A Pleasant Fraternal Visit.

The visit of Palestine Lodge, No. 357,
F. & A. M., of Detroit, to Ann Arbor
Monday evening to confer the third degree in Masonry for Golden Rule Lodge,
No. 159, was made the occasion for a visit to the latter lodge by several Chelsea Masons. Those who were of the party were John B. Cole, George Ward, Hiram Lighthall, Rev. C. S. Jones, Prof. W. W.
Gifford, O. T. Hoover, Henry Wilson,
John Hathaway, William Bacon, Henry Gorton and Tom W. Mingay. The work done by the Palestine brothers and the singing of the quartet was fine, the banquet that followed was toothsome, the program of toast and song excellent, and the hospitality of the Ann Arbor Masons unmistakable. As one man said "I wouldn't have missed it for $5.00."

W. W. Union Farmers' Club.

The January meeting of this club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Boynton last Thursday. The meeting was called to order by the president. The program opened with music, followed with prayer by Rev. F. A. Stiles. The full program was as follows:

Solo and Duet, "Tell mother, I'll be there," Mrs. Frank Storms and Mrs. Herman Fletcher.

Quotations.
Recitation, "Give them a lift when they are down," George E. Davis.

Quotations.
"How can we best advance the interests of the American people?" Frank H.
Sweetland. Discussed by members of the Club.

The meeting then adjourned to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McLaren in Lima, Wednesday, Feb. 13.

Would Put In Telephones.

In conversation with an Ann Arbor
Argus reporter County School Commissioner Lister had the following sensible suggestion to make: "The effectiveness of the city schools is due to the close supervision by the superintendent. The best I can do, as school commissioner, is to visit the 154 district schools of the county twice and, at the outside, three times a year. The county schools could be placed under as nearly a close supervisor as the city schools if each school had a telephone. This would put the commissioner in direct daily communication with every school. The usual telephone service is becoming very common.
I believe it is the duty of every district where possible to have a telephone put into the school house."

Arbeiter Verein Election.

The annual election of officers of the Chelsea Arbeiter Unterstuetzungs Verein was held Monday evening and the following officers for the ensuing year were elected:

President—Charles Kaercher.
Vice President—Jacob Hepper.
Corresponding and Financial Secretary
—I. Vogel.
Secretary of Sick Committee—Jacob Schumacher.
Treasurer—Charles Neuberger.
Color Bearer—George P. Staffan.
Assistant Color Bearers—Theodore Wedemeyer and Joseph Kolb.
Trustees—Adam G. Faist, Michael Merkel and George Bauer.
Physician—Dr. G. W. Palmer.

Jewett Will to Be Contested.

Mrs. Clara Fletcher, daughter of the late Thomas Jewett, of Lima, has filed a notice in the probate court that she will contest the will of her deceased father claiming that he was of unsound mind and was under undue influence when he made the will.

The estate is valued at $8,000. Mr.
$1,000 and her children $100 each. The rest and residue are to go in time to his other daughter, Mrs. Ada Waltrous, and it is Mrs. Waltrous who petitions for the probate of the will.

Masters of Men.

The Saturday Evening Post announces for early publication a twelve-part serial story of love and adventure by Morgan Robertson. Masters of Men is a powerful tale of the new navy.

The central figures in the story are a rich orphan, who has entered the navy as an apprentice, and a young ensign, fresh from the Naval Academy. The author leads his two heroes through a maze of adventures by land and sea.

This romance may fairly be called the best work of the best writer of sea stories in the country.

QUEEN STILL ALIVE.

British Sovereign Shows Slight Improvement on Monday.

As Dawn Approaches on Tuesday, However, Her Strength Again Diminishes—Hope of Recovery Is Abandoned.

London, Jan. 22, 8:35 a. m.—An official bulletin issued at Osborne house at eight o'clock says: "The queen this morning showed signs of diminishing strength, and her majesty's condition again assumes a more serious aspect." May Live Till Thursday. Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 22—5 a. m.—Up to this hour no further bulletin has been issued. The correspondent is informed that the queen's condition has undergone no change. The queen is expected to live until Thursday morning, unless unexpected complications occur. Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 22.—The following is the full text of the midnight bulletin posted at Osborne house: "There is no material change in the queen's condition. The slight improvement of the morning has been maintained throughout the day. Food has been taken fairly well and some tranquil sleep secured." (Signed) "JAMES REID. "R. DOUGLAS POWELL. "THOMAS BARLOW."

Emperor Sees the Queen.

London, Jan. 22.—A special dispatch from Cowes Monday evening says Emperor William was admitted to the queen's presence at about five o'clock. She spoke a few words to him and, after two or three minutes, he withdrew. The queen took a little nourishment and fell asleep in the arms of the princess of Wales.

