A CLASS OF FIFTY-EIGHT

Will Be Confirmed at St. Mary's Church Tuesday Evening.

Next Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, at 7:30 o'clock, Rt. Rev. John S. Foley, D. D., bishop of Detroit, will make his annual visitation to St. Mary's parish, Chelsea. At that time he will administer the holy rite of confirmation to a class of 58 persons. Of this number 8 are men, 5 women, 24 boys and 26 girls.

Pontifical vespers will be said by Bishop Foley, assisted by Rev. William Kilroy of Lennox, and Rev. Hugh McCarthy, of Howell, as deacons of honor, Rev. M. J. Comerford, of Pluckney, at master of ceremonies, Rev. C. M. B. Schenkelberg, of Jackson, and other priests. The first communicants and the priests will meet the bishop at the rectory and escort him to the church. The sanctuary and the body of the church will be appropriately decorated for the occasion and a program of special music has been prepared. The public generally are cordially invited by Rev. W. P. Considine to attend the service.

More Than He Bargained For.

E. P. Mason, of Ann Arbor, one of the county superintendents of the poor, had quite an exciting time in Detroit one day last week, when he undertook to take three crazy women at one time to the insane asylum at Pontiac. The Detroit Journal tells the story as follows:

Three insane women waiting for the Pontiac car opposite Shafer's corner, drew a crowd that blocked half of Woodward avenue for several minutes. They were Della Harrington, Frances Kressner and Annie Jede, who were being transferred from the Wayne county asylum to the Pontiac state asylum, under convoy of Superintendent of the Poor Mason, of Washtenaw county.

The convoy proved to be too small inside of one minute after the ladies alighted from the Ann Arbor car and took one wild look for the Pontiac car. The patrolman at the corner brought up rapid reinforcements, but the situation grew suddenly complicated. A curious crowd, packed from track to curbstone, engulfed the quintet and threatened to divide the group, while every car that passed was loaded too full even for one more sane person.

Frances Kressner, who has a retiring mania, didn't like the pressure of company, and escaped to the curbstone, where she sat with her chin in her hand and gazed at Shafer's windy corner. Annie Jede was just the other way, and circulated around the officer so fast in her effort to see the folks that the burly reinforcements couldn't keep his eye on her. While he craned his tall form on tiptoe for a glance at her, the flash of a red striped waist held down by an unkempt belt disappeared in the crowd across by Shafer's. It was Annie Jede executing a rapid retreat with her valise.

The copper didn't stop to figure whether she was bound for Europe or merely seeking a quiet place, but made a hole in the crowd and vanished up Michigan avenue in pursuit. Near the Home Bank building he persuaded Annie to take his arm and stroll back. Just then a car with a little standing room in it hove in sight and the policeman got a chance to recover his wind.

While all this had been going on Della Harrington had been regaling the crowd with her opinion of them and of her account of her treatment at the county house in words which cannot be published.

Friday, the Unlucky Day.

By a singular coincidence every president of the United States assassinated was shot on a Friday.

President Lincoln, shot on Friday, April 14, 1865.

President Garfield, shot Friday, July 2, 1881.

President McKinley, shot Friday, Sept. 6, 1901.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at Glazier & Stimson's drug store.

Sustained the W. D. Smith Will.

Probate Judge Watkins has handed down his decision sustaining the will of the late Wm. D. Smith, of Dexter, whereby he left his $20,000 estate to his housekeeper, Martha French. In his decision he says there is no evidence that Mr. Smith was of unsound mind or incompetent when he made the will in 1897, as he was at that time conducting his farm affairs, buying wool, and was a director of the Dexter Savings Bank. There was no evidence of undue influence. That Martha French should be the recipient of Smith's bounty was to him a proof of the strong mindedness and capacity of Wm. D. Smith to appreciate and reward the extraordinary service of Martha French, who it appears acted as housekeeper, nurse and farm-hand, even to the extent of drawing in wood when the snow was 8 or 10 inches deep—more than a daughter would do. He further said that in this case it appeared that the contestants apparently were not in sufficient frequent communication with the deceased to comprehend his mental competency. The case has been appealed to the circuit court.

His Appreciation Is Appreciated.

In an address before a farmers' association one of the speakers said: "As a rule the farmer has no firmer friend than the country press. The paper is distinctly the farmers' own paper; supported directly or indirectly by farmers, who compose the backbone of the printer's subscription list and largely for what the enterprising merchant advertises. Now, brothers, let us not forget our friends. Let us see that our subscription is paid before the first of November and a year in advance if we can afford it. The man or the papers that fight my battles shall have my support. Another thing—the merchant who advertises is the one who makes it possible for us to get a good local paper, and the man or firms who are too penurious to advertise and help support the local press, have no right to the farmer's patronage. I propose hereafter to go to a live advertiser and a man who will do his share towards supporting the local press, thus contributing to my support, rather than buy of a man who proposes to take all and give nothing in return."

District Epworth League Convention.

On account of the programs for the Ann Arbor district convention of Epworth Leaguers not having been received here, the Herald is unable to fulfill its promise and publish the complete program in its columns this week. It can be stated, however, that in addition to addresses by Rev. C. H. Morgan, of Rochester, Mich., and Dr. Joseph F. Berry, editor of the Epworth Herald, Chicago, there will be special music that has been prepared for the occasion, also interesting papers and remarks. The dates are Tuesday and Wednesday next, Oct. 8 and 9.

Electric Railway Notes.

W. A. Boland is now grading east of Dexter. The road is nearly completed between Chelsea and Dexter. Friday he filed 43 deeds of right of way with Register of Deeds Huston, of Sylvan, Lima and Scio townships. He also filed 49 land contracts for right of way east of Ann Arbor, through the townships of Ann Arbor, Superior and Salem.

Hawks & Angus were granted a franchise Monday night by the Jackson council giving them the right to construct and operate an electric line on 21 streets in that city. The vote was 12 to 2.

The Michigan Cement Post Co., of Marshall, has received an order for 2,000 posts to be used along the new electric line.

The trolley wires on the Hawks-Angus line are all stretched between this village and Ann Arbor. It is expected the cars will be running next week. Everybody will be glad to see them run, too.

We, the jury find that the deceased came to his death from heart failure, caused by not taking Rocky Mountain Tea made by Madison Medicine Co. 35c. Glazier & Stimson.

THE WEEK'S NEWS

Happenings of the Past Seven Days in Brief.

ROUND ABOUT THE WORLD

Casualties and Fires, Personal and Political Notes, Business Failures and Resurrections, Weather Record.

INTELLIGENCE FROM ALL PARTS

DOMESTIC.

Harvard and Yale athletes defeated Oxford and Cambridge teams in field games in New York by winning six of the nine events.

The father, brother and sister of the convicted assassin Czolgosz visited him in his cell in the Buffalo jail, but the murderer expressed no regret for his crime.

Judge William R. Day and others of the McKinley funeral committee took steps in Canton, O., looking to a permanent monument organization.

Sentence of death by electrocution during the week beginning October 28 was pronounced upon Czolgosz, and then the assassin of President McKinley was removed from Buffalo to Auburn state prison, where the sentence is to be carried out.

The first race between the Columbia and Shamrock II. was a failure because they did not finish within the time limit. Columbia was three-quarters of a mile ahead when the race was declared off.

President Shaffer has accepted the challenge of Gompers and Mitchell to show blame on their part in the steel strike.

Edith W. went three straight heats at Cincinnati in 2:05 1/4, 2:05 1/4 and 2:05 1/4, breaking all records for three consecutive heats.

Caleb Harvey, of Laporte, Ind., died of heart disease caused by weeping over McKinley's death.

A census bulletin on manufactures shows a great increase in wood pulp mills and output during last ten years.

Vassel Laketch, who held up and killed Paymaster Hassler, of the Southwest Coke company, was hanged at Greensburg, Pa.

Capt. Wise, of the Yale, may be court-martialed for failure to notify Schley of the location of the Spanish fleet. More proof was brought out at the inquiry in Washington that Schley was kept in ignorance concerning important matters.

Seven men were killed and seven seriously injured by an explosion at gas works in Newark, N. J.

Abraham Lincoln's body was placed in its final tomb in Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield, Ill. The remains were positively identified before putting the casket in its cement grave.

Czolgosz on reaching the penitentiary at Auburn, broke down completely. En route from Buffalo he expressed regret for his crime, and said he was especially sorry for Mrs. McKinley.

Mrs. Perry Curtiss, wife of a farmer near Northfield, O., threw her four children in a well and then plunged into the water herself, and all were drowned.

In the Schley court a letter was read from Admiral Sampson asking that Messrs. Stayton and Campbell be allowed to represent him in the case. The court decided that they could not appear.

The movement to erect a McKinley memorial arch in New York city is attracting considerable attention in art circles.

