY TROUBLES

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing this Fatal Woman's Disease.

Of all the diseases known with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. The Vegetable Compound acts in harmony with the laws that govern the entire female system, and while there are many so called remedies for kidney troubles, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women.

The following letters will show how marvellously successful it is:

Aug. 6, 1899.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am failing very fast, since January have lost thirty-five or forty pounds. I have a yellow, muddy complexion, feel tired, and have bearing down pains. Menses have not appeared for three months; sometimes I am troubled with a white discharge, and I also have kidney and bladder trouble. . . I have been this way for a long time, and feel so miserable I thought I would write to you, and see if you could do me any good."—Miss EDNA FREDERICK, Troy, Ohio.

Sept. 10, 1899.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound according to directions, and can say I have not felt so well for years as I do at present. Before taking your medicine a more miserable person you never saw. I could not eat or sleep, and did not care to talk with any one. I did not enjoy life at all. Now, I feel so well I cannot be grateful enough for what you have done for me. You are surely a woman's friend. Thanking you a thousand times, I remain,
Ever yours
Miss EDNA FREDERICK, Troy, Ohio.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and cannot praise it enough. I had headaches, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, and kidney trouble. I also had a pain when standing or walking, and sometimes there seemed to be balls of fire in front of me, so that I could not see for about twenty minutes. Felt as if I had had no sleep for two weeks. Had fainting spells, was down-hearted, and would cry."—Mrs. BERTHA ORR, Second and Clayton Sts., Chester Pa.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot find language to express the terrible suffering I have had to endure. I had female trouble, also liver, stomach, kidney, and bladder trouble. . . I tried several doctors, also quite a number of patent medicines, and had despaired of ever getting well. At last I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, thanks to your medicine, I am a well woman. I can not praise your medicine too highly for I know it will do all, and even more, than it is recommended to do. I tell every suffering woman about your Vegetable Compound, and urge them to try it and see for themselves what it will do."—Mrs. MARY A. HIPPLE, No. Manchester, Ind.

THE AMERICAN COW.

Value of Her Annual Product Is in Excess of $500,000,000.

Department of Agriculture Desires to Help Farmers to Produce Absolutely Pure Milk, Butter and Cheese.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THE dairy division of the bureau of animal industry is one of the most important and valuable of all the working divisions of the busy department of agriculture. Facts about milk, its production, care and the mercantile methods which have developed, and which are being developed, all receive careful and scientific consideration by men who are not only scientists, but versed in the business which has grown into such proportions during recent years, particularly in the prairie states.

There are approximately 75,000,000 people in this republic, and there are

AN IDEAL DAIRY STABLE.

(Arranged for Floor Feeding by the Department of Agriculture.)

19,000,000 cows; a proportion of one cow to every four human beings. The value of the national dairy products is in excess of $500,000,000 annually. These figures represent all that can be ascertained commercially concerning the dairy business without taking into account the thousands and probably hundreds of thousands of dollars in value produced by individuals who keep but one or two cows for their families.

The dairy division, through its special agents, by the reports from experiment stations, from state institutions and state officials, is devoting its energies to a scientific supervision of this great industry, without in any manner interfering with the methods and manners of individuals who carry on their business in a legitimate manner. From time to time the department of agriculture issues bulletins about milk and milk products, which would be of great value to all dairymen and farmers if their dissemination were universal. The bulletins are of such value that it is the desire of the secretary of agriculture that the newspapers, particularly the weekly newspapers, shall benefit themselves by giving to their readers the results shown in the bulletins.

Many farmers and dairymen are successful in this business, and statistics show that very many others are unsuccessful, when their environments and conditions are substantially the same. This statement, however, might be made concerning every business; and the department of agriculture does not undertake to supply farming or mercantile capacity to those who lack talent or ability. The dairy division ascertains the most likely causes of failure and endeavors to advise against those causes.

Milk, sometimes in very large quantities, is refused because of its advanced state of decomposition. This is palpably because of carelessness in handling the milk prior to its delivery, or by the mixing of milk in different stages of decomposition. The best of dairymen find that milk is not properly handled on the farm before it is taken to the creamery. From the time the milk leaves the cow until it is put on the train is the most important period for cleanliness and care, and there is where the most of the blame is laid—at the farmer's door.

The men in charge of the work here say that there are very few dishonest dairymen, but that on the contrary the dairymen have it to their interest to furnish the best of milk and of milk products, and that to the best of their ability they do so. They claim that carelessness exists on the farms, that many farmers do not naturally possess business ability; and because of this lack of business ability they do not take such precautions in all cases as they should take. Moreover, it is developed that there are nowadays very few dishonest farmers. Lack of knowledge is the cause of the delivery of impure milk in a majority of cases.

Because of these conditions the creameries have become educators. They deal only with those whom they know, and their agents have given instruction to thousands of farmers who have gladly received all valuable information. Some of the best farmers who make great efforts to produce pure and clean milk are often handicapped by careless or slovenly help-men and women on the farm who cannot or will not comprehend the importance of strict observance of certain rules.

Cows are uncleanly animals, as everybody knows. But the farmers who would keep clean cows find it difficult to keep clean attendants. Instead of trying to remove the dust and dirt from the cows before milking, in order that there may be as little dirt as possible in the milk, the untidy attendants turn directly from cleaning horses or from other dirty work and go to milking. They do it in dirty clothes, with dirty hands, caring nothing how much dust and dirt comes from themselves and from the cows into the milk pails. It is important that attendants should be cleanly, having clean hands and clean finger nails. But every farmer knows that it is difficult to find helpers who will ever think of cleaning their finger nails. They will scarcely do that before going to church, much less when going to do their milking.

One of the chief forms of bacterial contamination of milk comes from this carelessness. The udders should be cleaned always before milking begins. The fact is overlooked that after milking the teats are moist and germs plant themselves there, some of them even working their way into the teat cavity. Unless the teats are cleaned before the next milking these germs are first drawn into the milk pail. There they begin their work of contamination even while the milking is going on. They develop rapidly.

