CHELSEA PEOPLE INJURED

In the Accident on the Electric Railway at Jackson.

An accident that was luckily not attended by any fatality occurred on the D. Y. A. A. & J. railway just east of the Jackson city limits at 9:30 a. m. Monday. Car No. 4 was running west and as it was rounding the sharp curve off Page avenue the body of the car left the tracks and was rolled over on its side in the mud. Sixteen people, three of whom were ladies, were unceremoniously thrown in a heap, all of them being more or less bruised or cut. The one most seriously hurt was Rev. L. G. Herbert, of Grass Lake, who had his right leg broken between the knee and the hip. Among the others on the car were Charles E. Whitaker, Mrs. Emma J. Stimson, Miss Mattie V. Stimson, Fred Broesamle, of Chelsea; Michael J. Lehman, Frederick Schmidt, of Ann Arbor; Finley B. Whitaker, of Sandwich, Ont.; F. A. Rowley, of Van Wert, O.; Otto Hough, of Marquette; J. Shaw, of Jackson; E. Chapman, of Ypsilanti.

The car was in charge of Conductor Wm. Comstock and Motorman James Smith, both of Ypsilanti. They were both bruised, the motorman receiving some severe cuts on the head. The car is estimated to have been going at the rate of 25 miles an hour when it struck the curve.

Supt. Merrill attributes the accident to the rails being so slippery. He says the cars are geared to the highest rate of speed they can be run and they cannot go any faster than the gear will allow them.

All the injured are recovering and the most injured man is doing as well as can be expected.

He Was a Smooth Thief.

Two weeks ago yesterday a man calling himself Bolis, and who stated he was a reporter, called on the newspaper men and other citizens of Chelsea. At Dr. Robertson's office he stole a pair of spectacles. A few days later he put up the spectacles and a prayer book as collateral for 75 cents that he borrowed of J. C. Watts, of Ann Arbor. And right while he was borrowing that 75 cents, he again got in his smooth, sneaky, shieving act, for he stole Mr. Watts' spectacles that laid on a table near where he was sitting. He broke the lenses out of the frames and next day sold the frames to a jeweler for old gold. Mr. Watts got his glasses back, and Dr. Robertson got his frames back. Bolis was located on a farm near Saline and Tuesday the officers went there and arrested him and took him to the jail at Ann Arbor.

Workingmen's Caucus.

The Workingmen's party of the Village of Chelsea will meet in caucus at the town hall, (main floor) on Tuesday, March 4, 1902, at 8 o'clock p. m. (local time), to nominate Village Officers to be voted for at the ensuing election.

Dated Chelsea, Feb. 27, 1902.

By ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

ANOTHER PIONEER DEAD.

Hiram Pierce, of Sylvan, Passed Peacefully Away Friday Morning.

Early Friday morning Hiram Pierce, of Sylvan, who has been a well known figure in this locality for 70 years, died on the old homestead, south of the village, which had been his home for all that time, aged 80 years, 4 months and 14 days. Mr. Pierce had been gradually failing in health for the past three years, but his genial face was a familiar one on our streets until the severe winter weather set in, since which time he had been confined to the house.

Mr. Pierce was a man with a high sense of honesty and business integrity. He performed many acts of kindness and charity in a quiet and kindly way. In early days he kept open house to friends and neighbors, and often received the stranger within his gates. His life was a profession of deeds rather than words. The large gathering of neighbors, old settlers and friends at the funeral services Sunday paid eloquent tribute to his place in the hearts of the community. The funeral services were conducted at the old homestead Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. C. B. Jones assisted by Rev. F. A. Sillis.

Hiram Pierce was born at Manchester, N. Y., Oct. 7, 1821. He accompanied his parents to this county in July, 1832, residing for 70 years on the farm on which he died. Dec. 4, 1848, he was married to Catharine Cassidy, the faithful wife, who with five sons, Herman, Sherman, Ralph, John and Max, and five daughters, Mary Pierce, Mrs. Amy Guthrie, Mrs. Susan Congdon, Mrs. Nellie Prudden, and Alma Pierce, survive him. One daughter died in childhood. He also leaves one brother and three sisters, who mourn his death.

Martha Washington Social.

The Martha Washington social given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Glazier, Friday evening, by the Epworth League, for the benefit of their pledge to the organ fund of the M. E. church was a great success both socially and financially. The beautiful house was artistically decorated for the occasion. The reception hall was draped with national flags, and roses and carnations abounded in profusion in every room. The guests were received in the reception hall by George Washington (H. I. Stimson), Martha Washington (Miss E. Cora Noyes), Uncle Sam and Columbia (Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Foster), all appropriately attired in costume, while Mr. Glazier cordially welcomed the numerous guests in the hall upstairs and Mrs. Glazier looked carefully after the comfort of one and all. The dainty supper was served in the dining room. The table was decorated with a large mirror placed in the center of the table, surrounded with a border of amillax and carnations, and on it were placed bunches of cherries and the historic hatchet. During the evening a short program of vocal and instrumental music was given. The proceeds amounted to $54.

W. W. U. Farmers' Club.

Thursday, Feb. 20, was a beautiful day, and notwithstanding the bad roads 65 members of the club gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lowry, showing that the interest in the club does not diminish. A good dinner was served as usual and every one seemed to enjoy the social part until called to order by Vice President Stocking.

The first topic for discussion, "Have agricultural interests in the United States done more to promote prosperity than all other interests?" was opened by Geo. W. Brynnton, and was well discussed by the members.

The choir furnished some very fine music, which was highly appreciated by the club.

Mrs. Frank Storms gave a very excellent paper, "Is a quick and fiery temper an element of strength rather than weakness in character?" This question was also well discussed.

The next was a solo by Mrs. Herman Fletcher, which was much enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Everett, Chelsea, March 20.

Rise of Little Japan as a World Power

The Empire of the Olden Days Compared With the Empire of the Present.

WITHIN less than half a century Japan has risen from an unknown nation of superstitious, semibarbarous people to the dignity of a recognized world power. Less than half a century ago the nation of the west were dictating to Japan the terms upon which she must open her ports to western commerce; to-day one of the greatest of the western powers is allying itself with this same nation for the purpose of dictating to mighty Russia what its action shall be in the settlement of the perplexing eastern question, and, what is more, recognizing Japan as an equal in such an alliance.

