INCREASE IN COUNTY TAX

Washtenaw County will Have an Increase of $10,500 This Year.

A large increase in county taxes confronts the taxpayers of Washtenaw county this year. If some of the members of the board of supervisors do not have a nightmare when they meet their constituents about tax time, it will be a wonder. There is no excuse to offer for a body of men who take three weeks to transact business that ought to be completed in a week.

The following is the comparison between 1900 and 1901:

County and Vicinity

George Wahr, the Ann Arbor book dealer, has been awarded a $1,500 book contract by the state board of education.

Jackson is another city to appreciate the evil of spitting in public. The board of health has taken action to prevent it.

The Michigan Central will spend at Jackson $400,000, building and repairing machine shops at the Junction. It means increasing present facilities so as to employ 800 men.

Northville cellars and chicken houses have been receiving the attention of thieves lately, canned fruit and chickens appearing to be in good demand in that direction. The joke is rather on the ladies of the Methodist church, as their announcement of a chicken pie supper was simultaneous with the robbery of a prominent citizen's hen roost.

The steam fire engine, purchased of the village of Romeo, arrived Saturday and has been placed in the engine house and given its first grooming. The machine has the appearance of being all right. It was purchased for $400 and will be tested as soon as a few new necessities arrive. The village of Romeo, we understand, has put in waterworks—Manchester Enterprise.

It has been reported that about two weeks ago Prosecuting Attorney Badgley and Assistant, Noon went to Washtenaw county to hunt and engaged two boys as guides. They found the game, but were looked upon as trespassers by the owners of the property, and it is said that they will have to appear before a justice of the peace in Washtenaw county. Jackson Press.

The visit of Minister Wu to the U. of M. last week has been the means of correcting a bad "break" in the museum of that institution. As he was being shown through the place the inscription in Chinese characters, over the entrance to the Chinese room caught Mr. Wu's eye, and he stopped asking questions long enough to impart to Curator Sargent the information that it was upside down.

G. A. Peters of Solo writes to the Dexter Leader as follows: "Forty-four years ago there were 14 cases of small pox in Solo village. One patient died, an old lady, Mrs. Bain. The total expense to taxpayers for the whole sickness of the 14 cases, and the death and burial of Mrs. Bain was less than $300. Last spring there was a slight case of small pox in Dexter. One doctor's bill was $615; nurse $100. Total $715. Comment is unnecessary."

Arthur Brooks, son of a prominent physician of Ann Arbor, was placed in jail last week upon request of his father who told the officers that the young man had forged a check. Young Brooks was arrested in Detroit about a week ago while on his way to the Pan-American and returned to Ann Arbor upon request of Dr. Brooks. The father is still undecided what to do in the present case.

THE MICHIGAN NEWS FIELD.

A Romantic Marriage Surprises Corunna.

SEN. NICHOLS WELCOME HOME.

Stole a Farmer's Beans—Genesee's New Jail—Wiseman Would Not Plead—Facts, Fancies and Happenings All Over the State.

A Corunna Romance.
The people of Corunna were treated to a surprise Saturday when the news got out that Miss Lela Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newman A. Parker, and Walter Bush, son of Probate Judge Bush, had been secretly married for several weeks and were residing in Detroit. The disclosure was news to the parents of both parties. Mr. Bush, when seen in Detroit, admitted that his father had been kept in ignorance of the marriage. He said that the bride had remained at the home of her parents up till about a week ago, when they came to Detroit, accompanied by her father. He added that he has a good position and will take up a permanent residence in the City of the Straits. Bush is only 19 years old. His bride is a handsome brunette and an accomplished musician. She is about 27 years old, and her parents are well connected. He works in a printing office.

Was He Murdered?
There seems to be considerable mystery surrounding the death of Louis N. Von Guenten, the old German from Chatham, who was found lying on the sidewalk in Detroit early last Sunday morning with his neck broken. It was at first supposed that the old man fell against a telegraph pole at the corner and broke his neck, but eye-witnesses who saw him fall say he did not strike the telegraph pole at all, but fell in a heap before he reached the pole. The fact that Frank Baumgartner, the saloonkeeper, who has been Von Guenten's fast friend for more than a quarter of a century, and who was the last one of his acquaintances to see him alive, says that Von Guenten had considerable more money on his person than was found by Coroner Hoffmann, leads to the suspicion that the aged German might have been held up and robbed. To strengthen this theory, his railroad ticket from Detroit to Chatham is missing. He is known to have had this in his pocket an hour before he was found unconscious.

A Train Mystery.
The body of a fully developed male child, weighing about 10 pounds and apparently not more than 24 hours old, was found on a Grand Trunk car by the United States customs officer Sunday, while the train was on the car ferry crossing from Windsor. The infant was dead, but had evidently been alive at birth as it seemed to have been bathed. It was near the heating pipes at the side of the car and had escaped observation of the four or five passengers in the coach. The body was wrapped in white cloths and newspapers. The inner covering was a piece of cotton cloth, outside of which was wrapped a baby's little skirt and copies of the Montreal Daily Star and Toledo Blade of Wednesday, October 30.

Welcomed Home.
Senator George E. Nichols, of Iowa, came home Saturday night from Grand Rapids, and on stepping from the train was surrounded by a large delegation of his home friends, who extended to him a warm token of their esteem, showing that the people of Iowa have faith in him in spite of the recent developments that have made him so conspicuous in the state. The assembly was made up of leading citizens generally, irrespective of party, and the senator was visibly affected and apparently appreciated the expression of confidence.

The Fullers Discharged.
Despite the verdict of the Saginaw coroner's jury in the case of Frank E. Fuller, whose death the jurors said was due to arsenical poisoning, "administered by some person or persons unknown," there will not be any prosecution for murder, unless further evidence turns up. Mrs. Nora E. Fuller, widow of the dead man and his brother, Asa, who were held pending the coroner's investigation, have been discharged.

Wiseman Stood Mute.
Henry Wiseman, the accused murderer of Mrs. Huss, faced his charge in Justice Snowden's court Saturday morning and refused to plead. He had a plea of not guilty entered against him and was held for examination, with no bail. The charge was murder and not manslaughter, as the confessed criminal had hoped. A crowd too large for the little court room attempted to get sight of the famous criminal, but many were unable to do so on account of the crush.

Over the Falls and Out.
F. M. Russell, the manager of Mrs. Anna Edson Taylor, has been released from the bonds of $3,000 in which he was held by the authorities at Niagara Falls, pending the outcome of the injuries sustained by Mrs. Taylor in her barrel trip over the falls. She has so far recovered that no danger of any serious results remains, and within a few days she will be enjoying the financial returns she sought, by being exhibited at various places.

Mrs. Henrietta Willard asks the village of Alma for $10,000 damages. She lost a foot owing to an alleged defective sidewalk.

The supervisors of Gratiot county have decided to submit the question of local option to the voters at the spring election.

Wm. McNeal, of Benton Harbor, aged 52 years, was found dead in bed after a prolonged spree. He had neither money nor friends.

The report of the state game warden shows a steady increase in the number of game and fur-bearing animals throughout the state.

Wiseman in Pontiac Jail.
Henry Wiseman, the convict who a week ago confessed to having murdered Mrs. Christopher Huss at Royal Oak, was released from the state prison on Friday morning.

After Wiseman had received for the money Warden Chamberlain turned to Sheriff Brewster and said:

"All ready."

The sheriff stepped up to Wiseman and said something in a low tone. The latter replied "All right," and Brewster clapped the handcuffs on his wrists. Wiseman trembled perceptibly during this operation. He was taken at once to Pontiac and lodged in jail.

The Spies Murder.
Abraham Spies, clerk of Croton township, who shot and killed his wife in Newaygo and then shot himself, is 40 years of age. His wife was a few years his junior. The couple had not lived happily together, and had separated a number of times. Mrs. Spies left her husband several months ago for the last time. The husband came to Newaygo to try and induce his wife to return to him. When she refused to do so, he drew a revolver and shot her dead. Then he turned the weapon on himself, with probably fatal result.

Genesee Jail and Taxes.
At the session of the Genesee county board of supervisors the committee appointed to report on the question of a new jail recommended that the old jail be replaced by a modern structure. As they had been unable to get figures on the cost they asked until the January term to report in full. The committee on estimates reported that $131,704.85 would be necessary to pay the state tax of $17,704.85 and run the county for the year.

Stole a Wagon Load.
Eugene Ottaway, of Clayton, found that thieves on Thursday had broken into his barn and driven away with 34 bushels of beans, which were sold at Gaines. The suspected parties were arrested Friday and brought to jail. Saturday morning they waived examination and will plead guilty in the Circuit Court. They are Paul Byfne, of Clayton, and Leo Spayth, John Pritch and Calvin Raffner, of Maple Grove.

He can "lick 'em."
The right of a school teacher to administer corporal punishment to a pupil has been demonstrated for all time at Trenton. Recently Principal E. C. Mead had occasion to whip a pupil and was informed by the school board that he had exceeded his rights. He appealed to County School Commissioner Yost and was fully sustained in the action he had taken.

MINOR MICHIGAN MATTERS.

Kent city will be lighted by electricity.

A state savings bank has been organized at Peck.

Another sugar factory is being promoted for Saginaw.

A plan is on foot to erect a new county court house at Pontiac.

Munising "fire water" has reduced the tribe of "Indiantown" to a small remnant.

The new armory for the Cheboygan military company is rapidly nearing completion.

The run on the private bank of Lee Bros. & Co., at Buchanan, has entirely subsided.

The green goods men have been flooding Lexington with circulars for the past month.

A co-operative canning company has been organized in Pontiac with a capital stock of $25,000.

The government spent just twenty-seven cents on the improvement of the Kalamazoo river last year.

The Michigan fish commission has selected sites for the new hatcheries near Grayling and Drayton Plains.

Arthur, the 7-year-old son of Mrs. Mary E. Root, of Hartford, was run over and his head crushed by a wagon loaded with stone on which he was riding.

William Diamond and George Wallace, convicted of criminal assault at Allegan, were sentenced by Judge Padgham to 10 years' hard labor at Jackson.

George Brandow, who shot and killed John Furti near Cross Village Saturday night, was exonerated. It was shown that Brandow acted in self-defense.

A couple of Bronson farmers went to "lawing it" over a strip of land worth $30, and after the expense had climbed up to $400 one of them got a verdict for six cents.

The balance in the state treasury on Wednesday fell below the $3,000,000 mark on account of the payment of the state institution appropriations which are now due.

Leman Earn, of Lapeer, is dead. Two or three days ago he received a trivial scratch upon the hand by a rusty nail, which caused his death from blood poisoning.

