Company Has Been Formed to Utilize Peat Bog Here.

FIFTY MEN WILL BE EMPLOYED with greater economy.

Plant Will Cover Three Acres and Will Run Day and Night.

For the past thirty days parties from Detroit have been investigating the peat residence. They found peat of a firstclass quality, reaching in some places to a depth of thirty two feet. The entire land, comprising abouty sixty-five acres, has been contracted for, and within a short time a plant which will turn out elther on the Fred Richards property or cover about three acres.

Geo. P. Staffan is the local representative of the company, which is composed of representative Detroit business men. The company is capitalized at $200,000, and the stock will sell at 50 cents on the

The plant which will be erected here will have the latest improved machinery for turning out the finished product, and will run night and day. They will employ about fifty men. The principal coal dealers of Detroit have witnessed tests made with the peat, and were very much pleased with the results. The entire product, aside from what will be used locally, will be contracted for by Detroit l'eat compares very favorably with ard coal, has a very small percentage of Canada. ash, and in heating quality is fifty per cent above the best soft coal. It burns with a long, clear blaze, and leaves no soot and makes very little smoke. A sample of the Canadian compressed peat is on exhibition at The Standard office.

This company asks no bonus from the village for locating here, and undoubtedly our monied men will take some stock in the enterprise. Nearly all of the stock will be owned by Detroit parties, only a small amount of stock will be sold to Chelsea men. Two directors will be from Chelsea. Gco. P Staffan, who has been looking after the company's interests here, will be pleased to talk peat with anyone who is interested.

Detroit Journal: The strong probabil ty that hard coal will go to $7 the ton his winter, with prospects of a higher price, lends interest to the announcement hat a company has been formed to develope peat 'uel in Michigan.

It is stated that there are thousands of acres of bog land in the state, especially in the northern part of the lower penin sula, which contain the raw material and with the new machinery this company has had invented and perfected the fuel may be turned ont in large quantities and sold at a much lower price than either

The company is a local one, with head uarters at 19 Kanter building, and will begin operations at Chelsea, where a large tract of land, with peat to the depth of 32 feet, has been acquired. It is estimat. ed that this one tract of land alone will furnish material for 750,000 ton of the finished product.

The company has been organized under the name of the Chelsea Compress Peat Co., with a capital stock of $200,000, and the following temporary officers: President, F. A. Crittenden, state manager for Chas. Schoolhouse & Sons, New York silk manufacturers; vice president, A. A. Sutherland, the inventor of the machinery used; secretary, E. G. Palmer; treasurer, Ernest C. Miller, real estate dealer. These gentlemen and J. M. Todd, assistant manager of the American Wringer Co.; Frank T. Lodge, attorney, and Frank Mulford, constitute the board of Little of the practical side of peat fue is known in this country, and an attempt to manufacture it in the New England states and Canada some years ago was unsuccessful because of the crude methods employed. But the advancing price of other fuel has renewed the interest in peat during the past five years, especially in Canada, where a half-dozen or more plants are turning out the fuel and find-

Mr. Sutherland's improvements are along the line of rapidity and accuracy in the operation of the machinery.

It is urged for peat that it is superior to coal-peat, by the way, is really unabout 200 tons per day will be erected, ripe coal-in its freedom from sulphur, smoke, soot, dust and clinkers. It is said that of Hiram Pierce. The plant will to be equally serviceable for grates stoves, ranges and furnaces, giving a long, bright flame and intense heat from the moment of ignition. A housewife may pick up a few lumps in her apron as she would chips, without soiling her apron, and throw them into the fire as needed. Combustion is even and complete and there are no noxious gases.

As to bnlk, 83 pounds per cubic foot of peat equals 73 pounds of bituminous or 93 pounds of anthracite coal. Analysis which demonstrates the efficiency of peat as a fuel have been made by W. H. Allen, professor of phermacy in the Detroit College of Medicine, from bog specimens from Welland, Beaverton and Kirkfield, Ont., where plants are in operation, and from three bogs in Michigan. The Mich-

Testimony that the fuel is a favorite wherever introduced is abundant. The United States consul at Stratford, Ont. reports that the product of the factory there is sold faster than it can be manufuctured at $8.75 per ton, and that far mers drive in for it from a radius of 15 miles. The Welland plant is sold ahead at $3.50 f. o. b., and the Kirkfield plant reports the same price. The product of the Beaverton plant is all consumed in Investors are informed in the prospec tus of the Chelsea Company that while the peat itself is valuable, the by products of the bog are still more valuable. As Illuminating gas of fine quality is derived from the bog, and the Peat Development Co., of Canada, atter much experiment ing with peat gas generators, has discov ered the secret of cheaply producing de sirable peat gas for both fuel and illum inating use. Other by produc's of value are sulphate of ammonia, acetate of lime, meth. alcohol, tar and briquetted coke.

The money making possibilities seem great, and numerous testimonials as to cleanliness are furnished from Canadian steamboat, railroad and factory officials and engineers.

Boland is Generous.

A dispatch from Jackson to the Det roit Free Press Tuesday says: An im portant development of to-day in the bit ter fight between the Boland and Hawks Angus electric road interests is an au thorized statement to the Free Press by Mr. Boland that he will consent to any reasonable amendment of his city fran chise to accomodate competing lines entering this city. He will, he says, allow Hawks and Angus the use of his tracks, furnish power and give their interurban cars the same facilities in the city possessed by his own. He will consent to the defilnate amendment of his thirty-year franchise to this effect, and leave the matter of compensation to arbitration if an agreement between the two companles cannot be reached. Furthermore, he says, he stands ready to make all reasonable extensions of his city lines to accommodate the Hawks-Angus termsnals and the general local traffic. The general franchise asked for by Hawks-Augus is now being considered by the council committee on streets. It was referred to this committee as being less favorable to Boland interests than the ordinance committee, and it is inferred a franchise for Hawks-Angus will be reported to the council next Thursday. So far a majority of the alderman have seemed to favor a competing franchise, but in throwing down all the bars to the other companies Mr. Boland has improved his chances of holding city business.

How General Grant Lost His "Hiram."

Not many Americans know that Hiram CHELSEA TELEPHONE NUMBER 8 ing a ready sale for all that they can of the United States. Yet it is true, for manufacture. The Canadian plants use "Ulysses Simpson" was never legally the name of our greatest General. This interesting fact is brought out by Franklin B. Wiley in The Ladies' Home Journal for September, in "Famous People as We Do Not Know Them." The story of how it came about was told by a member of congress-Thomas L. Hamer-who recommended young Grant as a candidate for West Point in 1839. Mr. Hamer had long been a friend of the Grants, but Simpson Grant." ### Grange Picnic.

