NOW POUNDING OUT ORE

Hoosier Boy Stamp Mill Was Started up Last Saturday.

The following from the Grant County (Oregon) News, is of interest to Chelsea people as there are a number of stockholders in this place: The 25 stamp mill is ready for "the drop" at the Prairie Diggings, five miles east of Canyon City, in the grassy plain at the base of Canyon mountain. The momentous first turn of the wheel awaits only the moderation of the weather sufficiently to insure safety in turning the water into the ditch. [A telegram was received by J. D. Watson Saturday stating that the mill had started that day.—Ed. Standard]

Never before in the history of mining on the coast was such extraordinary progress made in the work of installing a plant of like size as that recorded in the installation of the 25 stamp mill of the Prairie Diggings mine.

Work was begun on the mill about October 15, since which time the capacity of two sawmills has been taxed to supply the lumber necessary for the big structure and the village houses of the camp. Some delay was occasioned by dearth of material; but, within three and a half months at an expenditure of at least $100,000, the largest modern stamp mill in Eastern Oregon has been erected, all the machinery installed, out-buildings completed, pipe lines laid, tunnels penetrating the ledge 700 feet repaired and heavily timbered, extensive ditches put in readiness for volumes of water, sluice boxes constructed and the whole equipment made ready for turning on the power in one of the most substantially constructed stamp mills ever built on the coast.

All this has been accomplished under the personal direction of Manager M. D. Winder, assisted by Secretary Jno. W. Messner.

THE PLANT AND EQUIPMENT. The plant and the structure are marvels of completeness in every detail. The stamp-mills, of which there are five of five-stamps each, are the Hammond Iron Frame, the most modern in construction and acknowledged the best in the world.

Added to these are six New Standard concentrators of the most recent pattern, which will be kept busy separating the mineral from the gang or pulp. Expert Hendricks, of Seattle, is on the ground to manage the introductory operation of the concentrators.

A 10,000 lb. rotary crusher will put the rock in condition for its reception by the stamps. Like the remainder of the equipment, it, too, is of latest pattern.

Two 18-inch water motors, one for the crusher and the other for the water, are in place. The deflecting nozzles are under the handy control of the battery man. A "deflecting rod," convenient to his post of duty, enables him to turn the water on or off quickly and at will.

The supply of water is sufficient to operate 250 stamps. The power of the machinery installed is sufficient to operate 100 stamps. And it is conceded that there is ledge enough in sight, with out sinking below the level of the tunnel, to run 100 stamps for 100 years.

Three ore cars of latest pattern will serve to convey the ore from the mine to the mill. They hold one and a half tons each and from them the ore is dumped into a bin of 250 tons capacity. These cars will be drawn by mules until the electric light plant is installed. They will then be moved by the trolley system.

THE CYANIDE AND ELECTRIC PLANTS. Manager Winder is experimenting now on concentrates and base ores to determine whether or not a roaster will be needed to aid the cyanide process. The cyanide plant will be put in immediately at a cost of $6000, in order to treat the concentrates on the premises; but if the experiments now in progress show the need of a roaster, it, too will be installed at a cost of about $20,000.

It was the purpose of the mine management to ship the concentrates to the Quartzburg smelter, for a time at least, but the close of the latter made the cyanide plant necessary. Hence, the concentrates will be treated on the ground.

An electric plant is on the way and will probably be in operation in a week. With it the entire works will be lighted. As in the case of other portions of the plant, the electric equipment will be double the power required at present. The tunnel will contain twelve lights, while the mill, shops, office and dwellings, will use probably sixty more. The plant will have a capacity of 150 lights.

Electric light in the tunnels, the mill and the shops will be much cheaper, safer and clearer. It is estimated that the saving effected during the first year will equal the cost of the plant.

GENERAL NOTES OF MINE AND MILL. The Hoosier Boy Company acquired possession of the Prairie Diggings mining property, covering an area of 100 acres, less than four months ago. In conjunction with work on the mill they immediately began to clean out, enlarge and repair the 700-foot tunnel left by the old Prairie Diggings company 38 years ago. This tunnel had caved for the greater portion of the distance of 400 feet, all of which section has now been repaired and heavily retimbered. About 400 feet from the portal an air shaft has been reopened and is now being timbered. It is 25 feet deep. At the terminus of the tunnel an upraise will be constructed. This work will soon be reached.

The exposed portion of the ledge covers an area of many acres in the open prairie, every inch of which contains pay rock. The assays of this ore shows only gold with an occasional trace of silver.

The main ledge is 275 feet wide. This ledge is crossed at right angles by the 700-foot tunnel. From the face of this ledge, rock was taken in such a manner as to reach a fair average. The assay of this ore produced a showing of a fraction less than $7. This ore can be mined and milled for $1 per ton. A very ordinary arithmetician may easily determine the result. The mine would yield an enormous profit if the assays were reduced one-half.

The great Treadwell mine, operating 880 stamps, mines and mills its ore at a cost of $1.05 per ton. Its ore assays $2.19. Its net profit is a fraction over 77 cents. This comparison with one of the greatest mines of the world will give a fairly definite idea of the mountain of uncovered ore of the Prairie Diggings mine.

The surface of much of the Prairie Diggings property was placer-mined many years ago. It is the purpose of the present company to work the loose gravel and dirt by hydraulic process. They have three times as much water as the mill will use, and much of the surplus will thus be consumed. There is no doubt of the profitable result.

Of 16-inch pipe 5000 feet have been laid and the entire system is now ready to be attached.

The buildings of the camp are all completed except the new office structure. It will contain, in addition to the required offices, a reception room for visitors and extra bedrooms.

The mill building is 60x77 feet at the base, 76 high and contains seven floors. It is one of the most substantially built structures of its kind on the coast. It will be amply protected from fire by a most complete apparatus, both from within and without.

Many Difficulties.

