PAVING BIDS OPENED.

Figures Will Be Tabulated and the Cost Fully Computed Before the Contract Is Awarded.

At the council meeting last evening three contractors put in their bids for putting in sewers and paving. They were William J. Clancy, of Ann Arbor; Lenane Bros., of Detroit, and George H. Kneal, of Lansing. The decision as to whether any of the bids will be accepted will not be made until after the figures have been tabulated and full information has been secured as to what the actual cost of the improvement will be. The council reserved the right to reject any or all bids and under that understanding the bids were opened.

Improve Money Order Service.

The post office department announces that to facilitate the correct issue of postal money orders, and to further improve its money order service, it has introduced, for distribution by business firms to their patrons, and for the convenience of those who have occasion to remit to such firms, special forms of applications for money orders, in which the name and address of the payee are conspicuously printed in red ink.

The department will furnish forms free of cost, and will cause them to be sent to any applicant, in such reasonable quantity as may be desired, upon request made therefor through the postmaster at any money order office.

It is desirable to avoid the use of postage stamps for this purpose, as also the transmission of coin or notes in the open mail, especially where money orders are available. To encourage and promote the use of the postal money orders, which afford the safest and most satisfactory means of making remittances of small amounts, these special application forms are designed.

These applications will be printed with translation in any foreign language.

Condition of the Corn Crop.

The July average condition of the growing corn crop is below the ten year average at the corresponding period, and the planted area is 400,000 acres less than that of last year; but Statistician Brown of the New York Produce Exchange, calculates that the condition and acreage estimates of the Department of Agriculture up to July 1 pointed to a possible yield of 2,098,000,000 bushels, or only 7,000,000 bushels short of the production of 1900. The prospect, however, has been considerably impaired since the date of the government's compilation of the reports, and a continuance of the scorching winds and drouth which have prevailed in many localities for several weeks past would materially reduce the possible yield.

Killed by the Cars.

Henry L. L'Hommedieu, a son of Superintendent L'Hommedieu of the Michigan Central and a freshman in the engineering department of the University of Michigan, was struck by the Grand Rapids express on the Michigan Central at Ann Arbor and instantly killed at 6:10 Wednesday evening of last week. He was assisting H. H. Adams, railroad engineer, in surveying in the railroad yards. The train came from behind, hurling him into the air. His neck was broken, also one leg. This is the second student to be killed on the Michigan Central tracks at Ann Arbor in one year.

A Bug That Thrives on Paris Green.

One of the worst pests that the farmers and market gardeners have had to contend with has made its appearance near Belleville. It is a large bug with wings and slightly resembles a squash bug; has long, yellow stripes upon its back, and is from one-half to three-fourths of an inch in length. It devours everything green that it comes in contact with. Paris green seems to have no effect. One market gardener reports that a patch of half an acre of potatoes was swooped down upon and ruined, the bugs eating everything in some two hours.

ST. MARY'S PARISH PICNIC.

An Annual Event That is Always Eagerly Looked For.

The annual picnic of St. Mary's parish is an event that is always anticipated and is always a great success. This year's picnic which comes on Tuesday, Aug. 20, will be no exception to the rule and the program laid out for the day's entertainment promises to be both an interesting and an instructive one. There will be speeches by the greatest jollier in Michigan, our Congressman Henry C. Smith, of Adrian, W. W. Wedemeyer, of Ann Arbor, and the Rev. Dr. Whelan, of Baltimore, Md., who two years ago created such a good impression by the excellent remarks he then made. The Chelsea Cornet Band has been engaged to furnish music. There will be a series of games for which prizes will be given to the successful contestants. An elegant silver watch will be raffled off, the proceeds to be for the benefit of the church. A solid gold ring will be given to the girl selling the most chances and a watch will be given to the boy who does the same. The ladies of the church are noted for the fine dinners they serve on these occasions and they will this year equal their former efforts in this line. There will also be ice cream, cake, soft drinks and cigars for sale. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present. The tickets for the dinner will be 25 cents each.

The Horse Saved Them.

Washtenaw Times: Was it premonition or sagacity or the intervention of providence that caused a horse to take a man and two ladies from the Rollison Bros. barn in Webster that was struck by lightning last week? About 20 minutes before the barn was struck, during the heavy rain, a man with two ladies in a buggy drove up and attempted to enter the open barn for shelter. The horse positively refused to enter the building, and when the driver gave him a cut with the whip made a sudden turn and ran down the road as if running away. It was more than 40 rods before the horse could be brought down to an ordinary gait. The parties drove on and did not turn. A few minutes later the lightning struck the barn, it being in flames all over at once. If the parties had been in the barn they would no doubt have all been killed.

Found Dead in the Hay Loft.

Death came very suddenly to Gottlob Mast, a prominent farmer of Webster township, on Saturday afternoon. His little grandson had discovered a nest of eggs in a hole about three or four feet deep in the hay loft and Mr. Mast went up to get them. He probably was lying flat and reaching down when a sudden dizziness came over him and he fell headlong into the hole. When found his neck was broken, but death must have resulted from heart disease, at least such is the opinion of the doctor called into the case.

Mr. Mast was 74 years old and came to this country at the age of 16 from Germany. He was formerly a shoemaker in Ann Arbor, but some years ago he took up his home in Webster. He leaves a widow and 12 children.

Agricultural Education.

School Commissioner Foster has put out as one of the reading circle books for teachers Bailey's "Principles of Agriculture." This is a great step in advance, as Washtenaw county will be the first county in the state to take steps to prepare the rural school teachers along the line of agricultural education. Mr. Foster is determined to keep up the schools of this county to their present grade and to try to advance. The Washtenaw school teachers have the reputation in the state of being as a whole the best qualified of those of any county in the state. Their work is of the greatest importance to the rising generation and to every one.

A Successful Institute.

The state teachers' institute held in Ann Arbor last week was one of the most enthusiastic and successful sessions ever held in the state. The interest and attendance increased steadily from the beginning, as was shown in the increase of attendance. When the institute opened about 48 teachers from all over the state were present, but at the close this number had reached about 85. The teachers speak very highly of the institutes and feel very grateful toward the directors for the efforts put forth in their behalf.

