STREETS WILL BE PAVED.

Last Night's Mass Meeting Was Almost Unanimous in Favor of Such Action.

The public meeting called for last evening to discuss the question of paving Main street from the railroad crossing to the south side of the intersection of Main and Park streets, and of Middle street from Hirth's blacksmith shop to the Gorman block, was largely attended. Everyone interested seemed to be in favor of paving at some time, although some wanted to see it put off for two years.

A. W. Wilkinson was called to the chair by President Glazier, and he explained the purpose of the meeting.

W. R. Lehman, chairman of the street committee, gave a report of the boundaries of the paving district and the outside estimated cost of $4.50 per foot frontage.

Frank Staffan thought it would be better to wait a few years until waterworks connections were made and sewers built. He thought the property owners should pave to the gutter line and the village pave the rest.

W. F. Hatch had lived in Chelsea since the village was organized. He was in favor of all improvements, but thought the cost of paving should be spread on the tax rolls.

Geo. E. Davis would not ask anyone to pave in front of a place of his. Paving was of no benefit to outside property. He compared the streets of Dexter with those of Chelsea and said they were always good to drive on without any paving.

J. W. Schenk said there was no comparison between Chelsea and Dexter as go-ahead, business villages. Paving would be a benefit to all the village. It was the business men of Chelsea who had made the village what it is, not the retired farmers who put their money out on mortgages and then sit down and wait for the interest.

C. Steinbach called attention to the muddy streets in the spring and fall, and he was in for paving whether the property owners paid all or part of the cost.

Chairman Wilkinson said he had an interest in 60 feet frontage and he was in for paving.

J. Hummel thought that as the village hired a marshal who looked mainly after the business district it was nothing more than fair that they should pay for the paving in front of their property.

J. W. Schenk said the marshal could spot suspicious characters in the business part of the village where they congregated and could gather them in.

F. P. Glazier was in favor of paving, although he was one of the unfortunates who would have to pay the paving assessment.

During the course of the meeting the question of cost arose and F. P. Glazier made the statement that he believed the paving could be done for about $3 per foot frontage. A petition to the council signed by several parties, to put off paving for two or three years until water connections, etc., were all made was read.

The question of what proportion the village should pay was discussed and on motion of B. Parker it was carried that one-third would be the proper proportion.

The proposition whether the streets should be paved in the districts named was then put and on motion carried.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Will Be Celebrated in the Chelsea Churches Next Sunday.

Next Sunday is Children's Day at the Congregational, Methodist and Baptist churches, and special services appropriate to the day will be held in each of them.

The services in the Congregational church will commence with the rite of baptism administered at the morning service. In the evening the children's exercises will take place and Rev. C. S. Jones will deliver a short address. There will also be a special program of music.

The services at the Methodist church will be held in the morning and will be entirely in charge of the Sunday school and children. The music will be especially suited to the occasion.

In the Baptist church the services will also be held in the morning. They will consist of class exercises by the children, special music and a short address by the pastor Rev. F. A. Stiles.

ARMSTRONG-DANCER.

Two Popular Young People Were Married Last Evening.

A pretty June wedding occurred at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Armstrong last evening which united the lives of two of Chelsea's well known and popular young people. It was the marriage of their only daughter Miss Effa A. Armstrong to Mr. Ernest R. Dancer, one of the members of the H. S. Holmes Mercantile Co. About 80 guests were present, most of them being relatives from out of town.

The bride, handsomely attired, was attended by six maids of honor, the Misses Jessica Miller, Estelle Jenney, and Ann Hathaway, of Ann Arbor, Eloise Goodell, of Detroit, Leila McCotter, of Pontiac, and Nina Crowell, of Chelsea. The groom was unattended.

The ceremony took place in a bower of smilax, ferns and palms, which was erected in the parlor, and where the groom and Rev. C. S. Jones awaited the bride, who, preceded by her maids of honor came down the stairs and into the room to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Mrs. Ed. Vogel. The full Episcopal church marriage service was used.

After the ceremony a dainty four course wedding banquet was served. The presents were numerous and costly, many being cut glass and silverware. Mr. and Mrs. Dancer left on the 9:15 train east for a short wedding trip.

GRADUATION RECITAL.

Miss Margaret B. Nickerson Met With a Flattering Reception Last Evening.

The graduation recital of Miss Margaret Belle Nickerson, of Chelsea, from the University School of Music, which took place at Frieze Memorial Hall, Ann Arbor, last evening, was a very gratifying and pleasing occasion for Miss Nickerson, her parents and the many friends who were present. The selections were from the best vocal composers and were varied enough to make the program a most interesting one, besides showing to the best advantage the wide capabilities of her fine soprano voice. In all Miss Nickerson sang eleven selections. Those most enjoyed were Schumann's "Dedication," the difficult aria "I will extol Thee," from Costa's "Eli," the pretty sparkling ballads "The Silver Ring," "Were I a Gard'ner" and "A June Madrigal," and Gounod's grandly beautiful "The Light from Heaven," in which although accompanied by the organ, violin and piano, Miss Nickerson's voice sounded loud and clear over all. Her clear enunciation and expressive rendition of all the numbers, coupled with her unassuming pose while singing, won her meads of praise from many in the hall besides her friends.

Those who were present from Chelsea were Rev. and Mrs. J. I. Nickerson and daughters Ella and Cora, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wood, Mesdames F. P. Glazier, Hill, C. E. Stimson, R. A. Snyder and Warren Cushman, the Misses Clara Snyder, Vera Glazier and Lillian Blach, Fred Welch, C. L. Hill, Harold Glazier and the editor of the Herald.

A SUCCESSFUL TEACHER.

A Chelsea Girl Receives Much Praise for Her Good Work.

Washtenaw Times: Miss Matilda Hummel, of Chelsea, has just closed a very successful year's work as teacher in the Benton district, Saline township. This was her first experience in teaching, but she proved herself well qualified for the task, creating an unusual interest among her pupils in their work. Among other things she introduced the old plan of "spelling down" every two weeks, and the last afternoon of school was spent in this way for the prize of the year. Two hundred and fifty hard words were selected from the lessons gone over. These were exhausted with four girls still standing. Other and harder words were looked up and after a while all went down on the same word, so that no one gained the prize, yet all were worthy.

Saturday, the day for the picnic was too cold and rainy to go to the grove, but the school and many of the parents went to the school house, where, after a fine program of songs and recitations, ice cream and cake in abundance was served, and all said it was a good day, even if it did rain.

The school board showed their appreciation of the teacher's work by engaging her for another year and increasing her wages. Fifty pupils were on the roll.

How Mothers may Help their Daughters into Womanhood

Every mother possesses information of vital value to her young daughter. That daughter is a precious legacy, and the responsibility for her future is largely in the hands of the mother. The mysterious change that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman should find the mother on the watch day and night. As she cares for the physical well-being of her daughter, so will the woman be, and her children also.

When the young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming change, and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

The following letters from Miss Good are practical proof of Mrs. Pinkham's efficient advice to young women.

Miss Good asks Mrs. Pinkham for Help.

June 12th, 1899.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been very much bothered for some time with my monthly periods being irregular. I will tell you all about it, and put myself in your care, for I have heard so much of you. Each month menstruation would become less and less, until it entirely stopped for six months, and now it has stopped again. I have become very nervous and of a very bad color. I am a young girl and have always had to work very hard. I would be very much pleased if you would tell me what to do."—MISS PEARL GOOD, Cor. 29th Avenue and Yeslar Way, Seattle, Wash.

