CHLSEA TELEPHONE NUMBER 8

A New Mining Co.

Kootenai (Idaho) Herald: Bonners Ferry was visited this week by officials of the Hoosier Boy Gold Mining Co., the new owners of the Buckhorn Group on the Moyea. The party included E. J. Foster, president of the company, Mr. Messner, secretary, and Mr. Winder, of the board of directors. These gentlemen visited the mining property, leaving here on Saturday and returning Tuesday. It was the first visit of Mr. Messner and Mr. Foster to the property, although they are credited with holding the heaviest financial interests in the company.

To a Herald report Mr. Messner stated that they found the appearance of the group fully as good as expected and that they were in every way satisfied with their purchase. He said that they had determined to place a mill on the property as it was their intention to operate the mine. The machinery will soon go in for a stamp mill shortly. It is probable that only a ten stamp mill will be erected to begin with, but with power for a larger plant.

The Hoosier Boy Gold Mining Co.'s property is located about 20 miles north-east of Bonners. It is a gold proposition, and there is over 900 feet of development work done, and there is said to be 500 tons of good ore on the dumps. The ledge averages 4 feet wide and is plainly traceable through five claims.

The officers and directors of the company are as follows:

President and treasurer, E. J. Foster; secretary, J. W. Messner; directors, E. J. Foster, Grass Lake; W. F. Shaler, Grass Lake; J. W. Messner, Saginaw; John D. Watson, Chelsea; J. A. Leasia, Williamston; H. A. Foster, Mt. Pleasant; J. R. Mills, Detroit; Geo. P. Mulcahy, Spokane; M. D. Winder, Spokane.

AN ANCIENT MONASTERY.

An American Girl Writes of a Visit to Certosa—Where a Famous Chartreuse Comes From.

We stopped in the chapel of the monastery of Certosa on our way back from the cloisters and there was still one monk at his devotions, writes Jean Webster, in Truth. The brother who conducted us did not see him until we were well into the room, and then he hastily led the way to the altar to show us some carving. The living monk, however, was more interesting—If you could call him living. He never raised his eyes from his book during the five minutes we lingered over the carvings, but murmured over his prayers as oblivious to our presence as if we were a thousand miles away. As we left the room, however, we looked back, and for a second we saw him shoot a glance in our direction, but he immediately dropped on his knees and bent his head lower as if to do penance for that one worldly look.

Our old frater left us at the bottom of the stairs, and we watched him as he disappeared down the low, dark corridor, his white robes flapping behind him as he walked. Then we turned into the spezeria of the monastery to buy some of the chartreuse which all good pilgrims to Certosa take away. The sale of this famous cordial has always been the chief source of revenue to the Carthusians. It is made by the monks from roots and herbs, but the recipe is a secret of the order. While we were discussing whether we would better purchase the green or yellow chartreuse, the man in charge told us that the green was for gentlemen and the yellow for ladies, and when we asked why they drew such fine distinctions, he replied that the green went to "ze head."

As the iron gate clanged behind us, we looked up at the grim walls, and framed in the archway at the top of the stairs we caught a glimpse of the old frater. We waved good-by to him in a most friendly manner, and for a moment his face relaxed in a smile of amusement at these giddy young things who came from a distant land, where neither gray hairs nor the rules of the strictest religious body in the world are revered.

ALLEGED FRAUD IN OFFICE.

Jas. H. Brown, of Battle Creek, Must Answer to This Charge.

TROUBLE DATES BACK IN 1898

When It Is Alleged That Brown Charged the State and Collected Pay for Four Days' Service at Pontiac While at the Same Time He Was Otherwise Engaged.

Must Answer to the Charge of Fraud. The trial of James H. Brown, of Battle Creek, a member of the state live stock sanitary commission, who was indicted by the grand jury for alleged fraud in office, commenced in the circuit court at Lansing on the 23d. Prosecutor Tuttle is assisted by Watts S. Humphrey, of Lansing, and the defendant is represented by Philip T. Colgrove, of Hastings. No trouble was experienced in securing a jury, only two jurors being excused. Prosecutor Tuttle, in opening the case to the jury, stated that the people would show that during the week of April 11, 1898, Brown charged the state and collected pay for four days' services in Pontiac when, in fact, he was engaged in making a test of Farmer Elliott's cattle, and those of Farmer Jennings under private contract. Elliott paid him $22 for his services, but Jennings, who has since died, failed to remit for bills subsequently rendered. The prosecutor also promised to show that at the same time Brown was under contract to give the Michigan Farmer service amounting to two days' work each week, and that he did furnish that paper the required copy for the week in question.

Detroit's Bicentennial Celebration.

A quorum of the general committee having in hand the proper celebration of Detroit's bicentennial, met in the mayor's office on the 23d to consider ways and means of the celebration. Various forms were suggested for a proper celebration, the committee finally voting that a $50,000 memorial arch to span Woodward avenue from curb to curb at Grand Circus park, was about the right thing. The committee selected F. H. Wakefield as secretary and decided to open an office and headquarters in the immediate future. President Delamater of the M. & M. exchange, and Vice-President Hutchins of the Detroit United railway, both offered the assistance of their two organizations. It was practically settled that the celebration will take form of a three days' carnival with fetes and parades.

Sanderson Murder Case Recalled.

Mrs. Marie Sanderson, who received much notoriety by being placed on trial for the alleged murder of her husband, Rodolphus Sanderson, of Battle Creek, by feeding him ground glass, and was acquitted, has commenced suit in the circuit court that may reopen some of the sensational things connected with the famous trial. Mrs. Sanderson, who is now in Grand Rapids, has commenced suit in the circuit court to recover property which would have been hers in the event of her husband's death, providing that his death had occurred in a manner which would have left her free from the suspicion of having murdered him, of which she was found innocent. Mrs. Sanderson was obliged to sell her rights in property valued at $30,000 for the sum of $1,500, in order to secure the services of a lawyer.

Forged Diplomas.

Secretary of State Warren has had his attention called to the fact that school diplomas for country schools have been sold in Michigan to which is attached a fac simile of the great seal of the state. It is understood that these diplomas, which are issued to pupils completing a prescribed course of study in the country schools, have been sold by a publishing house in many counties of the state. Of course, the representation of the great seal of the state on these diplomas is wholly unauthorized.

Diseases in Michigan.

Reports to the state board of health by representative physicians in active general practice in different parts of the state indicate that influenza, neuralgia, rheumatism, tonsillitis and bronchitis, in the order named, caused most sickness in Michigan during the week ending April 20, 1901. Cerebrospinal meningitis was reported present at 4 places, whooping cough 11, diphtheria 26, measles 28, typhoid fever 35, scarlet fever 90, smallpox 94 and consumption at 194.

Suicide Near Utica.

Mrs. John Fogelson, aged about 70 years, was found in the cellar of her residence, 3 1/2 miles north of Utica in a dying condition on the 23d. She had cut her throat in six or eight different places in a horrible manner. Her windpipe was cut clear in two, both below and above the larynx. The larynx was also severed. The opening on the neck was over six inches in length, extending from the right to left ear. She did not regain consciousness after being discovered.

The state fair is to be held at Pontiac this year.

Forest fires have already commenced burning in the upper peninsula, and unless rain falls soon great damage will be done.

E. M. Wheeler, a prominent grocer of Hillsdale, suicided by shooting himself through the head. Despondent because of ill health.

Robbers secured over $4,000 at Brighton on the morning of the 26th by blowing open the safe and vault in the private bank of Baetcke & Co.

The canal project at Port Huron is still in the air, the council having turned down the bids of three contractors at its meeting on the 23d.

AGAINST "THE RIPPERS" BILLS.

Here is the new program of "The Rippers," devised to get around decision of the supreme court in the Detroit board of works case:

The board of works bill to be amended so as to declare the superintendent vacant and to give the aldermen the power of appointing a successor to George W. Fowle, who will be De Witt H. Moreland.

The abolition of the board of police commissioners and the substitution of a superintendent to be appointed by the aldermen, the place to be given to Frank C. Andrews.

The abolition of the park commissioners and the substitution of a superintendent to be appointed by the aldermen, the place to be given to Robert Bolger.

"The Rippers" have secured the co-operation of the aldermen by a promise that the patronage of the several departments should be shared by the aldermen, an aldermanic caucus to be held on all appointments. This would give each alderman in the neighborhood of $10,000 of patronage a year.

The scheme was endorsed by the Republican aldermen in caucus on the 23d.

Mayor Maybury, is of course naturally opposed to any such legislation, and may call a mass meeting to protest against the scheme.

MINOR MICHIGAN MATTERS.

Five cases of smallpox are reported at Marshall.

Bay City is to have the largest cement factory in America.

Houghton now has a daily paper—The Daily Copper Journal.

Houghton's council has rejected the bonds of six saloonkeepers.

A new postoffice has been established at Huber, Newaygo county.

Frankfort has a new bank known as the Benzie County state bank.

The molasses output of the two sugar companies at Bay City will be converted into alcohol and chemicals.

It is now expected that the Ropes gold mine, in the vicinity of Ishpeming, will resume operations by the first of September, when a large force of men will be put to work.

The contract for furnishing all of the steel mail boxes to be placed in use by the government for four years after July 1 has been awarded to the Michigan Steel Box Co., of Adrian.

As there was no testimony strong enough to hold Drs. Bailey and McLaren, charged with manslaughter in the Mahan case at Detroit, Justice Sellers on the 23d exonerated them.

The state military board met at Lansing on the 23d and discussed at length the advantages of the several sites offered for the state military encampment. No site was selected, however.

The half hundred saloonkeepers of Kalamazoo got together on the 26th and signed an iron clad agreement to cut off all extras in the free lunch line and in the future serve only crackers and cheese.

Prosecutor Tuttle says that the work of preparing a full and complete statement of the French, Pratt and Adams cases for submission to Judge West, is going rapidly forward, and the report will probably be made some time this week.

The contract for Port Huron's canal was finally let on the evening of the 24th. The Standard Contracting company, of Cleveland, were awarded the contract at $93,400, which price is to include all bridges and the necessary right of way.

Pearl Marvin of Cadillac was roughly handled on the night of the 20th on a farm near Walton by a gang of men who gave him a thorough horse whipping and then treated him to a coat of tar and feathers. He was charged with undue intimacy with a family while the husband was in the hospital at Ann Arbor.

The supreme court has made the order in the habeas corpus proceedings brought in the interest of James H. Brumm returnable May 7, when the alleged insane man will be brought into court by the sheriff of Eaton county. The authorities of that county will have to show cause why Brumm is detained in custody.

Thirty-one head of cattle, 600 bushels of grain, 12 tons of hay and several hundred dollars worth of machinery belonging to Stephen D. Foreman, a farmer of near the Michigan-Ohio line, was destroyed by fire on the 26th. A tramp, who was thrown out of the house by Foreman's son, is supposed to have set fire to the barn.

The returns from the various counties on the recent state election are almost all in, but the few still out must come before the official canvass can be made. From such figures as are in, however, it appears that the majority of Montgomery over Adair for supreme justice will be nearly 95,000, about twice as much as was figured just after election day.

Mrs. Ruth Ayers, aged 80, of Springville, near Adrian, a widow residing alone, was gagged, blindfolded and bound hand and foot on the 26th and robbed. How much the robbers secured is not made known, but on the floor was found a $50 and a $20 bill which the thieves had evidently dropped. The woman thinks she could identify the two miscreants.

During one of the performances at Wonderland, Detroit's popular playhouse, on the 27th, a small boy pitched over the railing in the gallery and landed in the lap of a woman in the parquet. The lad made a complete summersault in making the descent. He was quite seriously injured but it is thought he will live. The woman was badly frightened, but not hurt.

