Recently the company known as the Detroit, Ypsilanti & Ann Arbor Electric Raifway Co., was organized with the following officers: J. D. Hawks, president; S. F. Angus, treasurer; F. A. Hinchman, secretary. To the former company name was added "and Jackson."

The mortgage which was recently drawn up, will be delivered to the trust company shortly and filed in the different counties traversed by the line from Detroit to Jackson. The object of the mortgage is to secure the road's bonds and to pay for the extension from Ann Arbor to Jackson, between which towns a private right of way has been secured.

Jackson in the early 70's. Mr. Boland's first business venture was with W. N. Woodsum, a shoe dealer, who also sold to the trade in a small way. Soon the future millionaire was on the road, canvassing the neighboring villages, whose trade was supplied by the house. Then an opening appeared for the investment of his capital. It proved a capacious opening. The firm of Noyes, Boland & Reed, otherwise the Jackson Shoe Co., was organized and launched out in the business of making "cacks," the trade's slang word for child-

It is related by an old Jackson friend of Mr. Boland that in rumaging through a lumber room of the Detroit factory, he stumbled upon a machine for automatically fastening buttons on shoes with wire staples, formed from a spool of wire. The firm had experimented somewhat with the machine and finally diswas struck with the latent possibilities of the invention, and easily obtained permission to see what he could do with it. The result was a visit to New York, where he sold a partial interest in his invention for $100,000. The sale of foreign rights netted nearly as much

This machine is the familiar buttonfastener, now seen in nearly every shoe store in the world. The profits from the invention were enormous, and Mr. Boland participated in them. For a long time the machines were not sold, but leased to dealers, and through many years the golden stream kept flowing.

With ample capital thus obtained Mr. Boland soon became a power in the business world. For several years he was a member of the firm of Boland & Spinney big shoe manufacturers of Lynn, Mass. became associated with the Thompson-Houston Electric Co.

Russia Faces Grave Revolt Against Czar. Sedition is rampant in Russia, and extraordinary precautions to protect the life of the czar have been taken. Censorship at St. Petersburg and other important points of telegraphic communication has practically reached the prohibitive point as far as the present disturbances are concerned, but mail advices received tend to prove that the empire is on the verge of revolution. Everything goes to show the existence of a gigantic Nihilist plot, beside which the clashes between students and Cossacks pale into insignificance, although undoubtedly ramifications of the same movement. Martial law in all but name exists in St. Petersburg, while Moscow, Warsaw, Kieff and other cities have been publicly proclaimed to be in a state of siege.

Woman's Awful Deed.

Mrs. Lizzie Naramore, of near Cold. brook, Mass., while in a fit of insanity on the 21st killed her six children at her home, a farm house half a mile from Coldbrook and then tried to take her own life. The children ranged from 10 years to 10 months and their lives were taken by the mother with an ax and a club. She laid the blooddrenched bodies on the beds, two on one bed and the other four on a bed in another room and then attempted to take her own life by cutting her throat with a razor. When discovered she was in the bed on which the bodies of four children were lying. Although she cut a deep gash in her throat and suffered the loss of much blood, it is believed she will recover.

Havana's Death Rate.

A report has been received at the war department at Washington from Gen. Wood, showing that the death rate for the city of Havana for the month of February was 19.32 per 1,000, which is said to be below the average of most American cities. During the last February of Spanish rule, in 1898, it was 82.32 per 1.000. The report compares Havana's health statistics with those of a number of eastern and southern cities of the United States, which are shown to have a higher death rate than Havana. As to yellow fever, it is shown that in February, 1900, Havana had 17 cases of that disease, against only eight new cases during the February just past, although the number of non-immunes was much to enact by-laws to punish by fine and larger in February, 1901, than in Feb-

CUBA AND PHILIPPINE NEWS.

The committee on relations of the Cuban convention met in Havana on the 22d to consider the report drawn up by its secretary, Senor Juan Gualberto Gomez, on the Platt amendment. In substance the report rejects four clauses the clauses dealing with coaling stations, foreign relations, the right to intervene to preserve peace and the entering into treaties covering the points in question. The other clauses are treated on the lines of the previous report, the sanitation of the Isle of Pines being virtually agreed to. Three of the five members of the committee objected to the rejection in toto of the four clauses mentioned, and it is believed that some consideration should be given them. No vote was taken but a majority was opposed to acceptance. So many queries have been made as

The pay corps has 27 vacancies for 30 volunteer officers, which fact insures retention of all save three. Simon and his comrades had experienced the night before what fishermen call "poor 4uck." Christ steps on board the fishing smack and tells the sailors to pull away from the beach and directs them again to sink the net. Sure enough, very soon the net is fullheard in the yard, and kichard, as if of fishes, and the sailors begin to haul in answer to words from Mollie, raised in. So large a school of fishes was taken that the hardy men began to look foolish love for Ed Bronson all right. ly have they begun to rejoice at their red in the face as they pull, and hardsuccess when, snap, goes a thread of the net, and, snap, goes another thread, so there is danger not only of losing the fish, but of losing the net.

