SLIM DOCKET FOR MAY TERM

No Important Criminal Cases—Seven Applications for Divorce.

The following is the docket for the May term of the circuit court, which opened Tuesday.

The criminal docket will not be an important one. Cases noticed for trial are the People vs. Charles Wedrig, false pretenses; People vs. John Reddaway, receiving stolen property; People vs. Edward Mason and Nellie Lewis, who have not yet put in an appearance, and the People vs. Gottlieb Hanselman, Phillip O'Hara, Rudolph Suchotz and James McKinstry for violation of the liquor law.

There are 23 jury trials on the civil docket. The most important are the William D. Smith will case, Elizabeth Wylie vs. Charles Alber breach of promise, Clara Lambarth vs. George Roller slander, Exum Johnson vs. the City of Ypsilanti.

In the divorce court there are the following: Bertram Moore vs. Florence T. Moore, Charles E. Sandler vs. Mary Sandler, William VanKliper vs. Ida VanKliper, Henry Stockdale vs. Rose Stockdale, Julia D. Storrs vs. Samuel J. Storrs, Richard Branton vs. Emma Branton, Clara Claviter vs. Albert L. Claviter.

Altogether the May term will not be as exciting as usual.

Formed Young People's Union.

A meeting of about 250 delegates from Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids, Chelsea, Manchester, Albion, Owosso, Battle Creek, Lansing, Franciscan, Rogers' Corners and Sharon, formed a union of the young people's societies of the German Evangelical synod at Jackson Sunday. The main service was held in the morning at the German Evangelical Lutheran church and the address was made by Rev. Albert Schoen of this place.

In the afternoon the union was organized with the following officers: President, Rev. W. Alber of Jackson; vice president, Rev. John Neumann of Ann Arbor; secretary, Victor Werster of Ann Arbor; treasurer, Miss Julia Schoettle of Manchester. After the adjournment of the business meeting, the delegates were tendered a reception and banquet at Castle hall. In the evening there was a musical service, with short addresses by Revs. O. Schoettle of Albion; J. Neumann of Ann Arbor; J. B. Meister of Dexter and J. Graber of Franciscan on the work of the Young People's Society.

Please Don't.

Don't throw banana skins on the sidewalk. About nine o'clock last Monday evening, as Dr. Holmes was walking briskly homeward, in front of the residence of A. VanTune on Main street, he set his heel unwittingly on a bit of banana skin about the size of a quarter of a dollar, when his feet went from under him in an instant, and he fell with great force to the ground. The force of the fall was broken somewhat by his head striking upon the iron fence, the result of which, owing to his hat and a kind Providence, was only a slight bruise instead of a broken skull. It was a fearful fall, and the wonder is that the injury was not serious if not fatal. We hope street banana eaters will hereafter throw the skins into the street instead of dropping them on the sidewalk.

Funeral of a Dexter Hero.

The funeral of W. E. Bostwick of Co. C, 33d Infantry, who died from the effects of wounds and fever in July, 1900, was held in the Baptist church at Dexter, Friday at 10:30 a. m. Rev. Curry, assisted by Rev. Herman Burns of Detroit, officiated.

The remains were shipped from Manila early in March but did not arrive until Wednesday morning.

The deceased was a boy well known and universally liked. He died in the discharge of his duty while bringing ammunition to his comrades.

Michigan School for the Blind.

Insufficient vision to attend the public schools renders a child eligible to the advantages of the Michigan School for the Blind.

About one-half of the pupils of the school have some sight. The eyes of all are defective, but there are various degrees and stages of blindness—from those born without sight to those whose eyes serve many useful purposes, but who yet cannot pursue the ordinary course to secure an education. The purpose of the School for the Blind is not different from the purpose of our city or district schools, which are for the education of normal children. The same text-books are used, only differing in the print, the same development, furnishing and training is sought for mind and heart and hand. The School for the Blind employs special methods and devices adapted to the needs of those who do not see well enough to read ordinary print, but the end and aim of the school is to make of its students self-respecting and self-supporting citizens.

Along with the literary and musical studies, the pupils pursue a course in manual training. The boys are taught piano tuning, broom and hammock making, and carpet weaving. The girls are taught general housekeeping, cooking, and plain and fancy sewing, including machine sewing, knitting, crocheting, etc.

A skillful kindergarten teacher and a well equipped kindergarten are provided for the little folks.

There is in the school a complete printing office for the publication of books in Braille point print for those who read by the sense of touch. Text-books for general reading are printed also a weekly newspaper, giving important current events is published for the pupils of the school and incidentally for the blind throughout the state.

The greatest possible care is taken of the health of the pupils. A trained nurse is constantly employed. There is a splendid new hospital, separate from the other buildings, to which pupils are immediately removed in case of sickness. A competent physician is ready at all times to attend when needed, and Dr. Carrow of the University of Michigan, an eminent specialist in the treatment of the eye, makes an annual visit to examine the eyes of the pupils. All treatment and surgical operations are without expense to the parents, but are not performed except with the parents' written sanction and consent. The school is not a hospital, but the best possible treatment is given the eyes and there is probably no better place for children with seriously defective eyes.

The Michigan School for the Blind is supported by the state and the tuition and board are free to all who are eligible. If you know of a child who should be there write the School for the Blind, Lansing, Mich.

Resolutions.

Whereas: It has pleased God in His allwise providence to remove from our midst, our esteemed brother and worthy patron Elmer Raymond; therefore be it Resolved: That in the death of our worthy brother, LaFayette Grange has sustained the loss of a true and faithful member.

Resolved: That we extend to his sorrowing family our most heartfelt sympathies in this their bereavement; that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the records of our Grange; a copy be sent to the bereaved family; also published in the Chelsea Standard.

LIKE A DROWNING MAN.

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go," writes Geo. S. Marsh, well known attorney of Nocona, Tex. "I took quantities of pepsin and other medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles an sound and well." Kodol is the only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any good food and cures any form of stomach troubles. # Religious Notes

Each in his Own Name.

A fire mist and a planet,
A crystal and a cell;
A jellyfish and a snail,
And caves where the caverns dwell;
Then a sense of law and beauty,
And a face turned from the void—
Some call it Evolution,
And others call it God.

A ham on the far horizon,
The infinite tender sky;
The ripe, rich tints of the cornfields,
And the wild geese sailing high;
And all over upland and lowland
The charm of the goldenrod—
Some of us call it Autumn,
And others call it God.

Like the tide on a crescent sea beach,
When the moon is new and thin,
Into our hearts high yearnings
Come welling and surging in—
Come from the mystic ocean
Whose rim no foot has trod—
Some of us call it Longing,
And others call it God.

A picket frozen on duty,
A mother starved for her brood,
Ciceroes drinking the hemlock,
And Jesus on the road;
The million who, humble and nameless,
The straight, hard pathway trod—
Some call it Consecration,
And others call it God.

—Prof. Carruth in New York Times.

Fellowship With Jesus.