The history of the rise of Japan to the dignity of a world power in the short space of 50 years reads almost like a fairy tale. Had some imaginative romancer dared prophecy the final result at the time Commodore Perry was illustrating to the Japanese people the achievements of western civilization that within so short a the fulfillment of the treaty obligations, and they had been given practical object lessons of what that force amounted to by Commodore Glynn, of the American navy, in 1848, and again in 1854, when a combined fleet captured the port of Shimonoski and destroyed its fortifications in retaliation for the forces of the mikado having fired upon foreign merchantmen. They realized that the newly established government was not strong enough to oppose this force.

Out of these conditions grew the conference between the Japanese government and representatives of the foreign powers at Kioto, at which the treaties of the Shogun's government with the foreign powers were renewed, and from this conference dates the real beginning of Japanese enlightenment along the lines of western civilization. Since 1868 not only the government but the entire Japanese civilization has undergone a complete change. A constitutional monarchy has replaced the absolute monarchy world power entirely, nor was it this that caused England to enter into the treaty for the joint protection of world interests in China. Of armed force Japan makes a showing equal to that of many first-class powers of Europe, and evidence of the fitness of both army and navy to stand as the equals of England was conclusively shown by their conduct in the war with China, when she utterly routed her great neighbor on the continent, and could have she wished, and the European powers permitted, entirely overrun and destroyed that vast empire.

For the protection of her interests in the east she could put into the field an army of more than 400,000 men. Of these 125,000 constitute the regular standing army, while the remainder are an efficiently trained reserve. This army is equipped with modern ordnance of both large and small caliber, and these, with the ammunition used for them, are manufactured in government factories.

The Japanese navy, while not so large as those of many of the other nations of the world, contains some of the largest and most perfect fighting machines afloat. Nor is it to be despised in point of numbers, either of ships or men. Nearly 100 vessels, comprising battleships, coast defense vessels, armored cruisers, torpedo boats and destroyers go to make up the sea fighting strength of the nation, and to these there are constantly being added others. The personnel of the navy comprises some 20,000 officers and men, all efficiently trained both in seamanship and gunnery. It is such a showing that attracted the attention of English statesmen to the possibilities of an alliance with Japan.

The Japan of to-day is a progressive, enlightened, patriotic and enterprising nation, and her position as a world power has been attained within less than half a century since the old days of isolation and superstition.

ODDITIES OF ILLINOIS SOIL.

It Looks Alike All Over But Produces Widely Varying Results in Different Sections.

"I have noticed," said a cattle man, "that while the soil and crops in northern and central Illinois look just the same, they produce different results. The soil in the neighborhood of Elgin looks like that around Springfield, and the corn and grass in these two localities look the same. The eye can detect no difference; but when you come to feed the products of the soil to cattle a decided difference is apparent."

"In the Elgin country the corn and grass produce milk; in the Springfield country they produce beef. Northern Illinois produces the finest milk, cream and butter in the world, while central Illinois cannot be surpassed for the quality of its beef. It is in the soil, I suppose, but the elements cannot be detected by the eye."

"In northern Illinois," he continued, "men who attempt to raise cattle for the meat market fail, but the milk producers and the creameries are prosperous. In central Illinois nine out of ten creameries go into bankruptcy, and dairy farming on a large scale usually proves a failure. The raisers and feeders of beef cattle are, on the other hand, usually prosperous."

WE'LL FLY THROUGH THE AIR.

That Is What Sir Hiram Maxim Predicts Will Be Done Inside of Next Ten Years.

Sir Hiram Maxim says the day of the practical flying machine is not more than ten years off. In a signed article he declares himself as follows:

"With the improvements now made, it becomes a relatively easy matter to construct a flying machine, and I feel sure that such machines will make their appearance and become a part of the military armament of the nation inside of the next ten years. Experiments with flying machines are enormous in expense; in fact, the expense is too great to be borne by a single individual of moderate means."

"I think we can truly say, with Lord Rayleigh, that flying machines are only a question of a lot of time and a lot of money; and at the present time I am saving my pennies in order to enable me to have another bite at the same old cherry."

Diplomatic Dick.

Young Winks—Dick, my boy, will your sister be at home this evening?

Little Dick—I think so.

"It's only a night or two since I called, but I'd like to call again this evening if I thought she'd be at home. Here's some chocolate for you, Dick."

"Thanks, awfully."

"Now, Dick, I want you to be a good little friend of mine."

"Well, I'll be careful not to let her know you're coming."—Tit-Bits.

RUN ON DETROIT BANK.

Depositors in Dime Savings Bank Anxious to Withdraw Their Deposits.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 25.—A run was started on the Jefferson avenue branch of the Dime savings bank about noon Monday, and soon after two o'clock it spread to the bank itself, at the corner of Griswold and Fort streets. Depositors were paid as fast as the accounts could be checked up and the currency could be counted out. At three o'clock, the regular hour for closing the bank, it was crowded with anxious depositors and the line of people who wanted to close their accounts extended through the door and some distance down Fort street. Instead of closing the bank the directors decided to hold open until six o'clock. The receiving teller and his assistants dropped their usual work and assisted in paying the depositors. Until six o'clock accounts were closed as rapidly as possible. At that hour the line of people waiting for admission to the bank extended down Fort street for almost a block. President Livingston addressed them from the steps of the bank and said that, while the bank would now close, it would open at nine o'clock this morning and every depositor would be paid in full.

It is impossible to learn what was the direct cause of the run. It is said that a Polish depositor at the Jefferson avenue branch saw a sign on the door Saturday announcing that the bank was closed because of its being Washington's birthday and a legal holiday. He is said to have spread the report that the bank had closed and thereby frightened the depositors at the branch. The news of the run there gradually spread downtown and started the run on the bank itself. Help was immediately offered by the other local banks. It was declined, however, the Dime bank having plenty of funds in its own vaults.

GO TO MEET MISS STONE.

Dr. House and Attache of Legation to Greet Liberated Missionaries.

