New Route to Detroit. Times: While all kinds of speculation has been going on with reference to the route the Boland electric rallway line

The question all along has been how he would gain an entrance into the city of Detroit. He evidently knows.

The Detroit Tribune prints a rumor that his $4,000,000 company is negotiating for the purchase of the Detroit and Northwestern Electric railway, which if done will give him an entrance into Detroit. The D. & N. W. runs from Detroit to Farmington, at which point two branches go out. One goes to Pontiac and the other to Northville,

If he gets control of this all that would be necessary to be built is the road from Ann Arbor to Northville, a distance of 18 miles and he would have a line from Ann Arbor to Detroit.

This would open up a valuable territory for Ann Arbor, as it would bring the Salem and Superior trade to this city.

Seymour Brownell, a heavy stockholder in the Detroit & Northwestern, when asked about the matter, said to a Tribune reporter that Mr. Boland was figuring on connecting with the Detroit & Northwestern at Northville in order to gain an entrance to Detroit and that the Northwestern would not object to the connection being made.

From another source it was learned that Mr. Boland will be on the ground in about ten days with a proposition to pur- An ordinance granting to the Detroi chase the road.

The line from this city to Detroit, via. Farmington, is less than a mile longer than the present line from here to Detroit by the D., Y. & A. A.

The following in regard to the play which will be presented at the opera house Friday evening, February 15th, for the benefit of Chelsea Tent, No. 281, K. Manchester Enterprise:

"Down in Dixle," a drama of the south home talent Friday and Saturday evening for the benefit of the Manchester K. O. T. M. The play is a lively one, characteristic of the time and has a pleasing love affair running through it, the parts of which were admirably taken by Mrs. C. F. Yocum, Frank Kramer and Arthur Jacquemain, Miss Maude Goodell assisting much in this part of the plot. Earl Chase, as a newspaper reporter, was a good and lively character always on hand, Geo. J. Nisle was a man very much henpecked by his business-woman wife, this character being taken by Mrs. Bernhardt, and their work was very natural. Geo. also hustled and took a second part, "Bradley's henchman." Will Kramer made a good "true blue Vet," taking the part of an Irishman in a pleasing manner. Henry Bernhardt, as the faithful slave, had a good make-up and acted the part well. "Susannah," whose name did not appear on the program, proved to be Mrs. Geo. J. Nisle, whose dialect was good and she looked "jis a brack nigger." Adam Schaible's impersonation of a degenerate yankee was amusing. The work of the whole company showed careful training. Several beautiful tableaux added to the performance and those who were not present missed a treat.

The French telegraph department proposes to institute a series of experiments with wireless telegraphy for subterranean communications. The possibility of the scheme was first suggested by one of the inspectors of the department, who found his primitive trials to give satisfaction. The department intends to develop the idea upon a larger scale.

Almost anything made in the steel. iron or copper mills can now be had at Pittsburg. A company there has booked orders for 6,000 tons of a high grade of open-hearth acid steel wire for use on the new East river bridge at New York. The company took the contract from Swedish producers, who heretofore have been regarded the only interests able to supply the grade of wire re-

A shore whereon no merry digger seeks his unferoclous prey would seem lone'y. The table wili be inhospitable which is ungraced by dishes in which the clam holds the place of honor. The lobster has its sturdy protectors. Shall the cam lack defenders?

The expression "Rob Peter to pay Paul" had its origin in the rivalry which once existed between Westminster abbey, dedicated to St. Peter, and St. Paul's cathedral. In 1550 there was a deficiency in the treasury of St. Paul's and to cover this deficiency money bclonging to St. Peter's was appropriat d. The people who objected to this action asked the question, "Why rob St. Peter's to pay St. Paul's?"

The wires of the Postal Telegraph company were publicly sold in Union Hill, N. J., on account of unpaid taxes for $1. The purchaser had the wires examined by an expert, who says they are worth at least $1,500. The company will now be called upon to pay rent for the use of its own wires and the case will be carried into court if it refuses. As yet, the company has paid the whole matter no attention.