Frank Zwitter, a miner in the Pewabic mine, was instantly killed at work in the drift. A 250-pound rock fell from above, crushing his head in. He was 19 years old and single.

The rush of sugar beets to the Bay City factories this year is unprecedented and farmers are complaining bitterly of the lack of cars to move their crops to the factories.

Sanilac Center schools have been closed, owing to the prevalence of a contagious disease. There are 30 cases in town. The schools were not closed so soon because local doctors disagreed as to the nature of the disease.

Mrs. E. King, who lives a few miles south of Owosso, is so terrified that she will not stir outside her house, by a letter which threatens her with electrocution as one of 100 women who will have to pay a penalty of $20,000's execution, at a place already prepared by the anarchists.

The husband of Minnie Selack was one of the victims of the Wondersland disaster in Detroit, and she, as administrator of his estate, has commenced a suit against the architect and contractors for $20,000 damages. This is the twenty-sixth suit pending against the defendants, none having been tried.

Eight cases of diphtheria have broken out in Marinette within the last few days, and two have proved fatal.

There was a peculiar coincidence in connection with a funeral at Hastings last week. The deceased and all of the six pallbearers were of the same age, having been born in 1828.

John Earl, of Bunker Hill, Ingham Co., tried to drive home from town while intoxicated, with the result that both legs had to be amputated.

Sixty employees of the Battle Creek board of public works are on strike, demanding twenty cents an hour for an eight-hour day, and time and a half for all work over eight hours.

At the Paw Paw carnival, Prof. Calloway, a balloonist, tried to make an ascension. His balloon exploded when up 100 feet. Calloway fell and was hurt considerably, although not seriously.

The liquor taxes of Copenish pay the expenses of the town, and citizens do not pay a cent. There are no pavements, no water works, no electric lights, no taxes, no trouble; all is lovely.

A Dowagiac saloonkeeper refused to sell a drink to a certain citizen who had the gold cure a year ago. He said he was in the business to sell whisky, but not to men who had made an effort to quit.

The special charter under which the Michigan Central railroad main line in this state has operated since its organization will stand repealed, under a law passed by the last legislature, from Dec. 31 next.

The Lloyd block in Saginaw collapsed Friday morning, but no one was injured, though there were five people in the building and five working near it. Excavations for a new building were in process in the adjoining lot.

A fire broke out in the sheds of the Standard Hoop Co., of West Bay City, burning all night before it was extinguished. Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 hoops were destroyed. Loss over $22,000, nearly covered by insurance.

The Emmanuel Missionary College, under the direction of the Advent church, has opened the old county building at Berrien Springs. The college has an attendance of 300 students, and all available rooms in town are rented.

W. C. Sanford, of Battle Creek, has just completed a bicycle trip around the world. He started in May, 1899, going westward. He spent a year in Manila, carrying dispatches and the like. The only place he took the cars was across the Alps.

Frank Fay, a noted gambler, who formerly made Lapeer his headquarters, was shot down in a Missouri town and will be brought home for burial. Deceased married Miss Phoebe Swain, of Lum, at which place the remains will be buried.

Peter Sampson was found unconscious Wednesday morning in the public highway near Naomil, 12 miles from Benton Harbor. He had a bad wound in the head. Physicians give some hope of his recovery. Sampson is unable to account for his condition.

The present car famine on Michigan railroads is unprecedented. The single station of Leslie, on the Lansing branch of the Michigan Central, is thirty-five cars behind orders, and between Jackson and Saginaw the line is said to be short 700 cars.

A line fence dispute between two well known Bronson farmers has just ended in the Circuit Court. The case occupied several days, at a cost to the county of over $400, and the plaintiff was awarded six cents damages. The land in dispute does not exceed $30 in value.

Northville cellars and chicken houses have been receiving the attention of thieves lately. The joke is rather on the ladies of the Methodist church, as their announcement of a chicken-pie supper was simultaneous with one of the robberies of a prominent citizen's hen roost.

Mrs. Washington Bingham, of Venice, Shiawassee Co., is missing, and her 72-year-old husband has given up the chase after a three days' hunt. Bingham alleges that his wife drove to Owosso Saturday, left the rig in a livery barn and took a train. Before leaving Owosso Mrs. Bingham turned her business over to an attorney and took steps to file a bill for divorce from the old man. Mrs. Bingham is a beautiful woman of 28. She married Bingham two years ago. She is his second wife. Mrs. Bingham was one of a crowd of homeless Boston girls who were brought to Michigan twenty years ago.

GENERAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

The Remarkable Career of Edward S. Stokes.

BUFFALO'S PAN AM. DEFICIT.

Four Hundred Employees Discharged—Sentenced For Absolving McKinley—Eight Million People Saw the Buffalo Show—All the Current Events Noted.

Edward Stokes is Dead.
On Saturday Edward S. Stokes died at the home of his sister in New York. His career was most remarkable. From a poor boy he became the president of an oil refining company. He owned at one time the finest barroom in the world. In 1874 he shot Jim Fisk, Jay Gould's former partner, in a mixup at the Grand Central hotel, over Josie Mansfield, who was last heard of as the traveling companion of a Russian archduke. For his crime he lay two years in prison awaiting trial and retrial. He was sentenced to be hanged, but after a third trial went to Sing Sing prison for four years. Coming out at the expiration of his term, he went west, retrieving his broken fortune in California in two years of mining operations. He with Mackey, the millionaire, organized the United Lines Telegraph Co., connected with the Bennett-Mackey lines, and was in many large financial transactions.

A Mania for Murder.
The nurse, Miss Toppan, who is charged with the murder of Mrs. A. P. Davis, of Bourne, Mass., and is suspected of murdering three other members of the Davis family, that evidence has been found, it is claimed, which will prove that Miss Toppan owed the Davis family for board and lodging at their Canton home, and for money she is alleged to have borrowed from them.

It is said that Miss Toppan could not repay this money, and the state officers think she may have decided upon the deaths of the family as a means of wiping out the debt.

Another claim made by at least two of the men who have had to do with Miss Toppan's arrest is that she is mentally deranged, and that her mania is to cause death by poison.

The Pan-Am. Closed.
The Pan-American exposition ended at 12 o'clock Saturday night. The financial loss will be in the neighborhood of $3,000,000, and the loss will fall upon holders of the common stock, the holders of second mortgage bonds and the contractors who erected the buildings. Two hundred and ten thousand shares of common stock were sold at $10 a share. The stock was subscribed for by the citizens of Buffalo and the Niagara frontier in small lots of from one share to one hundred, so that the loss will not be severely felt by anyone. The total number of admissions for the six months was close to 8,000,000.

Four Hundred Discharged.
Four hundred employees of the Illinois Central railroad working in the shops at Burnside, near Chicago, have been laid off. The cause of the discharge of so many men is not stated by the company officials. A large percentage of the discharged are union men, and some of them attribute their discharge to the agitation last April when the machinists of the entire system made a demand for a nine-hour work day, threatening a strike. The demand was withdrawn when the company subsequently announced a general increase of 10 per cent in wages of all its employees.

General Alger Not to Apologize.
Gen. Alger will send no apology or explanation to Richard Harding Davis for the paragraph in his war book at which the newspaper correspondent has seen fit to take offense. "There is no occasion for my doing either," said he. "No reference was made to Mr. Davis; neither was any intended. The same is true of Caspar Whitney. I had neither of them in mind. On the contrary, I had high regard for the ability and courage of both these gentlemen. I cannot understand how Mr. Davis could apply my reference to him. His account of the battle was not such as I criticized."

Wants to Be a State.
The visit to the United States of the delegation of the Porto Rican business men who spent some time in Detroit and Chicago has a far greater significance than has appeared heretofore. Instead of coming to inspect the commercial methods of this country, the visitors have come to pave the way for the admission of their island first as an organized territory, then as a state. The authority for this statement is Federico Degetau, the present commissioner from that island to the United States.

Tortured by Robbers.
Baker Race, his wife and two sons, living near Massillon, O., were tortured Sunday morning by burglars until they gave up over $1,000 in certificates of deposit and $40 in money. The burglars set fire to the hair of their victims and threatened to roast them alive. One of Race's sons may not recover. The burglars escaped in vehicles stolen from Mr. Race.

Bubonic Plague Caused Two Deaths in Liverpool, Eng., this month.

The anarchistic clubs of London celebrated the electrocution of Czolgosz by dances in honor of his "noble death."

H. C. Hall, veteran diplomat, is dead in Milbury, Mass. He drafted the first treaty for the building of the Nicaragua canal.

Thomas W. Cridler, third assistant secretary of state, has resigned, to become European agent of the St. Louis exposition.

Lucien Brown shot and killed Ollie Allison and then committed suicide at Henderson, Ky. They were brothers-in-law and the trouble arose over a lawsuit.

Longest in the World.
Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass., are the largest manufacturers of cocoa and chocolate in the world. They received a gold medal from the Paris exposition of last year. This year they have received three gold medals from the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. Their goods are the standard for purity and excellence.

Shot by His Jealous Rival.
Ross Sheridan, a well known and highly connected young man of Independence, Mo., in a fit of jealousy shot and mortally wounded "Wit" Berkeley of Geuda Springs, Kan., his rival in the affections of Mrs. Clara Williams, at the Independence Electric depot. Mrs. Williams and Berkeley were waiting for a car, when Sheridan stepped up, and, without warning, opened fire on Berkeley. Mrs. Williams is a divorced woman. Sheridan is the son of Mrs. H. L. Sheridan, who is a newspaper writer.

New York dispatch: Counsel for Robert and B. Molineux has served notice of a motion to quash the indictment against Molineux. The motion will come up before Judge McMahon in part No. 1 of the court of general sessions next Wednesday. The papers urge the dismissal of the Molineux indictment on the ground of illegal and insufficient evidence. In the event of a denial of the motion to quash the indictment there is an alternative motion for an inspection of the minutes of the grand jury that indicted the defendant.

"Straws Show Which Way the Wind Blows" and the constantly increasing demand for and steady growth in popularity of St. Jacob's Oil among all classes of people in every part of the civilized world, show conclusively what remedy the people use for their Rheumatism and bodily aches and pains. Facts speak louder than words, and the fact remains undisputed that the sale of St. Jacob's Oil is greater than all other remedies for outward application combined. It acts like magic, cures where everything else fails, conquers pain.

Forepaugh Circus Train Wrecked.
The Forepaugh & Bells' circus train, which left New Orleans Monday night, was wrecked one mile this side of Baton Rouge at noon Tuesday. Four cars loaded with animal cages were badly wrecked, but none of the cages were torn open and none of the animals allowed to escape. A car load of elephants was turned loose, but after they had wandered about the country a short time, were driven into Baton Rouge and corralled. Three men were badly hurt.

