REVS. HUNTER AND CROSSLEY

Who Will Conduct Revival Services Here for Four Weeks

We present this week to our readers the pictures of Rev. J. E. Hunter and Rev. H. T. Crossley, the noted evangelists, who are to conduct meetings in Chelsea for a month. These two men are regularly ordained ministers of the Methodist church, of Canada, members of the London conference, and are set apart by the conference to do evangelistic work. They have been eminently successful in soul-saving. Thousands of souls have been led to Christ through their ministry.

Mr. Crossley as a preacher is clear, logical, pointed and convincing, using no slang or coarseness in his discourses. As a singer he has a well-trained baritone voice, and possesses great clearness, sweetness and pathos. His words are all distinctly uttered, he sings from the heart to the heart.

Mr. Hunter being of Irish descent possesses that keen perception so characteristic of the Irish people. He is also possessed of much magnetism which draws and holds his hearers. He shows marvelous tact in managing a revival meeting. His bible readings are very attractive and are a great feature in their meetings.

Mr. Crossley will preach in the Methodist church next Sunday morning, and in the Congregational church in the evening.

End of the Century Celebration.

The students of the Ypsilanti high school will have a novel entertainment Friday, Dec. 21, in the shape of a closing of the century program. At the mass meeting of the students of that school held Friday afternoon at which the resolution to hold the entertainment was passed, the following resolution was also adopted: "Resolved, that the high schools of the state be invited through the public press to arrange for exercises of this nature at the same time."

The idea is a good one and has in it the possibilities of a most interesting program. The developments and progress of the century just closing and a forecast of the century to come have in them most interesting materials for good orations and essays. Why could not the Chelsea high school seniors, for instance, enter into such a program with as much gusto as they have displayed in other entertainments which have not as much merit in them as this one has, which should be of an elevating and inspiring nature.

$1,500 WORTH OF GOODS

Stolen From Mack & Co., at Ann Arbor, Sunday Night

Mack & Co.'s big store in Ann Arbor was broken into early Monday morning and between $1,500 and $2,000 worth of expensive silks, furs and other merchandise were taken. From a floor below expensive dress suit cases were taken in which the plunder was carried off. The stolen articles were missed when the store was opened at 7 o'clock. Entrance had been made through the skylight in the roof, through which one of the gang was let down, and the goods handed out. Detectives are working on the case.

Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Thursday last, Nov. 15, surrounded by their children, grandchildren and other relatives, and their old neighbors and friends, many of them being of nearly half a century's standing, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Collins, of Lyndon, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, having been married at Ann Arbor 50 years ago that day. There were between 70 and 75 people present. Among them were the six daughters of the aged couple, their husbands and families as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Suylandt and daughter, of Grass Lake; Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Palmer and son, of Chelsea; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie and daughter, of Grass Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Sprout and three children, of Pinckney; Mr. and Mrs. Boit, of Stockbridge; and Mr. and Mrs. John Runciman and three children, of Sylvan.

A beautiful wedding dinner was served at noon, after which the time was most pleasantly spent. A family history was read by Mrs. Loda Leslie, followed by the recitation of "Fifty Years Ago," and brief remarks by others present. A number of handsome presents were given to Mr. and Mrs. Collins as mementoes of the happy occasion. The singing of the hymn "God be with you till we meet again" brought to a close this most happy gathering.

Death of Mrs. Looney.

Mrs. Sarah Conlan Looney, widow of the late John Looney, died at her home in Sylvan, Friday afternoon, Nov. 16, at 4 o'clock, of paralysis, aged 73 years. The funeral services were held in St. Mary's church Monday morning, and the remains were interred beside those of her husband and children in St. Mary's cemetery, Sylvan.

Mrs. Looney's maiden name was Sarah Conlan. She was born in the county of Cavan, Ireland, in 1827. She came to this section with her parents at an early age. Three sons and three daughters survive her, also her sisters Mrs. Catherine Goran and Mrs. Andrew Greening, and her brothers John and Owen Conlan.

FADED IN HER YOUTH

Pretty faces and graceful forms of young women! Why is it they are so soon replaced by plainness and lankness? It is because the young girl just entering into womanhood does not know how to take care of herself and has no one competent to instruct her. It is not necessary that there should be anything weakening or wearying about the obligations of a female organism. Parents of young girls should inform themselves and prevent their dear ones from making costly errors.

That young woman has a just cause of complaint, who is permitted to believe that great periodic suffering is to be expected, that severe mysterious pains and aches are part of her natural experience as a woman. These things are making constant war on her health, her disposition and her beauty. It is a wanton sacrifice, absolutely unnecessary and cruel. It is more—it is criminal.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA for the Blood and Nerves

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, is the right medicine for every young girl who is just entering the first stage of womanhood. It prepares the system in every way to act normally. It enriches the blood supply, and keeps the nerves calm and steady. Fortified with this great medicine, all the womanly duties may be undertaken and experienced without the slightest jeopardy to health. It preserves the gifts of nature and assists their development into glowing, healthful beauty.

MRS. MARY FRANCES LITTLE, of 2 Hunter Alley, Rochester, N. Y., says:

"I was very pale and delicate—had no color. I took Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and now I am well and strong, my face is plump, and cheeks red, and my complexion pure."

MRS. WILLIAM BARTELS, 239 East 87th St., New York City, says:

"Dr. Greene's Nervura made a wonderful improvement in my health, and that dark, sallow look left my face. My friends hardly know me. I have gained flesh and am like a different person."

The nervousness in women which invariably comes with pain is of itself certain to stop the development of beauty in face and figure. Excited nerves make sharp lines and hasty speech. The beautiful curves which make women so attractive are not possible when the female organism is out of order, as it surely is when discomfort and pain are always or even periodically present. It is only necessary to look in the faces of young women everywhere to see that this must be so. Else why are they so pale and thin?

GET FREE ADVICE FROM DR. GREENE

Real beauty is rare. It belongs to perfect health. It is possible to every woman who takes the matter in hand intelligently. Get advice from Dr. Greene, the great specialist in these matters. He will tell you why all this is so, and show you how to avoid the stumbling blocks that bar woman's way to happiness. You may consult Dr. Greene without cost by calling or writing to him at his office, 35 West 14th Street, New York City. Don't throw away your beauty. Write to Dr. Greene to-day.

