THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON

A Brilliant Effort on the Theme "The Glory of a Life of Service," by Rev. C. S. Jones.

The baccalaureate sermon to the class of '01 of the Chelsea high school delivered at the Congregational church Sunday evening was an inspiring address from the words found in St. Matthew's gospel, 20th chapter, 26th to 28th verses.

"Whoever would become great among you shall be your minister, and whosoever would be first among you shall be your servant; even as the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."

The church and C. E. room were filled to overflowing. The floral decorations were very pretty, and despite the heat the audience was a most attentive one. Following is a synopsis of the thought contained in Mr. Jones' sermon:

Man is a dreamer. In youth he looks upon the sunrise with its fleeing shadows, the dispersing mists, the dew sprinkled fields that catch the first rays of morning sunlight and hold them captive in their glistening orbs and lo, he dreams. He sees the sunrise of ambitions, great hopes and plans, and the fleeing of the period of childhood, before approaching manhood with a buoyancy of spirit under whose mysterious spell the world is but a field, where glistening gems wait for his eager hands. In old age he sits by the shore looking out over the pathless sea as the crimson orb of day spreads its glory over sea and land, and in its gorgeous glow transfigures valley and hill, and lo, he dreams. Out of the kingdom of memory come troops of friends of bygone days but he dreams not of them. His dream takes him beyond the glow of sunlit skies, beyond darkening shadows and the twilight setting of declining years, and lo, he lives.

We might laugh at day dreams and scorn that in our lives which makes us dream did we not know that God has always used them to destroy contentment and ease, and lead the soul to do and dare.

Before the eyes of those to whom God purposes to give great or holy tasks he ever holds a lofty conception of what the work ought to be. The man who is satisfied with chromos will never be an artist; the student who is content merely to pass will never be a scholar.

He then quoted the text as being the vision of the glory of a life of service. Following it, may lead you to glorious fame or amid stony, darkened byways, thorn-lined and obscure, where only the eye of Him who neither slumbers nor sleeps shall behold your unswerving fidelity and tireless devotion to duty. This vision is inspiring because it reveals to us that the way to pre-eminence lies over the pathway of a faithful performance of the humblest and most commonplace duties of our everyday life. There is a growing sentiment, degrading and debasing to our manhood and womanhood, that some kinds of work are more honorable than others. It is a sad comment on our national social life that social barriers are erected against some who labor with the hands. Thousands of young people are choosing one calling in preference to another because it seems to be more genteel. Let sink deep in your heart these words of the man who in the form of God nevertheless humbled himself, and making himself of no reputation toiled at the carpenter's bench, and having not where to lay his head was yet highly exalted by God and given a name that is above every name of earth. With your young manhood and womanhood proclaim "All honest work is God's work." The man who sows the seed and reaps it serves God and man as truly as the one who hauls it over iron rails to the mill. The man who in his magnificent office directs, controls, owns the railroads is no more honorable, genteel or noble than the smoke-stained, greasy, begrimed engineer or sunburned, soil-stained farmer. He alone is greatest who serves God and man most.

Life is to become perfect in happiness, in love, in wealth, in nobleness, not by the single acts of any great individual, but by the common efforts of all. What God has consecrated to his service no man dares call common.

This vision or ideal of service is inspiring because though it leads us to toil and effort, it changes us from artisans to artists. The artisan merely seeks to get through his work with no regard as to quality, the artist strives always to perfect his work to the best of his knowledge and skill. Artists are not carried to success by tides of fortune but by virtue of superior intelligence, skill and power. True, permanent success is purchased only by persistent, well directed effort.

Happiness does not depend on outward condition, but upon inward state. A man may be rich as Croesus and surrounded by luxury and affluence but be pitifully unhappy. The real source of human misery is not poverty but bad hearts. The only way to seek abiding happiness is in usefulness. Whoever is doing his own specific work well for the glory of God and the good of his fellow men is helping by his service to redeem his fellow men.

Members of the class of 1901, you say "For value received we promise to pay." What have you received? A larger outlook on life. You have learned that your little province is not all of life. You have been given some of the treasures of the past. You have had placed before you high ideals, visions of the great future. You have been given the product of other men's toil without a cent of expense. The community has been taxed that you might be taught. The man who has no children has toiled and paid for your education as much as your own parents. For you all the men who have planned, studied and thought to make the public schools what they are and to raise them to their present standard of efficiency have given their best efforts. "For value received you promise to pay." Whom? Not the superintendent, for that you can not do, only as in a measure you show your appreciation of his service by a faithful application of the principles you have learned. Not the parents, whose labor has clothed you, whose prayers have guarded you, whose love has attended you, for you can never repay them. Whom shall you pay? Society, the great community and commonwealth back of the school. Go out to labor to make men nobler, holier, truer. You have no right, who have been a recipient of the public bounty to live, selfishly, to toil ignobly. Your life, your toll, your earnest effort belongs to humanity and to God. You cannot dream yourself into character, you must hammer and forge one for yourself. He that would be truly great must live continually under the influence of great thoughts, and in the friendship of great men and their books.

Seek not embodiments of ideals, but indications partially embodied. Remember that the true nobility is sometimes found in the most commonplace lives. I could not wish you greater success or greater happiness than to be a common man doing a common work for a common reward, with the spirit of Him who said "My Father worketh hitherto and I work," and whose biography is written in the words "He went about doing good."

This evening, class of 1901, you stand on the threshold of life's experience. School life is not ended, it has but begun. In the inner sanctuary of all your hearts. Some purpose lies hidden; some hope is fondly cherished. What you will be as well as what you are is determined by your conceptions of life. Some of you will choose professional careers; some will give expression to your life in social and domestic circles; some will be found in later years among the toilers; some will be numbered among the wealthy, influential and powerful of this land. To you I hold up this master conception of a master mind. Life's pathos, mystery, sorrow, shall all be forgotten as your life finds music in service, the service of humanity, the service of God.

the grant administration. I was 16 years, in my line, for many years, was proud; yes, very proud. But fan and pride do not last, as I have found to my sorrow. They don't bring food to an old woman when she is forgotten or when her friends have passed away."

Concerning the public receptions in the white house during the civil war she says: "I dressed Mrs. Lincoln for every levee. I made every stitch of clothing that she wore. I dressed her hair. I put on her skirts and dresses. I fixed her bouquets, saw that her gloves were all right, and remained with her each evening until Mr. Lincoln came for her. My hands were the last to touch her before she took the arm of Mr. Lincoln and went forth to meet the ladies and gentlemen of those great occasions."

