Corunna a Sufferer by a Costly Blaze.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT ADRIAN

A Farmer Loses His Life Trying to Save His Stock-Cyclones Work Havoc and Destroy Property-A Pitiable Case Near Mendon Other News.

A Blow to Corunna. Corunna was visited Wednesday night by a fire causing a heavy loss of property and serious injury to three firemen. The furniture factory of Fox & Martin was totally destroyed, the fire being first discovered in the varnish room, possibly caused by spontaneous combustion. The blaze had twenty minutes' start of the fire department. An explosion while the firemen were fighting the flames resulted in the injury of Chief Charles Wilcox. He will probably die. George Brands and William S. Eveleth were seriously injured. The men were on a ladder throwing a stream into the second story window when the wall suddenly flew into a thousand pieces from an explosion within. Wilcox was buried beneath tons of brick, and was taken out bleeding and unconscious. Doctors give but little hope for his recovery. Brands was badly cut on the head by flying brick, and Eveleth was cut and bruised. The senior member of the firm, S. C. Fox, is in England, where the firm conducts a wholesale business. Geo. D. Mason, the junior member, says the factory will probably not be rebuilt until spring, which is a hard blow to Corunna, as 125 men will be out of employment. The factory burned four years ago, and was rebuilt by the aid of a bonus. Corunna has no water works, and a poorly equipped department. The loss is placed at $40,000, insurance $19,000.

Can They Do It?

Commenting on the reduction of the price of sugar in the Missouri market by the sugar trust Henry T. Oxnard. president of the American Beet Sugar Association, defined it as a move to crush out beet sugar production in order that the trust might have no opposition. "If they can succeed in the Missonri Valley," said he, "they will then turn their attention to the beet sugar factories in Michigan and other sections, and by the power of concentrated capital crush out successively and individually the beet sugar producers. The trust tries to deceive the public by claiming that the beet producers can still make money at the low price it is trying to establish. This is false, and if it had been true, then the trust would have tried to establish still a lower price. They are not sacrificing one-half per cent in the Missouri river markets to make a price that will still be profitable to the beet sugar men.

Cyclones do Damage.

A cyclone struck Ed. Hubbard's clover miller, on Sam Allen's farm. four miles west of Middleville, picked it up and turned it once and a half over, and when it struck the ground completely demolished it. Wagons were overturned and teams ran away. A parn in the neighborhood was unroofed. The top was torn from a passing carriage, the horse ran away and the occupants thrown out. A heavy shower accompanied the wind.

A heavy rain and terrific wind storm struck Turner, wrecking buildings and scattering lumber and staves for a long distance. The roof of D. Dolan's. house was carried away and some of the furniture cannot be found. At Maple Ridge several barns were unroofed and part of one house destroyed.

Burned to Death.

John Dillon, aged 60, was burned to death in the barn on his farm in Merritt township, nine miles southeast of Bay City. Dillon was milking the cows, and it is supposed a lantern exploded and set fire to the building, and | belt. that he died while trying to lead the cattle to safety. After the fire the neighbors found his charred body in the ruins. Dillon is survived by his widow and two small children. The fire destroyed nearly all of Dillon's stock and well filled grain barns. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

A Triple Funeral.

The principal business streets of Kalamazoo were the scene of an impressive funeral procession Wednesday, when three funeral cars abreast moved slowly on their way to Riverside cemetery. The cars contained the remains of Isaac Van Holst, Mrs. Peter Kromdyk and Edith Wand, the victims of the sailboat accident on West lake last Sunday. The center hearse was white and the other two were black. No cars were run while the procession passed through the streets. There at Jackson. were bundreds of mourners in carriages.

A Pitinble Case.

Undertaker Schoonmaker, of Mendon, was called upon Wednesday to fulfill his duty in a very sad case. It in Berrien, Kalamazoo, Eaton and sevwas at a farmer's home, a few miles from here, the residence of Edward Eatinger. Huddled together in a miserable little shanty, 12x16 feet, he found the father and two children, Ill unto death with typhoid fever. In the other corner lay the corpse of the wife and mother, while in a neighbor's house another of the family was al with the same disease.

The Lost Aeronaut,

Rather than be branded as a fakir. Mrs. A. L. Seeley, the aeronaut, of Reed City, made an ascension Wednesday evening at LaSalle, Ill., just at dusk. She was warned that it was dangerous, but the jibes of the crowd piqued ber and she determined to go followed in a buggy with the intention of picking her up, but owing to the darkness the parachute and the aeronant were lost sight of. Her fate is all a mystery.

Smashed. He has a wife and family.

M. R. Wood, general manager of the Port Huron Salt Co., has resigned and it is rumored that he will start a soda ash plant just south of the salt block.