BREATHES HER LAST.

Dowager Empress Frederick, of Germany, Is Dead.

Emperor William and Other Children Present at the Bedside—She Was the Eldest Daughter of Queen Victoria.

Cronberg, Aug. 6.—Dowager Empress Frederick died at 6:15 p. m. The death of the dowager empress was somewhat sudden. At four o'clock her physicians reported no change in her condition. Emperor William and her majesty's other children were in the sick room most of the day. At 11:30 a. m. she was fully conscious and all her children, with the exception of Prince Henry, who is at Cadix, were assembled in the sick room. Closely following the announcement of the death from the castle the church bells were tolled and the flags half-masted. It is said the cause of death was dropsy accompanying the cancer. The remarkable vitality of the dowager empress astonished her physicians. She retained consciousness to the end. The castle grounds are now surrounded by soldiers and patrolled by hussars and mounted police.

The Eleventh company of the Eightieth regiment of infantry, of which Dowager Empress Frederick is honorary colonel, has been ordered here to do duty at the castle.

Relatives of the dead empress kept continually arriving throughout the day and a detachment of the One Hundred and Fifteenth infantry came from Homburg to do sentinel and patrol duty round the castle.

By special desire of Dowager Empress Frederick, Dr. Waller, the English chaplain of Homburg, had been summoned.

At eight o'clock Monday evening Emperor William conducted the members of the dowager empress' household into the death chamber, and led them, one by one, past the bedside, to take a last farewell of their mistress.

The children of the deceased have placed floral tributes around the body. The face wears a singularly peaceful expression, almost childlike, having shrunk from its normal size.

In the course of the evening several telegrams of condolence arrived from European sovereigns addressed to Emperor William.

The News in Berlin.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—The announcement of the death of Dowager Empress Frederick was published here too late for comment in the evening papers, with the exception of the Freisinnige Zeitung, which recalls her heroic bearing during her husband's last days. "When she silently endured the heartless allusions of the Chauvinistic German press," this journal also praises her "dignified self-effacement" since the death of Frederick the Noble. Soon after the announcement was made the flags on all the public buildings in Berlin were half-masted. It is taken for granted the interment will be at Friedenskirche, Potsdam, by the side of Emperor Frederick, but the date of the funeral is not yet known publicly.

All the morning papers appeared with black borders and sympathetic obituary notices, extolling the deceased dowager empress as the promoter of all work for the public good and as a pattern of womanly virtues, who will never be forgotten by the German nation.

Victoria's Eldest Child.

Empress Frederick was the princess royal of Great Britain and the eldest child of Queen Victoria. She was born November 21, 1840, and was married to Frederick William, crown-prince of the German empire, January 25, 1858. To him she bore Prince William (the present emperor of Germany), born January 27, 1859; Princess Charlotte, born July 21, 1860; Prince Heinrich, born August 14, 1862; Princess Victoria, born April 12, 1866; Princess Sophie, born June 17, 1870, and Princess Margaret, born Aug. 22, 1872. During her whole life the empress lived with a simplicity which was the common topic of royalty in Europe. After her marriage with Frederick and her removal to Berlin she distinguished herself chiefly for love of retirement. She hated the fuss and the publicity of the Prussian court, and she loved above all else that freedom from which her lofty position almost totally excluded her. She was empress for 300 days, but the illness of Frederick saved her from the glare which had inevitably surrounded her had her husband lived to rule the great throne of Germany. Since the death of the emperor she had lived in the closest retirement at her castle.

ORDER IS DELAYED.

President Shaffer Falls to Issue Call for General Strike—His Reasons.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 6.—Just a faint glimmer of hope that the great steel workers' strike will be settled was embodied in a statement given out by President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated association Monday night. When asked if he would pursue the same policy in ordering a strike in the mills of the Federal Steel, the National Steel and the National Tube companies as he did in calling out the men in the mills of the American Tin Plate company, he replied: "If it had not been for this determination on my part, the general strike would have been ordered on Saturday night." Before calling out the tin workers, and after failing to get any satisfaction from the officials of the American Sheet Steel and the American Steel Hoop companies, President Shaffer sent a telegram to Vice President Warner Arms, of the American Tin Plate company, notifying him that under Article 19, section 35 of the constitution of the Amalgamated association, he would be obliged to call out the tin workers in all of the mills owned by the United States Steel corporation unless the difficulty was settled within a period of ten days. As a result of this notice, Mr. Arms succeeded in getting together another conference, and a vain attempt was made to settle the dispute and prevent a strike which would involve the tin mills. That conference was the one that broke up in the Hotel Lincoln three weeks ago last Saturday. In order to be equally fair to the other constituent companies of the United States Steel corporation, and accord them the same treatment, President Shaffer has sent a similar notice to the officers of the Federal Steel company, the National Steel company and the National Tube company, giving them the same time in which to make any effort they may desire to bring about a settlement, or he will put in force this same clause in the Amalgamated association constitution. It is presumed that the delay in issuing the general order will be at least until the end of the present week. Possibly it will not be issued until early next week. In the meantime the men in the mills of these three companies will be prepared to come out when the strike order is issued.

The possibility of a settlement of the strike is based on the bare hope that the officials of the three additional companies will bring to bear sufficient influence to urge an adjustment of the difficulty before the strike order is issued. President Shaffer did not express any hope that this would be done, nor did he even discuss the matter, but the inference was quickly seen that there was such a probability in sight. It is a faint one though, and but little interest was taken in it in the general offices of the association.

The strike history of the day in Pittsburgh itself was not prolific of results. Considerable, however, was doing in towns surrounding. In this city all of the idle mills are in the same condition as before the failure of the conference to settle the strike, and no apparent move is being made by the manufacturers to start the mills, consequently there has been no break in the strikers' ranks. The most important strike point Monday night seems to be Leechburg and Wellsville, with McKeesport a possible trouble center.

EXCITEMENT AT A CIRCUS.