Likewise, when utensils are washed, unless great care is taken, the milk will not be completely removed from them, and the lactic bacteria gather and germinate there, so that legions of the bacteria are in the utensils when the next milking begins, just as they are in or upon the udder or teats. Cleaning utensils upon the farms requires constant and careful supervision, because employees are everywhere careless. They use promiscuous rags and wiping cloths, neglect the strainers, neglect the pails, do their washing hastily, and usually with cold or luke-warm water. Very often the milk pails are allowed to become coated with greasy layers which are hotbeds for the development of bacteria. Moreover, water which is impure is frequently used, water from cisterns and shallow wells, and sometimes dishwater which has been used for plates and other table utensils.

As stated above, the department of agriculture believes that there are very few dishonest dairymen. The dairy division says also that many customers are unreasonable in their demands, and that they do not take proper care of good milk after it is delivered to them. Milk can as easily be contaminated by bad handling after it has been delivered as before it leaves the farm. If pure milk is left in a kitchen or ill-ventilated cellar, where dust can settle upon it or where flies may gather upon it, no blame can attach to the milkman or the dairyman. That is the fault of the housekeeper.

Milk can easily be sterilized in the home by boiling it in glass bottles, and then suddenly cooling it with cold water or ice. Boiling kills the harmful bacteria, and the cooling must be quick, in order to prevent the re-development of spores. Every careful housekeeper rears a child will gladly resort to this method of sterilization; but careless housekeepers will probably continue in their carelessness, and also continue to blame the milkman for their own faults.

Although milk is one of the best of foods, and is extensively used everywhere, 87 per cent. of it is wasted. One hundred pounds of milk contains 87 pounds of water, five pounds of milk sugar, 3.3 pounds of albumen and casein, and seven-tenths of a pound of mineral matter. Chemists and scientists say that pure milk is one of the best of all food products, while practical men and women know that it is the best of all foods for children. The small proportion of solid matter, although exceedingly nutritive, is so readily digestible that its health-giving properties are marvelous.

EDUCATION IS LIFE.

That Is the Sentiment Adopted by Modern Educators.

What the New Chicago Institute for the Training of Teachers and Its President, Col. Parker, Expect to Accomplish.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

IT is seldom that a radical reformer receives, during his earthly existence, the appreciation that is so generously accorded to Col. F. W. Parker, president of the new Chicago institute endowed by Mrs. Emmons Blaine. Col. Parker's methods have revolutionized teaching in this country. Perhaps "method" is not a good word to use in connection with his work, as he seemed to disown it when, last April, he addressed the large audience so vitally interested in educational matters, which had gathered to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his advent in Quincy, Mass., where as superintendent of schools, he first introduced ideas entirely at variance with preconceived opinions regarding the instruction of children in this country. He said: "Those who seek for some special and peculiar method or device in the Quincy movement will never find it. Faith, ideal spirit, explain all that pertain to our success, whatever that success may be. The outcome was what may always be expected under similar circumstances—progressive movement. If you ask me to name the best of all results I should say the more humane treatment of little folks. We tried to teach them, not as children or as pupils, but as human beings." At this reunion, friends of education, from the Atlantic coast to the Hawaiian island testified either in person or by letter to the high esteem in which they held the work accomplished by Col. Parker and his co-laborers during the last quarter century.

Col. Francis Wayland Parker was born in the village of Piscataquog, town of Bedford, N. H., on October 9, 1837. His ancestors were actively engaged in the French and Indian and revolutionary wars. His grandfather fought at Bunker Hill. In every strain of Col. Parker's heredity are ministers and teachers. He was well advanced in his studies when, at eight years of age, he was taken from school and bound out to farm work for five years, attending school but eight or nine weeks each winter. He now considers that during this period he received the best part of his education. Here he studied geography and all the sciences in a practical way, although he did not discover the fact until after about 20 years of experience in teaching.

Thirteen years of age he left the farm, and, eager for an education, attended Mount Vernon (New Hampshire) academy. Here he did chores to support himself and worked on the farm in summer. At 16 he taught 75 pupils at $15 per month. He continued to teach school, work on farms and attended academies until 21 years old. In 1858 was principal of the school at Carrollton, Ill. At the breaking out of the war, as a private, he joined the Fourth New Hampshire regiment. His war record is too well known to need comment. He left the army when his regiment was mustered out in 1865, put aside all offers of political preferment and became principal of the Manchester (N. H.) grammar school, for he says he does not remember the day when he did not believe he should be a teacher. At Dayton (O.) in 1868 he began reform work in methods of education. Although strongly opposed by teachers and people, the board of education had faith to appoint him principal of the first normal training school in Dayton. In 1871 he went to Europe for the purpose of studying the science of education; in 1872 entered King William's university at Berlin, where he spent 2½ years in the study of psychology, philosophy, history and pedagogics. He traveled over the continent, visiting schools, studying the arts, geography and history of the various nations until, on his return to America, he was elected superintendent of schools at Quincy, Mass., and began his work April 20, 1875. During the three years, 1878-'80, over 30,000 visitors inspected the Quincy schools. Col. Parker asserts that he introduced no new methods, simply carried out the recommendations of the great educators of the past, Comenius, Pestalozzi and Froebel. In 1880 he was supervisor of schools in Boston. Here his work met fierce opposition, but he was reelected. However, he desired to come into a closer contact with schools that he might verify the suspicions of better things which he thought were in store for children.

He declined the offer of superintendency of schools in Philadelphia, but, on January 1, 1883, became principal of Cook county normal school, which had had a struggling existence for 15 years. He regarded Chicago as the "storm center" of our civilization. Here he could closely study the children in the practice school and enter into what he believed the greatest need of the country—the education and training of teachers. He has given the school a world-wide reputation, and this is the man who has been selected as head of the new institute which promises to do so much for our future citizens, for as Col. Parker says, "the future demands an education into free government, a strictly American education" which will "meet the demands of the times with their world problems that are weighing us down and the ever increasing duties of citizenship. These problems must be worked out in the common schools."