Most of all do we need fellowship with Jesus Christ. If some of you have never for a moment lost heart or hope, that you never have occasion to doubt or fear, let me tell you life will have for you, as for others, its valley of the shadows at last. But why was not Jesus one of the disappointed? If ever a man in the world had a right to be a pessimist, it was he. When he found that the world did not want him, that the rulers of the State had no place for him, that the Church of Judea, that God had been training for 1,500 years for his coming, did not want him, why was he not in despair and hopeless? Nay, he said: "I am not alone, but the Father is with me." Church and State might be against him, all the powers of earth and hell might be against him, but the Father was with him.

And then he said: "My joy I give unto you." Not the joy of indifference, which sees and does not care, but the joy of one who sees all and sees through all to the living God, just as in one of Corot's pictures you see in the foreground the gnarled and blackened trunks of the trees, and beyond all and behind all the clear shining of the unperturbed sky. And so long as the story of Christ's life is told on earth there will be hundreds of men and women who will rise and say: "If he conquered I can conquer, if he over me, I can overcome. My ancestral inheritance, my environment, the temptation of my business, the difficulties of my home, of my temperament, I may overcome, and I will in his strength."

Put your trust in this Christ of Nazareth, and then, while many are saying, "Who will show us any good?" you shall hear another voice: "Thy soul shall no more go down; neither shall thy moon withdraw itself."—W. H. P. Faunce.

A Secret of Human Happiness.

It seems to me to be a duty to always look on and look for the bright side of things. Life is a different thing to him who looks out from the shadow in his heart from what it ought to be. It is easy to exaggerate an evil or a misfortune, and the imaginative can brood over a sorrow no bigger than a dime until it covers the whole earth. To magnify our joys and to minimize our sorrows is one of the secrets of human happiness. To cherish a grief or disappointment and brood over it, as I have known men and women to do, is to give it proportions to which it has no rightful claim. It grows by your encouragement until it is the only thing in sight, and, like a despot, rules you with an iron will. It may be only a dwarf, but you will make it a giant. In doing this you not only take a false view of life, but you render yourself incapable of making a strenuous effort, trying your own hands with an imaginary cord. Nature has her rough and terrible moods, but on the whole she is beneficent. The general trend is to produce happiness, and in most cases the misery from which we suffer is caused by some willful or ignorant infraction of law. There are more bright than gloomy days in the years, more smiles than tears in every one's life. We take the good as a matter of course and straightway forget it; we linger over the painful moments and cherish their memory. A steady effort to make a good use of a hard experience would rub away its cutting edges, but, we bivariate in pleasant things and keep a permanent home in the unpleasant.—George Hepworth.

What God Does for Us.

An English preacher recently used the following illustration: "Once there was a brier growing in a ditch, and there came along a gardener, with his spade. As he dug around it and lifted it out, the brier said to itself, 'What is he doing that for? Does not he know that I am only an old worthless brier?' Then the gardener took it into the garden and planted it amid his flowers, while the brier said, 'What a mistake he has made, planting an old brier like myself among such rose bushes as these!' But the gardener came once more with his keen-edged knife, made a slit in the brier, and, as we say in England, 'budded' it with a rose, and by and by, when summer came, lovely roses were blooming on that old brier. Then the gardener said: 'Your beauty is not due to that which came out, but to that which I put into you.'"

That is just what God is doing all the time with poor human lives. They seem to be of no use, with no hope that they will ever be of use. Then Christ takes them in hand, pours his love upon them, lifts them up out of the dust, puts something of his own life into them, and, by and by, they begin to be like him, little branches of his own beautiful life.—Epworth Herald.

Few Religious Gatherings.

The approaching spring and summer season will have in it fewer big religious gatherings than for several years. There are no unusual conferences or congresses either in America, to which English and foreign delegates will come, or abroad, to be attended by people from this side. If some missionary meetings planned by Episcopalians, and to be held next Advent, be excepted, there is hardly anything that is not routine, and in the routine conventions and conferences there is hardly a question of supreme importance to be considered. Of the five large bodies of young people, only three hold conventions this year, and none of the three is the large body capable of bringing people together by the thousands. The Baptist Young People's Union meets in Providence July 10-13, the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in Boston November 10-13, and the Luther League in St. Paul and Minneapolis in the fall, the exact date not yet decided. There is to be a Congregational convention in Seattle in July, but apart from this there is nothing of a special character. Even the Bible conferences, such as the Winona and Northfield, will be routine, and the Chautauquas will not differ from former years.

No To-Morrow.

Bear in mind that there is no such day as to-morrow. It is a will-o'-the-wisp, an ignis fatuus, a quicksand, a mirage, a fool's paradise. To-morrow does not exist at all. If it comes, it will be a to-day. Learn then to pray and to plan, to speak, and to do to-day. No good thing ever was accomplished to-morrow. This is why every day is a dooms-day; for to-day holds life and death, character and destiny in its living hands. Yesterday is buried; to-morrow is unborn; therefore, "Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation." Let us quit mortgaging the future; let us blot out the deceptive, fatal word "to-morrow" from our vocabulary. Only misfortune and failure can come from yielding to its mischievous illusion.

Religious Work in Belgium.

The recent yearly report of the Christian Missionary church of Belgium shows that there are sixty churches or halls, with thirty-four pastors, and fifteen evangelists and colporteurs. The past year has been full of encouragement. Open-air preaching at one town, Thulin, was so successful as to lead to the organization of a church there. Converts in one village have carried the glad tidings to an adjoining town and the interest aroused has required the opening of a meeting hall. Fifteen Sunday schools were organized during the year, bringing the total up to seventy-eight. One-third of the attendants at the schools are children of Roman Catholic parents.

Peaceful Rest.

The mind wants remedying and setting right many times a day. It resembles a compass placed on a rickety table; the least stir of the table makes the needle swing around and point untrue. Let it settle, then, till it points aright. Be perfectly silent for a few moments, thinking of Jesus. There is an almost divine force in silence. Drop the thing that worries, that excites, that interests, that thwarts you; let it fall like a sediment to the bottom, until the soul is no longer turbid; and say, secretly: "Grant, O beseech thee, merciful Lord, to thy faithful servant pardon and peace; that I may be cleansed from all my sins and serve thee with a quiet mind."—Bishop Huntington.

Culture of the Inner Life.

The importance of the culture of the inner life cannot be denied by any intelligent Christian believer who looks at life through the lenses of the New Testament. The teaching of the Bible is that while man seems to live in the outward, he really lives in the realm of inner experience, and that while he may train his hands for work, he must never meanwhile neglect the culture of the heart. The heart is the citadel of the man, and unless he is right there is right nowhere.

The Sabbath.

The Sabbath has always been a divine institution, and not a convention, as claimed by some. But, laying aside its divine character, it is a necessity, recognized by all but the most abject nations. One day of rest in seven is recognized the world over; it is demanded for physical, industrial, domestic and social reasons.—Rev. Dr. Burrill, New York City.

Christ's Righteousness.

Whatever makes you a fair man, a just man in the Christ measure is the gospel of Christ's righteousness. What ever overcomes a temptation is the gospel of the wilderness beyond Jordan. The gospel is the perpetual incarnation and constant repetition of God manifest in the flesh.—Rev. J. A. Rondthaler, Presbyterian, Indianapolis, Ind.

Washington Gossip

(Special Letter.)