Here, in the national capital, in a rented room in a small house, in an obscure neighborhood, friendless and growing gradually weaker and nearer the end of earth, lives this born slave who bought her own freedom, who became famous among famous women and more famous men, in a wonderful period of the history of the republic. Here she lives alone, and her-

$5,000 REWARD

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5,000 which will be paid to any person who will show that the following testimonials are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writers' special permission. — LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

How shall a mother who is weak and sick with some female trouble bear healthy children?

How anxious women ought to be to give their children the blessing of a good constitution!

Many women long for a child to bless their home, but because of some debility or displacement of the female organs, they are barren.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the parts, curing all displacements and inflammation.

Actual sterility in women is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., whose advice is given free to all expectant or would-be mothers.

Mrs. A. D. Jarret, Belmont, Ohio, writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I must write and tell you what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. Before taking your medicine I was unable to carry babe to maturity, having lost two—one at six months and one at seven. The doctor said next time I would die, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I did not die, but am the proud mother of a six months old girl baby. She weighs nineteen pounds and has never seen a sick day in her life. She is the delight of our home."

Mrs. Whitney's Gratitude.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—From the time I was sixteen years old till I was twenty-three I was troubled with weakness of the kidneys and terrible pains when my monthly periods came on. I made up my mind to try your Vegetable Compound, and was soon relieved.

The doctor said I never would be able to go my full time and have a living child, as I was constitutionally weak. I had lost a baby at seven months and half. The next time I continued to take your Compound; and I said then, if I went my full time and my baby lived to be three months old, I should send a letter to you. My baby is now seven months old, and is as healthy and hearty as any one could wish. I cannot express my gratitude to you. I was so bad that I did not dare to go away from home to stay any length of time. Praise God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and may others who are suffering do as I did and find relief. Wishing you success in the future as in the past, and may many homes be brightened as mine has been."—MRS. L. Z. WHITNEY, 4 Flint St., Somerville, Mass.

The various features for which the Lackawanna Railroad has become noted are involuntarily impressed upon the notice of the passenger, who realizes the luxury of hotel or club appointment in the electric lights; the smooth-running journals of the wheels; the extraordinary cleanliness made possible by the use of anthracite coal, avoiding all dust and nauseating smoke; the consciousness of being always on time—which comforts force an ease of mind and body most favorable to the enjoyment of the unsurpassed scenery through which its lines pass. It is but the natural sequence that the Lackawanna is prosperous in like degree to its excellence of service, and its warm friends are equal in number to its whole list of patrons, for once to test its service means an ardent admirer and friend earned for the road.—Van Etten Breese.

Her representative won the Northern Oratorical league contest against the representatives of six institutions. The tennis men won the western intercollegiate tennis tournament in both singles and doubles, and won the dual tennis meet with Chicago. The track athletes won the western intercollegiate athletic conference track meet, won two indoor meets and one outdoor meet with Chicago. The varsity nine has defeated all the big teams in the middle west one or more times and is credited with the championship.

New Alumni Secretary.
Shurley W. Smith, who comes to the university from Hastings, Mich., has been appointed general secretary of the Alumni association for next year. In 1897, when he was a senior in the literary department, he was elected class president and managing editor of the Michiganian. During the years of 1898-1900 he was managing editor of the Michigan Alumnus, the official organ of the Alumni association.

Advanced Degree Candidates.
This year there are 49 candidates for advanced degrees as against 40 for last year. Of the 49, 42 expect to receive the degree of master of arts, three the degree of master of science and four the degree of doctor of philosophy. Out of last year's lot 29 received the degree of master of arts, four the degree of master of science and seven the degree of doctor of philosophy.

Hospital Improvements.
Plans are being formulated for the increase of the university hospital plant. At the last session of the legislature $50,000 was appropriated for the erection and equipment of a psychopathic ward in connection with the hospital, and last fall Mrs. Love M. Palmer, of Ann Arbor, died leaving money for the establishment of a ward in the hospital to be known as the Palmer ward, the same to be in memory of her husband, who was connected with the medical school as a professor for 33 years. These additions will be made next year. The first is to be a new building erected on ground lying to the east of the present office building and the second will be in the nature of an addition to the nurses' home. At the same time these new departments are added a new building will be erected for the heating plant. This structure will be on the side hill nearer the river. In connection with this, coal bunkers large enough to hold the coal needed for heating all the university buildings will be erected.

With the completion of the two wards the capacity of the hospital will be increased to 200 or more beds, which is more than twice its capacity at the beginning of the present college year. Other improvements which are already being made about this hospital are the beautifying of the grounds. The hospital has a fine location, but ever since its erection in 1890 it has had a lonesome appearance. This is because it has set on the top of a bald hill and the ground on all sides was void of trees, grass or shrubs. In summer it caught the full blaze of the sun and in the winter the blast of the wind. Now trees are being set out, the ground covered with green sod, the side hills terraced and cement walks and drives laid out. The building with its three wings overlooks the valley of the Huron river, which during a large part of the year is green with trees and grasses. In a few years more the patients who come to the hospital from the four quarters of Michigan and from the adjoining states will find the buildings surrounded by a most beautiful park, overlooking a pretty river valley, and they will the sooner get well, because of the soothing environment.

The Summer Sessions.
Immediately upon the close of the regular school year will begin the summer sessions. The session in the literary department will continue for seven weeks and that in the law department for eight weeks. In the medical department the work will mostly be in the nature of laboratory investigations and hospital cases. Not a few of the regular students in medicine are going to remain during the summer, because of the exceptional advantages for the examination of cases in the hospitals.

icine are going to remain during the summer, because of the exceptional advantages for the examination of cases in the hospitals.

School of Music.
At the school of music annual commencement exercises nine young women were graduated, as follows: Minnie Davis, piano, Ann Arbor; Alice Maybell Brooks, normal course, Kalamazoo; Mrs. Julia L. Beebe, normal course, Ann Arbor; Margaret D. Nickerson, vocal, Chelsea; Marian Alice Reynolds, vocal and piano, San Diego, Cal.; Edith Simmons, vocal, Detroit; Clara Jacobs, vocal, Detroit; Mrs. Mayle R. Kinsey, normal course, Corinrh; Sarah Lunn, vocal, Washington.