COOKING A SCIENCE.

Importance Recognized by Prince as Well as Pauper.

Exhibit of Kitchen Utensils Used in All Parts of the World Interests Visitors to the National Capital.

(Special Washington Letter.)

INDIGESTION causes more dissatisfaction, unhappiness and misery in families than any other one complaint to which human flesh is heir; particularly if the sufferer happens to be a man and the head of the family. Therefore it is that women make such careful study of cookery. They know that all of the good things in the world will not produce contentment and happiness in the mind and heart of a man unless they are well prepared and well served. This has been the case in all families from time immemorial; and it will probably always be so. Strong men are naturally the protectors of women, but the ladies all know that their protectors are usually big babies who need to be coddled and pampered. In the National museum here the scientists have gathered samples of all of the cooking utensils of the world, not only of the present time, but of all ages. This exhibition would prove to be not only interesting but valuable to women, and they could draw from its peculiar phases valuable inferential lessons in cookery. But a man can only tell the story as it appears to his unlightened eyes.

Here are carefully arranged all of the utensils of the kitchens of the world, showing how women have cooked, washed, ironed, boiled, baked, steamed, stewed, fried, toasted, roasted, broiled, deviled, fricasseed and chafed in all ages for their lords and masters, and for the rest of the family. Here are the utensils which have been handled by the patient hands of suffering women, while they slaved away their lives for the unappreciative and sometimes brutal creatures upon whom they depended for their food and scanty payment, while they tried so hard to "love," as well as to honor and obey, those to whose tender mercies their lives had been committed by the customs and ceremonies of their races, tribes and creeds. In every bit of iron, copper and pottery there is woven some life's history, and all of them have felt the hot tears of grief, and vibrated with the laughter of innocent youth.

Not only are the utensils here, but here are perfect pictures of the kitchens of some nations, and working models of others. Chinese, Japanese and Samoan houses are here in miniature with models of women at work inside of them. They are true to life and interesting beyond description. With these object lessons before our eyes we can know exactly how the other people of the world live; or, we might better say, how many of them exist.

If you are invited to dinner in Samoa you may see the feast prepared by the women. The stove is a hole in the ground, and there is no trouble in the family over the stove pipe, for there is no stove pipe. The women dig the hole, and fill it with wood. The hole is about as large as a molasses barrel, and when the wood is well ignited, the hole is covered with stones, which remain there until they are red hot and all the wood beneath them burned to ashes. Then the stones are removed, the hole is cleaned out, and a layer of hot stones placed at the bottom. The women then wrap bananas, chickens and vegetables in leaves, and spread them over the hot stones, and these delicacies are covered with more stones. Then other food is placed in another layer and covered with more hot stones, and so on until the hole is filled. A big fire is built on top of it all, and the entire mass is left to sputter and simmer until the woman in charge announces that dinner is ready. Travelers who have been honored with such a feast declare that it rivals anything that European banquets have ever enjoyed.

Stones are used in Turkey and Egypt for making cooking stoves. But in Alaska they use holes in the ground just as they do in Samoa. The Alaskans, however, have recently taken to using some American stoves, but as yet they are very rare. The women of Alaska make baskets for baking and boiling, and hot stones are dropped into the baskets to cook the food. They have to keep the stones rolling all the time to prevent them from burning the baskets, some of which are as beautiful as any fancy work baskets used by ladies in highly civilized countries for their sewing implements.

In Turkey and Egypt the floors of the houses are of stone and are also the bottoms of their stone stoves. The cooking utensils are almost all made of fine copper. The average harem has two or three cooks, but the sultan has usually about 300 cooks. It is said that once upon a time there was a sultan who had no regular time for his meals, but expected a banquet to be served whenever he chose to call for it. His chief cook was chained to the cooking stove, and everything was kept constantly in readiness for the royal call. If he ordered soup first, it was hastily cooked while the table was being set. If he ordered pie first, it was hurried to him. Meanwhile all of the machinery of the kitchen was at work so that as fast as he could dispose of one dish the others were made ready for him. The chef knew not which dish would be demand next, so he proceeded to prepare a full banquet every time the royal appetite asserted itself.

The kitchens of Japan are very neat, and always very clean. Every Japanese kitchen is supplied with running water; and these recently civilized people are the only orientals who value water as it should be valued. They are clean in their kitchens, in every part of their residences, and in their personal habits. The Japanese cook stoves would look like toys to the average American woman. They are about two feet square, and they cook but one dish at a time. For fire they use little balls made of coal dust and mud, and they also use charcoal in some houses.

Some observant travelers have declared that the Japanese women are the best housekeepers in the world; but, mind you, I am not bold enough to say that to American women. Japanese ladies take two baths every day in water as hot as they can endure. Their floors shine almost like mirrors. They use the softest and whitest of mats, and visitors are required to take off their shoes before being allowed to cross the threshold. The mats are made by the girls out of fine straw. They are an inch thick and are easier on the bare feet than the finest of carpets. The very poorest people in Japan have clean kitchens, clean floors and fine mats. The children make mats and regard it as recreation. They also take pride in this sort of work.

The Chinese women are, the opposite of the Japanese in that they are averse to the use of water; in fact, they seem to have a perfect horror of it, and, as a consequence, they are among the dirtiest and greasiest and most disagreeable people on earth. They wear their clothes until they are grimy all over, with a distinctively greasy mark down their backs which is made by the queues which they wear. Their kitchens are disgustingly dirty and they seldom sweep their floors.

The Chinese and Coreans use kang in their kitchens, and do the greater part of their cooking on them. A kang is a large oven-like ledge built into one side of the house. The cooking is done over the holes of the kang, and on cold nights the members of the family sleep on top of the kang. You may well imagine that no civilized person would want to eat anything cooked over a kang, on which the lazy, greasy, dirty creatures have been sleeping.

The Burmese use a box filled with ashes, on which a fire is built, and cook their food upon the live coals. They do not cook any meat, because all Buddhists fear that if they should eat meat they might be chewing the bodies of their reincarnated ancestors, so thoroughly do they believe in the transmigration of souls.