End Only Postponed.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 22—1 a. m.—Another day in the Victorian era, now so rapidly drawing to a close, passed without any great change in the condition of Queen Victoria. The slight improvement so frequently mentioned in the official bulletins merely indicates a postponement of the inevitable. The end may be a matter of days or only of hours; but the members of the royal family who are now dragging out a weary visit at Osborne house knew that the death of her majesty is merely a question of a short time. The most noticeable feature of Monday was the satisfactory portion the queen spent in consciousness, which she regained early in the afternoon and still retained at ten a. m. Royalty at Osborne thus had a chance to recuperate from the terrible ordeal undergone during the early hours of Monday. The correspondent is informed that the members of the royal family were called to a room adjoining the queen's bedchamber no less than four times Monday morning, and were kept in momentary expectation of being summoned to witness the end up to half-past five. Her majesty's physicians then had only a vestige of hope that they would be able to keep the queen's feeble life in existence until the prince of Wales arrived. To secure this result they resorted to the frequent use of brandy and champagne. These stimulants, used to an extent which only the greatest emergency justified, worked their process; and, when the prince of Wales and Emperor William entered the castle grounds, at 11:30 a. m., they found the queen a trifle better than had been expected. The desperate remedies employed Monday morning to enable her majesty to live until her oldest son's arrival will not be used again to the same extent, for the doctors are fearful that the remedy might be almost worse than the disease. They trust to prolong her life by a moderate application of stimulants, combined with as much nourishment as can be assimilated. Such expedients as were employed during Sunday evening and Monday morning are not considered justifiable.

Build No False Hopes.

The queen's rally astonished no one more than her physicians; and, when at four o'clock Monday afternoon they heard her ask for chicken broth, their amazement almost equaled their delight. Privately, however, they build no false hopes upon these fading signs of what has been one of the strongest constitutions with which a woman was ever endowed. Despite the favorable afternoon, the doctors dreaded greatly the period between six o'clock and midnight. When that was safely passed they seemed hopeful of her majesty's living at least through another day, although the memory of the previous night's relapse kept their anxiety at high tension. The news of the death, when it occurs, is likely to be publicly announced in London before it is announced here, according to present arrangements, the first telegram is to be sent to the lord mayor of London.

A Feeling of Gloom.

Up to a late hour Monday evening crowds were gathered in the vicinity of Buckingham palace and Marlborough house, and there was a constant stream of persons anxious to enter their names on the visitors' books. On all sides it is a tale of public and private engagements and functions postponed, and a settled gloom rests over all classes of society.

RASH AND GREEDY.

Venezuela Presuming on Disinclination of Big Powers to Coerce Weak Ones.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, British West Indies, Jan. 22 (via Haytian cable).—The arrivals Monday from Venezuela confirm the reports of the existence of a critical condition of affairs in that republic. A former Venezuelan minister asserts that the politicians at Caracas are making a determined raid on the Bermudez Asphalt company. He adds they tried it before on a modest scale, squeezing $30,000 out of the company, when United States Minister Loomis protested and stopped further action of this description. The government, the minister also says, listened to reason then, but has now lost its head, through greed, and offers to restore the company's property for $1,000,000, although it is said to have been illegally taken by a dictatorial decree. In addition the assertion is again made that if foreign governments permit the action of the Venezuelan authorities to pass without some protest all foreign investors will be driven from South America, for the latter claim they are always being illegally plundered. In this connection the assertion is made that no former Venezuelan government would have dared to act as this one does toward Washington. It is explained that the Venezuelan authorities are counting on the disinclination of strong nations to coerce weak ones.

DIE BY FIRE.

Hotel at Kewanee, Ill., Burns and Two of the Guests Perish—One Is Missing.

Kewanee, Ill., Jan. 22.—Two persons dead, one missing, two seriously injured and a large amount of property destroyed are the results of a fire in the Commercial hotel of this city early Monday morning. The dead are: C. C. Cotton, advance agent of Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company; home in Terre Haute, Ind.; body burned beyond recognition; Elmer Peterson, Galesburg, Ill.; head and lower parts of body burned to a crisp. James Fischer, of Warren, Ill., is missing. Peterson came to a window on the south side of the house and threw out some of his clothes. He hesitated to jump, and ran back to the hall again to try and escape by the stairs. He became suffocated in the hall and his body was found within ten feet of the stairway. Cotton was probably suffocated while he slept. Martin Jacobs, of Chicago, jumped from his window to a tree, but failed to obtain a hold, and fell to the cement walk. John C. Gruber, of Fort Wayne, Ind., also fell upon the cement walk. Everybody believes Fischer's remains will be found in the ruins.

FURIOUS STORMS.

Plantations in Island of Jamaica Destroyed by Wind and Flood.

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 22.—Terrible weather has prevailed on the north side of the island. Since Friday night a violent norther has been causing destruction of banana plantations on every side. In some of the parishes hundreds of acres of fruit have been ruined. The course of Bluff Bay river has been diverted and the swollen stream has already carried away two houses and is now threatening to wreck a large, thriving fruit district. The seas are running very high and have demolished the wharves. There have been many casualties among the small craft of the United Fruit company, and other American fruit interests are suffering severely. The stormy weather continues. The wind is moving to the northeast of the island with increased energy, carrying destruction in the path.

WILL MEET IN CLEVELAND.

G. A. R. Encampment to Be Held in the Ohio City Beginning September 9 Next.

St. Louis, Jan. 22.—Cleveland is the place and September 9 the date fixed by the executive committee of the national council of administration of the G. A. R., in session here Monday. The vote stood: Cleveland, 5; Denver, 2; Pittsburgh 1. The business men of Cleveland guaranteed one-fare railroad rates, and argued that the city was easily accessible to a large majority of the G. A. R. members. Col. George W. Cook, of the Denver delegation, said after the meeting he would protest the decision and take the matter up with the various state delegations. He said Denver would go ahead with preparations for the encampment.