A. E. Jennings, who handled the work of obtaining right of way for the Hawke-Angus line from Jackson to Ann Arbor, had manifold difficulties to overcome, and a number of varied temperaments in people to deal with. The people naturally viewed the proposition of running cars between the highway and their residences, barns and farm premises with apprehension. He invariably dispelled fear of damage and inconvenience, and eventually made friends of them in their dealings. Mr. Jennings knows about every man along the Jackson Ann Arbor line in a friendly way. During the real trial for right of way, interesting, if not amusing, experiences were encountered. He tells of his talking with a man who was both trustee and sexton of county cemetery between Ann Arbor and Lima Center. Just how to present the case of getting a right of way in a cemetery where graves would have to be abandoned, was more difficult than presenting the advantage which would accrue to a farm from cars passing by the residence to the city. He explained the workings of an electric line in a general way and frankly told the man his desire for an option.

The sexton dropped his head and meditated. Then looking up suddenly he said:

"Why, that road will help our cemetery."

Mr. Jennings was almost carried off his feet by what appeared to him a grim and absurd proposition. "Help a cemetery." It was a brand new argument in support of an electric railway.

The right of way was obtained and a number of graves in the path of the road were moved. The old sexton was right; it is an advantage to the cemetery. It is a German cemetery, and the oldest in that section of the state. Many residents of Ann Arbor prefer it as a burial place, and the drawback has been that it was not conveniently accessible, being in the country. People are attracted to it Sundays, and this coming summer there will unquestionably be many Ann Arbor people taking the cars to this cemetery. —Jackson Press.

Memorial Services.

The Miss Frances E. Willard memorial service held in the Methodist church last Sunday evening, drew a full house, and was an interesting service. After music by the choir, the pastor of the church read the "Crusade Psalm," No. 41, and Dr. Holmes offered prayer. The president of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. E. J. Glazier, then took charge of the program announcing the numbers in their order. To say that all who took part in the exercises did nobly, is only to state what everybody had anticipated. Miss Willard was a remarkable woman, and no one could pay her too high a tribute. The music was a very enjoyable, every part well sustained; and when the quartette—T. Hughes, F. S. Welch, R. A. Snyder, C. Quivey—again sing, we will try to be there.

Killed by Street Car.

Word was received here this week by Geo. A. BeGole, of the death of Frank Harlow, a former Chelsea boy, at his home in Phoenix, Arizona, Sunday, February 9th. His death was the result of injuries received by being pushed from a street car. His right leg was amputated above the knee, the left leg was dislocated at the hip. It was thought for a time that he would rally, but in a few hours he rapidly failed and soon passed away. It was then found that he had been injured internally, and that the abdominal cavity was filled with blood.

No Suburban Trains.

A prominent official of the Michigan Central railroad said the other day that there is no truth in the report from Ann Arbor that the road will begin a rate war to fight the electric lines between Detroit and Jackson, when they are finished. "The fact is," said he, "that the Michigan Central doesn't have to cut rates below 2 cents a mile. Since that rate was established we have shown a remarkable growth of business between here and Ann Arbor. No, sir; the Michigan Central will do no such thing as cut rates."

Walking to San Francisco.

Harry Adonis, who is trying to walk from Dowagiac to San Francisco, on a wager, one of the conditions of which is that he must earn $500, was in Chelsea Friday. From here he went to Detroit, and will then circle off to the south by way of Dayton and Cincinnati, from where he will strike out for Kansas City and Denver. He has a year in which to reach San Francisco, but expects to have a month or more to spare, although illness or accidents may cut into this reserve. A condition of the wager is that he shall push a wheelbarrow the entire distance, and from advertisements painted on the barrow he will realize $425, which leaves but $75 to be earned on the journey to make up the $500, so the barrow can scarcely be called a handicap.

Watch Out for Locusts.

Prof. R. H. Pettit of the Michigan Agricultural College has given out the information that in all probability Michigan will experience a plague of 17-year locusts during the summer of 1909. This is the time of the recurrence of the pests and the larvae which have been lying dormant since their last appearance will appear and farmers are warned not to set out trees until late in the year, when the plague is over. The ravages of the pests are chiefly confined to the roots of trees and shrubs. Forest trees suffer as well as orchards.

No Small Pox There.

The daily press has announced that there is a case of smallpox at the Agricultural College. It is hoped that no one will stay at home from the Round-up Institute at the College, February 25-28, fearing exposure to this disease. A suspected case has been kept in quarantine four weeks, but there is now not the slightest danger of smallpox at the College or in Lansing.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

NECESSITY OF BRINGING RELIGION INTO THE EVERY DAY WORLD.

"Whosoever Ye Do, Do It to the Glory of God"—A Man Cannot Be a Christian on Sunday and a Worldling All the Rest of the Week.

Copyright, 1902, Louis Klopfel, N. Y. Washington, Feb. 16.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage advises us to do our best in the spheres where we are placed and not wait to serve God in a resounding position; text, I Corinthians x. 31. "Whether, therefore, ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

When the apostle in this text sets forth the idea that so common an action as the taking of food and drink is to be conducted to the glory of God, he proclaims the importance of religion in the ordinary affairs of our life. In all ages of the world there has been a tendency to set apart certain days, places and occasions for worship, and to think those were the chief realms in which religion was to act. Now, holy days and holy places have their importance. They give opportunity for special performance of Christian duty and for regaling of the religious appetite, but they cannot take the place of continuous exercise of faith and prayer. In other words, a man cannot be so much of a Christian on Sunday that he can afford to be a worldling all the rest of the week. You cannot eat so much at the Sabbath banquet that you can afford religious abstinence the other six days. The genuine Christian life is not spasmodic; does not go by fits and starts. It toils on through heat and cold, up steep mountains and along dangerous declivities, its eye on the everlasting hills crowned with the castles of the blessed. I propose to plead for an everyday religion.