HERE has been a great deal of smallpox in Washington, and almost every member of congress has been vaccinated in consequence. As a result visitors to the capitol are seeing what Congressman Cannon calls "one-armed oratory." By that the head of the appropriations committee means arguments illustrated and emphasized with gestures made with one arm. "It's the best thing that ever struck congress," said Mr. Cannon in commenting on the epidemic. "Formerly when we allowed a member to make a little speech, he took ten or fifteen minutes to work his mouth and about fifty square feet for his arms. Now he works his mouth at the regulation rate, but only the members to the right of him have to move their seats in the old days if you sat within twenty-five feet of a speaker you were liable to have your head punched every time he made a point. Now you can sit in perfect safety right under an orator if you only keep on the left side of him." . . .

Every once in a while Senator Bate of Tennessee indulges in a burst of humor.

Recently, while a bill was being discussed in the senate, Mr. Hoar and Mr. Burton, who were standing side by side, talked about the measure, but addressed their remarks to each other in a low tone.

"Mr. President," said Senator Bate, "cannot the senators take us into their confidence? They seem to be having a delightful private colloquy, and really we would like to share in the good things which they are saying." Senator Bate chuckled as he sat down. His sarcasm, however, had its effect, and when the two senators spoke again everybody heard their remarks.

Senator Joseph Walden Bailey, who represents the state of Texas in the upper branch of congress, was born in Mississippi in 1863, and moved to Texas in 1885. His conspicuous ability secured for him early advancement in politics in his state and in congress he was given the nomination for speakership by the Democratic minority, this of course, carrying with it the leadership of his party in the house. He is serving his first term in the senate, but his utterances on important legislation are listened to with deference by the wise men of that body.

When Gen. Grosvenor essayed his speech on Cuban reciprocity his voice was in bad condition, and he placed on his desk a bottle, filled with a fluid as white as milk. From time to time he paused to sample the contents. His allotted time had run out long before the bottle was empty and a member moved that his time be extended, just as the general was taking another tug at his medicine.

"I move," said "Hank" Smith of Michigan, at whom Gen. Grosvenor had been poking fun for seeing spooks in the Sugar Trust, "that the gentleman be given time to conclude his speech and take a drink." That evening the score for the gentleman from Michigan.

The expected resignation of Dr. A. D. White from the ambassadorship to and diplomacy at his age. He was a university president at 29 and built up Rochester University in a wonderful way. He resigned the presidency of the University in 1896 to perfect his studies in international law and the public law of Europe but within two years President McKinley called him to the State Department as Assistant Secretary. In the discharge of his duties there he has had general charge of the great international commissions.

Dr. David Jayne Hill.

such as the Commission to the Peace Conference at The Hague, the first Philippine Commission and the recent Pan-American Congress in Mexico, preparing the instructions to delegates and overseeing the negotiations. In fact, Dr. Hill is an expert in treaty making, and in the event of his appointment as Ambassador to Germany he will be able to do most excellent service in the probable revision of our treaties with Germany.

Members of congress are beginning to receive acknowledgments from the farmers to whom they sent seeds a few weeks ago. Senator Beveridge got a letter from a man who owns a small patch of land just outside of Indianapolis which the senator says shows that all mankind has not lost faith in congress or the individuals who make up that body. The letter is as follows:

"Dear Senator: Please accept my heartfelt thanks for the seeds. They came in very handy. If it is not too troublesome I would be obliged if you would send me a double-shovel plow, a mule and some harness. Please get them here by the time the seeds sprout."

Senator Dryden of New Jersey is the most loyal and persistent listener in the senate. He seems to have nothing to do but sit at the feet of his older colleagues and learn wisdom. His desire for knowledge has been particularly noticeable during the pending debate on the Chinese Exclusion bill. When a Senator arises to speak Mr. Dryden plants himself in front of him rests his head on his hands and strains his ears to catch every word that falls from the orator's lips.

SEN. J. W. BAILEY (TEXAS)

Germany opens the way for the advancement of another distinguished university president, who has given some of the best years of his life to the service of the government, Dr. David Jayne Hill, the present Assistant Secretary of State. Dr. Hill's name has been so prominently mentioned in connection with the German ambassadorship in the event of Ambassador White's resignation that it is fair to conclude that he may be chosen.

Dr. Hill will complete his fifty-second year on June 10. Few men have ever attained such eminence in letters

Nearly all of the speeches are cut and dried affairs, written out and read in the senate for the purpose of homo consumption, but the New Jersey Senator is not critical. He treats all speakers, Republicans and Democrats, alike, and moves from one side of the chamber to the other as the oratorical scene shifts. One of his colleagues says that if Mr. Dryden could retain all the information that has been pumped into him since he has been a Senator he would know less about more subjects than any man in Congress.

LOW CHEAP BAKING POWDER IS MADE.

The Health Department of New York has seized a quantity of so-called cheap baking powder, which it found in that city. Attention was attracted to it by the low price at which it was being sold in the department stores. Samples were taken and the chemist of the Health Department reported the stuff to be "an alum powder," which analysis showed to be composed chiefly of alum and pulverized rock.

The powder was declared to be dangerous to health, and several thousand pounds were carted to the offal dock and destroyed. It is unsafe to experiment with these so-called "cheap" articles of food. They are sure to be made from alum, rock, or other injurious matter. In baking powders, the high class, cream of tartar brands are the most economical, because they go farther in use and are healthful beyond question.

This Gander Lived to Be 35.

The great gray gander of Danville, Pa., has passed to his fathers. He was 35 years and a few months old. He was raised by the late J. R. Phillips and at Mr. Phillips' death was bequeathed to his daughter. For some years she kept it and then gave it, a year ago, to Mrs. Agnes Walker of Sidler Hill.

He was blind when he died and had been for a year, and for several months could hardly walk.

He grew bald many years ago, and it is presumed that young, frivolous geese mocked him, for it was his habit to cover his topknot with mud to hide the sign of the years. His death is now a matter of town talk, and if ever a gander was sincerely mourned he is. He was the oldest goose known to the town.

Sign That Failed.

Up on Lexington avenue an enterprising music dealer who desired to call attention to his wares had a sign painted in artistic white letters on a black ground and hung it on his outer wall. It read, "What is home without a piano?"

One dark night along came a painter, with material of his trade in hand, who either had no music in his soul or had a cultivated taste beyond ragtime and the ordinary performer, and added a word to the sign.

When the music dealer arose in the morning he was surprised at the appearance of his sign. It read: "What is home without a piano? Peace."

The final word was ruthlessly obliterated and the sign taken from the outer wall and hung behind the protection of plate glass.—Boston Globe.

A Soldier's Narrow Escape.

Watts Flats, N. Y., May 5th.—George Manhart of this place, a hale and hearty old soldier of 80 years of age, tells a thrilling story of a narrow escape from death.

"Four years ago," he says, "the doctors who were attending me during a serious illness called my wife aside and told her that I could not live two weeks as I had Bright's Disease, which meant certain death."

"As a last resort we thought we would try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and accordingly sent to Mr. Clark's drug store and got a box.

"This remedy worked wonders in my case. I noticed the improvement at once and discharged the doctor.

"I kept on improving until every symptom of illness had gone and I was strong and well.

"I feel like a boy and to-day I am crooping wood as well at eighty as at twenty. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it."

STOLE MACHINE AT HIS LEISURE.