Two Were Terribly Crushed. A terrible accident occurred at the west warehouse of the Page Fence Works, Adrian, Saturday. A gang of men was employed piling colls of wire some three feet in diameter bound into a mass about the size of a stove-pipe and weighing about 200 pounds each. The rows were piled on the east side and four tiers were begun on the west side. The tier next the wall was six teen feet high. The second tier was some lower; the third tier half way up, and the fourth tier about four feet high. The force was in charge of John Handgen, and the colls were piled in the same way as had been the custom always. Some were piling on to the second tier, standing on the first, and one was on a scaffold piling on the third tier. Without any warning, the wire of the first tier began stipping and immediately toppled over upon the men. Willard S. Bowen and Thomas Bee were caught and buried beneath a mass of tons of wire, both being crushed and instantly killed. Jack Maddox, or Mattox, who had been working but two days, was caught and one leg broken. Michael Fraley was slightly hurt. Frank Wick-

Mrs. Ansel Green, of Sebewa township, was attacked by hogs and so frightfully mangled she will die. Mrs. Green was hunting for eggs in the barnyard, when three hogs suddenly turned upon her and knocked her down. The animals apparently became frenzied and began to tear at the woman's arms and body. Mrs. Green became unconscious, and then the hogs moved away. When she regained consciousness Mrs. Green managed to get to her feet and started to run for the gate. She had taken only a few steps when she was again attacked and knocked down. Her screams finally brought help and the hogs were driven away by her son. The flesh was stripped from Mrs. Green's right arm and it had to be amputated. Her left arm and hand was also terribly torn. One side of her face was torn to shreds. The unfortunate woman's body was also shockingly mutilated. There is no hope of her recovery. Mrs. Benj. Probasco, a sister of Mrs. Green, in going to the latter's bedside, was thrown from a buggy and seriously injured.

Royal Oak's Sensation.

Sunday morning Harrison Long. foreman for Dr. Clawson, went nutting on the Medbury farm, one mile and a half north of Royal Oak. He noticed a cat scratching and smelling in one particular place. The cat was so persistent that he thought something must investigation. He went to the place on Oct. 18, at which time the people and scraped away the dirt, when he will vote on a proposition to bond the found the body of a woman in an advanced stage of decomposition. It is thought she had been dead about six or eight menths. There were no shoes on the corpse. The remains are in such a bad shape they cannot be identified. An attempt will be made to find out if she was the victim of foul play. It is not known that any woman in Royal Oak or vicinity is missing. The affair is shrouded in mystery.

Marriages and Divorces,

vorces returned by county clerks for the year 1900 has been made by the secretary of state. There were 23,295 marriages in the state last year, as compared with 21.877 in 1899, and 20, 138 in 1898. The returns for the year 1900 thus show a considerable increase over the preceding years, although the large number of marriages of non-residents returned from St. Joseph somewhat interferes with exact comparisons. Berrien county reported 1,448 marriages for 1900, 1,077 for 1899, and only 444 for 1898. The number of divorces returned also shows a considerable increase for 1900, there being 2.418 as compared with 2,218 for 1899, and 1,808 for 1898.

Happenings at Home and abroad of in terest to all Readers Briefly Summer ized for these Busy October Days-The Columbia Wins Three Straight.

Columbia Wins First Race.

In the closest and most soul stirring race ever sailed for the old America's cup, the white fiyer Columbia beat British challenger over a windward and leeward course of 30 nautical miles by the narrow margin of 39 seconds. As Lipton's latest aspirant for cup honors must allow the defender 43 seconds on account of the extra 833 square feet of canves in her sail area, the official record, under the rules, gives her the victory by 1 minute and 22 seconds. As a spectacle the contest was superb. From the time the two sky-scraping racers crossed the starting line until they fled across the finish line four and a half hours later the result was in doubt, and the excitement aboard the excursion fleet increased until the men became frenzied and women almost hys-

Columbia Wins Second Race. The second race for the coveted cum between Columbia and Shamrock II. was sailed Thursday, and won by the Columbia by two minutes and one second, corrected time. The course was triangular. It was a magnificent and blood-stirring race to the first mark. They lifted the first turn as though the stakeboat itself was coming to meet them, the Shamrock still holding the lead. Both swept away on the starboard tack, Shamrock leading by about a quarter to a third of a mile. Still scudding in the strong wind, the big white racers fetched the second mark. Shamrock rounding it first, and with flattening sheets. It was the first windward work of the race, and the result of the contest depended on the respective merits of the two boats in the thrash to windward, at the end of which was the finish line. The wind was all that yachtsmen could wish. and a fair test of the merits of the two boats was made."

The Third Race Won. That silver cup is to remain in these 'nited States unless Lipton or some other English vachtsman can bring over a better boat to contest for it. That the Columbia defeated the Shamrock II, in three straight races, added to the fact that this is the second time she has saved the cup, does not soften the loss to the Englishmen who had real and great hopes of winning this year. The races were close, the yachts well handled, and the Columbia proved for a second time the better yacht. The first part of the race was a hummer, with a good wind, and the outer mark was turned by the Shamrock first, but when the last half was sailed the admirable handling of the Columbia, in a slightly lighter wind, told against her competitor. There was all the excitement in this third and final was in the run before the wind in the first part of the race that the Shamrock did her best, turning the outer mark first. Then began the beat to windward, and superb work with the Columbia on this home stretch did the business.

Horrible Details Given. The latest news from the Island of Samar gives harrowing details of the slaughter of the members of Company C. Ninth United States Infantry. at Balangiga. It seems that the presidente of the town, claiming to be friendly, led the assault in person. The fight was long premeditated and the Filipinos were called to commit the slaughter by the ringing of church bells at daylight. They got between the soldiers, who were breakfasting, and their quarters. On hearing of the slaughter. Col. Isaac D. Derussy, of the Eleventh Infantry, started for the scene immediately with a battalion. The body of Capt, Connell had been saturated with kerosene and partly burned. Forty-five bodies have been burned in a trench, leaving seven unaccounted for. The charred remains that they came to their death through of many were recovered. In numerous instances the bodies had been badly mutilated. Three hundred Macabebes will also be dispatched to the scene of the massacre on board the Legaspi, which is delayed by a typhoon.

The Froblem of Life.

BY ETHEL M. COLSON.