The Chicago institute is near Lake Michigan, on North Park avenue, and may be easily reached from any part of Chicago. It offers unusual advantages for all the work, play and recreation connected with the school, being adjacent to Lincoln park, with its playgrounds, botanical, horticultural and zoological gardens, and the libraries and scientific collections in its vicinity. The building is designed to accommodate three schools, the academic, pedagogic and summer school. It is to contain a library, gymnasium, natatorium, manual training-rooms, assembly hall, music, lecture and classrooms. There will be laboratories for home economics, geography, history, biology, physics and chemistry. Owing to labor troubles the building will not be ready for occupancy at the opening of the school on October 1, but commodious temporary quarters have been secured in the vicinity. In the academic course ideal conditions will be provided for the education of children between the ages of four and 18. It will include kindergarten and all the grades of elementary and secondary (high school) education, and prepare pupils for entrance to the best colleges. The pedagogic school will offer teachers the best possible professional training. Every candidate will be considered on probation until the faculty decides that he is able to teach successfully. Under no circumstances will a diploma be granted until his efficiency has been demonstrated.

The summer school will be open to all who wish to have the best advantages for the study of education for three or 12 weeks. All departments of the institute will be represented. The library contains about 16,000 volumes, as that which is profound and technical can seldom be taught orally, but it need hardly be said that the teachers are not bound by any slavish devotion to text-books. The children are taken to Mother Nature to be instructed in science. Geography and history are naturally combined. Artificial rivers and sandhills constructed by the little ones themselves illustrate the growth of the world and locate the scenes of the rise and downfall of nations. The true aim of education is believed to be character building, to which knowledge getting must be duly subordinated. To again quote Col. Parker: "The ideal school is the ideal community. Character constantly realizing itself in citizenship, in community life, in complete living, is the immediate, everlasting and only purpose of the school."

TUAN'S DEGRADATION.

Minister Wu Receives Official Notification That the Prince Is to Be Punished.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Mr. Wu, the Chinese minister, has received official confirmation of the issuance of an imperial decree degrading Prince Tuan, Kangli and other officials for their course in regard to the recent troubles in China. This information agrees with that contained in a dispatch received by the state department Monday from Consul McWade at Canton. The minister has heard nothing of the designation of officials reported by Minister Conger to act in concert in peace negotiations, but he has no doubt it is correct.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Several important dispatches were received Monday from China. Generally, they tend to confirm the events recorded Saturday. From Canton, Consul McWade reports the issue of the decree punishing Tuan and his colleagues, so that there is no longer doubt as to the accuracy of Sheng's statement on that point. Mr. Conger also has received official notification of the Chinese peace commission, which was forecasted by Minister Wu's advice several days ago. Mr. Conger made no reference to the condemnatory decree, hence it is inferred that it was not issued when his dispatch was sent last Thursday. The text of these two dispatches is as follows:

"Canton, China, Oct. 1, 1900.—Secretary of State, Washington: Decrees just issued: Emperor blames ministers for whole trouble. Orders Tuan, Kangli and other officials degraded and punished by imperial courts. Emperor holds Tuan and others entirely responsible bloodshed."

(Signed)

"Peking, Sept. 27, 1900 (via Taku), Sept. 30, 1900.—Secretary of State, Washington: Have received notice to-day from Prince Ching that he, Earl Li, Jung Lu and Viceroy Tsin Kun Yi and Chang Chip Tung will act in concert in negotiations for peace. Jung Lu is in the interior. Li Hung Chang is at Tientsin."

(Signed)

"CONGER." It is evident that the two viceroys mentioned are Liu Kun Yi, the viceroy of Nanking, and Chang Chip Tung, the viceroy of Wu-Chang, the difference in spelling being in telegraphic transmission. There has been some question as to Yung Lu being a member of the commission, but Mr. Conger's report settles all doubt. Minister Wu already had received an edict naming Yung Lu as one of the commission, but this was questioned in other Chinese quarters. The appointment is not likely to be satisfactory to any of the powers, as Yung Lu has made himself almost as offensive as Prince Tuan. He is generalissimo of the imperial troops and is regarded as mainly responsible for the persistent fight on the legations during the crisis. The other commissioners are highly acceptable.

The war department is in receipt of a cablegram from Gen. Chaffee, indicating that he had received the instructions to withdraw most of the United States forces from China and had provided, in accordance with those instructions, for a legation guard. The dispatch follows:

"Received Sept. 30, 1900, via Taku.—Adjutant General, Washington.—Sept. 23, 30 cabled from Tientsin. Received your numbers 42 and 43. The Ninth infantry, Third squadron of Sixth cavalry and light battery will constitute legation guard. Shall endeavor to get all supplies to Tong Chow before water falls."

(Signed)

"CHAFFEE." Dispatches numbers 42 and 43 referred to by Gen. Chaffee were those containing his instructions to withdraw the American troops from Peking.

The war department has also received the following from Gen. Chaffee:

Taku, Sept. 30.—Adjutant General, Washington: Health command good. Have accepted invitation hospital ship Maine to transfer some convalescents to hospital ship Relief now repairing Nagasaki."

(Signed)

"CHAFFEE." St. Petersburg, Oct. 2.—The Official Messenger declares the tenor of the government's official communications in regard to Russia's task in the far east clearly demonstrates "that the reports of the annexation of Manchuria are devoid of all foundation."