The Happy Result.

February 10th, 1900.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. It is just simply wonderful the change your medicine has made in me. I feel like another person. My work is now a pleasure to me, while before using your medicine it was a burden. To-day I am a healthy and happy girl. I think if more women would use your Vegetable Compound there would be less suffering in the world. I cannot express the relief I have experienced by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MISS PEARL GOOD, Cor. 29th Avenue and Yeslar Way, Seattle, Wash.

NAMING THE STREETS

A Task That Is Puzzling Washington City Officials.

They Are in Favor of Euphonious Nomenclature, But the "Old Settlers" Protest Against Aesthetic Innovations.

(Special Washington Letter.)

WE RECENTLY had a talk about the development of Greater Washington, according to plans and purposes of the executive and legislative branches of the federal government; and this is supplementary to that statement of current history.

The citizens who have opportunity to visit the capital city of this republic take occasion always to express their pride in its beauty, but they do not realize the fact that its grandeur is due primarily to the genius of L'Enfant, the man whose brain conceived and whose skilled fingers drafted the plan upon which it has been built.

As a matter of fact, this city has been a gradual growth, from decade to decade, and but for the commands of Washington, requiring that every development should be in accordance with the original designs of L'Enfant, this city would be as zig-zag and unsymmetrical as cow-paths could have made it. But every city government has carefully adhered to the original plans, so that out of domestic conditions symmetry has resulted. Within the memory of the writer, farm lands have been invaded, subdivided and built upon, by street and avenue extension of the plans made so many, many years ago.

Now that the congress has authorized a complete system of extension of the highways, in accordance with L'Enfant's plan, the gentlemen in charge in the work, which will stand for a century of city development, are bothered by street and locality nomenclature. The people have heretofore paid little attention to this subject, but it is very interesting.

In its beginning every town is more or less crude and uncouth. Only as it grows into pretentious proportions the civic pride of its people develops. Early conditions and events have a way of leaving their traces in names; this being apparently the principal means of linking past with present conditions and environments. History shows us that many secrets are unraveled in names of locations and individuals.

There is no other way probably in which people put themselves on record in a more spontaneous manner than the names they give to things about them. So it happens that the residents of new towns sum up many of the picturesque, unhappy, ludicrous or grotesque incidents and conditions of the early days by the names which they give their cities, streets, buildings and environs.

As a town grows older its early names are replaced by new ones, frequently much more euphonious and conventional, but seldom as full of meaning. Thus it seems that people who have been content to have their mail addressed Dead Man's Gulch, Snakeville, Cowtown or Windy Gap, eventually begin to feel an aesthetic longing in their souls which leads them to have the names of their post offices changed to Buena Vista, Lakeside, Glendower or Idlewild. This is usually accomplished against the

STUDYING THE PLANS.

Wishes of the "old-timers," who feel it a sacrilege to dishonor local traditions.

But although the name of a town be changed, and its streets rechristened, the old traditions will be kept up in the names of its alleys, and of particular localities of doubtful desirability. The reason for this is because the progress which sweeps the old things away elsewhere doesn't penetrate these places. Hence in every large city, where the landmarks of its founding are annually disappearing, many of the old traditions will be found preserved in the names of its alleys and less improved localities.

Washington is no exception in this, and a study of the names of its alleys must convince one that this is a matter in which very little interest has been taken by the citizens. In almost every section of the city alleys are to be found with amusing and surprising names, behind many of which there is doubtless a wealth of local history, while in others nothing more than a vagrant whim or a passing fancy is expressed.

It was not without meaning that a certain section of Washington between the capitol and the Potomac river came to be known, and is still called "Bloodfield." The name is less deserved now than it once was, but in the popular mind it will live on long after the reason for it has lapsed; just as few people could reconcile themselves to speaking of the stream that used to flow from the north of Washington down past the capitol by its official name. That noble stream, which was turned into a sewer some years ago, stood on the maps since the city was laid out as the Tiber river, but thoughtless people were always letting the cat out of the bag, and revealing the plebeian origin of the sparkling waters by referring to it as "Goose creek."

Few people who know much about Washington have failed to hear of "Hell's bottom," although the conditions which gave rise to that unkind designation passed away years ago. Without question, however, the immediate neighborhood where the notorious Triangle saloon used to stand will go down among the policemen of Washington as "Hell's bottom," and the stories that the name recalls will serve to keep fresh a chapter in Washington history which might otherwise be forgotten. There is a surprising tenacity about names. Long after they have left the plate on the front door, they lead a contented and impersonal life on the alley door.

The officials who are rejuvenating Greater Washington in this matter of street and avenue extension are bothered with the names of the thoroughfares which are being extended. They have concluded that "Blood alley" should be called "Broad alley," and that "Fighting alley," "Ambush alley" and "Savage alley" shall be named after less disreputable historic events of their localities, and they are to be called streets instead of alleys.

It has been decided that there shall be no change made in the paved alleys, which will continue to be known as Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist, Catholic and Grace alleys; because their names are suggestive of good things and good people. Moreover, their denizens are typical of the religious beliefs indicated by their appellations.

There are two Pig alleys, three Hog alleys and five Bacon alleys, which will keep their names, just as Cow alley will be allowed to hold its own. The porcines and bovine whose peregrinations to the sledge and knife of the butcher gave names to their highways no longer reach the tables of epicures in that way; but the names of the pathways will be retained by these wise officials who think that a growing city should retain, for at least a time, a part of its local traditions. Paraphrasing, it might be said, that it is a pity Chicago might not retain some of the names of its cowpaths and pigpaths, instead of the names of presidents which have been assumed during these later years, since "The fire fiend threw back his red mantle, From off his big blood-dappled vest, And jeered in the face of Chicago, The queen of the north and the west."

But this is not a talk about Chicago, although a reference to that capital city of the commercial center of our republic is not out of place by way of illustration of this street nomenclature theme concerning the capital city of the republic in which all of us are intently and intensely interested.

The officials charged with responsibility in this work for greater Washington are bending over their desks studying the plans and maps. They have already decided upon certain streets and avenues which shall bear the names of presidents, cities and momentous events. It is quite likely that they will manifest sufficient acumen and comprehension to take care of these alleys also; albeit there are scores of gray-haired and balding old men who are making their lives a burden by clamors in vehement behalf of the retention of the names of hitherto almost unheard-of obscure paths which are open according to the common law as "commons of way."

Greater Washington is following in the footsteps of Greater New York and Greater Chicago; but it is toddling along with its difficulties and household troubles, as herein slightly indicated.

SMITH D. FRY.

MICHIGAN GIRL HONORED.

Miss Mae Stevens, of Grand Rapids, Will Christen the New Torpedo Boat Chauncey.

Mae Stevens, of Grand Rapids, will christen the new torpedo boat Chauncey, which will be ready for the ceremony in about a month. The boat is named after Commodore Isaac Chauncey, one of the early heroes of the navy, a granddaughter of whom Miss Stevens is.