Old Exposition Building at Kansas City Burns—Was to Have Been Torn Down.
Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 6.—At one o'clock Monday afternoon flames burst suddenly from the old exposition building occupying a half-square of ground in the eastern end of the city, and immediately spread through the entire structure, which has been unoccupied for years. The building is situated directly across the street from a circus that had pitched its tents here Sunday night, and great excitement prevailed among the hundreds of people awaiting the opening performance. The circus employes were soon called out and aided in getting the people to places of safety. The building, which is situated three miles from the center of the city, is an old landmark and was to have been blown up with dynamite next Saturday to give way for a new structure.

USED HEROIC MEANS.

Business Men of Tampa, Fla., in Order to End a Strike, Capture and Imprison Leaders.

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 6.—Monday night 100 business men, in order to end the strike of the Resistencia union cigar-makers, searched the streets of Tampa and seized many a strike leader, and it is rumored that they were sent on a vessel outside the bar and to the gulf. Excitement prevailed, but no rioting occurred. It is said that an attempt was made to assemble the strike leaders in a conference and capture them all together, but the strikers heard of it and dispersed. The search through the streets followed. The rumor as to the disposition of the captured men is not fully confirmed.

ICES SERVED IN ROSES.

Taste Better from Such a Pretty Receptacle, the Making of Which is Here Described.

A hostess need not wholly depend on the caterer for attractive devices in the serving of food, especially creams and sherbets. A little ingenuity and deftness of hand sometimes go a great ways. There is no prettier or more artistic way of serving ices than in homemade shells in the form of roses—American Beauties preferably, although those of different colors are scarcely less attractive, and for a large entertainment lend variety of hue.

The making of the paper shell is a very simple matter. Select a thin-edged drinking glass and cut out of heavy unruled writing paper a circular piece about half an inch larger than the opening in the glass and mold the shell over the top. This is very easily done by having a round piece of thick cardboard the size of the opening, putting the palm of the hand over the glass and pressing the cardboard down while you mold the edges of the paper with your thumb and fingers. By turning the glass with your other hand backward and forward you can very easily press the paper into the required shape.

Let the glass set on its bottom with the paper shell covering it, cut a quantity of rose leaves out of crepe or plain tissue paper of the desired color, and with a little flour paste and a small brush touch the lower edges of the rose petals and stick them on the paper shell, putting the first row around the edges and the second around the bottom of the shell.

It is a good plan to have several drinking glasses, and when the paper shell is drying on one to mold a new one on another glass. By doing this the shells retain their shape better and you can progress more rapidly with the work.

When the petals have dried sufficiently to hold tight to the paper shell they can be slightly curled by running them between a knife blade and your thumb until they take on quite a natural appearance (Fig. 4).

To further carry out the pretty conceit that one is eating cream from the heart of a rose, a spray of natural rose leaves may be laid on the plate and the rose set amidst the leaves, or if these are not obtainable artificial leaves of green crepe paper may be used with artistic effect. If the cream be delicately flavored with rose the conceit is all the more realistic.

Either white or pink cream is pretty for white or pink roses, while lemon cream or lemon and orange sherbet may be used with good effect in yellow roses.

These shells should be lined with confectioner's oiled paper. Cut out a circular piece a little larger than that used for the shell, mold it also over the drinking glass, and it will fit very neatly within it.

These linings can be easily lifted out of the shells after the cream has been served in them and fresh linings put in, so that the roses can be used for several occasions.

When cream is to be served in these shells it should be made quite hard and taken out in little pyramids, by using molds, such as are kept by confectioners. If these cannot be had, two large spoonfuls of cream pressed together will make a very nice-looking pyramid.

Ices thus served become a pleasure to the eye as well as to the palate.—Washington Star.

Antiquity of Crackers.

Crackers are the oldest form of bread. Fragments of unfermented cakes were discovered in the Swiss lake dwellings, supposed to belong to the neolithic age—an age dating back far beyond the received age of the world. Although this rude form of bread was early discarded for the fermented variety, yet in this, as in many other matters, it was found convenient to return to a discarded and apparently valueless process. Thin, unfermented cakes were found to possess merits for special purposes. They would keep good for a great length of time, and they were convenient to carry, and this afforded wholesome and nutritious food in a portable and convenient form.

CARE OF THE HANDS.

To Make Red, Wrinkled Members Plump and Smooth Requires Lots of Hard Work.

To whiten red, wrinkled hands and make them plump and smooth is a work of time. When young women or those of 35 complain of such hands the circulation is the fault and must be stimulated. Very hot baths for the entire body are the best treatment not only for reddish hands, but for red noses and swollen lips. Yet hot water is such a difficult luxury to obtain even in smart houses that it is always recommended with uncertainty, like a voyage to the Azores or a winter in Bermuda. Between the economics of the kitchen fire and the impossibilities of heating water by electric light or by fancy gas stoves, we will have to depend upon public baths for cleansing and taking cold on the way home, as most people do who use them. Friction, however, is a matter of a coarse towel and brisk, dry rubbing. Gymnastics and health movements combine with the towel exercise, for few manuals bring muscles into play in such a variety of ways as the daily rub down with a big brown length of Turkish toweling. Taken by the ends and sawed across the shoulders, up and down the arms, trunk and legs, rubbing lightly and swiftly until the skin is all aglow, the towel rubs away the dead particles and brings the blood into play. The feet should have special friction to keep them warm. Women who have cold feet in girlhood are apt to have red, thin hands and faces later in life. Special treatment for the hands requires daily application. Soak them at night in a basin of hot soapsuds with a spoonful of sweet oil stirred in. Then the oily water is rubbed off, and the back of each hand gently and swiftly rubbed with a good pomade, working it into the knuckles. Next open and shut the hands 50 to 100 times, counting the motions once by the clock and timing them by it afterward instead of counting. The hands begin to improve under the friction very soon. Finally, on going to bed, rub the hands generously with good pomade, putting plenty on the finger tips, if the nails are brittle, or draw on easy-fitting gloves. Thick joints and knobby knuckles require treatment which only a skilled specialist knows how to apply.—Chicago American.

JELLY-MAKING HINTS.

How to Cover the Glasses in a Way That is Absolutely Sure to Prevent Mold.

When the jelly is still "piping hot" in the glasses, cover the latter with circles of white paper dipped in the white of an egg. This will stick the paper securely to the glass and make it impervious to air. Thus the jelly keeps free from mold. It must be covered while hot.