In the first place we want to bring the religion of Christ into our conversation. When a dam breaks and two or three villages are overwhelmed or an earthquake in South America swallows a whole city, then people begin to talk about the uncertainty of life, and they imagine that they are engaged in positively religious conversation. No. You may talk about these things and have no grace of God at all in your heart. We ought every day to be talking religion. The real, genuine Christian man talks chiefly about this life and the great eternity beyond and not so much about the insignificant pass between these two residences. And yet how few circles there are where the religion of Jesus Christ is welcome. Go into a circle even of Christian people, where they are full of joy and hilarity, and talk about Christ or heaven and everything is immediately silenced. As on a summer day when the forests are full of life, chatter, chirrup and carol—a mighty chorus of bird harmony, every tree branch an orchestra—if a hawk appear in the sky every voice stops and the forests are still. Just so I have seen a lively religious circle silenced on the appearance of anything like religious conversation.

My friends, the religion of Jesus Christ is something to talk about with a glad heart. It is brighter than the waters; it is more cheerful than the sunshine. Do not go around groaning about your religion when you ought to be singing it or talking it in cheerful tones of voice. How often it is that we find men whose lives are utterly inconsistent who attempt to talk religion and always make a failure of it. My friends, we must live religion or we cannot talk it. If we have really felt the religion of Christ in our hearts, let us talk of it, and talk it with an illuminated countenance, remembering that when two Christian people talk God gives special attention, and writes down what they say; Malachi iii. 16. "Then they that feared the Lord spake often one to another, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written."

Again, I remark, we must bring the religion of Christ into our employments. "Oh," you say, "that is very well if a man handle large sums of money or if he have an extensive traffic, but in the humble work in life that I am called to the sphere is too small for the action of such grand, heavenly principles." Who told you so? Do you not know that God watches the faded leaf on the brook's surface as certainly as he does the path of a blazing sun? And the moss that creeps up the side of the rock makes as much impression upon God's mind as the waving tops of Oregon pine and Lebanon cedar, and the alder, cracking under the cow's hoof, sounds as loud in God's ears as the snap of a world's conflagration. When you have anything to do in life, however humble it may seem to be, God is always there to help you to do it. A religion that is not good in one place is not worth anything in another place. The man who has only a day's wages in his pocket as certainly needs the guidance of religion as he who rattles the keys of a bank and could abscond with a hundred thousand dollars.

There are those prominent in the churches who seem to be on public occasions very devout who do not put the principles of Christ's religion into practice. They are the most inexorable of creditors. They are the most grasping of dealers. They are known as sharpers on the street. They fleece every sheep they can catch. A country merchant comes in to buy spring or fall goods, and he gets into the store of one of these professed Christian men who have really no grace in their hearts, and he is completely swindled. He is so overcome that he cannot get out of town during the week. He stays in town over Sunday, goes into some church to get Christian consolation, when what is his amazement to find that the very man who hands him the poor box in the church is the one who relieved him of his money! But never mind; the deacon has his black coat on now. He looks solemn and goes home talking about "the blessed sermon." If the wheat in the churches should be put into a hopper, the first turn of the crank would make the chaff fly, I tell you. Some of these men are great sticklers for gospel preaching. They say: "You stand there in bands in surplice and gown and preach—preach like an angel—and we will stand out here and attend to business. Don't mix things. Don't get business and religion in the same bucket. You attend to your matters, and we will attend to ours." They do not know that God sees every cheat they have practiced in the last six years; that he can look through the iron wall of their fireproof safe; that he has counted every dishonest dollar they have in their pocket, and that a day of judgment will come. These inconsistent Christian men will sit on the Sabbath night in the house of God singing at the close of the service "Rock of Ages Cleft for Me," and then when the benediction is pronounced shut the pew door and say as they go out: "Good-bye, religion. I'll be back next Sunday."

I think that the church of God and the Sabbath are only an armory where we are to get weapons. I look upon the church of Christ and the Sabbath day as only the place and time where and when we are to get armed for Christian conflict, but the battlefield is on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. "St. Martin's" and "Lenox" and "Old Hundred" do not amount to anything unless they sing all the week. A sermon is useless unless we can take it with us behind the plow and the counter. The Sabbath day is worthless if it lasts only twenty-four hours.

There are many Christians who say: "We are willing to serve God, but we do not want to do it in these spheres about which we are talking, and it seems so insipid and monotonous. If we had some great occasion, if we had lived in the time of Luther, if we had been Paul's traveling companion, if we could serve God on a great scale, we would do it, but we can't in this everyday life." There is, however, a field of endurance and great achievement, but it is in everyday life. There are Alps to scale, there are Hellesponts to swim, there are fires to brave, but they are all around us now. This is the hardest kind of martyrdom to bear.

It took grace to lead Latimer and Ridley through the fire triumphantly when their armed enemies and their friends were looking on, but it requires more grace now to bring men through persecution when nobody is looking on. I could show you in this city a woman who has had rheumatism for twenty years and has endured more suffering and exhausted more grace than would have made twenty martyrs pass triumphantly through the fire. If you are not faithful in a grand mission. If you cannot stand the bite of a midge, how could you endure the breath of a basilisk?

Do not think that any work God gives you to do in the world is on too small a scale for you to do. The whole universe is not ashamed to take care of one little flower. Plato had a fable which I have now nearly forgotten, but it ran something like this: He said spirits of the other world came back to this world to find a body and find a sphere of work. One spirit came and took the body of a king and did his work; another spirit came and took the body of a poet and did his work; after awhile Ulysses came, and he said: "Why, all the fine bodies are taken, and all the grand work is taken. There is nothing left for me." And some one replied, "Ah, the best one has been left for you." Ulysses said, "What's that?" And the reply was, "The body of a common man, doing a common work and for a common reward." A good fable for the world and just as good a fable for the church. Whether we eat or drink or whatsoever we do, let us do it to the glory of God.