King Oscar Himself Again.

Stockholm, Jan. 22.—At Monday's council of state King Oscar of Sweden and Norway resumed the reins of government, after his recent illness. The crown prince, Gustave, retiring from the regency, which he had held while his father was incapacitated from attending to business. His majesty's health is now satisfactory. The king's birthday was widely celebrated Monday. No state ball was given, however.

ARE GOOD MOTHERS.

Indian Women of the Far West Love Their Little Ones.

Fully Conversant with Prenatal Culture and Effects of Heredity—Boys Are Taught to Respect Their Elders.

(Special Arizona Letter.)

IT HAS always been a singular thing that the idealists have pictured the Madonna as standing for the sacred Motherhood of the Human Race, and yet they have never placed an Indian mother among the favored ones in the gallery of the Madonnas. Surely, if tenderness, gentleness, careful training of their children, according to the highest and best knowledge they possess, go for anything, it has been most unfair to leave out the Indian mother from the Madonna category. In my 20 years of personal experience with the Indians of the American southwest, I have seldom seen any but the highest type of mothers among the Indians; using the word "highest type," of course, in its comparative sense. Long years before prenatal culture was made a scientific study by civilized peoples, the Indians believed in it, knew its potency and practiced it. What Oliver Wendell Holmes sagely advised the querist who wished to know how early she should begin to train her child, viz.: "A thousand years before it is born," the savage Indian has done in a measure, without his advice. Among the Hopi, the young man must make himself swift and athletic and strong ere he marries, and the woman must be able to do her work with ease and skill—work that would tax the muscles of many a hardy, strong American laboring man—before she is deemed worthy of marriage.

Figure 1 is a picture of a Hopi mother and child, and though the mere casual observer would see nothing attractive either in mother or babe, they are both remarkably interesting and worthy of note. For I have before described how the Hopi babe is cared for as soon as it is born, and watched to keep all evil from it. I have described the ceremony of baptism and the prayers that accompany it. Here is one I heard a few weeks ago when fortunate enough to witness the ceremony of baptizing a boy: "May you have much corn. May you never be sick, but always be well and strong. May you never die, but may you grow old, and then gently fall asleep!"

As the boy grows older his mother trains him in honesty, sobriety, reverence and labor. Whatever may be the ordinary conception of the white person as to the working capacities of the Indian man, certain it is that the Hopi man works as hard as any day laborer in the United States. He is trained to it from the earliest years by his mother. Honesty, too, is one of the ear-

A PAINTED DESERT MADONNA.

dinal virtues of a Hopi. "You are a thief, like a Navajo and an Apache," is the worst kind of a taunt and insult that can be offered to a Hopi man or youth. And I never yet saw a drunken or partially drunken Hopi. To shun the white man's whisky, the pulque of the Mexican, el vino of the Rio Grande Pueblo Indians, and the smalatoga of the Navajos, is the earnest warning of the Hopi mother to her son. And, better even than this training, in my estimation, are the Hopi mother's instructions to both her sons and daughters in reverence.

"Young Americanism" is almost synonymous with rudeness to the aged, and scoffing insult at everything that was once held sacred. To see an American boy rise and give his seat to an aged man or woman is a rare sight (thank God, it is sometimes seen), but for a Hopi boy to even sit in the presence of his elders without their permission is a thing utterly unthought of, and for a young man to speak in council until all the old men have had their say, or until he is invited, would be to subject himself to the certain rejection of his counsel, however good it might be.

Fig. 2 is a Madonna and child I found on the great painted desert of northern Arizona. A pretty, cunning, smiling baby, and a happy, proud, kindly mother. When I assured her it would do her child no harm to be photographed, she hesitated while before consenting, and then, when I motioned to her that I had finished the task, she hugged the little one to her breast as if to ward off any possible evil that might have hovered near her loved one.

Fig. 3 is a fine representation of a Wallapai Madonna. Triumphant pride in her maternity is clearly shown in the face of the mother. The great masters of the past 2,000 years have sought to depict the faces of their Madonnas all the virtues and graces of womanhood, and the special qualities of the Christ Mother is supposed to have been possessed of. The greatest pictures clearly portray the holiness and sanctity of maternity; the triumphant joy in its blessedness; and in the case of the Christ Madonna the recognition of the greatness and dignity of the career of His Son, her own pride in that grandeur of His calling, and yet her recognition of the woe and anguish that were sure to fall to His lot; and in one or two pictures the Madonna face shows all these things with the added expression of clear foreboding of the cruel and agonizing death that was awaiting Him.

Of course, it could not be expected that these things would be seen in the face of this ignorant Wallapai woman, but tenderness, gentleness, kindness, motherly pride and care are all as well manifested in this picture as are the other graces in the ideal pictures of the master artists.

And yet the Wallapai women are generally regarded as notoriously bad mothers, and not without some cause. Yet there is a reason for this, which again and again Wallapai mothers—very old women—have given to me.

