UNIMPROVED LANDS.

Lyndon, Sylvan, Webster and Dexter have one-fourth of the unimproved lands in the county.

The supervisors of Washtenaw in making up their returns showed that there were 91,373 acres of unimproved lands in farms in Washtenaw county—a little less than a quarter of the acreage returned. It might be interesting to note where this unimproved land is.

The greatest acreage of unimproved lands in Washtenaw is in Lyndon township, there being found 9,497 acres there, or nearly 45 per cent of the total acreage.

Sylvan stands second with 6,502 acres, or about a third of the total acreage, and Webster third with 6,054 acres. Dexter township is fourth with 5,990 acres. These four townships all joined together, contain over a fourth of all the unimproved land in the county.

The smallest acreage of unimproved land is in Ypsilanti township, 1,848 acres, the second smallest Lodi, with 2,706 acres and the third Ann Arbor, with 2,763 acres. Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti are the two smallest townships in the county, the cities encroaching upon them.

The acreage of unimproved land in the other townships is: Augusta 4,409, Bridgewater 4,881, Freedom 5,406, Lima 5,875, Manchester 8,131, Northfield 8,584, Pittsfield 8,091, Salem 8,872, Saline 4,148, Seco 4,667, Sharon 8,693, Superior 8,905, York 8,818.

St. Patrick's Day Entertainment.

As has been the custom for many years past St. Mary's parish will have an entertainment under its auspices on St. Patrick's day, Monday, March 17. This year it will take the form of a dramatic performance, and it will doubtless be as much of a success as other like performances have been. The name of the play is "Captain Racket," a humorous comedy in three acts, and the cast of characters is as follows:

Captain Robt. Racket, of the National Guard, a lawyer when he has nothing else to do and a liar all the time—Jacob H. Umel.

Obadiah Dawson, his uncle from Japan, "where they make tea"—Louis Burg.

Timothy Tolman, his friend, who married for money and is sorry for it—Ralph Thacher.

Mr. Dalroy, his father-in-law, a jolly cove—Dan Conway.

Clarice, the Captain's pretty wife, out for a lark and up to anything awful—Miss Mabel McGulnane.

Mrs. Tolman, a lady with a temper, who finds her Timothy a vexation of spirit—Miss Mary Eder.

Katy, a mischievous maid—Miss Nellie Savage.

Tootsy, the "kid," Tim's olive branch—A little one.

Washtenaw County Farms.

The annual report of the secretary of state for the year ending Jan. 1, 1901, shows that there are 8,469 farms in Washtenaw county, divided among the townships as follows:

	Number of Farms.	Average Acres.
Ann Arbor.	155	89
Augusta.	201	67
Bridgewater.	208	100
Dexter.	114	150
Freedom.	150	125
Lima.	159	128
Lodi.	151	180
Lyndon.	145	148
Manchester.	175	98
Northfield.	238	88
Pittsfield.	166	115
Salem.	177	98
Saline.	169	103
Seco.	181	123
Sharon.	180	140
Superior.	199	105
Sylvan.	174	115
Webster.	148	148
York.	219	94
Ypsilanti.	185	87

The largest farms are in Dexter township, the smallest in Augusta.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best and most famous compound in the world to conquer aches and kill pains. Cures cuts, heals burns and bruises, subdues inflammation, mends piles. Millions of boxes sold yearly. Works wonders in boils, ulcers, fclous, skin eruptions. It cures or no pay. 25c at Glazier & Stimson's drug store.

Dr. D. C. Holly, the second graduate from the U. of M. medical school, died at his home in Ann Arbor Thursday last.

North Lake.

Mr. Hindelang and son were here buying horses Monday.

Miss Flora Burkhardt has returned home from her visit at Ann Arbor.

Mr. Dearing is on the sick list, having hurt his wife a few days ago.

Mr. Witty is on the sick list and has been confined to the house for some days.

Mrs. Geo. Webb is now much better. She was in a dangerous condition on Saturday.

Sawlogs are being hauled from here to James Cook's farm, where a mill will soon be running.

It is said that Byron Hopkins has bought the Alfred Lavy farm and will have to buy more teams.

Miss Ella Read is much improved in health. Her many friends hope for her speedy and entire recovery.

It is said that Samuel Schultz will work his father's farm this coming season. He will move from Howell now soon.

Horses and beanpods are in demand just at this time. Farmers are finding out the value of pods for sheep, pigs and cows.

Mr. Swartout, of Pinckney, made another visit here to try and get a mail route from that town to North Lake and vicinity.

Several ladies and gentlemen from Unadilla attended the oyster supper at Grange hall Friday evening. A good time all round.

Mrs. Janette Webb made a very pleasant call here one day this week. She goes to Adrian the latter part of the week on a visit of some days.

J. L. Watts has returned here from Mexico, where he went to settle on a farm, but found everything dried up and ready to burn, and hustled back.

The friends here of Miss Ingles, of Detroit, whose untimely death occurred in Ann Arbor recently, were saddened by the unelcome news. All had looked forward to a bright, useful future for the young lady.

Thomas Rabbit, of Dexter township, was stricken with paralysis a few days ago while riding in his cutter. He fell out and had to be helped to his home, where he continues in a state of bewilderment, his mind uncontrollable.

The social at R. O. Glenn's was well attended and all vied with each other in having a good time. There were plenty of musicians, and both instrumental and vocal music was up to date. Several recitations were given. Among those worthy of especial mention was one by Mrs. E. W. Daniels, two by Miss Smith, and one by Geo. Hudson. There was a well supplied larder and table from which the gentlemen kept the ladies and themselves from starvation. Our minister being with us kept things going until a little small hour.

Lyndon.

Jas. Smith, sr., has been quite sick with the grip.

Fred Staphin made a business trip to Bay City last week.

Treasurer E. D. Rowe is around calling upon dilatory taxpayers.

The Farmers' Club will have a meeting at A. J. Boyce's Saturday, Feb. 23.

Matt Hankerd and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ready, of Waterloo, Monday.

Miss Edith Gorman is spending the present week with her aunt, Mrs. P. Tuomey, of Ann Arbor.

F. Sweet, who has worked the Allen Skidmore farm for the past year, will move to the farm of his wife's mother in Henrietta.

Bert Young, who has been working in Detroit at the carpenter trade for the past year, is spending a couple of weeks at home.

Miss Florence Collins, who teaches at the Center, had to close school a few days last week on account of sickness. She resumed teaching again on Monday.

Ed. McCrowe had the misfortune of having his house burned on Monday night. Mr. McCrowe and his man, Bert Wallace, were the only ones at home as Mrs. McCrowe has been sick for some time and is at her old home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Leek. Both men were asleep and the fire had got such headway when the woke up that they hardly got out themselves. The house and contents were entirely destroyed. We understand that it was insured in the Eastern Mutual of Jackson.

New York's Interest Centers in European Nobility

The Aldermen Discuss Prince Henry.

Lent will be forgotten when German Prince Henry gets here; everybody is interested in his visit, except—

Mr. Thomas Hitchcock is one of the exceptions. He woke lately to find himself famous for having refused to give up his box at the opera to accommodate the prince's party. The matter is being smoothed over by huge feats of diplomacy, and the peppery old gentleman will soon subside into forgetfulness again.

Hitchcock is a newspaper man; almost the sole survivor of the famous group who made the "Sun" famous under Dana. For years he wrote the regular Monday morning chronicle of Wall street doings signed "Matthew Marshall," and as he succeeded in investing his money as wisely as he advised others he has now a bank account, a fine house, an opera box, membership in several clubs and a son, Center Hitchcock, famous as a whip and a daring rider in polo games.

Hitchcock is not the only one put out of joint by Prince Henry's coming. The aldermen are furious because only four of their number—and those the wrong ones, in the opinion of everybody except the four—are appointed on any committee to welcome the prince. The president of the board had a committee to name, but he gave five of the places to the borough presidents, who happen all to be reputable and presentable gentlemen, naming only four of the aldermen, who are mostly well, what New York aldermen are apt to be, even in reform times.