> Without much care as to how much the boat tilts or how much water is splashed on deck the fishermen rush about, gathering up the broken meshes of the net. Out yonder there is a ship dancing on the wave, and they hall it: 'Ship ahoy! Bear down this way:' The ship comes, and both boats, both fishing smacks, are filled with the floundering treasures.

"Ah," says some one, "how much better it would have been if they had stayed on shore and fished with a hook and line and taken one at a time instead of having this great excitement and the boat almost upset and the net broken and having to call for help and getting sopping wet with the sea!" The church is the boat, the gospel is the net, society is the sea, and a great revival is a whole school brought in at one sweep of the net. I have admiration for that man who goes out with a hook and line to fish. I admire justs the bait and drops the hook in a quiet place on a still afternoon and "Well," replied Mollie, choking here catches one and there one, but I down a laugh, "I will mind him. like also a big boat and a large crew and a net a mile long and swift oars and stout sails and a stiff breeze and a great multitude of souls broughtso great a multitude that you have Bradley with Jerre after some cattle, to get help to draw it ashore, strain- tense, all absorbing agitation of body, Bellef in Reviva's.

In other words, I believe in revivals. The bottle exhausted, the pair en- or a hundred million people saved in closed a great multitude of fishes, and the net brake."

It is sometimes opposed to revivals of religion that those who come into the church at such times do not hold out. As long as there is a gale of blessing they have their sails up. But as soon as strong winds stop blowing then they drop into a dead calm. But what are the facts in the case? In all our churches the vast majority of the useful people are those who are brought in under great awakenings. and they hold cut. Who are the prominent men in the United States in churches, in prayer meetings, in Sabbath schools? For the most part they are the product of great awakenings.

I have noticed that those who are brought into the kingdom of God be ground to powder. through revivals have more persistence and more determination in the Christian life than those who come in under a low state of religion. People born in an icehouse may live, but they will never get over the cold they caught in the icehouse. A cannon ball depends upon the impulse with which it starts for how far it shall go and how swiftly, and the greater the revival force with which a soul is started the more far-reaching and far-resounding will be the execution.

Gathering In the Young. It is sometimes said that during revivals of religion great multitudes of children and young people are brought into the church and they do not know what they are about. It has been my observation that the earlier people come into the kingdom of Jod the prince of preachers, was converted at 12 years of age. It is likely he knew what he was about. Matthew Henry, the commentator, who did more than ; any man of his century for increasing the interest in the study of the scriptures, was converted at 11 years of age; Isabella Graham, immortal in the Christian church, was converted at 10 years of age; Dr. Watts, whose hymns shouted: "I was tricked! I'll kill will be sung all down the ages, was converted at 9 years of age; Jonathan Edwards, perhaps the mightiest inteland that father and mother take an "Well," laughed the old man, after awful responsibility when they tell are too young to connect yourself with al in literature, everybody likes a re-Chief Justice Lore, of Delaware, who as eternity.

Why? The one who professes at 40 years of age has 40 years of impulse in the wrong direction to correct, and the child has only ten years in the wrong direction to correct. Four times 10 are 40. Four times the religious prospect for the lad that comes into the kingdom of God and into the church at 10 years of age than the man at 40.

Sin Against Holy Chost.

Oh, I am atraid to say anything against revivals of religion or against anything that looks like them, because I think it may be a sin against the Holy Ghost, and you know the bible says that a sin against the Holy Ghost shall never be forgiven, neither in this world nor the world to come. Now, if you are a painter, and I speak against your pictures, do I not speak against you? If you are an architect and I speak against a building you put up, do I not speak against you? If a revival be the work of the Holy Ghost and I speak against that revival. do I not speak against the Holy Ghost? And whose speaketh against the Ho!y Ghost, says the Bible, he shall never be forgiven, neither in this world nor in the world to come. I think sometimes people have made a fatal mistake in this direction.