The picnic at Stevenson's grove, North Lake, yesterday under the auspices of the North Lake Grange was a success in every particular. The day was perfect, a good sized crowd was present and everything passed off pleasantly. The assemblage was called to order by C. D. Johnson, who called upon Hon, J. K. Campbell of Augusta to act as chairman, and who accepted with a pleasing talk. Miss Belle Preston of Detroit, elocutionist, entertained the audience and responded to an encore. This was followed by a vocal selection, Hon. J. W. Helme of Choice sweet pickles.........10c bottle Adrian then address the audience. Miss Best Tea in Chelsea 50c pound. The ball game between Chelses and Unadilla attracted considerable attention, and promised to be a pretty game, but was broken up in the seventh inning by the Unadilla boys taking exception to a igan bogs tests much better than those of ruling of the umpire and withdrew from the game.

Columbia Records.

The Columbia Phonograph Co. is now producing a greater number of phonograph and graphophone records, both musical and speaking, than at any previous time in its history. The demand is daily increasing and dealers, in the field of the music trade, as well as in many other lines are persistantly calling for all the varieties and are ordering in larger quantitles than ever before. The later records are remarkably clear and distinct and as compared with those produced some years ago are very much louder and better in every way. In fact the tendency in record making is always upward both in respect of improved processes and more perfect records and also in the matter of selection. While it is necessary to supply records of the popular songs, waltzes and marches, by the hundreds of thousands, in order to meet the public's demand for them, the classical music is not overlooked and can always be obtained by those who desire it. The selections from the operas are particularly fine and everything that is bright and tuneful in the newest musical comedies will be found among the world renowned Columbia records. The Columbia Phonograph Co., No. 88 Wabash avenue, Chicago, headquarters for graphophones and talking machine supplies of every kind, will send you catalogues on application.

Mormons in Michigan.

The Mormon elders who are working Michigan have been holding meetings in Detroit. Elder Ludlow said: "The elements of salvation are these: Faith, repentance, baptism by immersion for the remission of sin, and the laying on of hands for the reception of the Holy Spirit. This is the essence of the gospel, and if a man preaches anything different, I ask him by what The elders held a business meeting behind closed doors, and President Lyman announced that all would be retained for six months more of service, being assigned as follows: Detroit, Elders Cluff, Brinton, Zundel and Carruth; Battle Creek, Elders Ludlow and Larson; Jackson, Elders Stark and Barber; Pontiac and Mt. Clemens, Elders Bradley and Campbell; Wyandotte, Elders Stevenson and Sorenson. Elders Wood, Brown, Savage and Prestwick have no specific field, and will confer with the "saints" in the northern part of the state. The reports of the elders are stated by Secretary Brinton to indicate that Mormonism is on the increase in Michigan.

The Unfortunate Bowmans.

John Bowman and family, of Oscoda, were tourists en route to the Pan-American on the D. & C. steamer City of Mackinac Monday afternoon, John had $100 in his inside coat pocket and not a care in the world. Tuesday someone else had the cash and the Bowmans were on their way back home, Detroit being the nearest they got to the big Buffalo show. They were not able to secure staterooms because of the crowd on the steamer, and when it was time to turn in Mr. Bowman fixed up a bunk on deck. He wore a short serge coat in which he carried his pocketbook, and Mrs. Bowman suggested that it would be a good idea to fold it up for a pillow, thus killing two birds with one stone by providing a safe place for the cash and a rest for his head, but before folding up the cost he decided to take just one look at his cash. It was gone. Search the boat from end to end as they might it could not be found. Whether Bowman lost his pocketbook accidentally or it was stolen from him he can't say.

A Leper for Companion,

Dr. Louis Knapp, a graduate of the U. of M., and a former Detroit boy. whose mother and sister live in that city, has become a hero by the voluntary acceptance of the charge of a Chinese leper, Dong Gong by name, at St. Louis, Mo. The leper was discovered two weeks ago. The municipality is building a three-room quarantine house and accepted the volunteered services of Dr. Knapp to attend the leper and make a scientific study of the disease. his downfall, Dr. Knapp left his family, a wife and four children, and taking his medical library with him, entered upon his association with the leper, with whom ! he will stay until death comes to the unfortunate patient. Mrs. Dr. Knapp was formerly Miss Annie Striker, of Detroit, whose father, a furniture dealer, came from Buffalo, Dr. Knapp formerly ran a drug store and served | Richard Kelch, while Wheeler boarded in the Spanish war as physician at the Tampa, Fla., camp.

A Great Salt Combine.

The first actual step toward the formation of an international salt combine has been taken in Trenton, where papers have been filed incorporating the International Salt Co. with a capital stock of $125,000. At the offices of the National Salt Co., which will be the nucleus of the combine, it was said that the capital stock would be Increased to $25,000,000 or $30,000,000, although the organizers had not arrived at any definite conclusion as to the exact amount. The present capital is merely sufficient to guarantee the preservation of the title. Among the companies that will be absorbed are the following: National Salt Co., Canadian Salt Co., Retsof Mining Co., Avery Salt Manufacturing Co. and American Salt Co.

A Foolhardy Trip

The attempt of three St. Joseph boys, Duffy Mason, Joe Mason and Burton Miller to row to Chicago in a small boat, ended in disaster, and the boys were lucky to escape with their lives. They rowed all Wednesday night against a strong wind and current and at 9 o'clock in the morning their boat was washed ashore ten miles north of Michigan City. They reached that place nearly exhausted and took a train for home. They are not discouraged by their failure and say they will try it again next week. Local mariners are much chagrined at the outcome of the foolhardy undertaking as many large wagers had been made on the result.

Disastrous Rains,

Reports state that the heavy rains which have fallen almost incessantly during the past week throughout Pennsylvania have resulted in the most disastrous flood experienced in many years. At Mauch Chunk the storm was attended by four fatalities. Jesse Struthers, a promiuent citizen of Mauch Chunk, and three boys named McClaffery, McGinley and Johnson, were standing on a bridge spanning Mauch Chunk creek, when the supports collapsed and the four were precipitated into the water and drowned. At Wilkesbarre a landslide occurred along the Lehigh Valley railroad at the eastern approach of the Vosburg tunnel, and traffic was suspended for several hours. A washout on the Sunbury branch of the Pennsylvania railroad delayed traffic several hours. In Shamokin, Tamaqua, Pittston and other mining towns, many collieries have been fleoded and work has been suspended. The Schuylkill river and the Panther and Wabash creeks at Tamaqua are overflowing their banks and many bridges have been washed away. All the colleries in the Panther creek valley are flooded. Crops in the Catawissa valley, a farming section, are practically ruined. The storm will cost Bedford county thousands of dollars to replace bridges washed away and damage done to roads. In some townships it will be necessary to lay a special tax to meet the expenses. One of the heavlest losers was the Bedford Springs property, which was much damaged by high water. Some farms are almost ruined, the top soil being almost entirely washed away.

A Jersey Wind Blast.

