Lima.

Fred Wen's youngest child is seriously ill.

The Grange met at Henry Wilson's last Friday.

John Grau spent Saturday and Sunday in Toledo.

The railroad bridge at the Center was finished last week.

The Farmers' Club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Parker, March 20.

Nightcap social and maple sugar supper at Mrs. Clements' Friday night.

The attendance at the revival meetings was so small that they closed the fore part of last week.

It was very fashionable last week to take a sudden departure from your sleigh or cutter into a snowbank.

The stone has been drawn for the church wall. Work on moving the church will begin as soon as the ground settles.

A sleigh load of the young people spent last Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fletcher. On their way home they were all tipped out into a snowbank.

The blizzard Sunday night created quite a little excitement at League meeting. All made a rush for the church door, and several started for home but found it impossible to travel against the wind and returned to the church. A few succeeded in reaching the nearest houses.

Lyndon.

A. B. Skidmore is serving on the jury at Ann Arbor this week.

Thos. Stapish is now brakeman on the Jackson & Saginaw railroad.

Mrs. Jas. Shannahan who has been seriously ill is somewhat improved at this writing.

There seems to be a fair prospect for a rural free mail delivery route to be established through Lyndon in the near future. We think Lyndon people would appreciate such an accommodation as there is not and never has been a post office within its borders.

M. Shaver got stalled again last Friday on the hill northwest from the Center in about the same place and in about the same manner as two weeks ago. The tank tipped nearly bottom side up and he had to use the same chain and pulley and about the same help as before to right it up again.

The First "Boo"

How many are aware of the origin of the word "boo" used to frighten children? It is a corruption of "Boh," the name of a fierce Gothic general, the son of Odin, the mention of whose name spread a panic among his enemies.

GEORGE P. GLAZIER.

George Pickering Glazier, second child of eight, and only son of George M. and Anna Maria Glazier, was born in Boston, Erie county, N. Y., April 5, 1841; died at his home in Chelsea from a stroke of paralysis, Tuesday morning, March 5, 1901, aged 59 years 11 months.

In 1846, at the age of 5, he removed with his parents to Michigan, soon coming to Jackson where he spent his boyhood and early school days. At the age of 18 he found it necessary to leave school and work for the support of himself and family. He entered a drug store as clerk and immediately began to show his force of character. Though working very hard and being on duty late at nights he rose at 4 o'clock, summer and winter, to study book-keeping so that he might know more about business. In 1861 at 20 years of age he married Emily J., oldest daughter of Henry I. Stimson, of Parma, Mich., to which marriage there were born two daughters, Effie and Nora, and a son Frank. He remained in the drug business, at Jackson and Parma, with the exception of a year spent in New York studying pharmacy, till he came to Chelsea in 1868. Here he began a banking business, combining it with the drug business until his bank duties outgrew the possibility of combination in 1881, when he disposed of his interest in the drug store and has since been engaged in banking and financial enterprises exclusively, in Chelsea and also at Stockbridge, Mich.

He was cashier of the Chelsea Savings Bank continuously from 1863 to the date of his death. His energy has built it up and his judgment shaped its policy during all that time, and made it one of the most solid and successful banks in the state. His activities have not been limited to the bank alone, but have made him a prominent factor in very many of the larger financial enterprises which have contributed to the progress and development of the community. His business judgment was far sighted and remarkably correct, and he gave his time as freely to others as it was widely sought, as adviser, in both official and private capacity, in all financial matters. Perhaps no man will be so widely missed in our financial community as he. Through his constant support and counsels also, the manufacturing business of his son, Frank P. Glazier, has been developed from a small and uncertain attempt at its conception in 1890, to one of the largest concerns of its kind in the United States.

In business, social or family life, there is no one who has not felt the wideness and kindness of his sympathies and been debtor to his unassuming helpfulness. No one who would be a friend to him but has lost a friend in him. Of his immediate family there survive to mourn his loss only his wife Emily, his son Frank Porter, and one sister Mrs. Mina Glazier Hill, all of Chelsea.

A Brief but Heavy Windstorm.

For about 10 or 15 minutes Sunday night it looked to those who were out in the brief storm as though Chelsea had been struck by a blizzard. The services in the churches were just over and people had started for their homes when it was at its height. All at once the electric lights went out and all was darkness, and the fire whistle keeping up a loud whistling called many people out of doors. It turned out that the new smokestack at the electric light works had been blown down and lodged across the whistle. Frank Leach's windmill was blown down, the chimneys on a couple of houses were blown over and a large window on the north side of J. A. Palmer's house was dashed in by the force of the squall.

Prof. Clinton D. Smith, director of the M. A. C. experiment station, in comparing alfalfa with clover, says the value of clover cannot well be overestimated, and while this is appreciated by farmers generally, they still find fault with the small growth. Investigation shows that clover will not grow when sown and treated as formerly. Not one farmer in a thousand has ever tried sowing clover alone without a nurse crop like wheat or oats, and few have tried the benefit of several good coats of barnyard manure in successive years. He has rarely known clover to fail where the method of preparing the ground in the spring or fall, according to whether it is sandy or heavy clay, preparing it well and then sowing on the clover alone, prevails. It is a rare thing to see clover failing continuously on a farm where a good deal of live stock is kept and well rotted manure is plentifully used.

Where the Dress Money Goes.

Do you know where goes the money you pay for an expensive gown? It is divided in a manner that may surprise you unless you are initiated by some one, as I was by a bookkeeper of a large New York establishment which affects all that is extreme in fashion and expense. A $600 creation was taken as an example.

You pay $600 for the gown, and the money goes into a number of hands. Those who performed the labor in putting the dress together after it left the cutter's hands do not get more than $15. The material will cost $150, while the administrative, origination genius at the head of the establishment receives $100 for imparting his conception to his staff. This staff of men and women, with suavity of manner, business experience, tact and talent that will satisfy the judicious as well as the frivolous, will get $150. Then about $40 is for interest on capital and money outstanding, to which must be added $35 for bad debts. Those who do pay must pay for those who do not pay, and no establishment is too fashionable or too high toned to have unpaid debtors on its books. Now we have a cost of $510, which when deducted from the $600 you paid leaves $90 net profit.—New York Herald.

Dramatic Laurels For an American.

Mrs. Sophie de Meisner, daughter of the late Rear Admiral Radford, U. S. N., is the first American born woman to translate a play from the Russian into the English language. This success Mrs. de Meisner has achieved in the translation and adaptation of the celebrated play "The Death of Ivan the Terrible" which has recently been accepted by Mansfield and by him will be brought out next season. It is, as the name suggests, a powerful tragedy, the work of Alexis Tolstol. When the play was first written, it was not allowed to be placed upon the stage in Russia. This objection was overruled last season, and by permission of the present czar "The Death of Ivan the Terrible" was produced with immense success in St. Petersburg.

Mrs. de Meisner's knowledge of the Russian language has been gained through a long residence in St. Petersburg, she having somewhat over 2 years since married an attaché of the Russian embassy in Washington.

WONDERFUL CURE OF PSORIASIS.