She is a niece of Charles W. Chauncey, of Grand Rapids, and lives with her mother at 321 Henry street. She comes from a family of fighters. Isaac Chauncey served in command of the frigate Chesapeake during the war with Tripoli, and during the war of 1812 was in command of the great lakes, operating with marked success. His son, John Sinclair Chauncey, was an officer in the civil war. On her father's side, Miss Stevens also looks back to a family of fighters. Her grandfather was Gen. Joseph Stevens, and her father, the late Frederick A. Stevens, captain of a Maine company during the civil war. Miss Stevens will be accompanied to Philadelphia, where the ceremony will occur, by several local friends.

BIG CANNING COMPANY.

Will Operate Fruit Factories at Kalamazoo and South Haven, and Also a Boat Line.

The Dunkley Celery & Preserving company, of Kalamazoo, has been merged into the new Dunkley Co., of Chicago, with a capital of $250,000, which will operate celery and fruit canning factories in Kalamazoo and at South Haven, and a steamer line between South Haven and Chicago. The steamer Petoskey, recently purchased by the company, has made its initial trip. One of the heaviest stockholders is Edwin Norton, of New York, president of the American Canning company, which, with a capital of $88,000,000, practically controls the manufacture of cans in the United States. The main office of the Dunkley Co. will be in Kalamazoo.

NOT FORGOTTEN.

Daughters of the American Revolution Decorate Graves of Soldiers of the War of 1812.

The Alexander Macomb chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at Mount Clemens, have found the graves of 25 soldiers of the war of 1812, and five revolutionary soldiers in Macomb county, all of which were properly decorated on Memorial day. Later on they expect to place permanent marks on their graves. The revolutionary soldiers are Ezra Bates, buried in Chesterfield; Brooks Howard, Chesterfield; Cyrus Crossman, Davis; Joseph Holland and Micah Holcomb, Washington. Cyrus Crossman fought in the revolution, was at Bunker Hill, and also served through the entire war of 1812.

THE KEARNEY STATUE.

Residents of Muskegon Take Part in the Impressive Services at the Unveiling.

Memorial day was observed with impressive ceremonies in Muskegon owing to the unveiling of the statue of Gen. Phil Kearney, which was presented to the local Phil Kearney post, No. 7, G. A. R., by Muskegon's millionaire philanthropist, Charles H. Hackley. The United States revenue cutter Morrill opened the day with a sunrise salute, and the morning was spent in decorating the graves of the dead and the firing of salutes by the local company of the national guard. A large parade occurred in the afternoon, composed of the different civic organizations.

A Civil Suit.

David H. Creech, the wealthy real estate owner who some time ago shot his divorced wife in Jackson, inflicting injuries which at the time it was thought would result fatally, has been made defendant in a civil suit brought by his wife, who has almost entirely recovered. She alleges that she is entitled to $5,000 for the injuries sustained and to reimburse her for medical attendance and suffering. Creech is out on bail pending trial on a criminal charge of assault with intent to murder.

Perjurer Sentenced.

J. Henry Meyers, who pleaded guilty to perjury in connection with the divorce case brought by his wife, was sentenced in Kalamazoo by Judge Adams to three years and a half at Jackson. Meyers swore that he had never been in prison, and when conclusive evidence had been brought that he served a term in the Vermont penitentiary he entered a plea of guilty.

Had a Fist Fight.

The Howard City high school was the scene of much excitement when Prof. Fuller undertook to punish William Steenman, who retaliated on the professor in John L. style, giving him three hard blows. The professor then blackened Steenman's eyes and put him out of school. Steenman would have graduated this year.

NEW TYPE OF BEAUTY.

Although But Fifteen Years of Age, Miss Nesbit Is Pronounced a Rara Avis by Artists.

Philadelphians are raving over a new type of American beauty exemplified in the person of Miss Evelyn Florence Nesbit, of that city. She is but 15 years old and two years ago went to Philadelphia from Pittsburgh with her widowed mother. Her father was the late Winfield Scott Nesbit, one of the foremost lawyers of

MISS EVELYN NESBIT.

(Hailed by Artists as a New Type of American Beauty.)

Pittsburgh. Her mother, Evelyn Florence McKenzie, comes of a distinguished southern family, and she was a celebrated belle in her youth. It was not long after her appearance in Philadelphia that the beauty of Miss Nesbit was remarked by many of the leading artists and sculptors. Already her face has been put on canvas by such painters as Carl Blenner, Carroll Beckwith, Levy and Irving Wiles Church.

It is Ryland W. Phillips, the artist photographer, who claims the honor of having first discovered this new beauty. Last October he arranged to have her come to his studio and pose for several pictures, which were later placed on exhibition at the Photographical society and created wide discussion. In speaking of Miss Nesbit, Mr. Phillips said:

"Miss Nesbit has a mobile face, yet she can change her personality in looks, gesture and effect quicker than anyone else I have ever seen. She can change her whole expression instantly from sorrow to gladness, every feature adding to the total transformation. Miss Nesbit is a great beauty. She has a splendidly developed head and a face showing unusual character. About her forehead there are lines of exceptional beauty denoting great intellectual power."

Besides her beauty, Miss Nesbit is endowed with a gift of dramatic talent and emotional capacity sufficient to warrant her in hoping to attain success on the stage, for which she is now preparing herself.

Brave and Fearless Boy.

Eddie Ryan is a Boston boy who possesses a fearless heart. A short time ago, while standing near the foot of Liverpool street, he saw a runaway horse dashing down the street, and knew that in a moment it would endanger the lives of two small boys. Without assistance he rushed to where the boys were sitting, near the curb, unconscious of danger, and pulled both just out of the course of the runaway. The act was bravely done, and none too soon, for the vehicle attached to the runaway passed over young Ryan's foot. The injury was slight, however, and in a short time the young man had recovered. His action was witnessed by only a few people, but those who saw it say that Ryan is a young hero.

Topsy Regained Her Seat.

Sometimes there arises a discussion as to whether or not dogs can reason. Here is a story which seems to argue strongly for the affirmative. A little terrier named Topsy was very much annoyed at the visits of another dog which used to usurp her chair. One day when the visitor was there, Topsy stood it as long as she could, and then suddenly flew into the street, barking furiously at some chimerical object. Of course, the other dog ran out to see what was up, and back came Topsy, quickly regaining her coveted seat.

How to Serve Grape Fruit.

A Chicago epicurean, who begins his breakfast with grape fruit as long as it may be found in market, says that he always has his shaddock cut in two in the evening, the seeds removed and the cavities filled with sugar. The hemispheres are then allowed to remain untouched during the night, during which time a chemical action takes place which makes nectar of the juices by the next morning.

MEN'S GARB FOR WOMEN.

Dr. Mary Walker insists That Present Feminine Styles Are Unhealthy and Immoral.

Dr. Mary Walker for well-nigh 45 years has preached dress reform for women. Her ideas, as much as her peculiar adoption of male attire, have made of her a national character. She is now past 60 years of age, but is more than ever committed to her ideas.

In a recent article published by the Chicago American she advocates the adoption by women of male attire for the following reasons:

Did you ever watch Flora MacFlimsy stepping on or off a car? Could there be anything more grotesque? As the car approaches she grabs frantically a bunch of dry goods which has trailed for blocks behind her in the mud. Swishing them about her until she has bound up her knees as if in a vise, she essays to step into the car. But the yards of lingerie and dress hamper her. It requires the greatest effort to mount the step. It is oftentimes accompanied with the sacrifice of her expensive costume.

The other day as I left a Broadway car behind a Flora, I inadvertently stepped upon her ladyship's train. The rip of the sheeny silk brought terror even to me. She glared at me ferociously.