"They ain't no sense in makin' such a hissalutin' over the prince, anyways," says Alderman Bridges, the poet and orator of the board, and other members nod wisely but do not trust themselves to speak. The board can refuse to vote the money to pay for the prince's greeting; but that does them little good, as the group of rich men will put up what is necessary and say nothing.

So there will be the now famous opera performance, the dinner of 100 "solid citizens," the formal ceremonies of launching the emperor's yacht, which was the excuse for the prince's coming, and the formal welcome in which city and national magnates take part—but no aldermanic amenities to speak of.

The Germans in New York. The prince will see more people of German birth than he could see in any city of Europe except Berlin. He will be entertained at luncheon by a poor Platt-Deutscher lad who came to this country penniless and is now the publisher of the most profitable German newspaper in the world—Her man n Ridder, of the Staats-Zeitung; he will shake by the hand German congressmen, German ex-mayors like Schieren and Schroeder; he will note that most of the great piano houses of New York—the Steinways, Webers, Sohmers—are headed by Germans; he will hear of Wall street houses whose heads are German born; Carl Schurz will be presented to him as a man who fled Germany for his life in 1848 and who has since become first among German-American statesmen and leaders; great singing societies will fill the air with German song, and practically every band that plays German airs to cheer him will be manned by German musicians.

The Coronation and Miss Roosevelt. For a girl of 18, whose life has been quietly passed with her teachers, Miss Alice Roosevelt's "coming-out" year will be wildly hilarious. She will be the central figure at the launching of the emperor's yacht, in spite of the prince; for the people have always been ready to gush over a young girl in the white house—Nelle Grant is not far from it. Then there is the coronation; and whether Miss Roosevelt goes to London to see it or not she will have been prominent in a very hot discussion of the question whether she ought or ought not to do so. There's no doubt that royal circles in London would be greatly pleased to have her do so; it might take off the edge of her performance in christening the yacht of the kaiser. There are those who think it might be bad politics for the president to permit her to go. But in the case of a girl nobody really knows what would be good politics.

Miss Roosevelt is not a beauty; no one of her family is. Her nose has not quite the fashionable contour, which accounts for the fact that all her photographs are taken so as to show the face in front view or "three-quarters." But, like her mother, she is best described by two or three well-worked adjectives. She is "nice," "ladylike," "pleasant"—and withal girlish and unaffected. The ordeal of a society girl of 18 who comes at once bound from a schoolroom to the place of second conspicuousness in the country—and for a few months, indeed, the very first place—is not easy. But fortunately girls aren't awkward and gawky like boys of their age.

Miss Roosevelt never appeared at a "grown-up" affair of a social nature in New York. Last winter she had not "come out." Last summer she lived quietly in Oyster Bay, boating, swimming, driving about the country roads quite unobserved and looking very young and happy.

The Beggar with a Fortune. The other day there died a woman known as "Ragged Ann," a strange compound of beggar, tramp and miser.

By profession she was a ragpicker. In the hotel when she died were several barrels of rags and papers. At the bottom of each one of these was either money or a bank book, or a deed to some city property. There was $1,000 in cash, $6,000 in savings banks and property worth $50,000 more. Not long ago Ann hired an architect to supervise some buildings for her; she paid his fee with $500 in bills drawn from among the knotted rags that served her for clothing. She had tenants, rents, income sufficient for a comfortable life.

The city is full of such contrasts. You may have noticed, the last time you were here, a row of women selling newspapers at the New York entrance of Brooklyn bridge. There are perhaps half a dozen, constantly more or less at feud with each other. Mrs. Corcoran, a comfortably fat and well-clothed woman, very plain in appearance, is the plutocrat of the row. She owns half a dozen teeming tenements on the East side. Her wealth is estimated all the way from $30,000 to $100,000, and I haven't the least idea which is nearer right.

On William street is the tiny eating house of "Katy." Few know her other name. She is a warm-hearted, motherly German spinster, who has a huge family of nieces and nephews and has made a fortune to divide among them by selling wienerschnitzel, leberwurst and other German delicacies. The leberwurst and the rest, among other things, paid for a musical education for one of her nieces, little Frieda Stender, which put the latter upon the grand opera stage in minor roles.

Maria, the grinning Italian cook who runs the little eating house in West Twelfth street, which has been the headquarters for a certain Bohemian element in New York, is rich. She still comes out among her patrons occasionally with her sleeves rolled up above the elbows, then plunges back into her kitchen to work wonders with macaroni.

A Modest Hero of the Subway. It wasn't until all the excitement was over that the people realized how brave a man had died in the terrible dynamite accident.

Just the night before the explosion a baby was born to William Tubbs, foreman on the section of the tunnel work where the accident was to take place. Tubbs didn't take a day away from work. He was going so nicely in the morning. If he had—but it's no use thinking how different everything might be!

When the fire started in the dynamite shanty and crept toward the stored dynamite, Moses Epps, the colored powder man, ran and got a pall of water and tried to put it out. There wasn't water enough. He ran for another pallful, saw that an explosion was certain and shrank back. There was no shrinking with Tubbs; he fought the fire up to the last moment, and when several hundred pounds of the stuff blew up in one mighty blast he was the one man responsible who was killed.

Capitalists and corporations are heartless—sometimes. The contractor who employed Tubbs is going to continue his salary of $40 per week, and pay his widow $3,000 at once besides. That won't bring back the dead, but it's the best that any man can now do for the living—for the delicate wife and the three little babes.

OWEN LANGDON.

CHEERFULNESS A DRAWBACK.

Unsatisfactory Experience of a Merchant Who Was Too Agreeable in His Business.

Cheerful people, as a rule, never get any credit for such troubles as may bother them. In fact, the general tendency of humanity is to believe that cheerful people are cheerful because they don't have any trials, says the Detroit Free Press.

"My genial, light-hearted disposition is the greatest drawback I have to encounter," said one of these cheerful men the other day. "It is all right to wear a smiling face, to go through life making sunshine in shady places, and all that; but, say, who is under contract to make sunshine for me, I'd like to know? As a fireside accomplishment, a domestic grace, a cheerful manner may be highly desirable; but, as a commercial factor, let me tell you, it is a genuine, all around detriment and drawback. Now, look into the matter a minute. The cheerful man never gets any sympathy in any business disasters that befall him; his friends all say: 'Oh, Jack's all right. His lively temperament will pull him through; these joking fellows never suffer very much—their troubles are only skin deep.' So the cheerful man has to bind up his own bruises and crawl back into prosperous times entirely by his own efforts."

"Then, again, a man like me; born with a lively sense of humor and a tendency to take everything and everybody funny and foremost, never wins the respect that he is entitled to. Modesty laid aside for the moment, I'm a big success in business; unaided I've built up a big establishment. And I've never had any great losses, nor have I had to ask advice or help from other business men. Yet, every human being that comes in contact with me, and every employe under my big roof treat me as if I were about ten years old, or at least, only about on-third in my own right. I have to say everything at least three times before my clerks and other men believe I mean it. And employes who don't even earn what they are paid volunteer advice to me on every business move I make. It's all because I'm so cheerful—that's what it is. I can't help being boyish and joking any more than I can help having red hair; but I'm bringing up my only son all right. He's soon coming into the firm with me; and if I ever see him crack a smile during business hours I'll kill him."

FRENCH MAIDS TO THE FORE.

Some in the "Four Hundred" Pronounce Their "Oul, Monsieur," with an Irish Accent.

Who set the fashion is not set down in the annals of the "four hundred," but the dainty French maid is displacing the pompous butler and the dapper footman as the guardian of the portals of the mansions of the wealthy along Fifth avenue and the upper West side.

The stranger in upper tenement, unfamiliar with its ways, is no longer perplexed by his ring at the front door being answered by an important-looking man in evening clothes and he is not embarrassed by mistaking man for master, for the door is opened by a neat little maid in black, a tiny lace cap perched on her head and a dainty little apron marking her status in the house.