A Tennessee Blacksmith's Graduate Acquaintance of a Traction Engine. "Ours is a peaceful section," said Col. Dan Turner of Memphis, Tenn., in discussing robberies, hold-ups and crime in general. "But when we do a thing down in Tennessee, we do it right, and robbing people or corporations is done to the queen's taste when one of our citizens sets out to do it."

"Not long ago it became necessary for one of the railroads to build a small branch line, and a traction engine was sent down there with the first load of road-building material for haul ties on heavy trucks from a little mountain hamlet near where the road was being built. When the workmen had finished hauling the ties the engine was placed alongside the road until it should be convenient to haul it away. It remained beside the road about six months, and when the contractor came along to clear up, he was rather amazed to find that nothing but the boiler of the traction engine remained where he had placed it. To make matters worse, every bolt and rivet that could be removed from the boiler was missing, too. A search was instituted, but the missing parts of the machine could not be found.

"Some time after the theft of his engine the contractor had occasion to drive through the country again, and stopped at a negro's blacksmith shop to have a shoe fastened on his horse. While the smithy was at work the contractor walked around the shop, and to his amazement, found in one corner of the place the missing parts of his engine. He immediately charged the negro with stealing it, and the man admitted his guilt. When the contractor had recovered from his surprise at the find, he asked the smithy why he had not taken the boiler, too, and the latter replied that he was making tackle to take to the roadside and lift the boiler into his wagon when the contractor took the thing away."

Jacob Hummel is having the old house which he recently purchased of George Mast removed to his property on Dewey avenue, where he will have it remodeled and made into a comfortable residence. He will also move the building that he purchased of Mrs. M. Schwickerath to north Main street. John Wisner of Ann Arbor is doing the work.

It is not true as reported that the farmer who came to town yesterday with two head of beef cattle and a load of butter, eggs and potatoes tried to exchange them for the Carter block. George Carter says no proposition of this kind was made to him, and if it had it would have been useless for he hasn't the money to pay the difference.—Jackson Star.

There was a large turnout at the school of instruction at Olive Lodge, No. 156, F. & A. M., Tuesday evening. Grand Lecturer Winsor complimented the lodge on the manner in which they exemplified the work. A number of visitors were present from Grass Lake, Dexter and Stockbridge lodges. Refreshments were served after the work of the evening.

The passenger earnings of the Michigan Central continue to increase despite the cut in the fare. March earnings were $216,895.15, as compared with $189,170.83 for March of last year, when the 3-cent fare was yet in force. The company does not report earnings of its branches, so it cannot be learned whether the increase is on the main line, but the supposition is in that direction. It is said the company will soon begin its damage suit against the state for repeal of its special charter, and will place the figures at $27,000,000. This is the first time that any sum has been mentioned.

Manager Merrill of the Lansing Street Railway Company is in the city today looking over the ground with a view to beginning repairs in the local system. He says the wire for the repair of the overhead system has arrived with the exception of a few fixtures. Owing to the difficulty in securing rails the construction of the line from Jackson to Lansing and the extension of the college line to Pine lake may have to be left over for several months, and possibly another year. Mr. Merrill says the rolling mills and that Messrs. Hawks & Angus have tried vainly and are still trying to secure rails from the mills as well as other sources. Until the rails can be secured no grading will be done, as it is deemed unwise to tie up the money necessary to accomplish the work for an indefinite time.—Lansing Republican.

Test of a Torpedo Boat. A torpedo boat is being got ready at Portsmouth, England, to run at full speed for 100 miles in the open sea. This is the most severe test to which a torpedo boat has ever been subjected, and in the first of a series of tests inaugurated by the admiralty with a view to finding a remedy for alleged defects.

WHAT'S DOING IN MICHIGAN

Hunting Up the Wrecked Algonac Bank Assets.

SAW SON CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Ludington Man Struck by Lightning—She Robbed the Mourners—Latest Happenings in All Parts of the State Briefly Told for These Busy Days.

The Algonac Bank.

The hearing in the Algonac Banking Co.'s receivership, before Referee in Bankruptcy Davock, was held and a number of witnesses examined. Attorney Frank T. Wolcott, for Receiver Lewis T. Bennett, was seeking to elicit information from the witnesses which would tend to discover more property that should be properly added to the assets of the failed institution. The two principal items of that kind are the proceeds of the mortgage executed by Financier McKenzie just before his departure on the Kean farm, upon which a loan of $3,500 was obtained through Attorney Hanna, of Sarala, and the $16,000 worth of collateral in possession of the Moore Bros.' bank at Marine City, as security for a $9,000 loan. In the mortgage case Attorney George G. Moore asserts that it was executed to save something for the Kean family out of the wreck, and that it is held by the alleged innocent purchasers, and the money secured thereon has been turned over to Mrs. Kean, its whereabouts will have to be discovered before it can be confiscated. In the matter of the bank's collateral, so much thereof as can be shown to have been received by the bank within the four months prior to the failure, can be recovered back to the receiver under the bankruptcy laws, but upon this question the testimony adduced was very hazy.

Charles Doyle, manager of the Marine City Bank, was somewhat uncertain in his evidence, and it was not clearly established how much of the collateral would become subject to the bankruptcy laws. Cashier McKenzie was present at the hearing. There was quite a strong array of legal talent present to help unravel the snarl. The examination was adjourned until next Friday.

Robbed the Mourners.

A woman arrived in Adrian over the Monroe branch of the Lake Shore Tuesday night and tried to get the ticket agent at the depot to change a $100 bill. She flashed a twenty on the hotel people for lodging, registering as "Alice Wilson." Arrayed in a brand new suit of blue, she had a $100 bill changed so she could get her breakfast. A Detroit detective soon after arrived and at once gathered her in. He said she had stolen $600 in bills in Detroit, having masqueraded as a mourner and picked the pocket of another mourner who had the money. A local young man was arrested with her, but was subsequently released. The woman's name is Alice Cornell alias Clark. She had spent most of the money.

Expert Testimony.

The leading paper read before the Twentieth Century Club at the last day's session in Kalamazoo was by Miss S. E. Kay, who has worked out as a hired girl for nearly twenty years. Her subject was "The Problem of Household Help." She handled the question without gloves and created a veritable furore among the ladies present. Rev. Caroline Bartlett Crane and others voting it the most scholarly and meritorious paper of the year. Though Miss Kay used bitter sarcasm at the expense of the housewife who employs a maid, she was given an ovation at the close of her paper.

A Sad Death.

Mrs. William Scribner, an aged lady who resided about four miles from Durand, was found in a field all but dead. She had been ill and started out in the evening to get help. Her strength gave out and she lay in the field all night, being discovered the next morning by farm hands. She died in a few hours. The relatives knew the old lady had her money, and so far about $2,000 has been unearthed from under the carpets and in different places. In one place there was a square covering about ten yards of $1 bills.

Struck By Lightning.

A severe electrical storm visited Ludington Saturday afternoon, causing great alarm. William Latin, a well known citizen, was struck by lightning while lying on a couch in his house. The bolt came down the chimney and passed through the stovepipe to Latin's body. His back and one leg were terribly burned, but the unfortunate man was not rendered unconscious. The doctors say he cannot live. Strangely enough, Latin's house was not damaged in the least, nor were any other members of the family injured.