Constantinople, Feb. 25.—A. A. Gargiulo, the first dragoman of the United States legation, and Dr. House, one of the missionaries, who have been at Seres, Macedonia, awaiting the release of Miss Ellen M. Stone and Mme. Tsilka, have started for Salonica to meet Miss Stone and her companion. The United States minister, John G. A. Leishman, is the recipient of congratulations on the success of his action in trusting the brigands with the ransom before the release of the captives. This step was much criticised by Mr. Leishman's colleagues, but the accomplishment of the difficult mission is now considered by the diplomats to be a decided score for the American minister and the committee acting under his direction.

London, Feb. 25.—In a dispatch dated Salonica, the correspondent of the Daily Graphic says the brigands escorted Miss Stone and Mme. Tsilka to the outskirts of a village called Kharddousun, near Strumitza, and then told them they were free. M. Gargiulo, dragoman of the American legation at Constantinople, has wired the former captives to refrain from any statement regarding their capture or detention until they have seen the United States minister to Turkey.

INVITATION IS RECALLED.

President Takes Action Which Shuts Tillman from the Dinner Given to Prince Henry.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The president withdrew his invitation extended to Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, to attend the dinner given Monday night in honor of Prince Henry of Prussia at the white house. It is stated that this action on the part of the president was made necessary from the fact that owing to occurrences on the floor of the senate last Saturday, the senator from South Carolina was declared in contempt of the senate. Senator Martin of Virginia, a member of the committee on naval affairs, accepted an invitation in Mr. Tillman's place. The invitation was extended originally to Mr. Tillman owing to the fact that he is the ranking minority member of the naval affairs committee.

REAR-END COLLISION.

Accommodation Trains Come Together at Conshohocken, Pa., and Three Persons Are Injured.

Philadelphia, Feb. 25.—A rear-end collision between the Norristown accommodation train, due here at 8:18, and the Reading accommodation, due at 8:09, on the Philadelphia & Reading railway at Conshohocken, ten miles above this city, Monday wrecked two cars and injured a number of passengers. Three of the injured were brought to this city and one, J. M. Cook, is said to be in a critical condition. The other two, Benjamin A. Irwin and Preston John, are not seriously hurt.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Fire Which Destroyed the Kellogg, or Seven-Day, Asylum, Sanatorium, and part of the hospital in Battle Creek, drove the 400 inmates in panic down fire escapes and through smoke-filled corridors. All were asleep when the blaze started, and many fled in their night robes. The flames spread so rapidly that the escape of the hundreds of ailing, some bed-ridden, inmates is regarded as miraculous. Abner Case, aged 85, of Bath, N. Y., is missing, and it is thought that he perished. The property loss is estimated at $475,000, with $100,000 insurance. Nearly all the patients lost their wearing apparel, and many lost valuable jewelry. The buildings will be rebuilt immediately.

Several Paroles. Paroles have been issued by Gov. Bliss to the following convicts: John W. Bass, sent from Ottawa county, August, 1900, to Jackson prison for two years for criminal assault; Peter Peterson, sent from Berrien county, November, 1897, to Jackson for eight years for assault with intent to murder; Charles A. Johnson, sent from Kent county, October, 1898, to Jackson for 24 years for robbery; Walter Waldron, sent from Washington, March, 1901, to Jackson for 18 months for larceny; Albert Danders, sent from Montcalm county, April, 1899, to Jackson for four years for grand larceny.

Seeking a Pardon. Edward McKinder, of Owosso, is seeking a pardon from Marquette prison, where he was sent in 1898 by Judge S. F. Smith to serve a life sentence. He pleaded guilty to assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. McKinder's wife was his victim. Mrs. McKinder has started a counter-petition. She says her husband will kill her if he is released, and she will personally beg the governor to deny his petition.

Made Money for the State. State Oil Inspector Judson in his report to the state board of auditors for the last quarter of 1901 says the fees received for the quarter were $13,641.36. After paying the salaries and expenses of his deputies and himself Inspector Judson turned $4,371.29 into the state treasury. For the entire year the inspectors collected $40,298.49, and after paying salaries and expenses turned over $8,048.56.

Health in Michigan. Reports to the state board of health from 79 observers in various portions of the state indicate that during the past week consumption and diphtheria increased and measles and dysentery decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 211 places, measles at 87, typhoid fever at 51, whooping cough at 21, diphtheria at 27, scarlet fever at 124, and smallpox at 157 places.

Expert Resigns. Dr. J. J. Kinyoun, for the last year commanding officer and chief surgeon of the United States marine hospital in Detroit and known as one of the best bacteriologists and plague experts in the United States government service, has sent in his resignation, to take effect on May 1.

Sight Restored. Miss Belle Hanley, of Ironwood, 18 years old, who has been blind since infancy, has had her sight restored at St. Joseph's hospital in Ashland, Wis. Drs. Straw and McKinnon, of that city, performing the operation. The young woman was blinded when a baby.

News Briefly Stated. Mrs. Mary Rock died at the county poorhouse in Muskegon in her one hundred and third year. She had been a picturesque character of the city for many years.

Di Santa Pelligrino, aged 24 years, fell 500 feet in No. 5 shaft at the Franklin mine in Calumet and was instantly killed. He had no relatives in the United States.

During the farmers' institute in Niles C. D. Jennings, county school examiner, delivered a strong speech in favor of the plan for centralizing the rural schools.

William Carl died in Otego, aged 59. He was a corporal in the Thirtieth Michigan regiment during the war of the rebellion. He leaves a widow and seven children.