'John Hartman, justice of the peace at Millville, N. J., got into a wordy war with some visitors at his office and weed language of the sulphurous variety. After the fuss was all over he -asked the mayor for a warrant for his own arrest on the charge of disorderly conduct. "I caught myself redhanded," be said, "and why shouldn't I pay a fine just like any other citizen? I'm an honest man even if I am just ce of the peace." A small fine was imposed.

While a large oak log was being sawed into lumber at L. C. Beem's mill, Richwood, Ohio, the circular saw ran into an obstruction in the log, which completely wrecked the saw and endangered the lives of the workmen. The log was chopped into and almost in its heart was found the steel bit of an ax, which must have been broken off there at least thirty years ago, as indicated by that number of concentric growth rings surrounding it as a center.

The Northern Pacific Railroad company has substituted a long-distance telephone system for the telegraph service formerly used along its lines. Probably the most complete private telephone system owned and operated by a railroad company is that of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, by means of which it is possible to transmit orders and communications to the most remote points on the company's lines.

A judge in Crawfordsville, Ind., has disfranchised fifty voters who were found guilty of selling their votes at the last election. "It is a fundamental principle of law," said the Judge, "that an agent who has betrayed his trust can be removed and the power invested in him revoked. The voter is the agent of the government for the purpose of carrying into effect its principles, and the moment he offers to sell himself out he becomes false to his trust and an enemy to his country. If a man, steals ten cents' worth of property he may be convicted of petit larceny and disfranchised. Is vote selling a crime of less magnitude?" A righteous and wholesome ruling, which deserves all possible publicity.

Horace Greeley, speaking of the big trees of California, said that some of them have been "serenely growing ever since Jesus was on the earth." The electrical illuminations of the exposition will be achieved in connection with the Electric Tower, the fountains and other hydraulic displays and in the outlining of the different buildings by rows of incandescent lamps. There will be combined water and electric effects and the central figure of the whole setting will, of course, be the Electric Tower, with its most wonderful and beautiful electrical display. The Electricity Building itself has most appropriately been located adjoining the Electric Tower. From its eastern end an excellent opportunity will be afforded for viewing the splendid illuminations of the tower during the night displays. The location of the building is also fortunate in view of the fact that just across the mall, the broad avenue upon the southern side of the Electricity Building, stands the Machinery and Smaller stepdown transformers will be used in saveral hundred transformer pits about the grounds and in the various buildings, where the current will be reduced from 1.800 volts to 104 volts. At this pressure lights and electric motors and other appliances will be operated.

The progress in the development and application of the various branches of electrical science and industry of recent years makes the exhibit at the Pan-American exposition of the utmost importance and interest. At the time of the World's Fair at Chicago, electric transportation over street car lines of cities was in its infancy. In ten years the electric motor in its application to both transportation and industry has effected well nigh an industrial revolution. In the electric lighting industry, and in the telephone system there has been great progress during this decade. Wireless telegraphy has come to the front within a few years and is destined to effect still further radical changes in methods of electric communication. Automobiles electrically propelled have come into use. In all these fields the Pan-American Exposition will have electrical exhibits. illustrating this marvelous progress. Question About Snakes Under Debate by Scientific Experts. After the meeting of the Colorado Academy of Science recently, at which President Regis Chauvenet of the School of Mines delivered an address, there was an argument about, snakes, says the Denver Republican. It was continued in a desultory way soon after at the state capitol by Curator Will C. Ferr." of the Historical soclety, and Captain Cecil Deane of the war relic department, the men who started it at the meeting on the day previous. Curator Ferril claims that he has proved that a rattlesnake, when pursued, will retreat and go into its hole backward. He says that a month ago he ran across a rattlesnake which slowly went toward its hole. He followed with discretion and a gun and when the rattler reached its home it went in, according to Mr. Ferril, tail first, so that it could protect itself if attacked. Mr. Ferril is aware that this statement is contrary to established records, but says that because it has never before been known to the wold does not prove that it is not true. He will mention this discovery in his biennial report now being compiled.