Many of you know the history of Aaron Burr. He was one of the most brilliant men of his day. I suppose this country never produced a stronger intellect. He was capable of doing anything good and great for his country or for the church of his God had he been rightly disposed, but his name is United States government, which he tried to overthrow, and with libertinism and immorality. Do you know where Aaron Burr started on the lownward road? It was when he was in college and he became anxious about his soul and was about to put himself under the influences of a revival, and a minister of religion said: "Don't go there. Aaron; don't go there. That's a place of wildfire and great excitemeut. No religion about that. Don't go there." He tarried away. His serious impressions departed. He started on the downward road. And who is responsible for his ruin for this world and his everlasting ruin in the world to come? Was it the minister who warned him against that revival? When I speak of excitement in revivals I do not mean temporary derangement of the nerves, I do not mean the absurd things of which we have read as transpiring sometimes in the church of Christ, but I mean an intelligent, in-

Coldness of the Objector.

Now I come to the real, genuine cause of objection to revivals. That is the coldness of the objector. It is the secret and hidden but unmistakable cause in every case, a low state of religion in the heart. Wide awake, consecrated, useful Christians are never afraid of revivals. It is the spiritually dead who are afraid of having their sepulcher molested. The chief agents of the devil during a great awakening are always unconverted professors of religion. As soon as Christ's work begins they begin to gossip against it and take a pail of water and try to put out this spark of religious influence, and they try to put out another spark. Do they succeed? As well when Chicago was on fire might some one have gone out with a garden water pot trying to extinguish it. The difficulty is that when a revival begins in a church it begins at so many points that while you have doused one anxious soul with a pail of cold water there are 500 other anxious souls on fire. Oh, how much bet- God. ter it would be to lay hold of the chariot of Christ's gospel and help pull it on rather than to fling ourselves in front of the wheels, trying to block their progress We will not stop the charlot, but we purselves will

An Ilnconverted Ministre. But I think, after all, the greatest oletacle to revivals throughout Christendom is an unconverted ministry. We must believe that the vast majority of those who officiate at sacred altars are regenerated, but I suppose there may float into the ministry of all the denominations of Christians men whose hearts have never been changed by grace. They are all antagonistic to revivals. How did they get into the ministry? Perhaps some of them chose it as a means of livelihood. Perhaps some of them were sincere, but were mistaken. As Thomas Chalmers said, he had been many vears preaching the gospel before his heart had been changed, and as many ministers of the gospel declare they were preaching and had been ordained to sacred orders years and years before their hearts were regenerated. Graclous God, what a solemn thought for those of us who minister at the altar! With the present ministry in the prayent temperature of plety, this land will never be enveloped in revivals. While the pews on one side the altar cry for mercy, the pulpits on the other side the altar must cry for mercy. Ministers quarreling. Ministers trying to pull each other down. Ministers struggling for ecclesiastical place. Ministers lethargic with whole congregations dying on their hands. What a

of God.

During our civil war the president of the United States made proclamation for 75,000 troops. Some of you remember the big stir. But the King of the universe today asks for twelve hundred million more troops than are enlisted, and we want it done softly, imperceptibly, no excitement, one by one. You are a dry goods merchant on a large scale, and I come to you and want to buy 1,000 yards of cloth. Do you say: "Thank you. I'll send you 1,000 yards of cloth, but I'll sell you 20 yards today, and 20 tomorrow, and 20 the next day, and if it takes me six months. I'll send you the whole thousand yards. You will want as long as that to examine the goods, and I'll want as long as that to examine the credit, and besides that 1,000 yards of cloth is too much to sell all at once?" No: you do not say that. You take me into the counting room, and in ten minutes the whole transaction is consummated. The fact is we cannot afford to be fools in anything but religion. That very merchant who on Saturday afternoon sold me the thousand yards of cloth at one stroke the next Sabbath in church will stroke his beard and wonder whether it would not be better for a thousand souls to come straggling along for ten years instead of bolting in at one service. We talk a good deal about the good times that are coming and about the world's redemption. How long before they will come? There is a man who says 500 years. Here is a man who says 200 years. Here is some one more confident who says in 50 years. What, 50 years? Do you propose to let two generations pass off the stage before the world is converted? Suppose by prolongation of human life at the end of the next 50 years you should walk the length of Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, or the length of Broadway. New York. In all those walks you would not find one person that you recognize. Why? All dead or so changed that you would not know them. In other words, if you postpone the redemption of this world for 50 years you admit that the majority of the two whole generations shall go off the stage unblessed and unsaved. I tell you the church of Jesus Christ cannot consent to it. We must pray and toil and have the revival spirit, and we must struggle to have the whole world saved before the men and women now in middle life part.

The Coming Great Revival. It seems to me as if God is preparing the world for some quick and universal movement. A celebrated electrician gave me a telegraph chart of the world. On that chart the wires crossing the continents and the cables under the sea looked like veins red with blood. On that chart I see that the headquarters of the lightnings are in Great Britain and the United States. In London and New York the lightnings are stabled, waiting to be harnessed for come quick dispatch. That shows you that the telegraph is in the possession of Christianity.