William Hoepfner, charged with embezzling $30,000 from the A. W. Faber company, New York, has been arrested in Argentina.

The illness of Secretary Root is causing his friends great uneasiness. His physicians may order him to stop all work, which would necessitate his leaving the cabinet. In this case several other changes in that body may be made.

Thirteen prospectors were drowned in Presidio county, Tex., by a sudden flood in a ravine in which they were encamped.

President McKinley's will was filed for probate by Judge Day and Secretary Cortelyou at Canton. Mrs. McKinley is given a life interest in the real estate and personalty. Miss Helen McKinley, his sister, is given an annuity of $1,000. The estate is worth $225,000 to $250,000, including $67,000 life insurance.

It is reported at Albany, N. Y., that the court of appeals has decided to grant a new trial to Roland Molineux, who was convicted of having poisoned Mrs. Kate Adams.

The percentages of the baseball clubs in the National league for the week ended on the 29th were: Pittsburgh, .647; Philadelphia, .580; Brooklyn, .570; St. Louis, .544; Boston, .500; New York, .391; Cincinnati, .389; Chicago, .380.

Proof so far brought out in the Schley inquiry has developed nothing which could convict the admiral of anything worse than an error of judgment.

The Columbia defeated the Shamrock in the first trial of the international yacht race for the America's cup.

The American league baseball season closed with the clubs standing in the following position: Chicago, Boston, Detroit, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland and Milwaukee.

Two men were discovered by the guard mysteriously prowling about the McKinley tomb at Canton. The guard shot at one, but the other attacked him with a knife, diverting his aim.

The gelding Little Boy smashed the world's wagon record by pacing a mile in 2:02 in New York.

Miss Susan Richardson, of Milton, Mass., left the income of her $200,000 estate to two spinsters so long as they remain unmarried.

As the result of a quarrel F. W. Hartman fatally wounded his wife and committed suicide at Hobart, Ind.

A plan was discovered at Indianapolis to kidnap ex-Gov. W. S. Taylor in Indiana and take him to Kentucky.

Five persons were injured in the wrecking of a runaway trolley car at Burlington, Ia.

Dr. George C. Lorimer resigned the pastorate of Tremont temple at Boston, but the congregation declined to accept it.

President Roosevelt summoned Booker T. Washington into conference regarding conditions in the south.

Assassin Czolgosz maintains sullen silence at Auburn prison, passing his waking hours in pacing up and down his cell and lying on his bed.

Arthur J. Eddy returned to Chicago after a journey of 2,900 miles in an automobile.

The United States cruiser Cleveland was launched at Bath, Me., and christened by Miss Ruth Hanna, daughter of the senator.

Mrs. Peter Kromdyke, Mr. P. Van Halst and Miss Edith Waud were drowned by the capsizing of a boat near Kalamazoo, Mich.

Fire destroyed the principal portion of Clayton, Ia.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Daniel A. Ray, of Oak Park, Ill., United States marshal for Hawaii, died suddenly at Honolulu.

New Jersey republicans nominated Franklin Murphy for governor.

John George Nicolay, private secretary to President Lincoln, died in Washington, aged 70.

Kirkland B. Armour, head of the Kansas City interests of the Armour family, died after a long illness.

"Jack" Haverly, famous minstrel and manager, one of the most interesting characters of the American stage, died at Salt Lake City, aged 65 years.

Dr. William C. Gray, editor of the Interior and distinguished in councils of the Presbyterian church, died at his home in Oak Park, a Chicago suburb, aged 71 years.

FOREIGN.

The American board of missions will pay the ransom demanded by Bulgarian bandits for the release of Miss Stone.

Lord Kitchener has banished ten Boer leaders who have been captured since September 15.

Six hundred Venezuelans were killed or wounded in a battle with the Colombians at Guajira.

The Arctic Club steamer arrived at Brigus, N. F., from North Greenland, with Mrs. Peary and Miss Peary aboard. She will return for Lieut. Peary next summer.

A Parisian paper reports that Great Britain and Turkey have clashed in the Persian gulf.

France, Russia and Germany are said to have agreed upon concerted action against Turkey in certain contingencies.

The British war office denies that Gen. Kitchener has resigned as commander in chief of the South African forces.

Officials of the board of foreign missions announce they will not pay the ransom demanded by Bulgarian bandits for the release of Miss Stone.

Gen. Kitchener asked for 25,000 additional troops and more power. He is anxious for authority to hang rebels whenever caught.

The Russian minister of the interior says that owing to a famine the inhabitants of 19 provinces will have to be fed by the government.

Filipino insurgents surprised 72 men of company C, Ninth infantry, at breakfast in the province of Samar, killing 48 and wounding 11.

Great Britain was concentrating ships-of-war in the Persian gulf, and the developments were significant of trouble with Turkey.

LATER.

The will of the late President McKinley was admitted to probate in Canton, O. The administrators estimate the estate at $210,000 and an allowance to Mrs. McKinley at $8,000 a year.

The confederate soldiers' home near Atlanta, Ga., was destroyed by fire.

Gen. Botha, with 1,500 Boers, attacked Fort Itala, on the border of Zululand, the fighting lasting all day. The assailants were finally repulsed, but losses were heavy on both sides.

Fifteen men are believed to have perished as the result of a fire in a mine near Nanaimo, B. C.

Peter J. Devine, a cavalryman at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., was given a year's imprisonment for speaking disrespectfully of the late President McKinley.

Arabi Pasha has returned to Egypt from exile.

A man supposed to be Pat Crowe, the abductor of Eddie Cudahy in Omaha, has been arrested at Plainfield, Conn.

Venezuela is said to be on the verge of ruin as a result of misgovernment.

Hays Edstrom, of Washington, Pa., accused of embezzling $6,000 belonging to his employer, was arrested by Chicago police.

In a jealous rage Thomas Boggs, a business man in North Baltimore, O., fatally shot his wife and himself.

Three hundred linemen employed by the Chicago Telephone company struck to enforce their demand for higher wages.

President Roosevelt received his first salary check as chief executive. It was for $2,017.74 for 17 days.

A suggestion which is meeting with favor is to change the name of the Philippine islands to the McKinley islands.

Further reports of the massacre of company C of the Ninth regiment in Samar show that three American officers and 41 men were killed and 140 Filipinos lost their lives.

Mrs. Joseph H. Ormsby gave birth in Chicago to four babes, following previous record of three singles, two pairs of twins and one set of triplets.

Fifty thousand dollars sent from Quebec for the payment of Burgoyne's army 125 years ago were recovered from an old hulk in East bay, Lake Champlain, where it was sunk to prevent falling into the hands of Americans.

NO FENCE CORNER FARMING

The Very Good Reason for the Long, Straight Furrows and Great Fields That Are a Feature of Western Canada Farms.

CURIOSITY and a love of travel combined caused me to take an extensive trip through the agricultural sections of Western Canada during the past summer, and while there I was given the best of opportunities of studying and judging for myself of the conditions that exist in that extensive section of our continent.

After I had traveled over a few million acres of Western Canada, and watched and studied what at first seemed to me an extravagant waste of land on the part of the farmers, I became better acquainted with conditions and the very good reasons for this seeming wastage.

I had been used to the farming operations of the more thickly populated States, where to make farming pay it was necessary to cultivate practically every foot of ground; where it was the rule rather than the exception to go to the length of blasting out, if necessary, heavily rooted trees or large boulders; where much of the farm land was secured by clearing it of timber and stones, which had been accomplished only after years of toil and privation on the part of the first settlers. There traveled with me over these millions of acres of Canadian soil a gentleman who had been reared upon just this sort of a farm in Michigan, and, as he expressed it, "land was so scarce and so valuable because of its scarcity that we had to cultivate even the corners of the rail fences."

But in my journey through the agricultural section of Western Canada, ranging from Winnipeg on the east to the Rocky Mountains on the west, and from the international boundary on the south to the Saskatchewan river and beyond on the north, I saw nothing that savored of our method of "fence corner farming," and in time I learned the reason for the little uncultivated tracts.

Time, rather than land, is the valuable commodity in Western Canada. In a country where the soil is sufficiently fertile to produce thirty and forty bushels of wheat to the acre from less than a bushel of seed; where the government gives everyone desiring it a free homestead of 160 acres of this land, and where more may be bought at from $3 to $5 per acre; where one year's crop will much more than pay for the land upon which it is grown, it is a wicked waste of time to cultivate the "fence corners."

Before I had acquired this information I was on one farm where a roadway cut off a small corner of land from the remainder of a field of wheat. There was, I should say, nearly an acre in this little plot of neglected ground, and I asked the owner of the farm why it had not been put under cultivation.