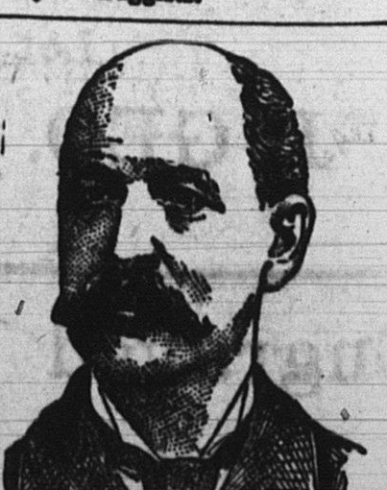

As a sufferer for thirty years from the worst form of Psoriasis, finally cured by Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I wish to tell you my experience, that others may benefit by it. I was so grievously afflicted that the matter that exuded from my pores after the scales had peeled off, would cause my underclothing to actually gum to my body. After remaining in one position, sitting or lying down, for an hour or two, the flesh on my elbows and knees would split, so thick and hard would the crusty scales become. The humiliation I experienced, to say nothing of physical agony, was something frightful. The detached scales would fairly rain from my coat sleeves. I have read none of your testimonials that appear to represent a case so bad as mine. But as to the cure. I commenced bathing in hot Cuticura Soap suds night and morning, applied the Cuticura Ointment, and then wrapped myself in a sheet. In two weeks my skin was almost blood red in color, but smooth and without scales. Patches of natural colored skin began to appear, and in less than a month I was cured. I am now passed forty years of age and have skin as soft and smooth as a baby's. Hoping that others may benefit by my experience, and regretting that sensitiveness forbids me from disclosing my name, I am yours gratefully,
J. H. M., Boston, Mass., Sept. 30, 1900.

Millions of Women use CUTICURA SOAP in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and excoriations, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sensitive and delicate purposes which readily cause emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients, and the most refreshing of flower odors. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used these great skin purifiers and beautifiers to use any others, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, the best skin and complexion soap, and the best toilet and baby soap in the world. Sold by all druggists.

(Special Correspondence.)

University of Michigan, March 4.—Not fewer than 50 graduates and former students of the university have held or are holding positions in the state of Michigan as circuit judges or justices of the supreme court.

Nine of the 18 men who have sat upon the supreme bench since the organization of the court in its present form have received degrees from the university. Two of the nine, Justices Cooley and Campbell, were at one time members of the faculty of the law department. Three of the five justices comprising the supreme court at the present time, and 19 of the circuit judges are graduates or former students.

Prizes for Orators.

At the close of the Washington birthday exercises, February 22, it was announced that the speaker, Hon. Frank O. Lowden, of Chicago, had given $3,000 to provide testimonials for the annual contest of the Northern Oratorical league. One hundred dollars of the yearly income is to be used as a testimonial for the winner of first place in the annual contest, and $50 for a testimonial for the winner of second place. The seven institutions represented in the Northern Oratorical league are the Universities of Chicago, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, Northwestern university, Iowa state university and Oberlin college.

Hospital News.

The newly arranged wards and laboratories at the university hospital were opened for use Saturday, February 23. Before the close of the first day the beds in the men's ward and two-thirds of the beds in the women's ward were occupied by patients. As now organized the normal capacity of the hospital is 120 beds, and its maximum capacity is 150 beds.

The number of patients treated up to February 21 in the homoeopathic hospital lacks but 49 of the total number treated during the year 1899-1900. In the clinic in medicine the number of patients treated to February 21 is 167 per cent. of the total number treated last year. In the clinic in ophthalmology and otology the number is 83 per cent. of last year's total; in the clinic in gynecology 80 per cent., and in the surgical clinic 72 per cent. With four months of the hospital year yet to come the prospects are good for a substantial increase over last year.

Gas Fellowship Renewed.

The Michigan Gas association fellowship at the university was renewed for the year 1901-1902 at the annual meeting of the association held in Grand Rapids February 20 and 21. Six hundred dollars was provided for the work. Of this $500 goes to the holder of the fellowship and $100 for the purchase of special apparatus. According to the conditions of the fellowship the holder devotes a year of 12 months to research, beginning in July of each year. The summer is spent in visiting the gas plants in various cities in the state and the fall, winter and spring to research in the university laboratory.

MICHIGAN VETERANS.

Report of Assistant Adjutant General Pond for Six Months Gives Some Interesting Statistics.

Assistant Adj. Gen. Pond, of the Michigan department, G. A. R., has forwarded his report for the last six months of 1900 to the national headquarters. The report, which covers the period ended December 31, shows 375 posts in commission with a membership in good standing of 14,930, and of delinquents still under the jurisdiction of the order of 2,404, making a total membership of 17,334. The report further says:

During the six months covered there were four new posts organized and five posts went out of commission. There were 158 deaths and 273 musters of new recruits. The total loss in membership was 235, made up of the death loss of 158, with 60 on the delinquent reports and 20 honorable discharges.

The amount of cash spent for relief from post funds, as reported by posts for the six months, was $673.88. This amount is said to be but a small portion of the amount of relief afforded through the connections with the Grand Army of the Republic.

For the entire year of 1900 the death loss in Michigan was 383, while the total loss in membership was but 206. The additions of new recruits for the year was 729, and the showing, considering the average age of the veterans, is considered a remarkable one. In 1896, when the present assistant adjutant general took hold of the work at headquarters, there were 373 posts and 16,766 members in the department. To-day there are 375 posts and 14,930 members, showing a loss in membership of 1,836 in five years, and of this number 1,764 were death losses. Reference to the reports of the three preceding years shows that while there was a total loss of 3,702, the total death loss was only 1,011.

AMONG THE LOST.

A Jackson Man Was Among the Victims of the Wrecked Steamer City of Rio de Janeiro.

The name of a Jackson man, Charles E. Jaycocks, appears on the passenger list of the wrecked steamer City of Rio de Janeiro, off San Francisco. Jaycocks' mother lives in Jackson and his cousin, E. Burnett, agent of the American Express company there, telegraphed to him at San Francisco. An answer was received that Jaycocks was reported drowned by the steamship company.

Jaycocks, who is 45 years old, had been in the United States marine service for 17 years. He was in Jackson on a visit for some months following his service with Admiral Sampson's fleet in the Spanish-American war. Since then he has been serving at Manila and Peking. His last letter to his mother stated that owing to ill health he would soon start from Cavite, Philippine islands, for home.

Results Disappointing.

Prof. Clinton D. Smith, director of the Michigan Agricultural college experiment station, says that the results of experiments in growing alfalfa in Michigan have been extremely disappointing. Good stands have been secured many times only to have the crop die out within a year or two from freezing or some other cause. In one instance a fine stand was secured over a full acre, and three or four good crops were cut the same year, but by the middle of the following May there was scarcely a living root left.

Native of Michigan.

Col. Cornelius Gardiner, who is to be governor of the province of Tayabas, in southern Luzon, is a native of Michigan and was graduated from West Point in 1873. As a lieutenant he fought with Miles in Indian Territory, Kansas, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico from 1874 to 1880. He fought the Arapahoes and the northern Cheyennes in Nebraska and Kansas before the battle of Republican river, at which Col. Lewis was killed.

Celebrated Case Settled.

The celebrated Mollie Bennett will case has been settled in Ann Arbor. Originally the estate amounted to $13,000 and was left to Jerome Schermerhorn, a mulatto who had worked for Miss Bennett for a number of years. Her relatives contested the will and it has been bitterly fought. Only $3,000 of the original estate remains, the other $10,000 having been eaten up in law costs. Schermerhorn gets $500.

Apple Tree Culture.

