The witnesses sworn were Jacob Schaible, Augustus Steger, Philip Steger, Rudolph Kantelehner, Dr. J. W. Robinson, Harry Ewerham, Jesse E. Burdick, H. W. Pullen and Charles C. Riley. The foundation for a big damage suit is being laid.

His Pompadour Cost Him His Job.

Rev. William H. Walker, who some years ago was pastor of the Congregational church here, and at that time caused quite a sensation by a lecture he gave, is about to leave his pulpit in the Congregational church at Wilmette, Ill., a Chicago suburb. One of the reasons assigned for his departure is that the women of his congregation do not like his personal appearance. The brushing of his hair in pompadour style, which he did to please his mother-in-law, is the straw that broke the camel's back, according to the minister's statement of the case.

A Doctor's Bad Plight.

"Two years ago, as a result of a severe cold, I lost my voice," writes Dr. M. L. Scarbrough, of Hebron, Ohio, "then began an obstinate cough. Every remedy known to me as a practicing physician for 25 years, failed, and I daily grew worse. Being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, I found quick relief, and for last ten days have felt better than for two years." Positively guaranteed for throat and lung troubles by Glazier & Stimson. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

A Noted Knight Templar Owes His Health to Peruna.

Colonel T. F. Moody, a prominent Knight Templar, is well known in every city in the United States as a prominent Jeweler's Auctioneer. In the city of Chicago as a prominent lodge man being a member of the K. T.'s and a member of the Masons. The only shows Colonel Moody in the costume of the Oriental Consistory Masons, 32nd degree.

In a recent letter from 5000 Michigan avenue, Chicago, Ill., Mr. Moody says the following:

"For over twenty-five years I suffered from catarrh, and for over ten years I suffered from catarrh of the stomach terribly."

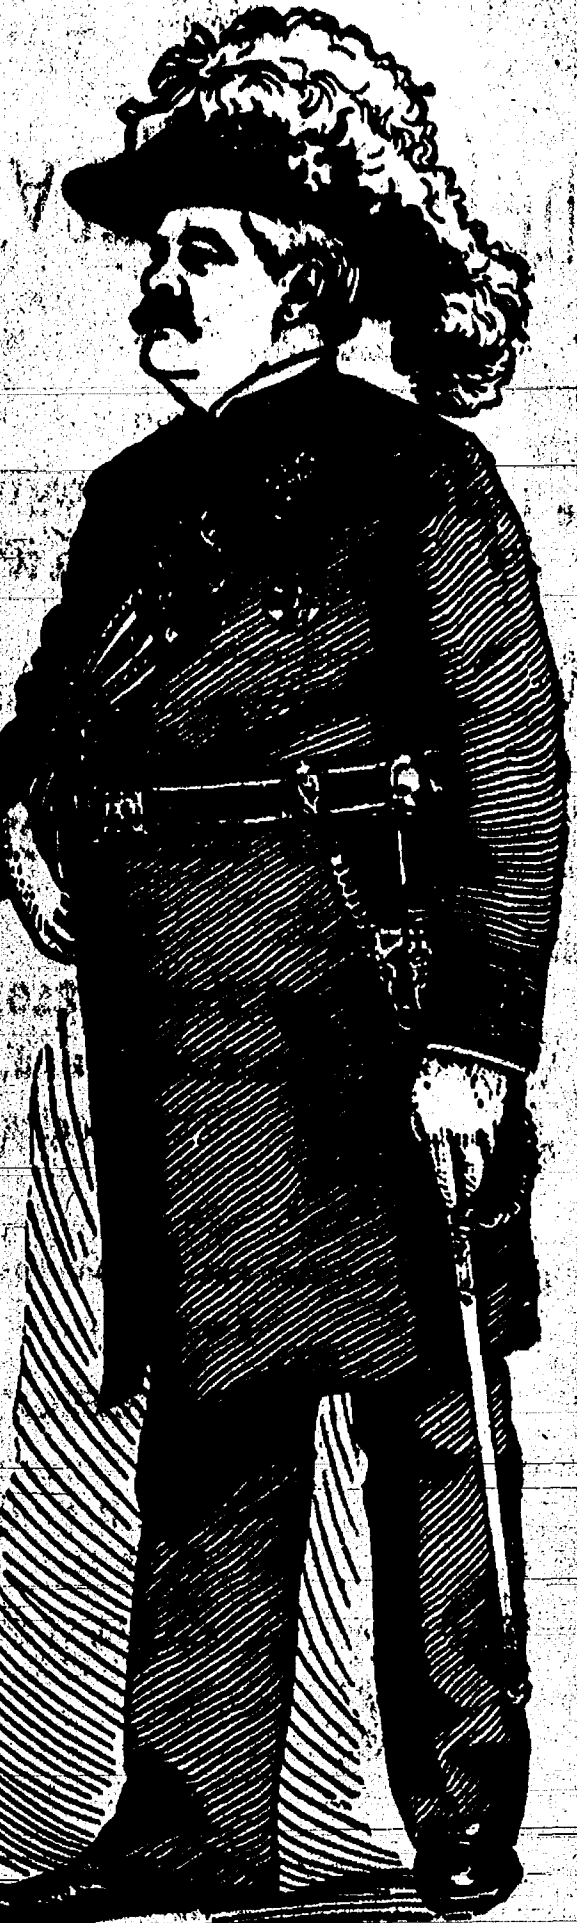

"I have taken all kinds of medicines and have been treated by all kinds of doctors, as thousands of my acquaintances are aware in different parts of the United States, where I have traveled, but my relief was only temporary, until a little over a year ago I started to take Peruna, and at the present time I am better than I have been for twenty years."

"The soreness has left my stomach entirely and I am free from indigestion and dyspepsia and will say to all who are troubled with catarrh or stomach trouble of any kind, don't put it off and suffer, but begin to take Peruna right away, and keep it up until you are cured, as you surely will be if you persevere."