Again, we need to bring the religion of Christ into our commonest trials. For severe losses, for bereavement, for trouble that stocks like an earthquake and that blasts like a storm, we prescribe religious consolation; but, business man, for the small annoyances of last week how much of the grace of God did you apply? "Oh," you say, "these trials are too small for such application." My brother, they are shaping your character, they are souring your temper, they are wearing out your patience, and they are making you less and less of a man. I go into a sculptor's studio and see him shaping a statue. He has a chisel in one hand and a mallet in the other, and he gives a very gentle stroke—click, click, click! I say, "Why don't you strike harder?" "Oh," he replies, "that would shatter the statue. I can't do it that way. I must do it this way." So he works on, and after awhile the features come out, and everybody that enters the studio is charmed and fascinated. Well, God has your soul under process of development, and it is the little annoyances and vexations of life that are chiseling out your immortal nature. It is click, click, click! I wonder why some great providence does not come and with one stroke prepare you for heaven. Ah, no. God says that is not the way. And so he keeps on by strokes of little annoyances, little sorrows, little vexations, until at last you shall be a glad spectacle for angels and for men. It is the little troubles of life that are having more effect upon you than the great ones. A swarm of locusts will kill a grainfield sooner than the incursion of three or four cattle. You say, "Since I lost my child, since I lost my property, I have been a different man." But you do not recognize the architecture of little annoyances that are hewing, digging, cutting, shaping, splitting and interjoining your moral qualities. Rats may sink a ship. One Lucifer match may send destruction through a block of storehouses. Catherine de Medici got her death from smelling a poisonous rose. Columbus, by stopping and asking for a piece of bread and a drink of water at a Franciscan convent, was led to the discovery of a new world. And there is an intimate connection between trifles and immensities, between nothings and everything.

Now, be careful to let none of those annoyances go through your soul unarranged. Compel them to administer to your spiritual wealth. Do not let any annoyance or perplexity come across your soul without its making you better.

Our national government did not think it belittling to put a tax on pins and a tax on buckles and a tax on shoes. The individual taxes do not amount to much, but in the aggregate to millions and millions of dollars. And I would have you, O Christian man, put a high tariff on every annoyance and vexation that comes through your soul. This might not amount to much in single cases, but in the aggregate it would be a great revenue of spiritual strength and satisfaction. And I have to tell you, O Christian men, if you cannot apply the principles of Christ's religion on a small scale you will never be able to apply them on a large scale. If you cannot contend successfully against these small sorrows that command single handed, what will you do when the greater disasters of life come down with thundering artillery, rolling over your soul?

Again, we must bring the religion of Christ into our commonest blessings. When the autumn comes and the harvests are in and the governors make proclamations we assemble in churches and we are very thankful. But every day ought to be a thanksgiving day. We do not recognize the common mercies of life. We are so stupid that nothing but the misfortune of others can rouse us up to our blessings. As the ox grazes in the pasture up to its eye in clover, yet never thinking who makes the clover, and as the bird picks up the worm from the furrow, not knowing that it is God who makes everything, from the antmacle in the sod to the seraph on the throne, so we go on eating, drinking and enjoying, but never thanking, or seldom thanking, or, if thanking at all, with only half a heart.

I compared our indifference to the brute, but perhaps I wronged the brute. I do not know but that, among its other instincts, it may have an instinct by which it recognizes the divine hand that feeds it. I do not know but that God is, through it, holding communication with what we call "irrational creation." The cow that stands under the willow by the watercourse, chewing its cud, looks very thankful, and who can tell how much a bird means by its song? The aroma of the flowers smells like incense, and the mist arising from the river looks like the smoke of a morning sacrifice. Oh, that we were as responsive! Yet who thanks God for the air, the fountain of life, the bridge of sunbeams, the path of sound, the great fan on a hot summer's day? Who thanks God for this wonderful physical organism, this sweep of the vision, this chime of harmony struck into the ear, this soft tread of a myriad delights over the nervous tissue, this rolling of the crimson tide through artery and vein, this drumming of the heart on our march to immortality? We take all these things as a matter of course.

But suppose God should withdraw these common blessings! Your body would become an inquisition of torture, the cloud would refuse rain, every green thing would crumple up, and the earth would crack open under your feet. The air would cease its healthful circulation, pestilence would swoop, and every house would become a place of skulls. Streams would first swim with vermin and then dry up, and thirst and hunger and anguish and despair would lift their scepters. Oh, compare such a life as that with the life you live with your families! Is it not time that, with every word of our lips and with every action of our life we began to acknowledge these everyday mercies?

I was preaching one Thanksgiving day and announced my text, "Oh, give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good, for his mercy endureth forever." I do not know whether there was any blessing on the sermon or not, but the text went straight to a young man's heart. He said to himself as I read the text: "Oh, give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good"—"Why, I have never rendered him any thanks! Oh, what an ingrate I have been!" Can it be, my brother, that you have been fed by the good hand of God all these days, that you have had clothing and shelter and all the beneficent surroundings, and yet have never offered your heart to God? Oh, let a sense of the divine goodness shown you in everyday blessings melt your heart, and if you have never before uttered one earnest note of thanksgiving let this be the day which shall hear your song! What I say to one I say to all. Make every day a Sabbath and every meal a sacrament and every room you enter a holy of holies. We all have work to do; let us be willing to do it. We all have sorrows to bear; let us cheerfully bear them. We all have battles to fight; let us courageously fight them. If you want to die right, you must live right. Negligence and indolence will win the hiss of everlasting scorn, while faithfulfulness will gather its garlands and wave its scepter and sit upon its throne long after this earth has put on ashes and eternal ages have begun their march. So our every step in life should be a triumphal march, and the humblest footstool on which we are called to sit will be a conqueror's throne.

TORTOISE IS A MOUSER.
Nevel Pet of a Philadelphia Woman Catches Mice.

A Philadelphia woman who dislikes both cats and mice has discovered a novel substitute for one as an exterminator of the other. This substitute is nothing more nor less than an ordinary land tortoise.