Captain Cecil A. Deane of the war relic department says that he never heard of such a thing. He claims that the theory is ridiculous and that it is a well established fact that the rattlers go home head first. In proof of this claim he says that the way in which curio dealers secure rattlers in large numbers for sale is to follow the snakes to their holes and cut off the r tails as they dive into the holes. Captain Deane says he has pursued this method on various occasions and never saw a rattler even attempt to go into its hole tail first. He asserts that scientific experiments have already demonstrated that a rattler cannot "back up" or "back down" and that Mr. Ferril is needlessly exciting the scientific world in bringing up a subject which has already been dispose

Egypt's Lovely Kh divah.

The Khedive of Egypt is one of the few Eastern rulers who has lived in a genuine love story, with the heroine for his wife. The lovely Ikbal Hanem is of the Circassian race. She was formerly a slave of the Vididi (Dowager) Khedivah, at whose house the then young ruler of Egypt first saw her. As beauty gives rank in the Orient, the young slave's condition did not interfere with her advancement. She was courted and won by the dashing young prince and finally formally married to him and raised to the rank of Khedivah. The happy couple model their household after the European fashion. She neither paints nor powders her face, as is the custom of Egyptian women of high rank. She likes European dress and has European servants and governesses for her three daughters. She studies with her children, and has an open, inquiring mind. The Khedivah has one of the most sumptuous yachts in the world. London, Feb. 13.—Sir Edward Clarke, the former solicitor-general, following up his speech on Feb. 7 before the Holborn Conservative association, has written a letter to a friend, citing Lord Roberts' rejection of the opportunity to propose peace terms in June, 1900, when Gen. Buller had prepared the way by conferences with Christian Botha, who asked what was offered. Lord Roberts replies:

"Unconditional surrender, the privates to be allowed to go to their farms, no promises to the commanders er to any who have taken an active part in bringing on the war."

"This," said Sir Edward Clarke, "put an end to all negotiations. So the war has gone on. The losses since have been 124 officers and 1,454 men killed in action and died of wounds; 63 officers and 3.620 men died of disease. and 959 officers and 22,635 men invalided home. We have spent from £60,000,000 to £70,000,000 devastating a country over which we desire to rule. We do not seem a day nearer 'unconditional surrender' than seven months ago."

Sir Edward Clarke then says he earnestly hopes terms acceptable without dishonor will be offered to the Owners of naphtha and electric launches will not have to come under the government-restrictions during the coming season. They can continue until 1902, at least, taking chances, through their ignorance of naphtha engines and electric batteries, of blowing themselves and their launches into the coroner's custody. Gen. Grosvenor, who has had charge of the bill to require pilots and engineers of such launches to submit to examination by federal officers as to their qualifications to navigate launches, says there will be no time to have the bill passed this season.

When the postal bill passed the house, Rep. Loud assured the members that no important amendment had been discovered, but there is a provision that will give the country editor an awful jar. Editorial associations over the country are making vigorous complaints, and ask the senate to kill the amendment.

"All the medicine I took did me no good, until my physician advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pilfs. I secured a box, and soon found that my headache was leaving me. Stomach

Flatulency, sourness, bad taste, loss of appetite, a sense of weight or fullness after eating, together with uneasiness, impatience, irritability of temper, nervousness, anxiety, lost energy, depression of spirits, sick headache, bad dreams and sleeplessness, come from weak and debilitated nerves. That kind of nerves have to be braced up, strengthened, invigorated and helped if you would have a sound stomach, a keen appetite and a cheerful mind.