"My wife, as many in the southwest can say, was troubled with a bad cough and bronchial trouble, and doctors all over the country gave her up to die, as they could do nothing more for her. She began taking Peruna with the result that she is better now than she has been in years, and her cough has almost left her entirely. The soreness has left her lungs and she is as well as she ever was in her life, with thanks, as she says, to Peruna. Yours very truly, T. F. Moody."

Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a general curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Prominent men have come to know of its virtues, and are making public utterances on the subject. To save the country we must save the people. To save the people we must protect them from disease. The disease that is at once the most prevalent and stubborn of cure is catarrh.

If one were to make a list of the different names that have been applied to catarrh in different locations and organs, the result would be astonishing. We have often published a partial list of these names, and the surprise caused by the first publication of it to all people, both professional and non-professional, was amusing. And yet we have never enumerated all of the diseases which are classed as catarrh. It must be confessed, however, to see even this partial list drawn up in battle array is rather appalling. If the reader desires to see this list, together with a short exposition of each one, send for our free catarrh book. Address: The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

VALUE OF RESEARCH WORK

May an Industry Saved from Ruin by Timely Application of Facts Brought Out.

THE OF PILLARS OF COMMERCIALISM.

The Work, However, Must Be Unhindered by Any Idea of the Results to Be Obtained—State Should Support Scholarships—Views of a University of Michigan Professor.

(Special Correspondence.)

University of Michigan.—The relation of research work to our great industries is yearly increasing, and many an industry has been saved by the timely application of facts brought out in research work. The relation of our industries to the big universities of the land is bound to be closer when it is realized that America cannot always depend upon England, France and Germany for fundamental facts which may be applied by her for the betterment of her industries. Every year the foreign governments are becoming more careful about giving out knowledge which even though they have not been able to apply themselves, they are afraid it will be put to great use by Americans. Again, the foreign industries, if such a thing is possible, are fearful of making public any of the investigations.

Viewed Differently.

Research work is looked upon by the student and the manufacturer in decidedly different lights: the former seeking only to systematically arrange any new phenomena of nature that he may chance to discover, while the latter proceeds usually from a purely mercenary standpoint, and for every dollar invested in research work he is not satisfied unless he gets back two. He proceeds from a purely business standpoint, and as a result he is credited with very little enlightenment either to himself or to the world in the essentially business investigations he has undertaken.

How to Obtain Success.

The great success attained by the huge industries abroad has been attained by the same methods that the student pursues in research work in our universities, but the success of our own great industries lies in the fact of our superior aptitude in applying facts to the wheels of industry so that they will turn out money. Many of our leading universities have foreseen that the future success of our great industrial system will probably depend on higher commercial education of young men, who are just starting out in life, and consequently we find these institutions building commercial museums and securing men of intellect and of affairs to instruct the college men of today.

A Commercial Pillar.

The research work is one of the pillars on which this great stride in commercialism is to rest, and we only need call to mind some of our largest industries to find in how great a measure their success depends on the investigations of the laboratory. Only a year or so ago the gas manufacturers, of the entire country were almost driven to the wall by the cheapening of electricity and it is likely they would have suffered severely had it not been for the timely invention of the so-called Welchback burner. All these things were accomplished by research work.

Must Be Unfettered.

It may be well to state here that research work, to bring results and enhance the value of any particular line, must be entirely unfettered. Pursuing research work for the purpose of arriving at certain conclusions that will have a market value, is like trying to go to New York afoot. You may get there, but it will take a long time. It cannot be stated emphatically enough that research work to amount to anything must be done unhindered by any idea of the application of the results obtained. There has never been a lack of men in America who had the faculty of application of facts.

Of Vital Importance.

It is without doubt of vital importance to the industries of this country that we keep abreast of the times in research work. We surpass in our industries at present by the application of facts gleaned from the crucible of laboratories across the Atlantic; it is obvious that to maintain our supremacy and advance in this line of work we must rely at some time on our own powers of analysis. The industries of the nation are the only ones to whom such investigations have a market value, and yet it is a fact that very few of them are far-sighted enough to aid research work in the least, and they are the industries that are having a hard time to keep above water; especially is it true with the stockholders of the concerns. There are, however, a great many firms who pretend to realize the value of research work and offer scholarships in universities for the support of the same, but invariably specify that certain results are to be looked for, and consequently results of value are rare.

ly found in such cases, and very often, in fact, universities refuse scholarships because of stipulations of this character being forced on them. In the University of Michigan, well known as a pioneer in true research work, many scholarships have been refused during the current year because of these requirements. Michigan has turned out some remarkable men and results within the last couple of years, and is desiring of scholarships in many lines of industry not at present represented in the research work.

State Should Aid.

Why should the industries support such scholarships rather than the state? To a fair-minded man it should be clear that those who are to get the direct benefit of any research should be the ones to support such investigation, but facts show that the industries of the country are very backward about investing money which does not draw interest and run a good chance of doubling itself at a future date. Every university in the country has been backward about appropriating funds for extensive research work for this reason.

Unhindered Fellowship.

The most unhindered kind of a fellowship is that given by the Michigan State Gas association to the University of Michigan, and some valuable results for that and other companies have been arrived at by the men at work in gas analysis on account of its existence. Many entertain the idea that research work may be pursued by students when taking regular college work, but this is an erroneous idea. Students must learn the fundamental ideas in any science before they can pursue any individual lines of work.

Views of a Professor.

Prof. E. D. Campbell, of the University of Michigan, in a recent address before the Michigan State Gas association said in part:

"To my mind, the work in the university should not be on the application of facts. If we can bring out for you knowledge which can be applied I haven't the slightest objection to my mind that there are plenty of men in this association who will quickly grasp the significance of these facts and apply them to the development of your industry. It is the men in the industries, the men who are active in a practical work, who can take these facts and develop them. It is the duty of the university to bring out this knowledge which can be utilized, and it is the duty of men in the industries to take that knowledge and apply it; men who have had training in research work, men who have learned to appreciate the significance of facts, of the knowledge which they obtained in practical work will be very quick to see where knowledge is applied.