"I will pardon you," I said, "for taking up so much room; it seems hardly necessary that you should have a dry goods roll trailing behind you."

Bind your waists in steel splints and what happens? Congestion of the stomach and intestines. Congestion begets inflammation and the latter excitement of the part inflamed.

In my common sense attire I can travel faster than any other woman. My form of dress has to overcome a lighter atmospheric pressure, less specific gravity.

There should be no sex in dress. A woman should not be forever proclaiming as from a sign board: "I am a woman!" Why is it necessary for her constantly to conjure up thoughts of sex difference? I think it immoral.

DR. MARY WALKER.

(Has Preached Dress Reform for Women for Nearly 45 Years.)

To-day we call love a passion. True love is a quality of the mind, not of the body. Until men love with the mind woman will not have her right place in the world. Passion is brutal; love is divine!

Does the modern form of evening dress—undress I call it—appeal to the passions or the souls of men? Do the yards of dainty laces, the variegated hosiery, the thousand and one what-nots of the modern maiden's gown appeal to the purer or baser idea?

There would be fewer crimes against women if the suggestive in woman's wardrobe were eliminated. Modern forms of dress accentuate rather than subdue these evil suggestions. "What is most daring?" is the question with the modiste, not "What is purest?"

A woman's charms of person and mind should be her store of wealth. At present her physical charms are paraded before the world that all may see. She does not so parade her beauties of mind.

Sometimes her physical charms are counterfeit; they are used as a snare. She cannot counterfeit her mental qualities.

In trousers, waistcoat and frock coat woman would find protection that she much needs. She would be freer of motion and limb, would have better health, a cleaner mental condition and be man's superior in the things she should have most of—of purity of body and mind.

Soner or later my ideas will bear full fruit. The wheels of progress and intellectuality move slowly. I do not expect to live long enough to see my ideas of dress the vogue. I shall have to die; then the seed that I have sown will ripen and grow and bud and bloom—and I? Well, perchance I may be forgotten. It matters not so long as I have been even a means to a good end.

Sit up in bed.

When it becomes necessary to sit up in bed to get your breath; when the least exertion such as walking, sweeping, singing, talking or going up and down stairs, causes shortness of breath, fluttering or palpitation; then it is time to do something to brace up and strengthen your failing heart. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. It is best of all.

"I could not rest at night and often had to sit up in bed to breathe. The least exertion would make my heart palpitate dreadfully. Our doctor prescribed Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and it completely restored me to health."

DECORATED THE GRAVES.

Soldiers' Day Was Fittingly Observed in Chelsea.

Decoration Day has always been appropriately observed in Chelsea and the graves of the soldier dead have always been honored and decorated by loving hands on each succeeding anniversary of the day set apart for that purpose. This year was no exception to the rule and all the stores were closed during the services which were held in the afternoon. The streets were filled with people, and the town hall, where the exercises were held was so crowded that no more could get in and many were turned away.

The exercises began at 2 o'clock with the reading of the general orders of the day by G. J. Crowell. Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg was next read by John A. Palmer, after which the Chelsea band played a selection. Prayer was offered by Rev. C. S. Jones, and then followed the address by Rev. F. A. Stiles. It was a fine and masterly address and received, as it was entitled to, the praise of all who heard it. Following this came a short address to the Maccabees, who in accordance with the orders of the Great Camp celebrated their memorial day at that time, by Rev. C. S. Jones. The audience was dismissed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. F. A. Stiles. The procession to the cemetery was formed as follows:

Chelsea Band.
K. O. T. M.
L. O. T. M.
Firing Squad.
G. A. R. Veterans.
Flower Wagon.
Speakers in Carriages.
Citizens in Carriages.

Arrived at the cemetery the G. A. R. ritual services were held at the soldiers' monument and the firing squad fired a salute of three volleys, after which the graves of deceased comrades in Oak Grove and Mt. Olivet cemeteries were decorated.

INJUNCTION ISSUED

Against the Hawks-Angus People at the Instance of Several Ann Arbor Property Owners.

J. D. Hawks and S. F. Angus who have been granted a franchise on West Huron street, Ann Arbor, which franchise calls for the construction of an overhead bridge over the Ann Arbor railroad, have run against a temporary injunction and lawsuit which may delay the entrance of the electric line from this place for an indefinite time.

The validity of their franchise is questioned with the claim that the proceedings of the common council were irregular.

On Saturday afternoon a bill of complaint was filed by A. J. Sawyer & Son on behalf of the following, who claim that their property will be irreparably injured by the construction of the Huron street overhead bridge:

Ann Arbor Chleory Co., $17,000; Geo. P. Schlemmer and Henry J. Schlemmer, $9,000; L. Rohde, $3,500; F. Siple, $3,500; C. G. Orcutt and Susan A. Orcutt, $7,000.

The complainants set forth the following:

1. That the pretended franchise granted to Hawks & Angus has been assigned, or it is the intention to assign the same, to the D., Y., A. A. & J. Ry.

2. That at the council meeting of Dec. 17 there were 18 members present.

3. That the consideration of the franchise was at that meeting postponed for 30 days.

4. That at the council meeting of Dec. 21 there were present but 12 members. That notwithstanding the number present was less than at the meeting which postponed action for 30 days and without any resolution reconsidering the action of the previous council, Ald. Brown moved the previous question and it was passed by a vote of 9 to 3.

5. That owing to these circumstances Hawks & Angus were never granted any legal authority to enter upon or construct a bridge and abutments on Huron street.

6. That it really requires a two-thirds vote of all the members elect to grant a franchise and that no such vote was ever given at any meeting to Hawks & Angus.

7. That the D., Y., A. A. Ry. has already bonded its road for $30,000 per mile and secured such bonds by a first mortgage on its entire property and that this figure is nearly double the cost of construction and equipment, and that it does not intend to pay its indebtedness. Therefore, that it would be impossible to collect any damages against the road.

A temporary injunction has been granted restraining the Hawks & Angus people from building and the city of Ann Arbor from granting another franchise.

Of course this will be resisted by Hawks & Angus in the courts.

St. Mary's Literary Club Reception.

A most enjoyable reception was given by St. Mary's Literary Club at the home of Mrs. J. E. McKune, Wednesday evening, May 29, at which the members of the club and a few invited guests were present. The dainty flowers on the covers of the souvenir programs given to those present were hand painted, the work of Miss Alice Gorman, and they were beautiful and artistic. A pleasing program consisting of music, papers and readings was rendered. This was followed by dainty light refreshments served in the dining room, the table decorations being of pink and white. The design on the table was a miniature maypole. The house was prettily decorated with spring flowers. Below is given the program:

Mandolin Solo. Miss Amy Foster.

Grass Lake Will Celebrate.

