CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1901.

DECORATION DAY.

It Will be Fittingly Observed as Usual in Chelsen This Year,

The first Decoration Day of the new century will be Thursday, May 30th, and will be observed here in a fitting manner. It is forty years since the first gun was fired at Sumpter, and the civil war was inaugu rated, during which blood flowed as freely as water. More than 95,000 men were killed in action or died of wounds; about 300,000 from disease or accident; making a total loss of more than 395,000 men, not including those who are living on to this day suffering from wounds or exposure on the field or in prison pens.

Services will be held at the town hall Fhursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. F. A. Sulles delivering the address. The general public is requested to bring flowers to the town hall during the forenoon of that day in order that time may be had for arranging them.

On Sunday, May 26th, the annual memorial sermon will be preached in the M. E. church, by Rev. J. I. Nickerson, at 10:30 a.m. All members of R. P. Carpenter Post, No. 41, G. A. R., are requested to meet at G. A. R. Hall at 10 o'clock on that day, preparatory to marching to the church.

MICHIGAN STREAMS.

Characterized as the Best in the World

Michigan disciples of Isaac Walton should be happy, for, according to F. B. Dickerson, president of the state board of fish commissioners, they have fishing advantages that are not equaled anywhere. There are trout streams and bass pools galore throughout the state, and the government is doing its share to keep the Dell, the veterioarian, was called for late Sunday night. He found the cow dellrious, trying to climb up into her manger. The doctor was convinced the trouble was caused by something the cow had eaten, either a plant or something else. The cows have been taken out of pasture and so

According to a recent regulation. pupils in the schools of Saxony will hereafter be required to commit to memory 29: Biblical verses and 193 verses of hymns in addition to the catechism.

An Ohio speculator fainted when he saw that stocks in which he was interested were going down, and when he came to he found that he was many thousands of dollars richer than when he lost consciousness. Yet a few years from now he will tell his grandchildren that he made his money by economy, industry, and the exercise of his superior ability.

Exercise cannot with impunity be neglected, and should be taken regularly and in moderation. Most women would be all the better for walking four or five miles each day, and, were they to do so, instead of depending so much on street cars, good complexions and trim figures would be far more common than they are among those who are no longer in their first youth.

The origin of the tiger as an emblem of Tammany is said by W. C. Montanye, a coffee and spice dealer, in New York, to date from the time when William M. Tweed, then foreman of "Big Six" fire company, took a fancy to a picture of a royal Bengal tiger in the elder Montayne's store in the '50's. Tweed adopted the emblem for the American club, and it soon was accepted by all Tammany.

A bill in the New York legislature proposes to give electric railway companies the same rights of condemna tion as steam railways, with a view to promoting general competition with existing roads. The propriety of putting electric roads under regulations similar to those placed upon the steam roads with which they are expected to compete has taken form in some of the legislatures, and the Michigan house has passed a bill requiring owners and managers of interurban electric lines to equip their cars with lavatories, drinking water, axes, fire shovels and other appliances, the same as are required on steam railroad cars.

Attempted Assault Responsible She Says

Michigan Boy Murdered at the Capital. James S. Ayers, aged 21, of Port in the census office at Washington, was found dead in his room in the Kenmore hotel, near the capitol, on the morning of the 15th. A revolver containing three empty chambers was found near the body. The contents of minutes. the cartridges were later found in the dead man's body. One entered his left leg, another his left arm and the third one penetrated his breast in the region of his heart. The murder theory is now being advanced, and it is alleged there was a woman in the case. Later-The mystery which has attended the murder of young Ayers was solved on the 20th by a voluntary confession of Mrs. Lulu I. Bonnie, a married woman and a guest at the hotel. She says that the three shots which ended Ayers' life had been fired in a struggle between herself and Avers. She also declared that he had mide an improper proposal to her and threatened her, and a scuffle ensued in which Ayers was shot.

Not a Death From Smallpox in April. The monthly bulletin of vital statistics, issued by the secretary of state on the 13th, shows that notwithstanding the large number of cases of smallpox in Michigan not one death occurred during the month. There were 2,999 deaths reported, equivalent to a death rate of 15.3 per 1,000 population. This number is 489 less than the number reported for the preceeding month, and 47 less than the number reported in April last year. There were 497 deaths of infants under 1 year of age, 175 deaths of children aged 1 to 4 years inclusive, and 884 deaths of persons aged 65 years and over. Important causes of death were as follows: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 207; other forms of tuberculosis, 34; typhoid fever, 32; diphtheria and croup, 42; scarlet fever, 17; measles, 5; whooping cough. 15; pneumonia, 361; influenza, 142; cancer, 101; accidents and violence, 132. The principal decline during the month was shown in the death rate from pneumonia and influenza, which were considerably less than those reported for March. Scarlet fever and typhoid fever also showed a slight decrease.

Weather Crop Bulletin. The U. S. weather crop bulletin isand sounder, between which a disk is sued by Director Schneider, of Lanmounted, formed on its periphery with sing, on the 14th says that ample opportune and very beneficial showers have occurred in nearly all counties of the state; their eff oct on all vegetation has been wonderful. Wheat, rye, meadows and pastures have generally been greatly improved. Oats have germinated rapidly and are now in a promising condition; barley and peas are above ground and look healthy. Pasturage is quite generally furni hing fodder and early potato seeding is germinating nicely. Winter wheat, although uneven, has made its best growth of the season during the past week. The frequent showers have, however, delayed field work; corn planting is advancing slowly and sugar beet seeding, in some counties, was almost stopped. Plowing for corn, Reports to the state hoard of health, by representative physicians in active general practice, in different parts of the state, indicate that rheumatism, neuralgia, bronchitis, influenza and tonsillitis, in the order named, caused the most sickness in Michigan during the week ending May 11. Cerebrospinal moningitis was reported present at 7 places; whooping cough, 18; diphtheria, 25; typhoid fever, 27; measles, 35; scarlet fever, 70; smallpox, 103 and consumption at 199.