"My stomach was so weak that I could eat only the lightest food and that caused me great distress. In spite of the best physicians here and in Chicago I grew worse until I was confined in bed, where I remained eighteen months. I began to improve with the first bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine and grew steadily stronger until I was well. My weight increased from 90 to 160 pounds." MRS. H. C. JONES, Kentland, Ind.

Dwight VanHorn of this village sustained injuries many years ago by the overturning of a load of hay which necessitated the amputation of his leg above the ankle. Defective surgery, as was alleged, made a second amputation after a few years necessary. From the first he has been forced to use a crutch, or up to within a week or two, when it was super-seded by an artificial leg constructed on scientific principals. E. J. Foster made Mr. VanHorn a present of this leg, and also took him to Detroit to have it fitted. Hearing of the generous act, we called at Mr. Foster's store to make an inquiry or two concerning it, when we were strictly enjoined not to mention the name of the donor. We refused to heed the request, although we would do Mr. Foster any other favor. In thus helping a poor but most worthy and good citizen, he has shown a benevolence of heart based on the noblest and truest christianity. Such was the Good Fortune of an Escanaba Resident.

Whom He had Never Seen-The Fortune was Left by an ex-Spanish Soldler Who Deserted and Joined Arms in the Cuban Cause

Truth Stranger Than Fictou.

That the truth is far stranger than fiction has been demonstrated in Escanaba by Joseph E. Reinger inheriting $180,000 with several years' interest from an uncle who recently died in Spain. The remarkable part of the story is the romance connected with it which is as follows: Me. Reinger's father came to this country several $1.38 per ton. The commissioner says years ago from Brussels, Belgium. that the cost of the product of the leaving behind a younger sister and Michigan coal mines now exceeds his parents. Some time after Mr. Reinger had settled in America he received a letter from his sister announcing her marriage to a young Spanish officer by the name of Lantigo Fenoll, who was at the time an attache of the Spanish legation in Brussels. A few months after the marriage Fenoll was promoted to a responsible position in Valencia, Spain, and moved there with his wife. After that Mr. Reinger ceased to hear from them. Last December a letter was received from Mr. Fenoll, telling of his great success in Cuba and how he had amassed great wealth by deserting the Spanish cause and joining the Cubans; that he was again free from military life and was going back to Spain for his wife and daughter. On arriving in the country he had deserted he was shocked to learn of the death of his wife; was discovered by a Spanish spy and sentenced. to 38 years in prison. In prison he was befriended by the prison priest, by whose aid he was enabled to mail the letter, which closed by requesting some aid to escape the terrible punishment he was being put to. Feb. 5 word was received that Mr. Fenoll was dead, and a copy of the will which leaves to his nephew $180,000 with the interest, and giving him the care of his daughter. The prison priest, Fr. Pedro, with his young charge, is now en route for Escanaba, where the young lady will doubtless make her future home.