But of all the funny kitchens on earth those used by the Jews in Jerusalem are the queerest. The Jews there are very poor, and there is but one room for each family. The kitchen is a pen like a box, just big enough to stand in; and it is built on the porch. The cooking is done on a charcoal fire, but they use no meat except that which has been pronounced "koshar" by a rabbi. Many of their dishes are cooked in oil, and one writer has said that pastry made by these Jewish housewives in Jerusalem would "ruin the stomach of an American tramp;" and that is not too mean a thing to say of it.

PIGS AND GESE.

Eat Cherries Shipped in Brandy Casks and Become Hilariously Drunk and Foolish.

Pigs and geese were made drunk at the cider mills of William Smith, of Bloomfield Center. Will Hageman, who was present, said:

"In shipping the cider some casks were used that had been filled with cherry brandy. We emptied the cherries, probably a gallon to each cask, where the pigs could get them. It was amusing to see the drunken pigs after they had partaken of the brandy-soaked cherries. They staggered and squealed and acted as foolish as so many drunken men. The flock of geese pitched in and stuffed themselves, too. The old gander stood staggering with his legs wide apart, and squawked and 'honked' in an unnatural manner. In half an hour both pigs and geese were laid out on the grass, stavin' drunk. Two woodpeckers joined in and were soon laid out, with their feet in the air."

A GROWING INDUSTRY.

Manufacture of Agricultural Implements in Michigan on the Increase and Future Prospects Bright.

Figures on the manufacture of agricultural implements in Michigan have been compiled by Labor Commissioner Cox for his annual report. A total of 41 firms in 33 cities of the state were canvassed. These firms have an aggregate of $4,438,626 invested in the business, and all kinds of farm machinery is manufactured. The output for 1899 was valued at $7,138,340. The aggregate number of workmen employed is 3,217, the average wages being $1.57 for all kinds of labor. As a rule, the manufacturers report prospects for the future bright.

Rich in Iron Ore.

It is reported that a man named Murphy, from the upper peninsula, has closed a deal with George Lindeman, a prominent Milwaukee (Wis.) contractor, for a piece of property near Iron Mountain which is said to be rich in iron ore and which is to be worked as soon as the necessary machinery can be placed in position. It is said Lindeman paid $200 for the property in 1888 and that the price at which Murphy gets it is $32,000.

Will Tramp No More.

John Cronin was sentenced in St. Joseph to six years and a half at the state prison at Jackson by Judge Coolidge. Cronin stabbed Harry Hopkins at Bareda during the summer. Hopkins was a lad of 17 years, while Cronin was a tramp berry picker.

BABY'S FINGER NAILS.

Mothers Should Take Care of Them If They Would Preserve the Beauty of Darling's Hands.

If the mother would preserve the beautiful contour and texture of her baby's soft little hands she cannot begin too early to care for them. As it is, however, few girls ever own a manicure set until they are young women. By that time, as often as not, the hand is beyond reclaim. Baby's finger nails should be trimmed neatly and carefully from very birth. During the first year this will be sufficient, but from that time on the mother will give them a five minutes' treatment at least once a week.

Any little detached cuticle about the base of the nails must be trimmed off from day to day with the tiniest and brightest manicure scissors obtainable, and the flesh about the nail pressed away from it with a soft, old piece of linen. In this way the tender, delicate flesh about the finger tips will become firm and hard, and the child will not suffer from that painful affliction known as hang nails. This, while commonly regarded as a most trivial thing, is, nevertheless, often the cause of much graver troubles, ending in nervous diseases and blood poisoning.

Where a baby's nails have been properly trimmed from birth the habit of nail biting is never contracted. Where it has already been formed, however, the mother can overcome it immediately by putting the child through a careful course of treatment. If the nails are tough enough to stand the operation they will be filed instead of cut with scissors, and at first they will be kept very short.

Something will be done every day, even if it is only to rub them gently. As biting the nails is a purely nervous affection, it is imperative, in aggravated cases, to put the child under a physician's care. If baby should suddenly display a voracious appetite for its finger nails, as is often the case even in infants, you can depend upon it that something is not right, and the physician will probably tell you that the food is not agreeing with it.

Children should be taught from babyhood how to hold the hands gracefully and naturally while in repose, and when using them to do so daintily.

Each time after the hands are washed a good plan is for the mother or nurse to not only press back the flesh about the base of the nail as already described, but to also press the tips of the fingers very firmly on either side of the nail, and the result in a few years will be the beautiful tapering finger tips so rare and so much coveted by everybody, especially every woman. —N. Y. Herald.

WINDOW GARDENING.

Haphazard Care Does Not Pay with House Plants; They Need Constant Attention.

Nine-tenths of the windows used for window gardening are too crowded for the plants to look well or do well. Turn a new leaf right now by throwing away every poor or insignificant growth. Better to buy new stock in the spring than to turn your precious window space into a hospital ward for sickly plants.

Keep the foliage immaculately clean. Wash the leaves once or twice every week. A plant's lungs are its leaves. Showering the foliage washes the dust out of the pores, refreshes the plant and imparts vigor. Besides this, clean plants do not harbor insects, the greatest foe of the indoor garden, and the hardest to fight.

Loosen the crusted earth at the top of the pots. The roots need air, and in soft, pliable earth they get it by capillary transmission. A hard top crust seals the soil up as though in a jug. Neither air nor water finds free entrance through it. Plants in hard soil often suffer from lack of moisture at the roots, though water has been given every day.

Slide the shades up to the top of the upper sash; take down the curtains at the plant windows, and let God's invigorating sun shine in. Sunshine to a plant is what gold is to a Klondike miner.

In extremely cold weather stay the watering pot. Plants need little water during severe weather, and they chill or freeze twice as quickly after a fresh drenching. If watering becomes absolutely necessary have it the temperature of the room, and give only in the morning. Watering in the evening during a cold snap is to invite a visit from Jack Frost.

Pot your plants. Turn them, train them into shape as they grow, pick off every dead leaf or faded flower. Haphazard care does not pay with house plants. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SUPPORTS HIS MOTHER.

Tiny Boy Baby Poses Before the Camera and is Paid Ten Dollars an Hour for the Work.

Just a tiny baby and yet the main support of his mother! Jersey City is the home of this unusual youngster, and the neighbors of tiny Max Fairchild watch him every day with a great deal of interest.

Little Max is as beautiful and as bright as it is possible for a child to be, and because nature has endowed him with such rare charms he is able to earn ten dollars an hour as a model for a New York photographer, whose special line of work is furnishing artistic baby pictures for advertisements. Baby Max's pictures are scattered all over the world by this time. Look at the boxes of powder in the druggists' show case and you are almost certain to see the dear little form and face of Baby Max.