Ever since last summer, when the tortoise was added to the family circle by the woman's youngest son, aged 9, she has noticed that the mice, with which the house had previously been overrun, were gradually disappearing. It was not until the other day, however, that she discovered the cause. She was sitting very quietly with some fancy work, and the tortoise, which has the liberty of the house, was apparently asleep in a corner. Presently a little mouse made its appearance, and the tortoise opened its beady eyes. Round and round ran the mouse, getting nearer and nearer the tortoise as though fascinated. Finally it was within striking distance. The tortoise darted out its head, there was a snap of the jaws, a tiny little squeak, and the mouse was dead.

Then the tortoise calmly and deliberately set to work, says the Philadelphia Record, to eat its victim.

He Clucked It.
Erie, Kans., Feb. 17th.—In July of 1900, W. H. Ketchum of this place was suddenly seized with a violent pain in his back. He says he supposed it was a "stitch" and would soon pass away, but it lasted five months and caused him great soreness, so that he was barely able to get out of bed. He became alarmed and consulted a doctor which only increased his anxiety and did him no good.

A friend who had some experience advised him to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Ketchum began with six pills a day and in a week was well and the soreness all gone. However, this did not satisfy him, for he says: "I thought I would clinch the cure with another box and I did. I have had no recurrence of the trouble since and as this is over a year ago I am thoroughly convinced that Dodd's Kidney Pills have completely cured me."

Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 17th.—The activity at the laboratory of the Garfield Tea Co. is further evidence of the popularity of their preparations: over THREE MILLION FAMILIES used the Garfield Remedies last year! This vast public approval speaks well for the remedies. They are: Garfield Tea, Garfield Headache Powders, Garfield-Tea Syrup, Garfield Relief Pillets, Garfield Belladonna Tablets, Garfield Digestive Tablets and Garfield Cold Cure.

TO MOTHERS

Mrs. J. H. Haskins, of Chicago, Ill., President Chicago Arcade Club, Addresses Comforting Words to Women Regarding Childbirth.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM"—Mothers need not dread childbearing after they know the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. While I loved children I dreaded the ordeal, for it left me weak and sick for months after, and at the time I thought death was a welcome relief; but before my last child was born a good neighbor advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I used that, together with your Pills and Sanative Wash for four months before the child's birth;—it brought me wonderful relief. I hardly had an ache or pain, and when the child was ten days old I left my bed strong in health. Every spring and fall I now take a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find it keeps me in continual excellent health."

—Mrs. J. H. HASKINS, 3248 Indiana Ave., Chicago, Ill.—$5000 forfeit if above testimonial is not genuine.

Care and careful counsel is what the expectant and would-be mother needs, and this counsel she can secure without cost by writing to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass.

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE
CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maids or wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative—is—Syrup of Figs. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant, aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Many of the ills from which women suffer are of a transient nature and do not come from any organic trouble and it is pleasant to know that they yield so promptly to the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is needed it is best to consult the family physician and to avoid the old-time cathartics and loudly advertised nostrums of the present day. When one needs only to remove the strain, the torpor, the congestion, or similar ills, which attend upon a constipated condition of the system, use the true and gentle remedy—Syrup of Figs—and enjoy freedom from the depression, the aches and pains, colds and headaches, which are due to inactivity of the bowels.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs can hope to get its beneficial effects and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere at 50 cents per bottle.

The practice of suppressing marriage licenses has been followed since the law was enacted. The law was made in order that there could be no secret marriages and to prevent the marriage of those who could not marry legally. In suppressing a license the county clerk clearly violates the terms of the law creating the securing of marriage licenses before the ceremony can be performed, and the press of this city have decided to take the matter into court and make a test case, thus deciding the matter for all time.—Flint Globe.

Story of Prince Edward.
Prince Edward, the grandson of Great Britain's king, although only seven years old, has already displayed such a liking for the sea that it has been decided to make a sailor of him, and he will go on a training ship in a few years. His present education consists of a few short daily lessons, for the king is strongly opposed to overburdening the youthful intellect. His recollection is keen of how unpleasant it was to be a "walking dictionary" at 20. Prince Edward is a precocious youngster. At a juvenile party, in the presence of the duke of Cornwall, he was given toys of wood, for which he solemnly thanked his playmates. So seriously old-fashioned was his expression, that his father exclaimed: "The little wretch! he speaks better than I do"—which was not far wrong, for the duke of Cornwall is notoriously nervous and unfitted for public speaking.—N. Y. Sun.

Roman Antiquity to Be Restored.
Anyone who has visited Rome cannot fail to remember the mysterious covered passage—about which so many possible and impossible stories are told—which connects the Apostolic palace and the castle of St. Angelo. For some time it has been entirely neglected, and after the taking of Rome it was cut through to destroy the connection between the vatican, which remained in the hands of the church, and the castle, which was used as a fortress by United Italy. Now, at last, restorations are about to be commenced, and it will then be one of the most interesting sights in Rome. Most of the work of this passage, which is roofed over and has small loopholes to give light, was done by the orders of Alexander VI., that he might have a safe means of escape in case of need to the castle.—London Telegraph.

MICHIGAN NEWS SERVED UP.

Frank C. Andrews Placed Behind the Bars.

HE FACED HIS FATE GRIMLY.

The Detroit Financier is Now Up Against the Real Thing—The Grand Rapids Bribery Case Revived by Mrs. Garman's Testimony

Frank C. Andrews reached the end of his free career Saturday, and after hours of desperate efforts to secure bondsmen on the second warrant issued against him was lodged in a cell at the county jail shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday night, at last on a level with the common herd of criminals.

For hours after the bank wrecker was legally incarcerated within the four walls of Sheriff Dickson's stone apartment house, enough of his quondam prestige remained to save him from the indignity of a cell. His short sojourn in the luxurious family apartments of Sheriff Dickson, with books and pictures, savored little of compulsory detention.

Deserted in his extremity by many of his former friends, and left by those in a position to serve him, to the immediate vengeance of the law, it remained for the law's representative, the sheriff, to keep him for a few short hours from the disgrace of a felon's cell.