Chase of Suspected Robber.
An attempted arrest, a pistol fight on the streets between a suspect and several officers, a desperate flight by the fugitive, first in an ice wagon, then in a buggy and next on a horse, all of which he pressed into service by the display of revolvers, the wounding of the suspect and his escape into the woods, caused commotion Sunday in Nashville, Tenn. It is reported that the fugitive is George Parker, alias "Dutch" Cassidy, alias George Cassidy, alias Ingerfield, aged 36 years, a notorious western criminal.

THE CHAMPION WING SHOT.

Capt. Bogardus Has a Dangerous Experience but Comes Out Unhurt.
Ferris Wheel Park, Chicago, Nov. 4th.—Capt. A. H. Bogardus, the champion wing shot of the world, has spent the summer here. His shooting school has been one of the features of the Park during the season. He has given many exhibitions and his skill with the rifle is superb.

The Captain tells of a very close call he once had when living at Elkhardt, Ill. He had been a sufferer from kidney disease for several years and it rapidly developed into Bright's Disease. All his friends told him that this was incurable and that he would never get better.

To say that he was alarmed is to put it very mildly. This plucky man had faced many dangers and it made him sick at heart to think that at last he was to be conquered by such a cruel foe.

At last he heard of a medicine that had cured many such cases—Dodd's Kidney Pills. He used them and was completely restored to good health.

He says: "I attribute my present good health to Dodd's Kidney Pills and to nothing else."

We are always complaining that our days are few, and acting as though there would be no end of them—Succa.

Hopes for $37,000,000.
David Jennings, a shoemaker of Montreal, Que., says he has proved his claim to an immense estate in England valued at $37,000,000. Jennings sailed for England in September with the object of establishing his identity as the heir of Humphrey Jennings. A letter just received from Mr. Jennings by his family says that he has been completely successful, that the English courts have recognized him as the legitimate and rightful heir, and that the obtaining of the property is a certainty.

ALL THE TESTIMONY HEARD

Only the Arguments Remain to Be Heard by Schley Court.

TWO WITNESSES ARE BARRED

Evidence of Newspaper Men Contradicting Capt. Sigbee Is Declared Not Material by the Court—Will End some Day This Week.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Two new witnesses were before the Schley court of inquiry in the forenoon, and both of them were called in the interest of Admiral Schley. They were Frank B. Richards and George Lynch, both of whom went through the Cuban campaign as newspaper correspondents. Mr. Richards was on the press boat Premier, and testified concerning the interview with Captain Sigbee, while the latter was in command of the St. Paul off Santiago in May, 1898. Mr. Lynch was on the Somers N. Smith, and was called to relate his recollection of Capt. Sigbee's communication to that boat, concerning which Photographer Hare and Correspondent Scovel already have testified.

The first witness to take the stand today was Capt. Sigbee, formerly of the St. Paul, who was recalled for the purpose of reviewing his former testimony. Admiral Schley also was called for this purpose, and his statement occupied a good portion of the time of the court. His testimony in chief occupied five days, and as many of his statements were made off-hand there were innumerable verbal changes to be made, as well as some additions. During the day Capt. Sigbee submitted for the consideration of the court a large mass of documentary evidence, including Capt. Goodrich's report concerning cable-cutting, made on April 29, 1898; the reports made by Capt. Philip of the Texas, Capt. Higginson of the Massachusetts, Capt. McCalla of the Marblehead, and Capt. Cotton of the Harvard; Commodore Schley's report of May 30; Capt. Wise's report of the operations of the Yale off Santiago; the log of the Spanish ship Cristobal Colon; Admiral Sampson's orders to Capt. Folger of the Scorpion, all of the reports of the commanding officers of the battle of July 3. Commodore Schley's letter to the senate, one of Capt. Sigbee's letters, and also the letter of the secretary of the navy to the senate as printed in executive document C.

Admiral Schley took the stand again and corrected his testimony before the arguments in the inquiry were begun. Thus he was the last to testify in the famous case in which the events surrounding the sea fight of Santiago are involved.

There has been no change of the program arranged on Friday for the presentation of argument by counsel.

Astor May Be a Mayor.

London, Nov. 5.—William Waldorf Astor is to be invited to accept the mayoralty of Maidenhead for the coronation year. The retiring mayor is W. H. Grenfell, M. P., whose place at Taplow court adjoins Mr. Astor's and has been the scene of more fashionable honeymoons than any house in England. Mr. Astor is not now on the Burgess roll of the town of Maidenhead, but it is proposed to get over this difficulty by making him a freeman of the borough. He would receive no salary as mayor and the duties are purely ornamental and nominal.

Silk Company in Trouble.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5.—Judge Cote of the United States circuit court for this district has appointed Theophilus King of Quincy and Edmonds Putney of New York receivers for the Eureka Silk company, which has offices in this city and a factory at Canton. The appointment was made upon the petition of William R. Lyle & Co. of New York, creditors to the amount of $120,000. The liabilities of the company amount to $350,000, of which $385,000 is owing on notes and $5,000 on incidental bills and accounts not yet rendered. The value of the assets is not known.

It Is Shyrate.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 5.—The schooner Thomas Winsmore, from Brunswick, Ga., arrived here yesterday and reported a murder among her crew on the high sea. Captain Conwell said that on Nov. 1, off the Virginia coast, Daniel Brown and David Loremor got into a quarrel over some trifling matter and before they could be separated Brown had stabbed Loremor three times. On the arrival of the schooner Brown was turned over to the police.

Want a Jury Trial.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Editors and managers of Hearst's Chicago American want a change of venue in the contempt case for which Judge Haney has them in custody. The answer of the newspaper corporation, and the individuals, as filed, sets out in effect that "we insist on having a trial by jury, as provided in the constitution."

Captain Handy Escapes.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 5.—Captain F. H. Handy, recently convicted of swindling Dr. J. Eugene Jordan of this city out of $10,000 in the sale of the old steamer Professor Morse in 1893, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, has escaped from Sheriff Gudness and is at large, with a reward of $350 up for his recapture.

Blake's Songs Bring $700.

London, Nov. 5.—At an auction sale of a library here an original copy of "Blake's Songs of Innocence" and "Songs of Experience" was sold for $700.

Lord Sackville Humiliated.

Lord Sackville, better known to Americans as Sir Lionel Sackville-West, the former British minister at Washington, has been forced to make a confession of an episode in his early life, to refute the claims of a young man, styling himself Henry Sackville-West, to being heir to the title and family estates. Lord Sackville says: "It is quite true that I had a mistress in Madrid. Her name, however, was not Pepita Duran, but Pepita de la Oliva, for she was married to Antonio de la Oliva just before I met her. Therefore the suggestion that she was my wife is palpably untrue. If she had been free I should probably have married her, for I loved her, so much so, indeed, that we lived together in perfect happiness until she died just fifteen years ago. I never put another woman in her place and shall never marry. My brother will succeed me here."

"Pepita Oliva bore me four children, a son and three daughters. My son has been treated by me in all respects as though he were my legitimate offspring, but he has repaid me with gross ungrateful ingratitude, which has culminated in this scandal and apparently attempted fraud. My eldest daughter long ago married a French gentleman of distinguished family. My second daughter, by a family arrangement, married her cousin, my nephew, the eldest son of my only brother and therefore her presumptive title and estates. My third daughter, who is now 25 years of age, is living in London with a chaplain and is well looked after. All three girls are very beautiful and very like their mother."

Exports Exceed Imports.

The table which follows shows the average monthly imports and exports of the ten countries in which the exports exceed the imports in that part of the current fiscal year for which figures are now available:

	Average per month during 1901.	Imports.	Exports.
United States	$71,830,932	$113,804,832
India, British	21,598,811	31,565,179

Uruguay	2,260,573	3,328,445

"When we have told all we know to support the charges we have made against Miss Jane Toppan, the Robinson poisoning case, the most famous that has ever been heard in a Massachusetts court, will sink into insignificance. This statement was made Sunday by Gen. Whitney, of the state police, who reached home in Medford Sunday morning from New Hampshire."

PAUNCEFOTE CALLS ON H.Y.

British Ambassador Brings Draft of New Treaty.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Lord Pouncefote, British ambassador to the United States, has arrived in Washington. He proceeded immediately from the station to the British embassy in Connecticut avenue, where he declined to see newspaper correspondents. The ambassador's arrival at the national capital is peculiarly interesting at this time because he is known to be the custodian of Great Britain's draft of the new canal treaty that is to be submitted to the senate very shortly after congress meets. Lord Pouncefote will visit the state department at once and arrange with Secretary Hay for a series of conferences, at which all of the details of the treaty will be discussed for the purpose of arriving at a conclusion that will be satisfactory to both Great Britain and the United States. Secretary Hay has had a copy of the treaty for several weeks and is understood to be ready to make a few unimportant modifications in its content.

The English draft practically concedes every contention of the senate. It admits the right of the United States to construct the canal, to police the waterway in time of peace and fortify in time of war. Most important of all, however, is its provision arrogating the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, which stood for so many years as a menace to American influence in South America.

NEW VICTIM OF BRIGANDS.

Bandits Who Hold Miss Stone Seize Another Woman.

London, Nov. 5.—"It is reported from Salonika," says the Vienna correspondent of the Daily Express, that brigands have carried off the mother of the chief of police of Seres (in Macedonia, fifty miles northeast of Salonika) to the same spot where Miss Stone is detained."

Brigand Sent as Envo.

Vienna, Nov. 5.—The Politische Correspondenz says that the release of Miss Stone, the abducted American missionary, is again represented as being imminent. It adds that a well-known Macedonian brigand has been sent to obtain proof that Miss Stone is still alive, which information Consul Dickinson wants for use in his negotiations with the brigands. Two other men who are acquainted with the country where Miss Stone is held captive have also been commissioned by Mr. Dickinson to try to get in touch with the kidnapers. The prefect of police at Sofia has sent out two other men on a similar errand.

FISK'S SLAYER IS DEAD.

Edward S. Stokes Expires at His Sister's House in New York.

New York, Nov. 5.—Edward S. Stokes, the slayer of Jim Fisk, is dead at the home of his sister, Mrs. Howard McNutt, 731 St. Nicholas avenue. He passed from unconsciousness to death seemingly without pain. Stokes' murder of Fisk, the partner of Jay Gould, was one of the most startling tragedies in the history of New York. Millions of millionaires were concerned. After leaving prison Stokes went to live at the Hoffman house in New York, the owner of which, Cassius M. Reed, had furnished Stokes with money at his trial. In 1882 John W. Mackay loaned Stokes $370,000 to enable him to become a partner with Reed in the Hoffman house. Stokes decorated the house with costly paintings. He managed the house until forced out under foreclosure and receivership in 1897.

