BASE BALL NOTES.

Some Very Good Games Have Been Played Here Lately.

Detroit Banners and the Junior Stars played two games of ball last Friday. The Banners won in the morning, 7 to 5. Rogers pitched a fine game, but was poorly supported, especially by the outfield. The Junior Stars beat in the afternoon in an exciting game, 18 to 14. H. Holmes pitched the first innings for the home team but was hit rather freely, and C. Rogers was put in and held the Banners safe. The two teams will again meet here July 20, when two games will be played.

Next Thursday or Friday the Ypsilanti K. of P. team will meet the Chelsea K. of P. team in a comedy base ball game. The keeper of records and seals is hard at work preparing a new set of rules for the game, among which is one that says each side must not have more than 15 men in the game at one time. Chelsea will have a number of good old-timers in the games. The Chelsea team is in charge of Andros Gulde.

St. Luke's Choir base ball team, of Ypsilanti, will play the Junior Stars on Saturday, at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. Rogers and Cook, and Holmes and BeGole will be the batteries for the Stars.

Work on the ball park has commenced but has been suspended for some time. Now, as a good start has been made, why not finish it?

The Junior Stars desire to thank all those who helped them in paying the expenses of the Detroit team last Friday.

Arrested for Horse Stealing.

William Kilts, of Webster, was bound over to the circuit court Friday in the sum of $500, by Justice Doty on the charge of horse stealing. May 5 Kilts hired a horse and buggy from John Naylor, of Ann Arbor, claiming that he was going to Dexter. Instead, he drove to Chelsea, where he offered to sell the horse and rig to Tommy McNamara for $25. Mr. McNamara paid Kilts one dollar and promised to pay the balance if he found that the horse was the property of Kilts, he having had an unsatisfactory deal with Kilts on a previous occasion. They were to go and see the party whom Kilts claimed to have bought the horse from next morning, but in the meantime Kilts skipped out, leaving the rig here. By telephoning to Ann Arbor Mr. McNamara found out who the owner was and the rig was returned to him. No information as to Kilts' whereabouts was found until Thursday when Deputy Sheriff Kelsey, of Ann Arbor, heard some men talking about him on the street and they mentioned that he was at Lakeland. Kelsey at once went there and arrested him. In default of bail Kilts is in jail. He is also charged with stealing a bicycle in Jackson and breaking into a store at Ypsilanti. It is believed that Kilts is weak mentally.

BALFOUR OUR FRIEND

New British Premier Has Great Lik-ing for United States.

On Taking Hold of Office Tells His Colleagues He Expects Their Cooperation—Chancellor of Exchequer Resigns.

London, July 15.—"Rt. Hon. Arthur Balfour is the staunchest friend the United States has among British politicians," says an American who enjoys intimate relations with the new premier. "While the Anglo-American rapprochement which has been steadily growing during the past four years has been attributed to Lord Salisbury, Mr. Balfour has been the real instigator of Great Britain's policy in that direction. He has always been in advance of his colleagues in advocating a warm and close understanding with the United States."

Understands Yankee Ways. "Mr. Balfour is not only an enlightened but also an appreciative student of America and American institutions. He is well informed with regard to every phase of its political and social life, and is a warm admirer of President Roosevelt. A close understanding with the United States has been one of the dreams of his ambition ever since he visited America in his youth. I do not violate any confidence in saying that Mr. Balfour was the actual author and most staunch supporter of the British policy of friendly neutrality with reference to the Spanish-American war. It may be considered absolutely certain that the sentiments that have actuated his life will be emphasized in his relations toward the United States as head of his majesty's government.

Takes Hold of Office.

The first result of the resignation of Premier Salisbury and the appointment of his nephew, Rt. Hon. Arthur Balfour, to succeed him was the resignation of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach as chancellor of the exchequer.