The following bills were passed by the house on the Alh: Appropriating $40,000 for an additional state normal $40,000 for an additional state normal school; appropriating 5,000 acres of state tax lands in the township of Whitney, Aronau county, and in the township of Sherman, Iosco county, for the purpose of clearing out the channel of the An Gres river; provid-ing that in cases before the state cross-ing boards the expanses and per diem compensation of the cierk shall be paid by the railroad applying for said hearing; providing for the registration of grange librarles; providing for the licensing and regulation of itinerant peddlers; to organizathe township of Harsen; providing that teachers must deposit their certificates in the county where they teach; making it a misdemeanor for messenger boys to divulge information entrusted to them; providing for the acceptance and collection of bequests to the state of Michigan; exempting salt manufactured by the Williams & Alberger process from inspection; compelling township treasurers to have their stub tax receipts compared with those of the county treasurer; to prevent the employment of women or children on emery wheels or buffers, and placing such establishments under the control of the labor commissioner; amending act incorporating Ancient Order of United Workmen, so as to provide that dependents as well as blood relative can share in the beneficiary fund; amending law relative to fraternal beneficiary fund; amending law relative to fraternal beneficiary societies so as to define specifically that such organizations must have a lodge system and a representative form of government; senatorial re-apportionment bill; representative re-apportionment bill; congressional re-apportionment bill.

The senate finally disposed of the garnishee bill on the 14th by passing Senator Cannon tried to have the $4 exemption granted single persons stricken out, but this failed, and the bill was agreed to. When it came up on third reading Senator High rose to a question of personal privilege, and in any money in connection with the measure last session. He also stated that he was satisfied that Cozzens had Minden City is being agitated by the not made the remark attributed to him to the effect that money had to be raised to grease the legislature. High read a statement showing what money Cozzens had roised, and what he had done with it, and he concluded by urging the passage of the bill. It will now have to go back to the house for concurrence in the $1 exemption.

The senate passed the following bills on the 14th: To amend the charter of Battle Creek; to amend Grand Rapids charter; to amend Bay City charter; to organize the union school district of Mitchell township, Alcona county; to defend the legal qualifications for kindergarten, music and drawing teachers; to enable the faculty of the Agricultural college to appoint a secretary; dairy and fool commission bill; to license embalmers; garnishee bill; to amend the act relative to corporations for buying and selling real estate; to amend the law relative to quarantine nuisance and of ensive trades; to amend owning office buildings, etc. The Senate passed the following bills on the 15th: To amend Petoskev's charter; to enable Alpena to build and operate an electric lighting system; to rearrange school districts to validate special assessments for sewer purposes in Highland Park, Wayne county;' to protect fish in Saginaw river and tributaries; to revise Jackson's charter; to amend Alpena's charter; to regulate fishing in Oakland county; to secure greater comfort and safety for persons traveling on suburban street railways; to allow life insurance companies to deposit in Michigan the bonds of Michigan corporations; to exempt mortgages from taxation. The conference committees on the railroad ad valorem taxation measure reached an agreement on the night of the 14th. The bill agreed upon provides for the taxation of railroads, union station and depot companies, express companies, car loaning, refrigerator and fast line companies. The corporations excluded from the bill are telephone, telegraph and sleeping car companies, and, if the agreement arrived at is upheld by both houses they will continue to pay a specific tax. The following bills were passed by the house on the 15th: Amending charter of Alpena; allowing use of bobs and tip-ups for fishing in waters of Oakland county; increasing salary of state librarian from $1,200 to $1,500 a year; authorizing state auditors to investigate claim of Ben Stresen Reuter, of Kalamazoo, who was injured by the explosion of a rifle at Island Lake: agricultural mill tax, $100,000 a year; authorizing state auditors to investi-gate the claim of Fred L. Wait, of Mason, who was injured while drilling at Island Lake; providing an additional salary of $1,800 a year each for the three members of the state board of feet deep and at places 300 feet wide, auditors, together with necessary traveling and hotel expenses. The date of final adjournment of the legislature is the all-absorbing question just now. The speaker says the house is in a fortunate position because of having all important measures out of the way, and that that body could adjourn at any time now and the state would lose nothing in the way of legislation. May 23 is morning, and seeing the old box lying probably about the date for final adjournment.

Non-Union Men Mobbed.

Under the escort of a platoon of nounted police and surrounded by a mob of 2,000 Albanians, 200 non-union men were taken at midnight to the Quail street car barns of the United Traction company, which is the main station of the Albany lines of the company. Stones were hurled at the nonunion men as they were taken to the barns. This is the company's first step toward operating its lines with nonunion men. It is reported that the non-union men hailed from Philadel-

Saldiers and Strikers Join in Combat. Soserious was the situation in Al bany, N. Y., on the 15th, on account of the street car strike, that Gov. Odell postponed a continuance of his tour to the state institutions, Notwithstanding the fact that plenty of soldiers were on hand to guard the company's property, not a car was in commission. Several clashes between the non-union men and soldiers against the union men occurred during the day. The following day, however, the United Traction company began preparations early in the morning to move its cars. One entire regiment of soldiers were stationed at the company's barn and several companies were stationed along the route. At a curve in the road a big crowd had gathered and the troops experienced considerable trouble in dispersing them. At first the troops were forced back, but were immediately ordered to "charge bayonets" and they started for the crowd. Just as they reached them there was a quick reverse of the guns and the butts smashed against the mob. With a howl the crowd started back, some with bloody faces and some with broken bones. The mob was not allowed to stop until it had been driven three blocks. This accomplished details began the work of closing up the saloons. Cars were run at irregular intervals during the day, but were not patronized very liberally.