St. Petersburg, Oct. 2.—The war office announces that dispatches from Khabarovsk and Kharbin say Gen. Tschitschagoff sent Col. Kopeikin with a detachment of Cossacks, railroad troops and volunteers to engage a force of Chinese who had occupied the railroad at Sanchaken. The Russians won two obstinate fights. Forty-three dead Chinese were left in the trenches after the second engagement.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—The statement published in Paris that France, Russia and Germany have arrived at a complete understanding in regard to the retention of troops at Peking and that Germany abandons her demand for the punishment of the instigators of the outrages before the peace negotiations begin is denied here officially.

Women Will Meet.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—A special meeting of the American Women's National Bryan league has been called to meet at headquarters in the Grand Hotel at Indianapolis next Wednesday at eight o'clock in the evening. The call was issued by President Meribah E. Walker Monday and extends an invitation to the delegates to the National Association of Democratic clubs, which meets in Indianapolis this week, and to the Bryan women of Indianapolis.

As judge of probate H. Wirt Newkirk is acknowledged by all to have been one of the best men that ever administered the affairs of that important office. This is conceded in the strongest terms by at least one of the gentlemen who are working against him. When A. J. Sawyer put the name of Col. H. S. Dean to the Antis convention as its candidate for judge of probate he stated that Judge Newkirk was the best judge of probate that Washtenaw county had ever had. Coming from a man who has had as long experience in legal practice as Mr. Sawyer has, such words have double weight. Democrats and Republicans alike, all testify to the promptness, honesty and efficiency exhibited by Judge Newkirk in conducting the business of the probate court, and it would be but poor business policy to turn down a man whom even his enemies endorse as "the best judge of probate Washtenaw has ever had," for one untried and inexperienced in such lines of work. Therefore, vote for Judge Newkirk, and show by your votes that the services of an honorable, upright official are appreciated.

By a decision of the supreme court handed down Tuesday, the iniquitous beet sugar bounty law was knocked out on the ground of its being class legislation and that the state cannot authorize a tax for private purposes. This is a righteous verdict and one that it has all along been expected the supreme court would render.

The census figures do not seem to please some of the larger cities. They all placed their populations at a much greater number of people than the enumerators could find in them, hence their disappointment and chagrin.

The point of chiefest interest to the average householder nowadays is how high the price of coal is going.

Congressman H. C. Smith deserves and should receive the unanimous vote of every Republican in Washtenaw county at the coming election. He has been a good representative of his district and of his constituents and has taken a front rank in the halls of congress from the very start of his career as representative. Elected to serve a second term his services would be of even greater value to his district and the country at large. A vote cast for Smith is a vote cast for the right man for congress from this district.

In its report of the recent Democratic representative convention held at Saline, the Ann Arbor Argus says "The convention was called to order by Judge W. L. Watkins, who was chairman of the representative committee." The Argus is a little premature with that title of "Judge." Mr. Watkins has yet to win his spurs.

There are now twelve presidential candidates in the field. If another should come in the number would be raised to thirteen and there is no telling what might happen. Possibly the prohibition ticket might win in such a race.

No Republican voter should neglect to register this year.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver, of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed at Stimson's drug store.

Go into the garden and witness the exemplification of the fraternal idea. The turnip, with but a single root, however much it grows, is still an individual turnip. The potato, however, having "eyes" on every side, branches out and forms a fraternal potato lodge of from six to a dozen members, with other lodges scattered all over the field. The old turnip grows hard and bitter in his loneliness, and is fed to the hogs. The fraternal potatoes tickle the palates of hundreds of millions of men and give them strength to perform life's duties.

A preacher at Ft. Scott, Kansas, delivered a brief but truthful funeral sermon the other day. Here it is: "A word to you all. Post mortem praises are in the air. People kiss their dead who never stop to kiss their living; they hover over open caskets in hysterical sobs, but fail to throw their arms around their loved ones who are fighting the stern battles of life. A word to cheer the struggling soul in life is worth more than all the roses of christendom piling high over casket covers."

A savings bank system in connection with the public schools of Adrian has been inaugurated. Out of 1,000 children $80 made deposits with the teacher, the average being 33 cents. A certificate of deposit is issued and the superintendent of the schools deposits the money in a local savings bank. When the sum aggregates $3 it begins to draw interest. The system was inaugurated for the purpose of instilling thrifty habits among the rising generation. What's the matter with starting such a scheme in connection with the Chelsea schools?

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

All Departments of This Famous Institution Are Now Open for the College Year.

NEARLY 4,000 STUDENTS ENROLLED.

A High Standard for Admission Is Maintained—Tricks Played Upon Verdant Freshmen—Additions to the Faculty—Interest in Athletics at Fever Heat.

[Special Correspondence.]

University of Michigan, Oct. 1.—All departments of the institution opened for the college year of 1900-1901 Tuesday, September 25. Judging from the registration during the first few days the enrollment for the year, including summer school, will be in the neighborhood of 3,800. The few days preceding the 25th were occupied with entrance examinations for freshmen. As a result of these a good many conditions were given out. Michigan maintains a high standard for admission, and those who fall below the standard are asked to brush up a little before becoming full-fledged college students.

As Verdant as Ever.

This year's lot of freshmen are full as verdant as those of preceding years. Not a few "campus tickets" have been sold for one dollar apiece. These entitle the purchaser to walk about the campus at all hours of the day and night. As these are privileges that are denied to no one, the person chiefly benefitted by the ticket is he who sells it. Library tickets are also sold to the unsuspecting. One new student paid a year's subscription to the college daily just because an agent told him that it was required. The fellows who get caught this year, however, will square their score with the world next fall when they are sophomores and others are the greensies.

Rivalry Among Societies.

There is a good deal of rivalry this year among the young women's secret societies for new members. The old members go to the trains to capture any promising freshman girl who may arrive. The captured girls are taken to the society houses, where they are royally entertained, yet kept from communication with students likely to bid for them for another society. If the candidate on intimate acquaintance proves her worth, she is pledged; if not, she is dropped as quick as a hot potato. Some of the societies even select out the girls that they want for members months before they come to college. In this way they avoid a big scramble at the opening of the school year. The canvassing for suitable persons to be taken into the society is called "rushing," the candidate being rushed into the society, so to speak.