A WALLAPAI MADONNA.

Said one of them not long ago: "When I had my first baby I lived with my husband at Pine Springs. Often he went away hunting for seven sleeps, for ten sleeps, for twice ten sleeps, and all those weary days and nights I was alone. The Apaches often used to come up into our country and steal our cattle and sheep, and rob us of our corn. They would kill our little children and steal the women and girls to take as wives for themselves. One day I saw the warning smoke signal on the mountains to the south that told me that the Apaches were fast coming this way. What could I do? If I tried to escape by carrying my babe on my back I knew I should be captured, and either killed or compelled to become the wife of my Apache captor. I knew my baby would either be killed now or later, so I told the 'shadow people' how it was and I shut his little mouth and nose with a blanket and he soon died. Then I was able to get into the Canyon of the Havasupais and hide until the danger was past."

And there is no doubt but that this is the real explanation for much of the so-called Wallapai cruelty to their children. But as the fear of the Apaches dies away, owing to the protection afforded by the United States government, the natural instincts of maternity again begin to assert themselves, and in the case of the mother here pictured it seems to me it would be impossible to find anywhere a prouder or more satisfied creature than this so-called rude savage now that Those Above have given to her a man child.

Anyhow, I should be pleased indeed to see in the bringing up of many American civilized children the same care and thought and sense of responsibility that are manifested by many an ignorant savage out in the deserts of the far-away west.

ART IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

How to Make the Dining Room Bright and Cheerful and Restful to the Eye.

All authorities agree that surroundings have much to do with digestion, and, as much of human happiness depends upon digestion, it is certainly our duty to bend our efforts toward making the dining-room as bright and pleasant as possible.

An east exposure is a very good one, as one gets the pretty morning sun and none of the hot afternoon sunshine. We cannot always decide these things for ourselves, but we can usually do much in overcoming disadvantages by care in furnishing. If the dining-room is a dark room which the sun's rays cannot enter, it is not a difficult matter to make sunshine from the inside. We know that the shades of yellow bring suggestions of sunshine to our minds, so here we have our first idea. Let the walls be yellow, using several shades, but being careful to keep clear of the lemon or pumpkin shades. Have the woodwork a soft creamy white enamel. A green carpet looks well in a room like this, but great care must be exercised in combining these two colors. There are beautiful carpets and rugs in the rich shades of yellow running into the nut brown which have a dash of red in them. Such a carpet would be particularly effective in a yellow dining-room. Some of the ingrains have beautiful brown effects, which would be most pleasing as well as inexpensive.

The Flemish oak finish, mahogany or dark shades of oak are the best woods for furniture. If you are furnishing anew, do not select one of the heavy sideboards, unless you can afford a very handsome one. There are so many less clumsy little buffets and tables which make a far better appearance for less money. For pictures, avoid the print pictures which one sees in so many dining-rooms. Depend more upon fancy plates and odd dishes for wall decorations than upon pictures. The pictures you have should be those that rest the eye and bring a quieting influence. The beer steins or mugs make very effective decorations for dining-rooms. They can be bought for a very moderate sum, for really good designs.

If you can manage it, always have a blossoming plant or a green fern for the table, as they add so much. There are a number of inexpensive little mossy-like ferns which will flourish under most unpromising conditions. Have your curtains clean, and even though they be of the most inexpensive of muslins they will add much to the room. The coarsest and commonest table linen can be kept clean and white, and care should always be taken to have everything put on the table carefully and not thrown down any way. Just now there is a preference for all-white centerpieces, but this is a matter best decided by personal taste.—Radford Review.

Old-Time Cabbage Salad.

A good old-fashioned cabbage salad is made of one head each of cabbage and celery. Chop fine, mix well together and sprinkle with a tablespoonful of salt. Into a double boiler put two tablespoonfuls of butter, and one teaspoonful of flour. Blend, then add a generous half cupful of cider vinegar, a tablespoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of mustard, the beaten yolks of two eggs and lastly three tablespoonfuls of cream. Cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Add a dash of cayenne, pour over the cabbage and stand away to get cool. Just before serving add a little whipped cream.

Vegetables with Roast Goose.

The vegetables to be served with roast goose are boiled or mashed potatoes, mashed yellow turnips or winter squash, apples stewed without sugar, or cranberry jam, boiled onions, pickles and dressed celery should be served fowl.

DAINTY LITTLE GIFTS.

How to Make a Number of Pretty and Useful Trifles at Merely Nominal Expense.

New ways of using crepe paper for decorative purposes are always suggesting themselves to the imaginative mind. One of the latest is a twine-holder made from a little doll dressed in the figured paper. It makes a very pretty and useful gift, and is at the same time inexpensive. A 25-cent doll, half a roll of crepe paper, a ball of twine and a couple of yards of ribbon are the only requirements.

Remove the legs from the doll and sew firmly to the end of the body a little silk bag just large enough to hold the twine ball loosely. Then dress the doll in a big, full skirt and two full capes. Fasten the capes at the neck with a long bow of ribbon. A jaunty little hat, made of tufted crepe paper and trimmed with ribbon bows, adds to the finishing touch. Sew the hat to the head and leave one long loop of ribbon by which to hang to the wall. Dolls dressed in the crimson crepe paper are very pretty, and look well with black ribbons. Larger dolls made with two twine bags, to hold string of two sizes, are very useful. These always sell well at church fairs.