The Detroit and Chicago Traction Co. has purchased a site for its power house at Jackson. It will be located near the prison. It will have a capacity of 8,000 horse power and will cost $250,000.

CUDA AND PHILIPPINE NEWS.

News from Honolulu, dated the 17th, says the transport Kilpatrick has arrived there from San Francisco with two cases of smallpox on board and several cases of mumps and measles. She is in quarantine outside the harbor. All the soldiers on board will be transferred to another vessel while the steamer is being cleaned. Lieut. Thos. Cobb, Jr., of the 39th infantry, who landed from the transport Lawton, died on April 13 at quarantine, from smallpox. He was taken ill while on the way home from Manila.

It has been determined to increase the regular army to approximately 70,000 men and to leave it at that number unless conditions in the Philippines should make more troops necessary. The President and Secretary Root reached this conclusion on the 23d and the details will be worked out by the secretary and Gen. Miles. The number of officers appointed will be as originally contemplated.

Gen. MacArthur on the 23d informed the war department that the transport Sheridan sailed April 23d via Nagasaki, with Gens. John C. Bates and Frederick D. Grant; 65 officers and 1,833 enlisted men of the 45th and 46th infantry. Also that the transport Kintuck arrived at Manila on the 23d.

The session of the Philippines commission at Catbalogan, Samar island, on the 23d developed the fact that the inhabitants of Samar are still terrorized by the forces of Gen. Lukban, the rebel leader, which consist of 400 rifles and many bolomen.

Maj. Noble, adjutant-general of the department of the Visayas, has received the surrender of Quentin Salas, and three of his officers. All the insurgents under Salas will surrender soon. It is claimed this will terminate the insurrection.

Over 100 officers and 2,157 bolomen have surrendered and sworn allegiance to the U. S. at Narvacan, province of South Ilocos. The Americans are active throughout the archipelago, accelerating surrenders.

It is estimated that there are 25,000 lepers in the Philippines, and it is planned to isolate all of them on one island.

The investigation of the commissary funds is proceeding.

CHINA WAR NEWS.

It is understood at Washington that the Chinese plenipotentiaries at Peking, Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang, are prepared to give a guarantee to the powers for the protection of all foreigners in China if the foreign troops now stationed there are withdrawn. Thus far the retention of the foreign forces has been urged as necessary in order to preserve order and protect foreigners, but the Chinese authorities say that order has been so far re-established that the imperial government is fully able to direct the Chinese troops in such a way as to ensure complete safety to the interests of all foreigners.

According to a dispatch from St. Petersburg official information has been received that renewed military activity is beginning in Manchuria. Chinese troops are strongly entrenched at three points around Mukden. They are armed with good Mauser rifles and have 30 Krupp guns. To the eastward of Mukden, near Turchansen, there are 12,000 men under the chief boxer, Lutansu. To the northwest, near Kulu, there are 6,000 Chinese under the former governor of Mukden. To the eastward in Mongolia and near the In Shan mountain there are 9,000 more under the Chinese Gen. Schu.

The report of Gen. Ketteler, received at Peking from Kuo Lu, differs from the other reports concerning the German-French expedition previously received. Gen. Ketteler's report shows that the Chinese troops did not leave the province till they were forced to do so. The entire brigade, commanded by Gen. Ketteler, met the enemy on April 23 and inflicted immense loss. The report does not give the loss. The Germans had one officer and three soldiers killed and 28 soldiers wounded.

TRANSVAAL WAR ITEMS.

Lord Kitchener has issued a proclamation to the effect that any resident in the martial law districts of Cape Colony found in arms, inciting to fight, aiding the enemy or endangering by overt act the British forces, will be tried by court martial and be liable to the most severe penalties. Such persons may even be shot.

The annual return of British recruiting for 1900 shows a total enlistment of 98,361, against 46,700 in 1899. The recruiting for the infantry is regarded as unsatisfactory. In spite of the impetus of the war and the reduction in the standard of height, the number of enlisted infantrymen is below that of 1899.

According to a dispatch from London, Maj.-Gen. Horace Lockwood Smith-Dorrien, now in South Africa, is to be promoted to the rank of adjutant-general to the forces in India.

Joseph Keller, a Racine, Wis., soldier who was reported shot and killed while engaged in a battle in the Philippines, astonished his relatives and friends on the 23d by walking in on them. Not until he reached San Francisco did he learn that his friends had mourned for him as dead.

News has just been received of the complete destruction in Maragnone, Brazil, of the Roman Catholic mission, established a few years ago by Capuchin Fathers, by a band of hostile Indians.

The announcement that it is the purpose of the President, following the suggestion of Gen. Miles, to hold the new army down to 70,000 men, of whom 40,000 men are to go to the Philippines, 5,000 to Cuba, and 1,000 to Porto Rico, 30,000 remaining in this country, gives an opportunity for definite calculation that did not exist before.

IS STILL ON THE INCREASE.

Uncle Sam is Making Steady Gains in Exports to Cuba.

CUBANS SHOW PREDILECTION

Still for Spanish Manufactured Goods—Other Happenings of a Week Boded Down for Ready Reading—A Personal Will Convince You.

U. S. Trade With Cuba on the Gain. In a recent statement given to the press by the division of insular affairs of the war department, a considerable loss was indicated in the trade of Cuba with the U. S. for the first eight months of 1900, as compared with the same period of 1899. It is now explained by the division of insular affairs that in the statement above referred to the value of gold and silver coin and bullion was included in the total value of commerce between Cuba and the U. S. Eliminating the coin shipments it is ascertained that instead of there being a decrease in the value of imports into Cuba from the U. S. there is an increase of $1,222,205 for the first eight months of 1900 over the same period in 1899.

Said to Have 50 Wives.

In the arrest of Count Leopold de Melville, otherwise known as Leo Fraquini, who is held by the New York police on a charge of bigamy sworn to by a brother of one of his Chicago wives, there was brought to light in that city a romance whose unfolding reveals the count as the hero of more than 100 love affairs. He is declared to be the husband of an assortment of wives whose number a recently deserted wife in Chicago estimated not less than "50 or so." As a duelist on many a blood-stained field of honor in Europe, the count became celebrated nearly a generation ago. His duels were always fought for love, and the wounds received in the onsets he proudly bears on his face and body. He at last broke altogether with his father, a nobleman high in the court and councils of the king of Belgium, and came to this country.

An Enormous Field Expected.

Within the past few years the possibilities of that section of country lying around St. Joseph for fruit raising have been fully demonstrated and southwestern Michigan now leads the far famed California in the production of all fruits. The prospects are the coming season will bear the heaviest output of fruits ever known in the U. S. Conditions all through the winter have been highly favorable and the farmers are preparing to reap their golden harvest. Within the past three years the Michigan peach has gained a reputation second to none in the world and this county now produces more peaches than any other county in the country. Within the past three years the peach output of St. Joe has been multiplied three times according to statistics forwarded to the state department of agriculture.

New Comet is Orange Color.

The new comet which was observed on the morning of the 27th at Yerkes observatory at Williams bay is said by the astronomers to be the brightest that has appeared for 19 years. When the comet was discovered at Queens-town, April 23, its position was about 16 degrees southwest of the sun. Its position on the above date was some 15 degrees north of the sun, indicating a very rapid northeasterly movement.

Decrease in Cuba's Trade.

A decrease of $226,081 in the customs receipts of Cuba for the months of January and February, 1901, as compared with the same period of 1900, is shown in a statement issued by the division of insular affairs, war department, on the 23d. Cuba's trade with the outside world has decreased over $1,500,000 in imports and over $2,000,000 in exports for the first three quarters of 1900, as compared with the same period of 1899.

NEWSY BREVITIES.

A dispatch from Vienna says the czar has signed a decree expelling Count Tolstoi from Russia and that the decree has been served.

It is estimated that $225,000 worth of property went up in smoke at Pittsburgh, Pa., on the 29th. Over a dozen residences were destroyed.

A bill was passed on the 23d by the lower house of the legislature of Illinois, prohibiting the sale, giving away or bringing into the state of cigarettes, cigarette paper or substitutes.

President McKinley and party left Washington on the 29th on their long western trip. A large crowd cheered enthusiastically as the train pulled out of the depot.

There is considerable excitement at present in Bermuda over the expected arrival of 1,700 Boer prisoners. The British government has leased Darrells Island, one of the largest islands in the sound. Bermudans are much disturbed and fear that unless a strong force of soldiers is sent with the prisoners, disturbances will follow.

A grandmother at 26 is the unique distinction of Mrs. Mary Campbell, who lives in the "mountain district" of Oconee county, S. C. She was married at the age of 11, and was mother of a daughter when but 12, and her eldest child has now become a mother.

A dispatch from Hyannis, Neb., dated the 27th, says that prairie fires have been raging for the past three days. Another branch of the fire swept the district of about 100 miles in length and from 10 to 40 miles in width has been totally swept of hay and dry prairie grass.

DOINGS OF THE 41ST SESSION.

The following bills were passed by the house on the 24th: Protection of rabbits of Washtenaw and Monroe counties; amending charter of Bay City; to provide for the reorganization of the school district of North Star township, Gratiot Co.; authorizing township of Pentwater to borrow money; amending game law; reappropriating $15,000 to improve the sewage system of Jackson prison; appropriation for state reformatory, $10,025; providing for the incorporation of Christian Reformed churches; relative to amending by-laws of corporations to prevent cruelty to children; same subject; amending general tax law relative to the payment of taxes on parcels of land; providing that registrars of deaths must file reports with county clerks in order to collect fees allowed; providing that the members of boards of review must be taxpayers and landowners; revision of laws relative to the inspection of coal mines, providing a board of examiners and providing for the appointment of an inspection of coal mines; authorizing district school board to furnish water to schools; providing that in acknowledging documents notaries must give the time of the expiration of their commissions; providing for the recording of bond and other securities in civil cases instead of filing them; to permit the hunting of rabbits with ferrets or dogs on any property except where specifically prohibited; limiting time for the commencement of actions questioning the validity of tax titles to six months; appropriation for Marquette normal school, $95,260.

The railroads have never been accused of doing things by halves and it is like writing an old story to chronicle the fact that they scored another victory in the senate on the evening of the 23d by effecting the passage of a taxation measure built in their order. The final vote was 20 to 8, and it was simply a case of the railroads securing what they set out to get in the first place. As finally acted upon the bill is practically the same as it came from the railroad committee, only two or three minor amendments being tacked on. In its essential feature it is a railroad measure, as the entire fight was made on the proposition of whether the railroad tax commissioners, who assess all other property in the state, or whether a separate board should be provided, as the bill called for. Senator Nichols made a gallant fight to have all property in the state assessed by one board and the arguments he put forth were left unanswered by the majority. But it was a case of the railroads having the votes and they won easily at the end.

The following bills were passed by the senate on the 25th: To detach Calhoun county from the 5th judicial circuit and make it the 37th circuit; to amend the justice court act for Detroit; to prohibit fishing in Mill lake, Bloomfield township, Van Buren county; fish appropriation, $77,000; for a separate voting precinct in Rockland township, Ontonagon county; relative to the investment of the capital of insurance companies; for uniform systems of accounting by county and city officers; to amend the general election law to provide separate ballots for constitutional amendments; to amend the barbers' act.