The Strikers Win Out,

The strike at Albany was settled on the 18th, the men winning. All the scabs were sent back home and the Mexico, Darkness and Dawn, Burning regular men were given their old positions back. The 19th was the first day of active operations of all the railway lines, but owing to the heavy rainfall, the demonstration at the starting of the first car was not attended by as many people as had been anticip ted. However, pistols were fired, flags waved, torpedoes were placed on the track and exploded, the motormen and conductors wore flags on their coats and fully 200 men and women fought for the privilege of the first ride. The funeral of the two victims shot by the national guardsmen was held on the fternoon of the 19th. Explosion in a Mine Killed Six Men. Six miners lost their lives, five were fatally injured, and three were seriously burned in an explosion at the shaft of the George's Creek Coal & Iron Co., at Farmington, seven miles west of Fairmount, W. Va., on the 15th. The miners work at a level of 253 feet below the surface. Fifteen of them were assigned to a portion of the mine that has been worked for some time, and the remainder were put to work on headings quite a distance away. One of the men in the rooms, it is alleged, had smuggled a torch into the mines as it gives a much better light than the safety lamps prescribed by the company. This is the most serious explosion that ever occurred in the Fairmount coal region.

A FAMOUS OLD HOUSE The house of Walter Baker & anufactures of cocoa accolate have become familiar in the shed one hundred and twentyyears ago (1780) on the Neponset th in the old town of Dorchester, a sub of Boston. From the little woods mill, "by the rude bridge that arche the flood," where the enterprise w first started, there has grown up th largest industrial establishment of the kind in the world. It might be all that, while other manufacturers com and go, Walter Baker & Co., 50 on ton ever.

What is the secret of their great suc cess? It is a very simple one. The have won and held the confidence of the great and constantly increasing body of consumers by always maintaining the highest standard in the quality of their cocoa and chocolate preparations, and selling them at the lowest price for which unadulterated articles of good quality can be per upon the market. They welcome her. est competition; but they feel justified in denouncing in the strongest term the fraudulent methods by which is ferior preparations are palmed of customers who ask for and supp they are getting the genuine article The pest grocers refuse to handle me goods, not alone for the reason the in the long run, it doesn't pay to do it but because their sense of fair dealing will not permit them to aid in the st of goods that defraud their customer and injure honest manufacturers. Every package of the goods made by the Walter Baker Company bears the well-known trade mark "La Belle Chocolatiere," and their place of mana facture "Dorchester, Mass." House keepers are advised to examine the purchases, and make sure that other goods have not been substituted. An attractive little book of "Choin Recipes" will be mailed free to a housekeeper who sends her name and address to Walter Baker & Co., La 158 State Street, Boston, Mass.

is called, consists of a baseboard on which are secured an ordinary key teeth. A spring contact adjacent to the wheel engages the peripheral teeth of the disk. Although irregular, the arrangement of the teeth is arbitrary. For if the disk be rotated by means of a small crank shaft geared with the disk shaft, the spring contact is forced outwardly by the teeth, but drops back by its own elasticity and thus makes and breaks the circuit. The experienced telegraph operator detecting these makes and breaks at the sounder recognizes them as the dots and dashes of the Morse alphabet.

Omitting the cost of water and the products of the soda fountains, the American Grocer estimates that the national "drink bill" for beverages of all kinds amounted last year to more than twelve hundred and twentyeight million dollars. Alcoholic liguors account for more than a billion dollars; coffee, for one hundred and twenty-five millions; ten for thirtyseven millions, and cocoa for six mil-Statistics are given to show lions. that our consumption of alcohol is not increasing, and this, of course, is a thing to be that (ful for; but the serious fact remains, that for these beverages-some of which are unnecessary, and others distinctly harmful-there is squandered every year money enough | to take his picture whenever he deto provide the comforts of life for all who are in misery.

The old Scotchwoman who liked her minister because "he joombles the joodment an' confoonds the sense' would have appreciated a bit of British legislation which the premier seems to view with sardonic amusement. "In an act of Parliament," says Lord Salisbury, "which authorizes us to press forward technical instruction, it is distinctly said that technical instruction does not mean instruction in any art, or craft, or livelihood. Of course it is rather difficult under those circumstances to know what it does mean, but if you will go forward in the act of Parliament you will find that it means the cultivation of foreign languages." This is diverting indeed, but the humor of the thing does not limit its significance. Probably the British legislator did not know exactly what he did want. Assuredly he is not the first man who has found it hard to draw a clear distinction betwixt "you may, you must, you cannot, and you should.

New Garnishee Law.

The amount of wages of a workingman with a family to support that can be attached for debt is 20 per cent of what he earns each week. If he earns but $8 a week, the entire amount shall be exempt. No matter how much he earns, at least $8 a week shall be exempt. In no case shall more than $30 of a family man's weekly wages be exempt from a garnishee writ. If he is a single man with only himself to support, at least $4 a week shall be exempt from garnishee, but in no case shall more than $15 in one week be exempt. The prospects for a large fruit crop in the vicinity of Hesperia are flattering. Every big and and little tree and old scrub without pretensions is loaded with blossoms, and the season is so far advanced that it is not likely that any damage from frost will occur.

A good Stanton man was late home from prayer meeting the other evening and his angry spouse attacked him at the door with a stick of wood. An ugly gash in the head is the result. Then people wonder why there are more women in the churches than men. Members of the Tecumseh gun club are made of the right material. Two Onsted men have been in the habit of scooping up all the fish they could out of Wampler's lake with all kinds of nets. Members of the club saw it was only a question of time when there wouldn't be a fish left and informed Michigan's most efficient game warden, Grant Morse, who had them arrested. They were fined $20 each and costs.