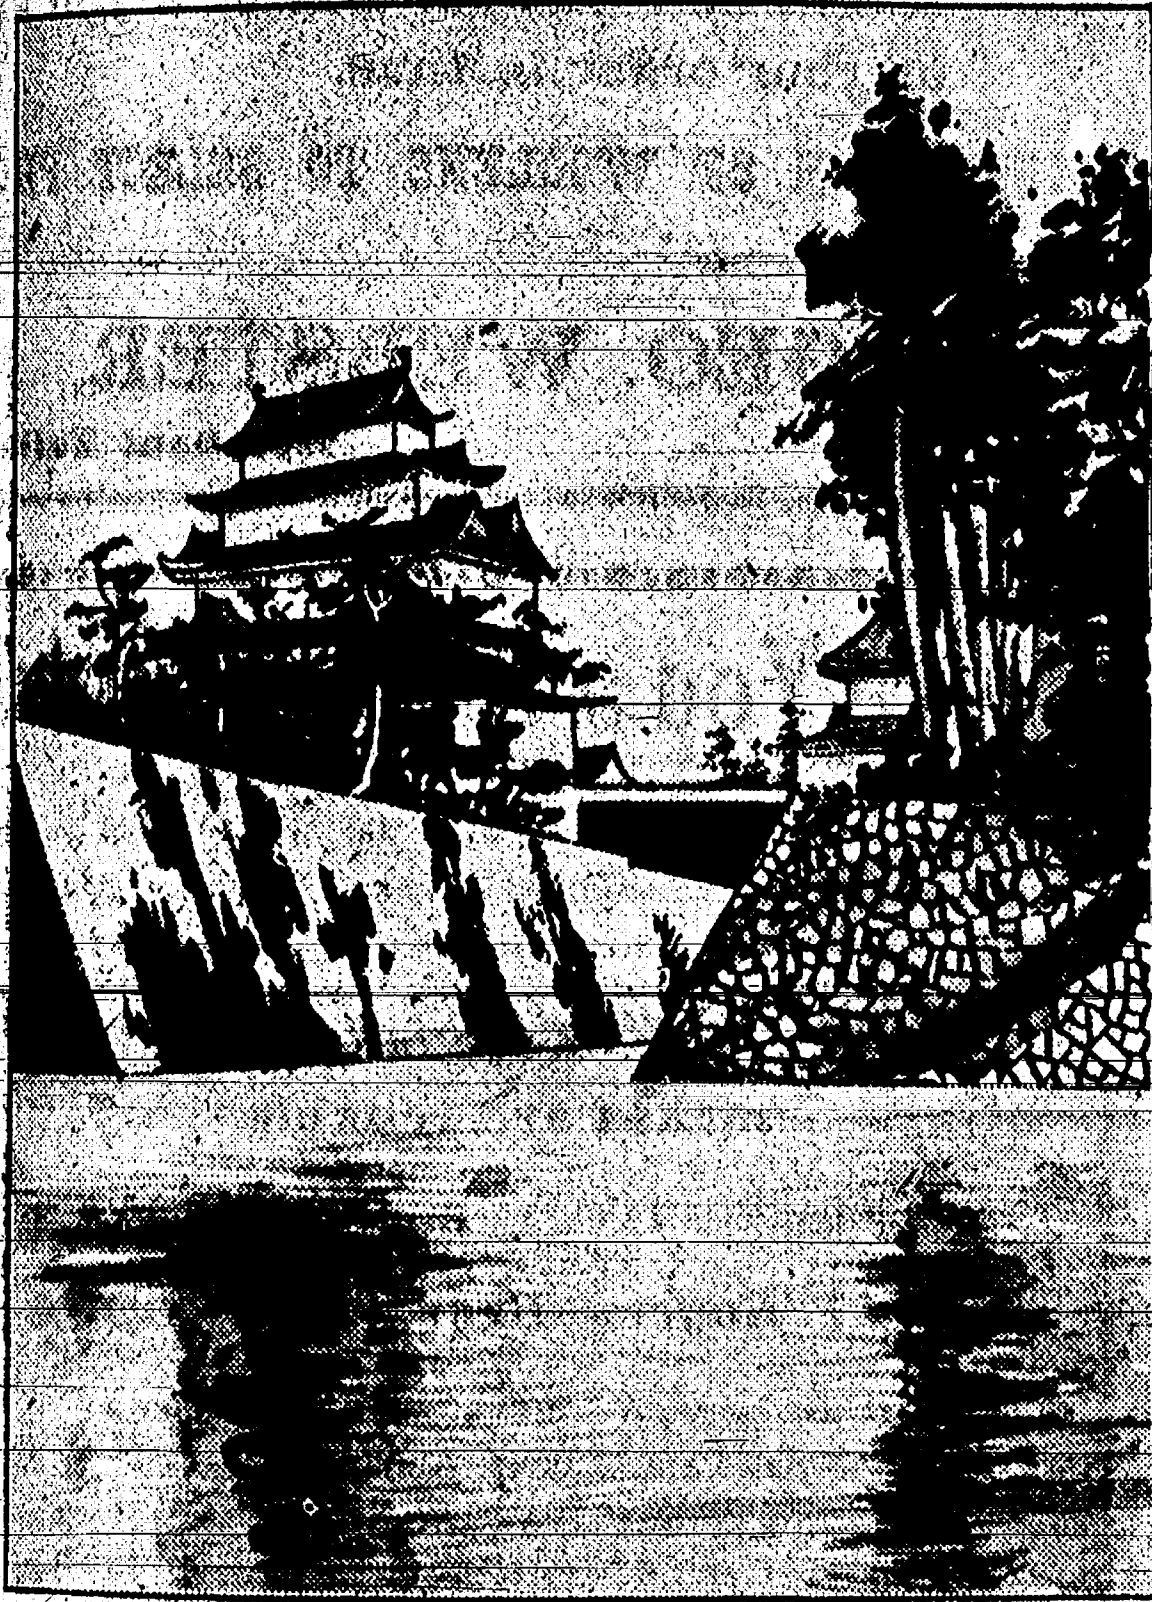

Etta Haywood Halliday has begun suit at Pawpaw against Le Grand R. Anderson, a wealthy and aged landowner, asking $50,000 damages for alleged breach of promise.

Mildred Bentley, a 17-year-old girl, died in Durand a few hours after an operation was performed for appendicitis. She was a senior in the high school.

John Zahara, an employee of the Osceola mine at Calumet, was instantly killed, being caught between the timbers of the rock house and moving cars.

The inventory of the estate of the late Hazen S. Pingree has been filed in Detroit by the appraisers. The total is $324,264.14.

Grief over the accidental death of her three-months-old baby caused the suicide of Mrs. Fred Krumling, wife of a well-known physician in Blissfield.

THE IMPERIAL PALACE OF JAPAN.

time those same people would be almost at the top notch of western progress, and politically recognized as the equals of western nations, he would have been stamped as a dreamer.