Roy Clark, a prominent fruit grower of Pipestone township, north of Galien, will plant 2,500 apple trees this spring and try a new method of apple culture. The trees will be planted about 20 feet apart, and headed down for a low top the same as a peach tree. Mostly winter varieties will be grown and the ground will be cultivated every year and kept rich by fertilizers.

Landed in Jail.

Sheriff Frank Edgett, of Osceola county, has succeeded in landing in Hersey jail Lee Carpenter, who is charged with the murder of Andrew Forsythe in Rose Lake township September 17, 1900. Carpenter escaped after committing the crime and found work in a lumber camp in a remote corner of Roscommon county.

Will Help St. Joseph.

Secretary of War Root has declared Paw Paw river, entering St. Joseph, navigable. The stationary bridges are ordered removed, and there is much rejoicing in commercial circles, as it will add miles of dock property. Secretary Root's action is the result of continuous requests by Congressman Hamilton.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

Daily Summary of the Proceedings in Senate and House at the Forty-first Session.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 23.—Bills have been passed in the senate changing the name of Eva S. Karlinghans to Eva A. Stewart; authorizing village of Lake Linden to borrow $7,500 for sewers.

Lansing, Mich., March 1.—Bills have been passed in the senate fixing the salary of the chief of the vital statistics department in the secretary of state's office at $1,500; to amend the law for a labor lien on logs, shingles, etc., so that the title will continue to rest in the producer, even after they are shipped, unless they are paid for; amending the election law so that presidential electors will be printed at the top of ballots.

House.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 23.—The house has agreed to a bill in the committee of the whole which provides that no manufacturing corporation can file articles of incorporation unless ten per cent. of all the capital stock is paid in.

Lansing, Mich., March 1.—Bills have been passed in the house providing for a stricter registration of deaths in the state; providing that registration boards shall meet on the second Saturday and the following Monday prior to any general fall election, and on the second Saturday preceding any general spring, charter or spring election, the object being to prevent colonizing and to allow time in which to inspect the registration lists; authorizing townships to abolish election districts; declaring certain contracts and agreements to be unlawful where they provide for the repurchase or the payment of a bonus; appropriating $10,000 for the Eastern Michigan asylum for the completion of the detached buildings.

TELLS OF BURIED TREASURE.

Man at Hagerstown, Md., Finds Letter Written in 1862, When Lee Threatened the City.

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 28.—While engaged in tearing down a small brick structure in the rear of his residence, E. T. Munson came across a folded paper under the floor. Written on the outside of the paper were the words "Read This." On the inside was the following:

"Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 19, 1862.—Yesterday it was said that the confederates under Gen. Lee were on the march for this town. I have buried $27 in gold and silver in a tin box 30 feet south of where this box is buried, about four feet deep. If I come back any time I will get this letter to keep from fooling anybody. We start at nine o'clock to meet Gen. McClellan. If I am killed the finder is welcome to the money."

(Signed) "J. N. C. DREW, "Company C, First Maryland Regiment. "P. S.—There is an apple tree to the left of the money about four feet."

The battle took place a few days later and as Drew was never seen after that it is supposed he was killed. The tree referred to has long since disappeared and there is now nothing left to locate the exact spot where the money was buried.

NEW EXPLOSIVE.

Tests Made by the War Department Show It to Possess Great Destructive Force.

New York, March 5.—Tests are being made at the Sandy Hook proving grounds with a new explosive of great power. Ordnance officials say highly satisfactory results have been obtained. Great secrecy has been observed in conducting the tests, for the war department has determined that nothing shall be made public regarding the experiments. It has been learned that the new explosive is the invention of an American and that it has not yet been named. This removes it from the class of explosives which have been named and described and marks it as something entirely new.

Big Order for Locomotives.

Cleveland, O., March 1.—The Lake Shore Railroad company has purchased 51 of the largest locomotives ever constructed. Eleven are for passenger and 40 for freight traffic. The engines will be of a uniform weight of about 80 tons, each with 80-inch drive wheels and 20½ by 28-inch cylinders. The tenders will have a capacity of 6,000 gallons of water and 12 tons of coal. The new locomotives are from the Brooks locomotive works at Dunkirk, N. Y.

Schwab to Be President.

New York, March 1.—A news association of this city says: "It is practically settled that President Schwab, of the Carnegie Steel company, will be selected as president of the United States steel corporation, and there is semi-official authority for the statement that Elbert H. Gary, president of the Federal Steel company, will be named for the chairmanship of the executive committee."

Fatal Fire at Dayton.

Dayton, O., March 2.—Fire at the Dayton malleable iron works Friday destroyed the warehouse and annealing-room, regarded as fireproof. The building cost $30,000 and the contents will put the loss above $50,000. Only $6,000 insurance was carried. Edward Cloeman (colored), a watchman, was cremated in the flames. The origin of the fire was a gas explosion.

Paints and Oils in Flames.

Baltimore, March 2.—The extensive establishment of Hirschberg, Hollander & Co., dealers in paints and oils, at 23 and 25 Hanover street, was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $100,000, of which $80,000 is on stock and the remainder on the building. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

HELP FOR WOMEN

WHO ARE ALWAYS TIRED.

"I do not feel very well, I am so tired all the time. I do not know what is the matter with me."

You hear these words every day; as often as you meet your friends just so often are these words repeated. More than likely you speak the same significant words yourself, and no doubt you do feel far from well most of the time.

Mrs. Ella Rice, of Chelsea, Wis., whose portrait we publish, writes that she suffered for two years with bearing-down pains, headache, backache, and had all kinds of miserable feelings, all of which was caused by falling and inflammation of the womb, and after doctoring with physicians and numerous medicines she was entirely cured by

Mrs. ELLA RICE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you are troubled with pains, fainting spells, depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere, headache, backache, and always tired, please remember that there is an absolute remedy which will relieve you of your suffering as it did Mrs. Rice. Proof is monumental that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest medicine for suffering women. No other medicine has made the cures that it has, and no other woman has helped so many women by direct advice as has Mrs. Pinkham; her experience is greater than that of any living person. If you are sick, write and get her advice; her address is Lynn, Mass.

A FEW SPLINTERS.

A peach tree in Kent county, Md., is 26 inches in diameter at the ground and has borne fruit for 23 years.

Orange trees are usually planted 70 to the acre. This is also the average number of trees to an acre of pine forest.

In a state of nature tea trees grow to a height of 40 feet; in cultivation they are dwarfed by pruning to not more than three.

Green wood hisses and splutters when burning because of the large amount of water contained in its fibers, which is changed into steam by the heat, and bursts off tiny splinters.

ONE DOLLAR PER PILL.

Miss Netta Hixon Says the Remedy That Cured Her Would Be Cheap at This Price.

Cincinnati, O., March 4, 1901 (Special).—Miss Netta Hixon is Sergeant-at-Arms of Camp No. 1, Patriotic Order of America. Her home is at No. 1717 Hughes street, this city. She is a very popular and influential lady. For three years she has been ill. Now she is well. She says: "I cannot praise Dodd's Kidney Pills too highly for what they have done for me. I was troubled for three years with weakness, and often had dizzy spells, so that I dared not go out alone. My head would ache continually for four or five days at a time, until life became simply a burden."

"All the medicine I took did me no good, until my physician advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I secured a box, and soon found that my headache was leaving me. I felt encouraged and kept on taking them and getting stronger. The pains gradually diminished, until I had used four boxes, and all trace of pain had gone. I am to-day a strong and well woman, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. If the price was one dollar per pill, instead of 50c a box, they would be cheap compared with other so-called medicines placed before a suffering public." This is but a sample of the letters received every day by the hundred. They all tell the same story of sickness and soreness, changed into health and vigor by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They never fail. 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. Buy them from your local druggist if you can. If he can't supply you, send to the Dodds Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Working 24 Hours a Day.