Jelly covered with paper that has not been dipped in the white of an egg will mold, but the egg seals it perfectly. If the jelly is "piping hot," no germs will remain alive under the paper. A dozen circles can be cut from paper at once, by folding the paper a sufficient number of times.

HINTS FOR JELLYMAKERS.

Make a shallow cupboard of a dry goods box in which to keep the jelly, placing the cupboard in a cool, dry place. Keep shut to keep out the light. Keeping jelly in a dark place is essential, as the light appears to effect a chemical change in the combination of fruit juice and sugar that injures the flavor.—Country Gentleman.

Tons of Cats' Tails.

A hundred tons of cats' tails were recently sold in one lot in New York for ornamenting ladies' wearing apparel. Assuming that an average cat's tail would weigh a couple of ounces, this would mean that no fewer than 1,792,000 pussies had been killed just to supply this one consignment.

A Hint About Teapots.

Do not allow tea to stand in a teapot between meals. Make no more than will be drunk, throw out the tea grounds, wash and scald and dry each time the teapot is used.

Magee, Chairman of the Special Committee, immediately called a meeting for Wednesday afternoon in the council chamber, to which the public were invited. All who had complaints to make were requested by the committee to appear. Meanwhile the People's Telephone Co.'s work progresses rapidly.

Electric Railway Notes.

It is understood that new cars for the D., Y., A. A. & J. line will be delivered shortly.

Hawks & Angus are said to have completed the laying of rails from the city limits of Ann Arbor to the city limits of Jackson.

All feeder wires from Francisco west on the D., Y., A. A. & J. electric line will be of aluminum instead of copper. This is a new departure in Michigan.

According to General Manager Merrill, of the D., Y., A. A. & J. electric line, the opening of that road from Ann Arbor to Jackson is likely to be delayed by the non-completion of its power house at Ypsilanti.

The entire line of the D., Y., A. A. & J., including the Saline division and the city system of Ann Arbor, will be run from one power house at Ypsilanti. Engines, generators and boilers are now being provided for 4,000 horse power.

Saturday saw the completion of track laying from Grass Lake to Chelsea on the Detroit & Chicago Traction Co.'s electric line, and the machinery is nearly all in place at the power house here. The third rail system will be used between Grass Lake and Chelsea.

The contracts for grading the Detroit & Chicago Traction Co.'s line between Dexter and Ann Arbor have not yet been let. There is a good deal of heavy, stony, clay land and big cuts to work and the contractors do not think the price offered for the work is sufficient.

Attorney Wilson, of the Detroit & Chicago Traction Co., says: "The time of opening the road to Chelsea will depend on the time when certain hardwood blocks used in the third rail plan, and other equipment, are shipped to us. We sometimes have to await the action of others, but in the course of two weeks we hope to run cars to Chelsea."

The Boland-Flynn syndicate has organized the Calhoun County Railway Co., capitalized at $100,000, to build a section near Albion of the proposed line from Detroit to Chicago. Work will be commenced at once at Albion and will extend both ways. The principal places touched between Jackson and Battle Creek are Parma, Albion, Marshall and Marengo.

A Laporte, Ind., dispatch says: "Mr. Boland, representing a New York syndicate of capitalists, who has been here in conference with Mayor Darrow, says plans have now been almost fully perfected for the construction of trolley lines which will establish connecting links between Detroit and Chicago. Mr. Boland said it is only a question of a short time when the various systems operating in southern Michigan and northern Indiana will be amalgamated into one great corporation, backed by sufficient capital to operate the road for both freight and passenger traffic."

The D., Y., A. A. & J. waiting room and baggage room at Ann Arbor will be moved from its present location, across from the post office, to new quarters which will be provided on Huron street. Last Monday the Hawks & Angus people acquired the property lying between the Armory and the old Berryman photograph gallery in that city, and Tuesday the work of tearing down the bill boards and hauling in stone and brick was commenced. The building will be 36x100 feet and will also be used for a sub-station of the road such as will be required to be put in about every ten miles under the new power system.

An exchange tells of a farmer that has kept a flock of sheep for 14 years and has not had them attacked by dogs even once, the flocks on adjoining farms having been ruined. The flock always wears between five and eight bells of different sizes and tones. # The Money Makers and the Money Spenders in Gotham

A month ago I spoke in these letters about the growth in New York of banking trusts; of big banks growing at the expense of little ones.

"Well, What Will You Do About It?"

The latest move in that direction is sensational. The famous old First national, strong supporter of the fiscal policy of the government during and after the war, is to increase its capital from $500,000 to $10,000,000, which, with a surplus of $10,000,000, will make it the strongest in America, surpassing even the famous Standard Oil bank, the City national.

The present $500,000 stock of the bank is worth $6,000 per share—though none is for sale or likely to be. The bank is so strong that when Note Broker Alford ran away with $600,000 of its money it never "turned a hair." It has deposits of over $50,000,000, it has United States deposits usually of over a million and its stock pays 100 per cent. profit.

Of course Morgan is in the new deal; the bank will have close associations with the Chase national and the Bank of the Republic—and there you have the "banking trust" full grown.

There will now be three banks in New York which have a capital of $10,000,000 each—the First, the City and the Bank of Commerce. Some of those with small capital, like Hetty Green's Chemical bank, are practically large institutions, their stocks selling for thousands of dollars a share. The advantage of larger capitalization is that it permits the bank to loan larger sums to borrowers. A bank can only loan one-tenth of its capital stock to one firm, but when that one-tenth is half a million the limit is fairly generous.

A Fairy Tale of Real Estate.

But in amount of business done, New York leads. Here is a curious proof: A year ago nobody supposed that the center of retail trade would jump from Sixth avenue, Fourteenth and Twenty-third streets, to Thirty-fourth. Recently it was announced that the Strauses were to open there a big dry goods store. These Strauses are three in number, brothers.

Fifteen Millions an Acre for This.