New Medical Building.
It is hoped that work will begin before long on the new $90,000 medical building. It is desired to have the walls up and the roof on before winter, so that the work in the interior may continue during the cold weather.

Many Languages.
The new catalogue of the university shows that next year 17 languages will be taught in that institution, besides English. They are: Latin, Greek, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Sanscrit, Hellenistic, Hebrew, Assyrian, Arabic, Gothic, Scandinavian, Old English, Aramaic, Syriac and Ethiopic. R. H. E.

MICHIGAN BANKERS.

Hold Their Annual Meeting in Grand Rapids, Listen to Reports and Elect Officers.

The keynote of the meeting of the Michigan State Bankers' association in Grand Rapids was prosperity. The report of Fred Farnsworth, secretary, of Detroit, went to show that the association had gained nine members in the past year, and now has a membership of 236; that there are 562 banks and banking institutions in the state, and that the association represents banking capital, surplus and undivided profits of $29,642,787.02, or 85 per cent. of the entire banking capital of the state. During the year ending January 1 last 21 banking officers in the state have died.

Officers were elected as follows: President, John T. Shaw, Detroit; first vice president, A. G. Bishop, Flint; second vice president, George T. Moeller, Saginaw; secretary, Fred E. Farnsworth, Detroit; treasurer, George T. Wolf, Three Rivers.

NEW MILITARY LAW.

Under Its Provisions It Will Be a Long Time Before There Will Be a Colored Company.

Copies of the new military law are being sent out by the adjutant general to the commanding officers of the several companies of the national guard of the state. There is a general opinion that notwithstanding the provision of the new law relative to a company of colored troops it will be a good many years before such a company will be admitted to the guards. If any more companies are taken in the law makes it mandatory for the state military board to accept a colored company, but the average number of soldiers to a company is now only about 55, and before any new companies are added the present companies will be recruited up to their full strength. With the physical examination provision of the law in mind, it is suggested that it will be some time before the present companies are filled.

RURAL DELIVERY.

Several New Routes for Free Service to Be Established in Calhoun County July 1.

Rural free delivery service has been ordered established at Marshall, Calhoun county, to take effect July 1, with D. D. Smith as carrier. The route will be 26 miles long, and serve a population of 630. The star route and post office at Tokio will both be discontinued, while the office at Rice will be supplied with a rural carrier. Mail will go to Marshall.

Two more routes have been established from Battle Creek, one running in a southerly direction from the city for 27 miles, with a total of 135 houses; the other runs northeast of the city, and is 23 miles, with 130 houses on the route.

Golden Weddings.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lovell, two of the best known pioneers of Climax township, where they own one of the finest farms in the county, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage by a golden wedding. Mr. Lovell is a native of Vermont and is 80 years old. Mrs. Lovell is a native of New York and is 76 years old. They came west together, and at Marshall they were married June 9, 1851. They went directly to their present farm, having lived upon this homestead for the entire period of their married life.

Tragedy in Detroit.

Herbert Bonslett, aged about 28 years and married, lured Teresa Rowski, aged 20 years, into a saloon in Detroit and after offering her a drink, which the police believed was poisoned, but which she refused, shot her several times in the neck. The girl is in a hospital and may recover. After shooting the girl Bonslett swallowed the poisoned drink and died shortly afterward.

LINCOLN LIKED HER.

Story of Elizabeth Keckly, a White House Factotum.

Once She Had Scores of Influential Friends, Now She Lives in Poverty—A Victim of Man's Ingratitude.

[Special Washington Letter.]

ABRAHAM LINCOLN was a good friend of mine; but he never knew what a good friend of his I was, and have ever been. Elizabeth Keckly, of No. 1131 Fifteenth street, in this city, now 80 years of age, was seamstress for Mrs. Lincoln during the civil war. She was a part of the domestic family, as much so as any cabinet minister was a part of the official family. After making the above quoted remark she said:

"I was Mr. Lincoln's friend, am his friend now, and will always protect his memory, by keeping my mouth closed concerning the many things which he unhappily suspected or imagined were going on around him officially and unofficially. I was born a slave, but bought my freedom, and so was under no obligations to Mr. Lincoln for emancipation. But I loved him for his kind manner towards me and for his great act of giving freedom to my race. I know what liberty is, because I remember what slavery was. When I was a young woman, modest as any young woman, I was stripped to the waist and flogged into insensibility. This was done more than once, simply on the pretext that 'my spirit must be broken.' I know what undeserved suffering was inflicted upon the slaves. Therefore I know what emancipation meant. You who have never suffered cannot understand the full meaning of liberty. I was as good a girl as ever lived, and I wanted to live as good women live; but I was compelled to become a mother without marriage. Oh, yes, I know what liberty is, because I know what slavery was. Consequently I have almost worshiped Abraham Lincoln. He was as kind and considerate in his treatment of me as he was of any of the white people about the white house. In that he manifested the consistency of his belief that all human beings are created equal in the sight of God. He arose every morning as a good man, and he went to bed every night as a God-fearing, Christian man. They say that servants do not reverence their masters because they know their weaknesses, as the rest of the world cannot know them. But no servant failed to respect and revere that grand man of God, and man of the common people. His life was pure. I cannot say that of all whom I knew in those days.

"I have been honest and not avaricious, or I would not now in my days of feebleness and age be working hard with the needle to earn my daily bread. I never betrayed a secret in the days when secrets were worth gold, and gold was scarce. Nearly all of the great men and women who knew me are now away from earth. The members of the family that I served longest and best are heedless of my age and infirmities and necessities, and unappreciative of my loyalty; a loyalty which I shall continue until my lips are sealed in death. I served the families of Douglas, Harlan, Breckenridge, Lincoln, Chase, and many others who were famous in those days. By all of them, it seems, I am forgotten, else I would not be helpless and penniless in my declining years."

Referring feelingly to Lincoln, she said: "I know, and I know it well, that so unhappy was that great man, so tired of life and its burdens, that if he could have expressed an opinion concerning the work of the assassin, he would have said: 'I am glad that it is all over.' He was always ready for death, and I knew him so well that I have always felt that death was welcome to him when it came."