Plan a Prodigious Tunnel.

St. Petersburg, Russia, Nov. 5.—A bold, remarkable project is receiving attention among Russian engineers. It is proposed to construct a tunnel under the main chain of the Caucasus mountains from a point forty miles south of Vladikavkas. The tunnel will be twenty-three miles long and cost $75,000,000. As soon as the Trans-Siberian railway is finished, it is believed, this Caucasian tunnel, which has the warm support of the czar, will be commenced. From a military and commercial point of view the work will be of vast importance, as the only direct communication with trans-Caucasia from southern Russia is by an ordinary road from Vladikavkas to Liffs.

Woman Bitten by a Mad Dog.

Omaha, Nov. 5.—A pet bull terrier, which had been the mascot of Fred Lake's fraternity at Pennsylvania, went mad and bit Mrs. George B. Lake, wife of a well-known Western tourist. The injured woman started this afternoon for Chicago to undergo treatment. The dog was supposed to be suffering from pneumonia, but when it died in spasms after biting Mrs. Lake the family became suspicious and summoned a veterinarian, who declared the dog had hydrophobia.

Freight Warehouse Burned.

Manitowoc, Wis., Nov. 5.—The Wisconsin Central freight warehouse was totally destroyed by fire. Besides other merchandise, about $40,000 worth of flour was burned. Twenty box cars loaded with merchandise awaiting shipment over the car ferries are also a total loss. It is estimated that the entire loss was more than $100,000, all to the Wisconsin Central railway.

Business Part of Town Burned.

Lisbon, N. H., Nov. 5.—Starting in the peg mill of James G. Moore fire destroyed a large part of the business section of this town to-day. The burned buildings include Brigham's hotel, the bank building, Cogswell & Oliver's store, a block owned by Mrs. Charles Parker, and the store of the Fred Parker company. The total loss will amount to fully $100,000.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THE LAW OF COMPENSATION, SUNDAY'S SUBJECT.

Good or Evil Deeds Return to Bless or Blast Our Lives—Achievements of Pomology—"It Is He That Sitteth Upon the Circle of the Earth"—Is. 40: 22.

[Copyright, 1901, by Louis Kleppsch, N. Y.]
Washington, Nov. 3.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage shows that the good or evil we do returns to bless or blast us; text, Isaiah xl, 22, "It is he that sitteth upon the circle of the earth."

While yet people thought that the world was flat and thousands of years before they found out that it was round Isaiah, in my text, intimated the shape of it, God sitting upon the circle of the earth. The most beautiful figure in all geometry is the circle. God made the universe on the plan of a circle.

There are in the natural world straight lines, angles, parallelograms, diagonals, quadrangles, but these evidently are not God's favorites. Almost everywhere where you find him geometrizing you find the circle dominant; and if not the circle then the curve, which is a circle that died young. If it had lived long enough, it would have been a full orb, a periphery. An ellipse is a circle pressed only a little too hard at the sides.

Glant's Causeway, in Ireland, shows what God thinks of mathematics. There are over 35,000 columns of rocks—octagonal, hexagonal, pentagonal. These rocks seem to have been made by rule and compass. Every artist has his molding room, where he may make 50 shapes, but he chooses one shape as preferable to all others. I will not say that the Glant's Causeway was the world's molding room, but I do say out of a great many figures God seems to have selected the circle as the best. "It is he that sitteth upon the circle of the earth." The stars in a circle, the moon in a circle, the sun in a circle, the universe in a circle and the throne of God the center of that circle.

The Achievements of Pomology.

Pomology will go on with its achievements until after many centuries the world will have plums and pears equal to the paradisaical. The art of gardening will grow for centuries, and after the Downings and Mitchells of the world have done their best in the far future the art of gardening will come up to the arborescence of the year 1. If the makers of colored glass go on improving they may in some centuries be able to make something equal to the east window of York minster, which was built in the year 1290. We are six centuries behind these artists, but the world must keep on toiling until it shall make the complete circuit and come up to the skill of these very men.

If the world continues to improve in masonry, we shall have after awhile, perhaps after the advance of centuries, mortar equal to that which I saw in the wall of an exhumed English city built in the time of the Romans, 1,600 years ago, that mortar today as good as the day in which it was made, having outlasted the brick and stone. I say after hundreds of years masonry may advance to that point.

If the world stands long enough, we may have a city as large as they made in old times—Babylon, five times the size of London. You go into the potteries of England, and you find them making cups and vases after the style of the cups and vases exhumed from Pompeii. The world is not going back. Oh, no! But it is swinging in a circle and will come around to the styles of pottery known so long ago as the days of Pompeii. The world must keep on progressing until it makes the complete circuit. The curve is in the right direction; the curve will keep on until it becomes the circle.

Well, now, what is true in the material universe is true in God's moral government and spiritual arrangement. That is the meaning of Ezekiel's wheel. All commentators agree in saying that the wheel means God's providence. But a wheel is of no use unless it turns, and if it turns it moves in a circle. What then? Are we parts of a great iron machine whirled around whether we will or not, the victims of inexorable fate? No! So far from that I shall show you that we ourselves start the circle of good or bad actions, and that it will surely come around again to us unless by divine intervention it be hindered. Those bad or good actions may make the circuit of many years, but come back to us they will as certainly as that God sits on the circle of the earth.

The Circle of Centuries.

But it is sometimes the case that this circle sweeps through a century or through many centuries. The world started with a theocracy for government—that is, God was the president and emperor of the world. People got tired of a theocracy. They said: "We don't want God directly interfering with the affairs of the world. Give us a monarchy." The world had a monarchy. From a monarchy it is going to have a limited monarchy. After awhile the limited monarchy will be given up, and the republican form of government will be everywhere dominant and recognized. Then the world will get tired of the republican form of government, and it will have an anarchy, which is no government at all. And then all nations, finding out that man is not capable of righteously governing man, will cry out again for theocracy and say, "Let God come back and conduct the affairs of the world," every step—monarchy, limited monarchy, republicanism, anarchy—only different steps between the first theocracy and the last theocracy or segments of the great circle of the earth on which God sits.

But do not become impatient because you cannot see the curve of events and therefore conclude that God's government is going to break down. History tells us that in the making of the pyramids it took 2,000 men two years to drag one great stone from the quarry and put it into the pyramids. If men short lived can afford to work so slowly as that, cannot God in the building of eternities afford to wait?

What though God should take 10,000 years to draw a circle? Shall we take our little watch, which we have to wind up every night lest it run down, and hold it up beside the clock of eternal ages? If, according to the Bible, a thousand years are in God's sight as one day, then, according to that calculation, the 6,000 years of the world's existence has been only to God as from Monday to Saturday.

The Circle of Good Deeds.

One day a man comes to you and says, "Good morning." You look at him and say: "Why, you have the advantage of me. I cannot place you." He says, "Don't you remember thirty years ago giving a letter of introduction to a young man—a letter of introduction to William E. Dodge?" "Yes, yes, I do." He says, "I am the man. That was my first step toward a fortune, but I have retired from business now and am giving my time to philanthropies and public interests. Come up to my house and see me."

Or a man comes to you and says: "I want to introduce myself to you. I went into a prayer meeting some years ago. I sat back by the door. You arose to make an exhortation. That talk changed the course of my life, and if I ever get to heaven under God I will owe my salvation to you." In only ten, twenty or thirty years the circle swept out and swept back again to your own grateful heart.

But sometimes it is a wider circle and does not return for a great while. I saw a bill of expenses for burning Latimer and Ridley. The bill of expenses has these items among others: Shillings. Pence.

One load of fire fagots.....3
Cartage for four loads of wood.....2
Item, a post.....1
Item, two chains.....4
Item, two staples.....6
Item, four laborers.....2
making in all 25s. 8d. That was cheap fire, considering all the circumstances, but it kindled a light which shone all around the world and aroused the martyr spirit, and out from that burning of Latimer and Ridley rolled the circle wider and wider, starting other circles, convoluting, overrunning, encircling, overarching, all heaven, a circle.

The Echo of Past Misdeeds.

You maltreat an aged parent. You begrudge him the room in your house. You are impatient of his whimsicalities and garrulity. It makes you mad to hear him tell the same story twice. You give him food he cannot masticate. You wish he was away. You wonder if he is going to live forever. He will be gone very soon. His steps are shorter and shorter. He is going to stop. But God has an account to settle with you on that subject. After awhile your eye will be dim, and your gait will halt, and the sound of the grinding will be low, and you will tell the same story twice, and your children will wonder if you will never be taken away. They called you "father" once; now they call you the "old man." If you live a few years longer they will call you the "old chap." What are those rough words with which your children are accosting you? They are the echo of the very words you used in the ear of your old father forty years ago. What is that you are trying to chew, but find it un-masticable, and your jaws ache, and you surrender the attempt? Perhaps it may be the gristle which you gave to your father for his breakfast forty years ago.

A gentleman passing along the avenue saw a son dragging his father into the street by the hair of the head. The gentleman, outraged at this brutal conduct, was about to punish the offender, when the old man arose and said: "Don't hurt him. It's all right. Forty years ago this morning I dragged out my father by the hair of his head." It is a circle. Other sins may be adjudged to the next world. That circle is made quickly, very quickly. Oh, what a stupendous thought that the good and the evil we start come back to us! Do you know that the judgment day will be only the points at which the circles join, the good and the bad we have done coming back to us unless divine intervention hinder—coming back to us with welcome of delight or curse of condemnation?

Oh, I would like to see Paul, the invalid missionary, at the moment when his influence comes to full orb, his influence rolling out through Antioch, through Cyprus, through Lystra, through Cosant, through Athens, through Asia, through Europe, through America, through the first century, through five centuries, through twenty centuries, through earth, through heaven, and at last the wave of influence, having made full circuit, strikes his soul. Oh, then I would like to see him! No one can tell the wide sweep of the circle of Paul's influence save the one who is seated on the circle of the earth.

I should not like to see the countenance of Voltaire when his influence comes to full orb. When the fatal hemorrhage seized him at eighty-three years of age, his influence did not cease. The most brilliant man of his century, he had used all his faculties for assaulting Christianity, his bad influence widening through France, widening out through Germany, widening through all Europe, widening through the 123 years that he had lived, widening through the earth, widening through the sky, until at last the accumulated influence of his baleful teachings and disolute life will beat against his dismayed spirit, and at that moment it will be enough to make the black hair of eternal darkness turn white with horror. No one can tell how that bad man's influence girdled the earth save the one who is seated on the circle of the earth, the Lord Almighty.