There's no rest for those tireless little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always busy, curing torpid liver, jaundice, biliousness, fever and ague. They banish sick headache, drive out malaria. Never gripe or weaken. Small, taste nice, work wonders. Try them. 25c at Glazier & Stimson's.

The Skin and the Lungs.
"That the skin is intimately connected with the lungs is proved by the fact that our minor ills of the respiratory tract—colds, for instance—are almost always traceable to a checking of the perspiration, so that the impurities of the blood poison us," says Harvey Sutherland, in Alma's. "Everybody knows the story about the little boy that was covered with gold leaf as a cherub for some Roman pomp and how he died in agony a few hours afterward. The poisons manufactured by his own organisms slew him, to say nothing of his suffocation. Burns involving more than one-third of the general surface are fatal because the excretory powers of the skin are lessened beyond the abilities of the other depuratory organs to make up for."

"Varnish an animal and it will die in from six to twelve hours, say some authorities. This incontrovertible fact is matched by another equally incontrovertible—that nobody ever heard of any case of tarring and feathering that killed the victim. He might have had all kinds of trouble in getting the stuff off, and he might have felt a shock to his pride, but he didn't die that anybody ever heard of. I never assisted at a ceremony of this kind at either end of the joke, and so I can't speak as to the completeness with which the body is covered with the tar, but from my general knowledge of the character of the people of the west and southwest, where such sports are freely indulged in, I should say that it would most likely be a thorough and comprehensive pigmentation. It may be that the man breathes through the quills of the feathers stuck on, but I doubt it. I should think tar would seal up the pores of the skin quite as effectually as varnish, and it is a paint warranted to wear in all weathers and not to crack or scale off."

The Kiss That Made Him Mad.

A Boston man, in speaking of certain foreign characteristics, told the following story: "A middle aged American couple traveling abroad some years ago called in Rome on a sculptor with whom they had been acquainted years before. The visit passed off pleasantly, but at its close the host gallantly, but none the less to her surprise and chagrin, kissed the lady as he said goodbye. The sculptor was an elderly man, but nevertheless it was a liberty, and she was not astonished to hear her husband ejaculate: 'Why, I never heard of such cheek! I've a good mind to go back and tell him what I think of him!' 'After two or three remarks of a similar tenor, in which the note of anger was rising, the wife decided to pour oil on the troubled waters and so, laying her hand on his arm, said: 'I know, dear, he shouldn't have kissed me, but what does it really matter? What does a kiss count in a woman of my years? He is a very old man, and probably he was following the fashion of the country.' 'Her husband turned an astonished face. 'Of course I don't mind his kissing you,' he raged, 'but, and his voice rose, 'It's his having kissed me that has hurt my feelings!' 'The sculptor had followed the Italian custom and kissed both wife and husband.'—New York Tribune.

Not the Bass Viol Man's Fault.

A capital story relating to good old times is still told in the Fen district of the eastern counties. As is well known by many and even now remembered by some, a bass viol was often procured to help the choirs in parish churches.

One lovely Sunday morning in the summer while the parson was droning out his drowsy discourse and had about reached the middle a big bull managed to escape from his pasture and marched majestically down the road, bellowing defiantly as he came. The parson, who was somewhat deaf, heard the bull bellow, but mistaking the origin of the sound, gravely glanced toward the singers' seats and said in tones of reproof:

"I would thank the musicians not to tune up during service time. It annoys me very much."

As may well be imagined, the choir looked greatly surprised, but said nothing.

Very soon, however, the belligerent bull gave another bellow, and then the aggrieved parson became desperately indignant.—Cassell's Magazine.

Strikes a Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H., "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson.

With the prospects of a large demand for men at this point by the Michigan Central and the electric road, farmers are beginning to worry about farm laborers for the coming summer.—Dexter Leader. Farmers around here may not be "worrying" about this matter, but still there are some who are wondering where their help is to come from. The railroad men are also in somewhat of a quandary. It is said, wondering where they are going to get enough teams when the farmers begin their spring work.

The Theta Rho Delta is the name by which a party of young ladies in Chelsea who meet weekly at the home of one of their number, is known. They met Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Beatrice Bacon and elected officers as follows: President, Miss Nellie Mingay; vice president, Miss Grace Brown; secretary-treasurer, Miss Ione Wood. The colors of the society are royal purple and lemon yellow, so if you see any young ladies wearing this combination of colors you will know they are "it."

The Dexter Leader, speaking of Rev. C. S. Jones' address at the colonial entertainment and supper given by the W. W. S. of the Congregational church of that village, Feb. 22, says: "Rev. C. S. Jones, of Chelsea, spoke eloquently and touchingly of 'The Puritan Meeting House,' and of its effect upon the character and national customs of this country. He paid many high tributes to the grand men and women whose sermons and prayers in the little old Puritan meeting house, have come down to us a precious legacy from the past that has left its indelible stamp upon our people for a purer and a higher national greatness."

The Congregational society of Dexter has accepted the proposition of the executors of the estate of the late Dennis Warner of $4,000 cash in place of the bequest left by the will. The settlement cancels all conditions and is satisfactory to both the executors and the church.

Orrin Rounds, of Dexter, employed on the grading of the D., Y., A. A. & J. electric line near Michigan Center, was injured by an explosion of dynamite at noon Friday. They were blasting frozen ground, and Rounds was boring deeper a hole in which the charge failed to explode. His augur discharged the dynamite and Rounds was severely injured in the eyes, face and right arm.

The Michigan Central Railroad Co. has purchased a piece of land of D. T. Wilcox, just east of the Lime Springs, and begun the work of erecting a pumping station 1,400 feet west of the Scio bridge. A tank will be put in that will enable locomotives to take water on the run, and the overflow from the tank will run into the river at the bridge. The object is to save the time now spent in filling the engine tanks with water.

Tomorrow evening Chelsea folks can listen to an illustrated lecture on South Africa, which country is at present the object of so much interest. Rev. F. B. Bunker, who is a missionary stationed near Lorenzo Marquez, will speak in the Congregational church on Zululand, its inhabitants, and other scenes and incidents that come to a missionary's notice. The lecture will be illustrated by magic lantern slides and will be free to all.

St. Patrick's Day this year falls on Sunday and the celebration in Chelsea of this day so dear to an Irishman's heart will be of a religious nature. At St. Mary's church, on Sunday evening, 17, Rev. William McKinley Is Once More Inaugurated as President of the United States.

CEREMONY WITNESSED BY THOUSANDS.

Theodore Roosevelt Assumes the Office of Vice President—Parade Was One of the Great Features of the Day—Summary of the President's Inaugural Address.

Washington, March 4.—William McKinley, of Ohio, to-day was inducted into the presidential office, being the eighth in the illustrious line of presidents of the United States thus honored by the American people with a second and consecutive term. Simultaneously, Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, became vice president of the United States. The ceremony that marked this second assumption by President McKinley of the cares of state was most impressive and full of suggestion of the development of the republic during the past four years.

Many Governors Present.

