AT HOME AGAIN.

Fitting Exercises Commemorate the Re-opening of the Remodeled Baptist Church.

When the large audience that gathered in the First Baptist church Sunday morning looked around and about them it was somewhat difficult for many to conceive how such a transformation had been wrought in the interior of the building. From an old-fashioned, unsightly place has been made a pretty and modern church edifice. Briefly, how it was done is this. The ceiling of the auditorium was lowered 18 inches and heavy trusses were put in to support the roof. The B. Y. P. U. room was connected with the auditorium by doors which slide upwards, and the ceiling of this room was raised about four feet. The bareness that characterized the rostrum was relieved by putting in a Sunday-school class room at each side of it. New seats of quarter sawed oak, very comfortable to sit in, have been placed in a semi-circular form in the church, which will now seat about 350 people. The side walls of the building are tinted in olive green which shades to a light blue for the ceiling, and the trimmings are done in gold, aluminum, copper and white. Over the rostrum is a picture of "Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane," and opposite to it, on the west side of the ceiling, is a picture of "Abide with Me." Light is admitted to the building through pretty stained glass windows, and the whole appearance of the church is not only a great credit to the Baptist congregation, but to the village as well, which can now boast of as nice church buildings as are to be found in any place of its size in America. This description would be incomplete unless mention was made of the cozy dining room and kitchen, which occupies the entire basement under the building.

C. W. Maroney had the contract for all the work except the decorating and the stained glass windows, and he did his work well. The cost of the improvements was $3,000, all of which is paid for except $250, and with the indomitable energy of the pastor, Rev. F. A. Stiles, and his congregation, which has been evidenced in these improvements, it will not be a great while before they are entirely out of debt.

The opening services were held Sunday morning. The church was filled to the doors, and many returned home unable to obtain admission. The program as published in last week's Herald was carried out in its entirety, and the service was a very beautiful and impressive one. Rev. F. A. Stiles offered prayer and led the responsive reading; Rev. J. I. Nickerson read the scripture lesson; Rev. C. S. Jones made a beautiful and touching prayer, at the close of which the choir chanted the Lord's prayer.

Rev. F. A. Stiles then introduced Dr. Slocum, president of Kalamazoo college, who preached a powerful and intensely interesting sermon from the text John 1:1, "In Him was life, and the life was the light of man." He treated the subject in its physical, intellectual and spiritual phases, and urged the churches of Chelsea to exercise the splendid harmony that exists between them in spreading the mission of love to the masses.

At the close of the sermon Rev. F. A. Stiles made a few remarks, in the course of which he stated the improvements had cost $3,000, of which $700 remained unpaid. Pledges were made at the morning and evening services which reduced this amount to $250.

At the evening service the church was again crowded. It was a very interesting meeting, during which addresses were made by Revs. J. I. Nickerson, C. S. Jones and F. A. Stiles.

Tuesday evening, in commemoration of the reopening of the church, a supper was served in the dining room by the B. Y. P. U. From 5 until 9 o'clock the ladies of the Union catered to the wants of the 350 people who attended. It was a well-managed affair, and the credit for it is due to Mrs. W. E. Depew and her able corps of assistants.

After the banquet a short program of toasts and music followed. George E. Davis presided as toastmaster, and in a happy manner and with well chosen words introduced each of the speakers. Rev. F. E. Arnold, who was to have replied to the toast, "Our young people," was not present.

After prayer by Rev. F. A. Stiles, the Misses Lucy Wallace and Ella Barber, George Millsaugh and Roswell Gates sang a pretty selection, "In April Time." "Let him who has won bear the palm," was the toast. Rev. J. I. Nickerson replied to it in an address containing many good points. Mrs. Ed. Vogel and Miss Jessie Everett played a sparkling duet on the piano, and Rev. C. S. Jones was introduced. "A heart to glow for others' good" was a good subject for him to talk upon, and he did justice to the subject. Miss Thirza Wallace gave a vocal solo in a pleasing manner. The last toast, "The tie that binds," was responded to in a feeling manner by Rev. F. A. Stiles, who spoke of the different ties that bind mankind to each other and to God. The hymn "All hail, the power of Jesus' name," was then sung after which the audience was dismissed with the benediction.

SYLVAN WENT DEMOCRATIC.

Supervisor Bacon Was the Only Man Elected on the Republican Ticket.

Monday's election in Sylvan was a wet blanket for all the Republican candidates with the exception of the head of the ticket, William Bacon being elected supervisor by two majority. There was a great deal of splitting done. On 62 Republican tickets Bacon's name was scratched, and 74 Democratic tickets had Sweetland's name stricken off in favor of Bacon. In the vote for highway commissioner 117 Democrats voted for Michael Wackenhut and 165 Republicans voted for Fred W. Notten. Chas. E. Foster for school commissioner got 45 more votes than Dorsey Hoppe and is elected by about 300 majority. The vote of the township was as follows:

Glazier 1,000, Mrs. Almira A. Hill 600, C. LeRoy Hill 600, Egbert G. Hoag 500, W. J. Knapp 500, Fred Wedemeyer 500, Saxe C. Stimson 500, William P. Schenk 500, Henry I. Stimson 500, W. W. CONGRESSMAN BOTKIN

The Well-Known Kansas Statesman, Cured of Catarrh of the Stomach by Pe-ru-na,

AFTER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' SUFFERING.

More Evidence of Interest to the Millions of Catarrh Sufferers in the United States.

HON. J. D. BOTKIN, CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE FROM KANSAS.