"Is Mr. Brown in?" asks the caller. "Oul, monsieur," is the reply, not infrequently with a Hibernian twang, and she takes the visitor's card with pretty grace and flits away with it.

Within the last few months, says the New York Times, the "French maid" has supplanted the man servant in quite a number of houses of the fashionable set.

Joke Was on Comedian. Sothorn, the comedian, was extremely sensitive to interruption of any sort. Seeing a man in the act of leaving his box during the delivery of one of the actor's best speeches, he shouted out: "Hi, you, sir; do you know there is another act?" The offender was equal to the occasion, however; he turned to the actor and answered, cheerfully: "Oh, yes—that's why I'm going!"—Tit-Bits.

Just Like the Rest of Us. "Do the Smiths keep a servant?" "No. They engage a good many, but they don't keep them."—Tit-Bits.

A PURIOUS STORM.

Terrible Blizzard Sweeps Eastern Portion of New York and the New England States.

New York, Feb. 18.—New York city has borne the brunt of the fiercest snowstorm that has struck this section of the country since the great blizzard of 1888. Beginning soon after midnight Sunday the storm increased rapidly until by daybreak the whole city was completely snowed under. The rising force of the gale piled the snow in great drifts that for a time suspended traffic except in the main thoroughfares, where the car tracks were only kept open by the constant use of snowplows and sweepers. Communication between Manhattan and Brooklyn was subject to long delay.

The congestion of traffic on the Manhattan street car lines was severe during the morning, when many of the avenues were blocked with long lines of stalled cars. On Broadway wheel traffic was confined to the narrow lanes between high snow hills and along these cars, trucks and cars crawled at a snail's pace. From other thoroughfares truck traffic disappeared almost entirely. In the shopping district the blockade was so complete that several of the great department stores closed at four o'clock. Four thousand men were set to work to clear the streets of Manhattan early in the afternoon. Of these half were engaged in opening cross walks, while 2,000 men and 300 trucks were employed to work all night clearing the main streets.

The conditions of traffic were in every respect worse than in the great blizzard of 1888. Telephone and telephone service in New York experienced little interruption, for while the snow was heavy, there was no sleet to break the wires. During the day only a few minor accidents to pedestrians resulted from the storm.

New York, Feb. 18.—The eastern part of New York state from this city to the Canadian border was swept by a blizzard such as had not been experienced for 14 years. Up to midnight reports showed that 16 counties had received in full force the effects of the gale and the accompanying fall of snow. These counties were Dutchess, Orange, Ulster, Albany, Schoharie, Schenectady, Montgomery, Saratoga, Essex, Columbia, Rensselaer, Washington, Clinton, Oneida, Onondaga and Chemung. Thus it will be seen that all the eastern tier of counties caught the storm and that it did not extend to the western portion of the state, although expected there. There is a sameness about the reports from the up-state towns. Anywhere from four to eighteen inches of snow, wind blowing at a hurricane rate, drifts from six to, in one instance, twenty-five feet deep are among the features, while there is iteration and reiteration of delayed trains, impeded or wholly abandoned trolley service and impassable country roads. The latest reports indicate that the worst is over, for the wind is abating and in many places the snow has ceased falling.

Boston, Feb. 18.—After an unprecedented stretch of clear weather dating back to Candlemas day, New England was blanketed Monday with a foot of wet snow and swept by a northeast gale. This onslaught of the elements impeded traffic and carried down the telegraph and telephone wires, so that many important points were cut off. Fortunately there was not a large amount of shipping off the coast, and no marine disaster had been reported.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 18.—Eight inches of snow had fallen in this city up to six o'clock Monday evening, according to the measurement of the weather observer. It is the heaviest snow fall of the winter and, piled into drifts by wind of a velocity of 36 miles an hour, has greatly delayed traffic all over the state. The train service of the steam railroads has been impeded and many trolley lines have been blocked.

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—The heavy snowstorm which began in this section at ten o'clock Sunday night ceased at five o'clock Monday morning, the fall of snow being the heaviest in three years. A high wind accompanied the snow. In this city 11 inches of snow were recorded at the weather bureau, and in the interior of Pennsylvania snow fell in depths varying from one to six inches. Snow was reported to be falling Monday night in the northeastern mountainous section of the state. The steam railroads centering in this city were considerably hampered, trains were greatly delayed, and in some instances annulled. The greatest difficulty was experienced within the city limits, and on the lines leading to New York and the seashore.

New York, Feb. 18.—Advices received from points in New Jersey show that the great blizzard has been felt from Bergen county to Cape May and from Atlantic City to Camden. The latest advices are that the storm has abated considerably, the snow having ceased to fall and the wind having decreased in velocity. As was natural, the brunt of the gale, which approached the dimensions of a hurricane, was felt by the sea coast towns, but the interior cities and townships did not escape.

LONDON VERDICT IS St. Jacobs Oil

If when you have Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Lumbago, or Sciatica, you immediately apply St. Jacobs Oil, you will find it a most powerful remedy. It penetrates instantly to the very seat of the disease, and removes the cause of the pain.

MR. HENRY JOHN BARLOW, of 4, St. James' Place, Bedford Square, London, writes: "I have suffered from Rheumatism in my feet and legs, which became so bad that I was hardly able to walk. St. Jacobs Oil removed all pain, and completely cured me."

Mrs. WILHELMINE, of 10, Moor Street, Birmingham, writes: "I have suffered from Rheumatism in my arms and legs, which became so bad that I was hardly able to move. St. Jacobs Oil removed all pain, and completely cured me."

MR. CHARLES CARTWRIGHT, of No. 7, Alfred Place, Bedford Square, London, writes: "Having for years been a great sufferer from Rheumatism in my limbs, I used St. Jacobs Oil, which cured me. I feel better than I have for years."

The above are only three out of the thousands of cases which have been permanently cured of Rheumatism by the timely use of St. Jacobs Oil. Therefore, if you suffer from this disease, do not immediately apply St. Jacobs Oil.

CONQUERS PAIN

ANGORA GOAT LANDS.

Angora goat breeders are selling large numbers of fine stock to be run on the out-lying lands of northern Wisconsin.

The "Soe Line," which extends east and west through a fine strip of country at least a dozen fine flocks have come in during the last few months and the demand for goats exceeds the supply. The wool of the Angora goat browsing on the rich herbage of northern Wisconsin is of a superior quality, due, no doubt, in part to the climate, water and ideal conditions there found.

The farmer who puts sheep and Angora goats upon land from which the timber has been removed will soon find that without any work on his part, these animals have converted the land into a pasture covered with a mat of blue grass and white clover, for as soon as the brush and the browse has been grazed down and the sun gets to the soil, blue grass and white clover spring up as if they had been seeded by man.

If you want to know more about this country, write to D. W. Casseday, Land and Industrial Agent, "Soe Line," Minneapolis, Minn.

Musical Sensations and Surgical Anesthesia.

A Paris dentist, Drossner, has discovered that while his patients succumb to the influence of an anesthetic, he has noticed that the hallucinations were invariably connected with the sounds from the street below. The auditory sensations seem intimately connected with the anesthetic sleep, and the idea occurred to him to substitute for the discordant, terrifying sounds of the street harmonious musical sounds. He arranged a graphophone with a receiver for each ear. As the patient took his seat, the receivers were placed in his ears, and the nitrogen gas administered. He could hear nothing but the music. The operation over, the patient is aroused with none of the hallucinations from the street noises, but calm and cheerful as before, saying that he heard nothing but the music.