It is a significant fact that the man who invented the telegraph was an old fashioned Christian, Cyrus W. Field, and that the president of the most famous of the telegraph companies of this country was an old fashioned Christian, William Orton, going from the communion table on earth straight to his home in heaven. What does all that mean?

++++++++++++++++++++++ I do not suppose that the telegraph was invented merely to let us know whether flour is up or down or which horse won the race at the Derby or which marksman beat at the latest contest. I suppose the telegraph was invented and built to call the world to

In some of the attributes of the Lord we seem to share on a small scale. For instance, in his love and in his kindness. But until of late foreknowledge, omniscience, omnipresence, omnipotence, seem to have been exclusively God's possession. God, desiring to make the race like himself, gives us a species of foreknowledge in the weather probabilities, gives us a species of omniscience in telegraphy, gives us a species of omnipresence in the telephone, gives us a species of omnipotence in the steam power. Discoveries and inventions all around about us, people are asking what next? I will tell you what next. Next, a stupendous religious movement. Next, the end of war. Next, the crash of despotism. Next, the world's expurgation. Next, the Christlike dominion. Next, the judgment. What becomes of the world after that I care not. It will have suffered and achieved enough for one world. Lay it up on the drydocks of eternity, like an old man-of-war gone out of service, or fit it up like a Constellation to carry bread of relief to some other suffering planet or let it be demolished. Farewell, dear old world, that began with paradise and ended with judgment conflagration.

Talking Shop in the Woods. Mr. Blank, a busy and successful occulist, spent his summer vacation in the woods with his new shotgun. Noticing one day that when using the left-hand barrel he generally brought down his game, and when using the other barrel he invariably missed, he tacked a small target to a tree and fired at it several times with each barrel, in order to bring the matter to a test. Loss of mental energy, lack of thought power, failing memory or inability to concentrate the mind on the work in hand, there is nothing so good as Dr. Miles Nervine. Its powerful influence in building up and strengthening the broken-down nerves, makes this great remedy an invaluable brain-food and restorative. It nourishes, fortifies and refreshes the tired and worn-out brain and gives new strength, new life, and new energy to the system.

"I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Miles' Nervine to those suffering from nervous prostration, insomnia and melancholy. After several months of torture from above diseases, I tried that medicine and found immediate relief. It soothes and strengthens the nerves, chases away the gloomy and depressing thoughts and gives the sufferer renewed strength and JACOB SEEMANN,

BY MARGARET BLOUNT.

CHAPTER IV .- (Continued.) "Prejudiced! By Jove! I go a great leal further than that. I should like to see her well shaken—I should like to shake her myself, in fact. First, for believing such nonsense herself, and then for writing a pack of stories, enough to turn a whole nursery of children into dangerous lunaties. I wonder if she lets her own children wead that wretched book." "I can't say. But if you would only let me read you one story, papa-" "Read to me! -a ghost story to me! Rose. I begin to think you must be going mad!"

"I'm not, papa; and this particular story is vouched for by your beau ideal Mr. Howitt."

"I don't believe it."

"But it is, indeed! There is his name! and he had the accounts of the haunted house from credible witness-

"Oh, yes-of course!" sneered Mr. Cowley. "However, I don't care if out of such outrageous rubbish."

"I won't bother you with a long stohe saw at the haunted house in Wilmington, where Mr. Howitt went afterwards."

She began to read:

"About ten minutes to twelve we Theard a noise, as if a number of people were pattering with their bare feet upon the floor; and yet, so singular was the noise that I could not minuteiy determine from whence it proceeded. A few minutes afterwards we heard a -noise, and as if some one was knocking with his knuckles among our feet; this was followed by a hollow cough from the very room from which the apparition proceeded. The only noise after this was as if a person were rusfriend that, feeling a little cold, I replied that he might not go to bed till daylight. I took up a note which I had accidentally dropped, and began to read it, after which I took out my watch to ascertain the time, and found that it wanted ten minutes to one. in taking my eyes from the watch they became riveted upon a closet door which I distinctly saw open, and saw also the figure of a female attired in greyish garments, with the head inclining downwards, and the one hand pressed upon the chest, as if in pain, and the other, viz., the right hand, extended towards the floor, with the index finger pointing downwards. It advanced with an apparent cautious step across the floor towards me; immediately as it approached my friend, who was slumbering, its right hand was extended towards him. I then rushed at it. giving, as Mr. Proctor states. a most awful yell; but, instead of grasping it, I fell upon my friend, and I recollected nothing distinctly for nearly three hours afterwards. I have since learned that I was carried down stairs in an agony of fear and terror.