Take our own research work for instance, which we started under this association. We started with a few ideas in mind. We first started with Mr. Russell and took up the work of determining the flame temperature. We determined the relation, where possible, between heating power of gas and its illumination in flat flames. We found as a matter of fact that there is little or no relation between the two. On the other hand when we came to study incandescent mantels entirely different conditions were found. Here we find in the work of Mr. Russell and later on of Mr. Trave, that there is a close relation. We find two of three facts developed. In the first place the illuminating efficiency of gas, or the candle power measured on mantels is a function of the heating power. That is, the higher the colorification power of the gas the greater will be the illumination in the flat of mantels. There is no relation in the flat of mantels. On the other hand, another fact is brought out, we find that 75 to 80 per cent. of the air necessary for complete combustion of the gas to carbon dioxide should be mixed with the gas in the barrel before reaching the mantel; it should be mixed with it. If we do not get this properly mixed then we do not obtain the maximum efficiency. What does this mean? We hear of the construction of the gas and gas burners. A great deal of work and an enormous amount of ingenuity has been expended on the construction of these burners. Alterations in mechanical forms we find are necessitated on account of the alterations in chemical composition or the amount of heating power of the gas and the gas pressure, while the men working upon this mist realize it, they are almost unconsciously trying to work to obtain a maximum efficiency. And what does this mean? It simply means that those men are really trying to construct their burners that they will take in 75 to 80 per cent. of air necessary for complete combustion up to the barrel of the burner. Now, of course, this meant a change; a change in the form of the burner in the base making the admission of the air dependent upon the pressure and composition of your gas. That was really what you were doing when you changed your burner and were experimenting with it to get the maximum efficiency. Another thing which has been brought out by this research was shown in this latter work, that temperature is only one of the two conditions determining the candle power of a mantel. There are two features controlling candle power: in the first place, as I have said, the temperature; the second is the serum oxide, the composition of the mantel itself. To control the first of these, the temperature, what is to be done? Two things suggest themselves at once. In the first place a gas of high calorific power will naturally, if burned reasonably, quickly raise your mantel to a higher temperature than one of lower calorific power. But there is another factor which enters into the problem at this point, the rate of combustion. Of course you know that the more gas you can burn within a definite time over a certain area, the higher is the temperature. The higher the temperature attained, the higher the temperature attained, the higher the temperature attained. By increasing the temperature attained, by increasing the temperature attained, by increasing the temperature attained. So you see higher pressure in burners. So you see that we have some knowledge as to the facts which underlie these phenomena. I think there is plenty of ingenuity and plenty of men of ability in the gas association to apply this knowledge."

MISS MABEL HANNA.

Her Engagement to Harry A. Parsons, of Cleveland, O., Not Opposed by Her Parents.

Announcement that Senator and Mrs. Hanna will build a $20,000 residence in Lake avenue, Cleveland, O., for their daughter, Miss Mabel, when she marries Harry A. Parsons, gives false the rumor that the old folks did not sanction the match.

Contrary to the general impression, Parsons has never claimed for himself any unusual degree of inherent or acquired ability as an artist. For the last few years he has been a most devoted and enthusiastic student in the amateur field.

None of his specimens is offered for sale, and the only specimens of his work that have been preserved are to be found in the private collections of his most intimate friends. Among these Miss Hanna has always been his most ardent admirer.

It is said that Parsons first became intimate with Senator Hanna through his striking cartoons. It is more than likely, however, that he came within the senator's favor through the devotion of Miss Mabel, from whom he had derived his chief source of inspiration.

"Pike" Parsons, as he is familiarly called by his fellow students, entered the antique class of the Cleveland art school in 1897 and continued in the class of the following year. Then he was taken in hand by Miss Anna Walworth, a woman well known in art circles at Cleveland, and at her suggestion studied in New York and Philadelphia.

Miss Mabel and Parsons have been a most devoted couple during the last few years. Their intimacy was formed in early childhood. It is said that her devotion to him has been so fervent that her will has always been subservient to his.

In his turn Parsons has been her most constant and devoted attendant and a most intimate associate of the senator's family.

According to Miss Mabel, the wedding will occur in April, and it is likely that she will prevail. She is about 24 years old, and until she met Mr. Parsons had always manifested the utmost indifference toward young men.

TOO MUCH DRAPERY.

Curtains Should Be Used Sparingly as They Are Detrimental to Hygienic Safety.

"The crusade against the tendency of the modern housekeeper to swathe her windows and doors in draperies has not half been preached," said a sanitary expert the other day. "I go into houses, many of them, and into small flats, where a triple layer of curtains shuts out air and sunlight from the apartment about as completely as if the windows were solid wall. When I scold, the chateaus say: 'We must have curtains and draperies, they are so artistic.' I will concede one set of thin curtains at certain windows of the house, with preferably none in bedrooms or nurseries. If thin curtains are needed in a bedroom they should be of a fabric that can be easily laundered, or of a weave of lace that may be kept free from dust by light brushing and shaking out of the open window. To persons with asthmatic or consumptive tendencies they are a menace that should not be permitted. Sanitation should be taught in schools of design for house furnishings. It is absurd to think that our clever artists cannot combine attractive effect with hygienic safety."—Troy (N. Y.) Times.

SAD END OF ROMANCE.

Pretty Virginia Girl Who Was Maid, Wife and Widow in the Space of Ten Minutes.

Ten minutes was the brief space of time in which Miss Mildred Deuel, of Richmond, Va., counted the stages of life which most women reckon by years. In that short while she was a maid, a wife and a widow, and the romance which had filled her dreams had been realized and shattered. She became Miss Mildred Miles Stanton while her husband was dying, a victim of the typhoid fever, in the service of his country in the Philippines.