While it is almost one-half a century since Commodore Perry's historic visit to Japan, made in 1853, when he displayed to multitudes on the strand at Yokohama the wonders of western locomotives, telegraph instruments, electric batteries, plows, sewing machines, revolvers, rice-hullers and many other things of like nature, and thereby started the awakening of a nation that had been sleeping a less troubled sleep than that of China for thousands of years, it is scarcely more than a third of a century since the real beginning of the present reign of enlightenment and civilization.

Mutsuhito, the present mikado, ascended the Japanese throne in 1867, at the close of a long and bloody contest between the factions representing his claims and those of the Shogun. It was with the Shogun's government that Commodore Perry made the first treaty of friendship and commerce in 1854, an action that was followed soon after by other treaties made between Japan and the various nations of Europe. It was because of the making of these treaties that the people flocked to the standard of the mikado. They bitterly resented the violation of the nation's traditional policy of the exclusion of foreigners, and looked upon Commodore Perry as an enemy for having dared negotiate such a treaty. Of the contending factions the mikado's followers stood for political and commercial isolation, and demanded the expulsion of the so-called barbarians from their shores. But a few leaders of the mikado's party had studied the subject, and soon began to realize the superiority of western civilization in comparison with their own. Then, too, they realized that the force of the western powers would be utilized to compel of the olden days, the army and navy have been reorganized and equipped along European and American lines; government finances are administered after western ideas; public schools are educating the growing generations; thousands of young men are every year seeking advanced educational privileges in Europe and America; Japanese steamship lines carry the products of Japanese factories to practically every nation of the globe, and the eastern island empire has fully earned its title of "England of the East."

When the Japanese embassy visited this country and the nations of Europe in 1871 trade with Japan had already assumed considerable proportions, and five years later at the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia the empire opened the eyes of the world by its exhibits of manufactured products. To-day the world is buying of those products each year to the value of close to $100,000,000, and at the same time the world is selling to Japan agricultural, mineral and manufactured products to the value of close to $150,000,000. American locomotives, such as Perry showed them in 1853, are now traveling over all the islands; the electric cable has connected them with every capital of America, Europe and Asia and the principal islands of the sea; labor-saving inventions of all kinds are found in every city and hamlet, and shiploads of improved agricultural machinery are unloaded at their ports each year.

In exchange for these and other things Japan is selling the world vast quantities of cotton cloths and yarns, the products of some of the best equipped mills of the world; vast quantities of silks of all kinds, of coal, of straw matting, of matches, and a hundred other articles that go to supply both our necessities and luxuries.

But it is not upon her commercial and industrial advancement that she bases her claim to recognition as a

ST. MARY'S LITERARY SOCIETY.

Visits Grass Lake and Spends a Pleasant Evening.

On Thursday evening of last week, Feb. 20, St. Mary's Literary Society visited Grass Lake upon the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Carleton, whose home was placed at their disposal.

The happy visitors reached their destination at 7:45 o'clock, on the Hawk-Angus line, and were met at the passenger house by Mr. Carleton, to whom all were introduced by Mrs. H. H. Fenn. After this formality the fair visitors were conducted to the Carleton domicile where they were most cordially welcomed. The apartments were decorated with flags, in harmony with the covers of the beautiful programs printed for the occasion which represented the star spangled banner.

A number of Grass Lake ladies were also guests of the evening to whom the Chelsea ladies were duly presented. At the conclusion of these courtesies, Mrs. J. E. McKune, the graceful president of the society, called the members to order and the interesting program was begun by favorite quotations given by the members as their names were severally called.

Then followed what perhaps might not be inaptly termed a horoscological view of future life-phases of a number of the society's members. The effort was most happy in its conception and in a literary sense reflected the highest credit on its author, Miss Mabel McGuinness, who read it charmingly.

Miss Pauline Burg next gave a vocal solo, her sister, Miss Helen Burg, accompanying her on the guitar. Miss Pauline possesses a melodious mezzo soprano voice which, with her clear articulation, delighted all who heard her.

The next number was a review of the life of Rev. Fr. Ryan, by Mrs. Chaffee Hummel. This excellent paper spoke in just terms of the many rare characteristics of the poet-priest, whose muse has charmed and gladdened hundreds and thousands of human hearts.

"Nocturne," one of Fr. Ryan's beautiful poems, was then delightfully read by Miss Lena Foster.

Miss Pauline Burg being announced for another solo, sang the ballad, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder," in most excellent taste.

A paper, "The last years of Washington's life," by Miss Anna Belssel, set forth many interesting details touching the last hours of this magnificent patriot's life. The subject was well considered and most engagingly presented.

The closing number entitled, "How Ruby Played," (I. e. Rubenstein, the great pianist) was given by Mrs. Jas. S. Gorman. It was a dialect creation, and it would be next to impossible for any one, even a professional elocutionist, to excel the style and spirit in which it was presented by this accomplished lady.

At the close of the program refreshments were served and then as night waned the refined and gracious guests bade their hostess and new-made friends "good night," and repaired to the station, where later they were seen safely aboard the trolley car by their host, to whom they expressed the pleasure they had found in this, their first visit to Grass Lake as a society.

NOTES.

The members of the society presented Mrs. Carleton with a large hand painted plate, whereon is represented cherry limbs from which depend clusters of ripened and ripening cherries. The also, the coloring, the leaves, stems of the fruit, every detail, is as perfect as the work of nature from which this miracle of beauty was copied. A more exquisite piece of work no painter's brush ever imparted to china. The artist is Miss Alice Gorman, of Chelsea.

Beautiful and in good taste were the toilets of the fair visitors who filled the Carleton home with the sunshine of their comely faces and the refined amenities of their kindly hearts.

Rev. Fr. Connelley was unable to make the trip, greatly to the regret of all. An attack of rheumatism confined him to his home.

Mrs. Carleton was assisted in receiving the ladies, by Mrs. E. J. Foster, of Grass Lake, who has long been acquainted with all but one or two of those present.

It is delightful to know that of the entire society, 25 in number, 20 participated in this happy event. Their names were: Mrs. J. E. McKune, president, and Mesdames Margaret Hindelang, J. S. Gorman, John Farrell, Gilbert Martin, C. E. Whitaker, H. H. Fenn, Wm. Remnant, C. Hummel, J. J. Rafferty, Frank Carringer, the Misses Theresa Winters, Frances Hindelang, Lena Foster, Kate Gorman, Anna Belssel, Mabel McGuinness, Rose Conway and Mary Clark, also the Misses Pauline and Helen Burg.

SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY.

Managers in the State Look to the University of Michigan for Men to Run Factories.

SITUATION AT PRESENT ENCOURAGING.

Organized Effort Being Made to Give Farmers the Benefit of a Market Near Their Homes—Value of the Industry to the State Calculated by the Benefits It Brings.

[Special Correspondence.] University of Michigan.—The university is now looked to by the managers of the various sugar beet factories of the state to supply men capable of running many proposed larger manufacturing plants of this kind. The department of sugar beet chemistry at the University of Michigan has had a rapid growth during the last two years, and of the 13 factories making sugar from the beet nine of them are managed, in some one department at least, by Michigan men. This branch of chemistry is becoming to be realized as a producer of wealth, and for that reason the number of students pursuing it this year exceeds greatly all past enrollments. The situation of this industry at present in the state of Michigan is most encouraging.

Thirteen Factories. In the state of Michigan there were, during the winter of 1901-02, 13 beet sugar factories in operation, including the following: Michigan Sugar company, Bay City; Bay City Sugar company, Bay City; West Bay City Sugar company, West Bay City; German-American Sugar company, Saginaw; Saginaw Sugar company, Saginaw; Alma Sugar company, Alma; Lansing Sugar company, Lansing; Peninsular Sugar Refining company, Caro; Detroit Sugar company, Rochester; Marine Sugar company, Marine City; Holland Sugar company, Holland; Wolverine Sugar company, Benton Harbor; and the Kalamazoo Sugar company, Kalamazoo.

For the campaign of 1902 four additional factories are under process of construction: The Sebawaing Sugar company, Sebawaing; Valley Sugar company, Saginaw; Sanilac Sugar Refining company, Crosswell; and the Macomb Sugar company, Mount Clemens.

In addition to the factories already in operation and the four under construction, four other companies are already organized.

Home Market for Farmers. Organized efforts are being made in many Michigan towns to bring about the establishment of beet sugar factories in order that the farmers may have a market near their farms for the sale of the sweet-tubers. Among the towns which are working for sugar beet factories are Port Huron, Sault Ste. Marie, Monroe, Essexville, Port Austin, Cassville, Harbor Beach, Lapeer, Breckenridge, Owosso, Grand Rapids, Cass City and Dundee. In all these places farmers have held mass meetings and pledged themselves to devote a large acreage to the production of beets to supply the factories.

Statistics. When the beet sugar representatives were appearing daily before the ways and means committee the Michigan Sugar Manufacturers' association presented a mass of valuable statistics in reference to the growth of the industry in Michigan. These statistics show that the total investment in Michigan beet sugar factories up to the first of the present year had been $10,500,000.

The total daily capacity of the plants in operation and under construction is 9,000 tons. A total of 800,000 tons of beets will be required for next year's campaign in all these factories.

To raise this amount of beets will require at least 90,000 acres of Michigan land, for which 90,000 farmers will receive upwards of $4,000,000, and will be obliged to hire among their own families or outside of them at least 100,000 men, women and children to care for the cultivation of the beets. The farmers' hired help pay roll will be over $2,500,000.

From these beets will be produced enough sugar to provide for all the demands of Michigan householders.

The beet sugar men's statistics showed that during the last year there were harvested 66,400 acres of beets. The farmers raising these beets aggregated 17,000, and figuring on five persons employed to assist each farmer in the cultivation of this land, there were directly interested in sugar beet cultivation in Michigan during 1901 nearly 85,000 persons.

This is exclusive of the men employed in the factories, who made up a total of nearly 27,000. Thus a total of 112,000 men, women and children were directly benefited by the production of beets and beet sugar in Michigan during 1901. The farmers were paid for their beets $3,107,520.

Value of Industry. The value of the industry to Michigan can only be calculated by the measure of benefits it brings to the state. For diversity of interest the beet sugar industry is unsurpassed by any other important manufacturing enterprise.

The manufacture of beet sugar benefits the farmer by the actual price paid for his crops and by the increased value it imparts to his land.

It benefits the workingman by providing a new employment at a living wage for many men who depended upon industries which are gradually dying out of Michigan, such as lumbering, saltmaking, etc.

It benefits the railroads by furnishing a new commodity for them to haul and—demanding an immense amount of freight in the shape of supplies.

It benefits the manufacturer of agricultural implements of every kind by creating a new demand for them.

It stimulates invention, which is witnessed by the improvements which are constant in sugar-making machinery.

It benefits tradesmen in every line by putting millions of dollars in circulation where formerly there were thousands.

It has opened a new field for builders, who are doing annual business worth millions of dollars in building sugar factories.

It booms towns by bringing large numbers of men to the vicinity of new sugar factories and by paying vast sums of money to farmers in the towns during the winter.

Sugar Campaign.

The sugar campaign comes in the fall and winter of the year, when business in other lines is on the wane. Thus carpenters, painters and mechanics of all descriptions whose trade depends for success upon fair weather find employment during their dull season in the sugar factories of the state at wages which equal or surpass that paid them by their own trade. Besides this, many men who for years had depended upon the lumber woods, the wooden shipbuilding and the salt industries, which are now fast waning in Michigan, and especially in the beet-raising belt, have found new employment in the sugar factories.

Supplies Required. The supplies required annually by the sugar factories is an immense item. The average Michigan factory uses, for instance, 100 tons of coal per day, and 35 tons of lime rock, four tons of coke, etc.

It is estimated that the amount of supplies used by the 13 Michigan factories last year reached the totals of 125,000 tons of coal, valued at $313,000; 41,000 tons of lime rock, $83,000; 4,800 tons of coke, $24,000; 273,000 pounds of sulphur, $6,100. The cost of barrels, sugar bags, chemicals and other supplies bring the total up to over $600,000.

Some of the Benefits.

The money paid to the farmers of Michigan by the beet sugar manufacturers has been the means of clearing more farms from mortgaged indebtedness than any other crop. Scenes of deepest pathos and human interest have been annually beheld in towns having sugar factories when farmers, for years struggling under a burden of debt, have been raised from the slough of despond by the money their beet crop for one year has brought in, enabling them to lift mortgages and take up notes.