Saw Her Son Killed.

Before his mother's eyes, Merrill Revette, the 10-year-old son of Wm. Revette, a blacksmith of West Bay City, had his life crushed out at the Hart street crossing of the Michigan Central Saturday night. The boy was going down town with his mother. When they came to the Hart street crossing the boy started to run across the street. A train of flat cars being backed over the crossing struck the boy, knocked him down, one wheel passing over his head, crushing it so death was instantaneous.

The item for $60,000 to enlarge the Kalamazoo office, which passed the senate was rejected by the house committee.

The 15-month-old babe of Mr. Clark, a Batavia township farmer, fell into a tank of water and drowned Saturday.

James Rayson, aged 101 years, is dead. He was born in England, and had been a resident of Carsonville since 1847.

More money than was needed to start a bank in Cadillac was subscribed by the enterprising business men of the town.

A Mad Engineer.

Tearing along at the dizzy speed of 60 miles an hour, and whizzing through stations where the train ought to have stopped, was the thrilling experience of the passengers on board the Grand Trunk Western, due in Flint a few minutes past 11 each evening. The train came into the station Saturday night at full speed, and made no attempt to stop. At this juncture the conductor and brakeman noticing that something was wrong, applied the emergency brake, and the train was brought to a standstill in the yards. Investigation developed the fact that the engineer, Billy Brown, of Port Huron, had become demented, and that the lives of the passengers were at the mercy of a madman. Another engineer was put on and the train proceeded.

Gambling Debts Void.

Representative John R. Gordon, of Marquette, wins his suit which involved a check for $170, alleged to have been given by him in payment of a poker debt. The suit was against the Lansing State Savings bank, which cashed the check, and which contended that the fact that Gordon drew his per through the space designed for the name of the payee, made the check payable to bearer. The court held to the contrary. The bank can now recoup against the individual who is alleged to have won the pot.

Railroad Earnings.

Another big increase in the earnings of Michigan railroads is shown by the statement for March, issued by Railroad Commissioner Osborn today. The total Michigan earnings for the month were $3,554,329.65, as against $3,242,421.94 for the corresponding month of last year, an increase of $311,907.71. The earnings for the first quarter of the present year were $9,852,211, as against $9,007,563 for the corresponding period last year, the per cent of increase being 10.85, the largest reported for some time.

A Loss of $11,000.

Lightning struck the general store of L. A. Saunders, of Hamburg, Sunday morning, and in a few moments W. A. Sheffer's general store and J. L. Kisby's hardware store and postoffice were a mass of flames. Heroic work upon the part of citizens saved many neighboring buildings. Ruby Kisby, son of Postmaster Kisby, fell from the roof of a store, fracturing his arm and hip. Loss, $11,000; insurance, $6,000.

Made Him Insane.

About April 1 John H. Murphy, a young farmer living near Smith's Crossing, had a quarrel with a neighbor named McFarlane and his wife over a line fence. Mrs. McFarlane, it is claimed, called him vile names. This affected Murphy's mind to such an extent that he has gone insane and was so adjudged.

Mrs. Geo. Hughes, of Saginaw; Mrs. William Barrett, of Ionia, and Mrs. B. Wilbertson, of Algonac, sisters who were separated when children, from the Protestant orphan home in Detroit in 1862, were reunited Saturday for the first time.

Standard time went into effect in Bay City at midnight May 1, the resolution passed by the common council specifying that hour for making the change. The schools will run on the new time, and so doubtless will every store and manufactory.

J. C. Elder, of Deshler, O., reports that a Canton syndicate has bought several sections of land in Newaygo county for the purpose of starting a sheep ranch on a large scale. As a starter 4,000 head of sheep will be sent from Ohio this spring.

The village of Red Jacket will have 65 saloons this year, that number having been granted licenses by the village council. The receipts from the sale of licenses is large in Red Jacket and the village averages about $35,000 from that source each year.

P. M. Thomas, of Charlotte, has just completed a $15,000 residence, made of field stone. Failure to get a solid foundation is causing the building to settle, some parts going down four inches. It is now occupied by Mr. Thomas, but the fear of a collapse may cause him to rebuild.

Ernst Heinrich, a Detroit painter and well-known G. A. R. man, 60 years of age, was seized with hemorrhage of the lungs while in the act of making a speech Tuesday night in Arbelter hall and fell dying as he walked through the doorway of the room adjoining the place where he was speaking.

Sunday's storm did considerable damage in Saginaw and vicinity. The barns of the Saginaw Realty Co. were burned by lightning, together with a $2,000 Sphinx cult. Ten buildings in all were burned. John Robinson, one of the barn men, was severely burned in attempting to rescue the horses.

A meeting of the contractors of Calumet, Hancock and Houghton has been held and the organization of an association for mutual protection will be formed. It is not proposed to consolidate the building interests of Houghton county, but the contractors will get together and a sort of trust will be formed for the regulation of prices, wages, etc.

Several years ago Harry Ingersoll and wife of Lansing, were sent to prison for arson. Ingersoll was sent to Jackson, while his wife went to the Detroit house of correction. Their terms expired some time ago, and Mrs. Ingersoll has commenced proceedings for divorce. She alleges that her husband induced her to participate in the crime mentioned, and that she has seen nothing of him since he was released from prison.

After an exciting chase of 12 hours the Keeler postoffice robbers were captured. One of the burglars fell with a bullet in his body, which entered left of the spine and passed near the heart. The other man then surrendered. The wounded crook refused to give his name; the other claimed that his name was Boyd and that he comes from Grand Rapids. About $50 worth of the stolen stamps were recovered besides a bag of silver and gold and $150 in bills. The wounded man will recover.

B. S. Donn, clothing dealer of Deckerville and Sanilac Center, committed suicide Sunday by hanging.

IT IS UP TO GARDNER NOW

"Monstrous" To Recall Him Says Lodge.

HIS RECORD IN THE ARMY.

Major Cornelius Gardner is the Central Figure of a Warm Debate—His Charges Must be Investigated First—He Must Make Good or Face a Court Martial.

Warm Senate Debate.

The senate warmly discussed the Philippine question Saturday, the majority members taking an inning. Up to this time the minority practically has had a clear field in the debate, the policy of the majority being to permit the criticism of the Democratic members of the body to proceed without interruption.

Mr. Spooner, of Wisconsin; Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Mr. Foraker, of Ohio, spoke in defense of the administration, of the army, and of Gov. Taft. They spoke hotly, and almost unrestrainedly. The result was one of the most spirited debates that has yet occurred on the Philippine question. While the debate took a wide range, it revolved around the resolution calling for Maj. Cornelius Gardner in the Philippine Islands, and appear as soon as possible before the Philippine committee as a witness. A cablegram from Gen. Chaffee was read by Mr. Lodge, saying that it was impracticable for Maj. Gardner to leave the islands at present, as he was an essential figure in a court of inquiry which was investigating the conditions of the province of which he was provincial governor.

Senator Lodge in referring to the matter of the immediate calling of Gardner said: "It is perfectly monstrous to bring Maj. Gardner here and allow him to make his accusations in a committee room of the senate, when the officers against whom he makes them are thousands of miles away in the Philippines."