This ingenious device is certainly a definite advance on the part of the anesthetist. Not only can it be used in the case of the temporary anesthesia of nitrous oxide gas, but it can be called into action in ether and chloroform anesthetics. It is a common experience that one of the most disagreeable features about the taking of an anesthetic is the terrifying noises heard by the patient. These can all be avoided by using a graphophone. It was pointed out to the Academy of Medicine of Paris that the general anesthesia may be begun with nitrous oxide gas, using the graphophone, and then the anesthetic state kept up with ether or chloroform. This procedure certainly robs the patient of a most painful part of the anesthesia, and should be practiced wherever practicable. The French dentist who first advocated it is certainly a resourceful man. The procedure may seem a refinement to some, but it certainly will win the gratitude of those who suffer so much from the auditory hallucinations of anesthetization.

No Smallpox at Agricultural College.

Agricultural College, Mich.

Feb. 17, 1902.

To the Editor:

The daily press has announced that there is a case of smallpox at the Agricultural College. I hope that no one will stay at home from the Round-up Institute at the College, Feb. 25-28, fearing exposure to this disease. A suspected case has been kept in quarantine for four weeks, but there is now not the slightest danger of smallpox at the College or in Lansing.

COUNTY CLEANINGS.

Deacon Josiah Childs, of Augusta, died Monday aged 80 years.

The mail route from Ypsilanti to Saline via the D., Y., A. & J. is to be started March 1.

John Wice, of Willis, and E. O. Case, of Milan, will start a cheese factory in the latter village next month.

Louis Schlappass, an Ann Arbor boy, has been signed on the Whaling, W. Va., base ball team to play third base.

Oscar L. Steffy, a wood and coal dealer in Ypsilanti for 30 years, died there Thursday. He was born in Stockbridge in 1847.

The State Savings Bank, Ann Arbor, has purchased the corner lot now occupied for $410 a foot front, 50 feet wide and 50 feet deep, and will erect a new building upon it this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Josephans, of Saline, have been married 62 years. Mr. Josephans is in his 87th year and his wife is 81. They were married in 1840, and came to this county in 1855.

Mrs. J. M. Cutler, one of the pioneers of Washtenaw county, her husband having for many years been proprietor of the Follett house, Ypsilanti, died in Ann Arbor Tuesday, aged 88 years.

Albert O. Klein, a junior student in the pharmacy department at the U. of M., committed suicide Sunday morning by taking prussic acid which he made himself. No reason is known for the deed.

The K. O. T. M. contest between the Manchester and Saline tents is over. Manchester secured 21 new members and Saline only 5. Saline must give the supper to the Manchester boys in consequence.

The physicians appointed by Probate Judge Watkins to examine into the condition of Seueca Litclard reported that his condition was too dangerous at present to admit of his removal to an insane asylum.

Howard Clark, Geo. Crow and Ed. Braun, of Manchester, were out shooting rabbits the other day when in passing through a field gate it swung to and struck the hammer of Crow's gun causing it to go off. The charge of shot struck Clark in the right foot inflicting a flesh wound. Crow felt so bad about his gun being the one that caused his companion's wound that he smashed it to pieces, which was a very silly, childish trick.

Two smooth guys worked Linden Schmitt & Apfel, clothing merchants, of Ann Arbor, for $58 worth of clothing last week. They represented themselves as students and one of them gave the name of a bona fide student and so secured the goods on credit. The guilty ones were found to be Ernest and Jay Fuller, of Detroit, both of them students, one in the university, the other in the high school. Their father settled the bill and the matter was dropped.

"I have used Merriman's All Night Workers in my practice; they are my favorite laxative pill. It is impossible to say too much in their favor. Dr. F. Lincoln Howard, Madison and Paulina streets, Chicago." For sale by all druggists. Price 25 cents.

Lima.

The next farmers' club meeting will be held at the home of Rufus Phelps.

The steel roof has been put on the power house and it is now ready for the tile.

Frank Guerlin and Nelson Jones from Chelsea spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. O. B. Guerlin.

The League cleared $35.55 from their box social Friday night. The League feels very grateful to Geo. E. Davis, the auctioneer, and other friends who so generously helped them to pay the debt on the League room.

A Legacy of the Grip.

Is often a run-down system. Weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys often follow an attack of this wretched disease. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic, blood purifier and regulator of stomach liver and kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system, and restore to health and good spirits after an attack of grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50c. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed by Glazier & Stinson.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Louis Eichenman is now employed at his trade of cigar making in Ann Arbor.

The annual meeting of teachers, officers and patrons of the rural schools of Washtenaw county will be held at the Ann Arbor high school Saturday, March 1. The full program will be given in these columns next week.

The Chelsea Congregational church has received an invitation to send a delegate and be present at the ordination of Mr. H. B. 11 to the ministry, which ceremony will take place in the Northside Union church, Ann Arbor, next Monday. Rev. C. S. Jones will deliver the charge to the people on the occasion. The delegate from this church will be elected at the prayer meeting to be held this evening.

State Oil Inspector Judson is somewhat anxious as to whether he is out $395.92 as the result of the Detroit City Savings Bank suspension. One of his deputies sent him a draft for that amount on New York, which was purchased at the suspended bank. Mr. Judson endorsed it and put it in an Ann Arbor bank for collection. Tuesday the draft was returned from New York with the inscription across its face "Bank suspended."

Harry Adams, the young athlete from Howagiac, who is to walk to San Francisco in a year, earn $500 and get a wife, and must not beg, borrow or steal to get the money, nor spend a cent, on a waiver of $1,200, was in Chelsea Friday. He already has $425 of his $500 earned from advertisements painted on the barrow he has to push all the way, and he has 73 offers of marriage to consider, so it looks as if he had a pretty soft snap all round.

The sky looks bluer, the sun shines brighter, a feeling of youth and strength creeps over the soul after taking Rocky Mountain Tea made by the Madison Medicine Co. 35 cents. Glazier & Stinson.

School Notes.

A number of the school children still have the mumps.

The tenth grade English class are now reading the "Iliad."

The final examination in Geometry was held Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Anna, of Eaton Rapids, and Mrs. W. W. Gifford visited the High School Tuesday afternoon.

Remember that James E. Harkins, of Ann Arbor, will sing at the production of "Captain Swell," Feb. 28.

A number of reference books for the use of the General History classes are the latest addition to the library.

The report in last week's paper that the work in the third grade was up to the standard, ought to have read the fourth grade.

The people who wish to aid the Athletic Association in getting a new ball park may do so by attending the entertainment Feb. 28.

The seats for "Captain Swell," Feb. 28, are selling fast and there is every indication of a good house. Seats may be procured at Glazier & Stinson's.

In the third grade last week Miss Martin had been reading a story about beautiful things and when she had finished she asked the scholars what people most admired in one's face. One little boy answered, "Face-powder."

Helen Keller's First Earnings.

There is a pretty story in connection with the series of articles which Helen Keller, the wonderful blind girl, has written for the Ladies' Home Journal, telling about her own life from infancy to the present day. She always has shrunk from the publicity which follows successful literary work, and it was with great difficulty that she was persuaded to take up the task of preparing her autobiography. She had, however, set her heart on owning an island in Halifax harbor for a summer home, and in a spirit of fun the editor of the Journal offered to buy it for her, or to provide the means to buy it. When the work of writing appeared especially irksome Miss Keller was reminded of her desire to become a landholder, and it spurred her on. Just before Christmas she completed the first chapter of her marvelous story; and on Christmas morning she received from her publishers a check for a good round sum. Her delight may be imagined, for this was the first money of any account which she had ever earned. "It is a fairy tale come true," she said. Whether she will really carry out her plan to buy the island remains to be seen.

Millions Put to Work.

The wonderful activity of the new century is shown by an enormous demand for the world's best workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. For constipation, sick headache, biliousness, or any trouble of stomach, liver or kidneys they're unrivaled. Only 25c. at Glazier & Stinson's drug store.

CHINESE etiquette forbids an actor to turn his back to the Emperor. So he wears a mask on the back of his head, and a costume with two fronts. It is ridiculous. But it is the only way of compliance with an impossible demand. You see the same thing in trade. Everyone wants fine coffee cheap, but everyone knows fine coffee isn't cheap. Chinese-like, someone offers coffee "just as good" as Chase & Sanborn's "Seal Brand" for a less price. "Just as good" is only a Chinese mask! Don't be humbugged! At

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Monday, March 10, is charter election day.