Address to Medics.

The annual address opening the work of the medical department was delivered Tuesday morning by Dr. Albert B. Prescott, dean of the department of pharmacy. Preceding the address, short speeches were made by Dr. Victor C. Vaughan, dean of the medical department, and Drs. Novy, Nanerode, Warthin, Lombard, Breakey and Martin. Standing room was at a premium, and judging from the great applause given the speakers and the diligence with which every intruding freshman was promptly tossed up to the back row, enthusiasm was at a higher pitch than usual. Dean Vaughan made a hit with the medics when he advised them to at least be careful enough in the choice of a roommate to avoid forming a partnership with a law student.

Faculty Additions.

There has been added to the university faculty for this year one full professorship, one junior professor, two assistant professors and six non-resident lecturers. The full professor is Arthur G. Canfield, who has been placed at the head of the department of romance languages. Herbert C. Sadler, formerly of the University of Glasgow, has been appointed junior professor of naval architecture. John A. Fairlie and Edwin C. Goddard have appointments as assistant professors of administrative law and law respectively. The new non-resident lecturers and the subjects upon which they will lecture are: E. D. Jones, assistant professor in the University of Wisconsin, "Industrial Resources of the United States;" O. M. W. Sprague, instructor in Howard university, "International Division of Labor;" Lyman E. Cooley, Chicago, "Industrial Significance of Deep Waterways;" Robert T. Hill, United States geological survey, "Industrial Significance of the West Indies to the United States;" Thomas L. Greene, New York city, "Function of the Financier in Industrial Organizations;" W. E. Willoughby, department of labor, Washington, D. C., "Functions of Trades Unions in Industrial Organizations."

Vesper Services.

Vesper services are to be revived this year. They have not been held for two years, so that it will probably attract a large number of students. They will take place Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Prof. Albert A. Stanley, of the department of music. The services will consist principally of singing.

Athletics.

Interest in athletics is at fever heat. Langdon Lea, the great Princeton coach, has arrived, and is training the football squad. He has brought with him "Mike" Bergen, who played guard and full back for Princeton some ten years ago. The two are putting the football candidates through their paces at a lively rate.

R. H. E.

BOGUS DOCTORS.

State Health Authorities Encouraged by the Conviction of "Fake" Medical Practitioners.

The state health authorities are greatly encouraged by the conviction of one of the so-called "fake" doctors with which Michigan has abounded during the past few years as the result of the work of the Independent Medical college of Chicago and others of Dr. Armstrong's diploma mills. This is the first conviction under the medical registration and examination law enacted by the last legislature, previous attempts to punish violators having failed.

The conviction was had in Berrien county, where at least 20 of these graduates are practicing. Five times that number are said to be located in Wayne county, and an idea of their qualification may be gained from the fact that the individual convicted resigned from his position as a brakeman on a freight train to engage in practice.

A STRANGE CASE.

An Insane Patient in the Asylum at Kalamazoo Virtually Talks Herself to Death.

The death of Mrs. Charles Reeves, a middle-aged colored woman at the Michigan asylum in Kalamazoo, was one of the strangest in the history of that institution. Mrs. Reeves was sent from Lansing about ten years ago and had the reputation of being one of the noisiest patients at the institution. She would talk for hours at a stretch. With increased age her shoutings had an effect on her system. The other night she had a talking fit of more than usual violence, which lasted far into the night. She died at two o'clock in the morning of a spasm of the glottis. Her vocal organs refused longer to respond, and she had literally talked herself to death.

IS ONLY A RUIN.

Collapse of the Grand Portal, the Most Remarkable Natural Wonder on Lake Superior.

Word has just been received in Marquette that the Grand Portal at Pictured Rocks collapsed during a recent northeast of great severity with a crash which was heard for miles around. The Grand Portal was the most remarkable natural wonder on the south shore of Lake Superior. Its height was 100 feet and its breadth 170 feet on the water line, while the cliff in which it was cut extended for 30 feet above the arch. The huge cave to which it gave entry has often received large excursion boats.

New Buildings.

Building operations for the year in Houghton county will reach about $2,000,000. This figure includes several new stamp mills, but not their machinery equipment or any of the railroad construction work amounting to at least $1,000,000 more. Calumet leads with $1,500,000 worth of new buildings. The Calumet & Hecla company alone has built 142 new dwellings this year, besides heavy expenditures and mill buildings.

He Meant Business.

Neil McMillan, aged 51, of Bay City, and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Heseltine, of Saginaw, were united in marriage by Justice Haller in Bay City. The groom met the bride in Saginaw the night before and proposed that they get married. Mrs. Heseltine said she was willing, not thinking that McMillan was in earnest, but when he got a marriage license and showed that he meant business she did not propose to back out.

Inherits a Fortune.

Advertisements in a local paper located Carl Frederick Wilhelm Rose, who inherits a large estate in Germany from relative long since forgotten. He is almost 90 years old. He has resided in Saginaw 30 years and had dropped the names Carl and Wilhelm, being known as Frederick Rose, but can now prove his identity. His wife is alive to share his fortune.

Rural High Schools.

The granges and farmers of Michigan are devoting much attention just now to the subject of rural high schools. This system is in vogue in Indiana, where it has passed the experimental stage, and is very popular, and its adoption in Michigan is sure to be urged.

THEY ARE STILL OUT.

Terms Offered by Operators Do Not Suit Miners.

They Insist on Recognition of the Union—They Fail to Resume Work in Any of the Districts.

Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—The mine operators of the Wyoming, Lackawanna & Lehigh regions on Monday at a meeting at Wilkesbarre followed Sunday's action of the Reading company in offering an increase of ten per cent. in wages to the mine workers. They furthermore decided to reduce the charge for powder from $2.75 to $1.50 per keg. The latter price has prevailed at the Reading company's mines for a long time. The action of the Wilkesbarre meeting means an increase of ten per cent. to all mine workers except miners. The latter will earn an increase of about ten per cent. by reason of the reduced cost of powder. The meeting was attended by representatives of all the leading railroad companies which own mines in the regions named. Some of the independent operators oppose the proposed increase, unless the coal carrying companies reduce the tolls on their product to tidewater.

Not Inclined to Accept.

The strikers, however, show no indication of accepting the offer. None returned to work at the Reading company's collieries in response to the notice of higher wages, and in fact many who had been at work there quit and joined the ranks of the strikers. As a result there were fewer collieries in operation in the Schuylkill region than at any time since the strike was inaugurated. In the other regions there was also additions to the strikers' forces.

Strikers' Demands.

At United Mine Workers' headquarters this statement was given out: "What we want is: 1. A better enforcement of existing mine laws.

"2. To obtain that which is fully our own, i. e., the value of labor actually performed and hitherto taken from us.

"3. To obtain the right to purchase our implements of labor at a fair market value and escape from the compulsory rule which forces us to pay the operators more than twice what the same materials can be purchased for at retail in the open market.

"4. To allow a readjustment of the wage scale that will nearly conform to the normal conditions of the anthracite trade and establish as nearly as practicable a uniform price for each class of work in and around the mines."

The strikers say that until these concessions are granted and the union recognized they will not return to work.

Notices of the increase in pay were posted throughout the entire anthracite region, but the opinion is general that few if any of the strikers will return to work. The strikers say they have other grievances to be adjusted besides wages and powder charges, and they further say they want recognition of their union.

Totally Ignored.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 2.—Although the labor leaders positively said they did not fear a break in the ranks of the anthracite coal strikers, they were nevertheless pleased to learn that the ten per cent. advance granted by the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron company in the Schuylkill valley was totally ignored by the striking mine workers Monday. It was predicted that many of the strikers would return to work under the belief that the ten per cent. increase would be the limit of the operators' concessions, but the unanimity of the men in deciding to stand out for a further advance caused many remarks of surprise.

It was expected in some quarters that Monday would see the turning point in the strike, but nothing came to the surface that would lead to any indication of the strike nearing an end. Since the operators began to hold conferences President Mitchell is receiving more information than formerly and giving out less. That he knows more about the situation than he cares to tell is hardly doubted by anyone. He has practically admitted that he receives advices from New York as to the doings of the operators. There still is a lack of anything tangible on which to base the report of an immediate settlement. President Mitchell continues to deny that he knows anything about it. The strike situation in the Lehigh valley showed a change in favor of the men. Several hundred men quit work at the Calvin Pardee mines at Lattimer as the result of persuasion on the part of 400 marching strikers, and at Oneida and Cranberry the coal companies lost additional men. No collieries were closed down in this region Monday.

Miners Won't Resume.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 2.—Notices of the increase in wages and the reduction in the price of powder decided upon by the operators at Wilkesbarre today were posted Monday night at all the collieries in the Lehigh region. President Mitchell, when shown a copy of the notice, declined to say anything at this time, but intimated that he might outline his position at the Wilkesbarre mass meeting to-day. He added, however, that there would be no resumption of work until a convention of the anthracite miners had been called and the proposition considered.

PARDONS AND PAROLES.

Gov. Pingree Gives Freedom to a Number of Convicts and Gives Reasons for Doing So.

Gov. Pingree has pardoned William K. Barker, who was convicted in Van Buren county in October, 1885, and sentenced to the state prison at Jackson for a term of 25 years. Barker and his brother Marshall were convicted of murdering Edward Keith, who was claimed to have been intimate with the latter's wife. Keith was in bed at Barker's house at the time of the shooting. The pardon board was satisfied that William K. Barker was not present at the killing, but only assisted his brother in disposing of the body.

The governor also pardoned Alfred Willetts, the young Mount Clements bell boy, who was convicted of drowning a hotel girl during the summer of 1894. Willetts was sentenced to Jackson prison for life. His conviction was secured largely through the evidence of a young man to whom it was claimed Willetts confided his intentions the night before. The prison board believes the drowning to have been purely accidental.

The following convicts were pardoned:

Gertrude E. Smith, sent from Ingham county, April, 1899, for two years for keeping a house of ill fame; Herman Grant, sent from Livingston county, November, 1899, to Marquette for 18 months for an attempt to break and enter a dwelling; Loren Page, sent from Grand Rapids, April, 1896, to Marquette for eight years for assault with intent to commit an aggravated assault; John Melville, sent from Kent county, April, 1899, to Ionia for four years for assault.

DECLARED VOID.

Supreme Court Says the Law Concerning Commission Merchants Is Class Legislation.

The act of the last legislature requiring commission merchants who buy and sell to take out a license and give bonds in the sum of $5,000 as preliminaries to doing business in Michigan has been declared void by the state supreme court. The opinion in effect states that the law can find no support in the police powers inherent in the state. It is called class legislation. The court says this is a legitimate commercial business and cannot be compared to the saloon business. The business requires no regulation any more than any other commercial pursuit. The legislative powers are limited when it comes to regulating private contracts between people engaged in legitimate commercial enterprises. The law was aimed at Chicago commission men who, it was alleged, cheated Michigan peach growers.

BEATEN AND ROBBED.

Michigan Farmer Falls Into the Hands of Thieves and Loses $5,000.

William E. Nivison, a wealthy farmer living 4 1/2 miles from Coldwater, was buncoed, assaulted and robbed of $5,000 three miles from town on one of the most public roads leading to Coldwater. Nivison says a well-dressed stranger, giving his name as Gosmer, a banker at Jonesville, came to his farm and offered to buy it providing he could get an adjoining farm with it. Nivison drove to Coldwater with the man, drew $5,000 from the savings bank and started back to buy the adjoining farm. The couple were met on the road by a third man, who, aided by the alleged banker, knocked Nivison senseless and robbed him of the $5,000.