In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Congressman Botkin, of Winfield, Kan., whose fame is a national one, says of Peruna:

"My Dear Doctor—" It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines—Peruna and Manalin. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure. Peruna is surely a wonderful remedy for catarrhal affections."—J. D. Botkin, Congressman-at-large.

CONGRESSMAN BOTKIN is one of the most influential and best known men in the State of Kansas.

Whatever he may say on any subject will be accepted by the people as the truth. So famous a remedy as Peruna could not have well escaped the attention of so famous a man. He not only has heard of the remedy, but he has used it and was relieved of an affliction of twenty-five years' standing. Peruna is the one internal remedy that cures chronic catarrh. It cures catarrh wherever located. This is a fact that the people are rapidly finding out, but there are still a large multitude who need to know it.

Mr. Frank Richter, of Winona, Minn., says in a letter to The Peruna Medicine Company:

"As a remedy for catarrh I take pleasure in recommending Peruna for catarrh of the stomach. I know what it is to be afflicted with this awful disease and consider it my duty to say a word in behalf of the remedy which gave me such relief. Peruna cured me, and I know it will cure anyone else who suffers from this disease. It gives me great pleasure to testify to the curative effects of this medicine. Peruna is a well tested and frequently used remedy, and for catarrh of the stomach is unsurpassed.

"My catarrh was principally located in my head and stomach. I tried many remedies without success. I tried several doctors, but they were unable to cure me. I read of Peruna in the papers and five bottles cured me."

The gastric juice is secreted by the mucous follicles of the stomach. When this juice is normal it digests (dissolves) the food without producing any disturbance whatever. If, however, the gastric juice is not normal, digestion causes many disagreeable symptoms. This condition is known as indigestion. Peruna will cure this.

Mrs. Selina Tanner, Athens, O., writes: "I cannot find words to express my thanks for your kind advice. I never once thought I had catarrh of the stomach. I commenced taking Peruna as you directed. My stomach continued to hurt me for about two weeks after I began the medicine and then it stopped. I now have a good appetite while before I was nearly starved."

Mrs. Selina Tanner.

Mr. L. O. Marble, of Geneva, Neb., writes:

"I do believe that my catarrh is entirely cured. I have not had any trouble with my stomach for a long time. I am as well as one of my age could expect (seventy years). I have had the catarrh ever since I was a young man, and have doctored for it for years and got very little better, but thanks to you and your Peruna and Manalin I believe I am well of it. I can eat anything now and it doesn't hurt me, and Peruna is the only thing I ever found that will cure the catarrh. I believe it is the only cure for catarrh, and I hope every one troubled with catarrh will try Peruna and be cured."

L. O. Marble.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

HE GAINS PROMOTION

The President Recognizes Funston's Services.

Appoints Him a Brigadier General in the Regular Army—Aguinaldo May Be Granted Amnesty.

Washington, April 1.—Gen. Fred Funston was on Saturday night appointed by the president as a brigadier general in the regular army as a reward for his bravery in the capture of Aguinaldo. Gen. Lloyd Wheaton was made a major general, and Col. Jacob H. Smith was promoted to a brigadier general. President McKinley has always been prompt in rewarding soldiers who have distinguished themselves in the field, and his action in appointing Funston will meet with popular approval, as there was a general demand for it. Some of the regular officers are disgruntled over the appointment, claiming that Funston's appointment will block the promotion of officers beneath the Kansan. This claim is without foundation, as the president will have plenty of opportunity to make promotions, and Gen. Funston's appointment will not interfere with promotions in the slightest degree.

Gen. Wheaton reaches the voluntary retirement age on July 15, 1902. His promotion has been rapid during the recent years. He was born in Michigan and appointed to the army from Illinois. His record is an excellent one. He served through the civil war with distinction.

Gen. Jacob H. Smith is another general officer who is not a graduate of West Point. He served through the civil war with distinction. He was born in Ohio and entered the army from Illinois.

May Escape Punishment.

Washington, April 1.—Aguinaldo will not be tried for treason, and unless the captive rebel leader has ordered his followers to commit acts in violation of the rules of civilized warfare he will not be tried at all. If, however, Aguinaldo has ordered the commission of any of the crimes of which some of the rebels have been guilty, such as beheading prisoners, burying them alive, assassinating friendly natives, and other acts not recognized as civilized warfare, the government will be forced to try him for these crimes. The penalty of such crimes is death, but the president has declined, except in a few instances, to allow the death penalty to be imposed. If the responsibility for such acts should be attached to Aguinaldo and he is found guilty and sentenced to death, or life imprisonment is imposed, the president would deal leniently with him.

Sends Instructions.

The question of what to do with Aguinaldo has been given serious consideration by the president and his advisers, and Saturday afternoon some instructions on this subject were sent to Gen. MacArthur. Secretary Root declines to intimate what these instructions were. It was learned, however, from sources which cannot be questioned, that until Aguinaldo has taken the oath of allegiance to the United States and promises to use his influence towards bringing to an end what remains of the rebellion he will be given no intimation as to what will be done with him. Until Aguinaldo has taken the oath no promises, expressed or implied, will be given him: he will receive no assurances of the appointment to office as a reward for what he might do towards bringing the rebellion to a close. No consideration whatever will be shown him and he will be treated as a prisoner of war until such time as the administration deems proper to give him freedom.

General Promise of Amnesty.