Smallpox Epidemie Among Indians.

Reports reaching the interior department show that smallpox is widespread among the Indians of the westerp reservations. A report on the 13th from the Cheyenne river Sioux agency in South Dakota says smallpox is prevalent throughout that reservation and that many deaths have occurred. Out of 22 persons guarantined near Pierre, S. D., there has been 1 death and 16 persons are affected. Smallpox is raging in the vicinity of the Yankton agency, S. D., among the white population. At some of the up-river agencies numerous deaths have occurred. At Yankton 10 extra policemen have been sworn in as an emergency measure.

"I guess there won't, either," reurned her sister Mrs. Kemp. "I mess Phebe Ann is too sick to think nuch about it." Her voice sounded ike Sarah's.

Lucy Kemp dropped her sewing for minute and turned her face toward the window. "It seems 'most too bad, lon't it?" she said, meditatively. When she's done so much every rear, and thought so much about it." "I don't know as I think it's too bad," said Mrs. Kemp. "Of course I'm orry Phebe Ann is sick, but when it omes to these flowers she's always overed Sylvester's grave with, Decration day, I guess there was a great eal of it for show. It would have eemed different if he had been in the ar, but I've thought a good many mes, when I've seen Sylvester's grave bending the branches over and breaking off full purple clusters.

"What you picking those lilacs for?" "I just thought I'd pick a few." "What for? I ain't going to have any in the house! They're too sweetthey're sickish!"

"I ain't going to bring them into the house," said Lucy. She let a branch fly back and went across the yard with a great bunch of lilacs in her hands. "I wonder what she's up to?" said her mother.

Lucy returned just before the procession passed. The cemetery was o little way beyond the house. Her mother and aunt; and a neighbor who had come in stood at the windows listening eagerly to the approaching music. Lucy joined them. The procesison filed slowly past: The Grand Army men, the village band, the ministers and local dignitaries, and the rear-guard of children with flowers. An accompanying crowd thronged the sidewalks.

"I've just been saying to Sarah that Phebe Ann won't have Sylvester's grave decked out much this year." said Mrs. Kemp. Her voice was pleasanter and more guarded than before. "I heard Phebe Ann was pretty low," said the neighbor.

Phebe Ann's husband went softly behind the nurse to the bedroom. Phebe Ann looked up at him and beckoned imperatively. He went close and bent over her. "What is it, Phebe Ann?" said he.

"Is it-Decoration day?" she whispered with difficulty, for she was growing very weak.

"Yes, 'tis, Phebe Ann," said her husband.

"Have you got-any flowers for-Sylvester's grave?"

"No, I ain't. I ain't thought of it, Phebe Ann, with your being so sick, and all."

"Go-get some!" she panted. Her motioning hand and her eager eyes

"What did he want to see you for?" asked Mrs. Kemp.

Lucy hesitated; a shamefaced look came over her face. "What did he want?" her mother 'asked, imperatively.

"He wanted to know who put some flowers on-Sylvester's grave." "Did you?" 161 "Yes'm."

"What did you put on?" "Some lilacs and-roses."

"You didn't pick those roses?"

"O, mother, the lilacs didn't seem quite enough! Aunt Phebe Ann has always done so much!" Lucy said. Her mother and her aunt looked at each other. "I shouldn't have thought you'd have picked those roses without saying anything about it," said her mother, but her voice was embarrassed rather than harsh. She went back to the kitchen and proceeded with her work of making biscuits for supper. The sewing was all finished. Lucy set the table. After supper they went out in the cemetery and strolled about looking at the flowers, in the soft, low light. "Who brought all that mess of buttercups and grass, I wonder?" said Sarah Cook, as they stood over Sylvester's grave.

"I guess it must have been Phebe Ann's husband-it looks just like a man," Mrs. Kemp replied. Lucy got down on her knees and straightened the buttercups into a bouquet. "I wonder if she'll live the night out," said Sarah Cook, soberly. "I've listened to near the bell toll every morning this week," said Mrs. Kemp. "I don't believe she can live much longer. I'd go up there tonight if I thought she wanted me to."

The next morning Mrs. Kemp, listening with her head thrust out of the window in the early sunlight, heard indeed the bell tolling for Phebe Ann. "She's gone," she told Sarah Cook and plants a battery at the end of the Lucy: and Lucy cried.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

AMUSEMENTS THE SUBJECT ON LAST SUNDAY.

Let the Young Men Now Arise and Play Before Us"-Second Samuel, Chapter II. Verse 14-sports at a Means to an End-The Home Life.

Copyright, 1901, by Louis Klopsch, N. T.) Washington, May 19 .- This discourse of Dr. Taimage is in accord with all innocent hilarities, while it reprehends amusements that belittle or deprave; text, II Samuel ii, 14, "Let the young men now arise and play before us."

There are two armies encamped by the pool of Gibeon. The time hangs heavily on their hands. One army proposes a game of sword fencing. Nothing could be more healthful and innocent. The other army accepts the challenge. Twelve men against 12 men, the sport open. But something went adversely. Perhaps one of the swordsmen got an unlucky clip or in some way had his ire aroused and that which opened in sportfulness ended in violence, each one taking his contestant by the hair and with the sword thrusting him in the side, so that that which opened in innocent fun ended in the massacre of all the 24 sportsmen. Was there ever a better illustration of what was true then and is true now-that that which is innocent may be made destructive?