Three years ago Miss Deuel, the daughter of a theater manager in Richmond, became engaged to young Stanton. She was but 17 years old, and the objections of her parents ruled the young people when they talked of marriage. A year later the young man obtained a commission as lieutenant in the volunteer army, and was sent to fight the Philippines.

Love is not governed in its intensity according to distance, however, and the miles between Lieut. Stanton and Miss Deuel served but to increase the affection they entertained for each other. Their parents agreed to their marriage upon his return to this country, and with the sole purpose of greeting her soldier hero Miss Deuel went to California a few weeks ago.

The transport came into the harbor at San Francisco, and Lieut. Stanton, emaciated almost beyond recognition and weakened to helplessness, was among the passengers. His arrival, through a mistake in the transmission of an order of the war department, was two weeks earlier than anticipated by Miss Deuel, and the greeting which Lieut. Stanton had looked forward to was denied him.

Nearly a week had passed, and Lieut. Stanton showed no sign of improvement. Then came a day when the hospital was being visited by a large party of San Francisco people. In the party was Miss Deuel, keenly sympathetic as she remembered the sweetheart for whom she was waiting. A pause by a cot, a faint exclamation of surprise, and a moment later the two young people were clasped in each other's arms.

Lieut. Stanton rallied from his fever for a few days, and the doctors said he was on the road to recovery. His fiancée was his constant attendant, and the story of their romance spread through every ward in the hospital. One evening a messenger summoned Miss Deuel from the residence of her grandparents with a message stating that Lieut. Stanton was sinking rapidly and could not live until morning.

A few minutes after her arrival at the hospital the young officer, in the presence of his mother and sisters, expressed the desire to make Miss Deuel his wife, so that she might inherit his property. There was no time to be lost, and it was too late to summon a minister. Clasp each other's hands the young people took the vows of matrimony under a civil agreement, which was duly witnessed by the relatives of both, and a few minutes later Lieut. Stanton was dead.

DIDN'T RECLAIM THE COIN.

Although She Had the Opportunity to Do So, Mrs. Stanford Did Not Regret.

Those who "pass the plate" in country churches are not often regaled with the glitter of gold among the contributions. It is related that about ten years ago Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stanford were traveling through the middle west incognito. They happened to be in Bloomington, Ind., one Sunday and pursuant to their usual custom went to church. They attended the Christian church of Bloomington, then largely in the hands of Amzi Atwater, says the Chicago Chronicle.

When the plate was passed for the collection Mrs. Stanford dropped in a ten-dollar gold piece. Mr. Atwater was the deacon in charge of the collection-taking. It was noticed that the ushers held a hurried conference with him when the money was taken forward. At its conclusion Mr. Atwater said: "Ladies and gentlemen, there has evidently been a mistake. Some one has dropped a ten-dollar gold piece into the collection. If he will pass up after the services we will be glad to allow him to exchange it for the amount he intended to give." It is, of course, needless to say that Mrs. Stanford did not take advantage of the opportunity.

Lintment for Home Use.

A liniment that is simple to make, but is very efficacious in results, is composed of kerosene, camphor gum and sweet oil. Put a pint of kerosene into a quart bottle, add as much camphor gum as will dissolve, adding a little more gum day by day for three days; then add half a pint of sweet oil, shake thoroughly, cork well, and put in a safe place for future use. For burns, cuts, bruises, stiff neck or joints, sore throat, bunions and a few other ills to which flesh is heir, relief is said to be almost magical when this liniment is applied.

A Hint in Time.

Thursday evening last the near relatives of Mr. Ernest Cook and Miss Isabelle Carpenter met at the Carpenter home in Chelsea to witness the marriage of the above mentioned couple, which was accomplished at 8 o'clock in the very neatest style possible. Everything was up-to-date—too far up for me to describe. After the congratulations and greetings were over supper was served, and the tables were beautifully filled three times, both on the top and at the sides. Then music and a good social time was had until the rattle of rice and the hustling of shoes gave a hint that the bride and groom were starting on their wedding journey. After viewing the many beautiful and useful presents, the goodbyes were said and the North Lake contingent had a fine moonlight ride home. It is to be hoped the married life of the young couple will be as perfect and enjoyable as was the wedding evening.

ANN ARBOR THEATRICALS.

Two new faces will be seen in the cast of "The Princess Chlo" upon the occasion of its presentation at the Athens theater, Ann Arbor, on Monday, April 7. One of them is Maud Lillian Berri, the prima donna, and the other is Edna Floyd, the subrette. Miss Berri is already one of the best known singers on the operatic stage of America. She was for several years prima donna of the Castle Square Opera Company at the Studebaker in Chicago, and was also for one season at the head of the Maud Lillian Berri Opera Company, which was a well known local organization in St. Louis. Miss Berri's voice is one of the clearest and most sympathetic sopranos, while the papers of the far west, which section she has just toured as Princess Chlo, claim that she invests the role with just the proper grace. Miss Floyd is comparatively a new singer, and cannot therefore claim the established prestige which belongs to Miss Berri, but her impersonation of the dainty and coquettish "Estelle" is said to be a genuine creation. Miss Floyd received her vocal training under Clara Munger who was the teacher of Emma Eames. The balance of "The Princess Chlo" cast remains unchanged, and the opera itself is the same charming combination of meriment, music and pretty color-effects which won such deserved success in Ann Arbor last season. Out of town orders for seats must be sent to the Postal Telegraph office at Ann Arbor where patrons will receive the best of attention. Order by telegraph, phone or mail.

GEN. MILES' PLAN MEETS DISAPPROVAL.

Congress Furnished with Correspondence Between Secretary Root and Lieutenant General Relative to Latter's Suggestion for Ending Philippine War.