The value of farms in Michigan, and particularly through the counties of Saginaw, Bay, Tuscola, Ogemaw, Arenac, Iosco, Midland, Isabella, Gladwin, Gratiot, Eaton, Ingham, Lapeer, Genesee, Macomb, St. Clair, Sanilac and Huron, where most of the beets are raised, has been increased from 25 per cent. to 40 per cent. within the past three years.

Will Test-Stroke Law.

The Grand Trunk Western Railway company has reconsidered its determination as recently communicated to Commissioner Osborn, in response to the demand of that official to reduce the passenger fare on the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee to 2½ cents per mile, and has advised the commissioner that it will not make a reduction, but stands ready to accept service and otherwise cooperate in securing from the courts a decision as to the commissioner's authority to require such reduction.

Got a Surprise.

Alger county officials got a surprise the other day, which, it is likely, has not been equaled elsewhere in the state. Some time ago William Carmody, a Wisconsin man, was found to be ill with smallpox at Munising and was placed in the pesthouse. When he was discharged as cured the other day he tendered the county officials $100 to pay the expenses of caring for him during his illness.

Will Buy a Farm.

By authority of the joint resolution adopted by the last legislature the board of state auditors has allowed the claim of Fred L. Waite, the member of company F, First Infantry, Mason, who was injured during a drill at Island Lake, April 20, 1898. The claim was for $2,000 and the amount, which was paid in full, will be used for the purchase of a farm near Mason.

URNS STATE'S EVIDENCE.

U. V. MacLeod Given Testimony in Water Bribery Conspiracy Cases at Grand Rapids.

Stillson V. MacLeod, who has turned state's evidence in the Grand Rapids water supply bribery cases, went on the stand in the superior court in the trial of Henry A. Taylor, of New York, who was indicted by the grand jury with MacLeod, City Attorney Salisbury and others. MacLeod at the time of the alleged conspiracy, was teller of the old National bank and manager of the local clearing house. He admitted on the stand that he had been made trustee of the alleged boodle fund that was brought here from New York. This fund was to be at the entire disposal of Mr. Salisbury.

On cross-examination MacLeod said he was led to believe that none of the $75,000 was used for bribing city officials. He admitted his greatest anxiety was over Salisbury's obligations at the bank, to which he considered himself a party. On redirect examination witness said that Salisbury told him that the $25,000 first sent here had been used "where it would do the most good;" that the mayor, council and board of works had been paid to support the Lake Michigan proposition. Salisbury told him that the other money had been returned to the "eastern parties."

MICHIGAN Y. M. C. A.

Thirteenth Annual Meeting of the Association in Battle Creek Elects Officers and Hears Reports.

Distinguished Y. M. C. A. men from state and country attended the thirteenth annual meeting of the state association in Battle Creek. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, George T. Moody, Detroit; vice presidents, C. W. Wagner, Ann Arbor; Clay H. Hollister, Grand Rapids; secretaries, E. E. Ronald, Alma College; S. R. Gould, Kalamazoo.

The report of the state executive committee shows 8,666 men as members of 31 college, city and railroad associations in the state.

Michigan has 26 cities regarded as large enough to support an association in which none is organized, and it was recommended that work be done along this line the coming year. A new building, to cost $40,000, is being built in Battle Creek from a donation by the late Charles Willard. Plans are being matured for an endowment of $12,000. Donations are being solicited for a building at Ann Arbor, and $2,000 has been secured. The treasurer's report showed the association in a fair financial condition.

TO REFOREST MICHIGAN.

Gen. Russell A. Alger Advances a Plan Along German Lines to Restore Barren Lands.

Gen. R. A. Alger, who has about recovered from his recent illness, while speaking in Detroit of the necessity of reforesting the barren lands of Michigan and other states, said that Germany's system of maintaining the Black forest should be carried out in the pine barrens of the United States, and especially in Michigan. He announced that he would be one of a commission to go to Germany at his own expense to thoroughly investigate the system in the Black forest and apply it to Michigan.

Gen. Alger said that if it were successful in Michigan there was no reason why all the northern timber-bearing states should not adopt it. He also advocated the plan of bringing experienced foresters to this country from Germany to superintend the work.

A Mining Road.

A force of about 50 men is employed on the railroad being constructed for the Phoenix Consolidated mine, north of Calumet, in Keweenaw county. It is expected the work of laying the rails will commence as soon as the snow leaves the ground. James Kinefick, of Houghton, has the contract for the construction of the road, which will cost about $25,000. It will be 2½ miles long, connecting the Phoenix mine with the stamp mill site, and will be standard gauge and equipped with 75-pound steel.

Opposed to Rural Deliveries.

Postmaster Folsom is doing Spartan work in establishing rural free delivery routes out of Mount Clemens. He is already assured of three, viz.: To townships of Macomb, Clinton and Chesterfield. These deliveries will be self-sustaining, the postmaster expects, as they will do away with a half-dozen country post offices. Among Mount Clemens merchants the free mail delivery to country districts is not popular, as it is feared it will prevent farmers coming to town.

New Railway Line.

A crew of surveyors in the employ of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad company is operating between Watersmeet and Trout Creek, running lines for the new line that the company intends to build from the latter to Mass City, to connect with the Copper Range railroad. Twenty-three men comprise the party, and it is expected that the surveys will all be completed in six weeks.

HIGH HONORS SHOWN TO PRINCE HENRY.

Makes Official Call at the White House and is Heartily Welcomed—Visits House of Representatives and Senate—President Tenders Him a State Dinner.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Rarely in its history has the white house been the scene of a more brilliant spectacle than Monday, when President Roosevelt welcomed to the United States Prince Henry of Prussia.

Special preparations were made at the white house for this event. All of the state apartments on the first floor had received much attention from the government florists, but the decorations of the three communicating parlors, the blue room, where the president and prince met and exchanged their greetings; the red parlor, occupied by Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt, and the green room, where there were assembled the members of the cabinet and their ladies, the wife of Secretary Cortelyou and a few invited guests, were exquisitely beautiful. The great east room, where were conducted the prince's suite, the German ambassador and staff, the American officers and other prominent guests, was handsomely decorated. In these state apartments, as elsewhere, unseemly display had been carefully avoided, but the rich furniture and draperies of the artistically arranged vases filled with great clusters of freshly cut and fragrant American Beauty roses and other blossoms, the evergreen draperies and the gorgeous uniforms of the prince and his party combined to make the scene one of exceptional brilliancy and beauty.