What of a worldly nature is more important and strengthening and innocent than amusement, and yet what has counted more victims? I have no sympathy with a straightjacket religion. This is a very bright world to me, and I propose to do all I can to make it bright for others. I never could keep step to a dead march. A book years ago issued says that a Christian man has a right to some amusements. For instance, if he comes home at night weary from his work and, feeling the need of recreation, puts on his slippers and goes into his garret and walks lively round the floor several times there can be no harm in it. I believe the church of God made a great mistake in trying to suppress the sportfulness of youth and drive out from men their love of amusement. If God ever implanted anything in us, he implanted this desire. But instead of providing this demand of our nature the church of God has for the main part ignored it. As in a riot the mayor street and has it fired off, so that every or a life of romance and thrilling adventure, love that takes polson and shoots itself, moonlight adventures and hair-breadth escapes, you may depend upon it that you are in the sacrificed victim of unsanctified pleasure. Our recreations are intended to build us up and if they pull us down as to our moral as well as to our physical strength you may come to the conclusion that they are obnoxious.

Live Within Your Means.

Still further, those amusements are wrong which lead you into expenditure beyond your means. Money spent in recreation is not thrown away. It is all folly for us to come from a place of amusement feering that we have wasted our money and time. You may by it have made an investment worth more than the transaction that yielded you hundreds of thousands of dollars. But how many properties have been riddled by costly amusements.

The first time I ever saw the cityit was the city of Philadelphia-I was a mere lad. I stopped at a hotel, and I remember in the eventide one of these men plied me with his infernal art. He saw I was green. He wanted to show me the sights of the town. He painted the path of sin until it looked like emerald, but I was afraid of him. I shoved back from the basilisk-I made up my mind he was a basilisk. I remember how he wheeled his chair round in front of me and, with a concentered and diabolical effort attempted to destroy my soul, but there were good angels in the air that night. It was no good resolution on my part, but it was the all encompassing grace of a good God that delivered me. Beware, beware, O young man! "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof is death.

The table has been robbed to pay the club. The champagne has cheated the children's wardrobe. The carousing party hasburned up the boy's primer. The tablecloth of the corner saloon is in debt to the wife's faded dress. Excursions that[®]in a day make to "go shopping," large bets on horses, have their counterparts in uneducated money market and appall the church and that send drunkenness staggering acrosss the richly figured carpet of the mansion and dashing into the mirror with the whooping of bloated sons by." come home to break their old mother's heart.

Look Out for the Leakage.

Merchant, is there a disarrangement in your accounts? Is there a leakage in your money drawer? Did the cash ac-but laugh he would not have given no shoulders with which to lift and hands with which to work and brains with which to think. The amusements of life are merely the orchestra playing while the great tragedy of life plunges through its five acts-infancy, chi'dhood, manhood, old age and death. Then exit the last earthly opportunity. Enter the overwhelming realities of an eternal world!

I go further and say that all those imusements are wrong which lead into bad company. If you go to any place where you have to associate with the intemperate, with the unclean, with the abandoned, however well they may be dressed, in the name of God quit it. They will despoil your nature. They will undermine your moral character. They will drop you when you are destroyed. They will not give one cent to support your children when you are dead. They will weep not and tear at your burial.

The Final Scone.

I was summoned to ais deathbed. I hastened. I entered the room. I found him, to my surprise, lying in full everyday dress on the top of the couch. I put out my hand. He grasped it excitedly and said, "Sit down, Mr. Talmage, right therc." I sat down. He said: "Last night I saw my mother, who has been dead twenty years, and she sat just where you sit now. It was no dream. I was wide awake. There was no delusion in the matter. I saw her just as plainly as I see you. Wife, I wish you would take these strings off me. There are strings spun all around my body. I wish you would take them off me." I saw it was deliptum. "Oh," replied his wife, "my dear, there is nothing there." He went on and said; "Just where you sit, Mr. Talmage, my mother sat. She said to me, 'Henry, I do wish you would do better.' I got out of bed and put my arms around her and said: 'Mother, I want to do . better. I have been trying to do better. Won't you help me to do better? You used to help me.' No mistake about it, no delusion. I saw her-the cap and a tour around a whole month's wages the apron and the spectacles, just as ladies whose lifetime business it is she used to look twenty years ago. But I do wish you would take these strings away. They annoy me so! I can children, bankruptcles that shock the hardly talk. Won't you take them away?" I knelt down and prayed, conscious of the fact that he did not realiize what I was saying. I got up. I said: "Goodby. I hope you will be and drowning out the carol of music better scon. He said, "Goodby, good-

Phebe Ann's husband was her own ead husband's brother, but she never poke of him by his own name. "I wonder how much Phebe Ann's usband has got?" said Sarah Cook. "Well, I guess he's laid by a little mething. They must have, with no imily!"

"I can't go to the green-house!" he whispered agitatedly. "It's five miles away!"

"Land, get any kind of flowers!" said the nurse. "Get dandelions and buttercups, if you can't find anything else."

The old man took his hat down with a bewildered air and went slowly out of the yard. At the gate he paused and looked around. There were no flowers in the yard; there were several bushes, rose and phlox, but it was too early for them to blossom. Over at the left stretched a field, and that was waving with green and gold. Phebe Ann's husband went over into the field and began pulling the buttercups in great handfulls, and the grass with them. He had all he could carry when he left the field and went solemnly down the road.

Sylvester's grave was at the farther side of the cemetery. The old man. with his load of buttercups and grass. made his way to it. The soldiers graves were decorated with flags and flowers, but the people had gone. The cemetery was very still. When John Kemp reached Sylvester's grave, h, started and stared. There was a great bunch of lilacs on the grave and three charming, delicate pink roses in a vase.

"I wonder who put those flowers there!" he muttered. He laid the buttercups and grass down on the grave; then he stood still. It was over twenty years since the boy Sylvester had been laid there-a little soldier who had fought only his own pain. "I wonder who put those flowers there!" John Kemp muttered again.

He went out of the cemetery, but instead of turning down the road toward his own home, walked hesitatingly the other way toward the house of his sister-in-law-Thomas' wife, as he always spoke of her.