The conservatives met at the foreign office. Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, the newly appointed premier, on entering with Austen Chamberlain, was loudly cheered. The new premier made a short speech. He said:

"We have lost the services of a chief who has been active in political life for 50 years. The loss is irreparable. I do not flatter myself that I will fill the gap, but the place must be filled. Because the king desires me to do my best, I have asked you to come here to-day."

Balfour then stated how fully he depended on the cordial support of his followers. He was unable to rely, he continued, on the assistance of all his colleagues, especially Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, but the latter had his best wishes.

He was sustained by the attorney general and president, and returned to Hawaii to resume his place on the bench.

Through caverns measureless to man
Down to a sunless sea.

Hardly more wonderful was Kuba Khan's "pleasure dome" than that which John Jacob Astor is rearing near his house at Rhinebeck on the Hudson. If he were 12 years old you'd call it a "playhouse," though it is 160 feet long and quite as deep, shaped like a fat and gigantic letter "T."

The shank of the "T" is a big covered tennis court; the right end of the crosspiece contains a swimming pool 55 feet by 35, two squash courts, dressing rooms, and the like. To the left are other dressing rooms and several complete suits of rooms for bachelors visiting the family. The vestibule and hall—the latter covered by a white dome like a courthouse—are together 60 feet square. Above is a roof garden; the cellar holds servants' quarters, kitchen and a huge automobile room. It's the style to keep your automobile in your cellar nowadays.

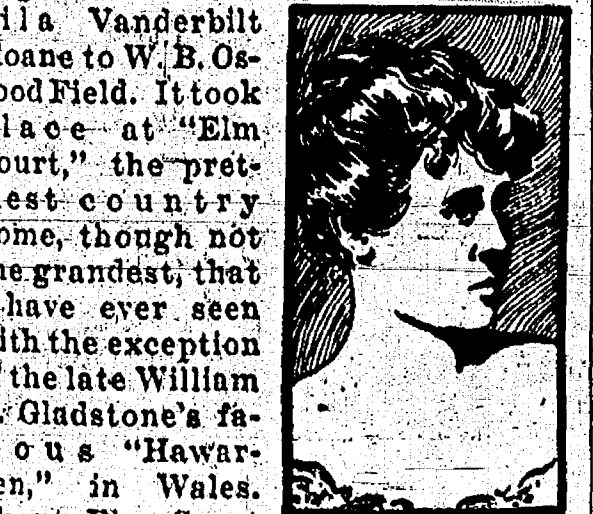

It is hoped that an Astor baby may enjoy this playhouse pretty soon, like the Gould "water baby" born last summer on a yacht near Oyster Bay. The Astors have but one child, a delicate boy, Vincent, ten years old. The Astors have never had large families; that is one reason why, though their shillings have not been "nimble" by comparison with Vanderbilt coins, the individual Astors are richer than any individual Vanderbilts. Fewer to share.

The Astor "pleasure dome" is only an instance of the fashionable movement toward country life among the wealthy. E. H. Harriman was scarcely heard of outside of Wall street five years ago. Last week he entertained the board of supervisors of Orange county at his country place, Arden, in the Ramapo hills. There he has 21,000 acres, mostly primeval forest, threaded by miles of magnificent macadam road. To see this road was the object of the outing; Mr. Harriman would help the county to build such roads—as George Gould has done in Lakewood—as A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, has done at his country home.

One summer night in a New York newspaper office when things were dull "Doc" Cohen, a star reporter, wrote from imagination a thrilling account of the under-water palace of cool green glass which the king of Slam had (or so he said) in a lake in his palace grounds, to which he could retire through the heat of the day. Through the heat of that day in Arden Mr. Harriman invited the supervisors to cool off upon a floating island in the middle of Forest lake in his great domain.

These vast estates cannot exist near the city. Nevertheless, Payne Whitney has bought on Long Island within sight of the towers of Brooklyn bridge several farms that give him united over 300 acres. To this country home he is to take his bride, who was Helen Hay.