A pretty ribbon blotter for a ladies' writing table can be made by covering a piece of stiff cardboard the size that the blotter is intended to be with silk or some prettily colored linen. Then cut six sheets of blotting paper a fraction smaller than the pad and fasten them to it with broad bands of satin ribbon, embroidered in some dainty pattern. The ribbon should be firmly sewed down so that it will hold the blotters, but must not be drawn so tightly that soiled blotters cannot be removed and new replaced. A big bow of ribbon of any color may be tied on one side, which adds to the richness of this gift.

Frames are always welcome gifts, and they can be made in so many forms that they are almost sure to suit all tastes. A new and very pretty one is made of Japanese crash, and decorated with a design cut from a wall paper and applied. In all cases it is better when making a home-made frame to have the form cut by a regular framemaker. It only costs a few cents and is so much more satisfactory, as it is almost impossible to get the edges regular without the proper machines, and nothing could look worse than an uneven frame. Japanese crash costs about a dollar a yard, and one yard will cover a dozen frames of cabinet size. The large designs in the wall paper with a decided coloring are the most effective for applying. If the flowers and leaves are carefully cut out they can be so arranged as to form a very pretty spray, and, if well done, they will look just like a water color. Sometimes a wall paper is found rich enough to make the entire covering for a frame. These are usually improved by having the back washed in with a little water color. Blotters and scrap baskets made in the same way are equally effective. The frames, if intended for steady use, should all be bound and glassed. They will last indefinitely, and cannot be injured by dust.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote Mrs. Pinkham in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swell, and was generally miserable. Mrs. Pinkham promptly replied with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

Nothing in the world equals Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating woman's peculiar monthly troubles.

A VETERAN SPEAKS.

The Honorable Moses B. Crane of Tacoma, Wash., Tells How Old Soldiers May Help Themselves.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 21, 1901.—(Special.)—"I used to have Heart Disease, but thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills I now have Heart's Ease.

"Five years ago, I was a continual sufferer of Heart Disease. Exposure during the war, and a tendency to grow over-fleshy had greatly aggravated this dread disease. I often had to sit up half the night, I had it so bad when I would lie down. Life looked pretty blue to me, as I thought there was no relief, until one day I read an advertisement of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought a box that same day, and it was the best day's work I ever did. Before I had used all the first box I could eat and sleep better than I had done for many years, and after three months faithful treatment my health was completely restored. I am an old man now, but my step is as elastic and my brain as clear as when I was thirty years of age."

These are the words of the Hon. Moses B. Crane, secretary of Odin Lodge, No. 123, I. O. O. F., of this city. The Hon. Mr. Crane is also Senior Vice Commander of G. A. R. Post No. 5, Tacoma.

Those who know Mr. Crane have the fullest confidence in his honesty and truthfulness, and know that he would not give this unsolicited testimonial unless he had actually experienced the relief which he indicates in his letter. Dodd's Kidney Pills are having a wonderful sale among Mr. Crane's friends—and their name is legion—in this part of the country. There does not seem to be a single case of Heart Disease, Kidney or Bladder Weakness, or Rheumatism, that Dodd's Kidney Pills do not permanently cure.

England's queen has passed away and a good woman, a wise ruler and a devoted mother has gone to her reward. She died at Osborne house, in the Isle of Wight, at 6:30 p. m. (London time) Tuesday. The whole world mourns with Great Britain for the loss sustained. The funeral will not take place until some day next week at the earliest, and then the last sad rites will be performed at 9 o'clock at night. All the rulers of European countries will be present or will be represented. The Prince of Wales will now reign over the destinies of the mightiest empire in all history as Edward VII, King of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India. He took the oath of office yesterday and the members of the house of lords and house of commons in their turn swore allegiance to him.

The Manchester Enterprise says:

"It seems too bad that in order to get a position or to hold one nowadays, a man must have a 'pull' politically. No matter how competent a man may be or how faithfully he may have discharged his duties, the reply is 'there are others' and there is the finish unless he has political friends back of him. Michigan is no worse than other states, they are all alike."

It would go a long way towards the purification of elections if there was a majority of the people of Michigan who thought in that way and carried their thoughts into action upon it. We have advocated the abolishment of the spoils system for years and believe that it is the root of the greater part of the political corruption that exists.

It is not altogether creditable to the fairness of Christianity that the average person can see nothing to be said on the Chinese side of the question. Yet, if any other country had tried to treat the United States as the powers have treated China for years, the entire country would have gone mad with rage.

A possum farm has been started in Pennsylvania, where it will probably be safe from predators. If it were south of Mason and Dixon's line, its stock would be more precarious than even that of the average henroost in regions where the colored brother abounds.

Kansas is suffering from a dearth of railroad cars to market its wheat crop because of the heavy demand for them in the south for moving the cotton crop. Can we have too much prosperity?

The Boer war is estimated to be costing England $2,000 every three minutes. This is pretty expensive whether considered as an amusement or as an investment.

A BANK BUILDING

In Which a Chelsea Citizen Has a Large Material Interest.