"I hereby certify that the above account is strictly true and correct in every respect.

"EDWARD DRURY." "North Shields."

"What stuff!" exclaimed Mr. Cowley. "Is there any more, Rose"

"A little, papa. An account of a shost seen in the same house by two young ladies." "The first night, as they were sleeping in the same bed, they felt the bed an alarm, search was made, but nothdiffed up beneath them. Of course, they erer much alarmed. They feared lest nome one had concealed himself there for the purpose of robbery. They gave ing was found. On another night their bed was violently shaken, and the curtains suddenly hoisted up all around to the very tester, as if pulled by cords, and as rapidly let down again, several times. Search again produced no evidence of the cause. The next day they had the curtains totally removed from the bed, resolving to sleep without them, as they felt as though evil eyes were lurking behind them. The consequences of this, however, were still more striking and terrific. The following night, as they happened to wake. and the chamber was light enough (for it was summer) to see everything in it, for they both saw a female figure, of a misty substance, and a blueish-grey hue, come out of the wall at the feed's head, and through the headboard, in a horizontal position, and Jean over them. They saw it most distinctly. They saw it as a female figure come out of, and again pass into, the wall. Their terror became intense; and one of the sisters, from that night, refused to sleep any more in the house but took refuge in the house of the foreman during her stay; the other shifted her quarters to another part of the house. It was the young lady who slept at the foreman's who saw as above related the singular apparition of the luminous figure in the window, along with the foreman and his

She is sometimes seen sitting wrapped in a sort of mantle, with her head depressed, and her hands crossed on her lap. The most terrible fact is that she is without eyes.

"To hear such sober and superior people gravely relate to you such things gives you a very odd feeling. They say that the noise made is often like that of a pavior with his rammer thumping on the floor. At other times it is coming down stairs, making a similar loud sound. At others, it coughs, sighs and groans, like a person in distress; and again, there is the sound of a number of little feet pattering on the floor of the upper chamber, where the apparition has more particularly exhibited itself, and which for that reason is solely used as a lumber room. Here these foot steps may be often heard, as if careering a child's carriage about, which in bad weather I hear this one tale. I should like to is kept up there. Sometimes again, it see what kind of a case he can make makes the most horrible laughs. Nor does it always confine itself to the night. On one occasion a young lady, ty; but just hear what Mr. Drury says as she assured me herself, opened the door in answer to a knock, the housemaid being absent, and a lady in fawn colored silk entered, and porceeded up stairs. As the young lady, of course, supposed it a neighbor come to make a morning call on Mrs. Proctor, she followed her up to the drawing room, where, however, to her astonishment, she did not find her, nor was anything more seen of her."

CHAPTER V.

At this stage of the reading Mrs. Cowley, who had been listening in perfect agony of fear, suddenly found strength to rebel.

"Rose, shut that book instantly!" tling against the wall in coming up she exclaimed. "No, Mr. Cowley, I stairs. At a quarter to one I told my will not sit and hear such things! I've got a creeping down my back already, would like to go to bed, as we might and my arms are all goose flesh; and hear the noise equally well there; he I wouldn't hear the rest of it if you gave me five thousand pounds-there!"

Rose closed the book. Her father did not object, and drew his chair closer to the fire, and glanced nervously over his shoulder as he did so. Catharine looked very pale, though she fied. It was a pleasure, if a malicious one, to think that not one of them all would dare go up stairs in the dark at that moment, any more than she would. And she felt quite sure that if the lady in grey 'without eyes' came to her bedside that night, Catharine's couch would by no means remain un-

There was a short silence, broken by the sound of a rapid scuffling step in the hall. They looked at each other somewhat timidly, and Mrs. Cowley gave a little yelp of terror when the parlor door was flung violently open. But nothig worse than Mrs. Macarthy stood there: Mrs. Macarthy no longer ruddy and laughing, but pale and frightened, as she had once vowed she never could be.

"I wish you would step this way, sir," she said, addressing Mr. Cowley, eagerly. "Something queer has happened out there."

"Oh gracious, the ghost, the ghost!" screamed Mrs. Cowley.

"No, ma'am, at least, nothing that you can see. But it isn't exactly improving to the spirits to sit and hear it all by one's self. Do come out, sir, and listen.'

Mr. Cowley went. The rest, seized with a sudden panic, ran after him. Mrs. Macarthy led the way to the kitchen, where she had been sitting reading "Love and Revenge, or The Bandit's Vengeance and the Maiden's Choice," by the light of two tallow candles and a blazing fire large enough to roast an ox. Mr. Cowley looked round curiously, so did the girls, clingwhile.