God's Omnipotent Mercy.

"Well, now," say some, "this in some respects is a very glad theory and in others a very bad one. We would like to have the good we have ever done come back to us, but the thought that all the sins we have ever committed will come back to us, fills us with affright." My brother, I have to tell you God can break that circle and will do so at your call. I can bring twenty passages of Scripture to prove that when God for Christ's sake forgives a man the sins of his past life never come back. The wheel may roll on and on, but you take your position behind the cross, and the wheel strikes the cross and is shattered forever. The sins fly off from the circle and fall at right angles with complete oblivion. Forgiven! Forgiven! The meanest thing a man can do is, after some difficulty has been settled, to bring it up again, and God will not do anything like that. God's memory is mighty enough to hold all the events of the ages, but there is one thing that is sure to slip his memory, one thing he is sure to forget, and that is pardoned transgressions. How do I know it? I will prove it. "Their sins and their iniquities I will remember no more." "Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven."

But every circumference must have a center, and what is the center of this heavenly circumference? Christ—his all the glory, his all the praise, his all the crowns, all heaven wreathed into a garland round about him. Take off the imperial sash from his foot and behold the scar of the spike. Lift the coronet of dominion from his brow and see where was the laceration of the briars. Come closer, all heaven. Narrow the circle around his great heart. O Christ, the Savior, O Christ, the man, O Christ, the God, keep thy throne forever, seated on the circle of the earth, seated on the circle of heaven!

On Christ, the solid rock, I stand;
All other ground is shifting sand.

WILD ESKIMO.

Some of the Habits of These People at Home.

Returning from the Coppermine, we fell in with a party of Eskimo, who ran from us as we approached, in spite of all our efforts to restrain them. But, as a matter of fact, even had we been bloodthirstily inclined we would have put up a poor fight, because both my assistant and I were quite tired out, and my men had gone on some hours before us. It seems rather incredible that twenty-five Eskimo would run from two played-out white men; but it is quite probable that they may have expected an army behind us. Their camp was a most extraordinary place. It lay on a hillock of sand, with a large lake in front and a pond behind. The knoll hills, the walls of which were formed of flat stones placed on end, and the roofs of caribou skin. The pond was filled with caribou bones, which showed that the camp had been much frequented. In the middle of the miniature village lay a large heap of raw caribou meat, which the Eskimo store up in seasons of plenty. We waited some time at the camp, hoping the natives would reappear, but they did not. It was their period of good feeding. The caribou were grazing on the Barren Lands in vast herds, and musk oxen were plentiful, so there was no necessity for them to return to their extra food supply. They had evidently never come in contact with white men before, because no article of civilized manufacture was found in their camp.—Geographical Journal.

Highest of Waterfalls.

The highest waterfall in the world, geography tells us, is the Cerosola cascade in the Alps, having a fall of 2,400 feet; that of Arvey, in Savoy, is 1,100 feet, and the falls of Yosemite valley range from 700 to 1,000 feet. But higher yet is the waterfall in the San Cuayatan canon, in the state of Durango, Mexico. It was discovered by some prospectors, ten years ago, in the great barranca district which is called the Tierras Dasonocidas. While searching for the famous lost mine, Naranjal, a great roar of water was heard. With great difficulty the party pushed on; and up and down the mighty chasms until they beheld the superb fall that is at least 3,000 feet high.—Land of Sunshine.

Lithographic Stone Is Plentiful.

A deposit of lithographic stone has been found near Mt. Sterling, Ky., which Eugene Leary, of the United States Geological Survey, believes to be more valuable than any gold mine. "There is no reason," says Mr. Leary, "why the quarry should not control the market in this country. There is no lithographic stone anywhere else, so far as is known, and there will be no difficulty in competing with the German product."

The first factory for the manufacture of cotton sewing thread was located at Pawtucket in 1794.

SPREADS LIKE WILDFIRE.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, run-down man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by Glazier & Stimson druggists."

Barnum's Monkeys

"All well—all happy—lots of fun." That is the regular report from the monkey cage of Barnum's Circus ever since the keepers began dosing the monkeys with Scott's Emulsion. Consumption was carrying off two thirds of them very year and the circus had to buy new ones.

One day a keeper accidentally broke a bottle of Scott's Emulsion near the monkey cage and the monkeys eagerly lapped it up from the floor. This suggested the idea that it might do them good. Since then the monkeys have received regular doses and the keepers report very few deaths from consumption. Of course it's cheaper to buy Scott's Emulsion than new monkeys—and that suits the circus men.

Consumption in monkeys and in man is the same disease. If you have it or are threatened with it can you take the hint?

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c and $1. all druggists.

Observations by Mildred.

Scene: Tramcar. Dramatic personae: Four-year-old girl, mother and several passengers.

Child (in high, shrill treble)—Mamma, did you get papa's birthday present?

"Yes, dearest."

"What did you get, mamma?"

"Cigars, lovey."

"The cheap ones that Aunt Millie told you about?"

Silence from mamma, but a heightened flush on her face that was not entirely the reflection from "dearest lovey's" red velvet hat.

"Mamma, that man over there has on a dreadfully dirty necktie. You told papa the other day that no gentleman would wear a soiled necktie."

Man glares and pulls his overcoat about his neck.

"Mildred, stop talking."

Mildred was silent for a little while.

"Mamma, that lady over there forgot to polish her shoes this morning."

Hail Storms.

A fall of hail to the average depth of one inch over a region four miles wide and 18 miles long is a fall of 167,340,000 cubic feet of ice weighing nearly 1,000,000 tons. The average elevation from which it fell may be taken as 5,000 feet. All the mass that fell must previously have been raised to that level; that is 1,000,000 tons must have been raised 5,000 feet or 5,000,000 foot tons of work must have been done, which corresponds to the work of an engine of 1,000,000 horse power working for five hours. When the hail fell the force of gravity did this identical amount of work. If we wish to prevent the fall of hail we must somehow do the same amount of work per hour and we must keep up the work at the same rate as long as necessary. The editor of the United States Weather Review suggests that the spasmodic discharge of a few small cannons is not likely to be very effective as a preventive.—N. Y. Sun.

Hot in the Arctic Circle.

Mrs. Aubrey Le Blond, whose name is more familiar to mountaineers as Mrs. Main, has been camping at Jaegersvand, by Ulfasford, in Lapland, and if anyone imagines that a camp within the arctic circle is a safe refuge from the heat of an exceptionally torrid summer, this lady's experience should undeceive them, for her thermometer gayly varied from 55 to 83 degrees in the shade during the early part of August. Close at hand, too, there is a great lake, from which clouds of mosquitoes rise perpetually; but on the other side are great peaks, glacier clad, rising in white majesty to the silent sky, a very paradise—and almost an unknown paradise—for climbers.—London Standard.

True to Genius.

"You remember Queerun, who was always so full of big ideas for making money?"

"Quite well. What has become of him?"

"That's what I was going to tell you. His last scheme was to dig a tunnel under the Atlantic ocean between the United States and England. He had the thing figured down to a nicety, and had all the estimates to show that such a tunnel could be constructed for $3,375,000,000. He spent six months making his calculations, and then, all at once, he gave it up."

"What did he do that for?"

"The capitalists he was trying to get to back him had him run in for vagrancy."—Chicago Tribune.

Ants Have Brains.

Modern science reinforces the ancient estimate of the superior sagacity of the ant. At the zoological conference last month at Berlin Prof. Morel, of Switzerland, who has made that insect his study, reported that the ant has all the five senses, with the exception of hearing, and that he possesses reasoning powers as well as memory. There is one item to be entered on the other side. The ant is an indomitable fighter, and individual ants are inclined to prolonged hostilities after a general war is over.—Boston Journal.

Nothing Left for Them.

"John," she said, shaking him, "burglars have been in the house."

He was awake in an instant.

"Did they take anything?" he asked, anxiously.

"No," she answered. "I judge by the indications that they wanted nothing but cash."

"Oh," he returned, with a sigh of relief. "And of course there was none?"

"Not a cent," she replied. "Isn't it lucky, John, that I went shopping yesterday?"—Chicago Post.

Dealing in Futures.

"I hope," said the young man who was spending a few days at the seashore, "that our engagement will not prove a mere summer subterfuge."

"I hope your hope comes out," rejoined the fair maid at his side, "but one can never tell what effect frost will have on such things."—Chicago Daily News.

Queer Notions of the Maharajah.

The possessions of some of the Indian maharajahs are ludicrous and wonderful sometimes. There is one of the richest rajahs who has a passion for acquiring things in bulk, and during his visit to England he astonished some of the tradespeople by ordering whole showcases of jewels or silver, sometimes a whole trayful of tooth brushes or a windowful of various scented soaps. In art also his purchases were equally expansive, and on one occasion he was so charmed with a picture that he ordered it to be copied three times, so that he might have one hanging on each wall of his favorite room. But perhaps the most extraordinary order which was ever given or undertaken was that for two dressing bags, one the exact duplicate of the other, and each of such enormous size that the two together were a camel's load. They were made of the ordinary brown leather, but inside they were most luxuriously mounted, and they cost $5,000 apiece.—N. Y. Sun.

Humor in the Hub.

A man who looked from his physical proportions as if he could back up any remark he might care to make in public boarded a South Boston car at Dover street the other night. The car was filled, but the man happened to get in a row which held only four passengers. None of them made any sign of an indication to move up and give him a seat. He hinted repeatedly, but received no encouragement, and finally said gruffly, so as to be heard by every passenger in the car:

"These benches are made for five human beings or four car hogs."

His rebuke caused a general laugh, which was quickly turned on him when one of the four men arose to leave the car. As he stepped off he remarked:

"You are mistaken. These benches were made for four—three human beings and one car hog. Take your seat."

WOMEN AND JEWELS.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial trouble. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Glazier & Stimson's. Get Green's Special Almanac.

GREAT LUCK OF EDITOR.

"For two years all efforts to cure, eczema in the palms of my hands failed," writes Editor H. N. Lester of Syracuse, Kan., "then I was wholly cured by Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's the world's best for Eruptions, sores and all skin diseases. Only 25c at Glazier & Stimson's.

THE CHILDREN'S FRIEND

You'll have a cold this winter. Maybe you have one now. Your children will suffer too. For coughs, croup, bronchitis, grip and other winter complaints One Minute Cough Cure never fails. Acts promptly. It is very pleasant to the taste and perfectly harmless. C. B. George, Winchester, Ky., writes "Our little girl was attacked with croup late one night and was so hoarse she could hardly speak. We gave her a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. It relieved her immediately and she went to sleep. When she awoke next morning she had no signs of hoarseness or croup." Glazier & Stimson.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are biliousness, constipation and headache. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by all druggists.

"Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist of Filley, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in a short time all danger was past and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

RELIABLE AND GENTLE.

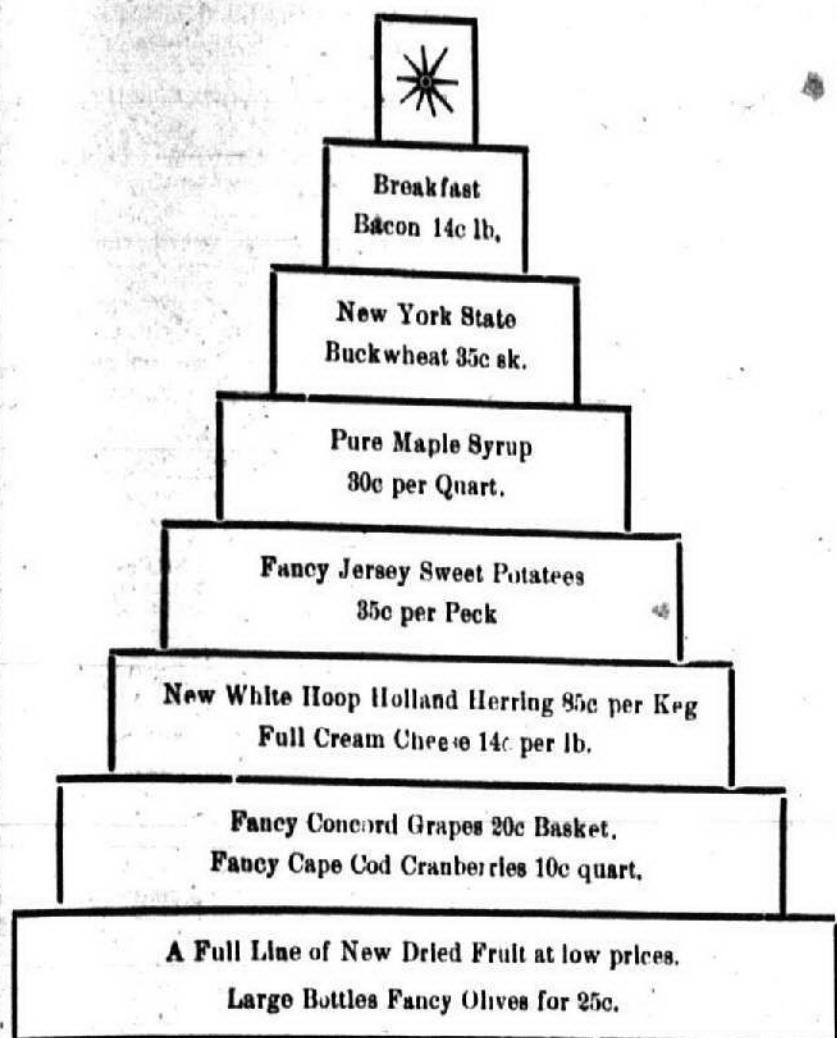

"A pill is a pill," says the saw. But there are pills and pills. You want a pill which is certain, thorough and gentle. Most of the pills you see are full of harsh, irritating ingredients. Do not take any more of them. Take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a pure vegetable pill, and it is the most reliable and gentle of all pills. It will cure you of all these troubles. Small and easy to take. Glazier & Stimson.

An official of the M. C. R. R. says that he has never seen such a scarcity of cars as there is at present, and that there is a much greater amount of freight passing over the line than is usual this time of the year. The car famine seems to be quite universal in the state, shippers at all the principal points being loud in their complaints of the lack of cars.

At the county Sunday-school convention at Dexter last week the following officers were elected: President, A. D. Crittenden, Saline; vice presidents, W. J. Canfield, Ypsilanti, Mrs. F. I. The farmers along the line of the trolley road, between Ann Arbor and Detroit, with few exceptions, have placed their names in large letters on boards in front of their homes. It is proving of great convenience to the conductors and passengers of the trolley cars. It is hoped the farmers between Ann Arbor and Jackson will also follow this good example.

Ever since the Ypsi-Saline electric line was put in a good many people have driven to the latter place and then taken the electric cars for Ann Arbor or Detroit. Now that electric cars are running between Chelsea and Ann Arbor there is a tendency for people to drive to Chelsea instead of Saline, as it is not so far and as a rule the road is better.—Manchester Enterprise.

The Diamond Bracelet

CHAPTER III.

Alice left her sister standing in the room and went upstairs. But she was more than one minute away; she was three or four, for she could not at first lay her hand upon the letter. When she returned her sister advanced to the back drawing room, the folding doors between the two rooms being as before, wide open.

"What a fine collection of bracelets, Alice!" she exclaimed, as she took the letter. "Are they spread out for show?"

"No," laughed Alice; "Lady Sarah is going to the opera, and will be in a hurry when she comes up from dinner. She asked me to bring them all down, as she had not decided which to wear."

"I like to dress before dinner on my opera nights."

"Oh, so of course does Lady Sarah," returned Alice, as her sister descended the stairs, "but she said it was too hot to dine in bracelets."

"It is fearfully hot. Good-by, Alice. Don't ring; I will let myself out."

Alice returned to the front room and looked from the window, wondering whether her sister had come in her carriage. No. A trifling even's breeze was arising and beginning to move the curtains about. Gentle as it was, it was grateful, and Alice sat down in it. In a very few minutes the ladies came up from dinner.

"Have you the bracelets, Alice? Oh, I see."

Lady Sarah went to the back room as she spoke, and stood before the table looking at the bracelets. Alice rose to follow her, when Lady Frances Chenevix caught her by the arm and began to speak in a covert whisper.

"Who was that at the door just now? It was a visitor's knock. Do you know, Alice, every hour since we came to town I have fancied Gerard might be calling. In the country he could not get to us, but here—Was it Gerard?"

"It—it was my sister," carelessly answered Alice. It was not a true answer, for her sister had not knocked, but it was the readiest that rose to her lips, and she wished to escape the questioning.

"Only your sister," sighed Frances, turning to the window with a gesture of disappointment.

"Which have you put on?" inquired Alice, going toward Lady Sarah.

"These loose fancy things; they are the coolest. I really am so hot; the soup was that favorite of the colonel's, all caraways and cayenne and the wine was hot; there had been some mistake about the ice. Hill trusted the new man, and he did not understand it; it was all hot together. What the house will be tonight I dread to think of."

Lady Sarah, whilst she spoke, had been putting the bracelets into the jewel box, with very little care.

"I had better put them straight," remarked Alice, when she reached the table.

"Do not trouble," returned Lady Sarah, shutting down the lid. "You are looking flushed and feverish, Alice; you were wrong to walk so far today; Hughes will set them to rig the tomorrow morning; they will do till then. Lock them up and take possession of the key."

Alice did as she was bid. She locked the case and put the key into her pocket.

"Here is the carriage," exclaimed Lady Frances. "Are we to wait for coffee?"

"Coffee in this heat," retorted Lady Sarah. "It would be adding fuel to fire. We will have some tea when we return. Alice, you must make tea for the colonel; he will not come out without it. He thinks this weather just what it ought to be; rather cold, if anything."

Alice had taken the bracelet box in her hands as Lady Sarah spoke, and when they departed carried it upstairs to its place in Lady Sarah's bedroom. The colonel speedily rose from the table, for his wife had laid her commands on him to join them early. Alice helped him to his tea, and as soon as he was gone, she went upstairs to bed.

To bed, but not to sleep. Tired as she was, and exhausted in frame, sleep would not come to her. She was living over again her interview with Gerard Hope. She could not in her conscious heart affect to misunderstand his implied meaning—that she had been the cause of his rejecting the union proposed to him, it diffused a strange rapture within her, and though she had not perhaps been wholly blind and unconscious during the period of Gerard's stay with them, she now kept repeating the words: "Can it be? can it be?"

It certainly was so. Love plays strange pranks. Thus was Gerard Hope, heir to fabulous wealth, consciously proud of his handsome person, his herculean strength, his towering form, called home and planted down by the side of a pretty and noble lady, on purpose that he might fall in love with her—Lady Frances Chenevix. And yet the well-laid project failed; failed because there happened to be another at that young lady's side, a sad, quiet, feeble-framed girl, whose very weakness may have seemed to place her beyond the pale of man's love. But love thrives by contrasts and it was the feeble girl who won the love of the strong man.

Yes; the knowledge diffused a strange rapture within her as she lay there at night, and she may be excused if, for a brief period, she gave range to the sweet fantasies it conjured up. For a brief period only; too soon the depressing consciousness returned to her that these thoughts of earthly happiness must be subdued, for she, with her confirmed ailments and conspicuous weakness, must never expect to marry as did other women. She had long known—her mother had prepared her for it—that one so afflicted and frail as she, whose tenure of existence was likely to be short, ought not to become a wife, and it had been her earnest hope to pass through life unloving and unloved. She had striven to arm herself against the danger, against being thrown into the perils of temptation. Alas! it had come insidiously upon her; all her care had been set at naught, and she knew that she loved Gerard Hope with a deep and fervent love. "It is but another cross," she sighed, "another burden to surmount and subdue, and I will set myself, from this night, to the task. I have been a coward, shrinking from self-examination; but now that Gerard has spoken out, I can deceive myself no longer. I wish he had spoken more freely that I might have told him it was useless."

CHAPTER IV.

It was only towards morning that Alice dropped asleep; the consequence was, that long after her usual hour for rising she was still sleeping. The opening of her door by some one awoke her; it was Lady Sarah's maid.

"Why, miss! are you not up? Well, I never! I wanted the key of the jewel box, but I'd have waited if I had known."

"What do you say you want?" returned Alice, whose ideas were confused, as is often the case on being suddenly awakened.

"The key of the bracelet box, if you please."

"The key?" repeated Alice. "Oh, I remember," she added, her recollection returning to her. "Be at the trouble, will you, Hughes, to take it out of my pocket; it is on that chair under my clothes."

The servant came to the pocket and speedily found the key. "Are you worse than usual, miss, this morning?" asked she, "or have you overslept yourself? Is it late?"

"Between nine and ten. My lady is up, and at breakfast with master and Lady Frances."

Alice rose the instant the maid had left the room, and made haste to dress, vexed with herself for sleeping so long. She was nearly ready when Hughes came in again.

"If ever I saw such a confusion as that jewel box was in!" cried she, in as pert and grumbling a tone as she dared to use. "The bracelets were thrown together without law or order—just as if they had been so much glass and tinsel from the Lowther Arcade."