(Copyright, 1901, by Daily Story Pub. Co.) If there was one particular characteristic or quality for which the Rev. Charles Billings was especially distinguished it was that of truthfulness. He was truthful, moreover, for reasons quite apart and side from his calling. As a slim and pallid youth at boarding school he had been famous. and popular-because of his exceeding candour. Later, as the devoted and conscientious rector of the Angelican Catholic Church of the Atonement, he was popular and beloved in spite of it. And if ever the meek and lowly-minded clergyman knew a suspicion of spiritual pride it was because of the absolutely spotless and unstained condition of his life-record in the matter of truth-telling.

To have expected the Rev. Charles Billings, therefore, to have deliberately-albeit unwillingly-yielded to the temptation to give utterance to an unequivocal lie would have been manifestly outrageous. And yet-

The door of the church study opened, one evening, to admit a woman-a woman tall, slender, of good figure, and expressive face, mirroring just then numerous unpleasant emotions. The Rev. Charles Billings knew her for one of his parishoners, the wife of solid John Brewster, merchant of the old-time Chicago, and a man who was popularly suspected of being a better the other man-she would not so fear on streets where there are no gas business man than husband. Certain and dread being thrown aside by her mains. The Flushing Association has it is, the fine eyes of his wife had long unloving, unloved husband. my husband came in at another. If he saw me—and I'm almost sure he did he'll believe the worst in a moment. He judges everybody by himself. And the fact that he had another woman with him won't make a bit of differeace—to him. If he saw me—and 1 know, I feel that he did-he's at home now, questioning my maid. He always does so if he finds me out of the house, no matter where I am, nor how short a time I've been absent. And if he discovers that I haven't been making charity calls this afternoon, as I told as the priest looked incredulous, "and habit of a negative

"What do you want me to do, my child?" asked the priest, quietly.

For answer, she sank on her knees beside him, catching at his hand with small, beseeching fingers that burned like fire.

"Tell him that I have been making charity calls," she said, hoarsely. "He won't believe me, but he'll believe you, if you tell him, Everybody knows," without a suspicion of grim humor, "how invariably truthful you are." "But, my child," said the priest, gravely, "that would be a lie, a sin." "I know it would be a lie," she made answer, "but would it be a sin if you did it to save another? And there are worse sins than lying, Father, and some of them are hard to avoid. 1 don't know how to tell you, but-I've no money, Father, I've no friends or relatives, and if my husband throws me aside there's only one person to whom I can turn for assistance—and and-I do not want to go to-him."

The face of the priest was pale and puzzled. As a clergyman he knew lying to be sinful. As a man and a

"No, sir," he heard himself saying. gentleman he hated lying on general principles. He was firmly convinced of the wickedness of doing evil that good may come. And yet-

It was all so clear before him. If this woman did not still love thethrown aside, to whom else could she experts in the country to examine the turn? That she was speaking the trees.-New York Sun. Straight up to the table at which truth in regard to her husband's her eagerness and agitation she never dition the clergyman knew well. That he would refuse to believe the meeting between his wife and the lover from whom he had wildly-the gentle little priest being parted her, by unfair means, solitary and as innocent as accidental was also

> Then, certainly, the problem lay between this woman's soul and his own -the priestly soul which had never yet been stained by lying.

Heavy steps sounded along the passageway leading from the street. The woman, springing to a chair on the used-we used to love each other. Per- other side of the table, looked at the priest beseechingly and bent hurriedly over some papers. A moment later events, someone-my husband," her and solid John Brewster himself strode into the room.

At sight of his wife the hard face changed, the expression faltered. The "I see my wife is with you," the

For a moment the priest struggled against a most human impulse, the mad, natural, all but uncontrollable inclination to knock down this intimidator of a woman and trample upon him. Then he remembered that he was a priest, and that there seemed but one way of helping the intimidator's victim. He turned h.s eyes toward her down-bent head, momentarily, and again the Problem of the Lie lifted its double-headed torment and regarded him. He saw, as if in vision, the Recording Angel who was so real a personage to him take down, with sorrowful sternness, the white scroll of his unstained veracity and degrade it, degrade it to the dust. His eyes filled with tears, suddenly, as though he had witnessed another's downfall. But, over and against this vision, was set the soul of this woman-and her peril. For him, repentance and remorse in plenty. Nay, was he not already repenting the very thought of the sin in contemplation. For her-in case her fears were realized-no place of repentance, though she sought it carefully, with tears. And, right or wrong, the unselfish impulse triumphed. "No, sir," he heard himself saying, distinctly, after so brief an interval that even the angry husband noticed no hesitation, "she has not. I did not see her until after .uncheon. But this afternoon she accompanied me on a round of charity calls, and, since our return, she has been busily engaged in making out her report to the Charity Calls Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary. But there are rare moments, now and then, when the problem and the repentance alike cease to trouble him-when he is glad in the conviction that the lie saved not only a woman's body from perdition; but also the woman's soul.

GAS KILLS FLUSHING TREES.

Leaks Out of the Mains and Affects the Tree Boots.