Detroit Tribune: Grass Lake is about to witness one of the most august pageants ever visible in that historic corporation. The opening of the electric car line between that place and Jackson has been selected for the occasion, which, after all is but incident to the purpose. The car line opening is merely the stalking-horse to the greater purpose which will be to view the ancient and honored editor of the Grass Lake News, disguised in fresh linen and his best suit of clothes, marching in arm with the mayor at the head of the procession. The Grass Lake people have all given up attending the Pan-American in order that they may witness this grand and beautiful spectacle and will spend their money in its honor, instead of at Buffalo. The "blow-out" had been contemplated some time, but it was feared for awhile that it would have to be called off, owing to the following circumstances: Mr. Carlton went down to lave his limbs among the leeches of the lake and while thus gaily disporting himself some malicious person concealed a large green bullfrog in the main lobby of his trousers. The editor feeling a little chilly on emerging from the waves, made haste to rehabilitate himself and did not consider the presence of the batrachian till he hitched up his suspenders. Then there appeared to be something wrong in the basement, and a scene of the utmost activity ensued. A snake was the only thing that formulated itself in his mind, but pieces of the bullfrog were all that he withdrew and his bifurcators were so torn and segregated that it was reckoned there could be no railroad celebration with him in it. But the generosity of the people can generally be relied on, and, thanks to a public subscription, the end in view has been provided for.

For ten days previous to his arrest he had been stopping around a lumber pile on the celery marsh just west of Grant street, and had made himself obnoxious to the residents of that neighborhood by begging and sneaking around their houses. All Sunday afternoon he harangued an imaginary audience and his actions were those of a person of unsound mind.

Old teeth are in great demand among students in the dental department of the U. of M. They are used by the students of the junior class when learning the elementary principles of excavating and filling. Cavities are formed in extracted teeth and filled with cement, gutta-percha, tin, amalgam and gold. A large number, nearly 3,000, are used in making sections of the teeth for the location, depth, size, etc., of the nerve canals.

Seven Years in Bed.
"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but, "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, fainting and dizzy spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. ONE HUNDRED CONCERTS.

Given in Last Twelve Years by the Choral Union at the University of Michigan.

MANY ORGANIZATIONS HAVE TAKEN PART

Questions for Debate in the Central League Contest—A New Regent—New Medical Ward—Work Made More Practical—Museum Improvements—Other Notes of Interest.

[Special Correspondence.]

University of Michigan, June 3.—The concluding concert in the May festival programme this year was the one hundredth entertainment in the Choral union series. During the last 12 years 37 choral concerts, 18 symphony recitals, 12 song recitals, nine piano recitals, five violin recitals, four organ recitals, and 15 miscellaneous concerts have been given. Among the organizations that have taken part in different concerts are the Boston Festival orchestra, Boston Symphony orchestra, Chicago Festival orchestra, Detroit orchestra, Pittsburgh orchestra, Seidl orchestra, Thomas orchestra, Detroit Philharmonic club, New York Philharmonic club and Spiering quartette.

Questions for Debate.

The question for debate in the contest in the Central Debating league between the representatives of the University of Michigan and Northwestern university at Ann Arbor, January 10, 1902, is "Resolved, That State Boards, with Compulsory Powers, Should Be Appointed to Settle Disputes Between Employers and Employees." The subject for debate at the final contest to be held at Chicago, April 4, 1903, is, "Resolved, That the Best Interests of the United States Forbid That We Should Permanently Hold and Govern the Philippines."

Regent Arthur Hill.

Arthur Hill, of Saginaw, W. S., has been appointed regent to fill the vacancy recently caused by the death of William J. Coker, of Adrian. Mr. Hill was graduated from the University with the degree of civil engineer in the class of 1885. He is the founder of four scholarships in the literary department. These are open to the graduates of the Saginaw high school.

With the Medics.

A bill has been passed by the state legislature and signed by the governor appropriating $50,000 for the erection and equipment of a psychopathic ward in connection with the university hospital. The hospital will be for the treatment, and permanent cure, if possible, of persons suffering from an acute attack of insanity. It is hoped that by means of the institution many persons who otherwise would become patients of the asylums of the state will be saved to society.

Work Made More Practical.

Each year more and more stress is laid upon the importance of offering practical courses. A good illustration of this fact is the course in chemical engineering which is now only in its third year. This course aims to give those who take it a sufficient knowledge of engineering so that they will be familiar with all the general principles involved in the construction, placing and operation of machinery, and at the same time a general knowledge of chemistry and a special knowledge of its technical value. It is expected that those who complete the work will be fitted to fill positions as superintendents in large manufacturing establishments. During the two years that the work has been given it has attracted a continually increasing number of students. It is not unreasonable to expect that under the inspiration that the present industrial boom can furnish the demand for men with the adequate knowledge to superintend large manufacturing plants will be greatly increased.

Old Teeth in Demand.

Bring along all the old teeth you can buy, borrow or steal, is what the student about to enter the dental department is told. "The supply" is not always equal to the demand. Therefore it will be to the interests of students to bring with them all the extracted teeth they can obtain. "Is the way that a foot-note in the announcement of the dental department reads. A large number of extracted teeth are used each year by the students to practice on. Every member of the junior class, which generally numbers from 60 to 80 students during the year, makes two sections of each tooth in the human head. One section is made the wide way of the tooth and the other the thick way. These sections are for the purpose of showing the location, depth, size, etc., of the nerve canals. For this work alone nearly 3,000 teeth are required each year. Furthermore, extracted teeth are used by the students when learning the elementary principles of excavating and filling. Cavities are formed in extracted teeth and filled with cement, gutta-percha, tin, amalgam and gold.

In addition to the teeth brought in each year by the students, large supplies are secured from the state institutions, from the county houses and from dentists who do a large amount of extracting.

Improvements at the Museum.

The mammal room in the university museum, when the work of arrangement, which is now in process, is completed, will have a large case in each corner. In each of these cases an idea will be worked out. The animals belonging to the same general family will be grouped together, and, so far as possible, made to appear in their native surroundings. Among the schemes which will be worked out is one for a group of coons. A large section of a coon tree has been secured and in this a coon's nest will be constructed and the mounted animals placed in the same. One group is to be an elk group. For this there are several interesting specimens.

The cases are built in the corners of the room so the light may shine into them rather than through them. In this way the different exhibits can be seen to the best advantage.

In time it is hoped that large plate glass cases will be placed in the center of the room to hold special exhibits that are of particular value.

Herbert E. Sargent, curator of the museum, has just completed the arrangement of one of the most interesting exhibits in the museum. It is a case of mounted butterflies and moths. There are about a thousand specimens in the collection. They are all mounted with wings extended, and these are of every color of the rainbow. All the specimens are facing the same direction and are neatly arranged in rows.

Mr. Sargent has found that the surest and best way to obtain specimens of moths and butterflies is to raise them and then administer the chloroform at the moment when the insect is at its best. It is almost impossible to secure good specimens by capturing them in the field. In a comparatively short time after their birth their wings are all whipped out by striking against leaves, stalks, etc. Mr. Sargent secures the eggs as soon after they are laid as possible. These he keeps until they hatch into caterpillars. They are placed in cages with leaves to feed upon. In time the caterpillars become cocoons, and from these in turn come the moths or butterflies. It is a long process for getting specimens, but the results justify the means.

Alva F. Traver, a graduate with the degree of bachelor of science in mechanical engineering in the class of 1900, has been chosen to fill the Michigan Gas association fellowship in the university for the year 1901-1902. The past year he has been in the university as a graduate student, doing special work in chemistry.

Dr. Joseph H. Cowell, of Saginaw, has been secured to give the class day address for the homeopathic department. Dr. Cowell is a graduate of Brown university and of the medical department of the University of Michigan. He is a member of the state board of registration in medicine.

At least nine class reunions will be held during commencement week of this year. Among the classes which will meet are the literary classes of 1851, 1861, 1871, 1876, 1877, 1881, 1891 and 1897 and of the medical class of 1881.