The proclamation of amnesty issued by Gen. MacArthur last December will form the basis of the action of the government in dealing with Aguinaldo and other rebel leaders. This proclamation warns the natives against committing acts not in conformity with the laws of war. This proclamation placed the entire Philippine archipelago under martial law. Gen. MacArthur, by direction of the president, then announced that amnesty, with complete immunity for the past and absolute liberty of action for the future, would be granted to all persons who had been in insurrection against the United States who would renounce all connection with the insurrection and subscribe to a declaration acknowledging and accepting the sovereignty and authority of the United States in the Philippine Islands. This privilege was extended without reservation, except that persons who violated the laws of war during the period of active hostilities are not embraced within the scope of this amnesty. All who desired to take advantage of these terms were requested to present themselves to the commanding officer of American troops at the most convenient station, who would receive them with the due consideration according to rank, make provision for their immediate wants, prepare the necessary records and permit each individual to proceed to any part of the archipelago, according to his own wishes, for which purpose the United States furnishes such transportation as may be available.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Splendid Record Made by the Societies in Michigan Shown by Report at the Annual Meeting.

At the annual meeting in Port Huron of the Michigan Christian Endeavor societies the report of Miss Carrie Parsons, of Kalamazoo, showed a total present membership of 49,995, embraced in 1,065 senior societies, 324 junior societies and 45 intermediate societies. The membership is divided into 37,275 seniors, 11,820 juniors and 900 intermediates. The classification of the societies among the several denominations shows the Congregationalists in the lead with 289 senior societies, the Presbyterians next with 239, and the others in the following order: Methodist Protestant, 99; Church of Christ, 75; Methodist Episcopal, 53; Baptist, 45; Reformed, 39; Free Will Baptists, 22; United Brethren, 19; Friends, 15; German Evangelical, 9; Church of God, 6; Lutherans, 6; Episcopal, 4, and Union societies, 154.

The secretary's report was of an encouraging nature, evidencing a steady forward movement and showing a splendid growth. There was a gain of 36 new societies organized during the year. Forty-four counties are now organized into union work. There are also 13 city unions. Of the 13 districts into which the state has been divided 12 are organized, while the thirteenth embraces the entire upper peninsula, and the probabilities are that in the near future this will also be well organized.

The union complimented its president, Rev. E. P. Arthur, of Grand Rapids, and secretary, Miss Carrie Parsons, of Kalamazoo, by a unanimous reelection, appreciative of their earnest and energetic efforts in carrying forward the Endeavor work. Harry H. Burr, of Detroit, was chosen treasurer of the union, and the other officers selected as follows: First vice president, Rev. P. C. L. Harris, Port Huron; second vice president, W. R. Yonker, Sault Ste. Marie; junior superintendent, Miss Madge Sibley, Detroit; citizenship superintendent, H. E. Johnson, Coldwater; mission superintendent, Edward T. Lindsay, Saginaw; floating society superintendent, C. C. Williams, Grand Rapids.

FIRE IN A MINE.

No. 1 Shaft of Republic Company in Michigan Still Burning and the Loss Will Be Great.

The fire which started in No. 1 shaft of the Republic mine the other evening will cause a loss of thousands of dollars to employees. It will have to burn itself out, as there are so many openings to the mine that it cannot be smothered. It is located between 800 and 1,200 feet underground and is making headway to the surface. As No. 1 is a skip shaft 500 men at the mine are laid off until the fire is out and a shaftway built. The loss in wages will be between $50,000 and $75,000 and the loss to the company fully as much more. The mine will operate full handed as soon as the damage can be made good.

On the Same Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Davids, of Danby township, have just celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They began housekeeping on the same farm where they now reside and upon which there has never been a mortgage. Mr. Davids is 74 and his wife 69 years of age. Mr. Davids came to Michigan from Steuben county, New York, in 1837, ten years before Michigan became a state and when Detroit was a place of about 2,000 people. Mrs. Davids is a native of County Donegal, Ireland, coming to Danby when 16 years of age.

Pigeonholed.

A bill in the state legislature providing for a graduated scale of salaries for judges of probate throughout the state, ranging from $400 to $3,500, has been pigeonholed by the house judiciary committee. It was passed by the senate, but there is already a law giving boards of supervisors authority to grant the judges extra compensation whenever it is shown to their satisfaction that they have earned it. It is not thought that the killing of the bill will cause any dearth of candidates.

An Attorney in Trouble.

Attorney General Oren began disbarment proceedings against Elbert S. Roos, a prominent Kalamazoo attorney, who was a director in the Henderson-Ames company, and who, it is alleged, advised the directors relative to their participation in the scheme which resulted in the state being defrauded of $38,000 by the pretended sale of military stores. The petition filed charges professional misconduct, felony and subornation of perjury.

Hint to Carrie Nation.

There is a hint to Carrie Nation and her followers in the action of the W. C. T. U. women of Fulton. Charles Sherman established a poolroom there and the temperance people purchased his outfit, he signing a contract not to go into the same business there. Everything in the place was destroyed and it has been given out that if another "joint" is started in Fulton it will be smashed and not purchased.

Avoid Nervous Prostration.

You ought to know that indigestion, exhaustion, womb displacements, fainting, dizziness, headache, and backache send the nerves wild with affliction, and you cannot sleep.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; her case should be a warning to others, and her cure carry conviction to the minds of every suffering woman of the unfailing efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

INDIAN MISSIONARY'S STORY.

Years of Tiresome Ministry Among the Choctaws.

Little York, Ind., April 2 (Special).—Twenty-five years ago, the Rev. C. H. Thompson left Indiana. For a time he preached in Arkansas, afterwards entering on the regular missionary work among the Choctaw Indians.