The people of Flushing, which has become famous for the beautiful shade trees which line its streets, have noticed recently that many big, sturdy trees have withered and become lifeless without apparent cause or injury. These trees were not confined to any one variety nor, was any single locality alone affected. Horticultural experts examined the dead trees to see if they had become affected by insects or rust, but nothing of the kind was found. Then Samuel B. Parsons, a veteran nurseryman, was asked to make an investigation. He reported: "The condition of the trees indicates that they have been killed by illuminating gas which has escaped through the mains in the streets and has found its way to the roots. In several cases where the dirt has been dug up around the roots of the dead trees there has been a strong odor of gas. If a similar test was made with all the dead trees the same odor would be discovered. I do not know of anything else that would kill the trees." Most of the trees were planted more than fifty years ago. At the present rate, however, Mr. Parsons says he fears that all of years. The same cause he says has killed many of the trees planted in Manhattan. Another nurseryman said that there is no doubt about the gas killing the trees in Flushing. "Last spring," said he, "we planted six trees in front of a residence here. All the trees budded, but just as they were about to put forth leaves one of them died. We replaced it, but when we dug the dead tree up there was a strong smell of gas. The second tree planted also died. Then we made a complaint to the gas company and found that not fifty feet away there was a leak in the gas main."

The managers of the Finshing gas plant declare that they are not to blame for the destruction of the trees. They say that there are dead trees

DEFECTS IN THE CAPITOL.

Whiteness of Main Body Retained by Frequent Painting.

Frederic Harrison's admiration for the capitol as an architectural work and the central object of the Washington landscape is shared by so many that one can always send a thrill of pained surprise through a part of every group of visitors by a reminder that only its two wings are built of marble, and that for the whiteness of its main body we must thank copious The Famous Morgan-Chadwell Dispute, and oft-renewed applications of white paint. But quite as much astonishment is likely to be felt by most persons at the discovery that the great dome, which has been the delight of all beholders, is not precisely in the axis of the central portico, but about six feet out of place. Yet such is the case. It has been necessary to resort to some trickery to deceive the eye in taking in the whole effect of the edifice, but the cheat has been accomplished so cleverly that it may be forgiven. Another fact little known to the public is that the exquisite proportions of the dome are the result of accident, not design. The present lines do not follow the architectural drawings, because when the base of the dome proper was measured preparatory to lowering it into the collar, which was already in place for it, it was found to be too large. The collar could not be changed to fit, so the original base was cut off at the point where the diminishing diameter would slip into the collar. The result was most gratifying. If, as many experts assert, the present dome is perfect, it follows that the dome as first designed would have been imperfect, and if it had been used, one of the most satisfactory public edifices in the world would have lacked a large part of its present charm.-Boston Transcript.

A Remarkable Australian. Sir George Dibbs, who has just presented King Edward with a walking stick of his own make, is one of the remarkable men of Australia. He is probably the only man in the empire who has passed through the two extreme experiences of a prime minister and a prisoner in jail. Additional Letters Read When Third Week of the Schley Inquiry Is Now Under Way - Several Witnesses Are

Washington, Oct. 8.-The S.hley court of inquiry entered upon the miral Schley's conduct in the Spanish war with a big crowd in attendance. It had been expected that the navy deits presentation of the case by the close of last week, but when court nesses still contained almost a dozen names. Prominent among these was that of Captain Chadwick, who was Admiral Sampson's chief of staff and who was in immediate command of the flagship New York during the Santiago capangn. Two new witnesses who were present when court convened, with the expectation of being called to the stand during the day, were Captain W. M. Folger, who commanded the cruiser New Otleans during the bombardment of the C. istobal Colon May 31, and Lieutenant M. L. Bristol, who as an ensign was watch officer on the battleship Texas during the Santiago campaign. Lieutenant Commander Dyson also was prisent with the understanding that he probably would be Lieutenant Doyle and Commander Rodgers for the purpose of correcting their previous testimony, and when they had been excused Lieutenant Commander Hodgson resumed the stand. There were still a few of the letters constituing the correspondence between the witness and Admiral Schley to be read, and when they were concluded Captain Lemly and Mr.

Hanna proceeded with their questions. Mr. Rayner asked: "How far were you off, during this blockade of Santiago, from the Moro during the day and night of May 28, 29, 30 and 31?"

The Boer War.

The London Standard says: Boers are fighting with a determination and a contempt for their own lives such as were seldom shown in the early period of the war. Their plan is to keep Kitchener's army busy in the north and to give the roving commandoes of Cape Colony an opportunity to raise the Cape Dutch against Britain.

It is believed that the government at last recognizes the necessity of meeting the renewed Boer activity. Preparations are being made to replace Kitchener's exhausted men fresh drafts. An order has been issued rendering it impossible to obtain discharge by purchase from any of the army reserves, sections of which are being prepared for mobilization.

Must Leave France.

The Jesuits have published a long address on the eve of their departure from France. They explain that they cannot submit to the law of associations and apply for authorization under it, as by so doing they would have to admit of the existence of a power higher than the church. The law was specially aimed at the Jesuits and Passionists. It is semi-officialy stated that communities not applying for authorization under the law and not dispersing, will be prosecuted immediately.

Why Ito Comes,

The real purpose of the extraordinary visit at this time to the United States of Marquis Ito, the Gladstone of Japan, is revealed. He comes for the purpose of strengthening Japan's political and financial standing in England and the United States and to endeavor if possible to lay the foundation for a triple alliance on business and political lines between Japan, the United States and England. It is no secret that the object of such an alliance is to offset the aggression of the Russian and French alliance in the

DISTANCE JUDGING.

necess in Estimating Accurately Given Space Is Very

A familiar example of the vagueness of our mental ideas on the dimensions of familiar objects is the trick by which a number of people are induced to measure off upon the wall what they consider to be the height of a top hat. Success in this feat is rare, says the London Globe, and the estimation in yards or miles of distances in the open air is no less difficult, though often considerably more useful. Generally, of course, it is the level surface or one filled with monotonous features many times repeated which is most underestimated, while diversification seems to impress the mind with a greater notion of extent. Even so, the usual tendency is greatly to underestimate distances of more than a quarter of a mile, while the differences between the guesswork computations of various members of the same party are often extraordinary. In our ordinary life we have rarely need for ascertaining in actual yards the distance of objects under observation, and our faculty of estimation is not developed much further when we have once left the stage behind at which all the objects in a room, for instance, appear to the infant to be equally within its grasp. The diffi. ulty of judging distance is much increased over an undulatory or hilly surface, whether it is desired to find out the actual superficial measurement or the "air line," as the Germans term it, for rifle shooting in sport or war. In this last application the training of the faculty is extremely important, and in actual fact often extremely imperfect.