In this section 85 per cent of the wheat, 78 per cent of the corn, and 65 per cent of the oats of the state are grown. It contains 60 per cent of the population of the state. In 10 of these counties the population has decreased during the past 10 years, and in all but four of them the increase in the cities is balanced by the decrease in the townships and unincorporated villages. was over in the store some day when there was not much going on and the clerks were in a group, or it was in the factory at the noon spell, or it was out on the farm under the trees while you were resting, or it was in the clubroom, or it was in a social circle, or it was in the street on the way home from business, or it was on some occasion which you remember without my describing it. Someone got the laugh on the Bible and caricatured the profession of religion as hypocrisy, or made a pun out of something that Christ said. The laugh started, and you joined in, and not one word of protest did you utter. What kept you silent? Modesty? No. Incapacity to answer? No. Lack of opportunity? No. It was a blow on both your lips by the wing of the dumb devil. If someone should malign your father or mother or wife or husband or child, you would flush up quick and either with an indignant word or doubled up fist make response. And yet here is our Christian religion which has done so much for you and so much for the world that it will take all eternity to celebrate it, and yet when it was attacked you did not so much as say: 'I differ. I object. I am sorry to hear you say that. There is another side to this," You Christian people ought in such times as these to go armed, not with earthly weapons, but with the sword of the spirit. You ought to have four or five questions with which you could confound any man who attacks Christianity. A man 90 years old was telling me how he put to flight a scoffer. My aged friend said to the skeptic, 'Did you ever read the history of Joseph in the Bible?" "Yes," said the man, "it is a fine story and as interesting a story as I ever read." "Well, now," said my old friend, "suppose that account of Joseph stopped half way?" "Oh." said the man, "then it would not be entertaining." "Well, now," said my friend, "we have in this world only, half of everything, and do you not think that when we hear the last half things may be consistent and that then we may find that God was Silence Gives Cousent Oh, friends, better load up with a few interrogation points! You cannot afford to be silent when God and the Bible and the things of eternity are assailed. Your silence gives consent to the bombardment of your Father's house. You allow a slur to be cast on your mother's dying pillow. In behalf of the Christ, who for you went through the agonies of assassination on the rocky bluff back of Jerusalem, you dared not face a sickly joke. Better load up with a few questions, so that next time you will be ready. Say to the scoffer: "My dear sir, will you tell me what makes the difference between the condition of woman in China and the United States? What do you think of the sermon on the mount? How do you like the golden rule laid down in the Scriptures? Are you in favor of the Ten Commandments? In your large and extensive reading have you come across a lovelier character than Jesus Christ? Will you please to name the triumphant deathbeds of infidels and atheists? How do you account for the fact that among the out and out believers in Christianity were such persons as Benjamin Franklin, John Ruskin, Thomas Carlyle, Babington Macaulay, William Penn, Walter Scott. Charles Kingsley, Horace Bushnell, James A. Garfield, Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, Admiral Foote, Admiral Farragut, Ulysses S. Grant, John Milton, William Shakespeare, Chief Justice Marshall, John Adams, Daniel Webster. George Washington? How do you account for their fondness for the Christian religion? Among the innumerable colleges and universities of the earth will you name me three started by infidels and now supported by infidels? Down in your heart are you really happy in the position you occupy antagonistic to the Christian religion? When do you have the most rapturous views of the next world?" Go at him with a few such questions. and he will get so red in the face as to suggest apoplexy, and he will look at his watch and say he has an engagement and must go. You will put him in a sweat that will beat a Turkish bath. You will put him on a rout compared with which our troops at Bull Run made no time at all. Arm yourself, not with argume_ts, but with interrogation points, and I promise you victory. Shall such a man as you, devil spoken of in the text? Public Recognition of God. Do not let the world deride the church because of all this, for the dumb devil is just as conspicuous in the world. The great political parties assemble at the proper time to build platforms for the candidates to stand A committee of each party is appointed to make the platform. After proper deliberation, the committees come in with a ringing report, "Whereas," and "Whereas," and "Whereas." Pronunciamentos all shaped with the idea of getting the most votes. Someone has said silence is of atheists. But "Whereas," and "Whereas," and "Whereas." Nine cheers will be given for the platform. The dumb devil of the text puts one wing over the one platform and the other wing over the other platform. Those great conventions are opened with prayer by their chaplains. If they avoided platitudes and told the honest truth in their prayers they would say: "O Lord, we want to be postmasters and consuls and foreign ministers and United States district attorneys. For that we are here, and for that we will strive till the election next November. Give us office or we die. Forever and ever, amen." The world, to say the least, is no better than the church on this subject of silence at the wrong time. In other words, is it not time for Christianity to become pronounced and aggressive as never before? Take sides for God and sobriety and righteousness. "If the Lord be God, follow him; if Baal, then follow him." Have you opportunity of rebuking a sin? Rebuke it. Have you a chance to cheer a disheartened soul? Cheer it. Have you a useful word to speak? Speak it. Be Up and Doing