Lucy's face was at one open window, her Aunt Sarah Cook's at the other.

"Lucy!" called the old man, standing at the gate.

Lucy came out to him tremblingly. Sarah Cook ran to tell her sister; sho thought Phobe Ann must be dead. "Do you know who put those flowers there?" asked the old man in a husky volce.

"I did," said Lucy. Her face flushed. "I thought there wouldn't be anybody to see to it, now Aunt Phebe Ann is sick," she explained timidly.

Her uncle looked wistfully at her, his eyes full of tears. "Sylvester was a dreadful sufferer," he said. Lucy did not know what to say. She looked up at him, and her soft face seemed to take on distressed lines like t know what poor Thomas would The old man turned abruptly and "Phebe Ann is sinking,"

Fiad Out for Yourselves.

I project certain principles by which you may judge in regard to any amusement or recreation, finding out for yourself whether it is right or wrong. I remark, in the first place, that you can judge of the moral character of any amusement by its healthful result or by its baleful reaction. There are people who seem made up of hard facts. They are a combination of multiplication tables and statistics. If you show them an exquisite picture they will begin to discuss the pigments involved in the coloring. If you show them a beautiful rose they will submit it to a botanical analysis, which is only the post mortem examination of a flower. They have no rebound in their nature. They never do anything more than smile. There are no great tides of feeling surging up from the depths of their soul in biflow after billow of reverberating laughter. They seem as if nature had built them by contract and made a bungling job out of it. But, blessed be God, there are people in the world who have bright faces and whose life is a song, an anthem, a pean of victory. Even their troubles are like the vines that crawl up the side of a great tower on the top of which the sunlight sits and the soft airs of summer hold perpetual carnival. They are the people you like to have come to your house; they are the people I like to have come to my house. If you but touch the hem of their garments you are healed.

Now, it is these exhilarant and sympathetic and warm hearted people that [child." are most tempted to pernicious amnsements. In proportion as a ship is swift it wants a strong helmsman, in proportion as a horse is gay it wants a stout driver, and these people of exuberant nature will do well to look at the reaction of all their amusements. If an amusement sends you home at night nervous, so that you cannot sleep, and you rise up in the morning not because you are slept out, but beyawning, stupid, nauseated, and they count come out right last night? I will tell you. There is a young man in your store wandering off into bad amusements. The salary you give him may meet lawful expenditures, but not the sinful indulgences in which he has entered, and he takes by theft that which you do not give him in lawful salary.

How brightly the path of unrestrained amusement opens! The young man says: "Now I am off for a good time. Never mind economy. I'll get money somehow. What a fine road! tae whin, and over the turnpike! Come, boys, fill high your glasses. Drink! to toil and drudge. They do nothing." To these gay men life is a thrill and excitement. They stare at other people and in turn are stared at. The watch chain jingles. The cup foams. The cheeks flush. The cyes flash. The midnight hears their guffaw. They swagger. They jostle decent men off the sidewalk. They take the name of God in vain. They parody the hymn they learned at their mother's knee. and to all pictures of coming disaster they cry out, "Who cares!" and to the counsel of some Christian friend, Who are you?"

Passing along the street some night you hear a chick in a grogshop, the rattle of the watchman's club, the rush of the police. What is the matter now? Oh, this reckless young man has been killed in a grogshop fight. Carry him home to his father's house. Parents will come down and wash his wounds and close his eyes in death. They forgive him all he ever did, although he cannot in his silence ask it. The prodigal has got home at last. Mother will go to her little garden and get the sweetest flowers and twist them into a chaplet for the silent heart of the wayward boy and push back from the bloated brow the long locks that were once her pride. And the air will be rent with the agony. The great dramatist says, "How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless

Sports a Means to an End.

Your sports are merely means to an end. They are alleviations and helps. The arm of toll is the only arm strong enough to bring up the bucket out of the deep well of pleasure. Amusement is only the bower where business and philanthropy rest while on their way to stirring achievements. Amusements are merely the vines that grow about the anvil of toil and the blossoming of cause your duty drags you from your the hammers. Alas for the man who slumbers, you have been where you spends his life in laboriously doing ought not to have been. The memory of the past will make us quake nke Macbeth.

SLAVES' PASSPORT COIN.

Copper Pocket Pleces Used in Escaping from Bondage.

Mr. Charles L. Feller, 1646 East Pratt street, has in his possession a copper coin of the kind used by slaves as passports in their travels when running away from their owners during the anti-slavery agitation preceding the Civil War. The coin bears the date 1838, with "Liberty" in a laurel wreath on its face and on the reverse the kneeling figure of a slave woman and the inscription "Am I not a woman and a sister?" The condition of the coin is perfect and came into possession of Mr. Feller several years ago, who obtained it from an oyster dredger. The dredger found it with a lot of cther coins in the ruins made by the great flood at Johnstown. Mr. Feller has a large collection of coins, and attached no particular value to this piece antil a few days ago, when he read an account of a lot of these anti-slavery coins being dug up in the Middle West. Considerable interest was attached to the finding of them. According to the Boston Transcript, Mr. H. B. Thatcher of Bangor, Me., who is a noted coin collector, has one of the pieces of the same year as Mr. Feller's. Mr. Thatchor says he remembers that in his youth slaves went to his father's house at night and were taken in. His father would take them out of Bangor in his wagon and would carry them well on their way toward the Cana

Prof. Benjamin Cluff, who is in charge of the party, said: "We found a great the mounds which we excavated we found some well-built houses made of stone, well plastered and most of them having cement floors. The houses usually consisted of two to four rooms, though some of them were larger. The houses were always in groups or villages, never alone. The whole side of the mountain had evidently been under cultivation, and every ridge had a line of houses. In front at the side of each house we found a wall or terrace from one to six feet high, which had been leveled and used evidently as a garden spot. Down the hillsides and along ravines we found these terraces at regular intervals. They had apparently served as reservoirs for the valley below. In the houses we found crockery, stone implements and invariably charcoal. In a cave we found some scraps of excellent woolen cloth and also of flax or linen cloth. It is clear to us from our investigations that the cave dwellers and the mound dwellers were Murder at Connellsville, Pa.