The senate passed the following bills on the 24th: To regulate fishing in the lakes of Cass county; to organize school districts in Ossineke township, Alpena county; amend West Bay City charter; amend Saginaw charter; to raise the salaries of Saginaw county officers; to organize school districts in North Star township, Gratiot county; to amend the fishing laws of Muskegon county; to authorize Pentwater, Oceana county, to borrow money for improvements; relative to the incorporation of fraternal beneficiary associations; relative to fishing in Maple river; appropriation for state naval brigade.

The house passed the following bills on the 23d: Regulating fishing in Silver lake, Oceana county; regulating fishing in Wall lake, Barry county; prohibiting spearing of fish in Isabella county; regulating fishing in certain lakes in Cass and Van Buren counties; regulating catching of black bass in inland waters of the state; regulating fishing in inland lakes of Cass county; to tax railroad companies on ad valorem basis; authorizing the pensioning of Bay City firemen.

These bills were passed by the senate on the 23d: To raise the salary of the state librarian from $1,200 to $1,800; for a normal school in western Michigan; to authorize Dickinson county in conjunction with the Wisconsin authorities, to build a bridge across the Menominee river; to prohibit the catching of fish in Silver lake, Oceana county; to regulate fishing in Indian and Magician lakes, Cass county; to prohibit fish spearing in Isabella county.

The following bills were passed by the house on the 25th: Mining school appropriation, $175,000; protection of fish in the Au Sable river and its tributaries; amending the charter of Grand Haven, extending the city limits so as to take in the bridge between the city and Spring Lake; appropriation for Northern Michigan asylum, $52,644; prohibiting the sale or giving away of cigarettes in the state.

Some of the leading members of the house are considering very seriously the question of adjournment. The house is dragging away in a perfunctory way and petty little bills are being acted on day after day as the principal business, when as a matter of fact they ought to be merely sandwiched between important measures. The Atwood resolution fixing May 4 for adjournment has evidently not a figure whatever. The railway taxation bill is, so to speak, in its infancy as far as the senate is concerned and there are 80 bills on the house general order.

Spring Song

The hillways and hollows are dreaming of May,
An' a heigh-ho!
The wood-paths we follow are warmer each day,
An' a heigh-ho!
The winds are all winging to west, to west,
(The birds are yet singing of last year's nest).
An' a heigh-ho!

There are violets peeping from under their hoods,
An' a heigh-ho!
And brown blossoms deep in the dark of the woods,
An' a heigh-ho!
There's a long mid-meadow green-sloping before—
Oh, glad will the gardens be seven days more,
An' a heigh-ho!

The children are playing in roadway and lane,
An' a heigh-ho!
A laughing and saying, "Here's summer again!"
An' a heigh-ho!
Oh, mother-hearts lighten when little ones sing,
And all the world brightens at stirring of Spring,
An' a heigh-ho!

The drowsy brook's humming steals over in waves,
An' a heigh-ho!
The lilies are coming up out of their graves,
An' a heigh-ho!
The syringa is swaying at swing of the door,
The world goes a-maying in seven days more,
An' a heigh-ho!
An' a heigh-ho!

A Gentleman and a Gambler.

BY MILTON B. MILLER.

(Copyright, 1901, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)
"I am a believer," said the Colonel, "in man's natural goodness. I had the pleasure once in knowing an honest gambler, and I liked him, too, for he was a gentleman. The days of this class of gamblers, however, are passed."

"Moore—but that wasn't his name—was a Mississippi River gambler, one of those gamblers of the old school, who played a straight and honest game. He traveled, in fact, lived, on the big river steamboats. He wouldn't have felt at home anywhere else. In no way did he attempt to conceal the truth about himself. It was simply, 'Gentlemen, I am a gambler by occupation, and a good one. If you care to have me play with you it will give me great pleasure. If you don't, it doesn't make a particle of difference.'"

"I was then doing some newspaper work in some of the larger southern cities, and my business frequently carried me aboard the vessels, and in this way I came to know Moore very well. I occasionally took a flyer or two, but I knew that the games were to far for my reach. I discovered that when Moore played with the average man, luck being equal, he would win ninety-nine times out of a hundred. I liked Moore's society, and he was a wonderfully entertaining talker. On summer nights the steward used to serve dinner on deck to those who preferred to have it there. After dinner we would go up to the hurricane deck, and when Moore was on board he would bring out his flute and play for us. When the moon was out, and threw a thin blue veil over the water, or when the boat carving the darkness swept so close to the shore that it brushed the dark willows on the banks, the rising and falling notes that came from his instrument were gentle music to the ear. I never knew him to propose a game at cards. He would play his flute until some one suggested a game, when he would take his instrument apart and put it away in an indifferent manner."

"I watched him at play one night

"You are a coward!" when Satan seemed to throw every card to this calm, self-possessed man. There was a cool, matter-of-fact way about him which froze the ardor of everyone else except a young man about twenty-five years old. This player was in ill-luck, but with flushed face and feverish eye he made his bets furiously, only to lose every time. It soon became evident that he was playing beyond his means. Moore must have noticed it, for he ceased to bet heavily against the younger man. This angered the other no little.

"There was a pot of $300 once and everyone had dropped out except Moore and the young man. Moore had been playing his hands passionately, but sure. No man except his opponent, perhaps, could doubt that he held the winning hand. Suddenly when his rival bet $50, Moore laid down his hand, saying, 'I won't bet. I have nothing. You played that well.'"

"The young man reached out feverishly for the pile of money, and then his hand lay on the table."

"That is not true," he said. "You have a good hand and you are afraid to play it against me."

"Moore shot a hot glance across the table at him and two red spots flashed into his cheeks."

"I lay down my hand," he said slowly.

"I loved his mother once," he said, but with a slight tremor in his voice.

"And I say," added the other in a low tone, "that you are a gambler, and therefore a coward."

"Hush," I said, laying my hand on the young man's sleeve. "You don't know what you are saying. He is not a coward by any manner of means."

"The young man shook off my hand vehemently, and exclaimed, 'He is a coward, and I'll answer for my words at the first landing.'"

"I looked at Moore. I had seen him sit on the hurricane deck, a revolver in hand, and as a waiter threw champagne bottles over the rail, raise his arm swiftly and shatter the falling glass with a bullet. There were graver stories, too, about his deadly aim in duels. He sat stiff and motionless with a terrible fire in his eyes. I was amazed by his next words:

"Does the game go on?" he asked quietly.

"Not with you," said the young man, bending forward, the veins in his forehead swelling. "Not until I prove that you are afraid to bet, and with a sudden motion he threw his hand across the table and seizing Moore's cards turned them face upward on the table."

"I was on my feet at that instant to arrest Moore's right arm, for I felt that he would draw his revolver at the insult. But a hush fell over those around the table, and the hot-headed young man was gazing stupidly at the cards before him. Four aces lay there—an invincible hand, for straights were not played. There was a blue tinge in Moore's white lips and the young man looked bewildered. Quickly the young fellow burst into tears."

"We can't play together any more," he cried. "You threw money into my pockets because I was losing too much. I can't take it," he said, arising from his chair."

"You can," said Moore in an even voice. "I laid down my hand. The money is yours. Beside," he added with a little shiver, "I held out an ace on you."

"Every man at the table knew that Moore had lied. We all got up and left the young man sitting there over the money. I found Moore shortly afterward on deck, looking into the darkly whirling water."

"Give me your hand," I said. "What in the world did you mean? You never cheated at cards in your life."

"Tut, tut," he answered, with a laugh that was slightly harsh, "he's only a boy, and—and I loved his mother once."

LONG TERM IN PRISON.

Curious Case showing Separate Systems of the Government.

A most curious case, showing how the separate systems of the government may take on confusing shape, has just come to light in Indiana. A man who has for nineteen years been confined in jail at the expense of the nation, has during all these years been in receipt, or intended receipt, of a considerable sum of money from the same nation. It is because the man fought in the great war that the complication was made possible. At least, his services in battle were responsible in part for the situation. It once occurred to the same man that after having fought the good fight for freedom and unification it might be the graceful thing for the country to recognize his worth by a monetary consideration, so he put in an application for a pension. It was allowed, and the man's name was written on the book of fame, after which he was entitled to dollars. Shortly following this period another man passed on to the great beyond, under circumstances which the coroner's jury considered called for the trying of somebody on a capital punishment charge. It so happened that the pensioner was the person fixed upon as the active agent assisting the earthly exit of the deceased. Although the pensioner stoutly maintained his innocence, the proof was so strong as to lead the jury to a verdict of guilty and the committing judge to a sentence of life imprisonment. This was in the year 1880, and for nineteen years the prisoner worked out his destiny behind the bars. At the conclusion of this time the man who had committed the murder took to his last bed, and it occurred to him to make a confession. So the pensioner is free now. But he still has troubles. There are some thousands of dollars in pension money which the wardens have failed to turn over to him, and he is obliged to sue for their recovery. Besides, there are the wasted nineteen years, because of the implicit judicial faith in the infallibility of circumstantial evidence.—San Francisco Call.

Seeking After Knowledge.

Figures recently compiled by the registrar of Columbia university show that as a whole the institution stands second to Harvard in membership, the respective enrolments being 5,740 and 4,392. After Columbia came the University of Michigan, with 3,813 students; the University of Chicago, 3,774; the University of Minnesota, 3,423; the University of California, 3,216; Cornell university, 3,004; the University of Pennsylvania, 2,573, and Yale, 2,544. Columbia is one of the lowest numerically in the size of its men's undergraduate college, which however, has increased more than 10 per cent in a single generation. In its scientific schools she is surpassed in numbers only by Cornell and Yale; in her graduate departments she stands first in this respect, with 422, against 393 at Harvard. The statistics further show the peculiar prominence of Chicago, with her theological seminary of 180 students; of Pennsylvania, with a school of 417 dentists, and another of 60 veterinarians; of Minnesota, with a college of agriculture, numbering 590 in attendance; of California with her school of art, attracting 208 students; of Cornell, whose division of forestry is established with a registration of 22, and of Yale, the only university having a separate school of music.

Elephant's Once Roamed in England.

While excavating for the foundations for the new buildings of the Victoria and Albert museums in South Kensington a carload of fossilized bones was brought to the surface by the workmen. These were taken in charge by Dr. Woodward of the geological department, who pronounced them the remains of the primitive denizens of the soil that lived there before man came to interfere with them. The bones he named, he said, to a London newspaper representative, to the elephant the stag and the primeval horse, and date back to a time before Great Britain became isolated, ere yet the Straits of Dover had been cut through. The excavators at South Kensington also unearthed a fine specimen of the sarsenstone, weighing 1,300 pounds, which must have been transported hither by ice floes in preglacial times.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Another Old Goose.

A goose on the farm of Mr. Watkins Ollfach Maen, South Wales, reached the extraordinary age of forty-one years last spring. Up to ten years ago this goose laid regularly, and has hatched and brought up hundreds of goslings. For some time now she has not mixed with or taken any notice of the other geese and the solitary journey of the poor old thing toward the end of its long and useful life is pathetic to behold, although she is treated with every kindness by her kind-hearted owner.

It is not the height some men attain that makes them giddy—it is looking down with contempt on the crowd beneath them.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

"SEEKERS FOR WISDOM" THE SUBJECT LAST SUNDAY.

Go to the Ant, Then Sluggard, Consider Her Ways and Be Wise, Having No Guide, Overseer or Ruler, She Provideth Her Meat * * * Prov. 6: 6-8.

(Copyright, 1901, by Louis Klopsch, N. Y.)

Washington, April 28.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage draws his illustrations from a realm seldom utilized for moral and religious purposes; text, Proverbs, vi., 6-8, "Go to the ant, thou sluggard, consider her ways and be wise, which, having no guide, overseer or ruler, provideth her meat in the summer and gathereth her food in the harvest."