"Hark!" said Mrs. Macarthy, holding up her finger; "there it is again!"

They listened with bated breath, From behind a closed door on the right hand side of the kitchen came a strange, continuous sound.

said Mr. Cowley. And Mrs. Macarthy nodded assent. "Some confounded tricks! Have you opened the door?"

"I tried, sir." "!!re!! ?"

"It would not come open." "Why not?"

"It is natled up. sir."

"Didn't I tell you so?" exclaimed Mr. Cowley, gaining fresh courage from this circumstance. "Some rascal has got in there to frighten us out of the place, so he can carry on his usual games with impunity. Give me the hammer, Mrs. Macarthy, and I'll break the door open. I'll cradle the fellow with a vengeance. I wonder if one of you would have pluck enough to go for my pistol?"

"I'll go," said Rose, growing very brave in the belief that a trick was being played upon them. She was not afraid of anything human, even though it came in the shape of a masked burglar at midnight, and she ran and brought the pistol, without giving a thought as to anything that might still described, which is often very lumiwhen she got back her father had "So then that is what accounts for your greenness? But to think that I giving Christ."

"Now, you fellow, who ever you may be, I give you fair warning!" called out Mr. Cowley in a loud voice.

Still the cradle rocked. "I have got a loaded pistol in my hand and the moment I catch sight of you I shall fire."

Still the cradle rocked. "Do you hear me, you scamp? I'll teach you to cut these capers here." Still the cradle rocked.

"I shall count three!" roared Mr. Cowley, getting into a rage, "and ther shall fire."

Still the cradle rocked. " One."

Still the cradle rocked. "Two."

Still the cradle rocked.

Mr. Cowley looked aghast, but quickly recovered himself.

"Another trick; but you shan't frighten me with your confounded nonsense. Stand back, all of you. Here goes!" He gave the door a tremendous kick, which sent it flying from the hinges. At the same instant he fired.

And still, when the echo of the shot had dled away, they heard the selfsame noise, the self-same cradle song. Mr. Cowley entered the room, and held the light high above his head. It was a small closet, like a butler's pantry, with no window, no other mode of ingress or egrees than the door. It was impossible for anyone to escape. nor was there a single living thing in the place except himself. Yet the cradle rocked, and the song was sung while he stood there, almost at his very feet.

He stepped back into the kitchen, looking very pale, feeling very sick and faint.

Rose caught him by the arm. "Oh, papa!" she whispered, with Mrs Julia A. Maliahan, of Owoseo, Mich.

Old Trinity Genealbeies. Nowhere is the increasing interest in genealogy and genealogical societies more felt than in the parish of Old Trinity, in this city, says the New York Times. The city is so old, and the church dates back so far in its history, and so many people have lived in New York state that every other woman who can trace her relatives' ancestors into New York state is pretty sure that they must have been registered for birth, marriage or death in the Trinity records. They write to inquire without hesitation, and one clerk is kept busy most of the time looking up possible ancestors and lost links in ancestral chains. Where something like a clew is given, an effort is made to obtain the information, but when there is only a supposition it is not possible to hunt through all the records. It would keep an office full of clerks constantly at the records to answer all the requests that are-

Wowan's Amusing Mistake.

An American woman tells an amusing story against herself, resulting from her blissful ignorance of any language but her own. She was one of three American girls traveling in Italy. They had come to Europe with the laudable determination to see famous people as well as all famous places; g very close to their mother all the and in pursuance of this plan, while in Milan, they paid a visit to Sig. Verdi Verdi received his unexpected visitors graciously, but as they were taking leave, he raised his voice slightly saging, "Roberto!" She, imagining this must be the Italian equivalent for "farewell," raised her voice also, and looking him full in the face, exclaimed "The rocking of a cradle, by Jove!" in her turn "Roberto!" then turned to discover, to her dire confusion, that Sig. Verdi had merely been calling his man servant to show them the door. After that she took lessons in Italian.

Lady's Privilege on Second Meeting. It is the lady's privilege, if so inclined, to first recognize and salute a gentleman upon next meeting him after being introduced. This prerogative is reserved to ladies, in order to protect them from annoyance; as in company, many casual introductions are made to persons with whom it may not be desirable to keep up an acquaintance. If the lady is disinclined to continue the acquaintance with persons so introduced, she will, of course, make no recognition upon next meeting. - Bupt if it should happen to be otherwise, she must take care not to omit the duty incumbent upon her, as politeness and etiquette debar the gentleman from making and advances .-New York Weekly.

OYSTERS IN WEST INDIES.