They came from Bavaria many years ago and have built up a great wholesale and retail trade. One of them was United States minister to Turkey at one time. Their chief title to fame is their ownership of "Macy's," a typical cheap department shop. It is "Macy's" that is to move uptown. Siegel, Cooper & Co., an enterprising Chicago firm that recently invaded New York, were not to be caught napping. They bought land in the same vicinity; for one corner they were forced to pay the astounding price of $343 per square foot—nearly $15,000,000 an acre—for land three miles above the city hall on which to sell needles and pins! No wonder that in a city where such things happen big banks are possible.

One little section of the old retail trade neighborhood remains undisturbed to show that there is, after all, nothing new under the sun. The shop that A. T. Stewart built away down at Ninth street, still one of the finest in New York, is in the hands of John Wanamaker a tremendous center of trade; and just across the street another enterprising Philadelphia firm has set up an opposition shop, so that the region is a little island of Philadelphia set down in New York.

Two New Society Notions.

I suppose you've read of the "patent medicine dance" in Newport.

Mrs. So-and-So's Porous Plasters.

Mrs. Belmont—once Miss Smith, then Mrs. Vanderbilt, then divorced, then again married—was the entertainer, the place Belcourt, where Mr. Belmont lived in his bachelor days. The guests represented patent medicine advertisements. I fancy the men who sell cough cures and freckle bleaches are breaking their necks to use that dance as an "ad." somehow. "Mrs. So-and-So as Blank's Porous Plaster"—big picture of Mrs. So-and-So with plasters pasted all over her—wouldn't that be fine! Really, some of these society persons ought to be professional instead of merely amateur press agents.

Another novelty—progressive dinner.

There are two forms of this means of making something to talk about. One way is to have the "animals go in two by two" to the dining-room; after each course the men move one place to the right, bringing each into conversation with several different ladies during the repast, which is of absurd length.

The newer plan is to have several hostesses combine. The first course is given at Mrs. A's house; then everybody jumps into automobile or surrey and is whisked to Mrs. B's house—sometimes they merely walk across joining lawns—where course No. 2 is served. As many as six changes may be made in a single meal; it is the cleverest device yet invented by a society without ideas to conceal their lack and to kill time, which to most of us is supposed to have value.

Sometimes the two ideas are combined. At each new table the men move one place to the right, so that besides dining all along shore for four mortal hours they make a very few remarks answer by repetition for conversation.

And Now the Money'll Fly.

The Fair heirs have succeeded in breaking the trust clause in J. G. Fair's will.

The Fair daughters, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., have both married very rich men, but the son has no such comfort; and anyhow, people like to handle their own money. Both these ladies are Catholics, and deeply religious; both are good housekeepers, both lavish hostesses. They have palaces in Newport and New York, yachts, automobiles. Young Vanderbilt, in particular, is the most pestiferous racer of fast automobiles on the country roads that laws are needed to check.

As It Was and As It Is.

Another case where children are spending with prodigal hand the money made by the old man is that of the Howard Goulds.

Young Howard, like each of the Gould children, inherited about $15,000,000, which have not suffered during his minority and trusteeship. His marriage with Katherine Clemmons, actress and Buffalo Bill's protege, is remembered. The family protested vigorously for awhile against the match; and as Jay Gould in his will provided partial disinheriting for any child who married against the will of the trustees, they had the power to make things unpleasant for Howard and his wife; but of course they relented, and now the Howard Goulds have started to take their place in society.

To do this Mrs. Gould has begun to build on Sands Point what she hopes will be the finest country house in America. She will have to contend against George Vanderbilt's $3,000,000 Biltmore, Frederick G. Bourne's $3,000,000 palace at Indian Neck, with its 1,000 acres of land; Mrs. Clarence Mackay's $5,000,000 house on Harbor Hill, not to speak of W. K. Vanderbilt's Idle Hour, Stokes' Shadowbrook at Lenox, Twombly's Florham at Morristown, and such comparatively modest country places as W. C. Whitney's.

How the Money Goes.

People are beginning to speak of Mrs. Howard Gould's plans much as they speak of Mrs. Mackay's.

All the Fads Need Attention.

Perhaps there isn't so much danger of the permanence of wealth in this country as philosophers suppose. No Gould of this or the next generation will be so rich as Jay Gould; no Vanderbilt so rich as W. H. Vanderbilt. Whether Mackay, an only son, will be as rich 20 years from now as his father has been is a problem.

What would you think of a woman whose husband had the income of $60,000 to live upon who should put $10,000 into a country house, as much more into a city house, buy yachts and race horses and try to support them all and her family upon the income of what remained? Multiplying the figures by ten or a hundred leaves the proportions of the problem the same.

"Five years ago," said a man who is himself wrestling with the problem, "it was a serious matter to be worth merely one or two millions and to try to keep in the swim; the income of such a sum used to be $60,000 a year; it is now between $30,000 and $40,000—how can a man support a town and a country establishment upon that sum, with travel, college for the young folks, marriage portions for daughters and all that?"

"The problem is growing bigger. Now it's how is the man who has only ten or fifteen millions to keep his end up with the reckless extravagance of the times? He must take second place in some things or become impoverished. And you don't know how hard it is for a pampered American woman to take second place in anything!"

There's no such thing as inexhaustible riches. After the makers come the spenders; and in this country we have no laws of entail to "keep the money in the family."

OWEN LANGDON.

COLONIAL TRADITIONS.

Strange Tales That Are Related in Different American Cities of Their Origin.

About the birth of most American cities hangs some tradition or romance or superstition worth preservation, as it gives us picturesque hints of the condition of life in the beginnings of the republic, says Youth's Companion.

A farmer named Francis Pope is said to have dreamed that the capitol of a great city would be built on a hill near Goose creek, which emptied into the Potomac. He bought the hill, called it "Rome," and changed the name of Goose creek to the "Tiber." This story was told to Washington when he laid out the site of the new capital of the republic.

Philadelphia was first settled by Swedes sent out by Gustavus Adolphus with orders to found "a town in the wilderness in which every man should be free to earn his living and to worship God as he chose." Penn, who came later, made this dream of the king real.

New Orleans, it is said, was settled by De Bienville upon a malarious marsh, in spite of the protests of the patrons of the colony in France, because he was in love with the pretty daughter of the owner of the marsh.