Washington, March 31.—The president Saturday sent to the house of representatives the correspondence and papers bearing upon the request of Lieut. Gen. Miles to be assigned to duty in the Philippines. The papers were sent to the house in response to a resolution introduced by Mr. Burleson of Texas, and passed by that body. They are as follows:

To the House of Representatives: In response to the following resolution of the house of representatives of March 2, 1902: "Resolved, That the president of the United States be, and he is hereby respectfully requested, if not incompatible with the public interest, to transmit to the house copies of all correspondence relating to, and papers bearing on, the matter of the request of Lieut. Gen. Miles, a member of the United States army, to be assigned to duty in the Philippine archipelago, and to be allowed to be put into effect there a plan outlined by him to bring about a cessation of hostilities, I transmit herewith copies of all the papers upon which final action in the matter was taken."

Since upon final action, and since the introduction of said resolution, a further memorandum has been added to the papers by Lieut. Gen. Miles, and I transmit also a copy thereof together with the action thereon.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
White House, March 29, 1902."

Letter of Gen. Miles.
Headquarters of the Army, Washington, Feb. 17, 1902.—The Honorable, the Secretary of War.—Sir: I have the honor to invite attention to a subject that I have had under consideration for several months, and to request that this letter be laid before the president.

"It is now three years since the opening of hostilities between the United States forces and those in the Philippine islands, and this warfare has been conducted with marked severity. More than 120,000 United States troops have been at different times sent or are now under orders to go to the Philippines, and more than 40,000 still remain on duty there, which service, with the assistance of the naval force, involves an enormous expenditure of public money, as well as the loss of many valuable lives."

"During the past century thousands of Indians have been called to the capital for consultation and council, and I have, under authority, sent to Washington many red-handed representatives of different tribes of Indians, the result of which has been a reconciliation, a restoration of confidence, the prevention of war, and the establishment and continuance of peace within the states and territories."

"Our friendly relations with the people of Cuba and Porto Rico have been largely promoted by consultation with the representatives of those islands here in Washington, both before hostilities occurred, during the Spanish war and since; and I have never found any people, whether savage, semi-civilized, or civilized, who were not benefited by candid, frank and honest consultation and council."

Asks to Be Sent to Philippines.

"In view of the above considerations, I make the request that I be authorized to proceed to the Philippine Islands, taking with me ten men whom I may select from Cuba and Porto Rico, whose assistance has been found useful in promoting friendly relations between the people of those islands and the United States, and who could properly explain to the Filipinos the benefits their people have derived through friendly relations with this country, and while there to give such directions as I may deem advisable and judicious for the best disposition of the United States military forces, to the end that they may occupy the most healthful and strategic positions, with due regard to economy, and be afforded the greatest comfort and benefit, also to take such measures as will tend to restore, as far as possible, confidence to the people of those islands, and demonstrate that the purpose of our government is promoted by the highest sense of justice; and that on returning I be authorized to bring to the capital such number of representative Filipinos as I may think advisable, in order that they may see and know the advantages of our civilization and realize the disposition of our government toward them, at the same time affording an opportunity for a full consultation, whereby intelligent and definite action may be taken concerning their future destiny. It is confidently believed that such measures could then be taken as would be satisfactory and beneficial to the 100,000 or inhabitants of the Philippine islands, and highly creditable to our government."

"By this means we would be fully informed of the condition and wants of the people of those islands, and they, on the other hand, would become fully apprised of the purpose and final disposition of our government toward them. This need not reflect in the slightest degree upon the services of the military, nor interfere with the civil government that have been or may be established."

"Should this request be approved, I am confident it would result in a better condition of our military forces in that division, in the cessation of hostilities within a reasonable time, thereby permitting the return of a large number of our troops from those remote and unhealthy stations, and I should hope in an amicable adjustment of affairs in those islands which would be satisfactory to the inhabitants thereof as well as to the people of the United States."

Very respectfully, Nelson A. Miles, Lieutenant General, Commanding United States Army."

Root's Letter of Disapproval.

War Department, Washington, March 5, 1902.—Respectfully forwarded to the president, disapproved.

"The conduct of military affairs in the Philippines by Gen. Charles and his predecessors and the conduct of civil affairs by Gov. Taft and his associates in the Philippine commission, have been able and successful. Much more rapid progress has been made toward the complete acceptance of American sovereignty, the restoration of peace and the establishment of civil government than we had any right to anticipate when the treaty of Paris was ratified. The plan proposed in the letter of Gen. Miles involves practically superseding the officers mentioned in the control which they now exercise. Not only is this without justification in their conduct, but I should regard it as a most unfortunate interference with the present satisfactory progress. There have been exceedingly full, extended and long continued consultation and counsel between the government of the United States and the leaders of opinion among the insurrectionary Filipinos, resulting in a full understanding and most friendly feeling between by far the greater part of the Philippine people and ourselves, and a participation by many members of the Aguinaldo government in the civil government under American sovereignty."

"I append hereto a list of 23 officers of the insurrectionary government who now hold positions of trust under our government. Aguinaldo himself has taken the position of earnestly urging his countrymen to accept our sovereignty, and most of them have already followed his advice. It is not perceived that any additional benefit would be obtained by taking delegations of Cubans and Porto Ricans to the Philippines, or by bringing delegations from the Philippines to the United States, in advance of the choice of official delegates provided for by the bill now pending in congress, in the other hand, it would be very difficult to keep such a proceeding free from spectacular and sensational features, which would be injurious."

"It is not the fact that the warfare in the Philippines has been conducted with marked severity; on the contrary, the warfare has been conducted with marked humanity and magnanimity on the part of the United States army."

"ELIHU ROOT,
Secretary of War."

President Subscribes His Approval.

"Conclusions of the secretary of war are hereby approved."

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
White House, March 6, 1902."

Then follows the list of 23 officers of the insurrectionary government who now hold positions of trust under our government.

Subsequent Correspondence.