"In the West Indies," says a man who has traveled much in out-of-theway places, "the fish is the most delicious in the world. It has a flavor infinitely superior to that caught in northern waters, or, at least, to the fish which finds its way to city tables. But there is lacking one good gift, and sometimes the stranger thinks that the deficiency counterbalances all the advantages. There are no oysters to be had, except as they come to some large towns in the New York steamer. My business took me far away from civilization on one of my journeys to the islands, and I was thoroughly sick of fish and canned food, when one of the negroes remarked that there was a lot of oysters in a creek not far away. I went after them with all haste, picturing the treat in store for me. The negro explained that as an experiment the government had stocked the creek with oysters several years before-he We got to the creek and found any "Oh, gracious!" screamed Mrs. Cow. quantity of oysters. But they were of a sort never dreamed of at aftertheater supper places in New York. One could recognize the fact that they were oysters, or had been, but they had acquired a peculiar and unpleasant flavor, while their outward appearance was curiously changed. The shells had grown flat and the oysters were nearly squeezed out. They were plentiful enough and seemed to muitiply, so that they are not likely to cease changing, and I have often wondered if, in the course of a few more years, the oyster would not be Equiezed entirely out of the shell, affording a parallel to the American cherry, which had squeezed out the stone so that it is now on the outside. An oyster with the shell on its back would be a sight to open the eyes of a Waldorf chef; but if the thing has happened in the case of a cherry why not in the case of the oyster also? And I am certain that I saw the beginning of the process."-New York Tribune.

"I caught a cold last winter, which I neglected until it settled in my kidneys, causing severe bearing down pains and almost constant bachache. My health had previously been so good that I paid little attention to these symptoms, until the disease had gone so far that my doctor entertained but a slight hope of my recovery.

"Fortunately one of our Lodge Members mentioned Dodd's Kidney Pills. Her description of the cures they had effected sounded like a fairy tale, but I sent for a box, deciding to give them a trial. I soon found that she had but half told the story of what they could do. I bless the day I first tried them. and have nothing but the highest praise for them."

The Noislest Bir !.

The bid which makes the greatest noise is said to be the bell-bird, or campanero, which is found in South America and also in Africa, Waterton, the famous traveler and naturalist. states that it can be heard a distance of three miles. Its note is like the tolling of a distant church bell, and is uttered during the heat of the day, when every other bird has ceased to sing and nature is hushed in slience. How the bell-bird utters this deep note is not known, though it is supposed that a fleshy protuberance on its head. which, when inflated with air, stands up like a horn, in some way is the cause of it. The horn-bill, a bird which is widely distributed in India, the Malay archipelago and Africa, has also a very loud note. Its call has been described as "between the shrick of a locomotive and the bray of a donkey,' and can be heard a distance of a couple of miles. The barking bird also, utters a very loud note; indeed, it is impossible to distinguish it from the bark of a dog. Its English name, says Darwin, is well given, "for I dety, any one at first to feel certain that a small dog is not yelping somewhere in the forest."

left bare by the departing snow. All winter long there have been accumulating deadly disease germs.

These have been protected and kept alive by the covering of snow and now, with the first warm days, these deathbringing microbes are awakened by the rays of the sun, and as the ground dries they are carried to all corners of the community in the dust that is blown everywhere by the spring winds. The human body at this time is particularly susceptible to these germs, especially the germs of fewers. The system has been depleted by the foregoing winter. The blood is sluggish and illed with impurities. The nerves have not recovered from the tension they have been under for the past months: The stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, the liver are all at their worst.

It is therefore, not strange that these germs of disease find fertile ground in which to thrive, flourish and develop into deadly ills Spring is the time of year when one should fear an attack of fever, especially when the system is depleted, one should dread any severs illness. The vitality is at a low ebb. There is less power of resistance to throw off disease, and it is on this account that fatalities are so much greater during the spring months than at any other time of the year.

There is but one way to ward off such dangers, and that is to fortify the New York City.

TRANSVAAL WAR ITEMS.

The new scheme of military organination is Great Britain may be roughly lescribed as the half-way house to conscription. It involves the development of the existing system of voluntary enlistment and auxiliary services under conditions which preclude reasonable xpectation of success. When the experment has been tried and the results are found unsatisfactory, the way will be opened for compulsory service. The war office will then be in a position to assert that everything was done under the voluntary system to provide an adequate army for the defense of the empire, but that men were not forthcoming, and that an claborate paper scheme proved a failure. The only alternative, from the official and military point of view, will be compulsory

It is reported that Gen. DeWet, Gen. Botha and two other Boer commanders, addressing a force of burghers at Senekai on the 20th, said they were still able to continue the war, but were ready to accept annexation on condition that the British would guarantee joint education of Dutch and English, liberty to retain sporting rifles on license, indemnity to the amount of $15,-000,000 for burned farms, ne franchise for natives and amnesty for all beligerents still in the field.