For five years, he lived and labored among the full bloods of the western prairies, until on April 5th, 1885, having lost his wife, he left the circuit on which he had preached so long, and commenced traveling missionary work among the Indians of the various Tribes scattered in the West.

This irregular work involved a great deal of travel over the prairies. The drinking of so much alkali water, brought on Kidney Troubles which terminated in Diabetes.

Finally, while laboring among the Creek Indians at Wagoner, Indian Territory, this noble man was stricken down completely. A Chicago Specialist was summoned, and after a careful examination, declared that there was not the slightest chance of his recovery. Besides the prescriptions of the doctors, he tried many other medicines, but all to no avail. He says:

"I had concluded that my days were drawing to a close, when I picked up an Almanac telling of the cures of Diabetes by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I sent for two boxes. I gained strength and spirits from the time I commenced to use them, and so I sent for more. I am now completely cured, and have not the slightest symptom of my old trouble.

"I am 68 years of age. I tell everybody of the wonders Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me. I can certainly endorse them heartily, and vouch that they are all that is claimed for them. They have certainly been a God-send to me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only Remedy that has ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy and they never fail.

FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET

Of the Christian Endeavorers Was a Most Auspicious Event.

Last evening in the parlors of the Congregational church occurred one of the finest social events Chelsea has witnessed in many a day. Each member of the Endeavor Society had invited a friend to the first annual banquet. The C. E. room was decorated with palms and the dining room of the church transformed with cut flowers and potted plants into a beautiful banquet hall. One hundred and sixteen invited guests and Endeavorers gathered round the tables as the strains of Nevin's "Narcissus" played by Miss Nellie Lowry, who presided at the piano, were wafted through the church. The social committee had prepared a dainty five course banquet which was served by the ladies of the church. The following was the menu:

|------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Bouillon. | Fruit Loaf. |
| Cold Tongue. | Olive. |
| Bread and Butter Sandwiches. | Potatoes au Surprise. |
| Orange Salad. | Wafers. |
| Ice Cream. | Chocolate Cake. |
| Angels' Food. | Coffee. |

Rev. C. S. Jones presided as toastmaster. Bright, witty toasts, with enough of the substantial to make them enjoyable, were the order of the evening. The toasts and musical numbers given were:

Piano Solo—Nellie Lowry.
Our Society—D. W. Greenleaf.
Solo, King of the Winds—Floyd Ward.
C. E. Ideals—Gladys Mapes.
Piano Solo, Alburnblatt—Helene Steinbach.

For eruptions, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, sores and all blood disorders Electric Bitters has no rival on earth. Try them. Glazier & Stimson will guarantee satisfaction or refund money. At high noon yesterday at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. William D. Reilly, in Ann Arbor, the knot which binds the lives of Mr. Nathaniel W. Laird, of Sylvan, and Miss Alice Floy Reilly was tied by Rev. F. A. Stiles, brother-in-law of the groom. Only the immediate families of the young people and a few personal friends were present. Immediately after the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served to the company. The rooms in the house were prettily decorated with palms and cut flowers and the bride carried a handsome bouquet of white roses. The presents were numerous and beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Laird will go to housekeeping on the farm adjoining his father's place in Sylvan, the house having been newly fitted up for their reception. THE STORY OF A BONNET

I'D MADE up my mind for a long time that I would have the prettiest bonnet that ever was made—

One that would throw a rainbow just twenty miles in the shade!

Ever seen Jenny smile? Ever took note of her eyes? I told her a angel made 'em from little blue patches o' skies!

Just peared to twinkle sunshine! an' whenever they look at me I see jest all o' Heaven that ever I hope to see!

Well, I went down thar to the city, an' I tol' the store folks plain. I wanted the finest bonnet that ever come in on the train.

An' I paid my money fer it 'thout any contendin' words: It wuz all fixed up with roses, an' ribbons, an' singin' birds.

But row the trouble's a-comin'!—she wuz all in deep distress: How wuz a ten-dollar bonnet to go with a calker dress?

Mother—she kinder shook her head; said 'twould be 'out o' place.' An' Jenny, with tears a-fallin' on the roses of her face!

But her gran'ma come ter the rescue: "It's been seventy year," says she, "sence I wore my waddin' dress, an' now it's good as 't use to be;

I've been a-keepin' it stored away—but it saddens me now an' then; An' sence 'to-morrow's the Easter day, we'll make it over fer Jen'!"

Jen throwed her arms around her, till we heard the gran'ma say: "Ever you see sich a silly gal? She'll smother me that away!"

Go 'long an' git yer scissors, an' all o' yer nee-dies bright; With a fat like that a waddin' dress is jest what'll set you right!"

An' it did! An' sence she looked so sweet when the Easter day come 'round, When meetin' wuz over, the license an' the parson wuz easy 'foun'!

An' I ain't a-lovin' Jenny any the more, or less, Kaze I married her Easter mornin' in gran'mother's waddin' dress!"

—F. L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution.

BLOSSOM'S EASTER DAY

LILIES did not grow in Easton court. The only superfluous articles which the children who lived there knew anything about were bits of broken bottles and waste papers. Squalor, misery and unhappiness there were in plenty, but no flowers, no Sabbath days, no happy children—that is, excepting Blossom—Blossom, whose long-lashed violet eyes and shining curls set her apart from all the other alley children like a bit of heart-case; whose little crutch went tapping through the halls all day, and who sat on the rickety stairs at nightfall ready to call out a cheery greeting to her mother when she turned into the dark alley.