Following the letters of Lieut. Gen. Miles and that of Secretary Root in transmitting the same to the president, is a mass of matter consisting of a reply from Lieut. Gen. Miles received by Secretary Root, and a lengthy review by the latter covering practically the same points of objection made in the first communication sent by Secretary Root, and a present disapproval of Lieut. Gen. Miles' proposal, the additional Secretary Root brings out the following point:

"The reference in the memorandum to the letter of Gov. Taft to the secretary of war, dated February 7, 1902, is to a letter transmitting, for the purpose of an investigation by the military authorities, a report by the civil governor of the province of Tayabas, containing in general terms and without specifications or names, serious charges against the military administration in that province and against the conduct of the army generally in its relations to the civil government. This report was on the 18th of February sent to Gen. Chaffee with the following direction:

"There is so much contained in this report reflecting not only upon officers of the army, but upon the general conduct of affairs and the administration of the military branch of the government, that the head of the military department desires you to cause a careful inquiry to be made concerning these statements and if they be found true that the necessary administrative and disciplinary measures be applied to correct these evils, and also to make a full report of the investigation herein directed as soon as possible."

Regrets Action of Miles.

"There has not yet been time for the report to be made, and the direction for the investigation can only just now have reached Manila. It is to be regretted that the officer of the highest rank in the army should assume the truth of charges reflecting upon the credit of the army in advance of the investigation which has been ordered, and without giving Gen. Chaffee, upon whose particular command the charges reflect, an opportunity to be heard. Gov. Taft's letter shows that the civil governor of the Philippines was unwilling to accept the charges as true without an investigation."

"As the lieutenant general's memorandum of March 21 was not made until after the introduction of a resolution in the house of representatives calling for all correspondence and papers in the matter of his application to go to the Philippines, the putting into those papers of the specific reference to the letter transmitting the charges plainly evinces a design to procure the publication of the charges, and of the lieutenant general's acceptance thereof as true, in advance of the investigation of their truth, and of a report thereon by Gen. Chaffee. In the interest of good discipline and effective service such a course is much to be regretted. Such charges ought not to be published against our countrymen whom we have sent to labor and fight under our flag on the other side of the world before they can be heard in their own defense."

(Signed)
"ELIHU ROOT,
Secretary of War."

President's Strong Approval.

"White House, Washington, March 27, 1902."

"The memorandum of the secretary of war is approved as a whole and as to every part. Had there been any doubt before as to the wisdom of denying Gen. Miles' request, these papers would remove such doubt."

(Signed) "THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

"The reference in the memorandum to the letter of Gov. Taft to the secretary of war, dated February 7, 1902, is to a letter transmitting, for the purpose of an investigation by the military authorities, a report by the civil governor of the province of Tayabas, containing in general terms and without specifications or names, serious charges against the military administration in that province and against the conduct of the army generally in its relations to the civil government. This report was on the 18th of February sent to Gen. Chaffee with the following direction:

"There is so much contained in this report reflecting not only upon officers of the army, but upon the general conduct of affairs and the administration of the military branch of the government, that the head of the military department desires you to cause a careful inquiry to be made concerning these statements and if they be found true that the necessary administrative and disciplinary measures be applied to correct these evils, and also to make a full report of the investigation herein directed as soon as possible."

Regrets Action of Miles.

"There has not yet been time for the report to be made, and the direction for the investigation can only just now have reached Manila. It is to be regretted that the officer of the highest rank in the army should assume the truth of charges reflecting upon the credit of the army in advance of the investigation which has been ordered, and without giving Gen. Chaffee, upon whose particular command the charges reflect, an opportunity to be heard. Gov. Taft's letter shows that the civil governor of the Philippines was unwilling to accept the charges as true without an investigation."

"As the lieutenant general's memorandum of March 21 was not made until after the introduction of a resolution in the house of representatives calling for all correspondence and papers in the matter of his application to go to the Philippines, the putting into those papers of the specific reference to the letter transmitting the charges plainly evinces a design to procure the publication of the charges, and of the lieutenant general's acceptance thereof as true, in advance of the investigation of their truth, and of a report thereon by Gen. Chaffee. In the interest of good discipline and effective service such a course is much to be regretted. Such charges ought not to be published against our countrymen whom we have sent to labor and fight under our flag on the other side of the world before they can be heard in their own defense."

Secretary of War."

President's Strong Approval.

"White House, Washington, March 27, 1902."

"The memorandum of the secretary of war is approved as a whole and as to every part. Had there been any doubt before as to the wisdom of denying Gen. Miles' request, these papers would remove such doubt."

(Signed) "THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Costly Fire at Guthrie.

Guthrie, Okla., March 31.—Guthrie was visited Sunday by a $300,000 fire, and as a result the State Capital printing plant, the Hotel Capitol, the St. James hotel, the Cammack livery barn and the Richey general merchandise store are in ruins.

A FAIRY TALE.

Klump, Suspected of Murdering His Wife, Sends Grand Rapids Officers on a Fool's Errand.

William E. Klump, the Lowell man who was in jail in Grand Rapids on suspicion of knowing something about the poisoning of his wife, told Sheriff Chapman a fairy story that sent that official and Turnkey Gates to Klump's home town on a fool's errand.

Klump has not confessed having anything to do with the murder; for he is willing to admit that he believes his wife was murdered. But while conversing with the sheriff he broke down completely and burst into tears. Chris Klump, his brother, was in the cell, and the prisoner would not talk until he had left. Then he took the sheriff into his confidence and told what he claimed as his theory of the murder.

Pressed for details, he would not say that he had any knowledge of the crime before it was committed. He declared that the woman whom he suspected as the sender of the powder lives in Lowell and thinks a great deal of him, having been in his company many times before his wife died.

The officers went to Lowell and investigated. They now say they found that the woman named by the prisoner is an honest, hard-working person, that she never had anything to do with Klump, and was astounded at the man's statements.

Klump has been released from jail, no case having been made against him.

TOUCH OF ROMANCE.

Man Will Cross the Ocean and Woman a Continent to Be Married in San Francisco Next Month.