As the result of this consideration the afternoon's fruitless quest for bondsmen was continued throughout the evening, but though ex-Sheriff Hauley was ready to go on the prisoner's bond, another signer was not forthcoming, and at 9:55 o'clock the Napoleon of finance was placed behind the bars.

If convicted on the complaint under which he is incarcerated, Andrews might be sent to Jackson for 20 years. Rumors on Griswold street are persistent that if F. C. Andrews would talk he could make some revelations that would prove most unpleasant to some financial institutions, and the opinion was expressed that some of the banks holding the certified checks with which Andrews took up the collateral last week will have to stand the loss. It is even stated that one or two of the institutions knew at the time they held these checks over that there were no funds to Mr. Andrews' credit in the City bank with which to pay them.

Cashier Henry R. Andrews, of the City Savings bank, is still confined to his home by illness, although he is said to be much improved. It is probable that the first warrant against him will be returned Monday, and bail fixed. Prosecutor Hunt is dissatisfied with the $10,000 bail bond arranged by Henry R. Andrews' attorney. A second warrant, similar to the second warrant against Frank C. Andrews, will probably be sworn out and this will require additional bail. The total bail will probably be fixed at $25,000.

The Grand Rapids Bribery Case. Mrs. F. H. Garman was the star witness in the Taylor boodler trial in Grand Rapids. She is the wife of Garman, the promoter, and testified to having helped her husband raise money. She came to Grand Rapids in August. With McGarry, Cameron and Garman she took dinner at the Lakeside Club on the night of her arrival. During the conversation at dinner she said Mr. McGarry said that he considered the deal a very clean, pretty one for the city. "Then, when we went into the main dining hall," continued Mrs. Garman, "we discussed the inadvisability of putting up $100,000 without any security. I said that I thought it was absurd for our parties to have to put up $100,000 without even a scratch of a pen to show for it, and Mr. McGarry told me that it was a very common occurrence for such a thing to be done."

In answer to a question as to who spoke of Mayor Perry first, she said she did.

"I think I said, in disposing of the $100,000 that I knew Mayor Perry was going to have a large amount, and that I knew how much he was to have and that was $40,000, and Mr. McGarry said yes."

The prosecution is nearing the closing of the case, as Garman and MacLeod are the only witnesses to be called to complete the testimony. Mr. Ward expects to recall these witnesses for re-direct examination, but as both of them are confined to their rooms by sickness it is uncertain just when they will be in condition to take the stand when the reading of the Taylor testimony is completed.

A Jewel Burglar.

The Detroit police arrested a man Thursday giving his name as Carl A. Jewell and claiming to reside in Grand Rapids, on a charge of burglary. He admitted that he had been connected with some burglaries in Grand Rapids. In his suit case were found a lot of rings and stick pins, a nugget of gold worth about $20, and a pair of gold bracelets marked "Belle, from papa."

There were also found a good revolver, a dark lantern, and a burglar's "Jimmy." The jewelry left in the pawnshop consisted of a cameo bracelet, a set of cameo earrings and brooch, and a jet necklace set with nearly 100 pearls, the lot being worth about $750. Jewell is only 19 years old. He is a cool young fellow and the police do not believe that he had an accomplice, but that he did all the Grand Rapids jobs himself.

Owosso will vote March 5 on the proposition to give L. E. Woodard a $15,000 bonus to establish a furniture factory there.

Mathias Orr, crazed by alcohol, jumped out of a second-story window of St. Mary's hospital, Saginaw, and was probably fatally hurt.

James Freeman, of Alger, was kicked the other day in the mouth by a heavy working horse. His upper jaw and teeth were broken.

Galesburg's recent attack of pure food company promoters has resulted in the placing of several thousand of dollars' worth of stock in that town.

A Wretched Man.

Henry Ponick, a wild man from near Dalton, was brought to Muskegon Thursday, and his arrival caused a sensation in the county jail. Ponick has been terrorizing the people around Dalton, threatening many lives. He is between 50 and 60 years old, has long, thin hair hanging over his face and down his back. He has no home, and when he was brought here, was covered with about 30 pounds of old rags, consisting of five shirts, two pairs of pants, one pair of overalls, two vests, one undershirt and two overcoats. The man was placed in the bath tub, in water as hot as he could stand it, and for over three hours two of the prisoners worked over him, before he could be pronounced clean. An entire new outfit was purchased for him, and he was placed in a cell, but at once knocked the bunks down, tore up the bed clothes, and he had to be placed in a padded cell.

Beet Growers Act.

The Bay County Sugar Beet Growers' Association threw up its fight for an increase of pay from factories for their beets next year and decided to make contracts at the same rate paid last year. It was reported that the factories had 50 per cent of their acreage secured for the next campaign and it was too late now to undertake to get more money. The association went upon record in favor of the state appointing inspectors for each factory to look after the interests of the farmers. The association also propose to put their agents into the field next summer to organize all farmers so they will present a solid front when making the demand next season for more pay.

Farrington Lined.

Bert Farrington, who was convicted for the killing of Jesse Hooker, the man who ruined his home, was tendered a reception Tuesday evening by the members of Milan lodge, No. 288, K. P. The banquet was preceded by regular degree work. The friendly manner in which he was received touched Farrington deeply, and it was with difficulty that he was able to find words to express his feelings. His butcher shop is doing a thriving business, everyone in town feeling that they can show their sympathy for the man by throwing their trade in his direction.

Broke Jail.

A daring jail delivery at Coldwater Wednesday night enabled three burglars, James Dyer, George and Thomas Clark, to strike out for freedom. When Sheriff Sweet and a deputy opened the door preparatory to locking the prisoners in their cells they were overpowered and the prisoners escaped. Maude, the youngest daughter of the sheriff, came near holding one of them until her father came. Mrs. Sweet and her daughter were thrown heavily on the floor by the men, who escaped through the front door. No clue so far.

Complained of the Postmaster.