Accident Averted.

What might have proved a very serious accident on the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad was averted by the smallest incident during a recent heavy storm at Big Rapids. A freight car was blown from the side track upon the main line, but while it was being pushed forward by the wind the switch light was also turned so that the red light was visible. The operator discovered it just at the proper moment.

Last Pine Tree Gone.

The pine industry at Cadillac, once so vastly important in that vicinity, has disappeared entirely, the last pine tree in Wexford county having just been cut down at a camp northwest of the city named. This one tree was left standing for several days in order that photographs of it might be taken. There was a large crowd in attendance upon the ceremonies incident to its destruction.

Found a Skeleton.

A couple of North Adams men were crossing Mud lake in a boat recently when they saw something at the bottom of the lake that attracted their attention, and made an investigation, which resulted in the discovery of the skeleton of an elk, nearly covered by the mud. They secured the horns, a fine specimen measuring 40 inches across.

The board of education has decided to submit to the taxpayers of Lansing a proposition to expend $2,500 for the maintenance of a manual training department in the public schools during the current year.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Law Declared Void.

The opinion of the supreme court in the case involving the constitutionality of the acts of the last legislature which required commission merchants to take out licenses and give bonds in the sum of $5,000 as preliminaries to doing business in Michigan and which was of so much concern to fruit dealers in Chicago, Detroit and elsewhere, was handed down. The court, by unanimous agreement, held the law void, declaring it to be class legislation and unjustifiable interference with the right of citizens to carry on legitimate business.

Health in Michigan.

Reports to the state board of health from 82 observers in various portions of the state for the week ended September 22 indicate that measles, pneumonia and influenza increased and diphtheria decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 175 places, measles at 10, typhoid fever at 145, scarlet fever at 51, diphtheria at 31, whooping cough at 12, cerebrospinal meningitis at 3 places, and smallpox at Houghton and Torch Lake.

Crop Conditions.

The weekly crop report of the Washington weather bureau says for Michigan:

Weather generally favorable for field work, except in portions of upper peninsula, where it continues too wet; corn cutting nearly finished and buckwheat mostly secured; sugar beets and late potatoes indicate very good yields; winter wheat and rye seeding well advanced in northern counties, but being purposely delayed in southern section to avoid Hessian fly.

Food Report.

The August bulletin of the state dairy and food commissioner shows that during the month 203 samples of food products were analyzed, and that 166 were found pure. This is an unusually large percentage. The bulletin reports the discovery of 11 samples of pure milk containing boric acid of formaldehyde preservatives.

Federation of Labor.

The work at Muskegon of the Michigan Federation of Labor was concluded after a three days' session, and officers were selected as follows:

President, D. A. Boyd, Detroit; vice president, William Warner, Saginaw; secretary-treasurer, Paul J. Marrin, Grand Rapids; members of executive board, John H. Shea, Detroit; J. A. Nichols, Saginaw; P. R. Zuideman, Muskegon; E. R. Welden, Kalamazoo.

Business Houses Burned.

The business portion of Omer has been practically destroyed by fire. The hotel, two drug stores, a saloon, furniture, hardware and jewelry stores, a photograph gallery, the post office and eight residences were burned. Losses about $50,000, with light insurance. The town has no fire protection.

Four Lives Lost.

The steel steamer Yuma crashed into the barge John Martin, in tow of the steamer Maurice P. Grover, at Port Huron, and the Martin sank in 30 seconds, carrying down Capt. James Lawless, Lora N. O.; Mrs. Bacon, cook, of Cleveland, O.; William Ross, mate, Toledo, O.; sailor, unknown.

Arbitration Law Upheld.

Labor won a victory in a case before the state supreme court in Detroit, in which the constitutionality of the arbitration law was upheld and the power of the mediation tribunal to grant a rehearing after once deciding a dispute was denied.

News Briefly Stated.

There were 2,954 deaths in Michigan in August.

Alma college opened with more new students present than any previous year in the past.

The state school for the blind in Lansing is attended by a larger class than ever before in the history of the institution.

The corner stone of Gratiot county's new courthouse was laid at Ithaca, the masonic order conducting the ceremony. Five thousand persons were in attendance.

Dr. Eliphalet A. Read, professor of pedagogy and philosophy in Kalamazoo college, died at Waterville, Nova Scotia, aged 33 years. He recently refused the presidency of Des Moines (Ia.) college.

Barthold Senna, a prominent German citizen, died near Standish from the effects of a fall in his barn. He was 60 years of age and leaves a large family.

The Society of the Army of the Tennessee, of which Gen. G. M. Dodge is president, has postponed its reunion at Detroit from September 26 to November 14 and 15.

After 24 years' service as county clerk, George Rutson, of Alcona county, comes up for renomination without opposition.

Residents of Hurontown, Houghton's principal suburb, are moving for incorporation as a village. The place contains 1,500 people and is located on the high hill immediately south of Houghton.

MARTHA FOOTE CROW.

One of the Well-Known Educators of the Country and Dean of Northwestern University.

The new woman is a highly interesting person and appears in a striking variety of guises. In one of these she has recently been appointed dean of the woman's department in the Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., which has 2,344 students and eight colleges.

The dean lives in a hall where 100 young women reside. It is a magnificent building, somewhat colonial in style, and has great, broad staircases for approaches. The dean's office is one of the best that a woman can hold in the United States, as a "really, truly professional chair" is associated with it. The work is exacting and hard, not a genteel pretense to support an empty dignity.

The woman to whom this coveted honor has fallen is Mrs. Martha Foote Crow, Ph. D., who has been associated with many colleges, including Wellesley. At Iowa college she was "lady principal" and was professor of literature at Chicago university.