Blossom was very rich. Her mother did day's work for the wealthy people on the avenue, and, besides, Blossom's mother had not always lived in the alley. So when Blossom's glad cry: "Hurry up, mamma, I'm waiting for you," would ring out on the foul air, the alley children would hurry to the stairs and look with wondering, wistful eyes at the scene which never failed to take place. Blossom's mother was never too tired to kiss the winsome face and Blossom's arm always caught her mother in a rapturous embrace. Then they went in and shut the door, and the alley children were so poor, so poor.

Out in the great city the Easter story was being told again and again one Saturday evening, and after her bit of work was done Blossom's mother told her a new story of a little girl who, ever so long ago, went to church on Easter morning, and who talked to the lilies and palms while the minister preached to the big people.

It was a fine old church, with a great organ, and windows so beautiful that the sun made violet, and gold, and purple lights on the floor. "And the little girl sitting there in her white dress did not know, my Blossom, that some day she would grow up and have great trouble to bear."

"Poor mamma," exclaimed Blossom, and then she fell to cuddling the hard hand in her sweet baby way and with the exquisite imagery of childhood went to the beautiful church herself, hearing the wonderful music, and seeing the lights and flowers. The vision filled her waking thoughts, her prayers and her dreams that night, and when she awoke with the sun of Easter morning shining across her face, there was a tremulous hope in her heart that down in the alley she would hear some one crying: "Christ is risen to-day," and then the response: "He is risen indeed," just as her mother used to hear it in her old home.

But Blossom heard only wicked and evil words, so she went back to her world of "make believe" and said blithely to her mother: "Now put on your prettiest dress, mamma, and I'll put on my white dress, and the lace cap, and the little slippers with big bows, and we'll go to church and hear the big organ and, O mamma, couldn't we do it honest truth—for sure, I mean?"

"I am afraid Blossom, that you and I would look queer in a fine church," she answered, sadly.

"O mamma, please," coaxed the child, sitting up in bed, her little hands held out pleadingly.

A torturing wave of homesickness swept over Blossom's mother. "If I only could go," she murmured, and wise little Blossom said cheerily: "We will, mamma; I'll take care of you." Then they both laughed as if there were no heavy shadows in Easton court, and nothing but joy and love in the world on Easter morning.

"We shall have to start early, then, dear, before the people go to church, and you shall see the lilies and then we will come home and have a happy Easter by ourselves," said her mother.

After one awe-stricken whisper, Blossom did not speak again to her mother. She felt as if she must have died and gone to Heaven, for never in

There was only an affirmative nod for answer, and Blossom, whose childish idea of ministry meant loving, put up her hand and stroked the face of the stricken woman beside her, as she did the tired mother's when the hard day's work was ended. "Poor lady," she said, softly. "I expect God is letting him gather Easter lilies for Him to-day. Mamma thinks God has gardens in Heaven because there are so many folks like me who never had any flowers down here. I never saw an Easter lily till to-day, and won't it be nice when we all go to Jesus for me to tell your little boy that we talked about him to-day down here?"

Mrs. Raymond was crying—crying as she could not cry when they carried Donald's casket from the house; crying as any oppressed heart will cry when relief comes, and still Blossom's voice went steadily and sweetly on: "I guess you are lonesome without your little boy and that makes you cry, but some day when you go to see God, your little boy will already be there, and he'll run right up to you without his crutches. Mamma says God doesn't have crutches there, and I think I'll be the happiest little girl in Heaven when God lets me show mamma how I can run."

Blossom's mother turned uneasily and the child went over to her. "You want to sleep, mamma, you were so tired," she said, in quaint apology; then, turning and smiling brightly at her new friend, she said: "I guess we must go now, for mamma said we could only stay with the lilies until the people came; she said we would look queer; do we?"

"Stay to service with me," pleaded Mrs. Raymond, but Blossom's mother

her happiest flights of imagination had she dreamed of anything so beautiful as that which she saw on entering the church. They sat down under the gallery and Blossom's mother, white-faced and weary, leaned her head against a pillar and closed her eyes. There was a lump in the child's throat; her pleasure gave her such keen pain. The organist was playing a slow, sweet melody that throbbed through the church like a psalm of rest, and Blossom, unable to control her tears, stood up leaning heavily on her crutch and wiping her eyes with her little coarse handkerchief.

An early worshiper, a lady whose crape draperies floated about her like a sable cloud, moved down the aisle. She caught sight of Blossom sobbing among the shadows and went over to her, laying one caressing hand on the top of the crutch and the other on Blossom's shining head. Blossom did not start, for she had reached the stage when nothing could surprise her, but she looked up into the fair, haughty face and smiled through her tears.

"What is the matter, little girl?" the lady asked, in a voice so musical that Blossom smiled again and gave her head a little shake to send the tears flying.

"It's so—so nice," she answered, reverently. "Aren't you glad the lilies tell about Jesus?"

The lady did not answer her in words, and as she stooped nearer the child, lifting the dimpled chin in her palm, she said with passionate tenderness: "Poor little girl! You are a cripple like my little boy; I am so sorry for you."

"Oh, is he lame, and will he be here to-day? He won't mind his lameness when he sees the lilies."

"He is not here; he is risen; and I am alone," answered the lady, her voice sharp with pain.

"Do you mean that he has gone to Jesus?" asked Blossom.

would not be persuaded, and went away, leaving the child under Mrs. Raymond's protection.