Oldest Editor.

Walter W. Woolnough, editor of the Daily Moon at Battle Creek, is now the oldest editor in Michigan—oldest in years and in continuous service. He is 80 years old. He served his apprenticeship in the office of the Rochester Republican, and in 1842 went to Ashtabula, O., to become foreman of the Ashtabula Sentinel, owned and edited by Joshua R. Gladding. In 1845 he came to Battle Creek and printed the first newspaper ever issued in that city—the Western Citizen. He has ever since that date, a period of 56 years, been in continuous editorial service in Battle Creek.

Farmers' Insurance.

At the annual meeting in Marshall of the Calhoun County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company the report of Secretary Martin showed that there was at present a membership of 3,669, a gain of 70 during the year. The total amount of property insured on January 1 was $6,282,922, a gain of $120,830 during the year. Eighty-four losses, amounting to $11,188, were paid during the year. The receipts were $14,535 and expenditures $12,872.

New Cement Company.

The Clare Portland Cement company, with headquarters in Saginaw, has been organized with a capitalization of $1,000,000 to develop deposits of great value which have been discovered in the neighborhood of Five Lakes, near Clare. Considerable Saginaw capital is being invested, and while the plant will be located near Clare the general offices and management of the factory will be located in Saginaw.

Dowieites Barred Out.

The spirit of the Dowie trouble in Chicago has found its way to the Dowie Church in Benton Harbor. As a result, several have left the faith, and in the Bell opera house in that city they publicly and severely denounced Dowie as a church leader.

AMID BOOMING OF CANNON.

Field Marshal Count von Waldersee's Departure from Peking Marked by Military Display.

Peking, June 4.—The departure of Field Marshal Count von Waldersee from Peking Monday was marked by a great military display by the allied troops, the booming of artillery and the playing of bands. The entire diplomatic body escorted the field marshal to the depot.

Von Rauch, the aide-de-camp, and nephew of Count von Waldersee, will remain here to escort Prince Chun, the emperor's brother, to Berlin, where he will formally apologize in behalf of China for the murder of Baron von Ketteler.

Berlin, June 4.—A special dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger from Peking says Count von Waldersee gave a farewell banquet in honor of Dr. Munn von Schwarzenstein, the German minister, Sunday, and toast Emperor William and the allied sovereigns.

Von Waldersee sailed for Japan Monday. When he returns to Germany it will be by way of German East Africa.

Tientsin, June 4.—There was a serious affray Sunday between international troops. Some British fusiliers who were acting as police here sought to prevent French soldiers from house breaking, when they were attacked with bayonets and bricks. The fusiliers, in self-defense, fired in the air. This brought a number of Germans to the aid of the Frenchmen. They numbered together 200 men. Five fusiliers fired again, killing a Frenchman and wounding three others. In subsequent fighting, four fusiliers, five Germans and one Japanese were wounded. The arrival of a German officer and a strong guard ended the fray.

New York, June 4.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Neither Russia nor the United States will detail troops to garrison the posts to be established by the powers between Taku and Peking. Russia's determination to refrain from maintaining troops upon the territory of a neighboring empire is another indication of her purpose to pursue to the end the policy which she originally adopted.

This policy is absolutely in line with that of the United States, and, in fact, from what can be learned, it is the intention of Russia to act with this government in future questions discussed in Peking. This attitude has given the administration much satisfaction. The points between Taku and Peking which will be garrisoned by the powers, ostensibly to maintain a safe egress for the foreign ministers in the capital, have not been finally determined, though it seems to be understood that troops will be stationed at Yang-tung and at one other point near Tientsin. The size of the garrisons also remains to be established. From what is known, it is the purpose of Germany to distribute the brigade of 4,000 men now in Peking among the legations in Peking and the two posts which will be established. Great Britain and France, the latter of which originally made the proposal for the garrisons, will also have troops in the garrisons. Whether the Japanese will be represented in the forces to stay in China is not known.

Paris, June 4.—The Figaro, which breathes a sigh of relief at the departure of Count Von Waldersee from Peking, says: "The long Chinese nightmare at last seems to be coming to an end. The marvelous concert of the powers was maintained to the last. It is a miracle. For a year French, British, Russian and American troops have been able to continue a campaign without turning their arms against each other. It is a fine triumph for civilization; but it is mainly due to the intimacy of France and Russia, against which united force no selfishness dared attempt to prevail."

A Social Event.

New York, June 4.—Society was out in force Monday to witness the marriage of Mrs. Elizabeth Drexel Dahlgren, a daughter of the late Joseph Drexel, of this city, to Mr. Harry Symes Lehr, of Baltimore, in St. Patrick's cathedral. Mrs. Dahlgren entered the cathedral with her cousin, Mr. George W. Childs-Drexel, of Philadelphia. This being a second marriage, the bride had no attendants. Mr. Lehr's best man was his brother, Mr. F. William Lehr. The marriage ceremony was performed by Archbishop Corrigan, assisted by Revs. William Daly and Henry T. Newey.

Pauncefoot Going to England.

Washington, June 4.—Lord Pauncefoot left here Monday night and sails to-day for a stay of some months in England. Although a vacation, it will afford an opportunity for conferences with Lord Salisbury and Lord Lansdowne concerning pending questions, chief of which are those in connection with the isthmian canal. Lord Lansdowne has made known that he will not take up the subject for consideration until Lord Pauncefoot arrives in London, when the papers at hand and such additional information as the ambassador may have, will be gone over.

PRACTICE CONDEMNED.

Michigan Bar Association Thinks Judicial Candidates Should Not Engage in Wire Pulling.

At the twelfth annual meeting in Saginaw of the Michigan Bar association the interesting feature of the session developed under the head of miscellaneous business. Mr. Norris, of Grand Rapids, offered a resolution giving it as the sentiment of the association that the practice of candidates for election and reelection as circuit judges attending political conventions where such nominations are made is unqualifiedly condemned. Also that it is the duty of every candidate to do all in his power to do away with some of the political and undesirable practices which prevail at conventions when political candidates are selected. Mr. Norris said that instances of this kind had been brought to his attention, in fact, were generally known, and they did not reflect credit upon the bar. Notwithstanding some objections the resolution was adopted. Officers were chosen as follows:

President, Mark Norris, Grand Rapids; vice president, Adolph Sloman, Detroit; secretary, William Landman, Grand Rapids; treasurer, Arthur C. Dennison, Grand Rapids.

Directors—Robert T. Tracy, Detroit; Harry B. Hutchinson, Ann Arbor; Laurence C. Fyfe, St. Joseph; Dallas Bondemann, Kalamazoo; George L. Nichols, Ionia; R. C. Ostrander, Lansing; Martin Crocker, Mount Clemens; L. T. Durand, Saginaw; William Carpenter, Muskegon; J. C. Weddock, Bay City; Peter F. Dadds, Mount Pleasant; Dan H. Ball, Marquette, being one from each congressional district, according to the constitution of the association.

NICE STORY, BUT UNTRUE.

That of a Kalamazoo Nurse Left a Fortune of $300,000—Her Mother Exploits the Fairy Tale.