A good many new houses will be erected in Chelsea this spring.

Fred Fuller has given up draying for Ed. Chaudler and is now employed in the Glazier stove works.

Rev. O. S. Jones has declined a call to the Congregational church at Belling, where he preached Feb. 9.

A motion for security for costs has been filed by the defendant's attorney in the case of James Taylor, administrator, et al. vs. Clara A. Stupish.

The Chelsea Telephone Co. has over 100 subscribers on the exchange and will soon have to put in a new switch board to accommodate its increasing business.

The Chelsea high school baseball team has arranged two games with the Tipton team to take place April 26 and June 7, and one with Wayne for May 8.

Rev. O. S. Jones will deliver a sermon at the Congregational church Sunday evening on "The unique place of Washtenaw in the hearts of American people."

Mrs. J. Bacon is the delegate from Columbia Hve, L. O. T. M., at the meeting of the Great Hve at Marquette next June. Mrs. C. M. Davis is the alternate.

The Francis E. Willard memorial services at the M. E. church Sunday evening were largely attended. The musical and literary program was of exceptional excellence.

Mort Yackley has patented a device for attachment to the side of a house in which to place newspapers brought by carrier. Quite a number have been sold around town.

The post office department is seriously considering the question of having rural mail carriers reverse their routes, going out in one direction and the other direction the next morning.

A large party of Chelsea folks will go to Ann Arbor this evening to witness the performance of "H. M. S. Pinafore" at the Athens theater, under the auspices of Ann Arbor Commandery, K. T.

The Business Men's Class of the Congregational church will discuss the question "Are young men's chances growing less?" at the meeting next Sunday. Ralph Holmes will read the opening paper.

The Battle Creek sanitarium, owned by the Seventh Day Adventists, burned to the ground early Monday morning, entailing the probable loss of one human life and destroying property valued at from $200,000 to $400,000.

W. R. Lehman says he has the fastest horse in Chelsea and is willing to gamble on it. He says he got such a fast horse so that when he gets into the race for sheriff none of the other candidates will be able to go by him.

Two of Chelsea's young people will take part in the "Pinafore" entertainment at Ann Arbor this evening. They are Miss Dora Schnaltman and Warren Boyd who are two of the eight young people who will dance the Sailor's Hornpipe under the direction of Prof. Granger.

Instead of the regular sermon by the pastor at the Baptist church Sunday morning, Mr. Herman Lee Swift, who is in charge of the Buell Land farm for boys near Leoni, will speak. Mr. Swift is a very interesting speaker and will be accompanied by some of his boys who will sing.

Eugene J. Helber, of the Neue Washtenaw Post, Ann Arbor, has bought the Hausfreund Post from his brother-in-law L. J. Liemer, and will combine the two papers, making one German paper only, in Washtenaw county, which is amply sufficient. Helber says his politics in future will be strictly independent.

Charles Merker took Fred Fuller's place on one of Ed. Chaudler's drays Monday and on Tuesday he met with an accident that will lay him off work for some time. He was taking a boxed piano from the freight house to Frank Carringer's, when in some way it fell over on him breaking some of the bones in his hand and ankle.

A small blaze that might have been much more serious occurred in R. A. Snyder's warehouse yesterday noon. A large quantity of hay is stored in it together with the onions. It is supposed that an oil heater communicated the flames to the hay, at any rate about 1 1/2 tons was badly scorched. By prompt and efficient work the fire was put out. The hay belonged to D. C. McLaren.

Remember the Martha Washington tea Friday evening, Feb. 31, given by the Epworth League at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Glazier. George and Martha Washington, and Uncle Sam and Columbia will be there to receive you. A fine supper will be served at 25 cents, proceeds to apply on the organ pledge of the society. Several fine musical numbers will be rendered during the evening. Everyone is cordially invited.

Frank Leach has purchased a fast rooster from J. Bower.

The Junior O. E. added a goodly sum to their treasury as the result of the Valentine social Friday evening.

The annual Washtenaw county fair will this year be held Sept. 9, 10, 11 and 12, nearly a month earlier than heretofore.

The Glen V. Mills Directory Company, of Ann Arbor, with a capital of $10,000, has been incorporated with the secretary of state.

Last week Matthew Jensen, of Sylvan, sold 48 last spring lambs to Martin Wackenhut, that averaged 445 pounds each in weight.

Martha Washington social at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Glazier tomorrow (Friday) evening. Everybody is invited to attend.

The Ann Arbor Savings Bank ranks first in Michigan in percentage of surplus and profits to its capitalization. It stands thirteenth in this respect in the whole United States.

Stockbridge Sun: While sawing wood at Andrew Rithmiller's, of Watrino, Friday, Feb. 7, John Breitenbach had the misfortune to have a gash cut in his head by the throttle blowing off the engine.

Saturday, Feb. 23, is Washington's Birthday and a public holiday. William Jennings Bryan, of free silver fame, will address the law students of the U. of M. at University hall, Ann Arbor, in the afternoon.

Ypsilanti is still no the boom, there are three more manufacturing concerns that would like to locate there. It is manufacturing that help to build up a place. Why cannot Chelsea get some of them to locate here?

Dr. Jas. B. Angell, president of the University of Michigan, has set his foot down hard on the smoker question. He said he did not wish to prevent stag gatherings among the students, but he did intend to stop the beer drinking affairs. President Angell is to be congratulated on the firm stand he has taken in this matter.

There were four different hearings on the streets of Chelsea Tuesday, three of them at the same time.—Herald. And you call that a live town.—Manchester Enter, rise. Yes, Chelsea is a live town in the strictest sense of the term, but people have to die just the same, and the people who die in Manchester have to be buried there and are brought here for interment.

The Francisco power house of the D. Y. A. A. & J. road has been put in operation and is running perfectly. The cars are now making the run between Ann Arbor and Jackson, in 1 1/4 hours. An hourly service has been established, for a schedule of which see the time card in another column of this page of the Herald. Cut out the time card and paste it in your hat.

Thomas Shane, a horse dealer from Traverse City, was in this vicinity last week, and while here purchased several good horses. Among them were teams from Joe Liebeck and Newton Prudden, and one horse each from Louis H. Hinde, Lang, L. Buss, Frank Cooper, Tommy McNamara and Ed. Weiss. The horses were shipped north from Ann Arbor Thursday. This is the third lot of horses Mr. Shane has bought in this section lately.

The opera "H. M. S. Pinafore" will be produced at the Athens theater, Ann Arbor, tonight and tomorrow night, by an amateur company of Ann Arbor singers under the musical direction of Prof. R. H. Kempf and the stage management of George H. Herber, of Chicago. The opera was given under the same gentlemen's direction a few years ago and was a grand success. It is this time given under the auspices of Ann Arbor Commandery, No. 18, Knights Templar.

D. C. McLaren having sold his farm will sell the whole of his personal property at public auction on the premises 1 1/4 miles southeast of Lima Center and 5 miles southeast of Chelsea, on Tuesday, Feb. 23, commencing at 9:30 a. m. The property consists of 8 horses, 80 head of cattle, 100 breeding ewes, 3 Shropshire rams, 4 shoats, 1,000 bushels of corn, 800 bushels of oats, a quantity of hay and cornstalks, and all the farming implements usually found on a large farm. Plenty of barn room and a good lunch and hot coffee at noon. Geo. E. Davis, salesman.

Saved Her Child's Life.

"In three weeks our chubby little boy was changed by pneumonia almost to a skeleton," writes Mrs. W. Watkins, of Pleasant City, O. "A terrible cough set in, that, in spite of a good doctor's treatment for several weeks, grew worse every day. We then used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was soon sound and well. We are sure this grand medicine saved his life." Millions know it's the only sure cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Glazier & Stinson guarantee satisfaction. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottles free.