"To undertake to plow that little three-cornered strip of land would take far more time than the land is worth, giving both the present market value. To add it to the remainder of the field would necessitate a longer way around from the main road to the house. Lying just across the road there is 160 acres of as good land as this upon which I have this year grown more than 30 bushels of wheat to the acre, and I can buy that land of the railroad for $4 an acre. It would take as much time to plow that small piece, in its present shape, as it would to plow two acres of the land across the road, and so would be what we in this country consider a waste of valuable time."

Straight furrows and long ones is the plowing rule in Western Canada, and the gang plow is the favorite method of turning the soil. The Western Canada farmer, I found, cultivates his land upon wholesale methods. No matter where he may come from, no matter what the methods in vogue in his native place may have been, the farmer in Canada soon learns that it is wholesale methods that pay best there, and for this reason it is Western Canada that is the home of every improved agricultural machine that tends to the speedy handling of great harvests or the production of them. These machines are not always the product of Western Canadian inventors, but the Western Canadian farmers are among the heaviest buyers of this class of agricultural machinery in the world.

The Canadian farmer never becomes land poor as does the farmer in the States. When he buys land he knows that it will bring him adequate returns upon his investment, and that his government will not put a burden of taxes upon it. As a sample of what is possible with the progressive farmer in Western Canada let me cite the case of one living near White Plains, in Manitoba, a Mr. Winslow by name. During the past season this one man had 2,500 acres of land planted in wheat, and harvested 67,500 bushels. He makes farming on these fertile lands immensely profitable by going about it in a wholesale way.

Do not, however, imagine that it is only the wholesale methods that pay well in Western Canada. I saw men who owned only the 160 acres of land the government had given them as a homestead who claimed to be making better livings for themselves and their families and saving more money than they had ever been able to do in the States on the same amount of land. Practically every one of these comparatively small farmers whom I met assured me that it was their ambition to purchase more land as rapidly as they could accumulate the means with which to buy. They fully realized that they could not get too much of what they knew was a good thing. There is a vast amount of difference in buying productive land at $3 to $5 an acre and at $30 to $40 an acre.

The straight furrows and the long ones are possible in Western Canada, where, as I know from my own investigations made during the past summer, farming pays and pays well.

Wisconsin Farm Lands.

The best of farm lands can be obtained now in Marinette County, Wisconsin, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, at a low price and on very favorable terms. Wisconsin is noted for its fine crops, excellent markets and healthful climate. Why rent a farm when you can buy one much cheaper than you can rent and in a few years it will be your own property. For particulars address F. A. Miller, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, Chicago.

Keepers of Student Boarding Houses Form a Trust—Athletic Mass Meeting—To Discuss Arbitration—The University Income to Be Largely Increased This Year.

[Special Correspondence.]

University of Michigan, Sept. 30.—The first week of the new college year closed with a good enrollment. The usual tricks upon the members of the freshman class were indulged in. "Campus tickets" and "library tickets" were sold to a number at one, two and three dollars apiece. These entitled the purchasers to roam about the campus at pleasure and to occupy seats in the library reading room. As these tickets cost those who sold them only the expense of printing them, the profits were quite large, and the freshmen felt decidedly cheap when they discovered how completely they had been taken in. One freshman, who inquired of a sophomore where to find the class in mathematics, was given directions which took him up a winding back stairs and landed him in front of the great pipe organ in university hall.

Boarding House Trust.

During the summer vacation the keepers of the student boarding houses held a meeting and organized for some alleged laudable purpose. They elected officers and for a start formulated a few rules. It is said by those who claim to know that a rise in the price of boarding is contemplated. This will occur a little later, after the students are all back and well started on their year's work. It is not considered advisable to make the advance just yet, as the increased price might keep away some who otherwise might enter the university.

Will Get the Laugh.

But despite the well conceived plans of the "combination" the students can afford to give it the laugh. Under present conditions the trust can never hope to accomplish in its field what the Standard Oil company has done in its field. It is altogether too easy for a new boarding house to start. Only a few hundred dollars are required. Besides this the persons engaged in the business are constantly changing. A family moves to Ann Arbor to stay while a son or a daughter goes through college. The mother has been accustomed to hard work all her life, so she, just to help things along, takes in boarders. She may not know of the trust, or if she does she may not care to become identified with it, as she expects to be out of the business in a few years at most.

Athletic Mass Meeting.

The annual athletic mass meeting to raise funds to help the football, baseball and track teams along will not be held in the gymnasium this year.

President Angell has declined to let the building be used for the gathering. The reason is that in past years the athletic meeting has been followed by a freshman-sophomore rush on the campus in which many heads have been bruised and other articles of clothing damaged. Last year the athletic meeting was followed by a rush and then a grand celebration in which a bonfire was built on the street car tracks, two cars were taken possession of and run up and down the line at the pleasure of the students. Before daylight five students had been captured and locked in the county jail and were only released on paying the cost of the damage to the street car company.

It has been suggested that the athletic meeting be held at the athletic field some Friday afternoon. There would be plenty of room for several rushes if the students felt like exercising. Furthermore the fact that it was daylight would help the students to keep their spirits from flagging too high.

Freshmen Football Team.

Among the football teams arranged for this fall is the "All Freshman" eleven. This is made up of the football men in all the freshman classes. Games will be played with the Ypsilanti normals, the Detroit central high school and others.

Subject for Debate.

"Resolved, that our laws should provide for boards of arbitration with powers to compel parties in labor disputes to submit their disputes to arbitration and to stick by the board's decision," is the subject which will be discussed by the debating teams of the Michigan and Northwestern universities in Ann Arbor next January.

Increased Income.

As a result of the labors of the board of equalization the university will receive $394,523 this year from the one-fourth of a mill tax. This is an increase of over $118,000 over the income of last year. The extra money will be used largely in erecting new buildings of which there is great need. As soon as the $100,000 medical building now going up is completed a new building for the dental college will be started. This will cost about $75,000; and before that time the needs of the engineering department will have become so great that a new building will be required. Some of the other buildings desired are a $10,000 plant house, an auditorium that will seat 5,000 people and a building for displaying and preserving the works of art belonging to the university.

FARMERS CHEATED.

Stranger Sells Grangers in the Vicinity of Grand Rapids Gasoline Under Another Name.

Farmers in the vicinity of Grand Rapids have again been swindled by a stranger who found a ready sale for a preparation he claimed would exterminate Canadian thistles, nearly every farmer of whom has a large patch thereabouts. The stranger met with immediate success in his trip through the country. He carried with him a number of five and ten-gallon cans of the preparation, which he sold at 60 cents per gallon. Whenever the farmer wanted to manufacture the fluid himself, he sold him the recipe for $75. The preparation certainly did all the stranger claimed, and whenever applied to the thistles killed them within 24 hours. One farmer who had made a purchase of a five-gallon can made an analysis of the contents, and found nothing but gasoline and lamp black. A few days later he came to town and purchased a can of gasoline at 14 cents a gallon, finding it equally effective.

TROUBLED CONSCIENCE.

Caused a Michigan Man Who Was Overpaid in Wages to Seek Settlement After 20 Years.

Twenty years ago when J. W. Sickles, a Grand Ledge citizen, was engaged in farming near Owosso, he had a hired man named George Borden. While in the field one day Mr. Sickles was attacked by a horse and was saved from death by Borden, who pluckily drove the horse away with a fence rail. While Mr. Sickles was unconscious from the attack his man demanded his wages. Mrs. Sickles, not knowing the amount due, overpaid him. He left with more money than was due him, and was not heard from until recently, when Mr. Sickles received a letter from Borden stating that he was sorry for what he had done, and wanted to know how much it would take to settle it up and thereby ease his conscience.

NEVER TOO OLD.

Aged Persons in Various Portions of Michigan Tied Together by the Bonds of Matrimony.

Jacob Klein, aged 65, and Mrs. Sarah Reed, of Summerville, aged 60 years, were married in Niles.

Clotus Venyea, a veteran of the civil war, aged 74 years, and Mrs. Westmore, aged 61 years, were united in marriage by Justice Bouchard in Cheboygan. The justice cautioned them to be "good to one another."

John Read, aged 72 years, and Miss Amelia Read, aged 71 years, were married in Ypsilanti. The couple are distant relatives and the bride has acted as Read's housekeeper for many years.

After Forty Years.

Mrs. John Benedict, of Grand Rapids, has returned from a visit to her mother and sisters, whom she had not seen for 40 years, and whom she supposed were dead. The family was broken up when the present Mrs. Kennedy was seven years old, she going to live with a family named Garrison. The two families lost all trace of each other. The girl grew to womanhood and finally married. A few months ago she accidentally got trace of a cousin, and through him learned that her mother and sisters were living at Moravia, N. Y. Correspondence was opened and a family reunion was held.

School-Teachers' Club.