Blossom has never forgotten that wonderful Easter day. The triumphant music, the perfumed air, the glorious promises of resurrection and life, fell with untold power upon the innocent child-life. She was unconscious of the notice she attracted to the pew of the wealthy Mrs. Raymond, who had not been to service for months, and who had been so bitter in her grief over the loss of her only son that her best friends had avoided her in the hours when she most needed them. Blossom had not felt the bitterness, so she leaned confidently against Mrs. Raymond, bringing to her the first real comfort she had known. Looking down into the child's rapt face, she found her best help in the warm human sympathy of the loving heart beside her, and as her quivering nerves stilled a little the tender triumph of the pulpit message added its healing balm to the hurt in her troubled heart.

Blossom rode home in a carriage that day, and the wonder of it all had not left her when a servant in livery returned with several large boxes of Easter lilies, roses and ferns. There was a perfumed note with a dainty monogram tucked between the lily stems, and Blossom's mother read it aloud to her.

"Dear Blossom," it ran, "I want to send you something from my little boy. I think he wishes you to give these flowers to all your friends in Easton court to help them remember that there is no darkness where Jesus is."

Blossom sat with her hands folded over her knee, looking down at the mass of blossoms at her feet. "It all came true," she said, softly; "we did go to church, and God let me see the lilies. God can do anything, can't He, mamma?"

"Yes, my Blossom, He lets us have all that is good for us," answered the brave, trusting mother, who, in the midst of her toil and pain and poverty, had learned to keep the true Easter in her heart.

Many Easter days have come and gone since then, and now the lilies blossom royally at Easton court, for Mrs. Raymond, thoroughly awakened from the selfishness of her grief, tore away the old buildings whose environment laid so cruel a hand upon the children of the court, and in their stead built up Donald house, in memory of the boy she loved and well-nigh lost. Blossom and her mother have rooms in the new house as in the old.

Sometimes when Mrs. Raymond has taken leave of them she remembers her first meeting with them, and, retracing her steps, takes Blossom's face between her hands while she says: "God bless you and keep you sweet in this garden for many years, my Blossom," and Blossom, whose presence is like a benediction in Donald house, can repay her friend only by the daily unfolding of her own Christ life.—Minnie Waite Roselle, in Baptist Union.

We Need Easter in Our Hearts.

Our lives are too often graves in which the best possibilities of moral and spiritual beauty and strength lie sleeping. Perhaps not one of us is living at his best. There are better things in our soul than have been brought out. There is more love lying in our heart—sympathy, compassion, gentleness, helpfulness—than has yet been called out into service. There are undeveloped possibilities of usefulness in everyone's heart and hand. Many of our lives are like the trees in orchards and forests all over the land, these early April days, waiting for the warm sunshine and gentle rains to call out their foliage and fruits; we need the warm south wind of God's love and of the Holy Spirit to woo out the blessed possibilities that are sleeping in our lives. We need Easter in our hearts, a resurrection which shall cause us to arise and shine and put on our beautiful garments.—J. R. Miller, D. D.

Found Time to Be Kind.

The business man forgets, as do many of us, the truth expressed by Ruskin that "a little thought and a little kindness are often worth more than a great deal of money." The great demand is on their hearts, not on their purses. In the matter of kindness we may all be great, and if the prime minister of one of the greatest nations in the world, a man whose pen and tongue and brain were constantly exercised in behalf of the poor and oppressed, wherever he found them; if the grand old man of England, William E. Gladstone, could find time to leave his parliamentary duties to carry a bunch of flowers to a little sick crossing sweeper, shall we not be ashamed to make for ourselves the excuse: "I haven't time to be kind?"—Success.

An Easter Note.

In the wintry days the pitting snow fell on the graves where Love knelt weeping, and mercifully hid them from the sight of men. And when the spring came with bloom, and song, and sunlight, and Love knelt near the graves again, the lilies mantled them—white tokens of the love of a risen Redeemer; that love which is wounded and forgives; that is the resurrection and the life; that makes earth and heaven beautiful!—Atlanta Constitution.

WHEN HE WOKE UP.

Mrs. Nuwed—Isn't my new Easter hat a dream?

Mr. Nuwed—Yes, and the price-mark is an alarm clock.—Baltimore American.

At Eastertime.

At Eastertime, oh, who can doubt That He who calls the violets out Of their brown graves beneath the time Will wake us, too, in His good time? Are we not more than many flowers? Oh, sweet the lesson of the hours

At Eastertime.

—May Riley Smith.

A Calculating Mind.

"Did you observe Lent this year?"

"Very carefully," answered he. "I think I succeeded in denying myself enough things to pay the cost of an Easter wardrobe."—Washington Star.

Another Hero.

He is a hero in a way. Though history ne'er declares it. When Easter bells come 'round some day He makes no plaint that he must pay, But simply grins and bears it. —Washington Star.

FUNSTON'S STORY.

The Daring General Tells of the Capture of Aguinaldo—A Well-Laid and Clever Plan.

Manila, March 29.—Gen. Fred Funston, who on March 23 captured Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, when interviewed Thursday, made the following statement concerning the capture of the Filipino leader:

The confidential agent of Aguinaldo arrived February 23 at Pantabangan, in the province of Nueva Ecija, northern Luzon, with letters dated January 11, 12 and 14. These letters were from Emilio Aguinaldo and directed Baldermo Aguinaldo to take command of the provinces of Central Luzon, supplanting Gen. Alejandro, Emilio Aguinaldo also ordered that 400 men be sent him as soon as possible, saying that the bearer of the letters would guide these men to where Aguinaldo was. Gen. Funston secured the correspondence of Aguinaldo's agent and laid his plans accordingly. Some months previously he had captured the camp of the insurgent general Lacuna, incidentally obtaining Lacuna's seal, official papers and a quantity of signed correspondence. From this material two letters were constructed, ostensibly from Lacuna to Aguinaldo. One of these contained information as to the progress of the war. The other asserted that, pursuant to orders received from Baldermo Aguinaldo, Lacuna was sending his best company to President Emilio Aguinaldo.