The New Lenox.
Attention is called to a famous summer paradise of fashion by the marriage in Lenox of Lila Vanderbilt Sloane to W. B. Osgood Field. It took place at "Elm Court," the prettiest country home, though not the grandest, that I have ever seen with the exception of the late William E. Gladstone's famous "Hawarden," in Wales.

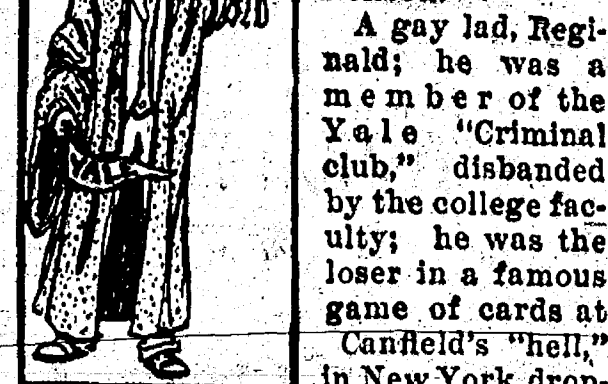

About Elm Court the country is like one continuous garden. Roses scent the air; there are perfect roads; no hovel of poverty can be found for miles; the scenes are of such beauty as to have attracted a generation ago men like Bryant and Longfellow and Hawthorne and Sedgwick and Holmes. The house is long and low, rose-embowered and straggling, the ideal home from which to lead a bride. The honeymoon is to be spent at Blitmore, George Vanderbilt's stately sojourn in North Carolina. For Miss Sloane is a niece of the Vanderbilts, and the first member of the family to wed for some time with parental approval. Young Cornelius estranged his father by marrying Grace Wilson, Alfred Vanderbilt's niece, Miss French, when his mother would have preferred Miss Bronson. Miss Alice Shepard, another niece, broke her plump mother's heart by wedding "Dave" Hennen Morris, son of a typical sporting man, who had ruined thousands of homes as the head of the great Louisiana lottery. Miss Sloane's choice meets with approval.

Lenox, they say, who have gone there for the wedding, is spoiled by trolley cars coming through the village from Pittsfield, and by the erection of a modern hotel, the first in the place. Society prefers a place where no "vulgar" persons can find a night's lodging. For years Lenox has had not even a decent railroad station, but a little red barn two miles from the village, inadequate to the needs of travel. The "cottagers" preferred it so.

The Beautiful Nellson.
Another Vanderbilt will marry with parental approbation, if it be true that "Reggie," of that name, is engaged to Miss Kathleen Nellson.

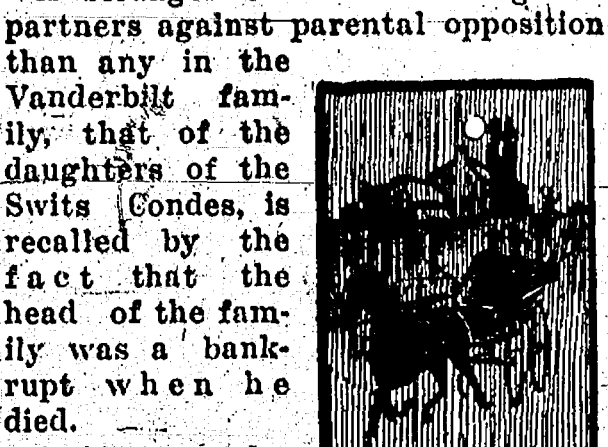

A gay lad, Reggie; he was a member of the Yale "Criminal club," disbanded by the college faculty; he was the loser in a famous game of cards at Canfield's "hall," in New York, dropping some hundreds of thousands. He did not get his degree at Yale, being one of the eleven young men in the senior class too busy to study, and not quick enough to get through without.