Rapids have filed charges against Postmaster L. K. Bishop, for violation of the civil service rule. The trouble arose over the appointment of George E. Fox as superintendent of carriers. The latter claims they have had trouble ever since, and that if a man's politics disagree with those of the administration, his position is made so untenable that he is glad to resign. Post-office department officials are investigating.

A Woman War Predicted—The President's Review of the Schley Case and It's Import—Various Matters of Fact and Fancy.

The Schley Case.

The Washington Post says: Concerning the conference of the president with the Republican leaders of the house and senate at the White House to-day that one of the chief topics under discussion was the Schley case. As the result of the conference, it is said, the president will not undertake to discuss, in his review any of the events which occurred prior to the battle of Santiago, on the ground that if Schley's conduct was reprehensible, it was condoned by the navy department and by President McKinley when Schley's promotion was recommended. As for the battle of Santiago, the president is inclined to the opinion, according to his visitors, that the victory was won by all the captains, and that credit cannot, therefore, be given exclusively to Schley, although the latter acted courageously and with the Oregon succeeded in preventing the escape of the Colon.

The president is anxious that his disposition of the case should not be followed by action in congress. Speaker Henderson was able to assure the president that legislation could be blocked in the house, but it was pointed out to him by the senators that the situation in the senate was different.

A Mormon War.

"Mormons now politically control seven states. They are colonizing in others, and openly boast that if congress does not act against them this year they will gain control of six other states and make intervention in congress an impossibility. Nothing but a bloody war can destroy Mormonism. In 1897 the Mormons made 65,000 converts; 13,000 more than the Presbyterian, Disciple and Baptist churches combined."

Mrs. Annie White, of Utah, who is doing missionary work for the anti-polygamy bill now pending in congress, made these startling statements in her address before 1,500 persons in the Youngstown, O., Trinity Methodist Episcopal church. Petitions addressed to the Ohio legislature demanding approval of the anti-Mormon amendment will be circulated, and Mrs. White says:

"If any man refuses to sign the petition he insults American womanhood."

3,000 Perished by Earthquake.

Details which are slowly arriving from the Russian town, Shamaka, show that 2,000 persons, mostly women and children, perished as a result of the earthquake there last week and that 4,000 houses were destroyed. Thirty-four villages of the country surrounding Shamaka also suffered. To add to the terrors of the neighborhood a volcano near the village of Matsay, eastward of Shamaka, has broken out into active eruption. A great crevasse has appeared, whence immense flames and streams of lava are being thrown out.

The course of the river Geonchalka has been altered in consequence of its bed being dammed with earth which had been dislodged by the earthquake. Battalions of guards and detachments of sappers, with tents, have been dispatched to Shamaka to aid in the work of rescue. The Red Cross society is active in alleviating distress.

Prince Henry Coming.

Prince Henry sailed for New York on the Kron Prinz Wilhelm at 3:43 p. m. Saturday. The last seen of the prince from the shore was when he stood on the bridge of the Kron Prinz Wilhelm, in an admiral's uniform, and lifted his cap in response to the cheers of the assembled crowds. The Kron Prinz Wilhelm is expected to break the record. Her machinery, when she sailed, was in perfect condition and her bunkers were filled with picked coal. Director Schmidt, of the North German Lloyd line, to which the steamer belongs, said he thought she would average 22-1/2 knots all the way over and set to quarantine, New York, at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning. The crew of the Kron Prinz Wilhelm, from the captain to the stokers, are determined to do their best.

Henry Apologizes.

Prince Henry of Prussia has made amends to Admiral Dewey for the conduct of the Germans at Manila, a Washington dispatch declares. It came in a letter, it is understood, in which the prince expresses the kindest personal regard, and is, in a way, an apology from Germany to the admiral. Prince Henry admits that the Germans made errors during the blockade at Manila, and that Admiral Dewey was right and acted best in all things. The letter was forwarded to Florida to Admiral Dewey and was received by him with great gratification, for he has a high regard for the prince. Admiration to New York to receive Prince Henry for him, as the serious condition of Mrs. Dewey's health will prevent him from being there in person.

The Marquis of Dufferin, former governor-general of Canada, died Wednesday morning.

Because Judge Bennett, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., refused to pay a gas bill of $1.65, which he contended, he had never contracted, the gas company has turned off his supply three years ago. He brought suit, and the gas company carried the case to the appellate division of the Supreme Court, which has judgment for $4,300 in favor of Judge Bennett.

Willis Cooper, who shot and killed Wm. Perry and Mrs. Barbara Russell at Amite City, La., was brought to New Orleans hurriedly and lodged in the parish prison to escape being lynched by an infuriated mob.

CONGRESS.

In the house Wednesday afternoon the motion to recommit the eleventh marine bill was lost, 117 to 161, and the bill then was passed without dissent.

The amendment to the bill providing for the inspection and branding of renovated or process butter was adopted.

Under the agreement made last week the remainder of the day was devoted to the consideration of bills from the committee on war claims.

An increase of the salary of the minister to Persia from $5,000 to $7,500 was recommended by the senate committee on foreign relations.

A definite understanding has been reached by the river and harbor committee that the river and harbor now approaching completion shall be kept down to about $60,000,000, the amount carried by the measure framed and defeated last year.

Representative Corliss made his first argument on his bill which provides for the laying of a government cable from San Francisco to Manila. Mr. Corliss has divided the different aspects of the situation into six chapters, to be argued upon from day to day, in the battle he will wage against congress yielding any concessions to cable monopolies, notably the Commercial Cable Co., controlled by the Mackay-Bennett forces.

The house passed the bill to provide for the payment of the claims of Confederate officers and soldiers, whose horses, side arms and baggage were taken from them by union soldiers contrary to the terms of the surrender of Lee and Johnson's armies. The amount to be paid under the bill was limited to $50,000.

By a unanimous roll call, no vote being taken, the house passed Corliss' joint resolution for an amendment to the constitution to have the senators elected by direct vote of the people. Chances are understood to be slim for the resolution getting through the senate.