At the time of the founding of Charleston in South Carolina, a belief was prevalent that both gold and diamonds could be found near the site of the intended settlement. The royal grants for land in the tidewater district reserved a share "in all diamonds and other precious stones found in them for the king."

Among the Dutch colonists who founded New York city there was a firm belief that Hendrik Hudson would some day appear again to discover new countries for them.

The little city of Annapolis in Maryland claims to have been in her earliest days the most zealous of American settlements in the cause of religion and freedom. She boasts that the first free school in the country was established within her boundaries, and the first missionary meeting held in her church. It is a significant fact that the money raised at this meeting was given for the conversion—not of savages—but of the Quakers in Pennsylvania!

Microbe Worth Cultivating.

A new germ has been discovered. It is the wealth germ, and Chauncey M. Depew is the discoverer of the energetic little jigger. He says that the faculty which enables men to become rich is due to the existence of a minute animal which forces the fortunate gentleman in whose brain it lodges to engage in profitable industrial schemes.

How Customs Vary.

She—In some parts of Australia when a man marries each of the bride's relatives strikes him with a stick by way of welcome into the family.

He—Yes, and in many parts of America when a man marries each of the bride's relatives strikes him with a loan by way of welcoming him into the family.—N. Y. Times.

Impartial.

Tess—I never see Miss Spinner out wheeling that Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Sprocket are not with her.

Jess—Yes, she's got them both on her string. The girls are calling her "Miss Tandem."

Tess—But she rides an individual wheel.

Jess—Yes, but she has a "bicycle maid for two."—Philadelphia Press.

Worse and Worse.

Minks—My wife no sooner reaches Florida than the doctor there orders her north, and as quick as she gets home our doctor here orders her back to Florida.

Jinks—Hum! I see how it is. The railroad combine has consolidated with the doctors' trust.—N. Y. Weekly.

CLAIMS FOR MANGLE ISLAND.

Sovereignty Over Them and Other Small Islands Asserted by Nicaragua.

The government of Nicaragua has recently put in a claim to sovereignty over several groups of small islands, including the Mangle islands, lying off the Atlantic coast of the Isthmus of Panama, says the Washington Star. The question arose when President Loubet of France recently gave his decision as to the boundary between Costa Rica and Colombia. The decision awarded to Colombia a considerable part of the territory in dispute, including the valuable bay of Chiriqui,

HARSH-VOICED CANARIES.

They Are Not Allowed by German Experts to Stay with the More Promising Singers.

"Moulting is the crucial time for a canary's voice," writes Ida Shaper Hoxie in an article on "The Singing Village of Germany," in Ladies' Home Journal. "Some birds lose the little that they have; others, of course, blossom out into promising singers. As soon as a harsh tone is heard, out goes that unfortunate bird, for promising singers must never hear a harsh chirp. When I asked what became of the unfortunates I was told by the fanciers: 'Oh, we sell them, of course. You

REV. MOLLIE CRAFT.

Mollie B. Craft is the first regular ordained woman minister in the religious work of the colored race. Through her efforts a colored Baptist church has just been organized in one of the suburbs of Chicago. She was ordained in Milwaukee in 1898. She is a graduate of the Howe Baptist theological school of Memphis. Her evangelical work began in the north, much of it being in the mining and lumber districts of northern Michigan. She organized many congregations in those regions. She is well known to all colored church goers from Tennessee to Michigan and Illinois.

on the Atlantic side, and also several groups of outlying islands which were in dispute between the two governments. When the award was made known Nicaragua came forward with a claim of ownership over the small group of islands. It was answered in behalf of Colombia that President Loubet had carefully gone over the records establishing ownership, and that these had failed to disclose any authority on the part of Nicaragua to claim them. The negotiations have not proceeded beyond this point. The islands are rather unimportant except for their strategic location off the easterly entrance to any canal route which may be chosen. For this reason the controversy has received the atknow they can sing in a way, and many people don't know the difference between a good singer and a bad one. My mind went back to a certain canary I had had to live with once in America! I wondered what percentage of these outcasts, who are huddled together in a cage out of hearing of the more favored birds and allowed to chirp as they please, go to America. One of the men who devotes all his time to the canaries allowed me to spend several hours among his birds. I sat a long while trying to analyze the exquisite sounds that came from a dozen tiny cages with closed fronts hanging high on the wall. I could have gone to sleep had I chosen—the trilling was so soft and sweet, not at all

CALIFORNIA'S NATURAL SPHINX.

The strange freak of nature here illustrated has recently been found along the boundary line of Los Angeles and Ventura counties, Cal. Scientists who have seen a picture of the strange formation say that there is no other rock in existence that is such a perfect representation of a man's head. The San Francisco Call delights in claiming that California now has a sphinx which is just as imposing as that in far-away Egypt, that it is older than the African handwork and the only perfect piece of statuary in the world thus far discovered, wrought by the hand of the Almighty Himself.

tention of the isthmian canal commission, which has not, however, had occasion to take definite action on the subject.

Gambling in Life Insurance.
They gamble in life insurance in England, and anyone who cares to pay the rate may take out insurance payable to them in case of the death of King Edward. The rate charged for a life policy on his majesty is ten per cent, while an accident policy costs 30 per cent. a year.

Preventive of Smallpox.
A doctor out west alleges that he has discovered that apple cider vinegar taken in reasonable quantities is a sure preventive of smallpox.

like the songs of the lusty-throated American birds."

Golf the Conqueror of Nations.
According to the Scottish American golf is gradually taking firm hold on the European continent. It is ten years or more since golf links were established at Cairo and there most of the British officials, including Lord Cromer, Sir Edgar Vincent, the late Sir Gerald Porter and others were to be found at one time or another. Until recently there were no links in Vienna, but the emperor has now granted a tract of land near the Prater and a club is being organized by the members of the British embassy.

CONVENIENT HOG HOUSE.

Structure Designed Especially for Those Who Do Not Make a Specialty of Pork Raising.