The following description of the new bank building occupied by the Commercial Bank, of Stockbridge, in which Geo. P. Glazier is largely interested, is taken from the columns of the Stockbridge Sun. A brief history of the bank since its inception in 1888 follows:

"The building is situated west of the DePuy store, adjoining the building owned jointly by W. H. Tyler and Unadilla Lodge I. O. O. F., thus it has a north and east frontage, and the bank assistants are given at all times a commanding view of Main street, with the hotel and north side business houses. Viewed from the outside the structure presents a solid, substantial, neat and attractive appearance; and its mason work, which is of the style known as rubble work, is the admiration of all who see it. The laborer is not only worthy of his hire, but likewise worthy of a word of deserving commendation; and we would say that the mason work was done by George H. Hindelang, of Menth, and reflects great credit upon him as a workman. Competent critics have pronounced it one of the finest pieces of rubble work in the state.

"The east windows are provided with a roller fire shutter, and the rear ones with still shutters, and the roof is of tin, thus the edifice is as near fire proof as it can possibly be made. When we step in and observe its arrangements, finish, etc., we cannot help pronouncing it splendid. The rooms are warmed by steam, the ceiling is 13 feet high and there is no glare of sunlight; but in all respects an air of comfort and convenience, as well as beauty and solidity. It has tile floor and a marble base; is finished in quarter sawed oak highly polished; the cashier's cage is made of wood, chip glass and oxidized copper and grill work. The basement contains a storage vault and heating apparatus and the first story is divided into the cashier's office or bank proper opening into which are the Mosler burglar and fire proof vault and the fire proof safe fitted with all burglar attachments. You pass down a narrow way toward the south and there is a cloak room, a toilet room, and a commodious directors' consultation room, a coal grate at one side of it. This room being cut off from all outside, is very private and Mr. Gay assures us that the walls have no ears. The building and furniture represents a net expenditure of about $8,000, and is a useful ornament to the town of which all are proud.

HISTORY OF THE BANK.

"When it became certain in 1883, that this village was to shortly become a rail road town, Geo. P. Glazier, of Chelsea, who for more than a quarter of a century has been cashier of the Chelsea Savings Bank, saw here what he believed to be a good opening for a bank. He had faith in his belief and in the town; and months before the railroad was completed, he in company with the late Robert Latimer, started the Commercial Bank, the name of the firm being Glazier & Latimer. The large fire and burglar proof safe, which was first used, was of Detroit make, and was hauled from Chelsea by teams. It kept the funds safe for ten years, when it was exchanged for a larger and more modern one of same make, which is now immured within the walls of the new building. Mr. Latimer remained in the firm less than a year, when his interest was taken by Frank P. Glazier and the firm was George P. Glazier & Son, with C. E. DePuy as cashier and manager until 1886, when G. H. Gay became cashier. In 1892 Mr. Gay succeeded to the interest of F. P. Glazier, since which time the firm has been Geo. P. Glazier & Gay, and the tablet above the entrance reads Glazier & Gay.

"We take pleasure in saying that no enterprise of the village deserves or receives more appreciation and confidence than does the Commercial Bank; and that it is one of the substantial institutions of the village."

A fair sized audience attended the concert given at the opera house Saturday evening by the Royal Concert Orchestra. It was a good entertainment, the best features of which were the playing by the whole orchestra in the Wedding March, Fest and the selections from the Bohemian Girl, the quartet for brass instruments Hayden's andante and allegro, the quintet for stringed instruments Bach's Celebrated Air, and Master Clyde Field's rendition of Gaul's The Holy City. They are to be guided by section 10 of Act 237, passed 1890. The supervisors might, with propriety, get a hustle on themselves and comply with the act.

THE SCARE ABOUT OVER.

Turmoil in the University of Michigan Caused by Smallpox Is Practically Ended.

QUARANTINE MAINTAINED FOR 15 DAYS.

Students Rush to the Doctors to Be Vaccinated—Precautionary Measures Taken to Prevent Spread of the Disease—Notes of General Interest from the Campus.

[Special Correspondence.]

University of Michigan, Jan. 21.—The smallpox scare which has been troubling the university world since December 17 is about over. The cause of the scare was that on the above date Roy Watkins, a sophomore medical student from Manchester, Mich., after a few days' illness developed into a smallpox patient. This was on Monday of the last week of school before the holiday vacation. Although his illness was not pronounced smallpox until Monday afternoon, by supper time Monday the entire student world was in a state of turmoil. The one subject of conversation at the boarding-house, on the streets and at the students' rooms was smallpox and the probability of the disease spreading.

Practical Jokes Played.

Under the excitement of the hour many strange things were done. Students, fearing that the town was going to be quarantined and that they would not get home for the holidays, snatched together a few things and made ready to walk across country to some railway station. Students rooming in the same houses as classmates of Watkins, changed their quarters without ceremony and without waiting to pack their belongings. At the hospital the patients, nurses and assistants were all vaccinated; Watkins was removed to the contagious ward in a small house isolated from the other buildings, and the entire hospital was quarantined and remained so for 15 days.