His plans completed and approved, Gen. Funston came to Manila and organized his expedition, selecting 78 Macabebes, all of whom spoke Tagalog fluently. Twenty were insurgent uniforms, and the others the dress of Filipino laborers. This Macabebes company, armed with 50 Mausers, 18 Remingtons and ten Krag-Jorgensen, was commanded by Capt. Russell T. Hazard, of the Eleventh United States volunteer cavalry. With him was his brother, Lieut. Oliver P. M. Hazard, of the same regiment. Capt. Harry W. Newton, thirty-fourth infantry, was taken because of his familiarity with Casiguran bay, and Lieut. Burton J. Mitchell, Fortieth infantry, went as Gen. Funston's aid. These were the only Americans accompanying the leader of the expedition. With the Macabebes were four ex-insurgent officers, one being a Spaniard and the other three Tagalos, whom Gen. Funston trusted implicitly. Gen. Funston and the officers wore plain blue shirts and khaki trousers. They carried each a half blanket, but wore no insignia of rank. The Macabebes were carefully instructed to obey the orders of the four ex-insurgent officers.

On the night of March 3 the party embarked on the United States gunboat Vicksburg. It was originally intended to take cascos from the island of Polillo and to drift to the mainland; but a storm arose and three of the cascos were lost. This plan was abandoned. At two a. m. March 14, the Vicksburg put her lights out and ran inshore 25 miles south of Casiguran, province of Principe. The party landed and marched to Casiguran. The Americans had never garrisoned this place, and the inhabitants are strong insurgent sympathizers. Having arrived there, the ex-insurgent officers, ostensibly commanding the party, announced that they were on the way to join Aguinaldo between Pautobang and Baler, that they had surprised an American surveying party and that they had killed a number, capturing five. They exhibited Gen. Funston and the other Americans as their prisoners.

The insurgent presidente of Casiguran believed the story. Two of the Lacuna letters, previously concocted, were forwarded to Aguinaldo at Palanan, province of Isabela. Gen. Funston and the others were kept imprisoned for three days, surreptitiously giving orders at night. On the morning of March 17, taking a small quantity of cracked corn, the party started on a 90-mile march to Palanan. The country is rough and uninhabited, and provisions could not be secured. The party ate small shell fish, but were almost starved. Wading swift rivers, climbing precipitous mountains and penetrating dense jungles, they marched seven days and nights, and on March 22 had reached a point eight miles from Palanan. They were now so weak that it was necessary to send to Aguinaldo's camp for food. Aguinaldo dispatched supplies and directed that the American prisoners be kindly treated, but not be allowed to enter the town.

On the morning of March 23 the advance was resumed. The column was met by the staff officers of Aguinaldo and a detachment of Aguinaldo's body guard, which was ordered to take charge of the Americans. While one of the ex-insurgent officers conversed with Aguinaldo's aid, another, a Spaniard, sent a courier to warn Gen. Funston and the rest who, with 11 Macabebes, were about an hour behind. Having received this warning, Gen. Funston avoided Aguinaldo's detachment and joined the column, avoiding observation. The Tagalos went ahead to greet Aguinaldo and the column slowly followed, finally arriving at Palanan. Aguinaldo's household troops, 50 men in neat uniforms of blue and white, and wearing straw hats, lined up to receive the newcomers. Gen. Funston's men crossed the river in small boats, formed on the bank and marched to the right and then in front of the insurgent grenadiers. The Tagalos entered the house where Aguinaldo was.

Suddenly the Spanish officer, noticing that Aguinaldo's aid was watching the Americans suspiciously, exclaimed: "Now, Macabebes, go for them." The Macabebes opened fire, but their aim was rather ineffective, and only three insurgents were killed. The rebels returned the fire. On hearing the firing, Aguinaldo, who evidently thought his men were merely celebrating the arrival of reinforcements, ran to the window and shouted: "Stop that foolishness; quit wasting ammunition!"

Hilario Placido, one of the Tagalog officers and a former insurgent major, who was wounded in the lung by the fire of the Kansas regiment at the battle of Calocan, threw his arms around Aguinaldo, exclaiming: "You are a prisoner of the Americans."

Col. Simeon Villa, Aguinaldo's chief of staff, Maj. Alambra and others attacked the men who were holding Aguinaldo. Placido shot Villa in the shoulder. Alambra jumped out of the window and attempted to cross the river. It is supposed that he was drowned. Five other insurgent officers fought for a few minutes and then fled, making their escape.

When the firing began Gen. Funston assumed command and directed the attack on the house, personally assisting in the capture of Aguinaldo. The insurgent bodyguard fled, leaving 20 rifles, a lantern, a Barcelona, the insurgent treasurer, surrendered without resistance.

Aguinaldo, who talked freely of past events, said he supposed Gen. Trias would proclaim himself dictator, even not knowing that Trias had surrendered. He behaved courteously and gave no trouble. Gen. Funston says Aguinaldo is above the average in intelligence and has prepossessing manners.

Republicans Carry State of Michigan for Supreme Court Justice and University Regents - Results in Ohio Cities.