Trembling with emotion this remarkable woman said: "The people whom I personally served seem to have forsaken me, but the government has not overlooked me. My only son was a soldier and died for the cause of liberty. The government gives me a small pension. Thereby I am able to pay my room rent. If I had one single friend who would ask congress to relieve me I know that they would give me a liberal pension because God knows I served my country while I was in the white house, and I helped Mr. Lincoln in many ways by my loyalty. Moreover, I served Mrs. Lincoln in her darkest days of subsequent poverty. I looked after her interests and helped her to raise money when she was in dire distress. Then I was strong and vigorous. I had no fear of the future. I believed in my ability to take care of myself, and it never occurred to me that I would live to be forgotten and forsaken. I made no provision for old age, for I did not know ingratitude. It was my ignorance.

"When Mr. Lincoln was shot and carried across the street to die in that little house opposite the theater, the first thing that Mrs. Lincoln said was: 'Send for Keckly.' They sent for me at the white house, but did not send to my residence. Consequently I did not reach Mrs. Lincoln until the next morning. She embraced me and reprovingly said: 'Elizabeth, why did you not come last night?' Then I explained that I had tried to come to her, but could not find her; because the messengers who would have admitted me were unable to find me. I remained with Mrs. Lincoln until she left the white house. I went to Illinois with her. I never left her until it was impossible for her to keep me with her any longer."

Reverting to her poverty and feebleness, she said: "To-day I had to be trusted for a few spoils of thread with which to do my sewing. In the old days I employed upwards of 20 sewing girls. My credit was good for hundreds of dollars' worth of goods. My services were sought everywhere, and I was always busy. I still have plenty of work to do, but I am too feeble to do it. I am only able to do enough work to keep me in bread and butter. Just think of it! Lincoln, Douglas, Harlan, Seward, Fred Douglass, Bishop Wayman; all gone—all gone. May be I have lived too long. Not one of my powerful friends is living. If they were, you would not see me living in a rented room, struggling from day to day for food and clothing. If they were living, Wendell Phillips, Fred Douglass, Lloyd Garrison, John B. Gough and others would lecture for my benefit, or send me their cheques. But they are all gone, and here am I, a reminiscence of the glorious days and glorious men of whom I speak to you. But when I am in most distress, when days are dark, I think of what I often heard Mr. Lincoln say to his wife: 'Don't worry, mother; because all things will come out right. God rules our destinies.'

"I made lots of money when I was young and strong," continued the aged woman. "While I was a slave, I performed all of my duties and earned $1,200 additional, with which I bought the freedom of myself and my boy; the boy I lost in the civil war; the boy who would to-day be my comfort and support."

"I made dresses for Mrs. Lincoln, the ladies of President Andrew Johnson's family, and also for the ladies of the Grant administration. I was famous, in my line, for many years. I was proud; yes, very proud. But fame and pride do not last, as I have found to my sorrow. They don't bring food to an old woman when she is forgotten or when her friends have passed away."

Concerning the public receptions in the white house during the civil war she says: "I dressed Mrs. Lincoln for every levee. I made every stitch of clothing that she wore. I dressed her hair. I put on her skirts and dresses. I fixed her bouquets, saw that her gloves were all right, and remained with her each evening until Mr. Lincoln came for her. My hands were the last to touch her before she took the arm of Mr. Lincoln and went forth to meet the ladies and gentlemen on those great occasions."

Here, in the national capital, in a rented room in a small house, in an obscure neighborhood, friendless and growing gradually weaker and nearer the end of earth, lives this born slave, who bought her own freedom, who became famous among famous women and more famous men, in a wonderful period of the history of the republic. Here she lives alone, and here she soon will die, for not many moons will elapse before the inevitable summons must come to Elizabeth Keckly.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Accused of Murder.

Mrs. Charles Yates, wife of a farmer living near St. Louis, was placed under arrest charged with murder. The dead body of Jasper Wright, a neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. Yates, was found in a thicket near their home. While a coroner's jury was investigating the case Mrs. Yates disclaimed an intimate acquaintance with Wright, but later admitted that she had been alone with him and on being recalled confessed that she had been accustomed to meeting Wright.

Pardoned.

Gov. Bliss has pardoned Edward Maher and George Carroll, sent to state prison from the southern part of the state last October for a term of two years for breaking and entering a house. The facts as ascertained by the state pardon board are that the two men pushed open a door and entered a vacant house for the purpose of securing a tin can in which to cook a cabbage they had taken. They committed no other offense.

Damaging Storm.

A heavy rain and hailstorm passed over Traverse City and a portion of Grand Traverse county, one inch and a quarter of rain falling in one hour, and hailstones as large as hens' eggs fell in some localities. Lightning struck the barn, instantly killing the elder, a boy of 14 years.

Crop Outlook.

The weekly crop report of the Washington weather bureau says for Michigan:

Week was exceptionally cool and unfavorable for crop growth and seed germination; corn yellow and very backward; rye and new meadows very promising; sugar beets and potatoes doing well; oats rather small, but generally healthy; bean and buckwheat seeding in progress; wheat badly infested with Hessian fly and many fields being plowed under, and general prospects are for poorest yield ever known in this state.

Acid for Whisky.

Michael Doyle, of Elsie, representative from Clinton county in the lower house of the legislature, died in the rooms of Edith Manders, a hotel domestic in Lansing, as the result of taking a dose of carbolic acid which the woman says she gave him in mistake for whisky. Doyle was 59 years old and leaves a family.

Must Serve His Sentence.

Electric Railway Notes.

The first lot of poles consigned to the Detroit & Chicago Traction Co. at Dexter has arrived.

The Washtenaw Times says the D., Y. & A. A. road will probably go into the hands of the Everett-Moore syndicate today or tomorrow.

Dexter Leader: The grubbing and fence gang of the Boland road is at work on the line west of this village and about 60 teams began operations this week. The contractor calculates that it will take about two weeks to complete the grade to the Scio township line.

J. D. Hawks of the Hawks-Angus combination is credited with saying that his company will surely build a line from their territorial road line, through Dexter to Lansing, and that plans having that end in view are now being arranged.

The route of the Detroit & Chicago Traction Co.'s road between Dexter and Plymouth is all laid out and surveyed, and the levels are now being taken preparatory to establishing the grade and letting the contract for constructing the roadbed.

The Jackson & Suburban Traction company has decided to formally open the line between Jackson and Grass Lake on Saturday, June 29. In the meantime a new 500 horse power generator will be installed in the power house at Jackson to insure sufficient power.