Mrs. John Meon, the mother of Mrs. Ethel Costello, the Kalamazoo nurse, alleged to have recently fallen heir to $300,000 through the death of a rich uncle of her first husband in Honduras, arrived in Kalamazoo from Marcellus. She went directly to the home of J. H. Bostwick, where her daughter had been engaged as nurse, but was informed that the alleged heiress had slipped away, and that her whereabouts was a mystery. Mrs. Meon says:

"The story regarding my daughter becoming an heiress to $300,000 is in all probability untrue. Ethel was never married to a man named Costello. Neither did she run away from home or school at the age of 16. Her only marriage was to Ira Washington. I wrote to her several days ago and told her that she must deny the story circulating through the press, and I expect her in the city in the near future."

When asked why her daughter had assumed the name of Costello, Mrs. Meon stated that it was because of a dislike for the names Washington and Meon.

MAPS APPROVED.

State Crossing Board Meets in Lansing and Sanctions the Projects of Several Railways.

The state crossing board met at the office of the railroad commissioner in Lansing and approved maps showing an extension of the Pere Marquette railway into the village of Allegan and a map showing a new route of the Pere Marquette between Northville and Grand Blanc, some slight changes in the route being desired to make a more direct line. The board also approved the map of the Northern Michigan railroad from St. Ignace to Pickford. This is the new road which is supposed to be projected by officials of the Pennsylvania system. It will be run in connection with the Grand Rapids & Indiana, and will connect with the Algoma Central, which is being built in Canada north from the Canadian Soo.

Memorial Cannon.

Nearly 10,000 people were in Mount Clemens to witness the unveiling of the memorial cannon on the courthouse square. The one erected in memory of Maj. Gen. Alexander Macomb, for whom the county was named, was unveiled by Miss Christina Macomb, a grandniece of Maj. Macomb, the exercises being conducted by the Alexander Macomb chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Gen. Mizner, of Detroit, made an address at the unveiling of the sailors' and soldiers' cannon.

Paid for the Trees.

It is not often that a man, after being acquitted by a jury, will own up to the very offense with which he was charged. There was a case of the kind at Benton Harbor the other day, however. A farmer was accused of stealing 40 young fruit trees from a neighbor, but he earnestly protested his innocence, and the jury finally returned a verdict of not guilty. As soon as he was discharged by the judge he went over to his accuser and paid him nine dollars for the missing trees.

Change the Color.

Coldwater lads have found a way to change the color of copper pennies so as to make them look like silver and have succeeded in passing quite a number of them as dimes. One of the boys has been caught at it, and the prosecuting attorney will take charge of the matter.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

Daily Summary of the Proceedings in Senate and House at the Forty-First Session.

Lansing, Mich., May 29.—The special senate committee which investigated the affairs of the state fish and game warden submitted a report yesterday practically exonerating that official from all charges of malfeasance, although suggesting that his office should be conducted more economically.

House.

Lansing, Mich., May 29.—The most important proposition agreed to in the house yesterday was a joint resolution submitting to the people at next year's election a constitutional amendment providing for a separation of state and counties in the matter of taxation, leaving the state to raise all revenue for state purposes by specific taxation, and the counties to look after their own revenues.

Legislative Work Finished.

Lansing, Mich., May 30.—The legislature ended its business session yesterday. Final adjournment will take place on June 6. Both houses agreed to a joint resolution submitting to the people a proposition to amend the constitution so as to provide for the indeterminate sentencing of convicts. The appropriations of the present legislature aggregate $6,450,000, or $85,000 less than those of the legislature of 1900. Among the important bills which were sidetracked during the closing hours were the Hardy bill, providing for the appointment of a commission to classify and regulate freight rates, and the Fuller bill, reducing railroad fares in the upper peninsula from four to three cents per mile. Several ineffectual attempts were made in the senate to take up the McKay bill, which prohibits the manufacture and sale of cigarettes.

SETTLERS LOSE HOMES.

Decision of Minnesota Supreme Court Favors Contention of Russell Sage.

St. Paul, Minn., June 3.—Justice Lewis, of the supreme court, has filed a decision which will result in several Stearns county settlers losing their homes, title to which was contested by Russell Sage as assignee in trust of the Hastings & Dakota Railway company.

Under the act of congress of June 4, 1866, the Hastings & Dakota Railway company completed its road within the time as extended by the Minnesota legislature. When the road was complete there was found to be a deficiency in the primary grant limits of about $800,000 acres and only 70,000 acres available in the indemnity limits to make up the loss and in consequence all the lands in the indemnity limits were selected.

After the completion of the road and the land selection the road's franchise was forfeited by the government and later its property transferred to Sage for the benefit of the stockholders.

Judge Lewis holds that the settlers who entered upon the lands after they had been withdrawn from settlement are not in a position to attack Sage's title to lands earned by the completion of the road and secured to him by a transfer which the court holds to be valid.

While only a few hundred acres were directly involved in this case, the decision involves the validity of the entire grant.

Oppose Secret Societies.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 30.—The National Christian association, composed of Christian ministers and laymen opposed to secret societies, opened its annual meeting in the Lagrange Street Reformed church Wednesday night, the speakers being Rev. W. B. Stoddard, of Washington, D. C., and Rev. Thomas M. Chalmers, of the United Presbyterian church of North America. The latter was particularly bitter in his denunciation of secret societies, claiming they were the outgrowth of heathen forms and ideals, engrafted with pretended religious sentiment.

End of Furniture Commencement.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 30.—The consolidation of the leading Grand Rapids furniture factories, which Charles R. Flint, of New York, has been promoting, has practically fallen through. Options on seven local plants which were to have formed the nucleus of the combine expired last Saturday, when a new agreement was presented to the manufacturers, having an exchange of stock as its basis. A majority of the local men have now decided against this proposition.

Killed by the Cars.

Benton Harbor, Mich., May 30.—Passenger engine No. 24, of the Big Four, ran into a gypsy outfit south of Niles Wednesday night, killing Thel Whipple, aged six. Her brother Pabst is dying, and her father, Charles Whipple, is badly injured. The accident occurred at a blind crossing and the wagon was not seen till too late to stop the train, though air brakes were applied. The wagon was completely wrecked, but the horses escaped injury.

Dies Suddenly.

Detroit, Mich., June 2.—A special to the Free Press from Adrian, Mich., says: Dr. D. C. Thomas, former president of Adrian college, died Thursday while on his way to the railway station. Dr. Thomas was expected to fill an engagement as a Memorial day speaker out of town. He was 66 years of age and leaves a widow and three daughters.

CUBANS EXPLAIN.

Declare the Resolution Adopted Regarding the Platt Amendment Had Been Approved by Root.

Havana, June 3.—Cable dispatches from America stating that President McKinley and his cabinet have decided that the vote in the constitutional convention is not a substantial compliance with the terms of the Platt amendment have caused universal surprise here. Gen. Wood authorized the statement that he had received no official information from Washington regarding the matter. The rumor that Secretary Root will cable Gen. Wood that the convention must accept the Platt amendment without any explanations is not believed. The resolution embodying the action of the convention concerning the amendment has not yet been delivered to Gen. Wood for transmission to Washington. The delegates are astonished to hear it said that they had no right to incorporate in their resolution of acceptance the explanation made to the Cuban commissioners by Secretary Root, and that the convention's interpretation of the Platt amendment went outside of what could be considered a fair interpretation of the act of congress. They say that President McKinley authorized the secretary to confer with the Cuban commissioners and afterward ratified Mr. Root's declaration giving the president's decision on what was the substance of the Platt amendment.