Connelisville, Pa., was the scene of murder on the night of the 18th, when a mob broke into the jail with the intent purpose of lynching Wmse Fairfax, the negro murderer, and murdered Assistant Yardmaster Moore instead. To add to the night's excitement another shooting occurred which will result in murder. The victim was John Human and his assailant was Frank Jett, both colored. The latter two men, together with a woman, got into a quarrel during a drinking bout, and Human was shot in the abdomen. He cannot live.

MISS ROSE CULLEN, OF BUTTE, MONT

Miss Rose Cullen, President Young Woman's Club, of Butte, Mont writes from 921 Galena street, as fol lows:

"Peruna has many friends in Butte. I cannot say too much in praise of it. While finishing school I became very nervous and exhausted from over-study. I was weak and sick, and could neither eat, sleep nor enjoy life. A couple of bottles of Peruna past new life in me. I find that having it in the house and taking a dose off and on keeps me in fine health.

"A large number of my friends place Peruna at the head of all medicines."---Miss Rose Cullen.

How Peruna Quickly Cures Backache, the Bane of Womankind. M RS. G. W. HEARD, Hempstead, Texas, writes:

'We have moved recently, and I must have lifted something that was too heavy for me in straightening things up, for I had such a backache and could hardly stand on my feet at all. Beside. I was so tired all the time. My face was spotted and I was very thin. I took one bottle of Peruna and was soon real well. When I feel tired and all run down I take Peruna and feel all right before I finish one bottle. I know it is a wonderful medicine, and both myself and where we thought all they did was against her. She weighed about 190 pounds when she was in good health. When she commenced with our family physician in April, 1898, she weighed about 130, but kept going down all the time. She went to Atlanta, Ga., and took treatment, but it did her no good. Then she went to Harmony Grove, Ga, and took treatment from the best physician there for three months. She kept going down under his treatment, although he was considered the best physician in the county. She went down from 130 pounds to 68, and we saw she could not live long. She was a skeleton. We consulted an old ph sician who told her to use Peruna. She gradually improved and got stronger. She has gained 38 pounds since she has taken Peruna, and is gaining every day, and does her own housework. "She was well known when she was so low, and now everybody wants to know what cured her. She had indigestion and catarrh of the stomach. It is as good for children as for grown people. We haven't had to have a doctor for one of our children since 1898."-W. A. Mitchell. If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. "The wisest thing you could possibly do, under the circumstances."

"I see you don't half believe the story. But I swear I was not asleep. And that was not the end of it-for last night I saw another!"

"Ghost?"

"Yes, sir; and in this very room." His nephew looked incredulous.

"In this room, sir-a woman dressed in red, with a black mask. And she held a confounded lock of hair in her hand that I had seen before; and her face You are laughing again, you unfeeling wretch! I am quite ashamed of you!"

And the worthy gentleman trotted indignantly back to the drawing-room, and never spoke to his nephew again that evening-not even when he took his candle and bade them good-night.

CHAPTER XVI.

A day or two passed before Mr. Cowley and his nephew could put their valiant project into execution. Meanwhile the ladies found the house exceedingly dull. The two gentlemen were always closeted together. The weather was inclement; the box of books from Mudie's failed to come; and, to crown the whole, Christmas with those eyes-and they were brimwas fast approaching, and they knew well that they ought to be in town.

On the evening of the second day they were sitting together after tea, in Marjorie's little turret-room. Mr. Cowley and Charles were in the parlor, hatching some plot against the ghosts together, and Mrs. Cowley gave a tremendous yawn.

"So dull!" she exclaimed. "Rose, child, do read something."

"Very well, mamma; here is the new book papa brought the other night;" and the girl's eyes twinkled mischievously as she began:

"'Nonsense! let the eyes alone-he can see the better that we do everything right!' exclaimed the third. 'Are you all turning cowards over a dead body? Give me the sponge. Who begins?

"He sponged the blood away. I stood near, still looking at the face of the corpse. The sponge, by some strange chance, had been filled with ammonia instead of water. The operator flung it carelessly upon the board close to the face of the corpse. In an instant, as the subtle vapor found its way upward, I saw a quick shudder pass through the limbs. The operator started away in terror.

"'Good heaven! he is alive!' he exclaimed, in a low, hoarse tone.

"I bent over him. I bathed his pale face with water, and poured a cordial between his shut teeth. Life came back, but slowly and painfully.

"He was quiet in my arms for a few moments; then, with a desperate effort he lifted his head, and took in the whole scene at a glance. The lighted skull-the shining instruments, and the careless faces beyond-the love of life taught him what they all meant. He was too weak to speak; but he ful of horror and despair. "'You will live!' I whispered. 'Drink this-it will revive you.'

"I snatched a bottle from the shelf beside me, and held it to his lips. I thought it was a cordial-it was a deadly poison!

"He drank, and fell back-dead this time beyond all hope of revival. But, as he died, he gasped out, 'You have murdered me, and to the day of your own death I will haunt you!"" There was a long pause.

"Gentlemen," said Dr. Lee, solemnly, 'he has kept his word. Heaven is my witness that I would not have harmed him intentionally-but I killed him! and night after night he comes to me. ful eyes look into mine wherever I may go. AIR SHIP IS PROMISING.