When the tiny mother was but a few months old his mother received a great shock. The father of little Max was a traveling salesman and was killed in a train wreck. The young mother and her infant son were left with but meager means of support. One day Mrs. Fairchild learned that a New York photographer wanted a pretty baby for a model and so she took her little son to his studio. The man with the camera was immediately pleased and said that the youngster was just the one he had been looking for. The baby was undressed as for his bath and sat on a table merrily cooing and expecting his splash in the water. The bright little face and perfect form was all that any artist could wish. After an hour's posing there was a set of the prettiest baby pictures that ever came from a studio. The advertisers who had given orders to the photographer were decidedly pleased, and this is how dimpled Max Fairchild became a model, earning enough to support himself and his widowed young mother.

THE FLOUR SHAMPOO.

A Common-Sense Substitute for the Horrible Measiness of Soap Suds and Water.

Isn't it a pity that women persist in ruining their hair by too much soap and water? says the London Mail. One of the most successful coiffures refuses to shampoo with it oftener than twice a year unless the hair is unusually oily. For other shampoos, given once a month, flour is used. The flour bath takes time, but is an effective shampoo. The powder is sifted into the hair in handfuls. Then the locks are divided into sections and brushed with a soft brush until every particle of white dust has been removed. Three or four applications of flour should be used at each shampoo, the color and consistency of the refuse proving that an amazing amount of dust is removed from the hair and scalp with each application.

Twice a year the hair should be singed at the season when trees and hedges are cut back. After the soap and water shampoo only the purest castile soap should be used on the hair—brilliantine should be applied, and then there will be no trace of the stiffness and dryness usually so noticeable after this shampoo. The hair should be brushed every night with fine, flexible brushes, and the brushes should be cleaned twice or three times a week with flour or ammonia and water.

If the hair is turning gray or falling out massage is the best remedy, and by massage is not meant a rubbing of the scalp, which will ruin the finest head of hair, but a rotary movement of the scalp. To massage properly a finger is firmly pressed against the head, and the loose scalp under it pushed with a rotary motion. The fingers are moved from point to point, but are never permitted to slide over or rub the scalp.

These new methods are abundantly successful, but some women, in spite of expert advice, persist in clinging to old and dangerous ways, and then they wonder why the hair becomes thin or unlovely. Much harm is often done by the use of noxious kinds of soap—a misguided passion for cleanliness should not mean the destruction of beauty, but its preservation or enhancement.

Might Have Waited.

The Tennessee woman who killed her son because he smoked cigarettes, says the Detroit News, could have saved much trouble by allowing the habit to take its course.

CENSUS FIGURES

Of Washtenaw County, Its Cities and Some of Its Townships and Villages

The census bureau has given out the official figures for the population of Michigan, which is placed at 2,430,965, an increase of 327,093. The population of Washtenaw county is given at 47,761. Of this number Ann Arbor has 14,509 and Ypsilanti 7,378, which leaves the population of the rural districts at 25,874. The cities have increased 6,327 in population since 1890 and the rural districts have decreased 2,607 in the same time, showing that the population is steadily drifting citywards.

Washtenaw is the 11th county in point of population in the state, and Ann Arbor is the 11th city in point of population in the state.

The population of Chelsea is 1,680, an increase of 257 since 1890. The population of Sylvan outside of the village is 944, and contrary to the results shown in other rural districts, is an increase over 1890 of 53.

Tommy Mac Was Exonerated.

From the columns of the Stockbridge Brief we take the following facts relative to the trial of Tommy McNamara, of Chelsea, which took place at Stockbridge, Monday of last week. Many have heard Tommy's emphatic denials that he was guilty of the charge for which he was arrested, and from the account given below it is very evident most people in Stockbridge thought he was more sinned against on this occasion than sinning:

"Last Monday was the day set for the trial of 'Tommy Mack,' of Chelsea, who was arrested on a charge of 'being drunk on the fair ground, of Stockbridge, Oct. 10.' Prosecuting Attorney Tuttle drove over from Mason, and was here all the forenoon up to the time of the trial, looking up evidence bearing on the case. Court was called to order by C. C. Johnson about 10:30 o'clock, and Mr. Tuttle in a few words to the court, stated that in all he had heard he could find no evidence to justify a trial, and that he should recommend that the court discharge the prisoner and drop the case. The justice promptly followed the advice. . . . We have since heard that Mr. Tuttle said that he could find no evidence, and that the fact of a man being talkative was not evidence of his being intoxicated, and that in his opinion this was a wrongly advised affair from the start. It looks as though the 'legal adviser' (?) had succeeded in getting the village into trouble and then could not help them out."

The account of the trial given in the Stockbridge Sun was evidently the outpouring of personal spite and malice on the part of the editor, who is also the "legal adviser" mentioned in the above paragraph, and who we are given to understand has a good, big sized grudge of old and long standing laid up against Mr. McNamara.

The swell organ will also have five registers, of 61 pipes each, violin diapason, salicional, stopped diapason, flute harmonic, oboe and bassoon. The pedal organ will have two registers, of 30 pipes each—bourdon and lieblich gedackt. The couplers and accessories and pedal movements will all be pneumatic in their action.

THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Michigan Legislature Will Contain Fourteen Former Graduates of the University.

WERE STUDENTS IN VARIOUS BRANCHES

Visit from a Returned Missionary—Contribution to the Museum—Good Record of Football Team—The Second Women's Party—Talk in Favor of Deep Waterways.

[Special Correspondence.]

University of Michigan, Nov. 19.—The university will be represented in the legislature that convenes in January by 14 graduates and former students. Four of the 14 alumni are senators and ten representatives. Theron W. Atwood, of Caro, who is a member of the present legislature and has been re-elected, is a graduate of the university law school with the class of 1875. He represents the Twenty-first senatorial district. Dr. Arthur D. Bangham, of Homer, senator for the Ninth district, is a graduate of the medical department with the class of 1882. The Second district is represented by James O. Murfin, of Detroit. He has two sheepskins from the university. In 1895 he received the degree of bachelor of letters, and in 1896 the degree of bachelor of law. William S. Pierson, of Flint, will look after the interests of the Thirteenth district. He graduated from the law school in 1896.