The states of the union rendered their homage to the president, and demonstrated that no party feeling dominated to-day's great event by the attendance of 14 governors representing north, south and west, most of them accompanied by numerous staffs. There were Gov. Odell, of New York; Gov. Yates, of Illinois; Gov. Bliss, of Michigan; Gov. Van Sandt, of Minnesota; Gov. Richards, of Wyoming; Gov. Stone, of Pennsylvania; Gov. Dietrich, of Nebraska; Gov. Shaw, of Iowa; Gov. Crane, of Massachusetts; Gov. McMillin, of Tennessee; Gov. Dockery, of Missouri; Gov. Barnes, of Oklahoma; Gov. Smith, of Maryland, and Gov. Longino, of Mississippi.

Vice President Inaugurated.

The inaugural ceremonies proper for the first time were conducted by a joint committee of the senate and house, the custom heretofore having been to leave the conduct of the inauguration entirely in the hands of the upper body of congress. At 11 o'clock Mr. Roosevelt took the oath of the vice presidency in the senate chamber in the presence of President McKinley and a distinguished company. After the delivery of his inaugural address the vice president administered the oath of office to the senators-elect.

Roosevelt's Address.

Vice President Roosevelt said: "The history of free government is in large part the history of those representative legislative bodies, in which from the earliest times, free government has found its loftiest expression. They must ever hold a peculiar and exalted position in the record which tells how the great nations of the world have endeavored to achieve and preserve orderly freedom. No man can render to his fellows greater service than is rendered to him who, with fearlessness and honesty, with sanity and disinterestedness, does his life work as a member of such a body. Especially is this the case when the legislature in which the service is rendered, is a vital part in the government machinery of one of those world powers to whose hands, in the course of the ages, is intrusted a leading part in shaping the destinies of mankind. For weal or for woe, for good or for evil, this is true of our own mighty nation. Great privileges and great powers are ours, and heavy are the responsibilities that go with these privileges and these powers. Accordingly as we do well or ill, so shall mankind in the future be raised or cast down. We belong to a young nation, already of giant strength, yet whose present strength is but a forecast of the power that is to come. We stand supreme in a continent, in a hemisphere. East and west we look across the two great oceans toward the larger world-life in which, whether we will or not, we must take an ever increasing share. And as, keen-eyed, we gaze into the coming years, duties, new and old, rise thick and fast to confront us from within and from without. There is every reason why we should face these duties with a sober appreciation alike of their importance and of their difficulty. But there is also every reason for facing them with high-hearted resolution and eager and confident faith in our capacity to do them aright. A great work lies ready to the hand of this generation; it should count itself happy indeed that it is given the privilege of doing such a work. A leading part therein must be taken by this, the august and powerful legislative body over which I have been called to preside. Most deeply do I appreciate the privilege of my position; for I have indeed the honor of presiding over the American senate at the outset of the twentieth century."

President Takes the Oath.

At noon the oath of office was administered to President McKinley by Chief Justice Fuller in front of the main entrance to the capitol, where a stand for this purpose had been constructed. The capitol grounds in front of the stand were packed by a multitude of people from all sections of the country who had come to Washington to witness the ceremony.

The Inaugural Address.

Following is the inaugural address of President McKinley:

"My Fellow Citizens: When we assembled here on the fourth of March, 1897, there was great anxiety with regard to our currency and credit. None exists now. Then our treasury receipts were inadequate to meet the current obligations of the government. Now they are sufficient for all public needs, and we have a surplus instead of a deficit. Then I felt constrained to convene the congress in extraordinary session to devise revenues to pay the ordinary expenses of the government. Now I have the satisfaction to announce that the congress just closed has reduced taxation in the sum of $41,000,000. Then there was deep solicitude because of the long depression in our manufacturing, mining, agricultural and mercantile industries and the consequent distress of our laboring population. Now every avenue of production is crowded with activity, labor is well employed, and American products find good markets at home and abroad."

"Should Promote Reciprocity. Our diversified productions, however, are increasing in such unprecedented volume as to admonish us of the necessity of still further enlarging our foreign markets by broader commercial relations. For this purpose reciprocal trade arrangements with other nations should in liberal spirit be carefully cultivated and promoted."

Verdict of '96 Executed.

"The national verdict of 1896 has for the most part been executed. Whatever remains unfulfilled is a continuing obligation resting with undiminished force upon the executive and congress. But fortunate as our condition is, its permanence can only be assured by sound business methods and strict economy in national administration and legislation. We should not permit our great prosperity to lead us to reckless ventures in business or profligacy in public expenditures. While the congress determines the objects and the sum of appropriations, the officials of the executive departments are responsible for honest and faithful disbursement, and it should be their constant care to avoid waste and extravagance. Honesty, capacity and integrity for the impending peril. I did not think in honor could be done to avert war, but without avail. It became inevitable; and the congress at its first regular session, without party division, provided money in anticipation of the crisis and in preparation to meet it. It came. The result was signally favorable to American arms and in the highest degree honorable to the government. It imposed upon us obligations from which we cannot escape, and from which it would be dishonorable to seek to escape. We are now at peace with the world, and we are now more indispensable than in public employment. These should be fundamental requisites to original appointment and the surest guarantees against removal."

At Peace with the World.

"Four years ago we stood on the brink of war without the people knowing it and without any preparation or effort at preparation, and it is my fervent prayer that if differences arise between us and other powers they may be settled by peaceful arbitration, and that hereafter we may be spared the horrors of war."

Will Be True to His Trust.

"Intrusted by the people for a second time with the office of president, I enter upon its administration appreciating the great responsibilities which attach to this renewed honor and commission, promising unreserved devotion on my part to their faithful discharge, and reverently invoking for my guidance the direction and aid of Almighty God. I should shrink from the duties this day assumed if I did not feel that in their performance I should have the cooperation of the wise and patriotic men of all parties. It encourages me for the great task which I now undertake to believe that those who voluntarily committed to me the trust imposed upon the chief executive of the republic will give to me generous support in my duties to preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States, and to care that the laws be faithfully executed. The national purpose is indicated through a national election. It is the constitutional method of ascertaining the public will. When once it is registered it is a law to us all, and faithful observance should follow its decrees."

"Strong hearts and helpful hands are needed, and, fortunately, we have them in every part of our beloved country. We are reunited. Sectionalism has disappeared. Division on public questions can no longer be traced by the war maps of 1861. These old differences less and less disturb the judgment. Existing problems demand the thought and quicken the conscience of the country, and the responsibility for their presence as well as for their righteous settlement rests upon us all—no more upon me than upon you."

Patriotism Excludes Partisanship.

"There are some national questions in the solution of which patriotism should exclude partisanship. Magnifying their difficulties will not take them off our hands nor facilitate their adjustment. Distrust of the capacity, integrity and high purposes of the American people will not be an inspiring theme for future political contests. Dark pictures and gloomy forebodings are worse than useless. These only becloud, they do not help to point the way of safety and honor. 'Hope maketh not ashamed.' The prophets of evil were not the builders of the republic, nor in its crisis since have they saved or served it. The faith of the fathers was a mighty force in its creation, and the faith of their descendants has wrought its progress and furnished its defenders. There are obstructionists who despair and who would destroy confidence in the ability of our people to solve wisely and for civilization the mighty problems resting upon them. The American people, intrenched in freedom at home, take their love for it with them wherever they go, and they reject as mistaken and unworthy the doctrine that we lose our own liberties by securing the enduring foundations of liberty to others. Our institutions will not deteriorate by extension, and our sense of justice will not abate under tropic suns in distant seas."