Spontaneous Arrival at White House.

It was 10:45 o'clock when the escorting cavalry column swung through the east gate and at a brisk pace passed up the broad driveway to the white house. Here at the word of command the column broke into single rank, facing the main entrance. Another command as the prince's carriage passed the gate and with that snap and precision which has made the Second regiment famous, every saber flashed from its scabbard and came to the position of present. A detachment of marines, headed by its famous band, had taken place at the right and left of the main entrance, facing north. The first carriage, containing the prince, Secretary Hay and Rear Admiral Evans, drove up at a rapid pace and as it passed under the porte cochere, the marine band struck up the German national air, which was continued until all the company had left their carriages.

In conformity with diplomatic etiquette the president received the royal visitor in private and without introduction. This was made necessary by the fact that there is now in the United States no representative of the German nation of sufficiently high rank to present to the president a prince of the blood royal, a brother and personal representative of the German emperor.

After the greetings had been extended the president led the prince into the red parlor and introduced him to Mrs. Roosevelt and his daughter, Miss Alice. After a few words with them the royal visitor was conducted into the green room and introduced to the members of the cabinet and their ladies. After the ceremony the following statement was made by Assistant Secretary Perce:

"The conversation between the president and the prince was of a purely formal nature and had no political significance farther than that contained in the usual general expressions of international amity and good will."

The party then proceeded to the east room, where the members of the prince's suite were introduced to the president. The entire ceremony occupied just 30 minutes, the party arriving at 10:45 and departing at 11:15 o'clock. On the party reappearing the marine band played "Hands Across the Sea," and with a few sharp military commands the drive to the German embassy was begun.

President Returns the Call.

At 11:40 a. m. President Roosevelt returned Prince Henry's visit. He drove to the German embassy in an open landau with Col. Bingham. The president was met at the carriage by Ambassador von Holleben and ushered into the building. The prince met him in the drawing room, where there was an exchange of amenities.

AT THE CAPITAL.

Prince Henry Visits House of Representatives and Senate.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The visit of Prince Henry and his suite to the capitol Monday afternoon must have been not only a gratifying experience to the royal visitor on account of the warm and flattering reception he received at both the house and senate, and of the opportunity afforded of meeting personally the leaders of both branches, but an extremely interesting experience as well. The prince not only saw the houses of the American parliament at work, but in the senate he witnessed one of those rare and intensely dramatic moments which come in that body occasionally at the conclusion of a great debate. The prince and his party, in carriages, escorted by a troop of cavalry, and flanked on either side by a bicycle platoon of police, arrived at the eastern entrance of the capitol at four o'clock, exactly on schedule time.

The party was met at the great bronze doors leading into the rotunda by a committee from the house, consisting of Mr. Hitt (Ill.), Mr. Dinwiddie (Ark.) and Gen. Grosvenor (O.), chairman of the committee having the arrangements for the prince's reception in charge. Brief cordial greetings having been exchanged, the prince and his party, under the protection of a half hundred police, were conveyed through solid walls of people, packed in the rotunda and Statuary hall to the room of Speaker Henderson, in the rear of the house lobby. Here the speaker, who was awaiting him, greeted the prince with a warm handshake, as Mr. Hitt presented "His Royal Highness." Gen. Henderson invited the prince to be seated, while the German ambassador made the other introductions, and then in a few words formally welcomed him.

An Enthusiastic Greeting.

The prince thanked the speaker for his courtesy, and without further ceremony the party proceeded to the gallery of the house, walking up the marble stairs instead of using the elevator. No sooner had his tall, graceful figure been framed in the doorway when a spontaneous outburst of applause swept floor and gallery. The prince paused, smiled through his blonde beard, and acknowledged the greetings with a slight bow. Mr. Hill explained briefly the working of the cumbersome legislative machinery in the consideration of appropriation bills. The party remained about ten minutes in the gallery and then descended to the ways and means committee room, where a reception was held.

Escorted to the Senate.

Just as the reception, which lasted scarcely more than ten minutes, was concluded, the senate committee, consisting of Senators Cullom (Ill.), Lodge (Mass.) and Morgan (Ala.), appeared, and after being presented, escorted the prince and his party to the senate. In crossing to the other end of the capitol, the party again moved through a solid mass of people. Through the marble room in the rear of the senate he was escorted to the richly-gilded chamber of the vice president, and there Senator Frye, of Maine, the president pro tem. of the senate, greeted him and the members of his suite. No formal remarks were made on either side. The members of the prince's party were escorted by Gen. Corbin to the diplomatic gallery, but Prince Henry and Ambassador von Holleben were ushered directly into the senate chamber. Senator Frye, with the prince at his side, mounted the rostrum and invited him to be seated. The senators on the floor and spectators in the galleries had arisen at his appearance, but there was no audible demonstration. He took a seat beside the side of the president pro tem, and Senator Frye resumed the gavel, which he had yielded to Senator Hoar, and the debate proceeded.

For fully 20 minutes the prince sat completely engrossed by the scene before him. At last Ambassador von Holleben, who sat below him at the clerk's desk, suggested that it was time to go, whereupon the prince thanked Senator Frye and arose. Senator Frye interrupted the senate with a rap of his gavel. The senators immediately stood up, while the people in the galleries craned their necks. Then, as the prince ascended the steps and stood for an instant bowing his acknowledgements, ere he took his departure the galleries broke into applause.

A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

State Dinner Tendered Prince Henry at White House.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The dinner given to Prince Henry by President Roosevelt at the white house Monday night closed the honors bestowed on the royal visitor by official Washington. The affair was on an elaborate scale and brought together a most distinguished company. It was an assemblage such as has rarely if ever before gathered in the white house. To accommodate the large number of guests the dinner table was set in the east room, the most magnificent room ever attempted. Music was furnished by the Marine band, which played a number of German and American patriotic airs.