The most of Solomon's writings have perished. They have gone out of existence as thoroughly as the 20 books of Pliny and most of the books of Aeschylus and Euripides and Varro and Quintilian. Solomon's Song and Ecclesiastes and Proverbs, preserved by inspiration, are a small part of his voluminous productions. He was a great scientist. One verse in the Bible suggests that he was a botanist, a zoologist, an ornithologist, an ichthyologist, and knew all about reptilia. I Kings, iv., 33, "He spake of trees, from the cedar tree that is in Lebanon even unto the hyssop that springeth out of the wall; he spake also of beasts and of fowl and of creeping things and of fishes." Besides all these scientific works, he composed 3,000 proverbs and 1,005 songs.

Although Solomon lived long before the microscope was constructed, he was also an insectologist and watched and described the spider build its suspension bridge of silk from tree to tree, telling of the spider's web, and he notices its skillful foothold in climbing the smooth wall of the throne room in Jerusalem, saying, "The spider taketh hold with her hands and is in kings' palaces." But he is especially interested in the ant and recommends its habits as worthy of study and imitation, saying, "Go to the ant, thou sluggard, consider her ways and be wise, which, having no guide, overseer or ruler, provideth her meat in the summer and gathereth her food in the harvest."

Not Altogether Commendable.

But Solomon would not commend all the habits of the ant, for some of them are as bad as some of the habits of the human race. Some of these small creatures are desperadoes and murderers. Now and then they marshal themselves into hosts and march in straight line and come upon an encampment of their own race and destroy its occupants, except the young, whom they carry into captivity, and if the army come back without any such captives they are not permitted to enter, but are sent forth to make more successful conquest. Solomon gives no commendation to such sanguinary behavior among insects, any more than he would have commended sanguinary behavior among men. These little creatures have sometimes wrought fearful damage, and they have undermined a town in New Granada, which in time may drop into the abyss they have dug for it.

But what are the habits which Solomon would enjoin when he says, "Consider her ways and be wise." First of all, providence, forethought, anticipation of coming necessities. I am sorry to say these qualities are not characteristic of all the ants. These creatures of God are divided into granivorous and carnivorous. The latter are not frugal, but the former are frugal. While the air is warm and moving about is not hindered by ice or snow-bank they import their cargoes of food. They bring in their caravan of provisions; they haul in their long train of wheat or corn or oats. The farmers are not more busy in July and August in reaping their harvest than are the ants busy in July and August reaping their harvest. They stack them away; they pile them up. They question when they have enough. They aggregate a sufficient amount to last them until the next warm season. When winter opens they are ready. Blow, ye wintry blasts! Hang your icicles from the tree branches! Imbed all the highways under snowdrifts! Enough for all the denizens of the hills. Hunger shut out and plenty sits within. God, who feedeth every living thing, has blessed the ant hill.

Wrecked by Extravagance.

There are women who at the first increase of their husband's resources wreck all on an extravagant wardrobe. There are men who at the prospect of larger prosperity build houses they will never be able to pay for. There are people with $4,000 a year income who have not one dollar laid up for a rainy day. It is a ghastly dishonesty practiced on the next generation. Such men deserve bankruptcy and impoverishment. In almost every man's life there comes a winter of cold misfortune. Prepare for it while you may. Whose thermometer has not sometimes stood below zero? What ship has never been caught in a storm? What regiment at the front never got into a battle? Have at least as much foresight as the insect world. Examine the pantries of the ant hills in this April weather, and you will find that last summer's supply is not yet exhausted. Examine them next July, and you will find them being replenished. "Go to the ant, thou sluggard, consider her ways and be wise, which, having no guide, overseer or ruler, provideth her meat in the summer and gathereth her food in the harvest."

This is no argument for miserliness. Avarice and penuriousness destroy a man about as soon as any of the other vices. We have heard of those who entered their iron money vault for business purposes and the door accidentally shut and they were suffocated, their corpse not discovered until the next day. But every day and all up and down the streets of our cities there are men, body, mind and soul, forever fast in their own money vaults. Accumulation of bonds, mortgages and government securities and town lots and big farms just for the pleasure of accumulation is despicable, but the putting aside of a surplus for your self-defense when your brain has halted or your right hand has forgotten its cunning or your old age needs a man servant or for the support of others when you can no more be a breadwinner for your household—that is right, that is beautiful, that is Christian, that is divinely approved. That shows that you have taken Solomon's ant hill for an object lesson.

Does Not Decline Work.

Furthermore, go to the ant and consider that it does not decline work because it is insignificant. The fragment of seed it hauls into its habitation may be so small that the unaided eye cannot see it, but the insectile work goes on, the carpenter ant at work above ground, the mason ant at work under ground. Some of these creatures mix the leaves of the fir and the catkins of the pine for the roof or wall of their tiny abode, and others go out as hunters looking for food, while others in domestic duties stay at home. Twenty specks of the food they are moving toward their granary put upon a balance would hardly make the scales quiver. All of it work on a small scale. There is no use in our refusing a mission because it is insignificant. Anything that God in his providence puts before us to do is important. The needle has its office as certainly as the telescope and the spade as a parliamentary scroll. You know what became of the man in the parable of the talents who buried the one talent instead of putting it to practical and accumulative use. His apology was of no avail.

There is no need of our wasting time and energy in longing for some other sphere. There are plenty of people to do the big and resounding work of the church and the world. No lack of brigadier generals or master builders or engineers for bridging Niagaras or tunneling Rocky mountains. For every big enterprise of the world a dozen candidates. What we want is private soldiers in the common ranks, masons not ashamed to wield a trowel, candidates for ordinary work to be done in ordinary ways in ordinary places. Right where we are there is something that God would have us do. Let us do it, though it may seem to be as unimportant as the rolling of a grain of corn into an ant hill.

Furthermore, go to the ant and consider its indefatigableness. If by the accidental stroke of your foot or the removal of a timber the cities of the insect world are destroyed, instantly they go to rebuilding. They do not sit around moping. At it again in a second. Their fright immediately gives way to their industry. And if our schemes of usefulness and our plans of work fail, why sit down in discouragement? As large ant hills as have ever been constructed will be constructed again. Put your trust in God and do your duty, and your best days are yet to come. You have never heard such songs as you will yet hear, nor have you ever lived in such grand abode as you will yet occupy, and all the worldly treasures you have lost are nothing compared with the opulence that you will yet own. If you love and trust the Lord, Paul looks you in the face and then waves his hand toward a heaven full of palaces and thrones, saying, "All are yours!" So that what you fall to get in this present life you will get in the coming life. Go to work right away and rebuild as well as you can, knowing that what the trowels of earthly industry fail to rear the scepters of heavenly reward will more than make up. Persistence is the lesson of every ant hill. Waste not a moment in useless regrets or unhealthy repining.

Imparts Useful Lessons.

Furthermore, go to the ant and consider that if God honors an insect by making it our instructor in important lessons we ought not to abuse the lower orders of creation. It has been found by scientists that insects transfixed in the case of a museum have been alive and in torture for years. How much the insect and the fowl and the brute may be rightly called to suffer for the advancement of human knowledge and the betterment of the condition of the human race I do not now stop to discuss, but he who uselessly harms any of God's living creation insults the Creator. Alas, for the horrors of vivisection! I have no confidence in the morality of a man or woman who would harm a horse or dog or a cat or a pigeon. Such men and women, under affront, if they dared would take the life of a human being. You cannot make me believe that God looks down indifferently upon the galled neck of the ox or the cruelly curved bit of the horse or the unsanitary cattle in the snowstorm or the cockpit or the bear baiting or the pigeon shooting or the laceration of fish that are not used. Go to the ant, thou miscreant, and see how God honors it. In the great college of the universe it has been appointed your professor. All over the land and all over the world there are over-driven horses that ought to be put on their wings in the free air of heaven, droves of cattle agonized of thirst on the freight trains where they ought to be watered and crustacea being broiled alive that ought to be lifted out of the fire. Christ chose twelve apostles for the human race in the first century, and you know their names, but in the nineteenth century he chose his thirteenth apostle, who wrought for the relief of the brute creation, and his name was Henry Bergh. In my text the ant is not impaled, is not dead, but alive, and in the warm fields providing her meat in the summer and gathering her food in the harvest.

Furthermore, go to the ant and learn the lesson of God appointed order. The being who taught the insect how to build was geometer as well as architect. The paths inside that little home radiate from the door with as complete arrangement as ever the boulevards of a city radiated from a triumphal arch or a flowered circle. And when they march they keep perfect order, moving in straight lines, turning out for nothing. If a timber lie in the way, they climb over it. If there be a house or barn in the way, they march through it. Order in architectural structure, order in government, order of movement, order of expedition. So let us all observe this God appointed rule and take satisfaction in the fact that things are not at loose ends in this world. If there is a divine regulation in a colony or republic of insects, is there not a divine regulation in the lives of immortal men and women? If God cares for the least of his creatures and shows them how to provide their meat in the summer and gather their food in the harvest, will he not be interested in matters of human livelihood and in the guidance of human affairs? I preach the doctrine of a particular providence. "Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing, and yet not one of them is forgotten before God? Are ye not of more value than many sparrows?" Let there be order in our individual lives, order in the family, order in the church, order in the state.

God's Care of Small Things.

After what Linnaeus and Pierre Huber have told us concerning these living mites of the natural world, are we not ready to believe that the God who turns the wheel of the solar system and the vaster wheel of the universe regulates the bee and the ant hill and that all the affairs of our mortal lives are under divine management? When some one asked a hermit on the top of a mountain in Italy if he did not feel it dangerous to live so many miles from human habitation, he replied: "No. Providence is my very next door neighbor."

He who became Sir Thomas Gresham and built the Royal Exchange in London when an infant was abandoned by his mother in the fields. Did it just happen so that the chirping of a grasshopper brought a boy to the spot where the babe lay and his life was saved? Not so, thought Sir Thomas Gresham, who, having arrived at great wealth and power, chose a grasshopper for his crest and had the figure of a grasshopper impressed on the wall of the Royal Exchange and had at the top a weather vane in the figure of a grasshopper. The Waldensian Christians in the seventeenth century were expelled from the valleys, and on their way 800 of them were starving to death. Did it just happen so that one night the deep snow suddenly thawed and showed a large amount of wheat which had been covered by the untimely snow and was suddenly uncovered so that the hunger was satisfied and the 800 lives were saved? Did it just happen so? Near Port Royal, Jamaica, is a tomb with this inscription: "Here lieth the body of Louis Caldy, Esq., a native of Montpellier, in France, which country he left on account of the revocations. He was swallowed up by the earthquake, which occurred at this place in 1692, but, by the great providence of God, was by a second shock nung into the sea, where he continued swimming till rescued by a boat and lived forty years afterward." Was the release of that man from the jaws of the earthquake a "just happen so?" When during the plague in London, at the risk of his life and under the protest of his friends, Rev. Thomas Vincent spent his time preaching the gospel to the sufferers and 68,596 people perished, seven fatalities in the house where he lived, did it just happen so that he came through unhurt?

All Under God's Care.

We live in times when there are so many clashing. There seems almost universal unrest. Large fortunes swallow up small fortunes. Civilized nations trying to gobble up barbaric nations. Upheaval of creeds and people who once believed everything now believing nothing. The old book that Moses began and St. John ended bombarded from scientific observatories and college classrooms. Amid all this disturbance and uncertainty that which many good people need is not a stimulus, but a sedative, and in my text I find it—divine observation and guidance of minutest affairs. And nothing is to God large or small—planet or ant hill—the God who easily made the worlds employing his infinity in the wondrous construction of a spider's foot.