Up to Gardner Now.

It is up to Maj. Gardner to make good on his charges in connection with the conduct of the war in the Philippines, else he will have to face a court-martial. He is being blamed as largely responsible for the trouble that has been raised in congress, and some very uncomplimentary things are being said about him.

Gardner was never very popular in the army, and now that he has brought himself into prominence by the report he wrote, all sorts of stories are being told regarding his army record, which is seemingly being looked up for future use. It is claimed that Gardner has no brackets to his credit as a fighter and that he has always had a faculty of avoiding the firing line. He was detailed as governor of Tayabas, but the tale is being circulated that he wanted the position, while other officers preferred to remain on active duty and fight.

The war department will leave no stone unturned to force the issue, especially as Gardner has not shown himself to be as well fortified with facts as his report indicated, and unless he can make out a whole case it is very likely that steps will be taken to retire him to private life.

Death of Potter Palmer.

Potter Palmer, for nearly half a century one of Chicago's most prominent business men, died Sunday night at his residence on Lake Shore Drive. The exact cause of Mr. Palmer's death has not yet been determined. He had been suffering for several weeks from a nervous disorder, but as he was able to be about the house, his condition was not thought to be serious. When he retired Saturday night, he was feeling, if anything, better than for several days. During the night, however, he seemed to lose all his energy and in the morning he was unable to leave his room. He gradually grew weaker during the day and at 5:30 in the evening, he suffered a sudden collapse from which he expired. The physicians who were attending Mr. Palmer are at a loss as to the ultimate cause of his death; apparently he had no organic troubles.

First Cuban Congress.

The Cuban senate and house of representatives assembled at noon Monday in the palace. Gov. Gen. Wood made an address wishing the legislative success in the work they were about to enter upon. He informed them that no legislative power would be vested in congress until after the formal transfer of the government. Their work now was to pass upon credentials and to inform the military selected president and vice-president. The senators met in the Palacio Segundo and the representatives in the Comandancia General de la Marina building.

The Stricken Queen.

A message from Castle Loo, sent out Monday morning, says Queen Wilhelmina is still alive. None of the doctors attending her majesty left the palace Sunday night, and neither the queen mother nor the prince consort went to bed. It was announced at midnight that Wilhelmina had been peacefully confined at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. Prof. Rosenstiel, Dr. Roessingh and the other doctors were in attendance. The queen suffered intense agony.

An official estimate of total cost of the South African war to March 31, 1903, places the amount at nearly $228,000,000.

Seven girls are known to have been killed and more than a score injured during a panic in a Philadelphia cigar factory Wednesday.

Arrangements for the visit to this country next October of the educational and financial commissions of England have been completed by Alfred Mosley, the British capitalist, who has spent considerable time in the United States preparing the itinerary.

Strikes Are Numerous.

Strikes went into effect for an eight hour day and increased wages Tuesday in the following cities:

Right thousand men are out in Pittsburgh, the trades involved being structural iron workers, carpenters, bricklayers, sheet metal workers, slate and tile roofers, inside electrical workers, portable and metal lathers, glaziers and wood and metal lathers. One architect has specifications on work aggregating $10,000,000, which is being held up by the labor trouble.

More than 2,000 skilled laborers are on strike in Buffalo for higher wages. Most of these are carpenters, a few structural iron workers, and the others plumbers.

About 500 drivers of coal wagons, all members of the Drivers' union, struck in Rochester, N. Y., for higher wages and shorter working hours.

Two thousand men employed in the building trades went on strike in Youngstown, O.

Two hundred and fifty Toledo, O. iron molders are on strike. They demand an advance in wages of 10 per cent.

Machinists and benchmen to the number of 1,200 in a dozen large saw mills and molding mills in Hudson county, New Jersey, went on strike for a uniform rate of $2.50 for an eight-hour day.

More than 1,000 men of various trades went on strike in Toronto, Canada, for an increase in wages, including bricklayers, carpenters and machine wood workers, wire wood and metal lathers, carriage and wagon workers, and jewelry workers.

The electrical workers and their helpers in Paterson, N. J., struck in a body. The hod carriers also went out. The carpenters have been out for several days.

President Palma's Troubles.

The enthusiasm over the visit of President-elect Palma to Santiago continues, but, according to dispatches received by the local press, political jealousies and envy follow his footsteps, and the two political parties—the Nationalists, a majority of which is composed of negroes, and the Republicans, representing the white population—are wider apart than ever. Senor Castillo, leader of Republicans, and Senor Bravo, leader of Nationalists, are not on speaking terms.

Many persons have applied to the president-elect for positions, and to these he has said that offices will be given to those who are competent, and that a man's war record does not necessarily mean that he has ability to manage public affairs.

CONDENSED NEWS.

The president sent the nomination of H. Clay Evans to be consul-general at London, to the senate Saturday.

Wm. Henry Moody, the new secretary of the navy, took the oath of office at the navy department Thursday.

President Roosevelt has nominated Congressman W. H. Moody, of Massachusetts to be secretary of the navy. The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Tin and Steel Workers has adopted the resolution providing for an increase of the defense fund from $25,000 to $100,000.

A move has been made to mollify the three assault cases growing out of the row on a street car in Washington between Senator Money and Conductor Sharer and Fireman Hooper.

The monthly statement of the public debt shows at the close of April 30, 1902, the debt less cash in treasury amounted to $963,115,976, which is a decrease as compared with April 1, 1902, of $4,616,356.

Frank O. Westlak, who asserts he is a descendant of the famous family of Prussian patriots of that name, has been arrested at New York on the charge of stealing a large amount of jewelry and clothing from the Grand Union hotel.

The king has pardoned the officers of the United States cruiser (Chicago) who have been imprisoned at Venice. They will be immediately handed over to the United States consul, from whose charge they will be transferred to the Chicago.

The monthly coinage statement issued by the director of the mint shows that during April, 1902, the coinage executed at the mints of the United States amounted to $7,131,818, as follows: Gold, $3,480,315; silver, $3,288,273; minor coins, $263,300.

Under a special order which allowed three hours' debate, but which cut off all opportunity of amendment, the house passed an omnibus public building bill which will distribute $17,000,450 among 174 cities. As the bill covers to the treasury $1,855,000, the total amount carried by the bill is reduced to that extent.

The monthly comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures shows that during the month of April, 1902, the total receipts were $45,215,390, a decrease as compared with April, 1901, of $2,552,000. The expenditures for the month aggregated $40,739,263, which leaves a surplus for the month of $4,316,000.

Winchester's trained dogs and monkeys will be one of the particularly interesting acts at Wonderland and Temple Theater, Detroit, next week. Charles E. Grapewin and Annie Chance will again be seen in "Abraham the Limit," the funniest playlet that was ever written. ## CHAPTER IV.

And the Professor, too. Perhaps it was a rash resolve—possibly Charlie Stuart should have accepted the baron's well-meant warning for its full value, and have left Antwerp by the first train. But it was the word of the baron against his own powers of perspicacity, and Charlie did not see why he should yield so easily.

In other words, he was not ready to believe in the story the wonderful baron had related, without more abundant proof.

Perhaps he might even doubt it until the action of Arline Brand convinced him of her guilt, or her own sweet lips confessed it.