A most violent and protracted rain storm accompanied by wind which at times in some sections approached the proportions of a hurricane, swept over New York city, Westchester county, and the northeastern portion of New Jersey this afternoon. The most damage reported was at Jersey City, where buildings were wrecked, including a church and a theater. It was about 3 o'clock that this city began to have the worst storm experienced in its history. Blasts of wind carried widespread destruction. Two wind storms seemingly met, working havoc, the steeple of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church was blown over, crashing through the roof and wrecking the interior. The roofs of 12 three-story buildings were ripped off. Great pieces of tin fell in the streets, show windows crashed and the glass littered

A Royal Divorce.

One piece of gossip of the London clubs is startling and interesting. It tells of serious trouble at the court of the ezar of Russia which may have a far-reaching effect. It is well known | men were hurt. that the czar is bitterly disappointed because no son has been born to succeed him on the throne, this disappointment being softened only by his devotion to the ezarina. It is now declared, according to this club gossipparticipated in by well known diplomats-that the ezarina is altogether unlikely to give birth to a son, and if she could do so, such son would ceris said to have been made by phys'cians near to the court. It has excited the Russian cabinet, members of which believe that the czar should adopt one of two alternatives-divor w the czarina and remarry, or declare the present ezarewitch heir to the throne and hasten his marriage to the Princess Margaret, one of the daughters of the Duke of Connaught.

The Pittston Labor Riots.

Rioting at the Sterling silk mill in Pittston, Pa., continued Friday, When the strikers arrived at the mill long before daylight they were provided with stones and other weapons. The first object of attack was a small Italian settlement near the mill. The nonunion girls in Thursday night's riot took refuge in these houses and escaped from the striker crowd. There was a clash with the Italians. Later when the non-union workers arrived n volley of stones met them. The mill is in operation, but serious trouble threatens.

Horrors of a Lunatic Anylum,

Investigation of conditions in the New Jersey State Hospital for the insane in Trenton, based upon charges made by former and present employes of the institution, has brought out the recital of a chapter of horrors similar to those perpetrated at the Bellevue Hospital in New York. Dr. Jones, for eleven years one of the hospital physicians, makes these charges:

That William Funk, an inmate, was killed by Frank Lischer, a hospital attendant, on June 26, 1900, because he refused to take a dose of medicine. That Dr. John W. Ward, the medical director of the hospital, refused, when requested by Dr. Jones, to go to Funk's bedside to view the case, although he was informed that the patient was dying.

That Patrick McGowan, a tinker at the hospital, threw muriatic acid on John Foran, another employe, burning him terribly.

That insufficient and putrid food has been supplied for the consumption of employes and patients,

That pigs that have died from cholera aud pleuro-pneumonia, as has been proved by examinations, have been sold for human food to butchers in Trenton and Philadelphia, and that funds of the institution have been misappropriated.

Bogus Notes, The arrest of Frank J. Perry, Wm. Hogan and E. W. Smith at San Francisco on the charge of passing notes printed from the original plates of the State Bank of New Brunswick, N. J., which went out of business several vears prior to the civil war, disclosed the fact that their source of supply was Jacob Weigel, at New Brunswick. N. J., The officials at New York wer: notified and to-day Weigel was arrested and $17,300 in the notes were secured, together with several copper plates of different denominations.

STRIKE PLEAS ARE FUTILE. he South Chicago Steel Men Will Not

go steel workers reststed the enewed efforts to call them out on strike yesterday afternoon. Only one man joined the two who were already out, and the rest of the men will return to their work this morning as if no strike agitation was haunting them. The mass meeting of union lafor organizations, har angued by general officers of the Amaigamated Association and by representatives of a number of other trades, showed a very hitter feeling toward the men who refuse to strike, but it had no immediate effect on the steel workers, because practically all of them stayed away. There may not have been over a dozen steel workers all told in the audience. One result of the meeting will be, however, a woman's campaign to bring home to the wives and families of the men the odium that will follow refusal bstrike, from the point of view of othrunion laborers. It was Emma Lamphere, national organizer of the Retail Clerks' union, whose words stung most charply. Addressing the few members the Amalgamated Association who ad come to the meeting, she said: for men of strong and honest labor the pride of the world. This is the e to show the world whether you men or mice. If you are mice reain in your trap. If you are men come at tomorrow and strike for your nion." Then she urged the organizaton of all the women in the families Munion workingmen in South Chicago b bring their influence to bear on the stel workers for a strike. "You men other unions," she said, "this strike s fours as much as the steel workers'. for the vital principles of unionism are at stake. Get your wives and your aughters and other men's wives, too, to influence the men of the Amalgamated Association. Take the issue into their homes. Show them the disgrace which they will never get rid of. Make

Other speakers echoed this suggestion, and the cheers and yells of the audience, followed by the promises of both men and women given to Mrs. Lamphere when the meeting adjourned, make it certain that a campaign through women will be begun such as has rarely been seen. Among other things the meeting brought forth prediction from Vice President W. r. Davis of the Amalgamated Association that the steel strike was but the first step in a carefully prepared plan of J. Pierpont Morgan to crush unionbe wiped out. That is why the opposilion to us is so bitter, so uncompromising, so regardless of the possibilily of arbitration. fer in abrogating the wage contracts with the Federal Steel company covering its western mills and in other instances was questioned. Messrs. Mitchell, White and Jenks spoke of the importance of strict observance of wage agreements as contracts by the labor unions. President Shaffer maintained his position to the satisfaction of most of the conferees. It is stated that when the Lower Union mills of the Carnegie company in Lawrenceville were ready to start up the officia's discovered they were short about six ty of the skilled men who had been working there up to Saturday. As a result two of the roughing mills were idle, the twelve-inch mill is crippled, the plate mill was only operated about half the number of heats, and the niine-inch mill is still out and will not be operated. Officials believe that the strikers will not stay out for long.

KOHLSAAT'S ORDER IGNORED. Striking Machinists Advised That Peace

ful Picketing is Legal Chicago, Aug. 27.—The striking machinists are still defying Judge Kohlsaat's injunction. Both the Fraser & Chalmers plant and the Gates Iron works were surrounded by pickets during the day. MORE TROOPS FOR MANILA.

City Now Guarded by Less Than

Thousand Soldiers. Manila, Aug. 27.-In the city of Ma. nila there are now less than 1,000 effective soldiers and it has been decided to increase this number by four companies of infantry. The official reason for the increase is that the guard duty is too heavy for the present force. As a matter of fact, however, there is a feeling that, though there is no apparent prospect of trouble, nevertheless, in the event of an uprising in the future such as is always possible among the Malov it would be better to have a sufficient body of troops available for such as emergency. General Chaffee says he considers the city to make that my home. Tell my of Manila to be perfectly orderly and he can see no prospect of an uprising.