TATTOOING IN WHITE.

Maidens at the Senside Have Utilised the Sun's Rays for a New and Novel Fad,

Positively the newest fad of the seashore resorts this season is exceedingly popular with the summer girls-tattooing in white. How it originated no one has been able to tell, but it got here, as nearly all can testify. One of the charmers appeared on the beach at Atlantic City the other day with her favorite college design apparently tattooed in white on her sun-browned arm. There was the white flag of the University of Pennsylvania, with the letters "U. P.," and beneath this a little heart. The thing caused a deal of speculation and something of a sensation for a long time, but the fair schemer could not keep the secret and a lot of her chums copied the idea. which now threatens to spread all along the coast.

in reply to a questioner. "That is easy. Before I expose my arm to the flerce rays of the sun I cut out the design I wished from adhesive plaster and stuck it fast to my arm. When the browning process was well along I took off the plaster and there was the flag in white just as nice as you please."

One of the fair devotees of fads was not content to show her college preferences on her arm, but worked out a design on her neck. It is not likely that many will follow her idea, however, since they must don evening dress for the hops. Some of them have gone a step further and allowed the sun to print upon their fair arms the initials of their very best loung men, with a sentimental design .. ecompany-

> The supreme court has decided the in junction case at Ann Arbor, in favor of Hawks & Angus. This means that the injunction which was issued restraining them from building their line on Huron street, between Ashley and Main streets, is dissolved, and that they can now proceed to construct their line over this territory. It also means that their franchise, which has been disputed by William A: Boland, is perfectly legal. This will leave the company with their track complete from Detroit to Jackson with the exception of the crossing over the Ann Arbor Railway.

There was a football game Saturday afternoon at Jackson, between the Jackson high school and the Chelses team. In the first half Jackson scored twice but in the second the Chelses eleven pulled itself together and played a good game, keeping the Jackson boys from scoring. "THE HEAVENS ARE FALLING." Ruth was the happiest, rosiest, cunningest little girl in the world, and she had a dear papa and mamma and a nice yard to play in, and she just loved everybody and everything and had a regular story book time all her life, just because she was so happy. One day it was so hot she couldn't even enjoy her nice play ground which was arranged for her special amusement. Here were roses and violets and ladyshippers and Johnny-jump-ups and ferns, and a great swing that carried you most to the tops of the trees, and a hammock, and a fountain, and a sand pile with cart and bucket and shovel. Ruth tried the sand pile, but it was too hot, and the gravel walk was dumpybut it was too hot. Ruth looked almost unhappy, as near it as she could, then she looked up at a dainty pink rose swinging from its long stem, and while hardly thinking, said: "I wish I was a pretty soft rose, all pink and dewy, and do you know, this just happened to be the longest summer day, when the things that you wish come true, if you only say them out loud. Most before the words were out of her mouth Ruth found her little slippered feet growing together and turning green and getting covered with prickles just like rose stems, then her hands and arms made more branches, and nothing was left but her face and her petticoats, way up in a rose bush dancing with the other blossoms, the sweetest rose of all; and Ruth, she couldn't remen:ber when she had been so happy. All of a sudden there was a great buzz and bump, and a horrible great big bee came and sat right down on Ruth's cheek. She tried to scream, but she hadn't any voice, and she hadn't any hands; what should she do? Just then Ruth's mamma came down the garden walk, with her rose shears in her hand, and made straight for Ruth, and what do you think Ruth's mamma did? After looking over all the other roses she put her shears on Ruth and said: "I will cut this for James. It is the very prettiest of all," and then she cut Ruth off just where her ankles were, only it did not hurt one bit. "James" was Ruth's papa, and mamma always had a rose at his place for him. Ruth could think of nothing lovelier than to be her papa's rose, and when she to find his Ruth in his napkin she

TALE OF THREE BEARS.

But for the energetic and almost human action of one of the bears in the cage at City park, at Denver, Col., there would have been a death by drowning in the colony. There were seven animals in the bear p.t at the park, three being on one side and four on the other. During the heated weather a hose is sprayed constantly into the pit. On one side of the pit is a trough which is full of water and in which the bears roll and toss throughplaying arund the cage for some time, rolled into the water, where they continued cuffing and hauling each other about, evidently in play. After a scuffe one got the other's head in his paw, pushed his body, head and all, under the water, holding it there firmly. The victim struggled hard, but the top bear had him absolutely under control and he was unable to raise his head out of the water to breathe. The third bear watched the antics of the top bear for some time in an apparently disinwas some danger, Then he jumped Life. into the trough, and, pushing the top bear away, dragged the recumbent and almost lifeless form of the under ani-mal out of the trough onto the coment Salt Lake City.

UTILIZATION OF "DITTOES."