The school teachers from Michigan who sailed on the United States transport Thomas for Manila organized the "Michigan Club of the Philippines" during the voyage. The object of the club will be to look after the members in time of sickness or misfortune. It is also the intention of the club to meet in a social way whenever it is possible. G. E. Garbutt, Saranac, is president; Miss Jennie M. Tibbitts, Grand Rapids, vice president; O. S. Reimold, Saginaw, secretary; Hugh S. Mead, Kalamazoo, treasurer.

Educators to Meet.

The annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Educational association will be held this year in October, instead of in January, as heretofore. It will be held in the copper country, Hancock being the place selected. Preparations are in hand to make this the largest and most successful meeting in the history of the association. Leading educators of state and national reputation will be on the programme.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Will Open New Territory.

A gang of seven surveyors are surveying a line for a steam railroad from Ludington to Grand Rapids. The road will open up considerable new country in Kent and Newaygo counties, passing through Hesperia, Fremont and Newaygo and entering Grand Rapids by the way of Mill Creek and the soldiers' home. They say the road will connect with a line to Detroit and operate a car ferry to Manitowoc.

Big Timber Deal.

The Saginaw Lumber & Salt company has purchased the township of Lavack timber limit in Algonia, estimated to contain nearly 50,000,000 feet of pine timber. The company has purchased 147 square miles of timber limits this season and the timber will be lumbered and towed to Sandwich, where it will be manufactured in the new mill the company is building there.

Have a Hot Time.

Three burglars broke into the general store of D. H. Barrows at Armada, where the post office is located, and dynamited the safe. The explosion awakened the town and a number of citizens were soon on the street. In the battle which followed one of the burglars was fatally wounded. He gave his name as John Graham, and said his father lived in Cleveland. The others escaped.

Complete a Long Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eddy have arrived in Flint after having completed a 2,500-mile tour of the eastern states with their Winton automobile. They left their home in Chicago five weeks ago and have made the longest continuous trip ever attempted with an auto on this continent. After visiting with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Eddy will resume their auto trip to Chicago.

Health in Michigan.

Reports to the state board of health from 78 observers in various portions of the state indicate that smallpox and whooping cough increased and dysentery and scarlet fever decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 169 places, measles at 11, typhoid fever at 113, whooping cough at 14, cerebro-spinal meningitis at 3 and smallpox at 24 places.

Free Delivery.

Rural free delivery service has been established at North Adams, Hillsdale county, to take effect on November 1, with A. P. Corbett as carrier. The route will be 25½ miles long, cover an area of 30 square miles and serve a population of 720. The post office at Hoxie and the star route will be discontinued. Mail to North Adams.

Four Years in Alaska.

John and George Boyd, two Williamsburg young men, have returned to Williamsburg from Alaska after an absence of four years. They traveled all through the gold fields and brought back considerable gold with them. They report that there will be lots of suffering among the miners there this winter.

Fugitives Captured.

Fred Wagner and Bert Farr, wanted at Frankfort and Menominee, were captured by officers in Benton Harbor. They have been fugitives for six months. Warrants have been sworn out for five young men, members of leading families at Bridgman, charged with stealing fruit from a canning factory at that village.

Criminals Sentenced.

A. B. Cummins, former register of deeds of Hillsdale county, who pleaded guilty to obtaining money under false pretenses, has been sentenced in Hillsdale to five years at Jackson. His brother-in-law, George M. Swaney, of Edon, O., convicted of forgery largely on Cummins' testimony, got six years at Jackson.

News Briefly Stated.

October 8, 9 and 10 at Niles will be held the fifth annual meeting of the Presbyterian synod of Michigan.

The Ingham County Soldiers' and Sailors' association held its thirty-fifth annual reunion in Mason.

Dr. J. A. McGregor has been appointed a pension examining surgeon at Hart, Oceana county.

The post offices at Armada and Rockford have been advanced to the presidential class, the salaries of the postmasters at both offices being increased to $1,000.

A small sail yacht containing seven persons capsized on West lake, eight miles south of Kalamazoo, and Mrs. Peter Krondyke, P. Van Halst and Miss Edith Maud were drowned.

Ex-Judge H. D. Smith, of Cassopolis, was shot in the throat by an unknown person while on a Grand Trunk train. The bullet was fired through a window of the car. The wound is not serious.

Burglars blew open the safe of the Bloomingdale bank with dynamite and stole $2,000.

Strategy.

Oldheimer (standing in his garden showing a friend the neighbor's new fence)—You see, doctor, at last my neighbor has put up a new fence instead of the old hedge through which his chickens came and scratched up my garden.

Doctor—How did you manage? Go to court about it?

Oldheimer—Court nothing! Every few days I sent him a couple of dozen eggs, and when I had him used to the eggs I stopped and told him his hens had laid them in my garden. In less than a week I saw that fence go up.—N. Y. Times.

An Experienced Artist.

Star—This is a very good play, but it will have to be revised considerably. Dramatist—Impossible, sir.

Star—Oh, it must be. You make the hero appear in every act. That won't do. The hero must be taken out of the first act and also out of the last.

Dramatist—What! Open and close the play without the hero?

Star—Certainly. You see, I am my own manager, and I shall be busy in the box office during the first act, and very often busy with the sheriff during the last act.—London Fun.

It Makes a Difference.

"But, as a citizen, you must admit that civil service is a good thing," urged the reformer.

"My dear sir," replied the politician, "everything depends upon the point of view."

"How is that?"

"If your friends are in and want to stay in, you will be satisfied that civil service is of incomparable value to the community; but if your friends are out and want to get in, you will readily see that it is an outrageous imposition and of real detriment to the municipality."—Chicago Post.

Autumn Days.

Once we were glad. The year was young; 'Twas when the smiling spring had sprung; But now it's old, for sad to tell, The melancholy fall has fell. —Philadelphia Press.

SIMPLE ADDITION.

"How do you dare charge me $11 for this room when you advertise rooms at five and six dollars?"

"Well, don't five and six make 11?"—Fliegende Blaetter.

Becoming.

In Eden once a rib became A woman, so they say; And now its ribbons that become A woman of to-day. —Philadelphia Press.

He Hadn't Been Dead.

'Squire White was very ill with fever, and at the crisis was reported dead, though instead he lived through it. Uncle Josh, meeting a neighbor of the 'squire's the next morning, inquired with due solemnity when the funeral was to be.

"The 'squire's funeral? Why, he isn't dead!"

"What!" exclaimed Uncle Josh. "He ain't dead? Nor hain't been?"—Leslie's Weekly.

By Birthright.

"To what," asked the young woman with the notebook, "do you attribute your remarkable power in training these animals and keeping them in subjection?"

"Well," replied Mlle. Castella, the Lady Wonder of the Arena, "I think I inherited it from my mother. She was a strong-minded woman. My father was a regular bear, and she had to subdue him about once a day as long as she lived."—Chicago Tribune.

Wanted an Illustration.

A little boy was advised by his father to use illustrations in his converse whenever they should occur to him. "For," continued the parent, "there is no more forcible way of conveying or impressing your meaning." Shortly after the boy was being lectured on generosity. "It's better to give than to receive, Johnny—far better."

"Illustrate it, papa. I think I shall understand it better."—Tit-Bits.

Ill-Timed Pleasantness.

"Cheerfulness is riches."

"Oh, no; if you can't pay a bill, being cheerful about it only makes the other man madder."—Detroit Free Press.

Not a Hustler.

"I tell you," the sprightly passenger in the pepper-and-salt suit was saying, "there is nothing like get up and hustle. I hustle. If business doesn't come to me I go out and hunt it. Yesterday I made nearly $11 repairing sewing machines. Had six jobs. I can afford to take a holiday once in awhile."

"Well," slowly replied the passenger in the suit of somber black. "I'm not so good on the hustle. I've only had one job in the last six months."

"That's too bad," replied the other, sympathizingly. "What's your occupation?"

"Building lighthouses."

And the conversation drooped.—Chicago Tribune.

He Liked It.

Wife—How do you like my new hat?

Husband—The idea of paying big prices for—

Wife—Big prices! Why, I made it myself.

Husband—Um—yes—er—as I was saying, the idea of paying big prices for such monstrosities as the milliners are showing! Now, your hat is a work of art. Looks as if it came from Paris. Beautiful, my dear.—N. Y. Weekly.

How He Reached Her Heart.

"She has accepted you, you say?"

"Yes."

"But she refused you a month ago, when you told her you were worth a million dollars and would lay it all at her feet."

"She did."

"Then how did she come to change her mind?"

"I marked my fortune down to nine hundred and ninety-nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine dollars."

—Leslie's Weekly.

She Felt Wicked.

Revivalist—Is it possible that you dance?

Fair Sinner—Oh, yes, often.