Detroit Tribune, June 15: A party of Jackson business men went to Detroit recently to endeavor to persuade the promoters of the Hawks-Angus proposed electric line to change the route from Ypsilanti to Jackson and take a southern course through Saline, Manchester, Brooklyn and Napoleon, thus giving Jackson an outlet to the southeast. Hawks and Angus said the route could not be changed, as it was planned that the Hawks-Angus line would be tapped at Chelsea from the north; also that the construction of the road had progressed too far to admit of a change of route.

An official of the D., Y., A. A. & J. railway company states that the differences between the company and the citizens of Ann Arbor who own property on Huron street along the route of the proposed bridge over the Ann Arbor railroad have been settled. The rails have been laid from Chelsea to a point three-quarters of a mile west of the Ann Arbor city limits, and a gang of men are working east from that point setting poles. Had the injunction not interfered with the work the track would have been laid into the city limits by this time. Pending a settlement of that question the rail-laying gang quit work at that end and came to Chelsea and worked west from here. The poles will not be set to the city limits before July 1. This gang of men will then go to work stringing wires, none of which are up as yet. From present indications it will be some time before cars will be running between here and Ann Arbor.

People from this locality should make an especial effort to arrive in time to see the new free street carnival which precedes the exhibition every morning at 10 o'clock. The procession is divided into thirty enormous sections, each of which is a complete parade, and presents in its entirety a bewilderingly magnificent two-mile carnival of pageantry, such as the world has never seen. In this gorgeous display are shown over 100 beautiful dens and cages of wild animals, 500 horses, 80 elephants and nearly a thousand people, and the costumes throughout are of the finest silks, satins, and cloth of gold. The performance that follows is the most magnificent arenic display ever presented by any circus in America. Excursion rates on all lines of travel.

A CRUSHING DEFEAT.

British Troops Surprised in Camp by the Boers.

Detachment of 250 Victorian Mounted Rifles Overwhelmed—All Except 52 Are Killed, Wounded or Captured.

London, June 17.—Lord Kitchener has cabled from Pretoria, under Sunday's date, as follows:

"Near Welmarus, 20 miles south of Middleburg, 250 Victorian mounted rifles from Gen. Beaton's column were surprised in camp at Steenkopspruit by a superior force of Boers at 7:30 p. m. June 12. The enemy crept up to within short range and poured a deadly fire into the camp, killing two officers and 16 men, and wounding four officers and 38 men, of whom 28 were slightly wounded. Only two officers and 50 men escaped to Gen. Beaton's camp. The remainder were taken prisoners and released. Two pompons were captured by the enemy. Full details have not yet been received."

Will Encourage the Boers.

London, June 17.—The serious reverse which Lord Kitchener reports is the first accident of the kind that has happened to the Australian contingent, and it is supposed to be due to neglect of proper picketing. Although it is offset by the defeat inflicted upon DeWet, the loss of the guns is regarded as a serious matter which will encourage the Boers to continue the struggle.

Little Prospect of Peace.

More or less fanciful accounts are published on the continent of alleged peace negotiations, but there is nothing in them, and nothing has come of the interview between Mrs. Botha and Mr. Kruger beyond revealing the fact that Mr. Kruger will listen to no proposals unless they are accompanied with a guarantee of the independence of the republics.

The Daily Mail's Cape Town correspondent says that Cecil Rhodes, speaking at Bulawayo Saturday, predicted that a federation of South African states would come in three or four years; but he contended that to grant self-government to the republics before federation would render federation impossible.

De Wet Is Defeated.

London, June 17.—Lord Kitchener reports to the war office from Pretoria as follows: "During the march from Vrede Gen. Elliot's column engaged De Wet near Reitz, June 6. After severe fighting they captured 71 loaded wagons, 45 prisoners, 53 rifles, 10,000 rounds of ammunition and 4,000 cattle. The Boers left 17 killed and three wounded. Our casualties were three officers and 17 men killed and one officer and 24 men wounded."

WEARY OF POLITICS.

Senator Platt, of New York, Declares Positively That He Will Not Be a Candidate for Re-election.

New York, June 17.—Senator Thomas C. Platt will not accept a re-election to his seat in the United States senate as a representative of New York when his term expires on March 4, 1903. If it were possible, Senator Platt would relinquish the senatorship to-day. Because of physical infirmities and domestic bereavement he wishes to retire. This statement comes from the lips of Senator Platt himself. When the announcement was made it caused great astonishment, coming so soon after President McKinley had made his declaration that he would refuse a third term.

Senator Platt was in the corridor of the Fifth Avenue hotel for a short time Saturday night, having returned from Buffalo, where he visited the Pan-American exposition. He talked for a few minutes on general topics, and when spoken to about the pleasant duties of the United States senatorship, said: "I don't like it. Just as soon as my term is up I'm going to retire. I shall not go back to the United States senate again." It was not denied by friends of the senator that he is in feeble health. He has suffered, through the recent death of his wife, and those who have watched him closely of late are of opinion that he feels he is unequal to the task of carrying the burden of politics any longer.

It is expected that there will be a scramble for the position which Senator Platt has announced his intention to vacate. Vice President Roosevelt, it was said, would probably be one of the aspirants, as it is believed he would be willing to vacate his position for the more important place, as the senatorship from this state is considered.

Pontiac Wins First Prize.

St. Paul, Minn., June 17.—Pontiac (Ill.) camp proved its superiority to its competitors in the Modern Woodmen drill contests, which closed Saturday, and was given first prize, $500. Its percentage was 99.1-40. Rockford, Ill., with 98.9 is second and takes $400; Kansas City, 98.85 and $300; Des Moines, 98.5 and $200; Rock Island, Ill., 98.05 and $87.50; Topeka, Kan., 98.05 and $87.50; Dubuque, Ia., 97.4 and $50.

MRS. PINGREE IS WORRIED.

Though Far from Well, She Will Go to London to Be with Sick Husband.

London, June 18.—Ex-Gov. Pingree's physician left him at midnight. There is continued apprehension as to his condition. The strongest drugs have failed to check the dysentery, and the only hopeful symptom is that the patient is enabled freely to partake of nourishment. Mrs. Pingree sails for London Wednesday, and the physicians hope that Mr. Pingree may at least be able to see his wife, as he remains perfectly rational.

Mr. Pingree, Jr., said Monday evening: "Father seems about the same, except that I think he is weaker even than yesterday." Dr. Mills said to a representative of the press: "There is no material change in the patient, except that the constant drain on his constitution is proving a most difficult problem for his physicians to combat."