This house is designed for those who wish to keep but a limited number of hogs. Building is 30 feet long, 22 feet wide, with 12-foot posts. Plank floor. Some may like cement floor better. As shown by plan, interior is divided into 8 pens, with middle alley 4 feet wide running entire length of building. Four pens (F) are feeding pens, 9 feet square, while the remaining 4 (N) are 6 by 9 feet, and are used for nests. The alley can be made into

Each feed pen has an outside door. Above the pens is a loft with good matched floor, reached by flight of stairs just inside the door. The house is painted with a mixture of red in one part raw oil to

IS A GOOD PRACTICE.

West Virginia Experiment Station Recommend the Soaking of Corn for Hogs.

In Bulletin 59 the West Virginia experiment station reports on its experiments in soaking corn for hogs: Nearly all of the pork which is produced in the United States is derived from corn-fed hogs, yet very few experiments have ever been performed to determine the best and most economical way of feeding corn. The following experiment was planned to determine whether soaking corn in water affects in any way its food value. Poland-China-Duroc-Jersey and Poland-China-Berkshire cross-bred pigs were used in the experiment. They were divided into two lots similar in respect to size, breed and sex. From a car load of western corn sufficient was produced for the experiment. A portion of this was ground into meal and the remaining shelled corn was soaked in water, as needed, until the grains were soft. The meal was mixed with water before being fed. No attempt was made to feed the same quantities of meal and soaked corn, but each lot was fed all that it would eat up clean. The lot fed soaked corn consumed 2,138 pounds of corn and gained in weight 555 pounds. For 100 pounds in live weight they consequently required 385 pounds of corn. The lot fed on corn meal required 410 pounds of meal for 100 pounds gain, therefore the soaked corn produced the more economical gain, to say nothing about the extra expense of grinding the corn. As very few experiments have ever been performed to determine the effect of soaking grain upon its digestibility, the subject requires further study. The result of our experiment indicates, however, that it is good practice.

LEVEL CULTURE BEST.

No Kind of a Season Warrants Ridging of Corn and No Kind of Soil Demands It.

No farm practice is more inimical to intelligent corn culture than that alarmingly common in the corn belt of laying by the corn with large shovels set to throw the earth from between the rows into a ridge centering in the rows. Ridges thus formed increase the exposed surface and hence make possible larger evaporation of moisture. Moreover, they leave the middles hard and compact so that the soil pumps ooze out the water by the ton, and compel the foraging roots of the plants to go straight down for food and moisture, which should be available in the first several inches of soil that has been removed from the middles and thrown about the base of the plants.

Ridging spoils the surface of the ground for pasture and meadow unless it be repeatedly worked. If you should sow clover in the corn and lay the latter by with ridge-forming shovels your clover pasture always would be a series of bumps, which would aggravate the driver of the mowing machine, cause the hay loader trouble and annoy in other ways. In a rolling country where, strange to say, ridging is commonest, the practice is of greater advantage than in the prairie country, since in the former it furnishes convenient surface avenues for the escape of water, which in a short season transforms them into small ditches and skims off the cream, as it were, of the land and deposits it in the creek or stream, leaving the farmer a veritable new but poor farm.

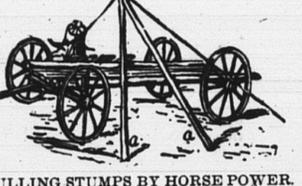

Level culture is not only easier on the corn, team and workman, but it is decidedly better for the land. It avoids roof pruning, aerates the soil and removes weeds. Experiments have shown that it also will give larger yields than ridge culture. Then why ridge your corn? We know one of the principal reasons why corn growers do it: Ridging covers up a large number of weeds growing in the hill and thus makes the field appear clean. We are convinced that the weeds if left uncovered cannot do as much injury to the corn plants as the ridges will inflict. As between the two evils choose the lesser.

Don't ridge your corn. Adopt that saner system—level culture. No kind of a season warrants ridging and no kind of soil demands it—science condemns it, good farming opposes it and you ought to quit it.—National Rural.

TO GRUB OUT STUMPS.

A Comparatively Easy Method of Preparing Old Timber Land for General Cultivation.

The plan herewith shows a method of ridding a field of stumps. Two poles (a a) are placed slanting against a low wheel wagon. They should be 12 feet long and bolted together at the top and placed on opposite side of the wagon from the stump, leaning over the wagon until the top is perpendicular with the side of platform next to stump. I use a platform consisting of two poles of sufficient size to be strong enough to hold up a heavy load, with boards laid between. Place the wagon far enough from the stump or stone to be removed, to allow two or three planks five or six feet long to be set in between stump and wagon with ends resting on platform. Tie a rope 50 or 60 feet long to top of poles (a a) so that there will be at least 15 feet left over on the short end. This short end is tied around the stump. The team is then hitched onto the long end of the rope (b). This is an easy method of drawing out large-sized stumps.—J. A. Moorman, in Farm and Home.

Growing of Sugar Beets.

One of the hardest things about the growing of sugar beets is to get a uniform stand. It is evident that if there are spaces in the field not covered by the beets the losses will be considerable. The irregularity comes often from poor preparation of the land and also from putting in the seed too deep so that it does not germinate at all, or if it does germinate it does so at a period so far anterior to the other beets that the new plants have little encouragement to develop. Lack of moisture at planting time is also responsible for much of this unevenness in stand. When fertilizers are used it would seem quite necessary to be sure that their admixture with the soil is perfect, to make an even feeding ground for the plants and thus insure a uniform development.—Farmers' Review.

The apiary should be kept neat and tidy, clear of all kinds of grass, weeds and rubbish of all kinds.

MEMBER OF CONGRESS FROM SANDWICH ISLANDS

Cured of Catarrh of the Stomach by Pe-ru-na.

CONGRESSMAN R. W. WILCOX, Delegate to Congress from Hawaii.

Hon. Robert W. Wilcox, Delegate to Congress from Hawaii and the Sandwich Islands, in a recent letter from Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have used Peruna for dyspepsia and I cheerfully give you this testimonial. Am satisfied if it is used properly it will be of great benefit to our people. I can conscientiously recommend it to anyone who is suffering with stomach or catarrhal troubles."
 —R. W. Wilcox.