VARSITY TRACK RECORDS

Complete Summary of Events and Names of Those Who Have Been Successful.

IMPROVEMENTS HAVE BEEN REMARKABLE

Colored Students Form an Association for Mutual Aid at the University. A Michigan-Wonderful Discovery Made by Two Professors of Chemistry.

[Special Correspondence.] University of Michigan.—Now that the track athletes of the University of Michigan have commenced active training, and the season of indoor sports is near at hand, a brief summary of the present varsity records will not be amiss.

The fastest time ever recorded at Michigan for the 100-yard dash was made last spring by "Archie" Hahn, when he covered the distance in 10 seconds flat.

The record for the 220-yard dash has been held by J. M. Thomas, of the class of '98, since that year. His time was 22 seconds flat, a performance which bids fair to stand for some time to come.

C. T. Teetzel holds the honor of having made the fastest quarter mile at Michigan. Although his method of running was laborious in the extreme, he could cover the ground at a great pace, as is shown by his time of 50 seconds for the distance.

The half-mile record is held by Howard W. Hayes, captain of last year's championship team, and the only one on it not to return to college this year. His best time is 3:01, made in 1899.

Michigan's one-mile record is 4 minutes 38-2-5 seconds. This time was made by Julius Wood, '00, in 1897.

At the conference meet in Chicago last June the two-mile run was won by Nelson A. Kellogg, of Michigan, in 10:09 3-5, thus setting a new western intercollegiate record.

Since the mile walk as a regular event has been dropped, the time of 7:15 made in 1885 will always stand as the varsity record. This was made by Dean C. Worcester, '86, late of the faculty, and at present a member of the commission engaged in instituting civil government in the Philippines.

The records for both the 120-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard low hurdles are held by "Jack" McLean, '00, ex-track captain and varsity half back. He cleared the high hurdles in 15 2-5 seconds, and the low hurdles in 25 2-5 seconds. McLean also holds the record for the running broad jump, having covered 23 feet in 1890. A. Armstrong, the present varsity high jumper, cleared the bar at 6 feet in 1900, the best ever made by a Michigan man.

In the pole-vault Charles E. Dvorak, captain of this year's track team, holds the record at 11 feet 6 inches, made in 1900. An injured ankle prevented him from surpassing this in 1901, but it is generally conceded that under favorable conditions he will set a new mark this year.

The hammer throw in the western intercollegiate last year was won by Bruce Shortt, captain of our next football team. He hurled the 16-pound missile 120 feet 7 1/2 inches, setting a new Michigan record for the event. The shot-put record stand at 44 feet 3-4 inches, and was made in 1895 by F. M. Hall.

The longest drop kick recorded at Michigan was made by J. E. Duffy in 1890; the distance being 168 feet 7 1/2 inches. The event has not been contested of late years.

The record in the discus throw, a comparatively new event, is 107 feet 2 inches, and was made by Waldo A. Avery in 1900.

The above records, with a few exceptions, are of noticeably recent date, showing the steady improvement of Michigan athletes. Another fact that argues well for Michigan's success this year, is that the holders of five of the records are now in college and will again compete in their respective events.

For Mutual Aid.

A colored students' association has been formed at the University of Michigan for one of the most commendable purposes that ever a club was organized—namely, to assist poor colored boys to come to the university, and after they arrive, provide them with work, lodging and books. When any are sick they will be cared for. All honor for the society belongs to Eugene Marshall, a member of the junior law class, and a native of Detroit and a graduate of the Detroit Central high school. Mr. Marshall came into prominence last winter by winning a place in the university oratorical contest. He is a faithful student and has the great credit of having paid his own way through the university. He states the aim of the society as follows:

"Ever since I have been in the university I have wanted to start a society that would be of aid to my race in getting a university education. Young colored men come here with little money, but a great determination to work their way through the course they have chosen. We mean to help them first to settle comfortably. There is a prevailing discrimination against the race in boarding and eating houses. We shall try to find congenial places for the newcomers. Then we shall try to get places for those that wish to work—places in fraternity houses and in boarding and rooming houses where they may get room and board in return for work. We shall start a sick fund. We also mean to hand down all our text-books, so that in time it will not be necessary for new students to pay out large sums for new books. This is always a very heavy item for those that have to count the dollars and must earn their living."

With Mr. Marshall are associated the following colored students: Percy Garrett, J. G. Steere, E. Brown, J. Fletcher and J. R. Richardson.

Wonderful Discovery.

Dr. Frederick G. Novy, junior professor of hygiene and physical chemistry, and Dr. Paul C. Freer, professor of general chemistry in the University of Michigan, the latter of whom is now on a leave of absence as superintendent of the government laboratories in the Philippines, have been engaged during the past two years in studying the conditions under which organic peroxides are formed and in investigating the action of these compounds upon disease-producing organisms. They have been able to show that various surfaces such as metals, fabrics, paper, etc., exert a marked influence upon the rate of formation of some of the peroxides.

Of the six peroxides examined, two were found to possess remarkable germicidal action. These two substances are spoken of chemically as benzoyl acetyl peroxide and diacetyl peroxide. In the presence of water these compounds undergo hydrolysis, yielding acetyl hydrogen peroxide, and benzoyl hydrogen peroxide, and it is to these hydrolyzed products that the pronounced germicidal effects are due.

The active constituents can be brought in water solution in various strengths or concentration, and such solutions readily destroy in test-tube experiments all pathogenic bacteria.

If the discovery proves as successful in actual practice as in the laboratory, its assistance in preserving the health of military camps, in the prevention of Asiatic cholera epidemics, and in the general combating of all diseases in which intestinal germs play a part, is inestimable.

Exhaustive papers on the subject will shortly appear in the Journal of Experimental Medicine, and in the American Journal of Chemistry.

Little Smallpox.

The reports concerning the existence of smallpox in the upper peninsula are wildly exaggerated. There is no epidemic in any locality, unless it be in a remote section of Gogebic county, and the few scattered cases are causing no fear. There are a few scattering cases of smallpox in Dickinson, Houghton, Delta and Gogebic counties, and Marquette, Alger and one or two others have had a slight touch of the disease, but in no section does the situation cause apprehension.

Strictly Cash.

A certain minister at St. Charles will conduct his marrying business on the same plan as Uncle Sam runs his post office department—strictly cash on the spot. He tied the knot for a couple several weeks ago, and the groom paid him one dollar with the remark that he would bring the other half of the legal fee around the next day. He hasn't shown up yet, nor has the dollar, hence the minister's resolution.

Not in It.

The "oldest living triplets" claimed by Illinois are not in it with a trio who live in St. Clair. The latter were born in 1844, while the Illinois bunch did not come into the world for 12 years later. The St. Clair triplets are Mrs. T. L. Kemp, Miss Emma Crampton and B. F. Crampton, and they are the children of Mrs. W. C. Crampton, who died last summer at the age of 70 years.

Postmaster 53 Years.

Squire Daniel C. Higbee, the oldest resident of the village of Bertrand, died at the age of 91 years. He was born in Mexico, N. Y., in 1811. In 1836 he moved with his parents to Bertrand and had since conducted a general store in the village. For many years he was justice of the peace and for 63 consecutive years was village postmaster.

Going to Australia.

Prof. J. D. Towar, agriculturist of the experiment station at the agriculturist college, received a cablegram from London announcing his appointment to the government professorship of agriculture in South Australia. Prof. Towar has wired his acceptance of the offer.

HOPELESSLY INSANE.

A Man Who Confessed to Murder in Muskegon in 1875 Will Never Regain His Mind.

The family of James S. Mather, at Elkhart, Ind., has just been notified by Superintendent Rogers, of Long Cliff asylum, in Niles, that there will never be any permanent improvement in his condition. Mather recently confessed that he murdered a man by the name of Olson at Muskegon, Mich., in September, 1875. Chief of Police Garaghty, of Muskegon, visited Mather recently, and after a long interview with him told Dr. Rogers that the Michigan authorities would never do anything regarding the Olson murder unless Mather was dismissed as cured or escaped. Mather told the same story to Garaghty that he did to the Elkhart police, except that he insisted that he killed Olson in self-defense.