In the House.

In the house Joseph E. Bland, of Detroit, will represent the First district of Wayne county. He was graduated in 1895 as bachelor of laws and in 1896 as master of laws. The representative for the First district of Kent county is David E. Burns, of Grand Rapids, a graduate of the law class of 1892. Dexter M. Ferry, Jr., who was a student in the literary department during 1892-95, is another representative for the First district of Wayne county. Lester A. Goodrich, who is a member of the present legislature and has been elected by the voters of Hillsdale county to succeed himself, was graduated with the degree of pharmaceutical chemist in 1882. Sherman T. Handy, of Crystal Falls, a bachelor of law with the class of 1891, has been reelected representative by the Dickinson district. Fred A. Hunt, of Detroit, is a third representative for the First district of Wayne county. He was graduated from the law school in 1876. Angus W. Kerr, of Calumet, representative for the First district of Houghton county, will continue as a legislator. He studied law in the university during 1891-92. The fifth university man who is in the present legislature to be reelected is George McCallum, LL. B., 1898. He represents Delta district, with his home at Manistique. Theodosius Wade, of Fennville, representative for the Second district of Allegan county was graduated in 1888 with the degree of bachelor of law. Charles P. Wheeler, a literary student in 1884-86, has been elected to the house by the people of St. Joseph county. His home is at Three Rivers.

Returned Missionary.

During the past week the university received a call from Dr. Mary Maria Cutler, a graduate of the medical department with the class of 1888. For the last seven years Dr. Cutler has been in Corea as a medical missionary. She has had charge of the hospital at Seoul, which is run by the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. Cutler, after visiting her old home, which is at Fishers, and taking some graduate work in the university, will return to Corea to continue her missionary labors.

Contribution to Museum.

Five black grouse or spruce partridges have been contributed to the bird collection in the museum by Dr. John B. Van Fossen, of Ypsilanti. The birds were shot in the upper peninsula of this state. Three of the skins have been mounted and grouped together.

The Football Games.

The football team has won six of the seven games that it has played so far this fall. The dates and scores are as follows: September 29, Michigan, 29; Hillsdale College, 0. October 6, Michigan, 11; Kalamazoo, 0. October 13, Michigan, 24; Case School of Applied Science, 6. October 20, Michigan, 11; Purdue, 6. October 27, Michigan, 12; University of Illinois, 0. November 3, Michigan, 12; University of Indiana, 0. November 10, Michigan, 5; State University of Iowa, 23. Saturday's game was with the eleven from Notre Dame university. The two games yet to be played are with the Ohio state university, Saturday, November 29, and with the team from the University of Chicago on Thanksgiving day. The first game will be in Ann Arbor, the second in Chicago.

The Women's Party.

The second in the series of Women's league parties was given last Friday evening. It was by the second ten groups of the league and was a literary party. Posters representing books were displayed and the guests asked to guess as to the book. The persons most successful in the guessing were the recipients of prizes. In the general social which followed the guessing contest each person represented a book. This party, like its predecessors, was exclusively for women.

Favors Deep Waterways.

Civil Engineer Lyman E. Cooley, of Chicago, in lecturing to students here last week, said that deep waterways would be necessary to the growth of inland cities. He declared:

"We must bring the sea to the western cities, so that each city stands on the same footing for foreign trade, or their strength will be sapped. The histories of nations is the history of contact with water."

"For waterway purposes only that portion east of the western limits of Nebraska, Kansas, Dakota, Texas, etc., can be used. The east half of the United States and two-thirds of Canada is capable of having deep waterway service. It is about 1,700 miles from Chicago to the Gulf of Mexico, or to the Gulf of St. Lawrence."

He said a valuable route of 2,400 miles of deep-sea navigation would go by Lake Champlain. "There are good ores along Lake Champlain that are wanted in Pittsburgh and quantities of Rutland marble are on the other side of the lake. The coasting trade must be taken into consideration and the long detours such as are now necessary to get in and out of the eastern bays must be shortened by canals. It could be shortened to 600 miles in this way. The Nicaraguan canal is only 200 miles long. All these could be built for $600,000,000. Two hundred million dollars would build a 20-foot waterway to the Gulf of Mexico. A waterway could be constructed to Pittsburgh to loop with Lake Erie and the Ohio in doing this. Another waterway could be constructed from the head of Lake Superior down the St. Croix and Mississippi. All of these routes would systematize the country wherein the greater portion of the population of the United States live. They would cover 7,000 miles in length and could be built at a cost of about $1,000,000,000. This is equal to the cost of about 20,000 miles of railroad. It would be an economical stroke in the end by saving handling of shipments.

"Other waterways could be constructed from Ontario, Seneca and other lakes down the Susquehanna. Across the Ohio, several could be constructed, and the Wabash valley in Indiana furnishes another available country. We could get 14,000 miles of barge routes (for barges of 2,500 tons) in the river valleys.

"Deep waterways would not injure the railroads. The Pennsylvania railroad would be better paying if a canal followed it to carry the bulky and cheap articles. The railroads would distribute and gather up simply the cream of the trade, and it would be good for all concerned."

STATE LANDS.

About 20,000 Acres Changed Hands at a Sale by Land Commissioner French.

Land Commissioner French's office in Lansing was crowded with purchasers of state lands, and the state parted with about 20,000 acres of its domain. The lands were state swamp and primary school lands located in Luce, Baraga, Houghton, Ontonagon, Delta, Keweenaw, Isle Royal, Crawford, Alpena, Kalkaska, Emmett, Cheboygan and other northern Michigan counties. About 8,000 acres of land were sold at auction at prices ranging from one dollar to $56 an acre. One piece of land of 26 acres was bid for by a man who owns a summer resort adjoining it, and by a lumberman who wants it for a sawmill site. It is not valuable land, but the summer resort man didn't want the sawmill next to his property, and the sawmill man had to have the land for the purpose. He got it, but he paid the price of good farming land in the lower peninsula.

About 12,000 acres were sold at private sale after the bidding was over, the prices paid being the appraised value of the lands.

A Great Trader.