A copy will tried at the present term of court, assuring the crowd that his conviction and legal execution was a foregone conclusion. This appeal was supplemented by others. The effect of these addresses was lost, however, when several hundred residents from the neighborhood where the crime was committed came up and increased the crowd to thousands. Then the mob swept forward upon the jail, overpowered the sheriff and his deputies, took the prisoner and started for the Williams home, twelve miles distant. When this point was reached the negro was placed upon a stump and given a chance to make a statement. He mounted the stump stolidly and laughed as he began his statement. He said: "Tell all my sisters and brothers to meet me in glory. I am going Cnicago..... mother to meet me where parting will be no more." He was then asked as to whether anyone else was implicated in the crime. Noles said emphatically no one, was implicated but himself. "Why did you kill Mrs. Williams?" was asked. "I just done that because had nothing else to do." finished his statement he was taken from the stump, carried to a tree near by, bound to the tree by chains and his body was saturated with oil. THE PRES DENT'S DAY.

A Most Notable Gathering At the Pan American.

THE PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK.

President McKinley The Supreme Cour Justices, The Diplomatic Corps, and Other Distinguished Persons to be in Buffalo on September 5th.

President McKinley will pay his official visit to the Exposition of All the Americas on September 5th. That day has been designated at the Exposition as President's Day. It will witness the most notable gathering of distinguished statesmen, jurists and diplomats which has occurred for some time, as the president will be accompanied by members of his cabinet, justices of the Supreme Court, and many members of the diplomatic corps, who will gather at the Pan-American and meet the representatives there from Pan-American countries and join in a special inspection of the exhibits repin the western bemispheres. Military pageants, banquets and receptions will

He will speak from the band-stand in the west esplanade, addressing perhaps an audience of several hundred thousand persons, for the esplanade is capable of holding 250,000 pepole. President's Day will therefore be in many respects the greatest day among all the great days of the exposition

The presidential party will leave Washington at 8 a. m. on Sept. 4th, by special train, over the Pennsylvania railroad. There will be six drawingroom cars, one car being for the Supreme Court members, another for the cabinet members, two for the diplomatic corps. There will also be a din ing car and a smoking car. The train will be in charge of Assistant General l'assenger Agent Boyd, of the Pennsylvania. This train will arrive in Buffalo at 7 p. m., on Sept. 4th. There will be no formal ceremonies that evening and the president and his fam ily with Dr. and Mrs. Rixey will simply be met at the station by a sultable escort, and conducted to the home of the president of the Pan-American Exposition, Hon. John G. Milburn. President Milburn has a beautiful home af 1186 Delaware avenue, the most fashionable residence street of Buffalo, and this will be given up to the use of the president and his family during their stay in Buffalo.

The exposition will be at its best at this time, and the climate of Buffalo in early September is usually ideal. With favorable conditions, the exposition on that date will present a perfect scene for the imposing demonstra. Pills. In a few days she was completetion which it is likely to witness.

The splendid Marine band, of Washington, will be at the exposition at this time, and there will be encamped here various detachments of United States forces in the divisions of artillery, infantry, hospital corps, etc. All these will take part in the parade on Presi dent's Day.

The formal entrance to the expostion grounds is through the Lincoln Parkway gate, on the south, and the roadway leads by the military camp, across the park lake, and the United States life saving station, and the fam- ily, even should a stage plank or cask ous statue of Gen. Washington, by French. Along this route the presidential party will pass into the main court of the exposition, via the triumphal causeway, which expresses the welcome of the United States to visiting nations. On arrival at the esplanade the president will be introduced to the assembled thousands by President Milburn, of the exposition, and he will then make his address. Upon its conclusion the party will continue through the exposition grounds to the great stadium for athletic sports, which is capable of holding more persons than any amphitheater of the common to fair Yorkers and grassers, $5.90 sons than any amphitheater of the 65.95 pigs $5.80.75.90. Sheep, best wethers kind in existence. There the troops $7.7673.80, good $3.40.77.55 mixed $3.773.30, will be reviewed by President Mc-Kinley.

A luncheon, tendered by the New York state board of managers for the Pau-American Exposition, will be tendered in the New York state building. The president will devote the afternoon to the inspection of the exhibits in the United States government building, which will be cleared of people and locked for a short time to permit the president to make the inspection The government board will give a reception in his honor.

After a dinner at the home of Mr Milburn with his family the president will return to the exposition and will again be escorted from the Lincoln Parkway gate to view the illuminations of the exposition.

The committee on ceremonies, of which Mr. Edward R. Rice is chairman, is perfecting details of the pro gram for this great day at the Pan-American, and further plans will be announced as they are completed. Chairman Edward R. Rice, of the Pan-American committee on ceremon ies, appounced to-day the following plan for the second day of President McKinley's stay at the exposition: The president and his party will be invited to spend the early portion of Sept. 6th, the day following President's Day, at Niagara Falls, special cars being provided for the purpose. On their return from the Falls a public reception will be given the presideut at the temple of music, from to 5 p. m. It has also been decided to erect a special stand near the northwest pylon of the triumphal bridge, for the accommodation of the presidential party, on Sept. 5th, and the president will make his address from that place on this day, after which the review will take place in the stadium, as originally planned.

ORIGIN OF FAMOUS HYMNS. Inspirat ous That Led Devent People to Their Composition.

The origin of many of the poplar hymns that are sung with sest whererer Christian people assemble to offer praise to their Creator greatly deepens the interest in both the songs and the singers and reveal that mighty kinship of human souls, that divine sympathy, that confers deathless fame on a few simple verses, soul biographies living in song. "Rock of Agas. Cleft for Me." This greatest of hymns was written in 1775 by Rev. Augustus Toplady, a very learned English divine who died at the early age of 38. The hymn has the rare, wondrous spiritual ecstacy he revealed in his daily life. In his last illness he said: "I cannot tell the comforts that I feel in my soul; they are past expression. It will not be long before God takes me, for no mortal man can live after the glories which God has manifested to my soul." The marble tablet over his grave says: "He wrote 'Rock of Ages, Cleft for Me.' " Mrs. Vanaistyne, better known as Fanny Crosby, the blind poet, wrote the hymn "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" for music in twenty minutes, but into it was put the essence of her whole life of faith. Miss Crosby, after a day's jostling through the city streets, guided by some loving hand, returns to her little room and pours forth her soul in song. Of the many hymns written by Mrs. Sarah Flower Adams, the only one that has survived is the hymn, "Nearer, My God to Thee," based on the bible sto: Y of Jacob's vision at Bethel, the imagery of which narrative it follows most faithfully. One day Charles Wealey was sitting by an open window, looking over the beautiful fields, when he saw a little bird pursued by a hawk. The poor think, weak and frightened, in seeking to escape from its enemy. flew into the room and found refuge in Wesley's bosom. As the poet was then in great trouble and needed the safety of a refuge, the consolation of help from a higher power than his own, the incident seemed to him a divine messsage, and, thus inspired, he wrote the famous hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

> Dispensing With "Cussin' Mates." The local packet companies, together with many other excellent improvements recently made, have decided to do away with the "cussin' mate," and hereafter the forecastles of their steamers will be governed by men who will not send forth a stream of profanity. To this end changes have recently been made, until at last every mate in the service of the Louisville and Cincinnati, and Henderson lines, is of the "non-cussin" kind. CHINESE USES OF FLOUR.