Before we leave this subject let us thank God for those who were willing to endure the fatigues and self-sacrifices necessary to make revelation of the natural world, so re-enforcing the Scriptures. If the microscope could speak, what a story it could tell of hardship and poverty and suffering and perseverance on the part of those who employed it for important discovery! It would tell of the blinded eyes of M. Strauss, of the Hubers and of scores of those who, after inspecting the minute objects of God's creation, staggered out from their cabinets with vision destroyed. This hour in many a professor's study the work of putting eyesight on the altar of science is going on. And what greater loss can one suffer than the loss of eyesight, unless it be loss of reason? While the telescope is reaching farther up and the microscope is reaching farther down, both are exclaiming: "There is a God, and he is infinitely wise and infinitely good! Worship him and worship him forever!"

is, by no means, the dreadful disease it is thought to be—in the beginning.

It can always be stopped—in the beginning. The trouble is: you don't know you've got it; you don't believe it; you won't believe it—till you are forced to. Then it is dangerous.

Don't be afraid; but attend to it quick—you can do it yourself and at home.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and live carefully every way.

Last evening as the services were progressing at the Episcopal church a dove alighted on the swinging part of a window that was open and remained there throughout the service. It was a pretty incident and might be said to represent the spirit of the occasion.—Argus.

Another mastodon has come to light, having been dug up on the farm of Levi Wood, this one being considerably larger than the one found on the Stafford farm two years ago. The whole of the head and one tusk has been found; the tusk weighed about 20 pounds. The teeth are all in place and well preserved, the back ones being six inches by three. The lower jaw measures 22 inches from extremity to chin. The head from the back of the skull to the end of the tusk is five feet long and is 26 inches broad from ear to ear. The vertebra from the skull to the end of the tail are in good shape. The shoulder blade is 30x18 inches. The hind leg and foot and the ribs are also well preserved.—Hudson Post.

Into each life some ruins must fall, Wise people don't sit down and bawl; Only fools succumb or take to flight, Smart people take Rocky Mountain Tea at night. Ask your druggist.

AN EXPENSIVE CITY.

What It Costs to Support the Municipal Government of New York for a Single Year.

New York is the most extravagant city in the world. Great countries, possessing millions of square miles of territory, are governed more cheaply. One hundred million dollars! This is double the cost of the government of Mexico, with its 15,000,000 inhabitants, including the cost of Mexico's army and navy. It is almost one-third of the cost of the government of the German empire, and Germany has a population of 52,000,000. It is a quarter as great as the cost of the government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, including its army, its gigantic navy and the interest on its debt. France's burden of taxation is crushing that wealthy nation of 40,000,000 inhabitants, yet New York's city government costs one-sixth as much as that of France. The expenditure of the government of the United States in 1890, when the country's population was 31,000,000, was $63,000,000, or not very much more than half the yearly cost of the support of the government of New York city at the present time, says the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

One hundred million dollars! This is in excess of five times the cost of carrying on the government of the imperial state of New York with a population considerably more than 7,000,000. The departments of water supply and of docks and ferries are supported by their own revenues.

THOUSANDS OF MILES OF GOLD

Rich Auriferous Sands That Are Found in South New Zealand.

A stretch of rich gold-bearing sand, 300 miles long by 25 miles wide, or 7,500 square miles, sounds like a somewhat tall order, writes the Wellington (N. Z.) correspondent of the London press, but that is the well-authenticated news which comes here from across the strait.

From the Karama river, in the northern part of the South Island, down as far as the Haast river, in latitude 44 S., the whole of the west coast is almost fabulously rich in auriferous quartz reefs, and for 300 miles the black sands are full of the precious yellow dust.

Hitherto none but entirely unsuitable machinery has been used for gold getting along these Paeotian shores, but recently the Waihera Sluicing company has put up a plant adapted to the peculiar conditions of the sand and is reaping an enormously rich harvest. The result has been a rush, and 3,000 acres have already been taken up by prospectors from as far away as Sydney.

Orders for dredgers to the value of over £100,000 have already been placed with manufacturers in England and the United States and at Krupp's works in Germany, and on the basis of the results so far attained it is expected that the annual yield will not be less than £4,000,000.

THE FAT MAN'S MAIL.

He Would Give Ten Years of His Life, Teeth and Hair to Be Thin.

The man who was getting bald was complaining about nature's unkindness to him, when the voice of the club's prize fat man was heard emanating from the specially-constructed chair near the front window. "You fellows think you have your own troubles," said the fat man. "Some of you complain because your hair is falling out; some of you complain because you can't eat, and others because you can't sleep. Some of you even complain because you are thin. Ye gods! Thin? Why, I'd give ten years of my life if I were only thin. I wouldn't care if I were bald and toothless; I wouldn't care if I couldn't eat and couldn't sleep if I could get thin. I weigh—this is in confidence—I weigh 308 pounds.

"Now, what pleasure do I get out of life? I can't go to the theater or any other place of amusement, because the chairs are not large enough to accommodate me," quotes the Philadelphia Record. "The same thing applies to a baseball game in summer. I am ashamed to ride in a street car, because I take up so much room. Even here in the club I have to have a special chair. You bald-headed fellows don't know what affliction is."

ALL EYES ON TEXAS.

Great is Texas. Her vast cotton crops and marvellous oil discoveries amaze the world. Now follows the startling statement of the wonderful work at Cisco, Texas of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. "My wife contracted a severe lung trouble," writes editor J. J. Eager, "which caused a most obstinate cough and finally resulted in profuse hemorrhages, but she has been completely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery." It's positively guaranteed for all throat and lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Glazier & Stimson's.

IT SAVED HIS LEG.

P. A. Danforth of LaGrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For ulcers, wounds, piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. Sold by Glazier & Stimson.

The least in quantity and most in quality describes DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous pills for constipation, and liver complaints.—Glazier & Stimson.

You are much more liable to disease when your liver and bowels do not act properly. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove the cause of disease.—Glazier & Stimson.

Mr. W. J. Baxter of North Brook, N. C. says he suffered with piles for fifteen years. He tried many remedies with no results until he used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve and that quickly cured him.—Glazier & Stimson.

RAISE CALVES WITHOUT MILK.

Thousands are doing it cheaply and successfully with Blatchford's Calf Meal the perfect milk substitute. Try it. 16 Watson-Welch Grain & Coal Co.

"I have been suffering from Dyspepsia for the past twenty years and have been unable after trying all preparations and physicians to get any relief. After taking one bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure I found relief and am now in better health than I have been for twenty years. I cannot praise Kodol Dyspepsia Cure too highly," thus writes Mrs. C. W. Roberts, North Creek, Ark.—Glazier & Stimson.

If people only knew what we know about Kodol Dyspepsia, it would be used in nearly every household, as there are few people who do not suffer from a feeling of fullness after eating, belching, flatulence, sour stomach or waterbrash, caused by indigestion or dyspepsia. A preparation, such as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which, with no aid from the stomach, will digest your food, certainly can't help but do good. Glazier & Stimson.

Nerves Need Fuel

To feed the vital fires or they lose the power to regulate and control the body. Unnatural stimulants won't do. Like an air blast on dying embers they cause a sudden flash of heat—then all is dead. Give the nerves plenty of fuel, and the worry and fretting, the headaches, the nervousness, loss of sleep, deranged digestion, neuralgia, rheumatism and heart troubles, that burn up the brain substance and destroy the nerve-force, will disappear forever. Don't wait till the fires are burned out. Begin now.

"I was so nervous and restless that I could get little sleep, and the headaches were something dreadful. Pains would start in the temples and travel down the chords at the back of my neck to chest and arms. Doctors gave no relief, but Dr. Miles' Nervine cured me."

MRS. A. H. WIERMAN, German Valley, Illa.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

creates a good appetite, stimulates digestion, quiets nervous irritation, gives refreshing sleep and sends plenty of fresh blood to the furnaces of the brain and nerves.

talk. A Piano is an instrument of such complicated construction, to gain the best results in tone, durability and artistic design. It requires years of hard study and experience to produce one of great merit.

Look at this picture. It is a Newman Bros. Co., Grand Upright Pianos, style 7, and is one of the finest pianos made in this country. There may be just as good, but none better. I challenge comparison. I handle the Newman Bros. Co., Organs, A. M. McPhail Pianos, the D. H. Baldwin Pianos and Organs and other high grade instruments.

The street sprinkle started business Monday.

W. W. Wedemeyer of Ann Arbor was a Chelsea visitor today.

D. Clark is building a large addition to his residence in Lyndon.

A. R. Welch has just been granted a patent on a flashlight pistol.

The road scraper has been out, and the streets are now in splendid condition.

Miss Georgella Reilly of Ann Arbor was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Laird Sunday.

Commencing next Sunday, services at St. Paul's church will begin at 10 a. m., Sunday-school following.

E. G. Hoag has purchased the residence on Jefferson street he recently sold to Fred Wedemeyer.

Mr. Yin, a Chinese student, will conduct the services at the Christian Union church, Sylvan, next Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Vogelbacher and Mrs. W. H. Heselwerdt spent Saturday and Sunday at Jackson and Charlotte.

Alvin Baldwin is having the foundation walls built for a house and barn that he will build on his farm in Lima.

Senator Chas. A. Ward, who is engaged in the practice of law in Ann Arbor, was in town on legal business this week.

Evart and Ranney Scott, with Chas. Hiccock and Thomas Slater of Ann Arbor as their guests, spent Sunday at the former's cottage at Cavanaugh Lake.

The Junior Stars defeated the B. B. of A. P. in a ball game Saturday, by the score of 38 to 28. The second game of the series will be played Saturday.

Ann Arbor papers announce that Detroit parties are behind a scheme to organize an express company to operate on all electric railway lines in the country.

Chas. Hathaway discovered a heron's roost in the big swamp south of town, last week. The roost covered about an acre, and he counted forty-five nests.

On account of the illness of Mrs. P. Soper, Mrs. Carrie Soper Cushman has been unable to resume her teaching, and will now be unable to do so until fall.

M. L. Burkhart wishes to announce that beginning with next Monday he will open his ice cream parlor at 9:30 o'clock every morning, and will have ice cream on hand at all hours.

Congressman H. C. Smith has received 17 invitations from as many different places in the second district to deliver a memorial address. He has accepted one from Delta, Ohio.

Towar's Creamery Co., is making preparations to build an addition to their building here. They have recently put in another cream separator, and business is increasing rapidly.

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Speer gave them a surprise, Thursday evening last, in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. Ice cream and cake were served, and the event was a most pleasant one. Mr. and Mrs. Speer were made the recipients of a beautiful couch, in honor of the occasion.

Mrs. Martin Armstrong, of Lyndon, has settled her suit against Floyd Reason of Pinckney as bondsman for Lot Reason, a Pinckney saloon keeper, for $385 and costs. It will be remembered that Mrs. Armstrong's husband was frozen to death a year ago last February while under the influence of liquor purchased at Reason's saloon. The case was settled at Howell and the saloon keeper and his bondsmen undoubtedly feel happy over the settlement.

Attorney Geo. W. Turnball of Chelsea was in the city yesterday. Mr. Turnball, on the 4th of April, celebrated his 71st birthday anniversary. He does not show his age. Judging from his active elastic step his friends hope he may be with them many more years. Mr. Turnball is very anxious to see the electric road in operation.—Times.

Saturday evening Judge Kline, on the petition of the village of Chelsea, through F. P. Glazier, president, granted an order that L. P. Vogel should show cause by next Monday, why a peremptory mandamus should not issue compelling him to turn over all the water works papers, records, etc., while he was secretary and treasurer of the electric light and water works plants of Chelsea.