That was Charlie's idea of friendship. With the disappearance of the baron from the scene, Charlie supposed the show was over for the morning.

He was mistaken.

While he stood there on the curb, a grey to distracting thoughts, he was being closely watched by a man who had been lounging just inside the entrance of the Steen courtyard.

When Stuart started to move away, the gentleman appeared to lose the last vestige of control which he possessed.

He ran after the retreating figure. The patter of footsteps just behind him naturally caused Charlie to half turn; perhaps he thought it might be the baron, with yet another choice bit of information with which to add to his stock of cheerfulness, or maybe Artemus desirous of overtaking him. He was immediately undeceived.

A florid-faced gentleman, who looked as though he might have been dallying with the wine too long, but with hot passion glowing in his eyes, was close upon him.

Even as Charlie stepped back a pace, thinking the man was drunk, or in a great hurry to catch a train, to his intense surprise the stranger slapped into Charlie's face a pair of kid gloves he carried.

Luckily, Stuart had a cool head for one of his race, or they would have had it out then and there in the respectable street of the Steen.

He saw that the man had a grievance, though utterly in the dark as to what its nature might be.

"See here! Who are you?" asked Charlie.

"Ah! I am Herr Professor Richter of Dresden."

Charlie shook his head.

"Still I am groping in the dark. To my knowledge I never had the pleasure of meeting you, professor."

The German growled angrily.

"Which is one good thing for you, sir; and now that you have met me, you shall give me the satisfaction of a gentleman. To-morrow morning it must be, with pistols—or do you prefer swords? Blood alone can wipe out the base insult."

"Suppose you tell me, Herr Professor, how I have offended you. Surely, it could not be a matter serious enough to call for a duel."

"How?" roared the German, dancing up and down, his eyes glaring, his hands working as though eager to clutch the other's throat. "After destroying my honor, you profess ignorance, scoundrel! Then I will tell you, even though every gossip in Antwerp learn of my shame. By running away with my wife!"

"What?"

Charlie was so staggered by the accusation that he could hardly catch his breath.

He had passed through some strange experiences during his life, but this was really the first time he had ever been accused of such an escapade.

"But, Herr Professor, I swear to you I never set eyes upon the lady in question."

"You lie, rascal! Did I not with my own eyes see you put her in the carriage, and stand there watching her drive away! You are guilty!"

Poor Charlie felt as limp as a dishrag.

This connection with Artemus and his irrepressible dramatic fever was bringing about the most agonizing results.

"Well, all I say is, I must have done it in my sleep. But I gave you my word, and if I cannot prove my innocence, I will give you the satisfaction you demand."

"To-morrow, at sunrise?" eagerly.

"As you say. There is my card, professor. Leave the particulars at my hotel."

Stuart stood looking after the learned disciple.

"She the wife of that bow-legged, heavy-brained scholar? Perish the thought! There is another infernal mistake about it. This queer old town is all upset, it seems."

Then he suddenly remembered the card she had given him, with her address; as he had not thought to look at it, so he hastily drove into his pocket and drew out the case in which he had placed it fresh from her hand, only to receive a sad shock as he read:

"MADAM SOPHIE RICHTER,
Hotel de la Paix, Antwerp.
Dresden."

Well, there it was.
In black and white he saw the mis-

"Then our strategem worked," she laughed.

"Pardon my ignorance, madam, but I am inclined to think it worked only too well, since I, an entirely innocent man, am booked to meet the professor in a duel to-morrow at sunrise, because, forsooth, he chanced to see me place a lady in a cab—a lady who had golden locks, and whom the old—I mean the jealous professor—chose to fancy was the wife of his bosom."

The lady laughed aloud.

"In a duel! He fight for me! Oh, charming! It is too good! What will Cousin Hildegarde say?"

"I'm sure I don't know; but I'm anxious to convince this old fire-eater that he has gotten hold of the wrong man, and I am certain you will assist me to prove my innocence."

"Oh, sir, most certainly; especially as there is no man in the matter at all, and the object of our little escapade has been accomplished. Since you have been put to more or less inconvenience in the premises, it would be only fair for me to explain."

The story was nothing new, though its sequel gave evidence of considerable originality, thanks to the appearance of the bright-witted Hildegarde on the scene.

Madam and the professor had not been the happiest couple in the world. He was wedded to his books, and neglected his pretty wife. Long had she suffered, and doubtless would have continued to do so, only that his cousin took the bull by the horns and suggested a strategem whereby the student should be aroused and made to realize how dear to his heart this wife of his really might be.

It was the old principle over again—of not missing the water until the well ran dry.

And one day, when the learned man found his blue-eyed spouse gone, and a few lines simply signed H. begging her by her love to meet the writer in Antwerp, which note she had apparently dropped in the haste of her departure, the professor threw his books to the winds and started in pursuit.

"To think—he would even fight, and for me!" she said, almost incredulously.

"Indeed, he is distracted enough to defy Fate itself. But, madam, you may do me a favor," boldly.

"You have but to name it, sir."

"This lady whom I had the pleasure of serving—this lady whom your furious husband saw me put into a carriage—gave me a card and invited me to call upon her here at the hotel to-night."

"Ah! yes," with a bright smile.

"She gave me a card. I did not look at it just then, but after the ridiculous encounter with your husband, in which he accused me of stealing his wife, and threatened me with death on the field of honor, I took occasion to investigate, and found—this."

He handed the card to her.

One glance, and the professor's wife laughed.

"Yes, it is my carte-de-visite; but, on my honor, Meinher Sturt, I did not give it to you."

"That I know very well. What I wish to discover is, who did? There is a young lady, also with such golden hair and blue eyes as you yourself possess; she is stopping at this hotel. Now, you must have at some time exchanged cards with her. Can you not remember the circumstance?"

The professor's wife nodded eagerly.

"Well do I remember; it was only yesterday. She quite charmed me with her vivacity and her flattery. I had never before met one so fascinating."

"It was the Countess Isolda Brabant."

FIERCE BATTLE WITH THE MOROS

RAISE FLAG OF THE PROPHECY

Only After a Hand-to-Hand Encounter Do the United States Soldiers Succeed in Storming the Fortifications and See Victory Perch on Their Banners.

Manila, May 5.—Col. Frank D. Baldwin, with the Twenty-fifth Battery and seven companies of the Twenty-seventh Infantry, attacked and captured the Moro fort at Bayan, island of Mindanao, after a desperate engagement in which one American officer and seven enlisted men were killed and four officers and thirty-seven men wounded.

The American loss was eight killed, forty-one wounded. The Moros lost more than 200 killed and at the end of the battle the survivors, eighty-four in number, surrendered unconditionally.

Of the Americans Lieut. Bovars was killed and Capt. Moore, Lieut. Jossman and Surgeon Major Porter were wounded.

The principal Moro leaders were killed, including the Sultan of Bayan, Raja Muda of Bayan, the Sultan of Panda Patan and many of the leading dattos.

The capture of the fort and the surrender of the surviving members is a severe blow to the Moro rebellion against American sovereignty in the most savage part of Mindanao, although the military authorities realize that the cooperation of the sultans and chiefs is general when the flag of the prophet is raised in a jihad or holy war.