"It was Lady Sarah did it," replied Alice. "I would have put them straight, but she said leave it for you. I thought she might prefer that you should do it, so did not press it."

"Of course her ladyship is aware there's nobody but myself knows how they are placed in it," returned Hughes, consequently. "I could go to that or to the other jewel box, in the dark, and take out any one thing my lady wanted without disturbing the rest."

"I have observed that you have a gift of order," remarked Alice, with a smile. "It is very useful to those who possess it, and saves them from trouble and confusion."

"So it do, miss," said Hughes. "But I came to ask you for the diamond bracelet."

"The diamond bracelet!" echoed Alice. "What diamond bracelet? What do you mean?"

"The diamond bracelets are both in the box," rejoined Alice.

"The old one is there, not the new one. I thought you might have taken it out to show some one, or to look at yourself, miss, for I'm sure it's a sight for pleasant eyes."

"I can assure you it is in the case," said Alice. "All are there except what Lady Sarah had on. You must have overlooked it."

"I must be a great donkey if I have," grumbled the girl. "It must be at the very bottom, amongst the cotton," she soliloquized, as she returned to Lady Sarah's apartments, "and I have just got to take every individual article out to get at it. This comes of giving up one's keys to other folks."

Alive hastened down, begging pardon for her late appearance. It was readily accorded. Alice's office in the house was nearly a sinecure; when she had first entered upon it Lady Sarah was ill, and required some one to sit with and read to her, but now that she was well again Alice had little to do.

Breakfast was scarcely over when Alice was called into the room. Hughes stood outside.

"Miss," said she, with a long face, "the diamond bracelet not in the box. I thought I could not be mistaken."

"But it must be in the box," said Alice.

"But it is NOT," persisted Hughes, emphasizing the negative; "can't you believe me, miss? What's gone with it?"

Alice Seaton looked at Hughes with a puzzled look. She was thinking matters over. It seemed cleared again.

"Then Lady Sarah must have kept it out when she put in the rest. It was she who returned them to the case; I did not. Perhaps she wore it last night."

"No, miss, that she didn't. She wore only those two—"

"I saw what she had on," interrupted Alice. "But she might also have put on the other without my noticing. Then she must have kept it out for some purpose. I will ask her. Wait here an instant, Hughes, for, of course, you will like to be at a certainty."

"That's cool," thought Hughes, as Alice went into the breakfast room, and the colonel came out of it with the newspaper. "I should have said it was somebody else who would like to be at a certainty instead of me. Thank goodness it wasn't in my charge last night, if anything dreadful has come to pass. My lady don't keep out her bracelets for sport. Miss Seaton has left the key about, that's what she has done, and it's hard to say who hasn't been at it; I knew the box had been ransacked over."

"Lady Sarah," said Alice, "did you wear your new diamond bracelet last night?"

"No."

"Then did you put it into the box with the others?"

"No," languidly repeated Lady Sarah, attaching no importance to the question.

"After you had chosen the bracelets you wished to wear, you put the others into the box yourself," exclaimed Alice. "Did you put in the new one, the diamond, or keep it out?"

"The diamond was not there."

Alice stood confounded. "It was on the table at the back of all, Lady Sarah," she presently said; "next the window."

"I tell you, Alice, it was not there. I don't know that I should have worn it if it had been, but I certainly looked for it. Not seeing it, I supposed you had not put it out, and did not care sufficiently to ask for it."

Alice felt in a mesh of perplexity; curious thoughts, and very unpleasant ones, were beginning to come over her. "But, Lady Sarah, the bracelet was indeed there when you went to the table," she urged. "I put it there."

"I can assure you that you labor under a mistake as to its being there when I came up from dinner," answered Lady Sarah. "Why do you ask?"

"Hughes has come to say it is not in the case. She is outside, waiting."

"Outside now? Hughes," called out her ladyship; and Hughes came in.

"What's this about my bracelet?"

"I don't know, my lady. The bracelet is not in its place, so I asked Miss Seaton. She thought your ladyship might have kept it out yesterday evening."

"I have neither touched it nor seen it," said Lady Sarah.

"Then we have had thieves at work."

"It must be in the box, Hughes," spoke up Alice. "I laid it out on the table, and it is impossible that thieves—as you phrase it—could have come there."

"Oh, yes, it is in the box, no doubt," said her ladyship, somewhat crossly, for she disliked to be troubled especially in hot weather. "You have not searched properly Hughes."

"My lady," answered Hughes, "I can trust my hands, and I can trust my eyes, and they have all four been into every hole and crevice of the box."

Lady Frances Chenevix laid down the Morning Post and advanced. "Is the bracelet really lost?"

NAPLES BREAKFAST VENDORS.

They Make the Morning Air Vocal with Their Calls.

The air of Naples becomes vocal with the characteristic calls of the breakfast vendors. "Hot, hot, and big as apples!" shout the sellers of peeled chestnuts. These are boiled in huge caldrons in a reddish broth of their own making, which is further seasoned with laurel leaves and caraway seed. A cent's worth of the steaming kernels, each of which is as big as a large English walnut, is a nourishing diet that warms the fingers and comforts the stomach of troops of children on their way to school, or rather to the co-operative creches, or nurseries, where one poor woman, for a cent a day each, takes care of the babies of a score of others who must leave them behind to earn the day's living.

Meantime dignified cows pass by, "with measured tread and slow," shaking their heavy bells and followed by their beguiled offspring, whose business it is to make them "give down" their milk at the opportune moment, and to let the milkman take it. Nothing can be funnier than this struggle between the legitimate owner, the calf, and the wily subtraher of the lacteal treasure. Although tied to his mother's horns with a rope long enough to reach, and even lick her bag, but not to get satisfaction out of it, his bovine wit is often sharp enough to give the slip to the noose and elude the vigilance of the keeper, occupied, perhaps, for the moment, in quarreling with some saucy maid servant over the quantity of milk to be paid for. The scene which ensues is worthy of the cinematograph. As a sequel calf's tail is nearly pulled off, but he has spoiled the oppressor's game for one day, anyhow.—The Century.

Call a man a donkey and he is apt to kick.

News and Views

THE MISSION OF MR. REDMOND.

John E. Redmond, member of the British Parliament, has come to the United States, it is said, in quest of funds to defray the expenses of the Irish parliamentary party, who, under the British constitution, are not paid for their services to the empire. The American people have always been in hearty sympathy with Ireland's aspirations for home rule, and, although the feeling of prejudice against Great Britain that once prevailed has abated, there is still among all Americans a kindly feeling toward the land from which we have derived so much that is most valuable in our citizenship, and which was so long the victim of rank injustice at the hands of its stronger neighbor. But the Ireland of today is not the Ireland of forty or fifty years ago; if it were Mr. Redmond would be more likely to be now occupying a cell in Kilmainham than in first class American hotels. The time has probably gone by when the Irish in America could be induced to give up their money to promote illusive schemes of revolution. There are heavy enough drains upon their liberality without contributing to the support of professional conspirators, who exploit the trusting patriotism of their countrymen for their own emolument. It is because Mr. Redmond is not the man of that class that he will receive a hearty welcome to the United States.—Brooklyn Times.

EDWARD'S SPECIAL GUARD.

William Melville, a member of the famous Scotland Yard police detectives, has been made a special guard for King Edward VII. He has under his supervision a squad known as the Royal Guard, all plain clothes men.

WILLIAM MELVILLE.

This guard consists of twenty-five of the best detectives in Great Britain.

MARRIAGE AND COOKERY.

Judge Duell of the Essex Market police court in New York is not only a wise but a closely observing magistrate. When Morris Morgenthal, escorting Rebecca Gross, appeared before him and declared his wish to marry her because she could cook such "a lovely dinner," the judge consented promptly, and added, "Good cooking will sometimes reach a man's heart when poetry and sentiment won't. Old maids might grasp at this as a straw, but all women ought to know it."

Of course they should and most of them do, though they are usually a long time finding it out. Morris and Rebecca will enter upon the holy state of matrimony not looking "through a glass darkly," but seeing each other "face to face." They have no illusions to be removed. They will begin wedded life upon a secure foundation, and so long as Rebecca's hand retains its culinary cunning Morris will be a devoted husband and she will be a happy wife. It is an ideal arrangement which old maids may well consider and which all women should know before it is too late.—New York Sun.

Actress at 80.

Mrs. Anne Hartley Gilbert, the "grandma" of the stage, is still industriously pursuing her profession at the advanced age of 80.

Mrs. Gilbert is with Annie Russell in "A Royal Family." She is frankly and delightfully old, but time has dealt gently with her and her powers of endurance are remarkable. Her debut was made with the old school of actors, when she was a mere girl, and now as an old woman she plays in a modern company. She has outlived the manager who once called her "grandma"; she has outlived the associations of youth, but Mrs. Gilbert at heart is young, and perhaps that is the secret of her success.

Unique Banquet for Carnegie.

Next December at Hoboken, N. J., Andrew Carnegie will be given a unique banquet on the completion of the new laboratory of engineering of Stevens Institute, to which he gave $65,000. Models are now being made for the bread which will be used. It will be made in the shape of railroad spikes. The ice cream will be made in the shape of T rails, fried oysters will be taken from a miniature locomotive, and when the blast furnace is tapped there will issue from it punch instead of molten iron.

HUMAN LIFE LENGTHENING.

Death Rate Decreased 5.4 Per 1,000 Since 1900—What It Means.

In 1890 the death rate in 371 cities of 5,000 or more population was 21 per 1,000; in 1900 the rate was 15.6 in 361 cities of 8,000 population and upward, a reduction of 2.4 per 1,000. Another statement of special interest and significance just now is that deaths reported as due to consumption, including general tuberculosis, decreased from 245.9 per 100,000 of population in 1890 to 190.5 in 1900, a very large reduction, due, the census authorities believe, to the better knowledge of the disease and the measures adopted for its prevention. To add nearly two years to the average of human existence is a wonderful achievement. Its full significance it is not easy to grasp. Applying it to the population of the United States alone, now over 70,000,000, it means not less than a total of 140,000,000 added years of human activity and productiveness. This stupendous total, divided by the years of the average human life, with the recent increase included, means practically the same as an increase of 4,000,000 to the healthy adult population of the nation. Regarded from the standpoint of the economist, it means also an enormous increase in the wealth-producing factors of the country. Healthfulness, vigor and high vitality among a people are the most valuable assets that any nation can have, says Leslie's Weekly, especially for the coming years, when the struggle for commercial and industrial supremacy throughout the world is certain to grow more and more intense and absorbing. Where other things are equal, the country that grows the strongest, hardest and longest-lived men is the country that will lead the world.