Relations with Cuba.

"We face at this moment a most important question—that of the future relations of the United States and Cuba. With our near neighbors we must remain close friends. The declaration in the resolution of this government must be made good. Ever since the evacuation of the island by the army of Spain the executive with all practicable speed has been assisting its people in the successive steps necessary to the establishment of a free and independent government prepared to assume and perform the obligations of international law which now rest upon the United States under the treaty of Paris."

Free Cuba Must Be a Reality.

"The peace which we are pledged to leave to the Cuban people must carry with it the guaranties of permanence. We became sponsors for the pacification of the island, and we remain accountable to the Cubans, no less than to our own country and people, for the reconstruction of Cuba as a free commonwealth on abiding foundations of right, justice, liberty and order. Our enfranchisement of this people will not be completed until free

CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER.

Cuba shall be a reality, not a name; a perfect entity, not a hasty experiment bearing within itself the elements of failure."

The Philippines.

"While the treaty of peace with Spain was ratified on the sixth of February, 1899, and ratifications were exchanged nearly two years ago, the congress has indicated no form of government for the Philippine islands. It has, however, provided an army to enable the executive to suppress insurrection, restore peace, give security to the inhabitants, and establish the authority of the United States throughout the archipelago. It has authorized the organization of native troops as auxiliary to the regular force. It has been advised from time to time of the acts of the military and naval officers in the islands, of my action in appointing civil commissions, of the instruction with which they were charged, of their duties and powers, of their recommendations, and of the several acts under executive commission, together with the very complete general information they have submitted. These reports fully set forth the conditions, past and present, in the islands, and the instructions clearly show the principles which will guide the executive until the congress shall, as it is required to do by the treaty, determine the civil rights and political status of the native inhabitants."

His Policy.

"The congress having added the sanction of its authority to the powers already possessed and exercised by the executive under the constitution, thereby leaving to the executive the responsibility for the government of the Philippines, I shall continue the efforts already begun until order shall be restored throughout the islands, and as fast as conditions permit establish local governments, in the formation of which the full cooperation of the people has been already invited, and when established will encourage the people to administer them. The settled purpose, long ago prevailed, to afford the inhabitants of the islands self-government as fast as they were ready for it will be pursued with earnestness and fidelity. Already something has been accomplished in this direction. The government's representatives, civil and military, are doing faithful and noble work in their mission of emancipation and merit the approval and support of their countrymen. The most liberal terms of amnesty have already been commuted to the insurgents, and the way is still open for those who have raised their arms against the government for honorable submission to its authority."

Not Waging War.

"Our countrymen should not be deceived. We are not waging war against the inhabitants of the Philippine islands. A portion of them are making war against the United States. By far the greater part of the inhabitants recognize American sovereignty and welcome it as a guaranty of order and of security for life, property, liberty, freedom of conscience and the pursuit of happiness. To them full protection will be given. They shall not be abandoned. We will not leave the destiny of the loyal thousands who are in rebellion against the United States. Order under civil institutions will come as soon as those who now break the peace shall keep it. Force will not be needed or used when those who make war against us shall make it no more. May it end without further bloodshed, and there be ushered in the reign of peace to be made permanent by a government of liberty under law."

President McKinley, after delivering the inaugural address, returned to the senate wing and took luncheon in the room of the committee on military affairs. The vice president and others were present.

After luncheon the president left the capitol with the same escort he had on his arrival and the procession started for the white house. The vice president, with his escort of the inaugural committee, followed the president in the parade.

The Grand Parade.

Washington, March 5.—The city of Washington Monday surpassed itself in the quantity and quality of its street decorations in honor of the second inauguration of President McKinley. No gala event in the city's history has seen such fine and general decoration. Along the line of march from the foot of the capitol to the point of dismissal at the upper end of Pennsylvania avenue, there was scarcely a house front that was not almost hidden from view by red, white and blue bunting.

A Patriotic Sight.

The stands that had been erected from which to view the parade were more highly finished than on any previous occasion. Being the work of the inaugural committee, they were uniform in character and their white fronts and yellow facings acted as a foil to the brilliant display of the national colors on the house fronts around them. The whole route of parade was a gorgeously patriotic sight.

Start from the Capitol.

The start was made from the capitol about 2:15 o'clock and the last of the civic organizations had passed the reviewing stand at the white house a little before six o'clock. Considering the weather conditions, the parade in point of numbers closely approximated the official forecast. The promptitude with which it was handled by the grand marshal was decidedly above the average for such an event. The weather was not favorable for the parade, a slow drizzle at intervals wetting uniforms and accoutrements, but fortunately the weather was mild, so no parader suffered any hardship from the elements.

Military Display.

In point of beauty the military display probably never has been exceeded in Washington. The regular contingent of cavalry, infantry and artillery were uniformly as though for the most exacting official inspection, and their discipline was beyond criticism. The same could be said with equal emphasis of the naval contingent. The marines, a splendid body of sea soldiers, and the jacksies, with their rollicking free and easy step, were especially well received by the crowds. The naval contingent was larger than ever has been seen in a Washington parade, and the impression it produced reflected the highest credit on the naval officers who had brought their commands to such a state of efficiency.

Cadet Corps.

The youthful cadet corps of West Point and Annapolis, in the severe simplicity of their uniforms, quick, snappy action and machine-like accuracy with which they performed every evolution, were a body quite apart and distinctive from all the others. The band with the naval cadets created much comment as perhaps the best musical organization in the whole procession, rivaling even the famous Marine band of the Washington barracks.

Porto Ricans in Line.

One of the unique features of the military display was a battalion of the Porto Rican regiment recently organized in our island possession and recruited from among the native population. They were not to be distinguished from the other infantry regiments except by their swarthy complexions and evidences in their marching of an enthusiasm that won them continuous applause along the line of march. Their welcome was of the warmest.

Civic Division.

The civic division consisted of clubs from all sections of the country, many of them unique in their uniforms and regalia and displaying decided proficiency in maintaining their formation and keeping up to the high standard set by the military division. There were two features in connection with the civic division this year that struck the notice of those accustomed to inaugural parades. One was the turnout of khaki-clad, campaign-hatted rough rider marching clubs from the several states, and the other was the appearance in line of cadet corps representing a large number of educational institutions in Washington and elsewhere.

President Reviews Parade.

After the inaugural ceremonies the parade started westward, with President McKinley well in the lead. He held this place until the reviewing stand was reached, when he left his carriage, together with the other members of the reviewing party, and took his place on the platform, where, with the vice president, Admiral Dewey, Gen. Miles and other distinguished soldiers and sailors, the members of the diplomatic corps, representing the nations of the earth, and others, the parade was reviewed.

At an End.

When the last civic organization had passed the president and his party turned to start for the white house, and, as the ropes had been let down, thousands flocked about the reviewing stand, which was incased in glass, and set up a shout which was so hearty that the president was deeply moved. He made a profound bow, turned quickly from the crowd and walked briskly toward the white house, surrounded by his friends. The president's flag was hauled down from the staff, and one of the most majestic features of the inauguration was at an end.

Fireworks Postponed.

Washington, March 5.—A very elaborate display of fireworks, chiefly of an aerial character, but including also imposing set pieces of President McKinley and Vice President Roosevelt, was on the programme of inauguration festivities for Monday night. Owing, however, to the inclement weather the decision was reached to postpone the display until another evening.

BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

The Palm Given to Dr. Greene's Nervura.