"Now tell me, honestly and fairly, don't you think the tendency of dancing is toward sin?"

"I must confess that sometimes while dancing I have very wicked thoughts."

"Aha! I feared so. When is it that you have wicked thoughts?"

"When my partner steps on my toes."—N. Y. Weekly.

THE CHELSEA HERALD

T. W. MINGAY, Editor and Proprietor.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

for $1.00 per year strictly in advance.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1901.

FRIENDS AND PATRONS OF THE CHELSEA HERALD WHO HAVE BUSINESS AT THE PROBATE OFFICE ARE REQUESTED TO HAVE JUDGE WATKINS SEND THEIR PROBATE AND OTHER LEGAL NOTICES FROM THAT OFFICE TO THE HERALD.

On Thursday afternoon last at 2 o'clock, Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, received his sentence to be electrocuted at Auburn prison, N. Y., during the week of Oct. 28, he having been convicted of murder in the first degree. The length of time taken up by the trial was eight hours and twenty-five minutes. Number of witnesses for the prosecution, seventeen; for the defense, none. Actual time in taking testimony, four and one-quarter hours. Time of the state in arguing for conviction, fourteen minutes. Time occupied by judge in charging jury, twelve minutes. Time occupied by the jury in deliberation, thirty-four minutes. Quick work, but done in a righteous act of punishment.

Of course, real Americans know perfectly well that the men who cartoon our Presidents do not really believe what they assert, and consequently, are little moved by the scandalous pictures and insults that appear in the yellow journals. They forget, however, that the ignorant hordes from Europe do actually believe them and are always likely to be incited to mischief thereby.

The general belief in Washington is that the court of enquiry will whitewash everybody, if it is in any way possible to do so. The navy is getting worried over the damage that this foolish quarrel has caused it. In this respect it would be no different to other courts of a like nature.

Reciprocity will evidently be one of the main questions to be considered in the next Congress. Will those opposed to it yield in order to avoid the much more dangerous attack on the entire tariff that might follow its defeat?

The Buffalo fair, like all its predecessors, is declared to be a financial failure. Great fairs pay chiefly in indirect ways; rarely, or never, do the gate receipts balance the cost.

Only the corporeal part of William McKinley departed with his funeral cortege. The spirit of his administration, his exalted standard of personal character and sense of public responsibility, remain to aid his successor in his high task of government.

As usual, the leader who forced a causeless strike on a technicality in order to glorify himself, is now claiming that he was betrayed by those who should have aided him. A little power is an awfully dangerous thing to be entrusted to some men.

So far as we can make out, the chief charge against Schley seems to be that he failed to ram the Texas by at least a hundred yards, and then, instead of trying it again, turned in cañon flight to tackle the Spanish ships.

The premium-barring rule of the post office department went into effect Oct. 1, and there are symptoms of revolt all over the country. Congress will certainly be asked to take immediate action on the subject.

Roosevelt is the youngest man ever chosen President, not yet being 44. The next youngest at his inauguration was Grant, who was 47, and the next was Cleveland, who was 48.

A Kansas curfew law makes an exception in the case of people over 70 years of age, who may stay out all night if they like. They must have a frisky lot of old fellows out there.

John Bull wants to borrow some more money in order to pay the expenses of his little walk to Pretoria. War is sometimes wonderfully expensive and exasperating.

Booker Washington is right. The lawlessness that leads to lynchings is nearly akin to that which leads to anarchical revolt against all government.

Justice was quick enough in the case of Czolgosz; why should she stumble so on technicalities in ordinary cases?

The Hawaiian woman's club at Honolulu debated the question: "Is it better to take Rocky Mountain Tea hot or cold?" Either way it magnifies your pleasure. Glazier & Stimson.

The Cost of a Duke.

A correspondent of London M. A. P. tells a story of the Duchess of Montrose, whose beauty is no less renowned than her philanthropy. The scene was a bazaar where the duchess was selling photographs. One old Scotchwoman was very anxious to secure a photograph of the duchess, but the price asked was 5 shillings. The old woman hesitated. She wanted the photograph, but she could not well afford so much.

"You can have my husband," said the duchess, with an amused glance at the duke standing near, "for 2s. 6d."

The would-be purchaser looked at the duke and then at his photograph contemptuously.

"Half a crown!" she blurted out. "I wouldn't give a silver sapphire for him. But," she added insinuatingly, "I am right willing to give half a crown for your bonnie self."

The duchess was unable to resist this, and herself added the other half crown to the bazaar coffers, or, as another version of the story goes, the despised duke proffered the balance.

The Washtenaw County Roosevelt Club was organized Tuesday night at Ann Arbor. Its purpose is to boom Roosevelt's candidacy for the presidency in 1904. About 70 names are on the rolls. The officers are: President, Horace G. Prettyman; vice president, John W. Bennett; secretary, A. F. Smith; treasurer, J. J. Goodoeer.

A Lansing dispatch says that Attorney-General Oren has filed an opinion to the effect that the day of President McKinley's funeral, Thursday, Sept. 19, was in effect a legal holiday, and that any liquor dealer who kept his place of business open on that day may be prosecuted for violation of the general liquor law of the state. The attorney-general's opinion on this subject has been asked for by numerous citizens and officials.

The poverty social given by the Christian Endeavorers at the Congregational parsonage Friday evening was so largely attended that there was hardly room for all in the house. The sorry looking clothes worn were the cause of much merriment while the poverty stricken look of the parsonage parlor was the subject of great comment. The prize for the poorest dressed person was taken by Miss Emilie Steinbach.

Miss Ora Monroe, who was taken with appendicitis Sept. 20, died Tuesday night at 12:30 o'clock. COURT HEARS EVANS.

Evidence Given in Schley Inquiry by "Fighting Bob."

His Version of the Blockade, the Battle of Santiago and the Famous Loop Movement of the Brooklyn.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Rear Admiral Evans, who as captain commanded the battleship Iowa during the Santiago campaign, was a witness before the Schley naval court of inquiry Monday. His testimony covered the entire period from the time the Iowa left the port of Key West on the 20th of May, 1898, until the 5th of July, when Admiral Evans testified he had a conversation with Admiral Schley concerning the battle of the 3d. He described in detail the principal battle off Santiago, and also gave particulars concerning the bombardment of the Colon on the 31st of May. Other witnesses of the day were Capt. Theodore F. Jewell, who was commander of the cruiser Minneapolis during the Spanish war, and Commander James M. Miller, who was in command of the collier Merrimac until that vessel was turned over to Lieut. Hobson to be sunk in the mouth of the harbor at Santiago.

Evans on Stand.

When the court convened for the afternoon session Rear Admiral Robley Evans, who, as captain, commanded the battleship Iowa during the battle off Santiago, was called to the witness stand.

In substance, Rear Admiral Evans testified that the Texas and Iowa were both endangered by the loop of the Brooklyn; there was nothing to prevent coaling at sea; that he knew of no reason for the retrograde movement; that no effort was made by Rear Admiral Schley to ascertain the presence of the Spanish fleet in Santiago harbor after the flying squadron arrived there; that the Iowa had enough coal to steam 3,000 miles; that the ships of the flying squadron were farther away from the harbor at night than during the day, when the distance was between seven and eight miles; that Admiral Schley had formulated no plan of battle; that the flying squadron was not near enough the harbor to destroy the Colon when that ship was fired on; and the ships under the command of Schley were not endangered by the shore batteries, notwithstanding that shells from them passed over the Brooklyn and Iowa.

Facts Kept from Schley.

On the other hand, Rear Admiral Evans testified that he was off Cienfuegos two days, saw the signals of the Cubans and knew what they meant, but did not give Admiral Schley the benefit of the information in his possession, which was obtained from Rear Admiral Sampson at Key West.

One of the most significant developments of the day was the fact that Capt. Chadwick, of the New York, communicated to Rear Admiral Evans the day before the Marblehead left for Key West with dispatches for Admiral Schley the code of signals arranged with the Cubans, but this information was not sent to Rear Admiral Schley. Rear Admiral Evans was strongly of the impression that among his papers there was a memorandum relating to the code of signals, but after searching for this memorandum he was unable to find it.

He swore that the Eagle delayed the progress of the fleet on its way from Cienfuegos, and that at least twice the Brooklyn signaled to the flying squadron to slow down so as to enable the Eagle to catch up with the other vessels. He also pronounced the official charts of the battle worthless, saying they were wrong in almost every particular.

His Story of the Loop.

Rear Admiral Evans' story of the loop made by the Brooklyn varied considerably from that told by other officers who have related their views about this famous movement. He gave the distance between the Texas and Brooklyn as 100 yards and contended that the Iowa as well as the Texas was endangered by the Brooklyn's turn. He asserted that the Oregon passed between the Iowa and the Texas after the Iowa had slowed, because the Texas came to a sudden halt to avoid the Brooklyn. The three ships were in such close proximity, according to Rear Admiral Evans' testimony, that it seems incredible that all did not go to the bottom.