The battle was a hand-to-hand one. The fort was defended by fully 300 men and was surrounded by four trenches.

The mountain guns fired 120 rounds at a range of 1,400 yards, but the Moro fortifications withstood the bombardment and Col. Baldwin ordered the infantrymen to take the fort by storm.

The Americans were compelled to work their way forward through successive entanglements of grasses and took the successive trenches after hand-to-hand encounters. The Moros fought furiously. After exhausting their ammunition they resorted to krisbes, barongs and kamplangs. Several wounded Moros who were hidden in the high grass attacked the members of the hospital corps, who were seeking the wounded to succor them.

WRECK ON THE ALTON ROAD

Engines Overturned and Baggage and Smoking Cars Demolished.

Joliet, Ill., May 5.—The Chicago-Springfield passenger train on the Alton road was wrecked near here while passing through the steel mill yards at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour, the locomotive striking a switch engine running onto the main track from a siding. The shock was terrific, both engines being overturned and the baggage and smoking cars demolished. The other coaches, containing 150 passengers, remained on the tracks. Escaping steam enveloped the train, and for a time there was a panic. Robert H. Wilson of Quincy was the only passenger hurt.

Fights His Last Round.

Allentown, Pa., May 5.—Frank Smith, who was injured in a boxing match with Hans Hartman before the Keystone Athletic Club, died from a clot on the brain. The boys were to fight eight rounds, but in the seventh Smith received a hard blow on the chin and fell heavily.

Oneda Indian Claims.

Madison, Wis., May 5.—A rehearing has been granted by the Interior Department on the claim of the Wisconsin Oneda Indians for about $2,000,000 from the government for Kansas lands ceded to them in 1833, but which they never occupied.

Gold in Kansas Shale.

Topeka, Kan., May 5.—As the result of tests made by Prof. E. Fabrig of the Commercial Museum, Philadelphia, the great body of shale lands in Trego, Ellis and other counties of western Kansas is found to contain gold in paying quantities.

Strikers Return to Work.

Marblehead, Wis., May 5.—The fifty striking workmen employed by Nast Brothers returned to work at the old scale of $1.60 a day. The strikers from the Marble Head Lime Company have made another demand for an increase of 10 cents a day.

Then It Rained.

Clay Center, Kan., May 5.—Despondent over the continued drought and the possibility of entire loss of his crops, T. A. Coatsworth, a farmer living near Broughton, committed suicide by hanging himself. Then it rained.

Two Dies in Feud.

Ola, Ky., May 5.—In a feud fight on Beaver Creek, near the border of Knott and Letcher counties, William Osborne and Hiram Little were killed, Samuel Cook badly injured and George Reedy slightly injured.

Bank Run Stopped.

Cripple Creek, Colo., May 5.—The run on the Bimetallic bank has subsided. Some of those who withdrew their money repositied it at the bank.

Gov.-Gen. Taft on the "Water Cure." Gov.-Gen. W. H. Taft, of the Philippine islands, in his address before the students of Yale college said: "With respect to the evidence as to the water-cure and other cruelties, it must be remembered that the army of 40,000 to 60,000 men, by reason of the guerrilla warfare carried on by the insurgents, had to be divided into 500 posts, many of which were commanded by first and second lieutenants or captains, and sometimes by sergeants, and that the detachments in the field far exceeded the number of posts; that this explained how it was possible, with many engagements daily, exceptional instances of such abuses might occur without typifying the conduct of the army, which on the whole was humane and considerate toward the natives."

A Texas Cyclone.

A special from Granbury, Tex., confirms the report of damage done at Glenrose by a tornado Tuesday. One additional death, making a total of eight, is reported, and three of the injured probably will die.

There were 57 persons injured, but with the exception of three, it is thought that all will recover.

In Glenrose, 33 buildings were totally destroyed. More than 100 persons are homeless and destitute of food or shelter. The tornado destroyed farm property and crops for a distance of five miles north of Glenrose and seven miles south.

The hay shed and elevator belonging to James Hindsby, of Smith's Creek, was destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $6,000. The building contained considerable hay and grain.

County and Vicinity

The Mormans are about to establish a mission at Ypsilanti.

Work on Grass Lake's new grist mill is progressing rapidly, the frame work being all completed.

The third annual reunion of the 31st Michigan will be held at Jackson, May 15th.

The attendance at the Manchester school is falling off from what it was a few years ago, and it is about decided to drop one of the teachers.

Jonathan Sprague, the oldest Odd Fellow in Michigan, died at Ann Arbor Sunday afternoon of pneumonia after an illness of four days.

E. A. Croman of Grass Lake has been appointed manager of the Lake Orion Assembly. The position is an important one, and which Mr. Croman is in every way qualified to fill.

Work is about to commence again on the new lighting plant at Stockbridge. Many obstacles, hard to surmount, have delayed the progress of the work through the winter, but it is hoped it will be pushed in good earnest in the future.

Dr. C. L. Randall of Ann Arbor is organizing a searching party to find the old Campus bell which was used to call out the boys when the dormitory was used. It is thought to be in the "cathole" on the corner of 12th and Washington streets. It disappeared in 1860 one cold winter night and is supposed to be covered with the debris of 42 years. It will be placed, if found, in the museum and will attract many people to that building in order to get a glimpse at the old relic.

A novel feeling of leaping, bounding impulse goes through your body. You feel young, act young and are young after taking Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents, Glazier & Stimson.

WHOOPIING COUGH. A woman who has had experience with this disease, tells how to prevent any dangerous consequences from it. She says: Our three children took whooping cough last summer, our baby boy being only three months old, and owing to our giving them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, they lost none of their plumpness and came out in much better health than other children whose parents did not use this remedy. Our oldest little girl would call lustily for cough syrup between whoops. Jesse Pinky Hall, Springville, Ala. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

DANGER IF NEGLECTED. Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequence. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg thirty years," says H. C. Hartly, Yankee-town, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits. Glazier & Stimson.

Children's Fertilizer.

That's a good name for Scott's Emulsion. Children are like young plants. Some will grow in ordinary soil. Others need fertilizers.

The nature of some children prevents them from thriving on ordinary food. Such children grow right if treated right. All they need is a little fertilizer—a little extra richness. Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment.

Fertilizers make things grow. That's just what Scott's Emulsion does. It makes children grow in flesh, grow in strength, grow rich blood, grow in mind, grow nappy. That's what we make it for.

Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., N. Y. 50c and $1.00 all druggists.

No Time to Lose

You cannot afford to disregard the warnings of a weak and diseased heart and put off taking the prescription of the world's greatest authority on heart and nervous disorders—

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

If your heart palpitates, flutters, or you are short of breath, have smothering spells, pain in left side, shoulder or arm, you have heart trouble and are liable to drop dead any moment.

Major J. W. Woodcock, one of the best known oil operators in the country, dropped dead from heart disease recently at his home in Portland, Ind., while mowing his lawn.—The Press. Mrs. M. A. Birdsall, Watkins, N. Y., whose portrait heads this advertisement, says: "I write this through gratitude for benefits I received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I had palpitation of the heart, severe pains under the left shoulder, and my general health was miserable. A few bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured me entirely. Sold by all Druggists. Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind."