As soon as the first scare passed, there came a few days when the least frightened students began playing jokes on those who had not recovered from their fright. Several of the fraternity and sorority houses had notices served on them by men in big overcoats and high collars and close-drawn caps. These notices purported to be orders from the health offices of the western hemisphere or some other equally important personage, and were to the effect that the inmates of the building were quarantined, and that they must not put their heads out of a door or window, and that failure to obey the orders would result in instant death. Those not posted on the methods of procedure of health departments were somewhat inconvenienced by these orders. In time, however, the brightest saw through the jokes and relieved their roommates of further anxiety.

Rush for Doctors.

Immediately upon the development of the one case there was a general movement for vaccination. The city physicians and medical students did a big business scratching arms with the small white points until the departure of the students. As no more cases developed, all who wished, save Watkins, in the contagious ward, and the patients in the hospital, got away for the holidays.

Compulsory Vaccination.

With the return of the students after the vacation it was decided by the university authorities that as a precautionary step all should be vaccinated. When the orders were given out a great wail arose. This was considerably reduced by announcing that the university would bear the expense of vaccination. Arrangements were made to treat the men at the homeopathic hospital and at a doctor's office on State street, and to treat the coeds at the women's gymnasium. For nearly two weeks the university officers were busy attending to the details of the business. In the medical department the requirement was carried through with the utmost thoroughness. The students were lined up in alphabetical order and examined, one at a time, for vaccination by the secretary of the department. Then each was given a white ribbon bearing a red cross. This was their passport to their classes, and failure to have this kept them out in the cold. The law students wearing the red crosses of the medics, got some red card letters: "Yes, I am vaccinated," on one side and "I am immune—never could catch anything" on the other. Each department of the university looked after the vaccination of its own students, although those vaccinated at "public expense" received their orders from the secretary of whole institution. In the literary and law departments the students were required to have certificates saying that they had been treated before they were permitted to remain in their classes. The order for vaccination was made to include the professors and instructors, as well as students.

Many Fainted.

An amusing feature about the vac-ination treatment was the fact that a fair proportion of those who had their arms scratched fainted during the operation or just after. Even the law students, who are said to be tough and without sensibilities, were guilty. At one sorority house where they had a physician come and treat all at once nearly every girl, including seniors as well as freshmen, fainted. The little blood brought to the surface by the slight pricks was too much for their nerves.

Requirement Evaded.

Many attempts were made to evade the requirement for vaccination. Some of the students scratched their own arms with a penknife, and while the wound was fresh showed it to the authorities and secured a certificate of vaccination. About 200 of the laws, by methods best known to themselves, managed to secure certificates of vaccination without submitting to treatment. A few students got out of being vaccinated by going to the authorities and telling them they were Christian Scientists or something else and their religious scruples would not permit of such treatment. A Dowie disciple wrote the authorities imploring them not to require vaccination. Later it was learned that all Zion, because the request to desist was not heeded, prayed that a smallpox epidemic would break out at the university as a punishment for unbelief.

Gymnasium Closed.

Another precautionary step which was taken with the return of the students was to close both gymnasiums. It was thought that if any student were exposed to the disease during the vacation and brought it back with him that the gymnasium would be a most convenient place for them to pass the germs along. If no case develops this week the university authorities will feel that they have stamped the disease out, that all germs originating from the first case have been killed and that no new ones have come to college with the students returning after the holidays. But under any circumstances they will feel that the precautionary steps were well taken.

Epidemic in the Seventies.

In the early 70's smallpox germs were brought to the university on a subject for the dissecting room. Twenty cases followed and three students died. It was a sad affair and the university officers do not wish a similar experience.

Other Notes.

The commencement address this year will be given by Albert Bushnell Hart, professor of history in Harvard university. The date is June 20.

A Bogardus drug mill has been added to the equipment of the pharmaceutical laboratory. It will be operated by a four-horse power electric motor. By an interchange of grinding plates everything, from the most friable seeds to iron ores, can be ground.

Hereafter all the oxygen used in the university laboratories will be manufactured in the chemistry building. The gas will be condensed by being forced through the liquid air machine and stored in iron tanks ready for use.

The skin of a large white swan from Belle Isle park, Detroit, is being mounted for the museum. The bird was given to the university by the Detroit park commissioners.

R. H. E.

No Smallpox at Holton.

A good deal of alarm has been caused by exaggerated stories about the prevalence of smallpox in Holton. An investigation shows that there has not been a single case of the disease there, although one family has been in quarantine for three weeks. A member of the family was taken ill, and the doctor diagnosed the case as one of smallpox. The young man was ill only three days, however, and has been out hunting and sawing wood ever since.

In Good Condition.

The Baptist Ministers' Aid Society of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin held its annual meeting at The Home, in Fenton. The treasurer's report shows that the receipts from all sources last year were $18,000, and the expenditures $8,000. The society has $20,000 in endowments and during 1900 the sum of $40,900 in additional endowments was left in wills, thus the affairs of the society are in excellent condition.

Safe and Sound.

Charles Bernard, the Menominee cruiser supposed to have perished in a Chicago lodging house by gas asphyxiation, is alive and well. He returned home from Chicago, much to the surprise and relief of his relatives. He knew nothing of the excitement and anxiety caused by the finding of the dead man until he reached Menominee. He says that he was ill on his homeward journey.