Mostly Consumed in the Form of Dough, Vermicelli or Dump-

In all the Chinese cities a very large percentage of the population lives in a sort of hand-to-mouth fashion, buying food from restaurants. Hot water is sold from stands by people who make a business of providing it. The great necessity for economy in fuel seems to be the primary cause of this mode of Miss Luella Buchapan of Detroit living. Restaurants are the great consumers of foreign flour, says a consular report.

Throughout central and southern China very little baked bread is used, and the flour is consumed in the form of dough, vermicelli, or dumplings filled with chopped meat, or meat and vegetables, or fruit.

The flour is made into dough and worked into a leathery form by a man operating a bamboo fastened at one end. The worker sits on the other end of the bamboo and presses and works the dough until it is quite tough; it is then pressed into thin sheets and cut into strings, boiled, and thus eaten, or made into damplings and then steamed and eaten. In nearly every case it is eaten while hot. This foreign flour is also used quite extensively in cakes and Chinese confections of various

In a great many of these restaurants the native flour made from native wheat is used for the inside of the dumpling and dough bread and the finer and whiter flour is used as a cov-

The Chinese appetite seems to demand boiled or steamed food rather than baked; hence, very little foreign flour is baked into bread for Chinese consumption.

ELOQUENCE OF THE NEGRO.

Sotable Example Was That Presented in the Preaching of Rev. John Jasper.

Rev. John Jasper represented the highest type of ignorant eloquence. Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly contains an interesting account of the famous old preacher.

There were many other discourses, says the author, just as good as the "Sun-do-move" sermon, though not so well known. In every one he wrought himself up into a pitch that was astonishing. In preaching one Sunday on the final triumph of Christ's kingdom he soared aloft in his imagery. The audience, white and black, were wrought up to the highest pitch.

"An' Death," he said, "whar will Death be den? Chained-tied fas' to de golden chariot o' de Lawd. He will be groanin' an' stumblin' an' fallin'!" And taking up one foot in his hand guest of Clarence Gage and family with the suppleness and the activity, of a trapeze dancer he hopped and hobbled and sprawled and fell around the pulpit until the congregation, run wild with the perfection of the acting, almost thought they were in the very presence of the chained Death, and the women shricked and shouted and the men rose in their seats and shouted like

In his speech John Jasper was denunciatory and as sarcastic as a man cule his opponents. He could say more in a cynical grunt or a laugh or a wave of his long arm than most men can say in a paragraph.

Jasper could argue all day, if necessary, and none could beat him. He knew nohing of syllogisms, of their premises and their conclusions, but he proved what he said by staking upon it his own character.

"Ef tain' so, frien's, go into de highways an' de byways an' de streets an' de hedges an' tell ev'ybody you meet dat John Jasper is a liar!"

STILL LEFT IN DOUBT.

Pronunciation of St. Louis Remains a Problem Even to Residents of That City.

At the recent national convention of police chiefs one of the New York police captains called Chief of Police Kiely, of St. Louis, aside and requested a point of information of national importance, says the New York Times.

"Chief, will you tell me how the citizens of your city pronounce its name? Do they say Saint Louis-givng the sound of the final s, or do they say Saint Lewi, which I believe is the

"You've got me," replied the chief Our people are divided on that point The plain, breezy westerner avoids the French pronunciation by the dropping of the final letter, and the socalled cultured adhere to it with persistent tenacity. I can best answer the question by a story they tell out of my town. A New Yorker came west on a visit to the metropolis of Missouri, who used the French pronunciation when talking to a friend and old resident of the city. The westerner called the easterner aside and told him that the people of the town didn't say 'Saint Lewi.' The visitor thanked him and decided to follow the custom of the town and do as the Romans did. Shortly afterward he met another friend and he used the name of the city as he was told by his other acquaintance. He was immediately corrected, and informed that the real people of St. Louis avoided the Anglicized pronunciation, but said 'Saint Lewi.' friend tutor, and later returned to New York. On his arrival home he met another old acquaintance, who inquired where he had been and what eity in the west he had visited. The traveler hesitated for a moment and know how."

BEYOND THE SPAN OF LIFE.

Culprits Are Sometimes Sentenced to Centuries of Imprison-

To be sentenced to imprisonment for the term of one's natural life is hard enough, but to be consigned to a dungeon cell for a couple of thousand years is indeed harrowing. Yet foreign judges not infrequently impose sentences of several centuries without it being considered anything remarkable. Not long ago an Italian adventurer was convicted of 63 distinct forgeries. He was sentenced in each case, with the result that he will be free in

A couple of years ago a young man was arrested in Vienna who, upon his own showing, should have been senenced to 2,500 years' imprisonment. A total of 400 charges was brought against him, and he was convicted and sentenced on all of them. But the judge was a merciful man, and in passing sentence he threw off 1,000 years in consideration of the man's youth. A little time ago, in the great Calabrian brigandage trial in Naples, the public prosecutor demanded sentence upon 248 prisoners, and although the average sentence imposed was a little over five years the aggregate of the sentences amounted to 1,300 years' im-

What the Hand Said.

BY MIRIAM CRUTSCHANK. (Copyright, 1901, by Daily Story Pub. Co. As a hostess Mrs. McCormick was a

Ever since old Jake McCormick had passed into the great unknown, nearly eight years before my story commences, leaving behind him the only two things that ever crept into his heart-his young wife and his millions- Mrs. McCormick had, socially, reigned in L- supreme. L- was a college town-old, sedate, select. To have belonged there for generations was a guarantee of respectability; to be new was damnation. Society was as its forbears had made it-then came Mrs. McCormick.

Old Jake had started life as a blacksmith: later he made millions in oil. Mrs. McCormick never told her family history. She was young, pretty, rich and a widow; who could ask more? The patriarchs of L- looked on her coming with indifference; one day they awoke to find her their bright by Radnor repeating his last word and particular star. Her dinners were triumphs in the culinary art, her decorations were perfection, wall-flewers were unknown at her dances, and happy the fraternity tea or college ball that secured her as a patroness.

Today was one of her Saturday functions to which the elite of Lwas bidden and gladly came, and, despite pouring rain, the rooms were filed. Mrs McCormick, fair, gracious,

"So you did come after all."

smiling, moved from group to group and then paused near the doorway where a tall man was standing absently watching the bright scene.

"So you did come, after all?" she said, giving him ber hand for the briefest possible moment. "It was very good of you."

She laughs as she sinks down on a small sofa and draws her skirts aside to make room for him. her skirts as he specially her skirts as her "Just five minutes, then; I am due the palmist for an instant-his grave plored by whites.

TAKEN FROM ST. PAUL TO THE What a childish-looking little thing she was! Radnor seeing her now in her short gypsy dress, her heavy braids of dark hair hanging over her shoulders, could have easily imagined that the seven years since their last meeting had been swept away, so little changed was she.

"I am not tired," she said quietly, though the pale face and deep purple shadows under her eyes belied her words. She took his hands in her cold, slender ones and the onlookers drew closer about them.