All over this country are hundreds of people who are suffering from catarrh of the stomach who are wasting precious time, and enduring needless suffering. The remedies they try only temporarily palliate the distress, but never effect a cure. Remedies for dyspepsia have multiplied so rapidly that they are becoming as numerous as the leaves of the forest, and yet dyspepsia continues to flourish in spite of them all. This is due to the fact that the cause of dyspepsia is not recognized as catarrh.

If there is a remedy in the whole range of medicinal preparations that is in every particular adapted to dyspepsia, that remedy is Peruna. This remedy is well nigh invincible in these cases.

Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O., says: "In my large practice and correspondence I have yet to learn of a single case of atonic dyspepsia which has not either been greatly benefited or cured by Peruna."

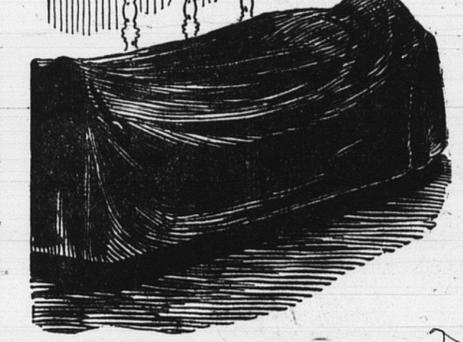

No one suffering with catarrh of the stomach or dyspepsia, however slight, can be well or happy. It is the cause of so many distressing symptoms that it is a most dreaded disease. Peruna acts immediately on the seat of the trouble, the inflamed mucous membranes lining the stomach and a lasting cure is effected.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

NEW AVENUE THEATER.
An Ideal Place to Spend an Afternoon or Evening When in Detroit.
It will be welcome news to the readers of this paper to know that when they visit Detroit they will have an opportunity to attend one of the prettiest vaudeville theaters in the west.
The new playhouse has the very appropriate name of the Avenue Theater, because of its being situated on Woodward avenue. It is built upon the site of the old Wonderland and occupies the entire block from Larned street to Jefferson avenue. Its imposing entrance is on Woodward avenue; its high, wide, and arched ceiling, studded with electric lamps, at night presents a pretty rainbow effect from which an effulgent flood of light is thrown upon Detroit's principal commercial thoroughfare. The new theater is devoted to the production of the most refined, moral, entertaining and instructive acts known to the vaudeville world.
As in the other large cities, Boston, Chicago and New York—only two shows daily—afternoon and evening—are given, a policy Detroit has been late in adopting and which has long been craved. The interior of the Avenue Theater is beautiful, its color effects being white, gold and Nile green.
Two tiers of boxes, which are hand-somerly ornamented and draped, are situated on either side of the spacious stage, from which they are separated and surmounted by a magnificent and graceful proscenium arch, in the center panel of which rests an oil painting by Paulus, a gift to A. E. Nash & Co., the lessees. Its wide, roomy aisles and foyers are luxuriantly carpeted in crimson. No theater in the country has as many exits. With every seat filled, it has been demonstrated that the house can be emptied in two minutes. The new Avenue Theater was opened to the public on June 17th, and notwithstanding the fact that nearly all theatrical business is discontinued during the summer months and that the warmest period Detroit has experienced in many years was encountered, the attendance at the new amusement resort was and is unprecedented. Its great popularity is the general topic of conversation.
Manager Lamkin foresaw the disad-vantage of opening his house in warm weather, therefore provided everything known to architecture and science for cooling and ventilating the building.
He had placed under the auditorium floor, at great expense, the Acme blower system, the most modern and practical cooling and ventilating plant of the times. This scientific achievement consists of endless coils of tubing to which are connected retorts containing water of ammonia and through which air is forced by several pumps.
Working in connection with the pumps are numerous fans which make many thousand revolutions a minute. During the warmest weather this admirable mechanism maintains a mean temperature of 72 degrees, affording a delightful and refreshing contrast to the heat of the streets.
Constantly on duty at the theater is a trained corps of attaches, who take care of the luggage (for which claim checks are given) of out-of-town patrons, who act as guides to all points of interest, economize time for shoppers by taking them to the right place for just what is wanted, and who furnish correct information regarding the arrival and departure of all trains and electric cars.
The greatest care is taken in putting together the shows for each week, so that old and young will be entertained alike.
The Avenue is the only real vaudeville theater in Michigan, as there is no curio hall or menagerie in connection. The absence of the latter is due to the humanitarian instincts of Manager Lamkin. That gentleman said that he never visited a place where poor beasts were crowded into ill-ventilated and insalubrious quarters but that he came away greatly depressed. Prices of admission are 10c, 15c, 20c, 25c, and two hundred reserved chairs at 50c.

Seeking Rest in Birmingham.
The house in which I staid faced a road traversed by a steam tramway, the traffic on which goes on from early morning till late at night, while the back windows overlooked the London and Northwestern railway, upon which at this point perhaps a hundred trains pass in the 24 hours. I was about to write "a hundred trains a day," but, unfortunately for the light sleeper,
many of them pass in the night.
Just as one gets to sleep an express rushes by with a noise like an avalanche and rouses one with a start.
When you are recovered from the fright and are settling yourself for a second attempt at sleep, a goods train arrives on the scene and shunts into a siding just under your window. You lie awake listening to the bump, bump, bump, of the buffers and the occasional whistle of the engine, wondering how long it will be before the wretched train moves on.
At length it is gone, and, being past midnight, you feel you can safely turn over and settle yourself for the night.
You drop asleep to the soft music of a tilt hammer and the rushing of steam at a distant iron forge, to be aroused again perhaps about 4 in the morning by an early excursion train. Between 5 and 6 the regular traffic recommences,

When Juba Hit It.
"After having supplied a moonshiner in a South Carolina jail with a month's supply of smoking tobacco," said a government surveyor, "I presumed upon the deed to ask:
"Didn't you know it was against the law to manufacture moonshine whisky?"
"I heard that was a law once," he replied.
"What do you mean by 'once'?"
"Why, Juba French told me that was such a law, but when I asked Jim Truman about it he says that Juba is such a liar that nobody kin believe him under oath, and so I reckoned I was safe to go ahead. Shoo, but I wonder how Juba come to tell the truth for that one time!"—Washington Post.