Tommy was much interested in hearing for the first time in his language lesson the other day about a pair of little dots that the teacher said meant "ditto." How his soul-a curious mixture of laziness and thriftthrilled at learning that if he were to write "a cat," or "five boys," or "$10" on one line, and wanted to repeat the same words or figures on the next line, all he had to do, instead of writing the words in full, was to put the ditto marks, and everybody would know it was "a cat," or "five boys," or "$10" (as the case might be) that was meant. Some time after this Tommy, while away on a visit, had occasion to write home. He simplified the hated task by turning his latest knowledge to account.

The letter looked like a literary

A FOX'S REVENGE.

A gentleman out shooting one day came to a river, where he saw six geese beyond shot. He determined to wait for them to approach the shore. While sitting there he saw a fox come down to the shore and stand some time and observe the geese. At length he turned and went into the woods, and came out with a very large bunch of moss in his mouth. He then entered the water very silently, sank himself, and then, keeping the moss above the water, himself concealed, he floated among the geese. Suddenly one of them was drawn under the water, and the fox soon appeared on the shore with the goose on his back. He ascended the bank, and found a hole made by the tearing up of a tree. This hole he cleared, placed in it the goose, and covered it with great care, strewing leaves over it. The fox then left; and while he was away the hunter unburied the goose, closed the hole, and resolved to wait the issue. In about half an hour the fox returned with another fox in company. They went directly to the place where the goose had been buried, and threw out the earth. The goose could not be found. They stood regarding each other for some time, when suddenly the second fox attacked the other most furiously, as if offended by the trick of his friend. During the battle the hunter shot them both.-Cleveland Leader.

THE LUCKY APPLE MAN. One fine morning King George II. of England took a ride abroad in the direction of Hyde Park. Falling in with a man who kept an apple stall, and whose clothes bespoke the old soldier, the King began to talk to him. The King soon learned that his name was Alien and that he had taken part in the battle of Dettingen, in which it is believed his Majesty distinguished himself. Of course, the King was delighted, and, on parting asked what service he could do him. THE CHARM OF EXALTED RELIGION THE SUBJECT.

From Job XXVIII-"The Crystal Cannot Equal It"-Preparation for Eternal Treasures Should Begin Early in the Material World Open the Door to

[Copyright, 301, by Louis Rlopach, N. Y.] Washington, Cc., 6 .- I'de charm of an exa ted religion by Dr. Talmage in this discourse illustrated and commended; text, J.b xxvill, 17, "The crytal cannot equal it."

Many of the precious stones of the Bible have c.me to p ompt recognition. But for the p e ent I take up the less valuable crys al. J b, in my text, compares sav.. g wild m with a specimen of topas. An infidel chemist or m.neralog.st would pronounce the latter worth more than the former, but Job makes an intelligent comparison, locks at reli ion and then locks at the crystal a d pronounces the former as of far superior value to the latter, exclaiming, in the words of my text, "The c yeta. cannot equal it."

N. w, it is not a part of my sermonic des gn to depreciate the crystal, whe her it be found in Cornish mine or Harz mou tain or Mammoth cave or tinkling among the pendants of the chandeliers of a palace. The crystal is the star of the mountain; it is the queen of the cave; it is the eardrop of the hills; it finds its heaven in the diamond. Among all the pages of natural history there is no page more interest ng to me than the page crystallographic. But I want to show you that Job was right when, taking religion in o e hand and the caystal in the others, he declared that the former is of far more value and beauty than the latter, recommending it to all people and to a l the ag s, declaring "The crystal cannot equal it."

God's Immutable Laws.

In the first pace, I remark that religion is supe ior to the crystal in exactness. That shapeless mass of crystal against which you accidentally dashed your foot is laid out with more exactness than any earthly city There are s x styles of crystallization and all of them divinely ordained. Every crystal has mathematical precision. God's geometry reaches through it, and it is a square, or it is a rectangle, or it is a rhombold, or in some way it has a mathematical figure. Now, religion beas that in the simple fact that spiritual accuracy is more beautiful than material accuracy. God's attributes are exact. God's laws exact. God's decrees exact, God's management of the world exact. Never counting music of the south wind, her step the ble with you, my brother, is the coal wrong, thou;h he counts the g.ass blades and the stars and the sands and the cycles. His providences never dealing with us perpendicularly when you agree with Solomon and say it is those provinces ought to be oblique, a lily? Then pluck it and wear it over nor laterally when they ought to be your heart. Do you agree with Paul vertical. Everything in our life arranged without any possibility of mis- hour be your coronation. Do you agree take. Each life a six-headed prism. with the Apocalypse and say it is a Born at the right time; dying at the right time. There are no "happen slake the thirst of your soul. Do you so's" in our theology. If I thought believe with Ezekiel and say it is a this was a slipshod universe, I would foliaged cedar? Then come under its be in despair. God is not an anarchist. Law, order, symmetry, precision, a perfect square, a perfect rectangle, a perfect rhombold, a perfect circle. The edge of God's robe of government never frays out. There are no loose screws in the world's machinery. It did not just happen that Napoleon was attacked with indigestion at Borodino so that he became incompetent for the day. It did not just happen that John Thomas, the missionary, on a heathen is'and, waiting for an outfit and orders for another missionary tour, received that outfit and those orde s in a box that floated ashore, while the ship and the crew that carried the box were never heard of. I believe in a particular providence. I bell ve God's geometry may be seen in all our life more beautifully than in crystallography. Job was right. "The crystal cannot equal it." More Transparant Than Crystal.