It is said that the convention's interpretation is Secretary Root's interpretation, taken bodily from the official report of the Cuban commissioners in Washington, and that the report gives a complete and exact account of the conferences in Washington. It has been generally known in Havana for many weeks that if the convention should accept the Platt amendment it would be with the understanding that it means what Secretary Root said that it means. Reports of the Washington commission and the committee of relations, which made this clear, were published in full in all the papers here before the convention took final action. The delegates say that Gen. Wood knew the commission would include in its resolution of acceptance the explanations made by Secretary Root.

Washington, June 3.—It is officially stated that the United States will remain in control in Cuba until the Platt amendment has been "substantially" adopted. This was made known to Gen. Wood last Tuesday by Secretary Root, and his action has been approved by the president. Secretary Root was with the president for about an hour and a half Saturday, discussing with him the cablegram which was sent to Gen. Wood. This message will not be made public at this time, and probably not until the convention takes action. Secretary Root has received no official copy of the Cuban constitution as adopted. The copy received was furnished by Gen. Wood, and consequently the action taken now is considered of the same unofficial character, but indicates the determination of the government to reject the constitution in its present form.

Havana, June 3.—The press deplors the misunderstanding with the Washington government, but generally admits the possibility of a wrong construction being put upon the amendment by the explanations and interpretations, and that it will be best for the convention to take up the question immediately and accept the amendment as passed by congress. The municipal election passed off quietly. The nationalists claim the election of Senor Gener, their candidate for mayor, and a majority of the council.

VISIT KING EDWARD.

Windsor, England, June 3.—The visiting members of the New York chamber of commerce were favored with delightful weather Saturday afternoon for their visit to King Edward and the royal demesne. On their arrival at Windsor they were met by carriages, in which they were driven direct to Frogmore, where Lord Edward Pelham-Clinton, master of the household, took charge of the party and showed them the tomb of Queen Victoria and the adjacent sights of interest. Thence the visitors proceeded to St. George's chapel, where the dean of Windsor (Very Rev. Philip Frank Elliot, D. D.) conducted them over the historic building. The delegates were then taken to the east terrace, where they were received by the king and queen. Refreshments were subsequently served in the Orangery.

The Public Debt.

Washington, June 3.—The monthly statement of the public debt issued by the treasury department shows that at the close of business, May 31, 1901, the debt less cash in the treasury department amounted to $1,062,476,494, which is a decrease for the month of $10,268,762. This decrease is largely accounted for by the purchase of bonds for the sinking fund and the increase in the cash on hand.

SPORT IN WESTERN CANADA.

While the Farmer's Grain is Ripening and His Stock Growing Fat, He May Have Plenty of Shooting.

There is probably no country on the American Continent where the life of the farmer carries with it that assurance of comfort and success as does Western Canada. Nor is there to be found anywhere else such a pleasant combination. Game abounds everywhere and nowhere does it afford such perfect amusement. A noted sportsman writing of the favorite pastime says: "There is one particular spot where I saw a man drop 70 mallards one morning, and bring them all to bag, too, for they dropped in open water or on flat prairie. At the right season of the year you can see black lines and triangles cut sharply out against the sky all round you, moving very swiftly, and you begin to wonder whether you have enough cartridges to hold out. You can hear the prairie-chicken crowing like barn-door fowls; and a little to the north-east is a bit of marshy ground, cattle poached, and dappled with gleaming pools, where the snipe are nearly as thick as mosquitoes. A thin column of blue smoke curling up in the distance shows you where a few wandering Indians have pitched their camp, but there is no other indication of civilization in sight. Still, the neighborhood is well-settled, and a short drive will bring you to a farmhouse where you can buy the finest butter and the freshest eggs for uncivilized prices.

"A very short railway journey will bring you to a country full of deer and the lordly wapiti, the king of the deer tribe the world over; and down on the flat, boggy land by the lake shores the moose will stand knee-deep in water on the summer evenings, ready to lie down when the flies get bothering. All day you breathe the wild free air of the prairie, and at night you are lulled to sleep by the surge and ripple and splash of the waves on the beach, broken now and then by the weird banshee-cry of strange water-fowl." Particulars regarding settlement of the lands of Western Canada can be had from any agent of the Canadian Government, whose advertisement appears elsewhere in your columns.

It is interesting to compare the American with the English sales of Mr. Kipling's books. Up to the close of 1900 55,000 copies of "The Jungle Book" had been disposed of in the author's native country and 85,000 in the United States. Of "The Second Jungle Book" the sale there had been 38,000 and here 64,000. A still greater discrepancy is to be noted in the case of "Captains Courageous," of which the English market absorbed only 27,000 copies and the American 57,000. But then this is an American story. It is estimated that the English sale of Kipling's works has aggregated 500,000. In this country the figures would doubtless be several times as large.

UNDER VARIOUS FLAGS.

England has 42,800 police; Scotland, 5,000; Ireland, 12,400.

The London county council some time ago passed a law that no one should shout to the annoyance of the public while hawking newspapers; but the law is not enforced.

In the British home trade 7,000 sailing-vessels and 2,800 steamers are engaged; but in the foreign the proportion is reversed—there are only 1,700 sailing-ships to nearly 4,000 steamers.

A BLACKSMITH'S STRANGE EXPERIENCE.

Goodland, Kan., June 3.—N. E. Albertson, our leading blacksmith, has been a great sufferer from Rheumatism. He was so bad that he could not sleep for the great pain in his arms and shoulders. He had been afflicted for years, but lately he was so much worse, that he thought he would have to give up his shop altogether.

Then a strange thing happened. A friend of his recommended a new medicine called Dodd's Kidney Pills, said to be a cure for Rheumatism. He commenced to use them and at once began to recover. His pain has all left him, and he is a well man to-day, and entirely free from any symptom of Rheumatism.

To say he is thankful, is putting it very mildly. He is delighted.

Dodd's Kidney Pills deserve great credit for having cured this very severe and almost hopeless case.

From recent reports, there does not seem to be anything that they will not cure, as very bad cases of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, and Heart Trouble, have been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, even after having been given up by the best doctors.

Worms

CASCARETS are a sure cure for tape worms and those other pests of worms that make the lives of children and their mothers miserable. Any variety of parasites that live in the human stomach or bowels, and feed on the substance which should properly nourish the body, are dislodged by Cascarets Candy Cathartic, and expelled. One or two tablets usually drive them out, and persistent use is sure to do away with the unwelcome intruders. Many children and older people suffer from worms without knowing it, and get thin and weak, although their appetite is good. The best way to find out is to take Cascarets. Never accept a substitute!

Swindlers Working Mail Routes.

Swindlers are always ready to work a new graft on the unsuspecting, and the patrons of the free rural mail delivery are now coming in for their share.

The postoffice department has sent out a warning notice relative to a gang of swindlers who have recently appeared along the line of the new free rural delivery routes in parts of the country.

The notice says that the swindlers have been traveling about the country representing themselves as postoffice inspectors.
Their scheme is to pretend to inspect the mail boxes and then demand from the patrons a rental of from $3 to $5.

It is the habit of the swindlers to work their schemes shortly after new rural routes have been established, and the patrons, not being familiar with the requirements, are led to believe that it is necessary to pay rental on the boxes.

Present, W. L. Watkins, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Margaret

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of James Taylor, praying that a cer-