The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill now completed by the house committee on foreign affairs carries about $1,900,000, a small increase over last year. A new United States legation building at Pekin is provided, to cost $60,000.

The Indian appropriation bill now completed carries $8,844,500. The bill for support of schools is $3,247,230; for fulfilling treaty stipulations, $2,102,157.

The house Monday, by unanimous vote, repealed the war revenue bill. The committee on rules presented a special rule for the consideration of the bill by the terms of which it would be brought to a vote at 4 o'clock Tuesday. The rule was adopted, 158 to 129. Thereupon Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, arose. "I rise to make a request for unanimous consent," said he. "In view of the fact that we are not permitted to amend the pending bill, and in view of the fact that two days' debate is absolutely fruitless under this rule, I ask unanimous consent that the bill be put upon its passage now." (Applause on both sides.)

The speaker put the request. Members looked at each other with amazement. Not a sound was heard.

"There is no objection," announced the speaker, as he brought his gavel down. "The clerk will read the bill." Both sides of the house joined in the ringing applause that followed. The clerk then began to read the bill. The verbal committee amendments to the bill were agreed to, and was passed unanimously by the house, 278 members voting aye.

The senate Monday ratified the Danish treaty without amending it in any particular. Senator Bacon proposed an amendment eliminating the paragraph in the treaty giving authority to congress to fix the civil and political rights of the inhabitants, but it was voted down by a viva voce vote. The resolution to ratify was adopted without dissent.

Young Teddy Out of Danger.

The condition of President Roosevelt's son, lying ill in Groton, Mass., with pneumonia, is now very favorable. The lad having passed the crisis of the disease and Wednesday night passed one of the quietest nights since he was taken ill, so that, under the careful nursing which he will have, recovery, while it probably will be slow, is considered practically sure. The president returned to Washington Thursday as he desired to be in Washington Friday morning. The physicians reported that the disease in the right lung has been passed successfully, the left lung has cleared to their satisfaction, and the boy is now considered out of danger.

News in Brief.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis has refused $90,000 for Beauvoir, the old Davis mansion, and offers it to the state of Mississippi for $10,000 for a home for Confederate soldiers.

Frank Butler became enraged at a bulky horse while drawing logs for a sawmill at Marshall and clubbed the poor animal until it could scarcely stand. He was arrested to answer to the charge of cruelty to animals.

All hope for the missing sloop of war Condar, which left Victoria, B. C., on Dec. 2, just before the big storm which wrecked the collier Matthewan off Cape Flattery, has been abandoned with the arrival of the survey ship Egeria from a trip along the west coast of Vancouver.

J. W. Gilliam, proprietor of the Empire hotel, at St. Louis, which was burned last Sunday morning, was held responsible by the coroner's jury for the death of the 11 persons who lost their lives in the fire on account of neglect to furnish fire escapes and life lines, as provided for by statute and ordinance.

The ministerial alliance of Salt Lake in a report which is to be used as a petition for the passage of a constitutional amendment prohibiting polygamy, and will be sent to the judiciary committee of congress, sets forth that polygamy is both practiced and taught by the Mormons at the present time in open defiance of the laws of the state.

The following old veterans are shown in the photograph, James Collins, aged 86; Israel Rogers, 76; John Smith, 80; Timothy Showerman, 75; George Stuck, 77; Calvin Collar, 86; Frederick Basom, 84; Daniel Cross, 74; Samuel Pratt, 72; David Haywood, 87—Argus.

The directors of the Manchester Canning and Packing Co., have engaged C. L. Stansell of Dowagiac to superintend the works here the coming year. Mr. Stansell has been in the canning business for several years and superintendent of the factory at Dowagiac the past two years. He comes well recommended by those who have employed him and the officers believe that they are fortunate in securing him. He looked over the plant here and says that it is first-class and has a capacity of turning out 2800 cans of goods daily. He went to attend a meeting of the canner's association and on his return will begin making contracts with farmers for raising corn, tomatoes, etc. He expects to grow the tomato plants for them.—Manchester Enterprise.

Barnum's Monkeys

"All well—all happy—lots of fun". That is the regular report from the monkey cage of Barnum's Circus ever since the keepers began dosing the monkeys with Scott's Emulsion. Consumption was carrying off two thirds of them every year and the circus had to buy new ones.

One day a keeper accidentally broke a bottle of Scott's Emulsion near the monkey cage and the monkeys eagerly lapped it up from the floor. This suggested the idea that it might do them good. Since then the monkeys have received regular doses and the keepers report very few deaths from consumption. Of course it's cheaper to buy Scott's Emulsion than new monkeys—and that suits the circus men.

Consumption in monkeys and in man is the same disease. If you have it or are threatened with it can you take the hint?

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c and $1. all druggists.

WOMEN AND JEWELS. Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined by the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boecher's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial trouble. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Glazier & Stimson's. Get Green's Special Almanac.

Scoley; Santiago

BY GEORGE EDWARD GRAHAM. The Intrepid Associated Press war correspondent, who was aboard the U. S. S. Brooklyn during the entire months of the campaign. Illustrated with photographs taken by the Author during the fight.

The Most Sensational Book of the Day. The true story of the famous cruise of the Flying Squadron under Commodore Winfield Scott Schley, against the blockade and destruction of the Spanish fleet, TOLD FOR THE FIRST TIME.

An interesting narrative of facts. Explains the so-called "strategic movement" of the "Flying Squadron" and settles conclusively every adverse ruling of the Court of Inquiry.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, when Governor of New York, said:—"Mr. Graham's story is the best account I have heard or read of the naval fighting during the war. It needed just as much courage to go about taking photographs as it did to work the guns." THE NEW YORK HERALD says—"Mr. Graham, in the telling of facts, leaves the reader free to make the deduction that several naval officers need a Court of Inquiry to re-establish their reputations, if they can be re-established."