Detroit, Mich., April 2.—Robert M. Montgomery, of Grand Rapids, republican, has been reelected justice of the supreme court by about 40,000 majority, and Frank W. Fletcher, of Alpena, and Henry W. Carey, of Manistee, republican candidates for regents of the state university, have also been elected by a majority almost as large. The vote cast was high, excepting in those cities where there was a fight on some local issue. There were two constitutional amendments voted on, both of which were defeated. One fixed the compensation of state legislators at $1,000 per term and mileage, instead of three dollars per day when the legislature is in session, as at present, and the other provided for an increase in the salary of circuit judge in Bay county.

The democrats made a marked gain in Jackson, where their entire city ticket was elected. The city went republican last year.

In Owosso, S. D. Emery, prohibitionist, was elected mayor, overcoming a republican majority last year of 650. He was the only member of that ticket, however, who was successful.

In Detroit John B. Whelan, republican, was reelected police justice, the only municipal officer voted for, by 4,285 majority. Judge Montgomery carried Detroit by over 2,500 majority. Of the 17 school inspectors elected 11 were republicans and six democrats.

In Lansing the election resulted in a split. Democrats elected a large number of officers. The republicans carried the city for justice of supreme court and regents of university.

In Grand Rapids the republicans carried the city by 1,200, reelecting the city clerk, headed by Clerk, except comptroller, which the democrats probably reelected. Republicans gain two aldermen and the council.

Republican mayors were elected in the following towns:

Ann Arbor, Traverse City, Sault Ste Marie, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Ludington, Marquette, Grand Haven, Pontiac, Mount Clemens, Adrian, Big Rapids, Gladwin, Gladstone, Bay City.

Democrats elected mayors in the following towns:

Petoskey, Ionia, Cadillac, Marshall, Manistee, Menominee, Jackson, Albion, Niles, Hudson, Eaton Rapids.

In Ohio.

Cincinnati, April 2.—Fair weather prevailed in Ohio Monday for the municipal and township elections. The unusually large vote for April indicated more interest than usual in these local contests. This was due to the fact that a full state ticket is to be elected next November, together with members of the legislature who will choose a successor to Senator Foraker. In some few localities legislative nominations were made by popular vote. None show any opposition to Foraker among the republicans, and there was not enough action of this kind to indicate any preference for John R. McLean, Tom L. Johnson or anyone else as the democrat favored for the senatorship.

While the democrats carried the larger cities and some of the smaller places, yet the republicans show slight gains in the state as a whole. In the three larger cities, Cleveland, Columbus and Toledo, the democrats show gains which are offset by republican gains in the smaller cities throughout the state.

At Columbus, where the republicans have had the city government, the democrats elect their mayor by close margin. The total vote was about 9,000 short of the registration. Taylor (rep.) received 13,365 for mayor, and Hinkle (dem.) 13,754, making Hinkle's plurality 386. Last fall the republicans carried the city by 3,600. Two years ago they elected a mayor by 1,300. Hinkle made his campaign on a proposition to require three-cent fares for the street car service.

Golden Rule (nonpartisan) Samuel Jones was reelected for the third time at Toledo.

At Springfield the republicans elected a mayor for the first time in eight years. M. L. Milligan, the successful candidate, is a brother-in-law of Senator Fairbanks, of Indiana.

Returns show democratic victories in the following towns:

Delta, North Baltimore, Lima, St. Mary's, Ottawa, Continental, Upper Sandusky, Tiffin, Gibsonburg, McComb, Sandusky, Bellevue, Milton Center, Deshler, McClure, Custer, Bryan, Wapakoneta, Elmore, Zanesville, Norwalk, Mingo Junction, Piqua, Fremont, Mansfield, Clyde, Marietta, Hamilton.

Republican victories are reported in the following:

Swanton, Kenton, Columbus Grove, Bellefontaine, Payne, Port Clinton, Prairie Depot, Weston, Springfield, Findlay, Steubenville, Youngstown, Ironton, Akron, Steubenville, Fostoria, Van Wert, Pemberville, East Liverpool, Paulding, Wauseon, Blomdale, Fayette.

In Indiana.

Evansville, Ind., April 2.—Indications point to the election of the republican candidate, Charles G. Covert, for mayor by about 100 majority.

At this point in the fable the Man marvels greatly at that he had not met the Microbe long since.

AMONG THE RAILWAYS.

Rock Island Will Run Cheap Excursions to Colorado.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, which made a phenomenal success of cheap excursion rates to Colorado last season, has again asked its competitors in the Western and Southwestern Passenger associations to agree upon a series of cheap excursions to and from Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo for the approaching season on the following basis: Tickets to be sold from Chicago and all territory up to Missouri river June 18, 25, July 16, 23, and 30, Aug. 6, 13, 20 and 27, at the rate of one fare plus $2, or $31.50 for the round trip.

On July 2 and 9 and Sept. 3 and 10 a rate of $25 is to be made from Chicago, and $15 from Missouri river points for the round trip. Intermediate territory will have proportionate rates. Tickets are to be sold from Missouri river points one day later than the dates given above in each case. Proportionate rates will be made to and from Glenwood Springs, Salt Lake City and Ogden.

A series of East bound excursions is also proposed, tickets to be sold from Colorado common points every Thursday, commencing with June 20 up to and including Sept. 12, at a rate of one fare plus $2 for the round trip. All tickets will be limited for return passage to October 31. These rates will be tendered connecting lines for basing purposes, which will probably insure a very low basis of rates throughout the United States for these excursions.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific will unquestionably make these rates and arrangements effective, regardless of the action of its competitors, and will run special trains, only one night out to and from Colorado, on the dates named.—Chicago Inter Ocean.