Ed P. Bates, besides editing the Hesperia Union, is a bewildering trader. He bought a pair of horses and made the crops on his farm, then sold the horses for a farm, the farm for a house, the house for a team, buggy, harness, etc., sold one horse and a buggy, sold the harness for a pig and a wagon, made three horse trades with the remaining horse and now has a horse, a wagon and pig for sale. In a year he has owned and traded 20 horses, each of which was the "best" horse in Newaygo county.

Cruel Man Fined.

Justice Carr imposed a fine of ten dollars and six dollars costs or 30 days in jail on Ethan Conklin, of Muskegon, for torturing and killing a pet cat belonging to W. E. Gordon. The cat got caught in a spring trap a year ago and one of its front legs had to be amputated. Conklin set a lot of dogs on her and she backed up against a tree and with her remaining paw drove them off, when Conklin took a stick and broke it. The dogs were then set on her again and injured her so that she had to be shot.

New Electric Road.

Officers of the Peninsular Traction company, which is to construct an electric road from Battle Creek to Grand Rapids, state that the route of the road has been definitely determined upon and the right of way secured all the way from Battle Creek to Grand Rapids. The road passes through Bedford village, Johnstown, Barry, Hope, touches the north end of Gull lake and the west shore of Gun lake, thence to Orangeville, Martin, Wayland, Leighton, Gaines and Paris to Grand Rapids.

IN SPLENDID STYLE.

Coming Centennial to Be Observed in Washington.

One Hundredth Anniversary of Removal of Seat of Government to That City to Be Celebrated on December 12.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Monday was the one hundredth anniversary of the meeting of the first congress which assembled in Washington after the capital of the republic was transferred to this city from Philadelphia. The centennial anniversary of the removal of the seat of government to this city is to be elaborately celebrated December 12. Exercises will be held at the capital and the white house of an appropriate character. The occasion in many respects is to be commemorative of the growth of the republic during the century. The governors of all the states, as well as many other distinguished guests, are to be present. All the departments will be closed. One of the features of the celebration will be a military parade which will contrast the uniforms and accoutrements of the militia of a hundred years ago with those of the present day. In connection with the event there is a project for an enlargement of the executive mansion to a scale commensurate with the present features and grandeur of the country.

Mission of the Kentucky.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The first-class battleship Kentucky, now in the Mediterranean waters, has been ordered to touch at Smyrna, Turkey, on her way to the Philippines. The Kentucky has been in Mediterranean waters for some time, has made a stop at Algerian ports, and is now at Naples, Italy. She is going to Manila via the Suez canal route, and is in command of Capt. Colby M. Chester. The Kentucky's presence in Turkish waters will be coincident with renewed efforts on the part of the administration to collect from the Turkish government payment of the indemnity claimed by the United States for the destruction of missionary property in that country some years ago. These claims have been pending for a long time. The payment of the indemnity was urged in turn by Ministers Angell and Strauss, and Mr. Criscom, the American charge now at Constantinople, has been persistent in his demands for a settlement, but thus far apparently without any definite assurance that the claims will be paid. The claims approximate in amount $100,000.

Smyrna lies at the head of the gulf of that name, has a large population, and for centuries has been the most important center of trade in the levant. The city lies out of the ordinary line of travel to the Suez canal.

Naval officials are proud of the splendid battleship Kentucky, which only recently has been launched. She has a displacement of 11,525 tons, with an indicated horse power of 10,000, and has 22 guns in her main battery. Much admiration has been expressed for her appearance at the places she has stopped, and the detour to Smyrna is said in official quarters to be for the purpose of showing her off.

Sargent Won't Accept.

Washington, Nov. 20.—It is learned that Mr. Frank Sargent, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, to whom was tendered the office of chief of the bureau of engraving and printing, has decided definitely not to take the position, but to remain head of the labor organization he now represents.

May Reduce Taxation.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Many members of the house ways and means committee arrived in Washington Monday. The republican members will meet to-day to consider a bill modifying the war revenue act passed in 1898. Several plans have been outlined for the proposed reduction in taxation.

A Fatal Fall.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 20.—Leonard G. Nash, of Bradford, Pa., who has been in Princeton since September preparing to enter the university in February, was instantly killed Monday afternoon by falling 100 feet from the top of the Princeton water tower. Nash, in company with Freshmen Moore and Brokaw, went out walking and upon reaching the tower climbed up the iron ladder, followed by Moore. The latter started to return when half way up, and Nash, who had reached the top, lost his balance and fell. His body struck Moore, whose head was quite badly bruised by the blow.

Only One Saved.

London, Nov. 20.—The Daily Express publishes the following from Odessa: A party of 38 Turks wishing to leave Russia secretly sailed at dead of night from Tschuruku to cross the Black sea. A storm arose and the boat filled. First the baggage was thrown overboard, then the children, and finally the women were committed to the sea; but this did not prevent the vessel from foundering, and all perished save one lad, who clung to the mast and was washed ashore.

SHOWS IMPROVEMENT.

Favorable News from the Bedside of Russia's Sick Ruler—A Regency Suggested.

London, Nov. 20.—All the available news concerning Emperor Nicholas continues favorable. It is said that he is much touched by the sympathy manifested by the foreign press.

"It is asserted in court circles here," says the Vienna correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, "that the illness of the czar is due to eating bad fish, and that other members of the imperial family at Livadia are suffering to some extent from the same cause."

St. Petersburg, Nov. 20.—The highest religious authority has sent a telegraphic command to all churches to hold special prayers for the recovery of the emperor. All the churches in St. Petersburg, Moscow, Kharkow, Kheron and Odessa were already holding prayers when the order was issued.

The Svjet, after remarking that the "normal course of the disease has hitherto been a favorable augury," says: "The telegraph has given sincere expressions of foreign sympathy. Europe and the world comprehend the role of the czar better than ever before, acknowledging him as the first prince in the world and the guardian of peace."

Paris, Nov. 20.—The Dix-Neuvieme Siecle, Monday, prints a special dispatch from St. Petersburg saying that the physicians having announced that the illness of the czar will continue for some time, a regency is under consideration to act till the czar's complete recovery. Grand Duke Vladimir, uncle of the czar, is added, is mentioned as regent.

DUKE'S MOTHER DISPLEASED.

Dowager Duchess of Manchester Indignant at Marriage of Her Son to Miss Zimmerman.

London, Nov. 20.—An inspection of the register of the Marylebone parish church, Monday, shows that the reported marriage of the duke of Manchester to Miss Helene Zimmerman, of Cincinnati, is true. The ceremony occurred last Wednesday afternoon. The couple are now in Ireland.