Britain may yet be obliged to free the Boers. The row in China may any day compel England to end Transvaal war. This state of affairs is probably, owing to the dispute between Russia and Great Britain relative to a railway siding in China.

Severe fighting occurred between the British and Boers at Hartebeestfontein, east of Klerksdorp, Transvaal, on

It is reported at Amsterdam that a company of American volunteers have joined the Boers.

The Boers in the Orange River colony have disbanded and scattered.

CHINA WAR NEWS.

Commissioner Rockhill, in a communication from Pekin, says that the sum total of the indemnities claimed by all nations cannot be calculated at this moment, but assuming that the other powers are willing to accept the scheme of adjustment proposed by the United States, allowing a certain amount for each missionary killed or injured, and another allowance for property destroyed, the sum total of the claim would be considerably less than $250,000,000.

The British headquarters at Pekin on the 22d report the withdrawal of both Russian and British troops from the disputed territory at Tien Tsin. M. De Giers, the Russian minister to China. believes that everything will be amicably adjusted at London and St. Petersburg and doubts the possibility of further trouble in the matter.

A dispatch from Tien Tsin says Gen. Bailloud (French) and Gen. Lorne-Campbell (British) dined together on March 22. The offending French soldiers at Tien Tsin have been punished and assurances have been given that the offensive conduct of the French troops will not occur again.

Gen. Voyron, commander of the French troops, has ordered the new regiment to Tien Tsin to replace the one now there. French officers at that place think it was a mistake to leave a regiment recruited in a city at Tien Tsin. The regiment was composed of a tough Paris element. The Russians, besides withdrawing their guards from the railroad property, have removed the demarcation flags, which fixed the boundaries of the concession and before which the sentries were stationed. A dispatch to the Havas agency from Pekin says that M. Pichon, French minister to China, will leave Pekin the fore part of April. He will be succeeded in China by M. Beau, who willstart for Pekin, April 9. Count Lamsdorff, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, has agreed with Great Britain to submit the Tien Tsin

KEEPING FAMILY TOGETHER." Circular Letters Sent to Hendquarters

Perpetuates Becord. A novel idea has been originated by the widely scattered Ohioan Riggs family in order that its members may keep in touch with each other. branch of the family originated at Portsmouth, O., 66 years ago, when Joseph Riggs and his newly married wife settled there. Their ten children grew to manhood and womanhood and the rapidly increasing circle of cousins made anything more than sporadic correspondence impossible. The Riggs family letter was devised to meet this demand and every six days a bulky envelope arrives at Portsmouth, U., where a single representative of the family still lives. The Riggs family has left its mark upon Ohio, and has the proud distinction of being without a single black sheep. The family had a reunion in Portsmouth about ten years ago. Long before that time they had adopted the scheme of a "family letter" for keeping in touch with each other. The circuit of this letter originally included the first, second and third generations of the descendants of Joseph Riggs, and as younger ones grow up or are married they are taken into the circuit. When the first letter was written the one writing it simply indited the news of his own household and whatever might be of interest to the relatives at large and sent it to the relatives living in the town nearest him. This person read the letter, then wrote one himself (or herself), placed it in the envelope with the other and sent it to the next one on the circuit, who repeated the operation, and so it went, each one adding a letter addressed to the family in general till it got around to the one who started it. By this time it was 1 pretty big package. The original sender then takes out his own old letter and puts in a new one. The circuit s a long one, including Boston, New York, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago, Florida, California and scores of other places and states-so many hat it takes just two months for the etter to complete the circuit. For sevral years the circuit included Rome, ly to poor digestion, and poor digestion is directly traceable to catarra. With the slightest catarrh ach no one can have good digestion.

Very few of the many women who have catarrh of the stomach suspect what their real trouble is. They know they belch after meals, have sour stomach, a sensation of weight or heaviness, a fullness, irregular appetite, drowsiness, gnawing, empty sensations, occasional pain-they all know this; but they do not know that their trouble is catarrh of the stomach. If they did they would take Peruna.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever le cated. As soon as Peruna removes catarrh from the stomach the diges tion becomes good, appetite regular, nerves strong, and trouble vanishes. Peruna strengthens weak nerves, not by temporarily stimulating them, but by removing the cause of weak nerves -poor digestion. This is the only cure that lasts. Remove the cause: Nature will do the rest. Peruna removes the cause.