An effort was made by Counsel Rayner to develop the fact that Rear Admiral Evans was under the impression that it was the Texas and not the Brooklyn which made the turn. It was alleged that a conversation occurred between Rear Admiral Evans and Rear Admiral Schley, in which the former expressed this view. Rear Admiral Evans denied, however, that this conversation took place, and said emphatically there was never any question in his mind as to which ship made the loop.

At 3:55 p. m. the court adjourned until Tuesday morning.

TOMB IS ATTACKED.

Prowlers at Vault in Canton Cemetery Driven Off by a Guard—A Sensational Incident.

Canton, O., Sept. 30.—Military men guarding the McKinley vault report an attack upon the guard early Sunday night by armed and masked men, carrying a package supposed to contain explosives. It is thought an attempt was made to blow up the vault. Guard De Prend, a private in the company of regulars from Fort Wayne, Mich., while on duty at the rear of the vault, about 7:45 o'clock, noticed a man peering from behind a tree about 40 feet from the vault. He watched it for 20 minutes and then challenged the intruder, who made no response, but dodged behind the tree. The soldier then advanced, challenging a second time, and the man came out and ran toward De Prend, sheltering himself behind a second tree 12 feet nearer the vault.

De Prend, noticing that the fellow was carrying a package wrapped in white in one hand and a glinting instrument in the other, took no further chances, but brought down his rifle and fired.

Just as he did so, another man, approaching from behind, and whom he had not seen, struck up the rifle and at the same moment dealt De Prend a terrific blow on the body with some instrument, and a second blow, this time evidently with a knife, cut through his overcoat and blouse, abraded the skin and sent him tumbling into a ravine near the vault.

Meanwhile the shot had aroused other members of the guard. Lieut. S. Ashbridge, officer of the day, and others ran to the spot, but owing to the fact that they had to climb a steep hill the marauders had disappeared before they arrived.

De Prend, who was recruited in New York four months ago, is said to be an excellent soldier. His record is such that he is out for a commission. His superiors have not the least cause to doubt his story. On the contrary, others say they saw men about there in the evening that answer his description. The man who attacked De Prend was masked. The other, he says, he could easily recognize. Stories are afloat in the soldiers' camp that a stranger was overheard to say in the cemetery that "there are many people who would like to see the vault and body blown up."

While no one knows what the motive of the attack on the guard was or what the man behind the tree had in his package, the theory advanced is that it was an attempt to blow up the vault in which the president's body lies. Military men agree that it looks like that. Capt. Biddle, commanding, after a vain search of the cemetery, has put extra guards on duty and the entire company of 75 is ready to turn out at any alarm. It is thought by some that the intruders may have been men who broke jail early in the day, but the authorities say the theory is hardly tenable, as a guarded cemetery would be the last place in which fugitives from justice would be likely to seek refuge.

"JACK" HAVERLY DEAD.

The Famous Minstrel and Theatrical Man Is a Victim of Heart Failure.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 30.—John H. Haverly, one of the most interesting characters of the American stage, died Saturday at St. Mark's hospital. While the immediate cause of death was heart trouble, the once famous minstrel leader had been in failing health for several months.

John H. Haverly, better known as "Jack" Haverly, a few years ago one of the best known and most successful of theatrical managers, was born in eastern Pennsylvania in 1838. He began his theatrical career as doortender in one of the theaters at Pittsburgh, Pa. He rose rapidly and he finally became one of the most successful of managers. Mr. Haverly wanted to establish a chain of theaters from New York to San Francisco. Although this scheme was never carried into execution, he was the owner at one time of six theaters and 13 road companies. In 1866 the Haverly and Cool Burgess minstrels were organized. In 1876 the J. H. Haverly minstrels, with Barlow, Wilson, Primrose and West as the principal features, were launched, and continued for many years the most popular company of its kind in the country. The United Mastodon minstrels were next organized. They were 40 in number. "Forty" slogan and was echoed across the continent. An engagement of six weeks was played at the Fourteenth Street theater in New York, and the season's profits amounted to $100,000. The minstrels toured the United States and then were taken to England. In 1880 Haverly was at the height of his success. He controlled Haverly's theater in New York, Niblo's in Brooklyn and a house in Chicago. When Haverly endeavored, with some of his theatrical profits, to win a fortune in western mining property, however, his steel failed him. Speculations in western exchanges and in Wall Street caused his failure in 1884, and for some years he had a hard time to make both ends meet.

VERDICT IS GUILTY.

Jury in Czolgosz Case Quickly Reaches a Decision.

Assassin Is Sentenced to Be Executed Week Beginning Oct. 28—Is Taken to Prison and Completely Breaks Down.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Leon F. Czolgosz, alias Fred Nieman, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in part 3 of the supreme court, in having on the 6th day of September shot President William McKinley, the wounds inflicted afterwards resulting in the death of the president. The wheels of justice moved swiftly. The trial of the assassin consumed eight hours and 26 minutes and covered a period of only two days. Practically all of this time was occupied by the prosecution in presenting a case so clear, so conclusive, that even had the prisoner entered the plea of insanity it is doubtful if the jury would have returned a verdict different from the one rendered.

JUDGE TRUMAN C. WHITE. In Whose Court Trial of Czolgosz Was Held.

Assassin Is Sentenced.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, was on Thursday afternoon sentenced to be electrocuted in Auburn state prison during the week beginning October 28, 1901. Before sentence was passed the assassin evinced a desire to speak, but he could not get his voice above a whisper and his words were repeated to the court by his counsel.

"There was no one else but me," the prisoner said, in a whisper. "No one else told me to do it and no one paid me to do it. I was not told anything about the crime, and I never thought anything about that until a couple of days before I committed the crime."

Czolgosz sat down. He was quite calm, but it was evident that his mind was flooded with thoughts of his own distress. His eyes were dilated, making them appear very bright. His cheeks were a trifle pale and his outstretched hand trembled. The guards put the handcuffs on his wrists. He looked at one of the officers. There was an expression of the profoundest fear and helplessness in his eyes.

At this point Judge Titus came over to the prisoner and bade him good-by. Czolgosz replied very faintly, letting his eye rest upon the man who has been his counsel.

"Good-by," he said, weakly. Czolgosz was then hurried downstairs and through the "tunnel of sobs" to the jail, and in the evening quietly taken to Auburn prison.

Prisoner Utterly Collapses.

Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Czolgosz, President McKinley's murderer, in the custody of Sheriff Caldwell, of Erie county, and 21 deputies, arrived in Auburn at 3:15 a. m. Friday. The prison is only about 50 yards from the depot. Awaiting the arrival of the train there was a crowd of about 200 people. Either for fear of the crowd, which was not very demonstrative, or from sight of the prison, Czolgosz's legs gave out and two deputy sheriffs were compelled to practically carry the man into the prison. Inside the gate his condition became worse, and he was dragged up the stairs and into the main hall.

The collapse of the murderer was a surprise to every one. En route from Buffalo he showed no indication of breaking down. He ate heartily of sandwiches and smoked cigars when not eating. He talked some and expressed regret for his crime. He said: "I am especially sorry for Mrs. McKinley." He reiterated his former statement that he had had no accomplices and declared that he never had heard of the man under arrest in St. Louis who claimed to have tied the handkerchief over his hand, concealing the pistol with which the president was shot. He says the handkerchief was not tied. He went behind the Temple of Music, arranged the handkerchief so as to hide the weapon and then took his place in the crowd. To Jailer Mitchell he sent this message to his father: "Tell him I'm sorry I left such a bad name for him."

McKINLEY'S WILL.

The Document Is Probated—Little Credit Given to Story of Attack on Tomb.

Canton, O., Oct. 1.—The will of President McKinley was admitted to probate at the conclusion of the formal hearing Monday by Probate Judge Maurice E. Aungst. The papers waiving notice of probating by Mrs. Sarah Duncan and Miss Helen McKinley, of Cleveland, sisters of the deceased, were filed, and this completed the preliminaries necessary for admitting the will to probate. In pursuance of the wishes of Mrs. McKinley and upon her signed recommendation, the court appointed Judge William R. Day and Secretary George B. Cortelyou administrators of the estate, with will annexed, and issued letters of administration. A joint administrator's bond of $100,000 was filed. This bond is signed by William R. Day, George B. Cortelyou, Austin Lynch, Mary E. Day and Mary B. Barber. In their applications for letters testamentary Judge Day and Secretary Cortelyou say that the amount of personal property left by the late president will be about $140,000, and of real estate about $70,000, aggregating about $210,000. At the request of the administrators, the court appointed Judge Jacob P. Pawcett, George B. Frease and H. W. Hossler as appraisers to appraise the property.