A wedding with a pretty touch of romance will take place at San Francisco next month, in which the principles will be Miss Lydia Wood, a former normal coed, and George Gannon, a prominent member of last year's graduating class at the normal in Ypsilanti. Gannon is at present teaching in the Philippines and Miss Wood is at her home in Grand Rapids, and the one will cross the ocean and the other a continent to meet at San Francisco on their wedding day. Miss Wood was a particularly popular normal coed, and Gannon was no less prominent in college circles, being a member of a leading fraternity for three years, a member of the normal baseball team, president of the sophomore and junior classes, and business manager of the Normal News during his senior year.

DIME NOVEL READING.

Blamed for the Act of a Boy Under Arrest for Attempting to Wreck a Train.

Herbert Cook, 19 years old, of New Buffalo, is in the county jail in St. Joseph on a charge of attempting to wreck an east-bound passenger train on the Michigan Central railroad at a point near New Buffalo by placing a heavy bolt between the switch points. Had not the bolt been discovered the passenger train would have run into an open switch and the entire train would have left the track and plunged into a ditch. Cook declared he had no intention of causing a wreck, but put the iron on the track to have the train cut it in two. He confesses he has been reading dime novels, and it is evident that this literature is responsible for the deed.

Women Ask Exemption.

Miss Fannie Lacey, of Niles, is at the head of a movement which aims to bring together and organize all of the widows and unmarried women of the state for the purpose of applying to the state legislature for exemption from personal taxes of widows and unmarried women whose property does not exceed $5,000 in value. They say that the personal tax, which is above 2 1/2 per cent., is exorbitant, as many of them depend upon the income from a few thousand invested at less than six per cent. for a livelihood.

Lively Pedestrian Work.

Charles Madosh, an Indian, has established a road pedestrian record for the upper peninsula. A distance of 60 miles was traveled by him in 9 1/2 hours. Madosh was employed at a lumber camp at Mountain Lake, in the Huron mountain district, and while there received news of the death of a brother at Marquette. The team was not to return to the city until the next day, and Madosh immediately started for town to attend the funeral, walking and running the distance in the time stated.

Not a New Thing.

The records of the Michigan supreme court disclose that the beet sugar industry, which is now clamoring for protection from Cuban sugar, was first established in this state over 60 years ago. It is a matter of court record that one Hovey sued the White Pigeon Beet Sugar company in 1840 on a note for $13 and obtained a judgment, which was affirmed by the supreme court in 1843, Judge Alpheus Felch, later governor of the state, writing the opinion.

THINGS TO NOTICE.

Superintendent of Schools Instructs Educators in the Method of Teaching Temperance.

A bulletin treating of the teaching of temperance in the public schools and also of restricting dangerous communicable diseases has been issued by Superintendent of Public Instruction Fall, who calls teachers' attention to the laws which require that such instructions be given. He says:

"The teacher must lay aside all sentiment, both in manner and words," says Prof. Fall, "discussing the matter of teaching the effect of alcohol on the human system. To have it known that the teacher treats the subject simply from the standpoint of the political prohibitionist or ardent temperance worker, would be to so prejudice the work as to largely destroy the results hoped for."

"It would be well if the teacher should set the pupil to the task of seriously and carefully observing for himself those facts which are apparent when he comes face to face with one of the victims of the alcohol habit. Let the pupils note then the voluble tongue, the rolling eyeballs, the bleared and bloodshot eyes, the staggering gait, the drunken stupor, the resulting rum-blossomed nose, the loss of judgment, of honor, of purity."

"Care should be taken not to exaggerate the teaching, for the ordinarily bright boy will recognize the exaggeration and instinctively rebel against it; he will detect the fallacy and discredit not only the exaggeration, but the truth itself. In teaching the effects of alcohol upon the system, the instruction should be carried on in the same spirit which characterizes the teaching of any other truth of science."

SHOT AT HIMSELF.

Policeman Thinks He Sees a Burglar and Fires, But Only Shatters Glass in a Mirror.

Policeman William Metcalf discovered early in the morning that the door of a dry goods store in Niles was ajar and he entered with revolver in hand. As he stealthily moved forward Metcalf saw what he took to be a man pointing a revolver at him. The policeman fired six shots at the supposed burglar, then, bleeding from a wound in the head, fled with his empty weapon. A brother officer met him at the door. Later the chief of police came and called upon the burglar to surrender. There being no response, the officers entered the store. They found that Metcalf had seen himself in a large mirror and with his bullets had shattered it. A piece of flying glass had struck Metcalf in the head.

MARRIED AGAIN.

Couple in Mount Clemens Who Separated After a Union of Nineteen Years Will Try It Again.

The marriage of Nelson Blay, aged 55, to Mary Robetoy, aged 57, in Mount Clemens, shows the fickleness of the human heart. Twenty years ago these two people met for the first time and shortly afterward were married. They lived together for 10 years. Last year Nelson started suit for a divorce, which was granted. In his bill of complaint it appeared that his wife was in the habit of throwing his clothes and himself out of his own house, that she beat him, swore at him and made life miserable generally. It is less than a year since the divorce was granted, and they are now married again and from accounts of the neighbors living together as happily as can be.

TAX TITLE BUYERS.

According to Reliable Information, Upper Michigan Is to Be Invaded by Them This Spring.

The upper peninsula is to be invaded by tax title buyers this spring, according to authentic information which has reached Iron Mountain from Lansing. Syndicates have been organized at Grand Rapids and other cities to bid in lands at the sales this year, and, according to all accounts, the business is to be conducted on the wholesale plan in every northern county.

The ostensible purpose of the syndicates is to purchase the lands for colonization purposes, but it is declared that the old game of compelling the owners to redeem at 100 per cent. additional is intended.

Indorse Faculty Plans.

The regents of the University of Michigan have indorsed the action of the engineering faculty, making it obligatory for students to spend six months between the junior and senior years in work. The civil engineers will put in the time in field surveying. The mechanical engineers will do engine designing, the electricians will do foundry work and the chemists will study dynamo and engines. No extra fee will be charged. The course of the trained nurses was extended to three years.

Contracts Can Be Taxed.