ACCUSES HIS SON.

An Aged Man Is Awarded Damages for Long Confinement in an Insane Asylum.

Aged and bearing marks of violence which he said were the result of brutal treatment received during six years' confinement in an insane asylum at the instigation of his son, Michael Kennedy, sat in court in Niles and heard a verdict awarding him $1,500 damages from his alleged persecutors. He had sued the son, Richard Kennedy, for $10,000. On the witness stand the father told a distressing story of hardship and deprivation said to have been suffered while he, a sane man, was kept a prisoner in the Dearborn asylum. He was the owner of a large amount of property, and charged that the object of the son was to secure possession of this estate.

DEATHS IN SOLDIERS' HOME.

Three Veterans Die of Paralysis in Grand Rapids Within a Few Days of Each Other.

Three deaths have occurred at the soldiers' home in Grand Rapids within the past few days, and all were the result of paralysis. Thomas H. Osterlander was the first to answer the final roll call, and the end came 24 hours after he was seized with a stroke of paralysis. His home was in Muskegon. James A. Bennett, whose home was in Coldwater, was the second to go. During the war he was a member of company B, First Michigan infantry. W. A. Ford was the third to go. He entered the home from Mecosta county four years ago, and during the war, was in company I, Twentieth Michigan infantry.

A Busy Month.

State Game Warden Morse in his monthly report for January, filed with the secretary of state, says:

All game is wintering well, and that very little damage has been done to deer by wolves. During the month the department investigated 117 complaints of violations of the fish and game laws and 77 arrests were made. 35 for violations of the game laws and 42 for violations of the fish laws. Sixty-nine persons were convicted, two acquitted and four discharged. The costs and fines imposed amounted to $320.65. There were 80 seizures of contraband game and fish and fishing apparatus in inland waters.

Business Resumes.

Assistant Adjutant General Turner has prepared a resume of the business of that office for the past year, which shows that 716 certificates of military service were issued to veterans of the civil war, and 30 to soldiers of the Spanish-American war; 104 volumes of "Michigan in the War" and 104 volumes of "Michigan at Chickamauga, Chattanooga and Missionary Ridge" were issued, and 118 special and 21 general orders were promulgated.

Lake Superior Summer Home.

The Isle Royale Land corporation of Liverpool, England, has completed plans for converting Isle Royale, in Lake Superior, into a summer resort. The company controls nearly 100,000 acres of land on the island, more than two-thirds of the entire surface, and during the coming summer thousands of dollars will be expended in the construction of hotels, drives, pavilions, halls, etc.

Out of Existence.

The franchise of the old Ann Arbor & Lodi Plank Road company has expired and the tolls which have been collected for 80 years will be discontinued, as the company does not expect to ask for a renewal of the franchise, but will sell off their property and divide the proceedings among the stockholders.

Colored Masons.

The Union grand lodge of colored masons in sessions in Lansing elected the following officers: Grand master, Robert C. Barnes, of Detroit; deputy grand master, J. J. Adams, of Battle Creek; senior grand warden, J. H. Hatfield, of Saginaw; junior grand warden, A. J. White, of Detroit; grand treasurer, A. P. Manuel, of Battle Creek; grand killer, A. A. Dixon, of Battle Creek.

Six Husbands.

There is said to be a woman in Evergreen township, Sanilac county, who has six husbands living. She is not a bigamist, either, the divorce court having separated her from each one before she married his successor.

ROUND OF PLEASURE TO MARK HIS VISIT

Prince Henry Will by No Means Find Time Hanging Heavily on His Hands—Official Programme of His Itinerary Published—Points Which Are to Be Visited.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Dr. Hill, for the president's delegates, Monday made public the general programme and itinerary of the visit of his royal highness, Prince Henry of Prussia, covering the period of time from Saturday, February 22, to Tuesday, March 11, 1902. From time to time publication has been made of parts of the itinerary relating to one or two cities and towns, but there has been more or less change in the original programme and new features have been added. As it now stands, the itinerary and programme is declared by the president's delegates to be final. It is as follows:

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 22.—Arrival in New York harbor, probably about noon, on Kronprinz Wilhelm, of North German Lloyd line. Admiral Evans, commanding the special squadron, will meet the steamer at quarantine station and conduct his royal highness, Prince Henry of Prussia, with his suite to the Hohenzollern, which the president's delegates will then visit to extend greetings. Exchange of official visits during the afternoon. Prince Henry and his suite will attend the Irving Place theater and return to the Hohenzollern for the night.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 23.—In the morning religious exercises on board the Hohenzollern. If the weather is favorable a visit to the tomb of Gen. Grant in the afternoon. Private entertainment by the Deutscher Verein. Leave for Washington in the evening by special train on the Pennsylvania railroad.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24.—Short stop at Baltimore at nine a. m. Arrival at Washington at 10:30 a. m. Military escort from the Pennsylvania railroad station to the white house and thence to the German embassy. The president will return the visit of the prince at noon. Visit of the commissioners of the District of Columbia and brief address of welcome. Visits of ambassadors and ministers. Visit to the capitol at four p. m. Dinner at the white house at eight p. m. After dinner the prince will return to New York by special train on the Pennsylvania railroad. Departure of the president and his party for Jersey City by the Pennsylvania railroad.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 25.—Departure of the prince and his suite and of the president and his party from Jersey City for the shipyards of the Townsend-Downey Ship Building company, at Shaker's Island. Launching of the yacht of the German emperor at 10:30 a. m. Luncheon to the president on board the Hohenzollern at one p. m. Military escort to receive the prince at the customhouse wharf battery, where he will land at 3:30 p. m. and proceed to the city hall. Visit of the prince to the mayor of New York, and presentation of the freedom of the city at city hall at four p. m. Dinner of the mayor of New York at 6:30 p. m. Gala opera at the Metropolitan opera house after the dinner.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26.—Luncheon with representatives of commerce and industry at 12:30 p. m. Sight-seeing in New York in the afternoon. Torchlight concert at the Arion club at 6:30 p. m. Banquet of the press of the United States at eight p. m. Special ferry to the Pennsylvania railroad at 12 midnight and journey to Washington.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27.—Arrival of the prince at Washington and escort to the German embassy. Memorial exercises to President McKinley in the House of representatives, the prince and his suite attending. Visit in the afternoon to Mount Vernon.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28.—Visit to Annapolis in the forenoon. Luncheon at Annapolis at 12 noon. Farewell visit of the prince to the president. Dinner at the German embassy.

SATURDAY, MARCH 1.—Departure of the prince and his suite for his southern and western tour on special train. Journey across the Allegheny mountains, by Horseshoe Curve, on Pennsylvania railroad. Stop of ten minutes at Pittsburgh, and Columbus, and of 20 minutes at Cincinnati.

SUNDAY, MARCH 2.—Arrival at Chattanooga at seven a. m. Presentation of souvenir album of views. Three hours' stop for a trip to Lookout mountain. Departure for St. Louis at 10:30 a. m. Stop of 15 minutes at Nashville, ten minutes at Louisville and 20 minutes at Indianapolis.

LOSS OF LIFE WAS APPALLING.

Further Advice from Shamaka Show That 2,000 Persons Perished by Earthquake.

Baku, Transcaucasia, Feb. 18.—Details which are slowly arriving at Baku from Shamaka, show that 2,000 persons, mostly women and children, perished as a result of the earthquake last week, and that 4,000 houses were destroyed. Thirty-four villages of the country surrounding Shamaka also suffered. To add to the terrors of the neighborhood, a volcano near the village of Marasy, eastward of the Shamaka, has broken out into active eruption. A great crasse has appeared, whence immense flames and streams of lava are being thrown out. The course of the river Geonchaika has been altered in consequence of its bed being dammed with earth which had been disturbed by the earthquake. The Red Cross society is active in alleviating distress.