When the dowager duchess of Manchester was asked by a representative of the press Monday morning if the report of the marriage was correct, she denied it absolutely, alleging that the announcement was made at the desire of a certain person who devoutly hoped the marriage would occur. She evinced extreme displeasure at the idea of her son marrying Miss Zimmerman.

Subsequently the dowager duchess went to the church, inspected the records and found, to her great surprise, the marriage had occurred.

Cincinnati, Nov. 20.—Mr. Zimmerman received a cablegram from his daughter announcing their marriage last week, and he cabled back his blessings. It is understood that Mr. Zimmerman will have a reception for the duke and duchess on their arrival here, although he openly opposed the match.

HOURS OF LABOR REDUCED.

Machinists and Their Employers Come to an Amicable Agreement.

Washington, Nov. 20.—By agreement between representatives of the National Metal Trades association and the International Association of Machinists, the hours of labor of the machinists throughout the United States, beginning Monday, were reduced to 9½ hours per day. Beginning May 18, 1901, nine hours will constitute a day's work among the machinists. In accordance with the agreement strikes and lock-outs will not be resorted to in the machinists' trade. All further disputes are to be settled by arbitration.

Milwaukee, Nov. 20.—The 2,700 employes of the Edward P. Allis company began Monday to work 57 hours per week and will continue on this basis until May 18, 1901, when 54 hours will comprise a week's work. The men have been working ten hours per day. The new arrangement is the outcome of the settlement of the labor troubles last May at Chicago, Paterson, N. J., Cleveland and other places at the meeting of the joint arbitration committee, composed of members of the International Association of Machinists and National Trades association.

Given Heavy Sentences.

London, Nov. 20.—Director Nelson and Manager Shimon, who, with the auditors of the institution, were found guilty, November 14, of falsifying the books of Dumbell's Bank of Douglas, Isle of Man, which recently failed for over £100,000, were sentenced to five years' imprisonment. The others received sentences ranging from 6 to 18 months' imprisonment.

Shows an Increase.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The annual report of the government hospital for the insane shows a total of 2,076 patients, an increase of 138, the largest increase in its history, and predicts a total of 2,375 inmates at the close of the present year. There are 958 inmates taken from the army, navy and marine hospital service, of whom 256 were received during the past year.

FIX THE AMOUNT.

Experts Find Shortage of Newport Bank's Missing Employee to Be $191,500.

Cincinnati, Nov. 20.—The experts who have been working with Receiver Tucker on the books of the German national bank at Newport, Ky., place the shortage of Frank M. Brown, the missing assistant cashier and individual bookkeeper, at $191,500. According to reports from those who were with Brown when he left last Tuesday night he had less than $500 with him. Brown's salary was only $1,500 a year. Cases are now cited where he spent more than that amount in one day. His bond was for $10,000, and it is good as far as it goes.

The German national bank early Monday morning sent all of its cash to Cincinnati, fearing a run because of the alleged defalcation of Brown, the individual bookkeeper. Brown's pecuniations are now said to amount to $191,000. By 7:30 o'clock Monday morning a crowd of 100 depositors was in front of the bank, and a detail of police was sent from headquarters. There was no trouble, but fearful faces told of the mental strain of many depositors. At five o'clock the crowd began to disperse, it being learned that the money was in Cincinnati and the officers were not in the bank. At six o'clock two of the directors entered the bank, and the depositors, learning this fact, again gathered, threatening the officers with violence. The officers hastened out and the policemen drove away the crowd.

National Bank Examiner O. P. Tucker, who is in charge, in an interview Monday said that the alleged defalcation was not discovered by him until ten o'clock on Saturday night, that both he and the bank's own experts had been unable to find anything wrong until that time. The discovery was made in a comparison of Brown's individual ledger with the cashier's daily checking up. Here it was found that Brown had been forcing balances from day to day until the total of $191,000 had been withdrawn from the funds of the bank.

The examiner further said that the matter of criminal proceedings had been referred to United States District Attorney Hill, of Louisville, who would cause a warrant for Brown's arrest to be issued. The examiner himself had not taken this step because he knew that Brown was absent.

Depositors may receive a dividend as soon as the comptroller of the currency will authorize it, but this may be weeks, and even months. Depositors will be notified of the amounts to their credit and they will be required to make proofs of their claims. Examiner Tucker said he would employ a full force of clerks to arrange the business of the bank and make every effort to collect all the debts due the bank and in every way discover the bank's exact condition.

TOBACCO IS PRAISED.

High Tribute to the Weed Is Paid by Justice Brown, of United States Supreme Court.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The United States supreme court on Monday rendered an opinion in the case of William B. Austin versus the state of Tennessee, upholding the validity of the state law regulating the sale of cigarettes. The law was attacked as an infringement of the right of congress to regulate interstate commerce. The notable feature of the decision was the opinion of Justice Brown as to the merits of tobacco and cigarettes. The Tennessee court had held that cigarettes are not an article of commerce. With this view Justice Brown took issue, and he delivered quite a dissertation upon the subject. Whatever was an object of barter and sale was, he said, an article of commerce and must be so recognized. Tobacco had been such an article for 400 years. It had been made the subject of taxation, and, indeed, had become more widely scattered than any other vegetable. Probably, had justice added, no other vegetable had contributed so much to the comfort and solace of the human race. This being the case, it was entirely beyond bounds to say that tobacco was not an article of commerce.

Damage by High Water.

Phoenix, A. T., Nov. 20.—A continuation of the heavy rains in the north have sent many creeks and rivers out of their banks. Salt river is higher than at any time within two years. The water is three feet over Arizona dam, and the irrigating canals are full. Fifteen miles northeast of Phoenix the Arizona canal has broken through its banks. In several places northwest of the city Cane creek has come down in a violent flood, washing big holes through the canal. The water is steadily rising and more serious damage is likely to occur. At Pima half the town is under water.

A Corner in Corn.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—George H. Phillips, a young board of trade operator, is thought to have a corner in November corn. The price went up four cents and may go to 20 cents higher before settlement day.

LIEUTENANT PETERSON

Says Peruna is The Finest Tonic And Invigorator He Ever Used.