Jailed for Not Paying.

William Watts has been committed to jail in Jackson by Judge Peck for contempt of court. Watts' wife secured a divorce from him recently and was granted temporary alimony in the modest sum of $15. He acknowledged his ability to pay up, but flatly refused to comply with the order of the court, and is in jail in consequence.

DR. GREENE'S
The greatest known cure for NERVURA RHEUMATISM.

Mr. T. H. Roleau, of Essex Junction, Vt., says: "For three years I was terribly afflicted with a most severe case of rheumatism. For 23 months I could not walk a step, and I never expected to walk or work again. I was completely helpless and suffered the most horrible agony. No man in these parts ever suffered as I did. I took everything that I ever heard of, but never found anything that did me the slightest good until I began the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. "And now comes the most wonderful part of all. In a short time this splendid medicine made me completely well. It is the best remedy I ever saw or heard of, for it raised me from a condition of utter helplessness and constant agony to perfect health. It saved my ability to work which was entirely gone. I am now entirely well and strong, and I owe my health and my life to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I advise everybody to use it."

EPIDEMIC OF GRIP WORST EVER KNOWN.

GRIP BACILLUS EVERYWHERE—IN THE AIR WE BREATHE, IN THE WATER WE DRINK, IN THE FOOD WE EAT.

Magnified 16,000 times.

Peruna not only cures the grip but prevents it. Taken in time thousands of lives will be saved in this present epidemic. Every family should take the precaution to secure a supply of Peruna at once, for the retail and wholesale stock of the remedy may be exhausted by the enormous demand for it. It is wisdom to have Peruna in the house even before the grip attacks the household.

It has been ascertained by a reporter that the following people of national reputation have given public endorsement and testimonials to Peruna as a remedy for the grippe:

Congressman Howard, of Alabama, says: "I have taken Peruna for the grip and recommend it as an excellent remedy to all fellow-sufferers."

Congressman White, of North Carolina, says: "I find Peruna to be an excellent remedy for the grip. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it."

Miss Frances M. Anderson, of Washington, D. C., daughter of Judge Anderson, of Virginia, says: "I was taken very ill with the grip. I took Peruna and was able to leave my bed in a week."

Mrs. Harriette A. S. Marsh, President of the Woman's Benevolent Association, of Chicago, writes: "I suffered with grip seven weeks. Nothing helped me. Tried Peruna and within three weeks I was fully restored. Shall never be without it again."

At the appearance of the first symptoms of grip people should stay indoors and take Peruna in small doses (teaspoonful every hour) until the symptoms disappear. This will prevent a long, disastrous sickness and perhaps fatal results.

DON'T BE DUPED

There have been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an obsolete edition of "Webster's Dictionary." They are being offered under various names at a low price.

By dealers, agents, etc., and in a few instances as a premium for subscriptions to papers. Announcements of these comparatively worthless reprints are very misleading. They are advertised to be the substantial equivalent of a higher-priced book, while they are all Reprint Dictionaries, phototype copies of a book of over fifty years ago, which was sold for about $5.00, and which was much superior to these imitations, being a work of some merit instead of one Long Since Obsolete.

The Webster's Unabridged Dictionary published by our house is the only meritorious one of that name. It bears our imprint on the title-page and is protected by copyright from cheap imitation. As a dictionary lasts a lifetime will it not be better to purchase the LATEST AND BEST, Webster's International Dictionary of ENGLISH, Biography, Geography, Fiction, etc. Size 10x12 1/4 inches.

Great Britain's merchandise imports, during the first six months of 1899, were the largest of any corresponding period in its history. Its exports for the same period were the largest since 1891, and have never been exceeded except in the opening half of that year and of 1892.

Saturday, Sunday and Monday are the favorite days in the week for marriages—Sunday in rural districts and Saturday in towns. Sunday weddings seem to be generally less numerous than they were, while the number which take place on a Saturday are greatly on the increase.

Copper has risen and aluminum declined until the price of the two metals is almost the same. One pound of aluminum is equivalent to two of copper in carrying electrical energy, and if it were as easy to work and solder, would probably displace copper to a considerable extent.

After a convict has served out his time in the State prison of Maine and has donned the suit of clothes given to him by the State he is required to sit for his photograph, and it is kept for future use, should his subsequent career call for it. Heretofore only the picture taken upon the commitment has been kept, and this has often been found of little avail in later years.

He had evidently started off on a squirrel hunt.

Automobiles are now as common as cabs in Paris. They are used for everything, the correspondents say, for pleasure as well as for business. Every time you sell a customer something better than he or she intended to buy you have done a clever thing and have elevated the standard of your house. W. A. Muir, of Lima, O., says:—"I was one of the countless victims of early vice at 15 years of age. The drains on my system were weakening my brain as well as my sexual and nervous system. For ten years I tried scores of doctors, electric belts and patent medicines. Some helped me, none cured. I was giving up in despair, in fact, contemplating suicide when a friend advised me as a last resort to give the New Method Treatment of Drs. K. & K. a fair trial. Without confidence I consented and in three months I was a cured man. I was cured seven years ago—am married and happy. I heartily recommend Drs. K. & K. to my afflicted fellow men."