Dr. Crow is a daughter of Rev. John B. Foote, of Syracuse, N. Y., who holds a prominent position in that city as a pulpit orator and still carries on a career of distinguished usefulness as a clergyman in the Methodist Episcopal church. The husband of Mrs. Crow was the well-known archaeologist, Prof. J. M. Crow, who occupied the chair of Greek at Iowa college at the time of her marriage to him.

Mrs. Crow has not restricted her studies within ordinary limits, says the New York Tribune, but has spent much time in research in the British museum and the Bodleian library. Some years ago she received a commission from the board of education at Washington to investigate the university education of women in Europe, and in that way was brought into association with well-known men and women in many countries.

Her chosen work lies chiefly in the Shakespearean period, and she has been come so generally recognized as an authority in that line that she was the first American asked to cooperate with the English editors of the Warwick edition of Shakespeare, and has edited "King Lear" and other plays in the series. She has done a great deal of independent work along these lines, including lectures.

Dr. Crow is an "all around" woman in the best and widest sense. She has written poems and a play soon to be produced; she rides the wheel and enjoys other athletic exercises; she is a skillful wood carver, and at one time had a "printing fad," in which she and the friend who shares her home bought a press, and with their own hands printed a number of booklets in daintily artistic fashion. This was the result of an enthusiasm aroused by meeting the poet Morris. Some of these specimens of bookmaking are enriched with beautiful "illumination."

In her busy life Prof. Crow has found time to join a club or two and confesses membership in the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, the Little Room, a society of novelists, artists and poets; Modern Language Association of America, Woman's Christian Temperance union, Chicago Woman's club, Fortnightly club, of Chicago; the Bibliographical society, Arts and Crafts society and Twentieth Century club, of Chicago; the Alumnae association, of Syracuse university, the Alpha Phi, the Mulberry club, the Woman's institute, of London, England, and she is an adopted member of the Alumnae associations of Wellesley, Iowa and Waynesburg colleges, and the University of Chicago. She is about to become a member of the Colonial Dames and the Daughters of the Revolution, and belongs to two working girls' clubs. The Mulberry club was founded by Dr. Crow and is composed wholly of "versemakers."

LOVE THEIR CHILDREN.

A Chat with a Chinese Mother in New York Proves the Universality of Natural Love.

There are about 40 Chinese women in New York. They are sweet, gentle creatures, often highly intelligent. It is difficult to get their confidence, but once gained they display great affection and docility. A day or two ago I dropped in unexpectedly upon a charming little woman of the orient, and thereby had a peep at a pair of very, very long, old fashioned corsets. The dear little thing blushed and hid them quickly.

Then she took her baby—lord of the house—upon her knee, gave him a pear, entirely too large for his little mouth to manage, and chatted away gayly.

Her hands were extremely pretty. Her upper lip was a little short, showing a row of glistening white teeth. Her smile was intelligent and infinitely sweet, like a little child's. Her glossy, heavy black hair was arranged in the true Chinese fashion, which happens to be the very European fashion of the day!

"Too bad, trouble in China!" she said. But soon that black-eyed baby of hers demanded all her attention, for, putting the little fellow's face against hers, he cried, "A ma! A ma!" which is Chinese for "mamma." So, seeing baby sleepy, and "A ma" busy, the visit ended.

The Chinese women in New York have in several instances come here to be married, after corresponding for years with their husbands.

They take their queer Chinese babies to Central park for fresh air, and in summer make occasional visits to Coney island. Here the little "chinks" dabble in the sand like other children and scream when taken into the waves. The young ones pick up English quite readily.

The Chinese women here all know each other. They make frequent calls upon each other, taking their babies along, and, while drinking delicious tea, discuss the care of children, and even the great servant question.

The husbands of several of New York's Chinese women are men of wealth, and they enjoy no little luxury in their homes, which are furnished in characteristic oriental fashion.—N. Y. Herald.

MAKING AN OMELET.

A Culinary Art That Should Be Acquired by Every Woman Who Pretends to Be a Cook.

It is an art every woman should know to make an omelet properly. The eggs should be broken on a dish and the whites and yolks stirred, not beaten, together and lightly seasoned with salt and white pepper, with a few bits of butter if you wish. Let the French frying pan of sheet iron be bright and polished. Melt a large tablespoonful of butter in it for an omelet of five eggs. Turn the omelet in as soon as the butter melts and flows over the bottom of the pan. The fire must be hot and the omelet must not be allowed to stick to the pan for a moment. Use a knife to prevent this. As soon as the eggs are creamy, though still soft at the top, but firm at the bottom, add any cooked meat, mince of herbs or cooked herbs intended to give the omelet distinctive flavor, or serve it as it is, "natural," as the French would call it, and roll it. Put it at once on the table; an instant's delay now will make it heavy. It must come on the table light, creamy and hot. Do not take time to garnish it. It is better to serve it without any delay. Mushrooms, cooked peas, asparagus, chopped herbs, tomatoes, stewed corn and almost any delicate or well-seasoned meat may be served in an omelet. Nothing is better than fried or boiled ham or a mince of well-seasoned veal in a brown gravy. A few tablespoonfuls of any such addition is enough for a four or five egg omelet. Where milk or cream is added it makes a variety in this dish, which is probably at its best made with eggs alone, properly seasoned and cooked.—N. Y. Tribune.

Her End of the Contract.

"My husband, the professor, works all the time on his theory to establish perfect harmony between man and the universe."

"Do you assist him?"
"Dear me, no; I've got all I can do to keep cook in good humor—he's always late to his meals."—Chicago Record.

Exhibits at Paris.

There is a large exhibit from this country at the Paris exposition which will prove very interesting to all who may attend, but no more so than the news that the famous American remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will positively cure dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, biliousness and nervousness. To all sufferers of the above complaints a trial is recommended, with the assurance that when honestly used a cure will be effected. It also tones up the entire system.

His Speciality.

But I think my specialty is in the hors du combat, as the French soldiers call him, which means officers' war horse or charger."—N. Y. Sun.