The Chelsea market today is as follows: Wheat 71 cents; oats 25 cents; rye 50 cents; beans $1.30 bushel; clover seed is retailing at $6.00 to $7.00 per bushel; potatoes 20 cents; butter 13 cents; eggs 11 cents; beef live 2½ to 4½ cents; veal calves 5 cents; dressed veal 6 to 6½ cents; live hogs $5.00 to $5.40; dressed hogs 6½ cents; sheep 3 to 4 cents; lamb 4½ cents; wool 18 to 16 cents for unwashed.

Some days ago another attempt to dig out of the county jail was discovered. The officers set a watch for the prisoners who were doing the job, but the work was not renewed. Monday, the attempt to discover those responsible for the hole in the wall was given up. The prisoners are now locked in the separate iron cages, where they will remain until the new steel lining for the building is received.

Lafayette Grange met with Mr. and Mrs. Mason Whipple, April 25th, and was well attended for the season of the year. The subject of schools was well discussed, and it was unanimously decided that the second Monday in July is a better time for school meetings, than the first Monday in September as is the custom. The next meeting will be held with Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Burkhart Thursday evening, May 9th, at 7:30.

Secretary of State Warner has had his attention called to the fact that school diplomas for country schools have been sold in Michigan to which is attached a fac simile of the great seal of the state. It is understood that these diplomas, which are issued to pupils completing a prescribed course of study in the country schools, have been sold by a publishing house in many counties of the state. Of course, the representation of the great seal of the state on these diplomas is wholly unauthorized.

The postoffice at Francisco was burglarized Sunday night. The thieves broke in the front door and opened the safe without damaging it, and secured about $100 in money and postage stamps. The robbers decamped leaving no clue of their identity behind them. Of the money taken $61 belong to Parsons & Hobart of Grass Lake, who operate a wheat elevator at Francisco. The remainder of the money was in postage stamps. Nothing was taken from the stock in the store. The robbers came and went unseen by anyone.

The crossing of the Boland electric road over the Michigan Central spur at the Junction, after an extended wait on the part of the electrical company, has received the approval of the state railroad commissioner, and was placed in operation at noon Friday. The electrical signal system was placed in by Parish Bros., of this city. The Boland company is at present hastening with the arrangements to open the road traffic, it having been completed from Jackson to Michigan Centre.—Jackson Citizen.

If you want to raise potatoes that are smooth and free from scab, buy two ounces of corrosive sublimate, dissolve it in fifteen gallons of water, place a bushel of seed potatoes in a gunny sack and put it into the solution. Let them remain in the bath one and one half hours, then treat another sack the same until all your seed potatoes have been put through the solution. Wallace Fishbeck has treated his potatoes that way for the past four years and since he began has not been troubled with the potato scab. A smooth crop of tubers is well worth the trouble. Try it.—Livingston Herald.

Hollow Ash... So Hall So

BY MARGARET BLOUNT.

Mr. Cowley's jaw dropped. His face would have been a study for a painter as he gazed at his unearthly visitant, with his hands resting upon his knees.

He had threatened such visitors with the tongue, it is true; but pinching their noses was the thing furthest from his thoughts at that moment.

With his heart beating almost to suffocation, he watched their movements. He longed to speak, but the words died upon his lips, and his throat felt parched and hot.

Slowly they advanced towards his chair—the nun's sad eyes fixed silently on his face—the outstretched hand of the black man pointing towards his heart.

He bore it manfully for a moment; but nearer, still nearer, they came—the hand almost touched his shoulder!

It was too much for poor flesh and blood to bear.

He gave a sort of stifled cry—threw himself back in his chair—evaded the shadowy grasp, and dashed headlong from the room.

Up the dark stairs he flew, and finding his own door, rather by instinct than by sight, he blundered in, upsetting two chairs, and startling Mrs. Cowley from what was apparently her first and sweetest nap.

"What is the matter, my dear?" she said, sitting up in bed and rubbing her eyes. "Have you hurt yourself?"

"Oh, don't talk to me!" groaned Mr. Cowley. "Not one ghost have I seen, but two; and we'll get out of this infernal place tomorrow!"

Rose and Catharine hearing this in their own bedroom, had a hearty laugh and then went after the two ghosts, who were putting out the candles down below, and making themselves in many ways extremely useful.

Before the clock struck one, all the house was still—each inmate wrapped in a sound and peaceful sleep, including Mr. Cowley, who had recovered a little from his fright, and was troubled by no black man or murdered nun in his dreams.

CHAPTER XI.

From that fatal evening a new life began for Mr. Cowley. He was no longer "monarch of all he surveyed," for in every darkened room, in every obscure corner of the haunted house, lurked something unseen and unheard by others, but full of mysterious life and motion for him. If a mouse squeaked behind the wainscot, it would send him scurrying along the passage at the rate of ten miles an hour; if a door shut suddenly it made him tremble and turn pale; if a light shone in a window, if a board creaked unexpectedly beneath his feet, he was apt to start, and exclaim, "Lord, bless me!"

A tone that did Mrs. Cowley's very heart good. In one word, the worthy banker, from a snug, good-tempered denizen of Mecklenburgh Square, had become transformed into that strangest of animals, a haunted man! His sleep was no longer peaceful, for he was perpetually dreading a ghostly visit; while Mrs. Cowley snored placidly and provokingly at his side. His coffee lost its relish; his tea its flavor, and his nightly glass of Holland and water was taken more to screw his courage up to the sticking point rather than for an actual pleasure it gave to him in the peculiar and unwanted state of his mind.

He was horribly frightened. He hated that house with shivering hatred; he told himself that if he saw another actual apparition there something dreadful would happen to him; he would have a fit—an apoplectic one, very possibly—or perhaps, a stroke of palsy, which would leave him with his face awry! It was a horrible thought; but he kept it manfully to himself. He would have suffered those slow tortures of agonized fear a hundred times over rather than own to the wife of his bosom that he had erred in selecting such a place for his residence. He might have said as much to some gentleman friend, if one had chanced to come in his way; but his wife—never! That was a concession too great by far for the worthy Englishman to make. No, the husband, like the king, could do no wrong, and he was determined to uphold that doctrine to the last gasp in his own family circle!

Do you think that same circle, meanwhile, was unaware of the struggle—unconscious of his fear? Not a bit of it! Mrs. Cowley, as she awoke each morning from a refreshing sleep and saw him lying pale and uneasy upon his pillow, smiled grimly to herself and wondered how long he would take to come to his senses again. His daughters, too, were rejoicing in the pangs their own mischievous arts had caused, even when they asked after "poor papa's headache" in such mellifluous tones each morning at the breakfast table. And Mrs. MacCarthy—deceitful old sinner that she was—laughed till she cried sometimes over the broths and jellies which she made each day and which she pressed upon his acceptance with a face as long as an undertaker's.

The whole house was in league against him, and the poor wretch knew it not. Yet he stood it out manfully; and there seemed some danger that between his uneasiness and his obstinacy he would grow seriously ill. Besides, Christmas was fast approaching, and the girls wanted to dance the New Year in and the Old Year out, at their own house in Mecklenburgh Square. What was to be done with the banker to make him strike his colors, desert his ship and own himself soundly beaten?

It was Rose who formed a fresh plan, which she thought might be successful. She proposed it that evening when the conspirators met, as usual in the turret chamber, to hatch new plots against the peace of the master of the house. But at first, Mrs. Cowley had somewhat to say.

"I'm afraid we shall have to give it up as a bad job," she remarked, shaking her head dolefully.

"Why, mamma?" asked Catharine. "Your father will never own he is afraid, my dear; and I can see that we are killing him by inches. He is getting so thin; and, really, he does not eat enough to keep a sparrow alive. If we should worry him into a fever or a consumption, I should never forgive myself."

"No fear of that, aunt, while his obstinacy lasts," replied her nephew, cheerfully. "But I wish to goodness he would get frightened and give us a chance of seeing a little more of this round world than we can expect to see while we are cooped up here. For my part, I feel as if I was a kind of iron mask. You ought to make me a handsome present for undergoing this imprisonment, aunt."

"So I will, my dear, if it ever comes to an end."

"There's the worst of it."

"I wonder if he suspects," said Marjorie.

"My love, how should he?"

"True! If he was a woman, now, I should feel sure that he had discovered our secret. Being a man, I suppose there is not much fear."

"Well," said Rose, complacently, "I think I can set you all free."

"How?"

"By inventing a new ghost, which I shall patent."

They all laughed. "You see he cares little for the cradle now. In fact, I think we are all getting used to it. But if you will only do as I tell you—we will bring this old room into use—and take the letter and the lock of hair we found here, and scare him so he will be ready and willing to go out of the house the very next day."

Rose then entered into all the details of her plan, which was pronounced an excellent one by every body present. In obedience to her instructions, Catharine had a toothache and Mrs. Cowley a headache the next evening, which forbade them sitting up later than nine o'clock. Mrs. MacCarthy and Rose also retired at that early hour, to wait upon the invalids, and Mr. Cowley was left alone in his glory, without even a cat to bear him company. He did not object to the solitude, however. He mixed himself some more grog, smoked one or two cheroots, and finally took up a book to keep himself awake. It was a volume of American tales, and this was the story which, by ill-luck, he happened to select:

"While I lay one night in the first dumbered visions of my illness, I heard those who watched beside me telling an old tale of a family long since extinct in our settlement."

"An old and wealthy man had won a fair young girl for his bride, and brought her from her native England to this distant country that he might separate her forever from an early love—a cousin to whom her hand had once been pledged and—so said the gossip—her heart always given."

"Gold is no less powerful in the mother country than this; and for its sake the father of the lovely Giverna took back his pledged word, and gave his daughter to a stern and moody man, who little knew how to value the prize he had gained."

"So for America he sailed and built a stately home for his pale bride, on the very place where our quiet little village now stands."

Nothing was spared that taste could dictate or lavish wealth supply. But luxury was not what the Lady Giverna desired while love was offered to her. Swiftly as they sailed across the bright blue sea, one followed close upon their track, and Reginald, the deserted lover, soon found his lady's fair retreat.

CHAPTER XII.

"Beautiful she was, but frail. And forgetting all womanly honor and duty she fled from her beautiful home, and from him who had given it to her. The injured husband discovered her treachery too late, for their horses' hoofs were spurning the pavements of the outer court before he left his room; and when he hurried down the stairs and to the hall door, an iron glove lay there, defying him to the last. At this sight his strong heart gave way and the pitying servants bore him back to his room a raving maniac. For three long years they watched him—in the fourth he needed not their care, but was at rest. Of the lost lady, no tidings were ever received, and as years went by, and the old hall began to decay, some enterprising settlers tore it down, and from its ruins, Phoenix-like, sprang up our pretty village of brighter days."

"This, or something akin to it, was the tale I heard, and in all my feverish visions after that night, the English Lady bore a conspicuous part. They tell me that I called for her incessantly; that I fancied myself, now the successful lover, now the forsaken husband; and could only be pacified by the assurance of her speedy return."

"Be this as it may, I can remember well how often I saw her standing by my bed, an airy, impalpable shape, of which I could not possibly discover a single feature; but all seemed a glittering array of misty loveliness. And when, in a voice that I could understand (though on the duller ears of my attendants it fell like the whispers of the evening wind) she bade me seek her at the Hall, how could I disobey? I only watched my opportunity and counterfeited sleep one hot summer afternoon saw them all leave the rooms with noiseless steps, and I knew that I was free."