That Grand Jury, the People, Have So Decided.

Used by Hundreds of Thousands in Spring as a Blood Medicine.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is indeed "the World's Great Spring Medicine." It has come to be recognized by almost everybody as the best possible spring medicine to take, and hundreds of thousands of our people use it during the trying spring months, to tone up anew the relaxed nerves, and re-invigorate and enrich the blood.

A spring medicine is a necessity if one wishes to keep in perfect health and vigor during the changes from winter to summer. This grand spring tonic, this perfect spring medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, is exactly what the system needs at this season. It not only purifies, but makes rich, red blood; it not only strengthens and invigorates the nervous system, but re-energizes and revitalizes the nerves by feeding them with renewed nerve force and power. It is not only an aid to digestion, but it creates a regular, natural and healthy action of the bowels, liver, kidneys, which in the spring are always sluggish and inactive.

In fact, it is just what people need to make them well and keep them well during these months, so threatening to the health of all, and when it is considered that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is made entirely from pure, health-giving vegetable remedies, and that people give it more testimonials of cure than any other remedy on earth, no one can doubt that it is the very best spring remedy for everybody to use.

Mr. Gustave Lebach, of 337 First St., Jersey City, N. J., says:—

"I was troubled with sick headaches, and could not sleep on account of the pains in my head. I was suffering night and day with dyspepsia, could not eat anything, my stomach would sour. I had to starve myself to have any ease. I had to give up work at last, I was so nervous and miserable, and I was falling away in flesh so that my friends hardly knew me. I tried several remedies, but without avail. At last someone recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I tried one bottle and began to improve. I started in to eat all right; then I picked up my health; my headaches disappeared, and my weakness and sour stomach went away. I used three bottles, and could sleep all night with ease; I used six bottles, and felt like a new man. I can now do a hard day's work without any trouble, and I am as happy as a bird in spring. I was so miserable, always suffering, always in pain, but now I am like a new man."

Use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy this spring, for it is the discovery and prescription of a well-known physician, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th St., New York City, who is responsible for its beneficial action, and who can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.

Proposed Alliance with England.
If the United States and England should form an alliance, the combined strength would be so great that there would be little chance for enemies to overcome us. In a like manner, when men and women keep up their bodily strength with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, there is little chance of attacks from disease. The old time remedy enriches the blood, steadies the nerves, and increases the appetite. Try it for dyspepsia and indigestion.

Mr. Sourdrop—A croquette.

SCENE OF SPLENDOR.

Inaugural Dance Outdoes Anything of the Kind in History.

Head of the Nation, Vice President Roosevelt, Diplomats and Persons of Every Walk in Life Were Present.

Washington, March 5.—The culminating event of the inaugural festivities was the inaugural ball, held at night in the vast auditorium of the pension office. As a spectacular event it was unparalleled in the history of inaugural balls, in the sumptuousness of arrangement, in the bewildering splendor of decorations and of marvelous electrical effects, and in the countless throng taking part in the spectacle.

Doors Thrown Open.

When the doors of the great structure were thrown open at eight o'clock an eager crowd besieged every entrance and lines of carriages stretched into the surrounding streets and avenues. Platoons of police officers, mounted and unmounted, guarded the outer entrances, keeping back the rush of curious spectators and bringing order out of the tangle of carriages. Through the long arched entrances hung with bunting and vines passed the merry, pleasure-seeking throng, the women in luxurious gowns, with the flash of jewels in their hair and at their throats. Soon the vast interior of the building began to take on life and animation. The presidential party was not to arrive until 9:30 o'clock, and the early comers busied themselves in viewing the exquisite beauties of the scene.

The United States Marine band and an orchestra of over a hundred pieces were stationed at one end of the hall and for an hour before the arrival of the presidential party played patriotic airs.

Presidential Party Arrives.

The presidential party arrived at 10:15 o'clock. They were preceded by a glittering array of army officers in full uniform and were escorted to the private offices of Commissioner Evans, which had been lavishly decorated. The president bowed and smiled as he passed through the throng. Senator and Mrs. Hanna, Lieut. Gen. and Mrs. Miles, several of the justices of the supreme court with their wives and a number of the cabinet circle joined the party upstairs. The crowds on the main floor had been pushed back to make room for the grand march, but word came that Mrs. McKinley was indisposed and that the president would remain by her side. The march consequently was abandoned.

Whirl of Gayety.

The band struck up Strauss' “Blue Danube,” and the first regret of the assemblage at missing the grand march, with the president and the first lady of the land at its head, gave way before the whirl of gayety on the ball-room floor. Vice President and Mrs. Roosevelt arrived about the time the president came in. After paying their respects to the president and holding an informal levee amid the groups of governors, officers, senators and distinguished officials the vice president and his wife proceeded to the ballroom floor.

At Its Height.

Now the scene was at its height. Under the golden canopy and the dazzling filigree of lights moved the shifting throngs—women in exquisite toilets, dowagers and matrons in rare old laces, buds and debutantes in dainty Paris creations. With them were officials distinguished in every branch of public life, grave supreme court justices, governors of states surrounded by their brilliantly uniformed staffs and aids, ambassadors and ministers in gold lace and decorations, the highest ranking officers of the army, navy and marine corps, senators and representatives, officers of troop A, the president's crack organization, in uniforms of Austrian hussars. As the orchestra and band alternated this ever-moving throng joined in promenade and dance, making a vast kaleidoscopic picture.

Informal Reception.