"You have a long life, good health, no nerves to speak of, rather cold; yet you win people easily. Mathematical, logical, argumentative, a free-thinker in religious matters, very ambitious, proud and self-willed, fond of luxury and not afraid to work for it. Your success in life is assured."

"And his marriage," cry half a dozen voices; "has he ever been in love? Is he ever going to be married?"

And Adele went on, but a little more slowly this time.

"You have been in love twice, once in your early youth; the trace is al- man of the name of Saul, riding toward most faded out. The second time this city, had been thrown from the when 30 or 31; the line is cut and saddle. The horse had dropped under barred, some obstacle-! (she is a flash from the sky, which at the breathing quickly) I do not see any more."

She drops the hands and is turning away with a half-repressed gesture of relief, but the listeners are clamoring for the end. Adele shakes her head smiling. "That is the end; remember the powers of palmistry are limited." And the crowd moves away, laughing, protesting, leaving Radnor and the cheiromant together.

For a moment he is silent. In the great hall the band is playing a wild fantastic Hungarian dance. In the drawing-room be can hear the murmur of fifty voices, among them Mrs. Mc-Cormick's, silvery, a little too incisive, box highbred withal. Then he moves closer. "Adele," he says softly, and there is a world of tenderness in his voice, but the girl does not move. "Adele, shall I tell the end that palmistry does not reveal? The story of girl came, of the brief dream of happiness, of the pride that sent him away, of the seven long years of fruitless search, of waiting and hoping for the word that never came, and thenshall I tell the end, Adele, or will

She cannot speak, but the dark eyes are slowly raised to his and then droop lower than ever.

In the shadow of the palms Radnor lays one large brown hand over the two little trembling ones and says softly, "My little girl, my darling."

Twenty minutes later Mrs. McCoromewhere else now. What can I do mick is holding out a gracious hand to Radnor, who is among the tast to "Tell me the attraction, Recitation, Spiritualism, Theosophy, Punch and

"Well, did you find out?" she says, and just then the little cheiromant, a water-proof over her bright dress, the hood covering the heavy hair, comes down the stairs.

Radner looks from one woman to the other, and then one of his rare, brilliant smiles softens the gravity of his face. "Yes, I found out." He hesitates an instant and then says: "I think I must congratulate you, Mrs. McCormick, on the most successful affair of the season."

And as she murmurs her thanks he and Adele go out together, leaving her standing in the doorway.

Gold Teeth Out of Style

It is no longer considered good form to make a display of gold teeth. "The custom has grown to such an extent," said a prominent eastern dentist the other day, "that young men and women actually had small holes drilled in teeth that were perfectly sound, in order that gold fillings might be inserted. Even sets of false teeth for older people were thus desorated. Gold caps were in great demand, and were often put on when there was no occasion, simply because people thought they looked well. I remember seeing a chorus girl who came over with an English company several years ago who had a diamond inserted in one of her front teeth. Her smile was literally dazzling. All that is changed now, though. The tendency seems to be to preserve as much as possible the natural whiteness of the teeth, and sometimes enamel is placed over a gold

CCRINTHIANS.

[Copyright, 1901, by Louis Klopsch, N. Y.] Washington, Aug. 25.-A Bible incl. dent not often noticed is here used by Dr. Talmage to set forth practical and beautiful truth; text, II Corinthians xi, 33, "Through a window in a basket was I let down by the wall."

Sermons on Paul in jail, Paul on Mars hill, Paul in the shipwreck, Paul before the sanbedrin, Paul before Felix, are plentiful, but in my text we have Paul in a basket.

Damascus is a city of white and glistening architecture, sometimes called "the eye of the east," sometimes called "a pearl surrounded by emeralds," at one time distinguished for swords of the best material, called Damascus blades, and upholstery or richest fabric called damask. A horsesame time was so bright it blinded the rider for many days and, I think, so permanently injured his eyesight that his defect of vision became the thorn in the fash he afterward speaks of. He started for Damascus to butcher Christians, but after that hard fall from his horse he was a changed man and preached Christ in Damascus till the city was shaken to its foundation.

The mayor gives authority for his arrest, and the popular cry is: "Kill him! Kill him!" The city is surrounded by a high wall an. the gates are watched by the police lest the Cilician preacher escape. Many of the houses are built on the wall, and their balconies projected clear over and hovered above the gardens outside. It was customary to lower baskets out of these balconies and pull up fruits and flowers from the gardens. To this day visitors at the monastery of Mount Sinal are lifted and let down in basa lonely man into whose life a young kets. Detectives prowled around from house to house looking for Paul, but his friends hid him, now in one place, now in another. He is no coward, as 50 incidents in his life demonstrate, but he feels his work is not done yet and se he evades assassination. "Is that preacher lunatic here?" the foaming mob shout at one house door. "Is that lunatic here?" the police shout at another house door. Sometimes on the street incognito he passes through a home struggle. We never heard the the rope." And I said: "Is that all." cloud of clinched fists and sometimes old people say once-that they were dehe secretes himself on the house top.

Paul's Providential Escape.

At last the infuriate populace get on sure track of him. They have positive evidence that he is in the house of one of the Christians, the balcony of whose home reaches over the wall. "Here he is! Here he is!" The vociferation and blasphemy and howling of the pursuers are at the front door. They break in. "Fetch out that gospelizer and let us hang his head on the city gate. Where is he?" The emergency was terrible. Providentially there was a good stout basket in the house. Paul's friends fasten a rope to the basket Paul steps into it. The basket is lifted to the edge of the balcony on the wall, and then while Paul ho'ds the rope with both hands his friends lower away, carefully and cautiously, slowly but surely, farther down and farther down, until the basket strikes the earth and the apostle steps out and afoot and alone starts on that famous missionary tour the story of which h s astonished earth and heaven. Appropriate entry in Paul's diary of travels: "Through a window in a basket was I let down by the wall." I observe first on what a slender tenure great resu ts hang. The rope-maker who twisted that cord fastened to that lowering basket never knew how much would depend upon the strength of it. How if it had been broken and the apostle's life had been dashed out? What would have become of the Christian church? All that magnificent missionary work in Pamphylia, Cappadocia, Galatia, Macedonia would never have been accomplished. All his writings that make up so indispensable and enchanting a part of the New Testament would never have been written. The story of resurrection would never have been so gloriously told as he told it. That example o' heroic and triumphant endurance at Philippi, in the Mediterranean Euroclydon, under flagellation, and at h's beheading, would not have kindled the courage of 10,000 martyrdoms. But that rope holding that basket, how much depended on it! So again and again great results have hung on slender circumstances.

Did ever ship of many thousand tons crossing the sea have such an important passenger as had once a boat of leaves, from taffrail to stern only three or four feet, the vessel made waterproof by a coat of bitumen and floating on the Nile with the infant lawgiver of the Jews on board? What if some crocodile s'wuld crunch it? What if some cattle wading in for a drink should sink it? Vessels of war some times carry 40 guns looking through the portholes ready to open battle, but the tiny craft on the Nile seems to ba armed with all the guns of thunder that bombarded Sinal at the lawgiving. On how fragile craft sailed hom much of historical importance!