Canton, O., Oct. 1.—Friends of the family of the late President McKinley emphatically discredited belief in the idea that the shot reported fired by Guard De Prend at Westlawn cemetery Sunday night was on account of any attempt to desecrate the tomb. They do not attempt to explain the strange story of the guards or account for the firing of the shot which cemetery officials and other residents near by say they heard, and they do not believe that two men would undertake to make an attack on the vault with 70 soldiers on guard or near at hand.

The officers and men of company C, of the Fourteenth United States infantry, on duty at West Lawn cemetery, guarding the resting place of President McKinley, worked diligently investigating the strange story. The same reticence, imposed by military regulations which prevented the officers and men from making detailed statements concerning the incidents Sunday night was operative Monday. The representatives of the press saw all of the commissioned officers, several noncommissioned officers, and a number of privates, and gleaned the following:

All of the commissioned officers and the members of the company in general accepted fully the story, related by Private De Prend Sunday night, and readily believe that the prowlers were about the vault with no good purpose. Monday only one of the commissioned officers adhered to the belief that an attempt had been made upon the sentinel for goulsh purposes. He said "it was the real thing." It was prompted by the pure euseness of some people, who thought to bring reproach upon the nation by doing damage to the resting place of the dead president. All the men who were seen expressed the belief that Private De Prend acted in good faith, and that he related only what he believed to be the real circumstances. With the captain and others he went over the details of the whole affair at least a dozen times, and it is said never varied in a matter of importance. Particular inquiry was made as to his sobriety at the time, and it is said that it is established beyond all reasonable doubt that he had not been drinking, and that he was in his normal condition. The most common belief is that the sentinel was overwrought by the loneliness of his position, that his nerves were overtaxed, and that imagination contributed some to the details related in good faith. The post was regarded by all as particularly isolated and depressing to the man guarding it at night, and it is understood that more sentinels will be stationed at the point in the future.

Capt Biddle authorized this statement: "I think the sentinel deceived himself on the occurrence. I do not think an actual attack as related by him occurred. When daylight came there was no evidence found of a struggle."

The matter has been reported in full to Gen. Otis at Chicago, commanding the department to which the guard is attached. Whether there will be a formal inquiry into the matter remains for Gen. Otis to determine. Officers at the cemetery expressed the hope that inasmuch as no actual harm had been done, that no formal action would be taken.

Sentenced to Electric Chair.

New York, Oct. 1.—Arthur Flannigan, a negro, 22 years of age, was Monday sentenced to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing during the week beginning November 18. Flannigan and another negro named Emerson, who were imprisoned on a charge of burglary, murdered Hugh McGovern, a keeper in the West Side prison here, last October while escaping, but Emerson was killed by falling from the prison wall. Flannigan got away and was subsequently recaptured at Pittsburg.

FOUGHT BRAVELY.

Soldiers of Unfortunate Company C Kill 140 Bolomen Before They Were Annihilated.

Manila, Oct. 1.—Gen. Hughes, from the island of Samar, reports the arrival of Sergt. Markley and one private at Tannan, from the fight at Balangiga, where 41 men of company C, Ninth infantry, were killed by insurgents, who attacked the troops while at breakfast Saturday last. The men who have reached Tannan say that the officers of the company, who were at first reported to have escaped, were killed with the majority of the company. The troops were attacked, while unprepared, by 400 bolomen, of whom the Americans killed about 140. Many of the soldiers were killed in their quarters before they had time to grasp their rifles.

Gen. Hughes is going to the scene of the disaster and will personally command the troops.

The conditions in Tayant and Batangas are not at all reassuring. The worst form of guerrilla warfare prevails there. The insurgent forces are distributed, under cover, along every road and trail, and wait for travelers in ambush. The insurgent leader Caballos (who formerly belonged to Gen. Cailles' command, but who refused to surrender with Cailles) is retreating to the mountains. The main forces of the insurgents are scattered in bands over the province, where they dig up rifles when there is an opportunity to use them.

Washington, Oct. 1.—In addition to the enlisted men, three commissioned officers of company C, Ninth infantry, are supposed now to have been killed in the action in Samar, Philippine islands, last Saturday.

The officers are: Capt. Thomas W. Connell, First Lieut. Edward A. Bumpus, Maj. Surgeon R. S. Griswold.

The father of Capt. Connell resides in New York city. He telegraphed to the war department Monday that he is in receipt of a cablegram from the quartermaster of the Ninth regiment saying that his son had been killed in action. He asks for confirmation of the dispatch from the war department, but the officials here are unable at this time to confirm the information.

The island of Samar lies north of Luzon, from which it is separated by the Strait of Bernardino. It is 147 miles long and about 50 miles wide, and it forms one of the provinces of the Philippines. The island is thickly wooded, has rivers of considerable size and lofty and rugged mountains. Previously to the revolution against Spain the island was populous. The inhabitants are chiefly descendants of the Spaniards by Indian mothers, and their number, according to the last census, is upward of 178,000. Samar produces hemp, wax, mother of pearl, tortoise shell, indigo and trepang. Its trade is principally with the other islands of the Philippine group and with the Pelew islands.

HE IS PUNISHED.

Soldier Who Expressed Joy at Shooting of President McKinley Is Condemned.

Washington, Oct. 1.—A most unusual case has been reported to the war department. It is that of Private Peter J. Devine, troop E, Eleventh cavalry, who was tried by a general court-martial at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, on the charge of "using disrespectful words against the president of the United States," in violation of the nineteenth article of war. It appears from the evidence that when the news of the shooting of President McKinley was received at Fort Ethan Allen, Devine expressed great satisfaction over the crime and applied an uncomplimentary epithet to the late president. His comrades roughly handled him before he could be secured in the guard-house. He was found guilty of the charge by the court and sentenced to be dishonorably discharged from the service of the United States, forfeiting all pay and allowances due him and to be confined at hard labor for one year. The record of the case having been referred to Maj. Gen. Brooke, at New York, commanding the department of the east, he indorsed it as follows:

"It is the opinion of the reviewing authority that the punishment adjudged by the court is not a sufficient penalty for the flagitious act the prisoner was found to have committed. It is not within the power of the reviewing authority to increase the punishment, but in order that the prisoner may not wholly escape punishment the sentence is approved and will be duly executed at Fort Columbus, N. Y., to which place the prisoner will be sent under proper guard."

Soldiers' Home Burns.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 1.—The confederate soldiers' home, just east of this city, was destroyed by fire at 9:30 Monday morning. There were no lives lost. There were about 70 veterans who were inmates of the building, some of them being invalids who were rescued by their comrades. The loss is estimated at $25,000, covered by $10,000 insurance. The home was opened for the ex-confederate veterans of the state June 30 and was built by popular subscriptions.

We Are to Have Yet Another Blouse Season

Styles at Lenox Give a Hint of the Gorgeousness of These Garments.

STYLES at Lenox presage another blouse season, and to judge from the first models that have made their appearance here at the first of the series of informal entertainments of the reception order the season will be an unusually beautiful one in this connection. The blouses I have seen so far show a decided improvement in the style of this sort of garment, and it looks very much as though the fair sex were determined to give the men who have assayed feminine apparel in the form of the more distinctive species of shirt waists something to think about. This, to me, is as it should be. For the past three or four seasons we have industriously attempted to ape masculine man in the making of our garments, and now that we are attempting to once more return to our own it would be quite to the liking of womankind to go to such lengths that it would be impossible for the feminine man to follow us. Shirt waists for men are impossible in winter, and it is scarcely possible that they will attempt to reproduce for their use the elaborate garments of this kind that mark the opening of the fall season, though I did see men wearing shirt waists at Newport during the past summer that rivalled in gorgeousness anything the fair summer girl attempted. But let them attempt the separate waist of this fall—and fail.

For morning wear the flannel waists with fancy effects and Persian designs are decidedly beautiful. Still more stylish effects, intended for matinee and similar afternoon functions in the city, or for afternoon receptions and teas in the country, are of peau de soie and Isobel Haskins and discarding the pompadour style in hair dressing.

No matter what these women may think upon the subject; no matter whether they liked the pompadour or not, they see the direction of the straws and have adopted other coiffures for the fall.

Even during my short sojourn in New York between the closing of the summer and the beginning of the fall seasons I saw this change coming. Sensible women have tired of the homely, nonsensical style that sentenced women to wear their hair puffed out in a roll over their foreheads. But like all other fashions it took a leader to change the established order of things. The lesser lights in the world of the mode could not do it even if they would. Now the leaders have spoken, and the pompadour has passed into history.