Detroit, Mich., June 18.—Frank C. Pingree, brother of ex-Gov. Hazen S. Pingree, who is dangerously ill in London, left for New York Monday afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. H. S. Pingree and her daughter, Miss Hazel. The party will sail for London on Wednesday. Mrs. Pingree is far from well, but is so anxious about her husband's condition that she will cross the ocean to be with him.

PLANNING TO GO TO CANTON.

Mrs. McKinley Continues to Improve and Will Probably Leave Washington About July 1.

Washington, June 18.—Mrs. McKinley's condition continues to improve, and there was no consultation of physicians at the white house Monday. Surgeon General Sternberg, one of the consulting physicians, left for the Philippines Monday, and Dr. Rixey did not consider it necessary to call in Dr. Johnston, the other consulting physician. If the present improvement goes on it is expected that Mrs. McKinley will be able to travel soon after July 1. The president will then accompany her to Canton, where the McKinley home has been made ready to receive her. How long the president and Mrs. McKinley will remain in Canton will depend upon the benefit Mrs. McKinley receives from her stay at her old home. After she has been there for some time, if the weather is oppressively warm and her physician recommends a change, the president probably will take her to some quiet place in the mountains or at the seashore. In any event, when the president departs for Canton with Mrs. McKinley early in July it will be to remain away from Washington for the remainder of the heated term. He might return for a day or two once or twice during the summer, but he will not again take up his abode at the white house until fall.

Dr. Rixey, on leaving the white house shortly after 11 o'clock Monday night, said that Mrs. McKinley had passed an excellent day. She had rested in her easy chair for a longer time than usual and was now able, he said, to see a few friends for a short time each day. He expressed with considerable confidence the belief that Mrs. McKinley will be strong enough to go to Canton by July 1.

A HEROIC TRAINMAN.

Although Badly Injured in a Wreck, He Saves Another Train from Disaster.

Hamlet, N. C., June 18.—Late Sunday night the north-bound Seaboard air line Atlanta special turned broadside off a trestle into a pond about a mile north of Rockingham. Thirty passengers were more or less injured, several very seriously and two, a white man and a negro, probably fatally. On account of the rains the pliers of the trestle gave way on the left side. At the first crash all lights went out and water rushed in waist deep through the windows. Baggage-master Smith, though seriously hurt, crawled out and, seizing a lantern, hobbled down the track and flagged a following freight, thereby preventing a second catastrophe. When the freight stopped he was lying on the ground unable to rise, but still waving his lantern. He had to be carried back on a stretcher. A relief train came from Hamlet with doctors and another from Rockingham. The hotel here is being used as a temporary hospital.

GIVEN DIPLOMAS.

Samuel Dickie, LL. D., who has been acting president since the retirement of former President Dr. John P. Ashley, who has since resigned, was unanimously elected permanent president.

Find Coal.

Coal prospectors who have been working the Saginaw valley fields the past few years say that there is a vein of coal between 400 and 500 feet below the surface which it would pay the operators to go after. They claim that this vein averages thicker than the one now worked by all of the Saginaw valley mines, and that, being deeper down, it is older and much better coal than that of the upper vein.

Five Men Indicted.

Five indictments were returned by the grand jury in Grand Rapids which has been investigating the charges of boodling in connection with the installation of a new water plant. The indicted men are Lant K. Salsbury, city attorney; Thomas F. McGarry, attorney; Gerrit H. Albers, attorney; Stillson V. McLeod, bank teller; H. A. Taylor, of New York, capitalist.

Laid the Corner Stone.

The corner stone of the new Borgess hospital in Kalamazoo was laid and blessed by Bishop Foley, of Detroit. Seven thousand persons attended the ceremonies. Many dignitaries of the Catholic church were in attendance. Large delegations were present from Detroit, Niles, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Dowagiac, Paw Paw, Plainwell, Watson and other towns.

Big Sawmill.

The largest sawmill in the state is now being erected 16 miles east of Mancelona, in the midst of an immense tract of timber which is as yet untouched. The structure will be 350 feet long and will have a capacity of 200,000 feet daily. Notwithstanding this enormous daily capacity, the tract of timber in which it stands will keep it busy for at least ten years.

MIRROR IS DECEPTIVE.

Every Woman Who Depends Upon the Shining Glass Is a Victim of Misplaced Confidence.

One's reflection in a mirror never does one justice. Comfortable thought for the plain and pretty alike! Complexion, expression and color are all really better than the shining glass makes them appear. Let not her to whom nature has been sparing of her charms despair. If she would see herself in the deceptive mirror as others see her with the eye, or as nearly as possible, let her hasten to a draper's shop and buy a quantity of soft, pure white material—gauze, if possible; if not, swiss or india muslin will answer very well.

Be sure to have it pure white, and, after polishing the surface of the mirror, gather the material at the center of the top and bring it down softly at either side, framing the glass in folds of pure white. When this is done to artistic satisfaction, peep in and see what a transformation, suggests an exchange. The true tints of the complexion, the expression of the countenance and the eyes, the correct color of the hair will be very accurately reflected. This is one of the milliner's oldest secrets. Many of the most artful of them drape the glasses in the softest drapery of pure white. It is done with the view of giving their patronesses the best view of themselves possible, administering in this way a little subtle flattery.

MADE A BAD BREAK.

Yet Algernon Cannot Understand Why He Is No Longer Liked by the Elliott Family.

Algernon wonders why the Elliott family seems to dislike him. He has been in love with Miss Elliott for more than a year. When he first fell in love with her he decided that it would be a wise thing to "make up" to her mother. Mrs. Elliott was a comparatively young woman, whose ambition it was to appear even more youthful than she really was.

"HOW INTERESTING! AN ANTIQUE!"

When Mrs. Elliott asked Algernon to dinner one day he felt that he was really getting along. The appointment was for Wednesday of the succeeding week. Several days before the appointed time he happened to meet Mrs. Elliott on the street.

"I'm sorry," she said to him, "but little Johnny is quite ill and I'll have to ask you to postpone dining with us for a few days. I'll write and let you know."

"Don't speak of it," said Algernon, with what was intended to be elaborate politeness. "One enjoys that sort of thing so much more in anticipation. Mrs. Elliott, that this postponement will only prolong my pleasure."

A few weeks later he went to call. Miss Elliott and her mother were both in the drawing-room. The younger woman, to whom it was not easy to entertain Algernon, was exhibiting for his diversion some household treasures.