Lieutenant Charles Peterson, Hook and Ladder Co. No. 21, writes the following letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., from 827 Belmont avenue, Chicago, Ill.:

"Last year I had a severe attack of la grippe which left me very weak, so that I was unable to perform my duties. Several of my friends advised me to build up on Peruna, and I found it by far the finest tonic and invigorator I had ever used. In two weeks I was strong and well, and if ever I am exposed to unusual hardship incident with my duties at fires, I take a dose or two of Peruna and find that it keeps me in good health."

Charles Peterson.

Lieut. Chas. Peterson.

The above is only one of fifty thousand letters we have on file attesting the merits of Peruna.

There are a great multitude of people in all parts of the land who have entirely lost their health as a result of a grippé; who have recovered from an attack, but find themselves with weakened nerves, deranged digestion, and with but very little of their former powers.

There is no disease known to man that leaves the system in such an outrageous and exasperating condition as la grippe.

For this class of sufferers, Peruna is a specific. Peruna should be taken according to directions and in a few weeks the sufferer will be entirely restored to his accustomed health.

AN AWFUL FATE.

Colored Brute Is Burned at the Stake at Limon, Col., for Murder of a Little Girl.

Limon, Col., Nov. 17.—Chained to a railroad rail set firmly in the ground on the exact spot where his fiendish crime was committed, Preston Porter, Jr., or, as he was familiarly known, John Porter, Friday evening paid a terrible penalty for his deed. It was 6:23 o'clock when the father of the murdered Frost girl touched the match to the fuel which had been piled around the negro, and 20 minutes later a last convulsive shudder told that life was extinct. What agony the doomed boy suffered while the flames shriveled up his flesh could only be guessed from the terrible contortions of his face and the cries he gave from time to time.

Preston Porter did not seem to realize the awful punishment that he was destined to undergo. As he had exhibited indifference to the enormity of his crime, so he seemed to lack all understanding of its terrible consequences. For more than an hour while preparations for his execution were in progress he stood mute and sullen among the avengers. When everything was ready he walked to the stake with a firm step, pausing as he reached the circle of broken boards to kneel in prayer. He was allowed to take his time. He arose and placed his back to the iron stake, and half a dozen men wound chains about his body and limbs.

The executioners, who numbered about 300 citizens of Lincoln county, had not the least semblance of the ordinary mob. Their every act was deliberate, and during all the preparations, as well as throughout the sufferings of the negro, hardly an unnecessary word was spoken. Grimly they stood in a circle about the fire until the body was entirely consumed and then quietly they took their way back to Limon, from whence they departed for their homes shortly afterward.

THROWS AX AT EMPEROR.

Insane Woman Makes Attempt on the Life of Germany's Ruler—Exciting Incident at Breslau.

Breslau, Nov. 17.—Emperor William was the object of an attempted outrage Friday which, however, failed. As he was driving in an open carriage to the cuirassier barracks, accompanied by the hereditary prince of Saxe-Meiningen, a woman in the crowd hurled an ax at the carriage. The rapidity with which the vehicle was passing saved its occupants. The ax, or hatchet, fell just behind the carriage. The woman was immediately arrested.

The assailant is a tradeswoman of Breslau. A provisional medical examination of the prisoner has been made and she has been pronounced to be insane.

Griggs Will Quit Cabinet.

Washington, Nov. 17.—At the cabinet meeting Friday Attorney General Griggs informed the president and his colleagues that after mature deliberation he had concluded that it would be impossible for him to remain a member of the cabinet for the next four years. This was the first definite response from any member to the president's wish expressed at the last cabinet meeting that all of the portfolios should remain in the same hands during the coming administration. The resignation of the attorney general will not take effect until March 4 next, and it is thought at present that all the other members, with the possible exception of the secretary of war, will retain their present positions.

Colored Women Admitted.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 16.—A letter from Mrs. Booker T. Washington was read to the National Council of Women, saying that the National Association of Colored Women has secured $50 of the $100 necessary for its dues, and would be a member soon. As this exceeded the annual portion of the dues and Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, the national president, is attending the meetings, it was voted unanimously to admit the organization at once.

Lumber Mills Shut Down.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—With the advent of winter, which has now begun in earnest, a majority of the sawmills throughout the northwest have closed for the season and nearly 5,000 men have been thrown out of work in consequence. All of them can find plenty to do in the woods, however, so no suffering is anticipated. The pond of each mill is full of logs and the past season was one of the best ever known.

Thirteen Killed.

Babonne, France, Nov. 16.—The Southern express was derailed at noon Thursday between St. George's and Saubusse, near Dax, about 33 miles northeast of Bayonne. The restaurant car was precipitated over an embankment. Thirteen persons were killed and twenty others injured, seven seriously. Five passengers are missing. The list of killed includes Senor J. F. Canevaro, Peruvian minister to France.

"Now Don't Get the Blues."

When a cheerful, brave and light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the blues, it is a sad picture.

It is usually this way:

She has been feeling out of sorts for some time, experiencing severe headache and backache; sleeps very poorly and is exceedingly nervous.

Sometimes she is nearly overcome by faintness, dizziness, and palpitation of the heart; then that bearing-down feeling is dreadfully wearing.

Her husband says, "Now, don't get the blues! You will be all right after you have taken the doctor's medicine."

But she does not get all right. She grows worse day by day, until all at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established.

Her doctor has made a mistake.

She loses faith; hope vanishes; then comes the morbid, melancholy, everlasting blues. She should have been told just what the trouble was, but probably she withheld some information from the doctor, who, therefore, is unable to accurately locate her particular illness.

Mrs. Pinkham has relieved thousands of women from just this kind of trouble, and now retains their grateful letters in her library as proof of the great assistance she has rendered them. This same assistance awaits every sick woman in the land.

Mrs. Winifred Allender's Letter.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to write and tell you of the benefit I have received from your wonderful remedies. Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I was a misery to myself and every one around me. I suffered terrible pain in my back, head, and right side, was very nervous, would cry for hours. Menses would appear sometimes in two weeks, then again not for three or four months. I was so tired and weak, could not sleep nights, sharp pains would dart through my heart that would almost cause me to fall.

"My mother coaxed me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had no faith in it, but to please her I did so. The first bottle helped me so much that I continued its use. I am now well and weigh more than I ever did in my life."—MRS. WINIFRED ALLENDER, Farmington, Ill.