Reginald is 20, and looks 17, compared with young men who have to hustle. Miss Nellson carries out the Baltimore tradition of beauty—for her mother is a sister of Freddy Gebhard, long ago famed for his devotion to Mrs. Langtry. Gebhard was in his short prime a magnificently handsome fellow; his sister is a beautiful woman, his niece a girl of exceptional charm.

There is a theory that young Vanderbilt must take a trip around the world before he is permitted to marry. His elder brother, Alfred, was in Japan on such a trip when he received the news of his father's death. Cornelius never went around the world. He went into the railroad shops. If time doesn't see him the head of the family, I shall be mistaken.

The Case of the Swits Condes.
A stranger case of choosing life partners against parental opposition than any in the Vanderbilt family, that of the daughters of the Swits Condes, is recalled by the fact that the head of the family was a bankrupt when he died.

Conde was descended from the French prince of Conde who drove Mazarin out of Paris. A more recent ancestor was the grand constable of France. The family emigrated to this country because of religious troubles. Before the war Swits Conde's father had a little factory up the state Swits Conde enlarged the business by leaps and bounds and became a supposed millionaire.

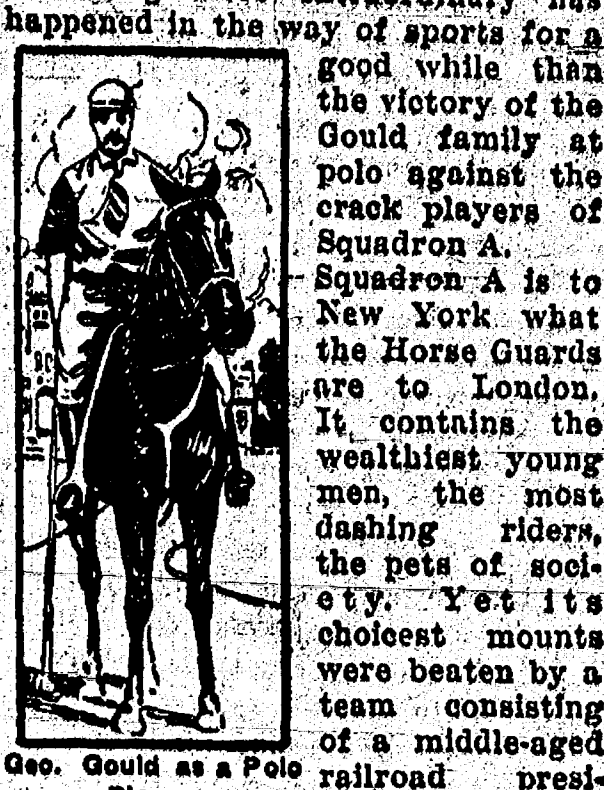

Both of Conde's daughters eloped. Miss Marie fell in love with Ensign Stone, of the navy. They were forbidden to marry and eloped, but were caught before the ceremony could be performed. Conde was beside himself with rage—else he would surely never have demanded from Secretary Long a court-martial for Stone, who had done nothing dishonorable; and so Mr. Long decided. Really he couldn't keep track of his young men's love affairs. He may have thought, too, what one of his handsome officers was a match for any girl. But the romance was broken up. Miss Stone later married Lebeus Rogers, and shortly after died.

The second daughter, Ruth Conde, met George B. Thorne, a volunteer soldier this time, and they ran away and were married. Again old Swits Conde was furious, but his wrath cooled and he was in Thorne's house in New York when he died. The only son of Condes was declared a bankrupt last winter; he is also named Swits, and known as a liberal user of money. Recently the old man, disappointed in the most of his earthly ambitions died untimely, and the Colonial Trust company took a mortgage against all the real and personal property of the once wealthy man.

Thus goes out of sight a family that has been in this country since the son is yet alive—but the family will not again be prominent in society. What a theme for a story-teller.

A Family Polo Team.
Nothing more extraordinary has happened in the way of sports for a good while than the victory of the Gould family at polo against the crack players of Squadron A.