"And here," she said, handing him a dog-eared copybook, "is a book which my mother used when she was at boarding school as a young girl."

"How interesting!" said Algernon, with a coquettish smile at Mrs. Elliott. "How interesting! An antique!"

And Algernon can't understand yet why the Elliott family seems to dislike him.—Chicago Tribune.

A KLONDIKE ROMANCE.

Poor Dressmaker Seeks Fortune in the Far North and Finds It and a Husband.

Only a few years have passed since Mrs. Joseph Beck, wife of a Klondike gold king, was a poor dressmaker in San Francisco.

Early in life she married one Nowell, who died leaving her penniless with one small son. Mrs. Nowell took in sewing as a means of earning her living and worked until the fall of 1897, when she decided to seek her fortune in the gold fields.

Her friends encouraged her in the venture. So, late in the fall, Mrs. Nowell, leaving her son in good care, sailed for the gold fields.

It was a rough journey and filled with many hardships which would cause a fainter heart to weaken and turn back, but Mrs. Nowell was made of sterner stuff and traveled on undaunted toward Dawson City.

HOW THE ROMANCE BEGAN.

On her arrival at Dawson she decided to earn her living as a dressmaker, and began to apply herself to her old business in the new field. She had not been long there, however, when she heard that Joseph Beck, a wealthy mine owner, was in need of a bookkeeper. She secured the position. Entering the office, she applied the same energy that had characterized her as a dressmaker.

The eyes of Mr. Beck were not closed to all this. Her character and disposition had won his heart, and he saw in her now not only the elements which make a loving wife but those of a splendid partner. So, after a short courtship he proposed, was accepted, and the two returned to San Francisco in the fall of 1898, where they were married.

After the wedding Mr. Beck, with his wife and stepson, Walter S. Nowell, returned to Dawson, where, by judicious investments, Beck increased his fortune until to-day he is one of the richest men in the gold fields. He owned the Old Dominion claim, which he sold at a high price, and bought up claim No. 11 on Gold Run, for which he was offered $90,000. At present Mr. and Mrs. Beck own a claim neighbor to one which worked $40,000 in four days, and both expect a great income from their new "digging."

Mrs. Beck recently visited in San Francisco, returning to Dawson February 25. She took sleighs at White Horse and traveled 400 miles in the severest season of the year back to her husband and son in the capital of the gold fields.

Mrs. Beck's recent trip was for the purpose of buying a country place for herself and husband, who intends selling out in about two years and again becoming a resident of California. Mrs. Beck bought a large tract of 7,000 acres of land near Red Bluff, which will be conducted as a stock range, a large number of cattle already having been bought.

On the return of the Becks they will occupy a palatial residence in course of construction at Red Bluff.

Mrs. Beck has over $2,000 worth of gold nuggets made into necklaces and bracelets as souvenirs from the Old Dominion claim.

The San Francisco Call is authority for this narrative.

Fowls a la Mayonnaise.

Boil a couple of fowls and cut them up in joints. Lay them on a dish, heaped rather higher in the middle than the sides, and cover them with a thick coating of mayonnaise sauce, made as follows: Mix the yolks of three eggs with a little pepper and salt, squeeze the juice of a lemon into a cup and strain, then add to the yolks about half a pint of the best salad oil, adding it a few drops at a time; then, drop by drop, add the lemon juice, and, lastly, two tablespoonfuls of cream. Garnish the fowls with sprigs of watercress and alternate slices of lemon and beetroot.

EXPRESS CONFIDENCE.

Leaders of Federal Party in Porto Rico Assure Gov. Allen, for First Time, of Cooperation.

San Juan, P. R., June 18.—At a mass meeting of the federal party held Sunday Francisco Acuña was elected party leader to succeed Muñoz Rivera. As a first step toward establishing harmonious relations between the federal party and the American authorities, a committee composed of Senors Acuña, Santiago Palmer and Diaz Navarro paid their respects to Gov. Allen Monday and offered him their cooperation in whatever measures would advance the best interests of Porto Rico. It is now thought that the time has come when party bickerings should cease and be overlooked and that all men should unite in a common desire to aid the government. The committee informed Gov. Allen that they were satisfied the intentions of the administration had been for the best. Gov. Allen received the visiting committee with the usual courtesies and expressing his pleasure at their visit said he had never for a moment doubted the result of the experiment the successful issue of which was retarded only by injudicious statements. He said the future contained such promise and that he looked and hoped for continued improvement. He intimated that the island would undoubtedly soon enjoy free trade with the United States and that as soon as Porto Rican and American markets were open to each other a great era of Porto Rican prosperity would ensue. This visit of the committee of three is the first instance wherein leaders of the federal party have called upon the American governor, and it is taken as an indication of complete political harmony for the future. Sunday's mass meeting was held in secret. It was understood during this session that the federal party had resolved to support the government.

Washington, June 18.—Secretary Hay Monday received the following telegram from Gov. Allen of Porto Rico at San Juan:

"Unanimous vote to-day, heads of departments, fixed date for the special session of the legislature for July 4. The date of proclamation will be announced at the session."

The proclamation referred to is that which will declare free trade to exist between the United States and Porto Rico, after a designated date, in conformity with the terms of the Foraker act, which allowed two years to test the ability of the island to sustain itself through internal taxation. Gov. Allen's reports have indicated that under the Hollander act Porto Rico is now ready to assume free trade.

MURDER CHARGED.

Four Brothers Accused of Killing an Old Fisherman Near Rock Island, Ill.

Rock Island, Ill., June 18.—Charles Wendt, an old fisherman residing at Cordova, Rock Island county, was found dead Monday in his boat floating in the Mississippi river. He had been shot with a shotgun fired at such close range that the wads of the gun were imbedded in his face. Corner Eckhart placed four brothers, Edward, Harvey, Elmer and Curley Stiles, under arrest. They had a quarrel some time ago with Wendt over a fishing net, and since had made threats against him. They admitted having been up the river in their steam launch, and that they had a gun with them. An examination of their ammunition disclosed wads like those picked out of Wendt's face.

PLATT'S PREDICTION.

The New York Senator Seems to Think Gov. Odell May One Day Be President.

New York, June 18.—The Journal and Advertiser says: "It seems to me that Gov. Odell will be reelected and that he will later be president." This was Senator Thomas C. Platt's reply to a question put to him by a Journal and Advertiser reporter, as to whether Gov. Odell is likely to succeed him in the senate two years hence.