Show your passport if you have Do not smuggle your soul into the harbor of heaven. Speak out for God! Close up the chapter of lost opportunities and open a new chapter. Before you get to the door on your way out shake hands with someone and ask him to join you on the road to heaven. Do not drive up to heaven in a two wheeled "sulky" with room only for one, and that yourself, but get the biggest gospel wagon you can find and pile it full of friends and neighbors and shout till they hear you all up and down the skies, "Come with us, and we will do you good, for the Lord hath promised good concerning Israel." The opportunity for good which you may consider insignificant may be tremendous for results, as when on the sea Captain Haldane swore at the ship's crew with an oath that wished them all in perdition, and a Scotch sailor touched his cap and said, "Capbe badly off if your wish were answered." Captain Haldane was convicted by the sailor's remark and converted and became the means of the salvation of his brother Robert, who had been an infidel, and then Robert became a minister of the gospel, and under his ministry the godless Felix Neff became the world renowned mis-Merle d'Aubigne became the author of "The History of the Reformation" and will be the glory of the church for all ages. Perhaps you may do as much as the Scotch sailor who just tipped his cap and used one broken sentence by which the earth and the heavens are still resounding with potent influences. Do something for God, and do it right away or you will never do it at all.

NEW STYLE OF LIFEBOAT.

Invention of Charles Mayo Launched at

South Chicago. A new form of lifeboat, which it is believed will result in the saving of many lives at sea, was launched at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the yards of the Cuthbert Boat Building company. Ninety-second street and the Calumet river. It is the invention of Charles Mayo, formerly of the British navy, and employed in the Cuthbert yard. The lifeboat is constructed in the shape of a barrel, being about twenty feet long and composed of two cylinders, one inside of the other. The width is the same as an ordinary lifeboat, and the capacity of the craft is given as fifty persons. The space between the two shells will be filled with compressed air, to supply the occupants when the hatches are battened down in a heavy sea. The inner shell is pivoted at the ends and weighted at the bottom, so that it will maintain an upright position, no matter how heavy the sea. This will prevent the occupants from being injured by being thrown about the inside through the tossing of the waves. The outer shell is made of sheet iron, in much the same way that metallic lifeboats are built. The inner shell is of aluminum, with automatic aluminum hatches, which will close instantly when one enters the boat. In its present form the boat is intended for use as a lifeboat on vessels, but it is believed that improvements can be made on it so that it will be available for use by life saving crews. Each boat will weigh about 3,000 pounds and can be carried on davits like an ordinary lifeboat and lowered to the water in the same way.

Sore Hands

One Night Treatment

Soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of CUTICURA SOAP. Dry, and anoint freely with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients. Wear, during the night, old, loose kid gloves, with the finger ends cut off and air holes cut in the palms. For red, rough, chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, with shapeless nails and painful finger ends, this treatment is simply wonderful, and points to a speedy cure of the most distressing cases when physicians and all else fail.

Cured by Cuticura

WAS troubled with hands so sore that when I put them in water the pain would near set me crazy, the skin would peel off, and the flesh would get hard and break, then the blood would flow from at least fifty places on each hand. Words never can tell the suffering I endured for three years.

I tried at least eight doctors, but my hands were worse than when I commenced doctoring. I tried every old Granny remedy that was ever thought of without one cent's worth of good and could not even get relief.

I would feel so badly mornings when I got up, to think that I had to go to work and stand pain for eight or nine hours, that I often felt like giving up my job, which was in the bottling works of Mr. E. L. Kerns, the leading bottler of Trenton, N. J., who will vouch for the truth of my sufferings.

Before I could start to work, I would have to wrap each finger on both hands, and then wear gloves, which I hated to do, for when I came to take them off, it would take two hours and the flesh would break and bleed. Some of my friends who had seen my hands would say, "If they had such hands they would have them amputated"; others would say "they would never work," and more would turn away in disgust. But thanks to Cuticura, the greatest of skin cures, and ended all my sufferings.