Circuit Judge Stone filed a decision in a taxation case in Marquette of importance throughout the state. It was a suit brought against the Michigan Land & Iron company to enforce the payment of taxes on land and timber contracts which it is claimed were an asset properly assessable. The court decides that the contracts are a credit which can be taxed, and has given judgment for the amount involved, $1,650.

DISTRESS FROM FLOOD.

Great Distress Exists Among Families in Tennessee Where All Was Swept Away.

Knockville, Tenn., April 1.—A special to the Sentinel from Harrison says: The flood tide has completely receded in the Emory river here and six of the twelve industries that were invaded by the high water resumed operation Monday. The remaining industries will be running by Tuesday morning it is thought. The aggregate damage is now placed at $75,000, but which amount Mayor Claude Henderson states the city will suffer $1,500.

Authentic figures place the number of families affected by the flood at 25. Of these 15 are totally destitute. Ten families lost a portion of their effects. Only three houses were totally destroyed, 22 residences being more or less damaged.

The flood penetrated the first floor of the Babahatchee inn, the largest hotel between Somerset and Chattanooga, and that portion of the building was vacated. Thirteen houses were washed away at Oskdale and the occupants of these are reported homeless and in need of assistance. Others suffered more or less damage from water invading their houses.

Knockville, Tenn., April 1.—A special to the Sentinel from Petros, Morgan county, Tenn., says: The flood did about $100,000 damage in Morgan county exclusive of that at Petros. Farms and logging were badly washed and the county sustained about $100,000 damages to bridges and roads. At Wolf Creek a drummer named Brown was drowned Friday morning. The body was recovered.

Nashville, Tenn., April 1.—Latest reports of the destruction wrought by floods in the different counties in the middle and eastern division of the state indicate that the losses will aggregate $4,000,000. So far as known the number of lives lost is more than 25. The actual number will be known only when the streams recede. The worst of the danger is now past.

Williston, N. D., April 1.—Two east-bound continental trains on the Great Northern are on the slide track here awaiting the breaking of the snow blockade between Wheelock and White Earth. There is very little snow on the ground, but high winds piled it in the cuts 15 feet deep. A private car carrying Count Matsukata of Japan and his party is tied up here. The count is anxious to reach St. Paul, where he has promised to be a guest of Mr. Hill. Passengers without money are being fed at the restaurant at the expense of the railroad company. The last meat in Williston was bought Sunday. There are no eggs or butter left.

PATRICK WEDS IN JAIL.

Man Found Guilty of Murder of Rice Enters Into Contract Marriage with Mrs. Francis.

New York, April 1.—Albert T. Patrick, who was convicted on Wednesday last of the murder of William Marsh Rice, and Mrs. Addie M. Francis, with whom Patrick boarded up to the time of his arrest, were married in the Tombs Sunday. The marriage was made by contract in accordance with a law passed by the legislature of this state in 1901, providing for the legislation of contract marriages entered into before two witnesses. The law directs that such contract must be filed within six months after its execution in the office of the clerk of the town or city in which the marriage took place. Samuel B. Thomas, attorney for Mrs. Francis, made the following statement Monday:

"As counsel of Mrs. Francis, I advised her that the contract marriage was absolutely valid and binding. Mrs. Francis had been engaged to Mr. Patrick since 1888. It was their intention to be married on the day of Patrick's acquittal, but as the verdict was against him this plan could not be carried out. They were married, properly and legally, and as his wife Mrs. Addie Francis Patrick can visit him when he is confined in the death house, which would have been denied her otherwise."

World's Conference of Y. M. C. A.

New York, April 1.—The world's conference of the Young Men's Christian associations, which meets once every four years, will be held this year in Christiania, Norway, from August 20 to 24. The storthing, or parliament, of Norway has made a government appropriation for this conference. The international committee of Young Men's Christian associations has, it is announced, secured special rates, and is arranging itineraries for those who plan to attend the conference and for those who wish to make long or short summer tours in Europe.

Under Legal Age.

Toledo, O., April 1.—Daniel Rosenbecker, the 13-year-old boy who confessed to having murdered his playmate, Arthur Shanteau Saturday evening last, will never be tried for murder, as it is learned that he is under the age of legal accountability, which is 14 years. The boy broke down Monday for the first time since his arrest, and he cried for some little time. He said, however, he did not feel bad because he had killed Shanteau, but because of his incarceration.

School Notes.
A number were absent Monday on account of the storm.

No new faces are seen among us after our spring vacation.

The High School boys are considering some way to get a gymnasium.

Miss Lenore Curtis, a former student of the High School, has visited the different rooms the past week.

The scholars who are interested in baseball are anxiously waiting April 13, for on that date the High School team will play
Wayne at this place.

If in the near future the farmers around Chelsea see young people in their woods they will know that they are members of the botany classes, hunting for flowers and roots.

A representative of the University visited the High School Tuesday to see if the pupils were up in their work and if our school should be placed on the university list for another three years. He said everything was satisfactory and he spoke of the Chelsea school in a most praising manner.

paint is vexation of spirit, and waste of money.
It takes as much time and labor to apply a poor paint as it does a good paint, therefore to "make assurance doubly sure" ask for and receive Peninsular Ready Mixed Paint.

Every Drop of Peninsular Ready Mixed Paint is guaranteed to you.

Another fact, Peninsular Ready Mixed Paint is always true in color, will not crack, chip, blister or peel, but stands up bright and durable in sunshine or storm. Then its large covering capacity, gives you economy, with permanency and beauty.

Ask for little book "For Mansion and Cottage," it tells of Peninsular Ready Mixed Paint and Peninsular Enamels.

DON'T BE AN ASS.

If you are buying a pair of shoes or a suit of clothes you are particular as to the honesty and reputation of the merchant. Your health is of more importance than either, yet you let quacks medical failures and other humbugs deceive you by their deceptive offers of something for nothing.
After being defrauded by these medical humbugs you think all doctors are rogues, whereas, you alone are to blame. Why not first demand from them evidence of their honesty and responsibility as physicians.