"The glass door at the lower end of my apartment led into the garden. From that, the lonely road led over the hill, and to the site of the Hall was easily gained. I drew my dressing gown around me, thrust my feet into a pair of embroidered slippers and passed out."

"Oh, the glad thrill that shot through my veins at the first free breath of the summer air! Oh, the delight with which my parched lips quaffed the clear water in the fountain by the arbor! I spilled it over me in my feverish haste! I threw it over my hot face, and over my closely shorn head! Then unfastening the little wooden gate I ran swiftly, longing, but not daring, to shout aloud in my joy, till the hill road was gained."

"I climbed the hills and descended the valleys—I waded through the morass, not without a sickening fear when I saw the brown and black water snakes glide lovingly in pairs around me."

"At length I stood upon the brow of the last hill and saw what I had not before discovered—that a precipice lay at my feet, jagged and rough enough, it is true, to admit of a careful descent, but still a fearful thing to look at and attempt. Other way, however, there was none; and holding my breath and uttering an inward prayer to God, I began to descend. Slowly ten feet of the bottom. I looked back at the height I had descended, and with a gay laugh grasped at a bough which grew near, and swung myself from the rock on which I stood."

"But I was prematurely excited. The shrub to which I had entrusted my life and safety, though seemingly strong, was in reality decayed, and but slightly rooted. I felt it grinding up from the ground, and knew that in another moment I should fall below. I clutched frantically with my free hand. I shrieked aloud in my frenzy and despair when I found I could not hold my precarious footing. I looked beneath me at the rocky bed of the brook and thought how soon I should lie upon it, stunned and motionless; it might be dead! The shrub broke in my hand—I was gone!"

"But at that moment of my fall, terror gave me strength, and with a tremendous muscular effort I threw my body out from the bank in a frantic leap for life."

"My presence of mind probably saved me; for in the place of falling directly below and upon the rocks, the impetus of my leap sent me far out into the stream, where a bed of soft sand received me, and the cool water, too shallow to engulf, rippled around me in separate streams."

"How long I lay there I cannot tell; but when at last I unclosed my eyes and looked up at the calm, blue sky; that seemed to bend close above me, the hot sun, though veiled behind a pavilion of fleecy clouds, dazzled my eyes and burned my cheek."

SNAKE SAVES MISSIONARY.

Crawls Over His Feet, and Hostile Indians Run Away

Among the earlier colonists in New England was one, a most devout man, a preacher, whose zeal soon led him to go as a missionary among the red men of the forest. Although the Indians lived all about the little settlements of the whites, this man decided to go far into the wilderness and to live entirely among the rude people, to whom he wished to preach the gospel. So he took his tent and set it up at a place many miles from the nearest white man's town. He learned the Indian language and every day preached to the unlettered sons of the forest. At length the Indians became alarmed at the encroachments of the whites and decided to rise and massacre them. The lone missionary could hardly hope to escape. One night several Indians, with their tomahawks, started forth to kill him. They crept silently up to the tent and peeped in. There sat the good man, pouring over his Bible by the light of a flaming pine knot. The Indians raised their tomahawks to strike him, when their arms fell helpless to their sides. A huge snake, feeling the warmth of the fire that glowed near the missionary, glided out of his hole, crawled harmlessly over the missionary's feet and disappeared. The Indians turned and fled, feeling sure that they had witnessed a miracle. The Great Spirit, they said, was the friend of the good man and had preserved his life from the fury of the poisonous reptile. In the bloody war that followed the uprising of the red men the good missionary was left unharmed, no Indian daring to touch him. This story, said to be true, was told for many years afterward by the colonists of New England.—Chicago Record-Herald.

SPRING CATARRH MAKES PEOPLE WEAK AND NERVOUS

MISS ANNA BRYAN OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

Miss Anna Bryan, a favorite cousin of William Jennings Bryan, is well known socially in Washington, D. C., where she has a host of friends. Miss Bryan recently studied music at Fairmount Seminary, of Washington, D. C. In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, she says:

1459 Florida Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

Gentlemen—At the solicitation of a friend I began some weeks ago to take your Peruna and I now feel like a new person. I take pleasure in recommending it to all who want a good tonic and a permanent cure for catarrh."—Anna Bryan.

MRS. BERTHA KOCKLER, 177

Gulnett street, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"Peruna and Manalin have done me very great service, and I recommend them with pleasure to all who suffer with nervous catarrh of the stomach as I did. Should such a disease ever attack me again I shall immediately take Peruna. I now feel very well and have a good appetite all the time. I have gained in weight. I recommended Peruna to an acquaintance of ours and he is making remarkable progress. I looked so badly for a time before I began your medicine, that now when I meet some of my friends they say: 'I was very much worried about you, but now you are looking so well.' I shall always keep Peruna and Manalin in the house as 'family medicines'."

—Mrs. Bertha Kockler.

Thousands of Fair Women Never Without Peruna, The National Catarrh Remedy.

Miss Marie Coats, President of the Appleton Young Ladies' Club, writes the following concerning Peruna:

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

Gentlemen— "I find Peruna an excellent spring and summer medicine and am glad to call the attention of my friends to it. When that languid, tired feeling comes over you, and your food no longer tastes good, and small annoyances irritate you, Peruna will make you feel like another person inside of a week. I have used it for three seasons and find it very reliable and efficacious."

—Mrs. Marie Coats.

Mrs. Al. Wetzel, 21 South 17th street, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Peruna is the greatest medicine on earth. I feel well and that tired feeling is all gone. When I began to take your medicine I could not smell, hear a church bell ring. Now I smell and hear. When I began treatment my head was terrible, sorts of buzzing, chirping and noises. Three months ago I dragged around like a snail; now I can walk briskly as ever. I am going to go and see the doctor that said I was not fit for this world, and tell him that Peruna cured me."

If all the tired women and all the nervous women, and all the women that needed a tonic would read and heed the words of these three ladies who have spoken right to the point, how many invalids would be prevented and how many wretched lives be made happy.

Peruna restores health in a normal way.

Peruna puts right all the mucous membranes of the body, and in this way restores the functions of every organ.

If it is the stomach that is out of order, and the digestion impaired, Peruna quickly makes things right by restoring the mucous membrane of the stomach.

If the nerves tingle, if the brain is tired, if the strength is flagging and the circulation of blood weakened by flabby mucous membranes of the digestive organs, Peruna reaches the spot at once by giving to these membranes the vitality and activity which belongs to them.

The pelvic organs are also lined with mucous membrane which in the female sex is especially liable to derangements. Peruna is an absolute specific in these cases. The women everywhere are praising it. No other remedy has ever received such unqualified praise from such a multitude of women.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you valuable advice gratis.

MAM-M-MA!! DON'T YOU HEAR BABY CRY? Do you forget that summer's coming with all its dangers to the little ones—all troubles bred in the bowels.

The summer's heat kills babies and little children because their little insides are not in good, clean, strong condition.

Winter has filled the system with bile. Belching, vomiting up of sour food, rash, flushed skin, colic, restlessness, diarrhoea, or constipation, all testify that the bowels are out of order.

If you want the little ones to face the coming dangers without anxious fear for their lives, see that the baby's bowels are gently, soothingly, but positively cleaned out in the spring time, and made strong and healthy before hot weather sets in.

The only safe laxative for children, pleasant to take (they ask for more) is CASCARETS. Nursing mothers make their milk mildly purgative for the baby by eating a CASCARET now and then. Mama eats a CASCARET, baby gets the benefit, all irregularities of the little and big children's insides are

"Don't Speak to me."

All manner of extravagant expressions are possible when a woman's nerves are overwrought. The spasm at the top of the wind pipe or bronchial tubes, "ball rising in the throat," violent beating of the heart, laughing and crying by turns, muscular spasms (throwing the arms about), frightened by the most insignificant occurrences—are all symptoms of a hysterical condition and serious derangement of the female organs.

Any female complaint may produce hysterics, which must be regarded as a symptom only. The cause, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which acts at once upon the organ afflicted and the nerve centers, dispelling effectually all those distressing symptoms.

Mrs. Lewis Says: "I Feel Like a New Person, Physically and Mentally."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For years I had ovarian trouble and suffered everything from nervousness, severe headache, and pain in back and abdomen. I had consulted different physicians, but decided to try your medicine. And I soon found it was giving me much relief. I continued it and now am feeling like a new person, physically and mentally, and am glad to add one more testimonial to the value of your remedy."—Mrs. M. H. LEWIS, 3108 Valentine Ave., Tremont, New York, N. Y.

Writing to Mrs. Pinkham is the quickest and surest way to get the right advice about all female troubles. Her address is Lynn, Mass. She advises women free. Following is an instance:

Mrs. Haven's First Letter to Mrs. Pinkham.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I would like your advice in regard to my troubles. I suffer every month at time of menstruation, and flow so much and for so long that I become very weak, also get very dizzy. I am troubled with a discharge before and after menses, have pains in ovaries so bad sometimes that I can hardly get around, have sore feeling in lower part of bowels, pain in back, bearing-down feeling, a desire to pass urine frequently, with pain in passing it; have leucorrhoea, headache, fainting spells, and sometimes have hysteria. My blood is not in good condition. Hoping to hear from you, I am, Mrs. EMMA HAVEN, 2308 South Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa. (June 4, 1892.)

Mrs. Haven's Second Letter.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my gratitude for what your medicine has done for me. I suffered for four years with womb trouble. Every month I flowed very badly. I got so bad that I could hardly do my work. Was obliged to sit or lie down the most of the time. I doctored for a long time, but obtained no relief. I began using your remedies—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier, Sanative Wash and Liver Pills—and now feel like a new woman."—Mrs. EMMA HAVEN, 2308 South Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa. (Feb. 1, 1900.)

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

Gov. Ellis on the 28th braved the ire of the Wayne delegation by vetoing Rep. Martindale's bill increasing the compensation of election inspectors, clerks and gatekeepers in Springwells. The compensation of these officials is fixed by a general law, except where there is a special charter provision, so Martindale had the salaries for Springwells raised to the schedule paid in Detroit. In his message the governor stated that this was carrying local legislation too far, and expressed the opinion that as a general proposition local measures should have no standing where general laws can apply. He intimated that the passage of this act would be in the nature of a precedent for other townships to try the same thing, and pointed out that if there was any necessity for increasing the salaries of election officials it would be better to have the matter looked into and the general law amended. The governor also vetoed the bill amending the act relative to steam engines or vehicles which are operated upon the highways. When first introduced the measure provided that such vehicles should carry red rights and planks, and come to a full stop when passing any team. It included steam automobiles, and even as passed these luxuries were not specifically exempted, which is the real reason for the chief executive making use of his veto power.

The house passed the following bills on the 26th: Changing time for electing members of the school board in Bay City from July to August; disorganizing fractional school district in the township of St. Charles and attaching same to Cheesing, Saginaw county; repealing sections 5 and 6 of the act creating the 37th judicial circuit relative to the election of circuit judge, the time fixed in the act conflicting with the general law; creating voting district in the township of Rockland, Ontonagon county; appropriation for Eastern Michigan, $6,000, to improve the water supply; appropriation for Michigan Pioneer and Historical society, $4,000; to prevent impurities being mixed with black pepper.

Speaker Carlton has given up figuring on the date of final adjournment and now says that it will not be fixed until something is heard from the conference committee on the taxation bill. The latter meets on the 30th and will have all the week to agree or disagree.

As a result of a midnight fire at Houston, Tex., on the 28th one whole family consisting of father, mother and three children, were cremated. During the progress of the fire a little baby was born and its body was found in the arms of its mother.