Just to think, after doctoring three years, and spending dollar after dollar during that time, Cuticura cured me. It has now been two years since I used it and do not know what sore hands are. I never lost a day's work while I was using it or since, and I have been working at the same business, and in acids, etc.

And so Folsom had gone to meet Burleigh, and the girls had planned, at least Jessie had, that Marshall after drill should ride beside them into town and have a chat in the parlor while she wrote to mother in the library. But a thing happened that no one could have foreseen. Just before drill was over and while they were still watching it from their seats in the covered wagon, a buggy drove up alongside and Maj. Burleigh jumped out, gave the reins to his companion, and bade him come to him as soon as he had finished what he wished to do at the sutler's. The major's face was perturbed, that of his companion looked black and ugly. It was Capt. Newhall, and something was amiss. The latter barely tipped his hat in driving away, the former heaved a sigh of relief, then turned to greet the girls.

Ten minutes passed in constraint and awkwardness. Burleigh felt that he was unwelcome, but his eyes were fixed in fascination on Elinor Folsom, and he could not go. Presently irill was dismissed, and Dean, all aglow, came galloping up, his orderly trumpeter following. Not until he had joyously greeted both the girls did he see who was standing by the forward wheel on the opposite side.

"Good morning, Mr. Dean," said Burleigh, affably. "I never saw that troop look so well."

"Good morning, sir," said Dean, coldly. Then turned to speak again to whirring back.

"He isn't here, Burleigh," said the Come on!" Burleigh turned livid. "Capt. New-

CHAPTER XIV.

Another day Dean and Troop Cwere held in camp awaiting orders for spe-"Old Pecksniff" had an eye for pretty girls, a trait by no means rare in soldiers old or young, and prettier girls than Pappoose or Jessie he had never met. Mrs. Stevens was accordingly bidden to invite them to luncheon that very day, and Dean and Loomis were of the party, as were other young people of the post, and, despite the rising war clouds in the north and the recent unpleasantness at Emory and an odd manner indicative of suppressed excitement on part of both Dean and Loomis, a very joyous time they had until the damsels had to drive home to dress for dinner. Folsom had named six as the hour. Burleigh, Newhall and the two boys were mentioned as his guests. Burleigh accepted for self and partner, Loomis for himself, with mental reservation. Dean at once had begged to be excused. After the morning's disappearance of Burleigh and "Surly," as Miss Folsom promptly named the pair, Marshall had ridden into Gate City at the side of the Folsom carriage, and was welcomed by the old trader himself, who looked pained when told he could not attend is destruction of lung by the dinner. "Surely Col. Stevens will let you off," said Folsom, but that obviously was not the reason.

"I'm the only officer with my troop," said Dean, "and so cannot ask."

But when Folsom took his daughter in his arms a little later and inquired whether there was not some graver cause behind the one assigned Elinor calmly answered that she ethough there was, and that the cause was Maj. Burleigh.

"But, daughter dear," said he, "that's just one reason I wish to bring them together. Then Dean could see how pleasantly disposed the major is," and he was amazed when she replied:

"Maj. Burleigh may be pleasantly disposed, but Mr. Dean is not by any means, nor would I be were I in his place, papa." "My child," said he, "what do you know about it?"

"Everything that Jessie knows, besides what we heard on the train. Maj. -Mr. Dean told her of several things Maj. Burleigh had said and done to his discredit, and no wonder he declines to dine with a man who has deliberately maligned him."

"I wish I had thought of that," said Folsom, his knotty hands deep in the pockets of his loose-fitting trousers. I saw Burleigh this morning on some business, and he seemed to want to help Dean along. What took him out to the fort, do you suppose?"

"I don't know," she answered, gravely. "He had Capt, Newhall with him in quest of somebody who wasn't there."

"Ah, yes, Griggs, the sutler. I heard of it," interposed Folsom, fingering his watch chain. "Very possibly. The captain was ugly and rude in manner and Maj. Burleigh very much embarrassed. Indeed, daddy dear, I should not be great-