Early Struggle and Sacrifice.

There are said to be about a hundred pie ir heaven, when there is one rea-"Many thanks," said Radnor, laugh- coons sold in the London market for 1 are fifty thousand ministers of religion son we fail to present, and thus is butin this country. The collegiate of stirring reminiscences! If other and theological education of that son fail to give introduction, God will take took every luxury from the parental us through, and before our first in table for eight years. The other children were more scantily apparelled. The son at college every little while got a bundle from home. In it were the socks that mother had knit sitting up late at night, her sight not as good as once it was. And there also were some delicacies from the sister's hand for the voracious appetite of a hungry student. The father swung the heavy cradle through the wheat, the sweat rolling from his chin bedewing every step of the way, and then sitting down under the cherry tree at noon thinking to himself, "I am fearfully tired, but it will pay if I can once see that boy through college, and if I can know Surely they must have killed in battle that he will be preaching the gospel after I am dead." The younger children want to know why they can't have this and that, as others do, and the mother says. "Be patient, my children, until your brother graduates, and then you shall have more luxuries, but we must see that boy through."

The years go by, and the son has been ordained and is preaching the glorious gospel, and a great revival comes, and souls by scores and hondreds accept the gospel from the lips of that young preacher, and father and mother, quite old now, are visiting the son at the village parsonage, and at the close of a Sabbath of mighty blessing father and mother retire to t'eir room, the son lighting the way and asking them if he can do anything to make them more comfortable, saying if they want anything in the night just to knock on the wall, and then, all alone, father and mother talk over the gracious influences of the day and say: Well, it was worth all we went through to educate that boy. It was a hard pull, but we held on till the work was done. The world may not know it, but mother, we hell the rope, didn't we?" And the voice, tremulous with joyful emotion, responds: "Yes, father, we held the rope. I feel my work is done. Now, Lord, lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, for mine eyes have seen thy salvation." "Pshaw!" says the father. "I never felt so much like living in my life as now. I want to see what that fellow is going to do, he has begun so well."

Something occurs to me quite personal. I was the youngest of a large family of child:en. My parents were neither rich nor poor. Four of the sons warted a college education, and four obtained it, but not without great in it, and I was one who helped hid nying themselves to effect this, but I remember now that my parents alw ys looked tired. I don't think they evegot rested until they lay down in the Somerville cemetery. Mother would sit down in the evening and say, "We'l. I don't know what makes me f el so tired." Father would fall immediately to sleep, seated by the evening stand overcome with the day's fatigues About 36 years ago the one and ab ut 37 years ago the other put down the burdens of this life, but they still hold the rope.

Recegnition of Blessings.

O men and women, you brag somelimes how you have fought your way in the world, but I think there bave been helpful influences that you have never fully acknowledg d. Has there not been some influence in your early or present home that the world cannot see? Does there no' reach you from among the New England hills or from the western prairie or f om southern plantation or from English or Scottish or Irish home a cord of influence that has kept you right when you would have gone astray and which, after you had made a crooked track, recalled you? The rope may be as long as 30 years or 500 mkes long or 3,000 miles long, but hands that went out of mortal sight leng ago still hold the rope. You want a very swift horse, and you need to rowel him with sharpest spurs and to let the reins lie loose upon the neek and to give a shout to the racer if you are going to ride out of reach of your mother's prayers. Why, a ship crossing the Atlantic in six days can't sail away from that. A sailor finds them on the lookout as he takes his place and finds them on the mast as he climbs the ratlines to disentangle a rope in the tempest and finds them swinging on the hammock when he turns in. Why not be frank and acknowledge it? The most of us would long ago have been dashed to pieces had not gracious and loving hands steadily and lovingly and mightily held the rope.

But there must come a time when we shall .Ind out who these Damascenes were who lowered Paul in the basket, and greet them and all those who have rendered to God and the world unrecognized and unrecorded services. That is going to be one of the glad excitements of heaven, the hunting up and picking out of those who did great goed on earth and got no credit for it. Here the church has been going on 19 centuries, and yet the world has not recognized the services of the people in that Damascus balcony. Charles G. Finney said to a dying Christian, "Give my love to St Paul when you meet him." When you and I meet him, as we will, I shall ask him to introduce me to those who got him out of the Damascene peril.

We go into long sermons to prove that we will be able to recognize peo-ed with all the heavenly hor What rehearsal of old times and recit hours in heaven-if it were calculated by earthly timepieces—have passed we shall meet and talk with more heavenly celebrities than in our entire mortal state we met with e celebrities. Many who made get noise of usefulness will sit on the last seat by the front door of the heavenly temple, while right up within arm's reach of the heavenly throne will by many who, though they could not reach themselves or do great exploits for God, nevertheless held the rope,

"I had a Sabbath school class and they were always or my heart, and they all entered the kingdom of God, and I am waiting for their arrival." But who are thou, the mighty one of heaven on this other throne? "In time of bl ter persecution I owned a house in Damascus, a house on the wall. A man who preached Christ was hounded from street to street and I hid him from the assiss m and when I found them breaking into my house and I could no longer kes him safely I advised him to flee for his life, and a basket was let down over the wa'l with the maltreated mu And he answered: "That is all." And while I was lost in amazement I heard a strong voice that sounded as though it might once have been hourse from many exposures, and triumphant as though it might have belonged to one of the martyrs, and it said: "Not muy mighty, not many noble are called, but God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty, and base things of the world and things which are despised hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not to bring to naught things which are, that no feet should glory in his presence" And I looked to see from whence the voice came, and lo! it was the very one who had said. "Through a window in a bu-ket was I let down by the wa'l." Henceforth think of nothing as in significant. A little thing may decide your all. A Cunarder put out from England for New York. It was well equipped, but in putting up a store the pilot box a nail was drives in near the compass, put the ship in miles off her right course, and mildenly the man on the lookout dist. "Land ho!" and the ship was halled within a few yards of her demolities on Nantucket shoals. A sixpenny 144 came near wrecking a Cunarder. Small ropes hold mighty destinies. A minister seated in Beston at his table, lacking a word, puts his hind behind h a head and tilts back his chair to think, and the celling fa'ls and crushes the 'table and wou'd have crushed 14m. A minister in Jameica at night, by the light of an insec called the candle fly, is kept from stepping over a precipiee a hundred feet F. W. Robertson, the celebrated East lish clergyman, said that he entere the ministry from a train of circumstances started by the barking of dog. Had the wind blown one way of a certain day the Spanish inquisition would have been established in East land. But it blew the other way, as that dropped the accurred institution with 75 tons of shipping, to the botton of the sea or flung the splintered log on the rocks.