Again I :emark that religion is superior to the c.yatal in t ansparency. We know not when or by whom glass was first discovered. Beads of it have been found in the timb of Alexander Severus. Vases of it are brought up from the ruins of Herculaueum. There were female adornments made out o. the Duke of Wellington in 1820 as a it 3 000 years ago-those adornments found now attached to the munmies of Egypt. A great many commentators believe that my text means glass. What would we do w.thout the crys-Little Dora Davids, daughter of a tal? The crystal in the window to small farmer whose acres ran down to keep out the storm and let in the the banks of the Kankakee, often was day; the crystal over the watch, defending its de icate mach nery yet allowing us to see the hour; the crystal of the telescope, by which the astronomer brings d stant worlds so near he can inspect them. Oh the triumphs of the crystals in the celebrated windows of Rouen and Salisbury! But there is nothing so transparent in crystal as in our holy re igion. It is a transparent religion. You put it to your eye an i you see man-his sin, his soul, his destiny. You look at God and you see something of the grandeur of his character. It is a transparent religion Infidels tell us it is opaque. Do you know why they tell us it is opaque? It is because they are blind, 'The natural man receiv th not the things of God because they are spiritually discerned." There is no trouble wth the crystal. The trouble is with the eyes which try to look through it. We pray for vision. Lord, that our eyes might be opened! When the eye salve cures our b indness, then we find that religion is transparent.

> Preparation for Eternal Treasures. The providence that was dark never got drunk or stole anything. But ing Transcript, and God is not trying to put you down Now you unders and why you lost that child and why you lost your property. It was to p spare you for eternal treasures. And why sickness came, it being the precursor of immortal juvenescence. And now you understand why they lied about you and tried to drive you hither and thither. It was to put you in the glorious company of such a man as Ig a lus, who, when he want out to be destroyed by the liors, said, "I am the wheat, and the teeth of the wild beasts must first grind me before I can become pure bread for Je us Chr s." Or the company of such men as "that ancient Christian martyr" who, when standing in the midst of the amphitheater waiting for the lio's 'o come out of their cave and destroy h m and the people in the gallais je ring and shouting. "The lions!" replied, 'L t them come on!" and then, stooping d'wn toward the cave, where the wild b a ts were roaring to get ou , again cried, "Let them come on!" Ah, yes, it is perseeution to put you 'n glorious company, and while there are many things you will have to postpore to the future world for explanation I tell you that it is the whole ten lency of your religion to unravel and explain and interency. "The crystal cannot equal it."

Harmony and Symmetry.

Beautiful in its symmetry. When it presents God's character, it does not present him as having love like a great protuberance on one side of his nature, but makes that love in harmony with ht. justice-a love that will accept all those who come to him, and a justice that will by no means clear the guilty. Beautiful religion in the sentiment it implants! Beautiful religion in the hope it kindles! Beautiful religion in the fact that it proposes to garland and enthrone and emparadise an immortal spirit. Solomon says it is a lily. Paul says it is a crown. The Apocalypse says it is a fountain kissed by the sun. Ezekiel says it is a foliaged cedar. Christ says it is a bridegroom come to fetch home a bride. While Job in the text takes up a whole vase of precious stones—the topaz and the sapphire and the chrysoprasus-he holds out of this beautiful vase just one crystal and holds it up until it gleams in the warm light of the eastern sky, and he exclaims, "The crystal cannot equal it."

Oh, it is not a stale religion; it is not a stupid religion; it is not a toothless hag, as some seem to have represented it; it is not a Meg Merrilies with shriveled arm come to scare the world; it is the fairest daughter of God, heiress of all his wealth; her cheek the morning sky, her voice the dance of the sea. Come and woo her. wants to stay coal. and whosoever will, let him come. Do and say it is a crown? Then let this springing fountain? Then come and shadow. Do you believe with Christ and say it is a bridegroom come to fetch home a bride? Then strike. hands with your Lord and King while I pronounce you everlastingly one. Or if you think with Job that it is a jewel, then put it on your hand like a ring, on your neck like bead, on your forehead like a star, while looking into the mir r of God's word you acknowledge, "The crystal cannot equal it."

Superior to Crystal.

Again, religion is supuerior to the crystal in its transformations. The diamond is only a crystallization. Carbonate of lime rises till it becomes calcite or aragonite. Red oxide of copper crystallizes into cubes and octahedrons. Those crystals which adorn our persons and our homes and our museums have only been resurrected from forms that were far from lustrous. Scientists for ages have been examining these wonder ul transformations. But I tell you in the gospel of the Son of God there is a more by reason of sin black as coal and mine in the day when I make up my

"What!" say you. "Will God wear jewelry?" If he wanted it, he could make the stars of the heaven his belt and have the evening cloud for the sandals of his feet, but he does not want that adornment. He will not have that jewelry. When God wants jewelry, he comes down and digs it out of the depths and darkness of sin. These souls are all crystallizations of mercy. He puts them on, and he wears them in the presence of the whole universe. He wears them on the hand that was nailed, over the heart that was pierced, on the temples that were stung. "They shall be mine," saith the Lord, "in the day when I make up my jewels." Wonderful transformation! Where sin abounded grace shall much more abound. The carbon becomes the solitaire. "The crystal cannot equal it." Now, I have no liking for those people who are always enlarging in Christian meetings about their early dissipation. Do not go into the particulars, my brothers. Simply say you were sick, but make no display of your ulcers. The chief stock in trade of some ministers and Christian workdissipations. The number of pockets you picked and the number of chickcourages other Christian people who |+ were farthest down have been in highest up. Out of infernal as into eternal liberty. Out of dark into light. From coal to the solitaire "The crystal cannot equal it."