But what has taken the place of the pompadour? A decided contrast, of course. The very latest coiffures show the hair dressed low, waved prettily, and sometimes parted. When not parted it is usually loosely drawn back from the face to a coil that may be worn as low as desired. For evening wear these coils are worn very low, indeed, and as a rule one curl rests upon the neck.

Hair decorations, too, are changing, and the shell combs, aigrettes, bows and even tiaras are giving place to natural flowers, with the rose preferred. To be once more rid of the pompadour and the elaborate decorations worn in the hair seems almost like the dawn of the millennium.

Great is green, and, in the slang of the day, we might add "the greens are great." Green is undoubtedly the favorite of all the fall shades, and it is being worn everywhere and worked into every conceivable garment. In tones, it varies from the palest shimmering silver green to the pronounced hunter's, olive and myrtle shades. Of all the tones the hunter's green is the one most frequently seen, especially for street and afternoon wear. The green in this case is almost sure to be enlivened with little touches of black and white. Green broadcloths, chevrons, venetian cloths, and in fact all the heavier fall goods are proving popular for tailor-made suits.

OF FRENCH FLANNEL.

SARAH DAVIDSON.

Took Her at Her Word.

"I'm going shopping to-day, John," said Mrs. Graspitt, as her husband started down town. "Can you let me have a little money?"

"Certainly, my dear," replied the generous husband. "Here's a nickel." —Chicago Daily News.

DECISIONS OF THE BENCH.

Street railway employees riding gratuitously when off duty, under a rule permitting them to ride free, are held, in Dickinson versus West End Street R. Co. (Mass.), 52 L. R. A. 326, to be passengers and not servants.

An incorporated college which sells diplomas is held in state ex rel. Sheets versus Mount Hope College company (Ohio), 52 L. R. A. 365, to be guilty of such a misuse of its powers as to require dissolution and a judgment ousting it of the right to be a corporation.

A promissory note given to stop a criminal prosecution is held in Jones versus Dannenberg Co. (Ga.), 52 L. R. A. 271, to be invalid, even in the hands of a bona fide holder, under a statute protecting such holders except against certain defenses, including "immoral and illegal consideration."

A note with the word "president" following the name of the person who signs it and with the name of a corporation above the line stating place and date is held, in Second national bank versus Midland Steel company (Ind.), 52 L. R. A. 307, to be enforceable against the corporation on proof that it was intended to be a corporation note.

Damaged condition of dressed poultry put in cold storage, resulting from the warmth of the temperature, is held, in Allen versus Somers (Conn.), 52 L. R. A. 106, not to render the bailee liable, where the temperature is that ordinarily kept in cold-storage rooms, but higher than that at which freezers are kept, and both parties believed it would be sufficiently low for the poultry.

THIS, THAT AND THE OTHER.

In a recent trial of the French submarine boat Marvel it went 350 miles under water, but the close confinement and want of fresh air completely unnerved the men.

Typhoid germs retain their vitality for many weeks; in garden earth, 21 days; in filter sand, 82 days; in dust of the street, 30 days; on linen, 60 to 70 days; on wood, 32 days; in ice, a year or more.

Dr. Calmette, of the Pasteur institute in London, recently had to use his own serum for snake bite. His finger was bitten while he was collecting the venom, and he attributes to the serum his escape with simple inflammation only.

A FEARLESS PHYSICIAN.

Benton, Ill., Sept. 30th.—Much comment has been caused by the action of Dr. R. H. Dunaway, a physician here, who for over a year past has been recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to those of his patients who suffered from Rheumatism, Bright's Disease, Diabetes or other Kidney Troubles.

Dr. Dunaway also published an open letter last May stating positively that he himself had been cured of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and that, after he had concluded he was going to die.

He is a well man to-day, and says he feels it his duty to do as he has done and is doing because Dodd's Kidney Pills saved his life.

A DAIRY COUNTRY.

What Prof. Henry Thinks of the New Lands in North Wisconsin.

Prof. W. E. Henry, dean of the college of agriculture, in an article on the dairy industry of northern Wisconsin, says: "After careful study of all the conditions prevailing in northern Wisconsin, the writer is firmly impressed with the belief that this will become one of the great dairy regions of America. First of all, there is that prime requisite for fine butter and cheese, namely, an ample supply of pure cold water everywhere accessible. Second, an abundance of wholesome stock foods. In summer time the cattle of northern Wisconsin will find in its pastures the finest of grasses and clovers (red and white clover flourish), and timothy and blue grass pastures are as prevalent and productive as anywhere further south."

If you are interested, and want to learn more about this country, we suggest that you write to D. W. Casseday, land agent of the "Soo" Line, Minneapolis, and ask him to send printed matter. He will be glad to do so.

DO YOU LOVE YOUR HUSBAND?

Yes, of course, you do, and you want him to live and enjoy life, the good things you can give him? Then help him live right! When his skin gets yellow and he looks bilious, his eyes red and watery, his breath smells bad, 99 times out of 100 his liver is lousy. Now, if you want a man to look well, feel well and be well, keep him in regular habits! Give him plain wholesome food, and make him take Cascarets to stir up his liver. Big doses of salts and strong medicines make him weak and leave him worse than ever. We make the best bowel and liver tonic for man, woman or child—Cascarets. They are easy to take, eat them like candy. Cascarets are made of bark, roots and herbs; act just like nature acts. Get a box on our say-so and if you are not pleased you can have your money back. That's fair, isn't it? We sold over six million boxes last year. Our business is big, the largest of its kind in the world. They cost 10c, 25c and 50c a box. A 50c box is a month's treatment for the worst case of bad liver and bowels. Remember the name—Cascarets—each tablet is stamped C. C. C. Why Cables Get Tired.

There has been some question, says
The Electrical Engineer, as to the reason why certain cables lose their conducting properties and have in some instances to be replaced. A learned Frenchman has submitted a paper on the subject to the Academie des Sciences. In this paper he states that when cables lose their electrical properties it is because they are always used for one kind of current only, either positive or negative. If used sometimes for positive and sometimes for negative, they will, he states, preserve their conductive qualities indefinitely. Experiments with nine wires running from Paris to Dijon demonstrated this, he says.

Unsympathetic.

"You haven't much sympathy for the request from your employees for shorter hours."
"Not much," answered Mr. Cumrox.
"It goes to show that men don't know when they are well off. If they had been invited around to musicales and dragged through Europe by Mrs. C. and the girls like I have, maybe they'd appreciate the privilege of staying in a nice, comfortable, businesslike office nine or ten hours a day."—Washington Star.

Still Anxious.

"Have you fastened the windows,
dear?" she asked, as they were about to retire for the night.
"No. What's the use? I gave you the last dollar I had to buy that new bat, and we needn't fear burglars."
"But they might sit down on the bat, you know."—Washington Post.

Old Stagecoach Days.
Adventures of varied nature belonged to the old English mail coach days. One of the most thrilling episodes of the road occurred one night on the way from Salisbury to London in 1818. The story is told by Mr. Charles G. Harper in the Exeter Road.

As the coach went bowling along, the horses suddenly became extremely nervous, and what was thought to be a large calf was seen trotting along beside the left leader in the darkness. As they neared the inn the horses became uncontrollable, and then the supposed calf seized one of the animals. By this time the horses were frantic, plunging and kicking, and it was remarkable that the coach was not overturned.

The guard laid hold of his gun and was about to shoot the assailant when several men, accompanied by a large mastiff, appeared. The foremost, seeing that the guard was about to fire, pointed a pistol at his head, declaring that he would shoot if the beast was killed.

The "calf" was a lioness, escaped from a traveling show. The dog was set upon the brute, who left the horse, seized the mastiff and tore him to pieces and retreated under a granary.
The spot was barricaded to prevent her escape, and she was noosed and returned to captivity.

The horse which had been seized was seriously injured by the lioness, but finally recovered.

Something For Nothing.

Some time ago there appeared in several Paris papers an advertisement of an obscure fruit dealer, in which he offered to give a prize of 5 francs for the largest apple sent to him. Then fish caught at the bait with marvelous rapidity, and in less than a fortnight the advertiser had received enough fruit to stock his store for the season. Naturally he was glad to pay 5 francs for the largest of the lot, and just as naturally he kept all the unsuccessful specimens for sale from his shop. Besides, the advertising resulted in a large increase in his business.

A Harsh Fate.

"Yes, poor chap," said Michael, "he had a hard time av it. He ought to be glad he's dead. He never had none av the blessings av the rich. The only time he ever rode in a carriage in his life was phwin he went to his funeral."—Chicago Times-Herald.

DON'T BE DUPE
There have been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an obsolete edition of "Webster's Dictionary." They are being offered under various names at a low price.
By
dealers, agents, etc., and in a few instances as a premium for subscriptions to papers.
Announcements of these cheap reprints Worthless
reprints are very misleading. They are