Miss Lillie Degenkolbe, Treasurer South End Society of Christian Endeavor, 3141 Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill., Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When life looked brightest to me I sustained a hard fall and internal complications were the result. I was considerably inflamed, did not feel that I could walk, and lost my good spirits. I spent money doctoring without any help, when a relative visited our home. She was so enthusiastic over Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, having used it herself, that nothing would satisfy her until I sent for a bottle. I have thanked her a hundred times for it since, for it brought blessed health to me and cured me within seven weeks."

I now wish to thank you, your medicine is a friend to suffering women.—LILLIE DEGENKOLBE.

Peculiar Practices to Insure Beauty.

quire it. A wash of vitriol was even used, it consisted of muriatic acid, 60 per cent, strong diluted in 12 parts of water. When applied it will gradually clear away the coarse outer skin, to give place to a beautiful velvety new one underneath.

Dieting was an important factor in the struggle. Still hearty meals were the rule, in spite of the tradition for delicate appetite among our foremothers. Coarse bread, made of graham and rye flour, was the imperative rule. No white bread was eaten. It was especially avoided as most fatal to a fine skin. Potatoes, celery, artichokes and salads were eaten freely. The wild tomato or love apple, as it was called, was considered a wonderful beautifier, and whole platters were eaten at one sitting. Brown bread and molasses was the staple.

The fight against freckles' and wrinkles was an absorbing combat. Most women sat all day long in seclusion with their faces covered with court plaster patches over the wrinkled spots in their patient efforts to smooth out the skin. Most heroic treatment was generally necessary, and the face was actually coated with liquid tar and olive oil to iron it out. Freckles and brown spots of all kinds were rubbed out with turpentine.

Painted Like a Wax Figure.

Strange as it may seem, in spite of continual efforts to beautify the skin, paint and powder were freely and dangerously used. Miladi was as artistically painted for a public appearance as if she were a wax figure. Rouge was heavily applied, and the carmine used in artificial flowers often acted as a substitute. Washington women seen the fashions in the use of cosmetics, and they even appeared at breakfast with their faces covered with chalk and rouge; their eyebrows stained with walnut juice, and with tresses touched up with bleaching liquids unless powdered white. Powdered wigs were gradually going out of fashion, and a few to whom the white coiffure was becoming covered the head with powdered starch, sifted through muslin, and scented with oil of roses.

world to seek the fountain of life and fabulous mines of gold may fall to the lot of these adventurers of a later day.

The romance is reduced, however, to a plain business proposition. Many of the men are sent out by regular dealers who pay them for their services. For the person who puts the capital into the enterprise there are chances for large profits, but it is said that a fortune is more likely to be lost than won in these orchid speculations. The value of the flowers consists largely in their rarity, and on a rapidly stocked market prices may fall from many pounds to a few shillings within a short period.

arrived I went upon the platform, levelled my gun and declared I would shoot the first ruffian who touched the United States mail. I was a pretty good shot, having often gone hunting with my brothers at the old farm in the wilds of West Virginia, and when a fellow seized the bag I put a bullet in his leg.

"That episode marked the last of the troubles at the station, but hostilities did not cease at my home. At night attempts were made to rob the place, and this necessitated my sleeping under the counter, which I did for three months. But I could not prevent broken windows. These cowardly acts were not done by reputable citizens, who, nevertheless, tried more effective means of forcing me to my position. Several petitions against me were sent to Washington, but President Lincoln remained my staunch friend.

"After a few months the chief annoyances ceased, and the only trouble I had was with the imperfect mail system, for which some people blamed me."

Although 90 years old, the aged postmistress still retains her position.

IS THE SIX EAGLES COMPANY A FRAUD?

There are some companies who mine to sell stock. The Six Eagles Company sell stock to mine.

If there is a man or woman who doubts our responsibility investigate; we gladly give you the reference. You say that the banks only pay you three per cent.
If you have $1,000 in the bank invest $100 with us now; we will, each year return you as much as the bank would on the entire deposit.

Eight first-class mines. Over $1,000, 000 worth of values in sight. Management unexcelled. Money secured to to build mill; will be completed and running June 1st, and six months from that time the company will pay the first dividend. If you doubt our statement write any of the banks.

See the report of the stockholders from Ohio, who have visited the mines and just returned.

"We found the Six Eagles Mines better than the company or any agent thereof is representing them. There is no end of rich ore. New machinery is installed and working as slick as grease. They are working 12 men night and day. They are down 185 feet. The ledge has widened to 4 feet and the indications are that it will continue to get wider the deeper they go. Every assay shows higher values and we took some ore from the last bucketful that came 'up' that is so rich that we think it will assay over $100 per ton. The company owns eight as good mines as can be found in that country. We are satisfied that it will soon become one of the best dividend payers in all Washington. We have guaranteed Manager J. M. Hagerty money enough to put the mines on their feet, including the tunnel, which we advised him to start at once. It will be 1200 feet long and will cut the ledges at a depth of 900 feet. The railroads are now within 30 miles of the mines and their grade stakes are within six miles of them. We all bought stock. We could not help it. The opportunity to make money is so good that one of our party bought 10,000 shares after seeing them. Some of us who had not bought previous to seeing the mines are now heavy stockholders. No one can help making money on Six Eagles stock."

"Six Eagles Stock is worth $1 per share right now and if I could not buy it cheaper I would not take that price for what stock I own."
T. C. Vaneppe, Olympia, Wash.

"Six Eagles ore is the richest we could find in the state of Washington and they have an inexhaustible quantity of it."
Nicholas Ruddebeck, Everett, Wash.
(Mr. Ruddebeck was superintendent of the Washington mineral exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.)

"I have known the Six Eagles Mines for a great many years. They are on the Simlikameen river just above me. No better mines lie out of doors."
George W. Adrian,
22 E. Franklin Ave., Minneapolis.

"I know the Six Eagle mines and I can recommend the stock."
J. W. McBride, Bolster, Wash.

"I am well acquainted with Mr. J. M.
Hagerty, have known him for about 15 years. I know him to be upright, honest, and a gentleman in every sense of the word. I look upon his proposition in Washington as being one of the best in that state and I do not think there is anything anywhere else better."
W. H. Clay,
1129 S. Topeka Ave., Wichita, Kansas.

"Visiting the Six Eagles mines last week we found them developed into an elegant property. With the labor saving machinery Manager Hagerty has he is able to work expeditiously and economically. The prospects were always bright for those mines but we now believe they will prove a credit to Okanogan County, the state of Washington, and a bonanza to stockholders."

Palmer Mountain Prospector (Published at Loomis, 10 miles from the mines.)

"Of all the meritorious mining propositions now offered to the public there is none that offers better or more promising inducements than the Six Eagles Mining Company of Washington. After informing ourselves respecting the officers of the company, the thorough practical management thereof, and the valuable mining properties which it owns and utilizes and which are now in a prosperous state of development, our confidence in the Six Eagles property is so strong that the Northwestern Magazine together with several of its employees have secured a block of stock which is now being held among its preferred securities and it may be here remarked incidentally that our confidence in the future value of this stock is so strong that not a dollar's worth of it is for sale."

Northwestern Magazine,
(October Number.)

"Given 'Good Mines' and there is only one thing left, viz.: Can you raise the money to make them shippers? The Six Eagles are good mines. All you have to do is to raise the money."
Robert Frost, Loomis, Wash.

The Olympia National Bank.
Olympia, Wash., April 18, 1901.

To whom it may concern:
"The officers of the Six Eagles Mining Co., are thorough going business men of this community. Their standing so far as we know is good. Quite a number of men here who have given considerable investigation to the matter seem pleased with the prospects, and have invested in the stock. We have no interest in the matter directly or indirectly."
C. H. Kegley, Pres.

"I can put the mines on their feet myself without any help whatever from anyone within eight months and I know it."
A. B. Lee, Wooster, Ohio.

"I would rather own the Six Eagles mine than any bank in your great State of Minnesota."
J. M. Hagerty.

Read the latest telegram from Mr. Lee on his return to his home in Ohio from the mines:
Wooster, Ohio, October 28, 1901.

"Send all the 100 and 500 share certificates you can spare immediately. Have sent 20,000 shares in three days."

At this rate all the stock will be sold within 90 days. I expect at any time to get instructions to advance it to not less than 50 cents—perhaps $1.00. Remember, we have eight mines; they are developed property; thousands of dollars has been already spent of which you get the benefit. No officers paid salary—economically managed. We say buy now at ground floor prices—this insures you the large dividend and advance in stock.

Mines only a short distance from us with not as good showing as we have at the same stage of development and stock is now selling at $40.00 per share in three years. Why can't Six Eagles do the same? It will.

If you will take a Rand & McNally map you will find our district located two miles south of the boundary; you will see Little Mt. Chapaca; this is the coming mountain.

Write for a prospectus giving full information of the Company, together with maps, and assays—everything you want to know is contained in it.

All stocks are fully paid and non-as-sable.

PROBATE ORDER.
STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASH-TENAW, s. s. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Friday, the 11th day of October in the year
one thousand nine hundred and one.
Present, Willis L. Watkins, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of William H.
Calvin, deceased.
James H. Taylor trustee of part of said estate, comes into court and represents that he is now prepared to render his final trustee account as such trustee.
Thereupon it is ordered that Friday the 8th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing such account, and that the heirs at law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, in said County and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed: And it is further ordered, that said trustee give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said account, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Chelsea Standard, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of the sum due upon a certain note and indenture of mortgage made on the 25th day of July, 1892, by Eliza C. Bird to John M.
Wheeler, which mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Washenaw, on the 25th day of August, 1892, in Book 7 of Mortgages on Page 431 on which there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of $446.17, and no proceedings at law or equity have been taken to recover the said sum of money or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that on the 25th day of January, 1902, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the south front door of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor, State of Michigan, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the lands and tenements thereby conveyed will be sold at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder to satisfy the debt secured thereby, and the costs and expenses of these proceedings including an attorney's fee of $15 provided for therein.

The lands, tenements and premises in the said mortgage mentioned and then and there to be sold are described as follows: All that certain piece or parcel of land situated and being in the City of Ann Arbor, County of Wash-enaw and State of Michigan, to-wit: Lot number twenty-four (24), Block two (2) in R. S.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Digests what you eat.

This preparation contains all of the digestants and digests all kinds of food. It gives instant relief and never fails to cure. It allows you to eat all the food you want. The most sensitive stomachs can take it. By its use many thousands of dyspeptics have been cured after everything else failed. It prevents formation of gas on the stomach, relieving all distress after eating.
Dieting unnecessary. Pleasant to take.

It can't help
but do you good