James Callahan was declared not guilty on the 28th of any complicity in the kidnapping of Edward Cudahy, Jr., at Omaha, Neb. The judge in the case was sadly disappointed at the verdict and discharged the jury without the compliments of the court.

Mrs. John Meyers, the handsome young wife of one of the leading business men of Mishawaka, Ind., on the 27th drank carbolic acid, then sent four bullets into her left breast. All missed the heart, but shattered the ribs and passed through. She is still alive.

Henry George's Modesty.

Once, when an enthusiastic young chairman at a large meeting in Harlem, N. Y., was making an earnest and sincere but very flattering speech in introducing the late Henry George, the latter wriggled and writhed as though his character was being aspersed instead of praised. Unable to bear it longer, he suddenly leaned forward and poked the chairman in the back with a walking-stick he had found beside him. The chairman, in a flood of belittling eloquence, chopped off in the middle of a word, looked behind him, had a whispered conference with the philosopher, turned back to the audience, and said, quietly: "Mr. George don't want me to get the rest of that off," which tickled the assemblage into spasms of laughter.

Accidents Caused by Horses.

Statistics are at hand showing that in the first month of the last quarter in France horses caused 967 accidents, with 38 fatalities. The railways in the same length of time caused 145, of which eight were fatal. The automobile was the cause of 33, with two fatalities, and the bicycle was responsible for 119, with six deaths.

FROM DEATH'S DOOR.

Hillsdale, Ill., April 29th.—Much interest has been aroused here over the case of William Marks, who has been in a dying condition for several months with an apparently incurable Kidney Disease.

The leading physicians of this place had pronounced his case a hopeless one, and others from Port Byron, Geneseo, and Davenport, Ia., had attended him, and in a consultation decided that he could not live.

In desperation, his nephew inquired of Mr. L. F. Giles, a local druggist, as to a last resort. Mr. Giles suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which had just been introduced here.

The results were marvelous. Mr. Marks immediately began to improve, and within a few weeks was able to be up and about, completely cured.

His cure is the talk of the neighborhood, and is considered nothing short of a miracle.

There appears to be no doubt that this new remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills, will cure any case of Kidney Disease, for the more malignant forms, such as Bright's Disease, Diabetes, and Dropsy, yield readily to its remarkable influence. These forms of Chronic Kidney Disease have hitherto been considered incurable, and have baffled all medical skill, and yet, this new remedy has cured every single case in which it has been used, in this neighborhood. The doctors themselves are amazed at the wonderful work Dodd's Kidney Pills are accomplishing in Rock Island County.

Good never fails to him who never fails to seek it.

Sigridur Jonsdottir, Kirmastodum, Reykholasveit, Barastrandarsyslu, Iceland, Europe.

This is the address given in an order for Dodd's Kidney Pills received and filled by the Dodd's Medicine Company of Buffalo, on April 18th. This unique direction means that to reach the sick people of Iceland, the parcel must travel to New York, then to London, Eng., then northwest to Greenland, to be landed finally, on the lonely island at the edge of the Arctic Circle. This is a pointed illustration of how United States goods find their way to the remotest corners of the earth. America today, produces better medicines, as well as better manufactured articles than any other country in the world, and this fact accounts for the demand for Dodd's Kidney Pills from every part of the known universe.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

RULES FOR A SICK ROOM.

That garrulous friends should be out of sight.

That a rubber ice bag is as useful as a hot water bag.

That everything about the room should be scrupulously clean.

That medicine bottles should be kept treated in the same wise fashion.

That it sometimes is safer to humor sick people than to argue with them.

That rapid recovery from illness often depends more upon nourishing food than upon medicine.

That sweet smelling flowers should never be permitted in a room where there is a very sick person.

That both light and ventilation can be regulated by placing a tall screen between the bed and the window.

People expect much from Garfield Tea and they are never disappointed; it purifies the blood and cures stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders.

SAYS GARLIC IS A REMEDY.
An Italian Physician Claims to Have Discovered in It a Cure for Consumption.

If Dr. Giulio Cavazzani, an Italian physician, is to be believed, garlic is a specific for tuberculosis, although many would prefer to keep the disease rather than to take the remedy. The doctor has been experimenting in the hospitals of Venice and is convinced that garlic is a most valuable therapeutic agent in the cases of phthisis.
It has long been known to sailors who have traded to the malarial coasts of West Africa that garlic, used in liberal quantities, was a preventive of coast fever. Garlic is a most powerful agent for the cleansing of the alimentary canal, which may account for some of its medicinal virtues. Dr. Cavazzani gave to his patients garlic cut into small pieces and dried. He had to administer it in fractional doses in order to combat the distaste which most of the patients had for the vegetable. He treated over 200 patients, giving to them in addition to the garlic the ordinary symptomatic treatment.

He affirms that an improvement took place in all cases and was especially marked in those which were in their first stages. The bacilli gradually grew less until they finally disappeared, the cough lessened and the local physical signs began to disappear.
There was a marked improvement in appetite and general condition. It is a little early yet to pronounce upon the doctor's discovery, but he has every faith in it, and it is attracting the attention of the profession.

FAMILY NAME IS WETTIN.
Plain Cognomen of New Ruler of the British Empire, King Edward the Seventh.

What is the family name of the new king of England? It is always hard to differentiate this name from among the personal or hereditary accumulations of titles which grouped themselves around the baptismal name affected by royalty.

But the same principle which declares William of Germany to be a Hohenzollern and Francis Joseph of Austria to be a Hapsburg would make the late Queen Victoria a Guelph by birth, and her husband, the prince consort, a Wettin. If a royal wife takes her husband's name and a royal son his father's, then Edward VII. is a Wettin.
Prince Albert, his father, was a prince of the ruling house of Saxo-Coburg, one of the most ancient and illustrious of the sovereign families of Europe, says the Baltimore Sun. Originally counts of Wettin, the heads of this family, became by inheritance and by marriage margraves of Meissen, land-graves of Thuringia and electors of Saxony.

It was through the misfortunes of Albert's ancestor, John Frederick the Magnanimous, that the direct line which he represented was shorn of the sovereignty of Saxony and other titular glories, which Emperor Charles V. transferred to John Frederick's cousin, Duke Maurice of Meissen.

HARD AS A MUMMY.
An Embalmed Body in the State of Washington That Is Becoming Mummified.

The remains of Henry C. Hendrickson, who died at Ballard, Wash., May 31, 1900, of kidney trouble, were buried in Mount Pleasant cemetery after private services, says the San Francisco Call. The delay in the burial was due to indecision as to whether the interment should take place in Seattle or Michigan and a further delay connected with the collection of insurance money.

The case is remarkable from the fact that the body was in an absolutely perfect state of preservation.
The only change in appearance from that immediately following death was a slightly darker tint of the flesh, which hardened like stone. Another peculiar feature was that the body lost weight, but did not fall away.

After death the regular embalming process was gone through and for about two weeks no special work was done, as it was thought that the interment would soon take place, services having already been held. At the end of 90 days it was discovered that the body was becoming mummified. Now it is found that the mummification process was complete.

It may be that the body will turn completely to stone, in which case the remains will present a remarkable condition.

Expensive Furniture.
Indian bureaus are very expensive;
at least, Uncle Sam finds it so, judging from the recent report that comes from his cabinet. The wards of the nation are apparently not neglected, and, though their tribe is growing less, the expenditure of money for their benefit does not decrease rapidly. In ten years the little Indians have decreased as they do in the Mother Goose verse, and have dropped from 32,000 to 21,500, while the annual school appropriation has increased from $1,700,000 to $3,000,- 000. Out of an Indian population of a little less than 250,000 about 100,000 are self-supporting, and under their own independent individual management spend less annually on their support than the Indian bureau spends on their brothers who are yet wards of the nation, for these government supported ones cost about $600 each a year, or more than $9,000,000 in all per annum.

Professional Cat Feeders.
Three hundred persons in London earn a living—and several of them are growing rich—by providing meals for the cats of the metropolis, which they deliver regularly once, twice and thrice a day, as may suit the owners of feline pets.

IMPERSONAL COMMENTS.

A man is generally at his heaviest in his fortieth year.

When reading a man usually gets through 400 words a minute.

It is one of the risks of a soldier's career that, while in time of peace his profession is the healthiest of all, when war comes it is transformed at once into the deadliest of all callings.

A lady New York tramp goes around the streets with a puffed jaw, begging for five cents to make up the quarter necessary to have his aching tooth pulled. He never has it pulled, however, for at night he removes a wad of cotton from his mouth, the swelling subsides, and he contentedly goes home to enjoy the money he has coaxed from the charitable.

The fitness of a Liverpool clergyman caused a substitute to appear in his pulpit on a recent Sunday, and he preached an excellent sermon. On the following Sabbath, as the pastor still continued ill, another substitute appeared, and he preached the very same sermon as his predecessor! Investigation disclosed the fact that both of the clergymen were generous patrons of a bureau which supplied sermons to lazy or incompetent di-vines.

one thousand nine hundred and one.
Present, W. L. WATKINS, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of LORIN L. GLOVER deceased.
On reading and filing the petition duly verified by John Edward Stager, praying that administration of said estate may be granted to himself or some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Tuesday, the 24th day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Court, in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further ordered, that said petition be published in the Chelsea Standard a newspaper printed and circulated in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by John Braun of the Village of Manchester, county of Washtenaw and state of Michigan to Franklin Spafford of the same place, dated the 29th day of April, A. D.
1897, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Washtenaw and state of Michigan on the first day of May, A. D. 1897, in Liber 88 of Mortgages, on page 316, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand, three hundred and five dollars, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five dollars as covenanted in said mortgage and as provided by law, and no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and two installments of interest having become due and payable according to the terms of said mortgage and having so remained due and unpaid for a period of more than sixty days thereafter, the mortgagee has exercised his option in said mortgage contained and has declared the whole amount of the sum so secured by said mortgage, both principal and interest, due and payable prior to the date of this notice.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the eleventh day of June, A. D. 1901, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, I shall sell at Public Auction to the highest bidder, at the south front door of the Court House, in the City of Ann Arbor, Michigan, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said county of Washtenaw is held), the premises described in said mortgage or so much or such parts thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with six per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with an attorney's fee as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit: All those certain pieces and parcels of land situated and being in the township and village of Manchester, in the county of Washtenaw and state of Michigan, and described as follows, viz:
Being a part of lot number one in block number three in said village of Manchester, according to the recorded plat thereof and bounded as follows: Commencing at a point in the east line of said lot number one at a point seventy-three feet northerly from the southeast corner thereof and running thence westerly along the southerly line of lands formerly owned by Michael Dealy and parallel with line of lots forty-five and one-half feet (45½) to lands formerly owned by one Edward A. Graham; thence southerly parallel with the east line of said lot, twenty-six and two-thirds feet to lands owned by William F. Rehfuess; thence easterly along the line of said William F.
Rehfuess land and parallel with the line lots, forty-five and one-half feet, to the east line of said lot; thence northerly along the east line of said lot twenty-six and two-thirds feet to the place of beginning.

Also all that part of the west half of the northeast quarter of section number eleven, in township four south, range three east, Michigan; excepting all parts and parcels of said land heretofore deeded from off the same, as fully described and set forth in a certain deed executed by John H. Miller to the said John Braun, on the 27th day of May, 1899, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for said county of Washtenaw, in Liber 115 of deeds, on page 528, hereby conveying in the last described parcel of land sixty-six and one-half acres, more or less; Excepting and reserving from this notice and sale the south fifty acres of the last described parcel of land, deeded subsequent to the execution of this mortgage by the said John Braun to one Edward Braun and duly released by the mortgagee mentioned herein from the lien of said mortgage.