Mrs. Catt Re-elected.

RANSOM PAID FEBRUARY 6.

Brigands Decline to Set Captive Free Twelve Days After Receiving Money Demanded.

London, Feb. 18, 4 a. m.—It transpires that the money for the ransom for Miss Stone and Mme. Tsilka was paid to the brigands on February 6, and that the women's captors have given no indication as to when they will release the prisoners. The Graphic's special correspondent telegraphs that the money was paid on the date stated by Drs. Feat and M. Gargiulo, dragomen of the American embassy at Constantinople. They met the brigands on the road to the Padrone monastery and handed over the money in notes. The brigands carried rifles. The release of the women now depends on the humor of the brigands. Mr. Gargiulo, who is waiting at Serres, does not know where the captives are concealed.

Will Raise Price of Brooms.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—The Broom Manufacturers' association of the United States and Canada will meet at the Grand Pacific hotel this morning. Prices of brooms will be advanced 25 cents a dozen. This advance is preliminary to a second advance to be made at a subsequent meeting.

Washington, His Wife and Mother.

Washington As An Athlete

COULD PITCH AN IRON BAR FARTHER THAN ANY OTHER MAN OF HIS TIME.

WASHINGTON was the champion of athletic games, and the power of his hand and arm was demonstrated in several memorable instances. One day, when he was 40 years old, he could pitch an iron bar further than any man of his time. The story of his throwing a silver dollar is well known. The explanation that a man went further in those days than he does now is almost as old as the story. Among the amusing stories of our president told in minor history is a legend that he was once seen with a pair of boxing gloves. ### MAXIMS BY WASHINGTON.

SHALL never attempt to palliate my own foibles by exposing the error of another. Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience. It is a maxim with me not to ask what, under similar circumstances, I would not grant. Be courteous to all, but intimate with few, and let those few be well tried before you give them your confidence. Common danger brought the states into confederacy, and on their union our safety and importance depend. Avoid gaming. This is a vice which is productive of every possible evil; equally injurious to the morals and health of its votaries. Without virtue and without integrity, the finest talents and the most brilliant accomplishments can never gain the respect and conciliate the esteem of the truly valuable part of mankind. In my estimation, more permanent and genuine happiness is to be found in the sequestered walks of conjugal life than in the giddy rounds of promiscuous pleasure or the more tumultuous and imposing scenes of successful ambition. The army are the mere agents of the civil power. Out of camp they have no other authority than other citizens, and their offenses against the laws are to be examined, not by a military officer, but by a magistrate. They are not exempt from arrests and indictments for violations of the laws.

His unusual size was not, however, a distinction of the age in which he lived, but, taken together with his breadth of vision, his qualities as a leader and his executive ability, it made him in all requirements a great man. Napoleon I. was a pygmy when compared to Washington, but he greatly admired the man who could so successfully administer national affairs through a terrible crisis to a safe conclusion, and as he lamented his own small stature did he in proportion admire Washington's. Whenever he met one of our countrymen abroad he was certain to ask: "How is the greatest American, Washington?"

WASHINGTON THE UNIFIER.

He showed the Thirteen Colonies the Pathway to National Life—The Ideal American.

It seems no wonder at all, that, after six years of terrible political distress, under the articles of confederation, Washington should be called to preside at the constitutional convention in Philadelphia. Characteristically, Washington, when summoned, was in western Virginia seeking how he might open up his lines of communication and natural highways by which the east and the west could be bound together, and the way made clear for that great procession westward of our advancing race which he foresaw. He was the great balance-wheel of the Philadelphia assembly of 1787, when sectional interests threatened disruption. He was the anchor of the ship of state when storms arose.

Made president, says the Sunday School Times, he, under God, showed us the true pathway of national life. It is difficult to realize the division, the weakness, the lack of coherence, in the country and the government, over a century ago. We were a "backwoods nation," between the mountains and the sea. The states were jealous of the each other and of the central government. Parties, such as they were, had inherited all the viciousness of the old organizations in Great Britain. The people were not welded together. One set wanted to be pro-French and the other pro-British.

When "Citizen Genet" came over to get men, ships, and money, and also to play, for selfish purposes, upon the gratitude which our fathers felt for French aid in the revolution, Washington took the right stand of neutrality. He showed that we were not to be hyphenated Americans—as the manner of some is, even in this day. He taught that the true patriot should be, not Irish or Dutch or Italian or Franco or British-American, but Americans without adjectives or politicians' or printers' expedients. To Patrick Henry, Washington wrote: "I want an American character, that the powers of Europe may be convinced that we act for ourselves, and not for others." He wrote again: "My ardent desire is to keep the United States free from political connection with every other country, to see them independent of all, and under the influence of none." No wonder that Washington left money to establish a national university, for he wrote: "It has always been a source of regret to me to see the youth of these United States sent to foreign countries for the purposes of education, often before their minds are formed."

Thus this wise and great man, who foresaw our national future, gave us, under God, the true principles of unity. Our fathers listened to his voice, pondered, took "sober second thought," and decided right and happily for themselves and us. Instead of scattering and degenerating, our country began to consolidate and grow. The nation, obeying the true instinct of development, began to expand toward the west. A great stream of population moved over the Alleghenies and to the Pacific. Now we look farther, yet let us remember.

It is good to notice, in the latest and scholarly "Washington the Soldier," by Gen. Henry B. Carrington, of the United States regular army, that the baseless legend of the commander in chief's profanity at Monmouth is effectually disproved. We may be ever grateful to God for the leader He gave us. Greater even than Washington the engineer, soldier, statesman, or sage, was Washington the American, the unifier.

Washington on Partisanship. There is an opinion in free countries that parties are useful checks upon the administration of the government and serve to keep alive the spirit of liberty. This, within certain bounds, probably is true, and in governments of a monarchical cast patriotism may look with indulgence, if not with favor, upon the spirit of party. But in those of popular character—in governments purely elective—it is a spirit not to be encouraged. From their natural tendency it is certain there will always be enough of this spirit for every salutary purpose. And there being consistent danger of excess the effort ought to be by force of public opinion to mitigate and assuage it.—Washington, in His Farewell Address.

GOVERNOR OF OREGON

Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family For Colds and Grip.

CAPITOL BUILDING, SALEM, OREGON.

A Letter From the Executive Office of Oregon.

Pe-ru-na is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Letters of congratulation and commendation testifying to the merits of Pe-ru-na as a catarrh remedy are pouring in from every State in the Union. Dr. Hartman is receiving hundreds of such letters daily. All classes write these letters, from the highest to the lowest. The outdoor laborer, the indoor artisan, the clerk, the editor, the statesman, the preacher—all agree that Pe-ru-na is the catarrh remedy of the age. The stage and rostrum, recognizing catarrh as their greatest enemy, are especially enthusiastic in their praise and testimony. Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well-nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Pe-ru-na is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of catarrh. To prevent colds; to cure colds, is to cheat catarrh out of its victims. Pe-ru-na not only cures catarrh, but prevents. Every household should be supplied with this great remedy for coughs, colds and so forth. The Governor of Oregon is an ardent admirer of Pe-ru-na. He keeps it continually in the house. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he says:

STATE OF OREGON, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, SALEM, May 9, 1898. The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O. Dear Sirs—I have had occasion to use your Pe-ru-na medicine in my family for colds, and it proved to be an excellent remedy. I have not had occasion to use it for other ailments. Yours very truly, W. M. Lord. It will be noticed that the Governor says he has not had occasion to use Pe-ru-na for other ailments. The reason for this is, most other ailments begin with a cold. Using Pe-ru-na to promptly cure colds, he protects his family against other ailments. This is exactly what every other family in the United States should do. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. Use it for coughs, colds, grippe, and other climatic affections of winter, and there will be no other ailments in the house. Such families should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled "Winter Catarrh." Address: Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.