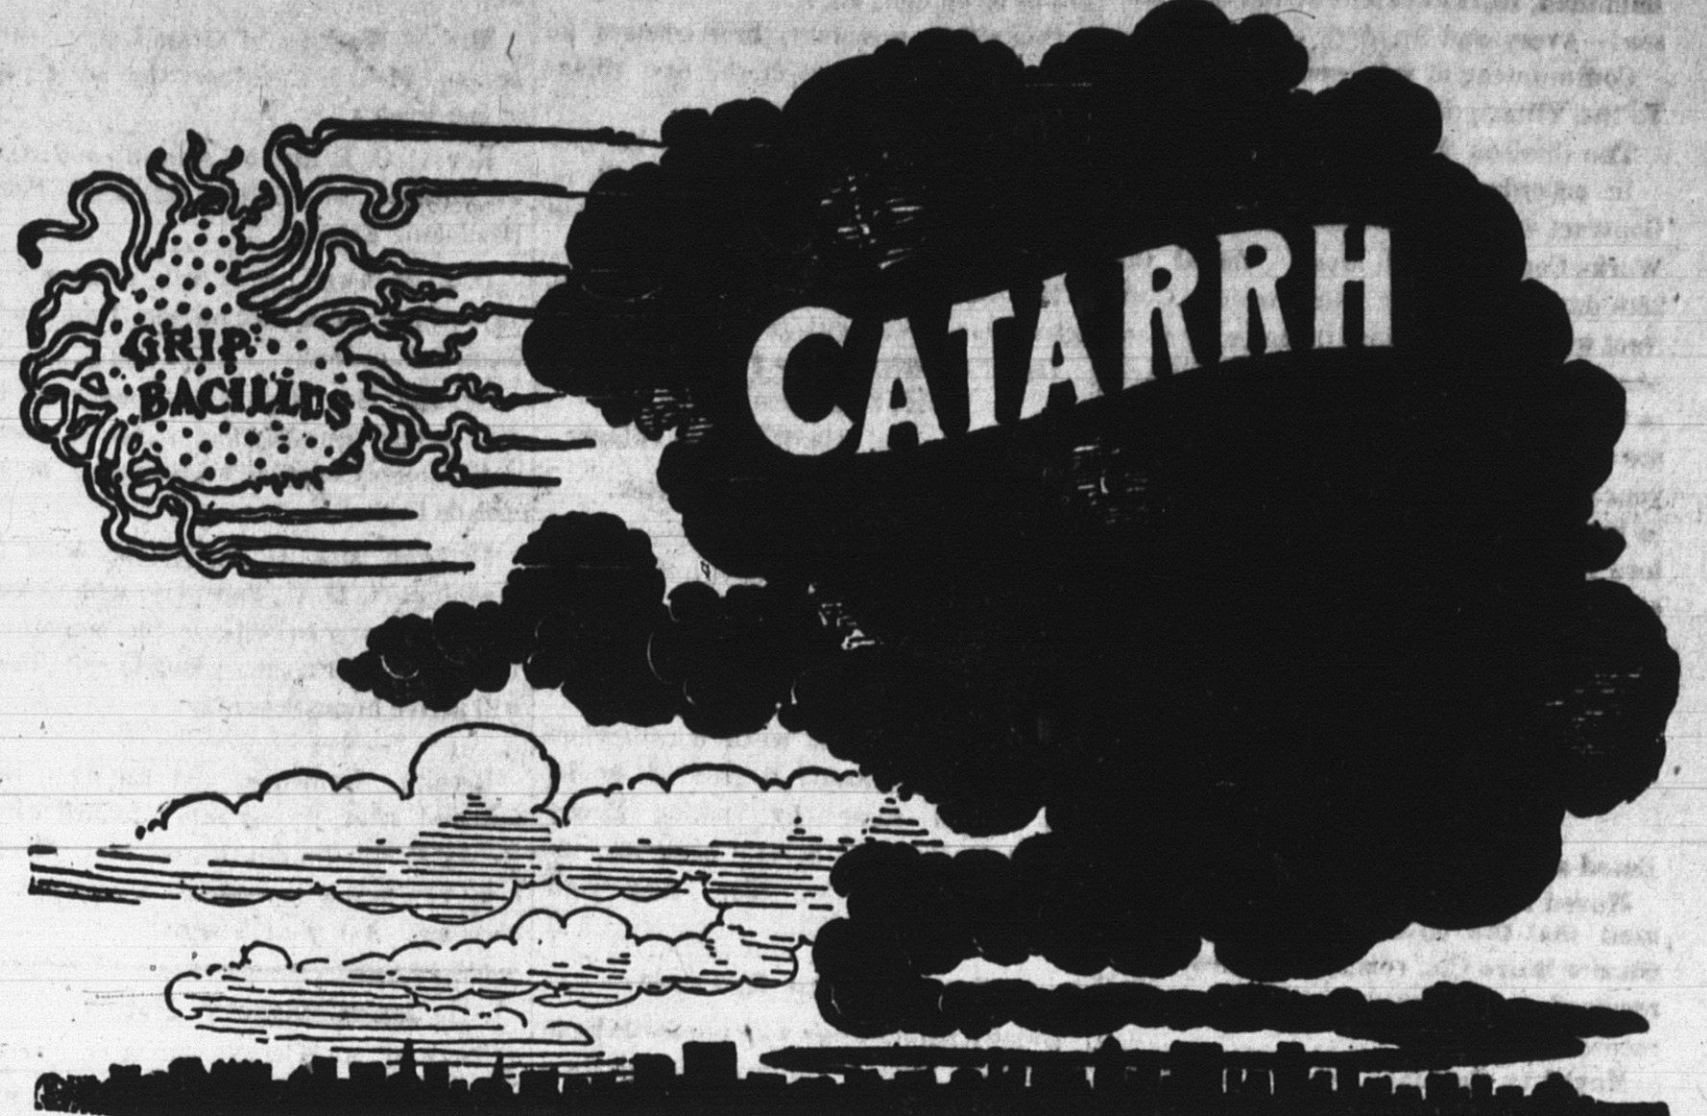

President McKinley held an informal reception in the upper corridor. Lieut. Gen. Miles, acting as chief of the reception committee to escort distinguished guests to the president.

The presidential party and Vice President and Mrs. Roosevelt left the ball at 12:15 o'clock. Before leaving they partook of a light lunch with a large number of invited guests in the private dining-room. The festivities went on unabated until a late hour.

Shot by an Employee.

Chicago, March 5.—Charles A. Morrill, head of the firm of Charles A. Morrill & Co., tea dealers, narrowly escaped death at the hands of an employee. A bullet fired behind his back by John Correa, aged 48, the oldest employee in the firm, who had previously been upbraided by Mr. Morrill, glanced off the skull of Mr. Morrill's head, inflicting a severe gash, and then took an upward course, going through the ceiling. Thinking he had killed his employer, Correa then put the weapon to his own head and sent a bullet through his brain.

AFTER THE GRIP COMES CATARRH.

LIKE A TERRIBLE CYCLONE grip bacillus has passed over our country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, leaving behind it a dark cloud of anguish and despair.

Catarrh follows grip as effect follows cause.

A multitude of catarrh victims will spring up in the trail of the awful epidemic of grip that has just passed over our fair country.

The hope to these people is Peruna.

Most people know this already.

Everyone who has had the least touch of grip, should not fail to take a course of treatment with Peruna.

Peruna eradicates every vestige of the disease and leaves the system in a normal condition.

Hon. Joseph B. Crowley, Congressman from Illinois, writes from the National Hotel, Washington, D. C., as follows:

“After giving Peruna a fair trial I can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone suffering with coughs, colds, la grippe and all catarrhal complaints.”—J. B. Crowley.

Hon. George H. White, Congressman from North Carolina, writes:

“I am more than satisfied with Peruna, and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh. I have used it in my family, and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy.”—George H. White.

Hon. J. P. Megrew, Superintendent U. S. Capital Police Force, of Washington, D. C., says:

“Having suffered from the grip, I was advised by a friend to use your Peruna. I also used it for my catarrh, and I can now cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone who is suffering from the grip and catarrh.”—J. P. Megrew.

Miss Anna Russell, Past Worthy Counselor, Loyal Mystic Legion, 263 Endicott Building, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

“For years I have unfortunately found my system in a peculiarly receptive condition for catarrh when I was exposed in any way to inclement weather. At those times I would be severely afflicted with la grippe and its unpleasant consequences.

“Now for the past year and a half I have used Peruna in such cases and have found that it not only cures me quickly, but it also cleanses my blood and renders me less liable to catch cold. It is the finest preventive of colds that I know of and a very superior tonic.”—Anna Russell.

Miss Alice Dressler, 1313 North Bryant avenue, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

“Last spring I suffered from la grippe and was partially cured, but the bad after-effects remained through the summer, and somehow I did not get strong as I was before. In the fall I caught a cold after getting my feet wet and attending a lecture in a cold hall, and I suffered a relapse. An unpleasant catarrh of the head and throat followed, and as I was in a weak condition physically previous to this, it took but little to break me down completely.

“One of my college friends who was visiting me, asked me to try Peruna, and I did so and found it all and more than I had expected. It not only cured me of the catarrh, but restored me to perfect health, built up the entire system, and brought a happy feeling of buoyancy which I had not known for years.”—Miss Alice Dressler.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.