Power of the Gaspel

But, my friends, the chief transforming power of the gospel will not be seen in this world, and not until heaven breaks upon the soul. When that light falls upon the soul, then you will see the crystals. What a magnificent setting for these jewels of eternity! I sometimes I sar pe representing heaven in a way that is far from attractive to me. It seems almost a vulgar heaven as they represent it, with great blotches of color and bands of music making a deafening racket. John represents heaven as exquisitely beautiful. Three crystals! In one place he says, "Her light was like a precious stone, clear as crystal." In another place he says, "I saw a pure river from under the throne, clear as crystal." In another place he says, "Before the throne there was a sea or glass clear as crystal." Three crystals! John says crystal atmosphere. That means health. Balm of the eternal June. What weather after the world's east wind! No rack of stormelouds. One breath of that air will pret and illuminated and iradiate. Job cure the worst tubercle. Crystal light was right. It is a gorious trasparon all the leaves, crystal light shimmering on the topaz of the temples. Crystal light tossing in the plumes of the equestrians of heaven on white horses. But "the crystal cannot equal it." John says crystal river. That means joy. Deep and ever rolling. Not one drop of the Potomac or the Hudson or the Rhine to soil it. No one tear of human sorrow to imbitter it. Crystal, the rain out of which it was made. Crystal, the bed cver which it shall roll and ripple. Crystal, its infinite surface. But "the crystal cannot equal it." John says crystal sea. That means multitudinous.y vast. Vast in rapture. Rapture vast as the sea. deep as the sea, strong as the sea ever changing as the sea. Billows of light. Billows of beauty, blue with skies that were never clouded and green with depths that were never fathomed. Arctics and Antarctics and Mediterraneans and Atlantics and Pacifics in crystalline magnificence. Three crystals! Crystal light falling on a crystal river. Crystal river rolling into a crystal sea. But "the crystal cannot equal it."

Open the Door to Christ.

"Oh," says some one, "it is just the doctrine I want. God is to do everything, and I am to do nothing." My brother, it is not the doctrine you want. The coal makes no resistance. It hears the resurrection voice in the mountain and it comes to crystallization: but your heart resists. The trou-

ROUSSEAU WAS MODEST.

He Refused to Expose an Impostor Posing in His Shoes.

Jean Jacques Rousseau was not troubled greatly by conscientious scruples, yet he posse sed the rare virtue of a broad, human sympathy in an eminent degree. Perhaps it was the consciousness of his own weaknesses that made him so sympathetic toward others. An anecdote is related of him which places this virtue of his in a strong l ght. On one occasion he had composed an opera, which was performed before the king, Louis XV., and met with the royal approval. The king sent for him and if he had put in an appearance he would probably have obtained a pension. He was, wonderful transformation. Over souls however, of a re ir'ng disposition and could not bring himself to face the hard as iron God, by his comforting court. To his friends he gave as a grace, stoops and says, "They shall be reason his republican opinions, but his real reason was his shyness. Accordingly he fled from the court and sought the privacy of a public inn. While he was there a man came in. who began telling the company that he was the celebrated Rousseau, and proceed d to give an account of his opera, which, he said, had been performed before the king with great success. Most men in Rousseau's position would have felt nothing but contempt for the impostor, but this extraordinary man felt only pity and shame. "I trembled and blushed so," he tells us in his "Confessions," for fear the man should be found out, that it might have been thought that I was the impostor." He was afraid that somebody might come in who knew him and expose the pretender. At last he could bear it no longer and slipped out unobserved. Very few people would treat an impostor like that.-Detroit Free Press.

The wife of the chief herder is one of the most notable women of the colony. She is very intelligent and her particular duty is to teach the Eskimo women the art of making reindeer clothing, which is the warmest and best adapted for arctic climates. She also instructs them how to prepare the various foodstuffs which the reindeer furnishes, such as butter, cheese, and the cooking and drying of the meat. For this work she receives the same pay as the herd.

She travels from station to station where the classes of women are assembled from the surrounding country of 100 miles or more. She then gives daily object lessons in her domestic work and gradually the Eskimo women in taught the ways of civilization.-Uta

What He Might Do. The custom of preserving the business name of a firm years after the founders have passed away or disappeared finds its reproof in a story related by the New York Evening Post. A young man who was sent out to canvass leading lawyers in a certain interest, entered the office of a firm of great prominence and said: "I should like to see Mr. M .- " mentioning the first name of the firm. "Very sorry. sin but Mr. M. has been dead three years," was the answer. "Well, in that case I should like to see Mr. N.' -the second name of the firm. "Mr. N. retired from the firm over a year ago," said the clerk with a smile, "Indeed; then may I see Mr. O."-the last name of the three. "Mr. O.," replied the clerk, "sailed last week for Europe, and won't be back for a month yet; is there anything I can do for you?" "There is," answered the canvasser, with the utmost suavity; "some day when you have time you might bring the firm name up to date."

Tumble Bugs as Barometers.

Country folk are firmly of the opinion that the tumble bug (geotrypes stercorarius) is an excellent barometer and that it takes flight only when a season of fair weather is coming. M. Fabre, a French naturalist, has investigated the question thoroughly and has come to the conclusion that this insect is, in fact, more sensitive than the best barometers, and that it can veritably be used to predict fine weather. It is to changes of electric tention that the insect is sensitive.