"It has been reported that you may resign from the senate ere your term expires?"

"I have no such intention. The only fact is that I propose to retire when my term ends in 1903. The reports that I am in ill health are unfounded."

Don't Want Militia.

Honolulu, June 7, via San Francisco, June 18.—The senate committee in the legislature returned a report to-day recommending the entire abolition of the national guard. The report suggested that the military paraphernalia be put aboard a scow, towed out to sea and dumped overboard.

Debs Settles a Strike.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 18.—The local machinists' strike was settled Monday afternoon through the efforts of Eugene Debs. The men get ten hours' pay for nine hours' work. On other points concessions were made by the men.

A PIKE COUNTY MIRACLE.

Velpen, Ind., June 17.—William O. B. Sullivan, farmer of this place, and who is a brother of ex-Representative Sullivan, of Pike and Dubois counties, has had a remarkable experience recently.

Mr. Sullivan is 49 years of age, and has been a citizen of Pike county for 30 years. For two years he has suffered much with Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism. His shoulders and side were very sore and stiff, and his back was so bad he could hardly straighten up at all. He had palpitation of the heart, and a smothering which was very distressing. He used three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and is as strong and well as ever he was. He pronounces his cure a miracle. Mr. Sullivan's statement of his case is startling:

"A month ago I was a cripple. Today I can do a hard day's work every day, and have not a single ache or pain."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have done some wonderful cures in Indiana, but none more miraculous than that in the case of Mr. Sullivan.

ELECTRICITY AT WORK.

San Francisco's largest suburb, Oakland, obtains its electric force from a stream 150 miles away. Experience proves that long-distance transmission of electric power is a success in every way.

Forty thousand volts were successfully transmitted over 140 miles with a loss of not over five per cent. from the power plant on the Yuba river and used in propelling the electric railway cars in the city of Oakland, Cal.

A self-generating electric light buoy off Bunsum, on the North sea, is so sensitive and so efficient that the slightest motion of the waves operates it. This automatic light has been sufficiently tested to predict its general use.

A German inventor has devised electric eyeglasses or spectacles. The frames are made of alternate layers of zinc and copper, which being moistened with a dilute acid gives an electric current which is claimed to restore dimmed vision.

A progressive if not overhonest New Jersey farmer tapped the feeder of a trolley line, conveying the electric current under his truck garden by means of a network of wire, and had his radishes in half the time it took his slower neighbors to raise them.

Edison's dream, and we hope his prediction, bids fair to be realized by the discovery of immense bodies of the rare mineral, cadmium, in a Colorado mine. Cadmium is used by Edison in his recently invented storage battery, and he declared that with such a discovery "electricity would become cheaper than water."

It has been proved that electrified seed germinates more rapidly than others, and also by burying in the soil one zinc plate and one copper plate, placed vertically and connected by a wire, that potatoes and other roots grown in the electrified space thus secured produce about three times the crop that others do in similar soil close by, but without the electricity. It is also applied to the ripening process and found to be successful.

The lake formerly covered about 60 square miles at low water in the center of Boeotia, and near it was one of the ancient oracles of Apollo.

The Picturesque Pan-American Route to Buffalo.

is a very appropriate designation of the Grand Trunk Railway System, which has made the most ample preparations to accommodate visitors to the East this summer.

A new train was inaugurated June 2, known as the "Detroit and New York Express," which leaves Dearborn Station, Chicago, at 11:32 a. m. The equipment is new and strictly up-to-date, every comfort of the traveler being provided for. Meals are served a la carte between Chicago and New York at any hour to suit the convenience of patrons.

From Detroit the train speeds eastward, stopping en route at Mt. Clemens, whose waters are famous the world over, leaving the State at Port Huron, and entering Canada via the great "St. Clair Tunnel," that marvel of engineering, passing during the night through the important cities of London and Hamilton, crossing the magnificent single arch double track steel bridge over the Niagara Gorge, arriving at Niagara Falls, N. Y., at 4:25 a. m., where stop-over may, under certain conditions, be made without additional cost by deposit of railway ticket with agent.

Buffalo, the Pan-American City, is reached at 6:15 a. m., where stop-over is granted on tickets to points beyond Buffalo, on payment of $1.

The trip east of Buffalo via the Lehigh Valley Railroad through the lake region of New York State is like passing through a fairland of beauty. The view of the historic Wyoming Valley from the mountains which arise on either side is strikingly beautiful—one which the traveler will long remember, even when gazing upon scenes of wider fame.

At South Bethlehem connection is made for Philadelphia, which is reached at 3:47 p. m.

New York is reached at 4:33 p. m., a most convenient hour, as it allows ample time to reach hotel or residence, dine leisurely, and enjoy the whole evening in the city.

For sleeping car reservations on all trains, and for any additional information, apply to J. H. Burgis, City Pass. and Ticket Agent, 249 Clark St., corner Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

A Goat in Trouble.

Charles Napier Bell in his book,
"Tangweera," gives an interesting account of his life at a settlement named Bluesfields, on the Mosquito coast. Tig-gers were frequent visitors. His house was built on posts, and the goats and pigs slept underneath. Frequently the animals would rush out from their shelter, and in the morning tiger tracks would be seen.

One dark night, writes Mr. Bell, my sister woke me, saying that a tiger was killing one of our goats. I rose and heard a piteous bleating in the wood shed. I lighted a lantern and fired off my gun, but still the cries continued. Then my sister and I sallied out to the rescue. She held the lantern while I walked in front with my double barreled gun.

We walked cautiously over the 40 yards of grass and stopped at the shed, afraid to enter its dark shadow. The piteous cries of the goat continued, and we were surprised to see the pigs lying in the dust quite unconcerned and all the goats, with their green eyes glittering in the light of the lantern, composedly chewing their cud.
We were certain from this evidence that there was no tiger about, and we searched carefully to discover where the cries came from. At last my sister saw the horns sticking out of an upright barrel of tar!

The goat, like all goats, loving high places, had jumped upon the top of the barrel, and the head giving way, it was plunged up to the neck in tar.

I mounted the barrel, with my feet on the rims, and, laying hold of the horns, I hoisted the goat out of the tar and tumbled it on the ground, and then we laughed and went to bed.

The next morning the poor goat was covered with coconut oil, washed with hot water and soap and made as clean as possible, but all its hair dropped off, and it was a long time before it grew again.

he could not speak English and was unacquainted with our customs, but he splendid qualities of mind. He rides to