Flying Machine Test in England Satisfactory to Inventors.

Mechanics have not yet despaired of constructing a ship that will navigate the air, but are constantly at work developing new ideas or improving upon old ones. A new type of such craft has been tried with some success at the Crystal palace, London, the design being the invention of Auguste Gaudron and Cecil Barth. The contrivance is rather an air ship than a flying machine proper, from the fact that it depends for its support upon a cigarshaped balloon seventeen feet in length by three feet in diameter, holding about 100 cubic feet of hydrogen. The ideal flying machine, of course, is to support itself by mechanical power apart from any balloon. Beneath the balloon in question are fixed platforms, certain of these containing a motor and fan to supply the propulsive power, the center platform being reversed for the aeronaut who there controls the steering gear. During the trial the Brooklyn. machine behaved very satisfactorily, ascending and descending at any given angle and answering readily to the rudder. On a windless day the inventors hope to attain a speed of thirty miles an hour and have in contemplation a machine to accommodate five people. The balloon of such an apparatus would have to be 100 feet long and thirty feet in diameter, and would require four motors, each of ten horse power. The balloon would be made groaned, and looked up in my face for safety's sake in compartments and would require 120,000 cubic feet of hydrogen to inflate it .- Chicago Chronicle.

Keep Your Children Busy.

Keen your children busy if you would have them happy. When the occupation is some daily labor which has been wisely allotted, see that it is accomplished as well as it is possible for the child to accomplish it under existing circumstances. But whether it be in work or play, let him understand that no matter how well he may have done today-and do not be chary of your praise-he has within himself that which will make it possible for "him to do still bettter tomorrow. This treatment, instead of discouraging, will encourage, by inciting the child toward even better work, and will early implant that spirit of divine discontent which allows of no absolute satisfaction in that which has been accomplished until the achievement reaches perfection. This is the discontent which Emerson preaches and which is holy if doubt is not allowed to creep in to mar the aspiration .--

The Onion's Virtues.

Onions are really sweeteners of the breath after the local effects have passed away, as they correct stomach disorders, and carry off the accumulated poisons of the system. They provide a blood purifier that all may freely use, and do perfect work in constipation troubles. As a vermifuge, the onion cannot be surpassed, and eaten raw will often check a violent cold in the head. One small onion eaten every night before retiring is a well-known doctor's prescription for numerous affections of the head, and is highly recommended for sleeplessness. It acts on the nerves in a soothing way, without the injurious effects of the drugs often applied. The heart of the onion heated and placed in the ear will re lieve the agony of earache, while the syrup produced from sprinkling a sliced onion with sugar, and baking in the oven, is said to work wonders in 6 10 a croupy child.

CHINA WAR NEWS.

Russia's efforts to facilitate the negotiations respecting China, and to hasten the withdrawal of foreign troops from the Celestial empire, is the subject of an official note, a copy of which has just been received in Washington. It contains the first complete official statement of the course of the Russian government that has been made. The statement of Russia's policy was made simultaneously with her official declaration that while maintaining the present temporary situation in Manchuria in order to preserve peace, the imperial government is content calmly to await events. It declares virtually that Russia has kept steadily in view the fact that in sending her troops into China no hostile intent was entertained toward China; ou the contrary, their presence was for the purpose of rendering effective aid to the government of China Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Hot and in its struggle against the insurgents. The answer of China to the statement of the ministers of the foreign powers as to the losses sustained by nations and individuals in China has been received. The answer commences with an appeal for mercy, saying that the country is impoverished. The answer explains that the utmost China can offer is 15,000,000 taels annually for the next 30 years. This amount will be derived as follows: From salt, 10,000,000 taels; from the likin tax, 2,000,000, and from native customs, 3,000,000. The communication further asserts that were this done it would leave the country unable to meet the expenses of government without assistance. It is therefore requested that the foreign customs be increased one-third and the receipts therefrom to be given to China for the purpose of government. The ministers requise to discuss this answer until it has been considered by them in meeting. At midnight on the the 18th Gen. Chaffee issued his farewell order ending the American relief expedition in China. The troops will go direct to Manila.

The sun, he is now claimed to be due the sum of pointed out, was the source of all the three heat received by this earth, says the and London Times. Now, it was a well- principal and interest and thirty dollars known fact that most things in cooling became smaller; a poker, for example, was shorter when it was cold than when it was red hot. The sun, too, must obey this fundamental law, and must therefore be getting smaller. If sale and the laws of this state on Monwe could measure its diameter on two day the 1st day of July, 1901, at 12 successive days we should find it had o'clock, noon, at the east front door of the decreased by nine inches-that was to court house, in the city of Ann Arbor, say, it was shrinking at the rate of, county of Washtenaw, state of Michigan say, it was shrinking at the rate of, roughly, five feet a week, or a mile in every 20 years. In view of this shrinkage, some of the younger members of his audience might feel anxious lest the described in said mortgage, or so much sun should not last their time. Such thereof as shall be necessary to satisfy anxiety, however, was groundless; he the amount due, interest, cost and exwas 860,000 miles in diameter, so it would take 40,000 years for him to be situated in the township of Sharon, county reduced by 2,000 miles to 858,000, and the lecturer was sure that if there were two suns in the sky, one 860,000 miles in diameter and the other 858,000, no one would be able to tell by looking section number nine, also the north half at them which of the two was the small- of the northeast quarter of the southeast er. But as the sun was shrinking nine inches every day, and had been doing so for ages, it followed that in the past he was very much greater than he was now. But he always had the same amount of material in him and weighed no heavier than at present; hence the inference was that he was once a huge mass of rarefied gas-a great, glowing nebula.

Cholera and Perfume.

The cholera repeatedly during the last century visited London and Paris, but at no time was there a death from that disease among the operatives of the perfume factories.