CHAPTER XI. Horam is Caged. Carefully the three men emerged from the dungeon; and when Osmir had closed and bolted the door behind them, Selim went on ahead with the lantern. They were armed with good gout swords, and the blacks wore daggers in their sashes. "In what direction must we pass out" asked Julian, as they came to the end of the first valuted passage. "We must pass up where a guard is always kept," answered Osmir; "and our only hope is that we may be able to fall upon the sentinels, and overcome them, without creating disturbme enough for a general alarm."

"Whatever can be accomplished by strength of arm, we will accomplish," aid the robber; "and I think we can be shrewd enough not to strike until we see that the blow shall fall sure-

"You can depend upon us," added Osmir, stopping wh'le Selim opened a door. "We have already placed our tives in jeopardy, and only a successful exit from the palace can now save But, as I told you before, there danger in the way."

"You have counted the chances?" "Yes."

"And are you ready to bide the result?"

"Yes." "Then let us meet the worst. If rou, to set me free, are ready for the sk. I should be much more so." At this juncture Selim, who had mened a door, and gone on a few steps in advance, came hurriedly back. with a look of alarm in his face.

"I hear footsteps in the passage overhead," he said, in a whisper. "Are you sure?"

"Yes. I heard them very plainly." "What is the passage of which you speak?" asked Julian.

"It is one through which we must pass," replied Osmir, "and one in which we had expected to find no obstacle."

"It may be," suggested Selim, "that a new guard has been set there."

"That cannot be," asserted Osmir. "I came through there only a short time since and the place was empty. Hark -I hear the steps from here-and I think they are coming this way. Hold, moment. Remain where yo. are. and I will find what this means."

Thus speaking, Osmir glided away into the darkness, towards the point where the stairs led down from the upper passage. After an absence of a few minutes he returned, and his first esclamation told that he was excited. "The king is coming!"

"The king!" repeated Julian, in a pick, deep whisper.

"Yes-and two of its guards are with him. Some one else came as far s the nead of the stairs with them, but I think only the king and the mards are descending."

"He must be coming to see me," said

"a must be so," answered Osmir; for there is othing else here for him to see, save pare damp walls and

"Hark! Here they come. I hear eir voices, and can see where the hys of their lantern breaks in the floom." It was Selim who said this. and as he spoke he drew back, and hid his own lantern beneath the skirt of

Our adventurers, from where they stood, could see the foot of the steps It the far end of the passage; and resently they saw two men descend, the foremost one bearing a lantern, and wearing the robes of the king, while the other seemed to be an offor of the household.

"I see now," said Osmir, as he gained a view of the approaching men. I was mistaken. The guards have been left behind, and this is Benoni. one of the captains of the guard, who omes with the king."

The robber chieftain was for a moment undecided as to the course he should pursue. Once his sword was half drawn from its scabbard; but Osmir, who heard the movement, ned to have a better idea. "My master," he whispered, touchof Julian upon the arm, "let us draw Mck out of sight, and allow them to Pass. They will certainly keep on to the dungeon we have left, and we will ollow them thither."

You are right," replied the chiefaln. "They will be completely in our lower when they have passed us." Just back of where our trio stood was the door by which they had last passed, and upon one side was a deep aiche in the wall, which had svidently been constructed for the reception of rubbish. Into this they quickly glided, elim so effectually cloaking his lantern that not a ray of light escaped. in a little while the king came near the hiding place, with his lantern held carefully before him, and his head bowed, as though he was fearful that e might make a misstep. He walked lowly, and his frame shook with a erceptible tremor. When he reached he door he stopped, and turned towards his companions.

"No-I prefer to go alone.

"But," urged the captain, "the way is rough and dubious, and you may miss your step."

"Out upon thee for an ass!" cried the king, indignantly. "Do you think my step is growing feeble? I tell thee it was never stronger. I will go the rest of the way as I have said. I shall find Selim at the door of the dungeon, and he will render me such assistance as I may need there. I must see this prisoner alone. He possesses a secret which I must fathom before he loses

"I beg thee, sire, be careful."

"Peace, good Benoni. Don't fret on my account. I know what I do. I'll find out the story of this robber's life. and then his head shall come off right quickly. Stay you here, and await my return."

Thus speaking, the king moved on, and when the sound of his uncertain, stumbling footfall could be no longer heard, Julian reached forth until his hand touched one of h's companions. "Who is this?" he asked, in a hushed whisper. It was Selim. "There is no time to lose. The captain must be disposed of quickly. Uncover your lantern, and I will throttle him." Selim did as directed, and as soon as the rays of light fell upon the captain, the latter started to gaze about him. But his free-will movements were quickly terminated by a blow from the first of the robber chieftain, which felled him to the floor, and before he could move or cry out, he was securely bound, and Osmir's sash passed over his mouth. "Now," cried Julian, "for the king. He will be an easy subject to dispose

"And how will you dispose of him?" asked Osmir

For an instant a dark thought struggled through Julian's mind. Here was an opportunity to put his worst enemy out of the way, and, at the same time. free the world from a ruler who had ceased to do justly. But the thought was not long entertained. Without further remark the robber moved on towards the dungeon where he had been confined. Selim going by his side with the lanters. Pretty soon they saw the king ahead of them. whereupon Selim was suffered to go on in advance. Horam had reached the door of the dungeon just as Selim came up.

"Ha, Selim, is this you?"

"Yes, sire."

"I did not see you when I came. Where have you been hiding?"

"I have not been hiding, sire; but have been doing my duty."

"And the prisoner?" "He is safe."

"Open the door. I would speak with him. He is securely chained?"

A Royal Disguise. Until the present time Julian had thought of overcoming the king without a word-of felling him to the pavement and binding him, and leaving him in ignorance of who had done it; but a different fancy seized him as he saw the monarch enter 'the dungeon. "Stay a moment where you are," he said, addressing the blacks; and thus speaking he passed into the dungeon just as the king had discovered that no prisoner was there.

"Ho! Selim!" shouted the monarch turning his face to the door. "What is the matter here? Is not this the-He stopped; for the light of his lan-

"Easy, old man. Selim will not come at your bidding. Let me inform you that I am master, for the present, of this lower region, and Selim is my

"Vile miscreant," he said, "let me pasa! If you dare to oppose me, you shall be torn limb from limb!"

"Easy, old man. I am your master now, and if you give me occasion, I may do you harm.'

There was that in the look, tone and bearing of the stalwart chieftain which features of the two men.

This was spoken very slowly, each word dropping from the robber's lips with the weight of a death sentence; swelling of the broad bosom, and the nervous working of the hands, told too plainly that the edict must be obeyed.

nticura MEDICINAL TOILET

SE CUTICURA SOAP, assisted by Cuticura Ointment. the great skin cure, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin of infants and children, for rashes, itchings, and chafings, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Millions of Women use Cuticura Soap in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and excoriations, for too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative. antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, especially mothers. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used these great skin purifiers and beautifiers to use any others, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. Cuticura Soap combines delicate emollient properties derived from Cuticura, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odours. No other medicated soap is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scale, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet and baby soap in the world.