Squadron A is to New York what the Horse Guards are to London. It contains the wealthiest young men, the most dashing riders, the pets of society. Yet it's choicest mounts were beaten by a team consisting of a middle-aged railroad president and his two sons of thirteen and fourteen years of age, with another adult player added. George Gould, head of the Southwestern system of railroads known by his name, head of the Western Union Telegraph, head of the New York elevated railroad system, dashes across the field like a young demon; a slender, boyish figure, with hair still coal black, bright eyes and active movements. The two boys preserve the Gould type—small, light, dark eyes, active and utterly daring. The two men and two boys were far too strong for the four men opposed to them.

The first Jay Gould was not considered physically brave. After an assault made upon him by a disappointed Wall street operator he never went into the street unaccompanied by a stalwart guard. In this as in other respects his son is unlike him, and the grandsons carry the unlikeness farther.

It is a striking example of what devotion to sport will do in modifying heredity. In appearance the boys are their grandfathers over again. But the mental type is different. In money matters they will be conservative where he was bold.

MECHANICAL STOKING.

Labor Saving Machinery Taking the Place of Many Men in Shops and Foundries.

The small number of men to be seen in a modern large machine works or steel mill, as compared with an old-time shop of similar importance, is a matter which has been a frequent occasion for comment, and this is doubtless due to the very general use of labor-saving machinery, says the Engineering Magazine. The cost of production in industrial establishments is made up of the costs of raw material, wages, toolage, taxes and interest, of which the largest single item usually is the wages cost. One way by which this item may be reduced is by the installment of mechanical stokers. In the great majority of steam plants the coal is wheeled to the boiler room by hand, it is fired by hand, and the ashes are removed by hand, making, in plants of 2,000 boiler horse-power or over, a wages cost of some considerable amount.

The mechanical stoker may be defined as a system of great bars, dumping bars, coal feeders and automatic devices to feed fuel and control its combustion; and subsequently to drop the ashes and unburnt coal. That it is not in any sense a new invention is to be learned from the fact that James Watt took out a patent in 1785 for such a device. The mechanical stoker is of English origin, though it has been very thoroughly developed in the United States to suit the local fuels and boiler furnace conditions.

No Need of a Barber.

A gentleman called at a country manse in Scotland and inquired if the minister was at home. The servant who answered the door replied that he was not at present, and asked the gentleman who she could say had called.

"I'm Mr. Barbour," was the reply; "and you may tell the minister that I will call again."

"I'll deliver the message, sir," said the girl; "but I dinna think you need fash, because the minister aye shaves hissel!"—London Tit-Bits.

AWFUL MINE HORROR

Scores of Lives Lost in a Pennsylvania Colliery.

Explosion of Fire Damp the Cause. Estimate Places Number at 175. Money Loss to Company Will Be Large.

Johnstown, Pa., July 11.—An explosion of fire damp in the Rolling Mill coal mine of the Cambria steel company, under West Mont hill, just after noon Thursday brought death or injury to a great number of the 600 miners at work. Conservative estimates place the number of dead at 175, the mine officers admit that over 100 men are entombed in the mines, while some miners declare at least 400 persons are still buried. The scene of the accident is known as the "Klondike."

Cause of Explosion Unknown.

About a score of American miners who were at work in the Klondike district noticed the presence of fire damp in their apartment soon after the explosion occurred, and started at once for the main entrance. They were almost overcome by the deadly gas, but reached the outside world in safety. One of the men who got out safely said it is not known what caused the explosion, and that it will probably never be known, as he believed none of the men at work in the Klondike district can be saved.

Estimates of Dead.

Johnstown, Pa., July 12.—Just as day broke through the pall of fog Friday the grim details of awful disaster at the Rolling Mill mine of the Cambria Steel company dawned with renewed force on the thousands waiting for authentic news as to the extent of the explosion. Forty-seven dead bodies, all contorted and many blackened and burned, lie stretched on rough slabs in the improvised morgue in the Armory building. Forty more are in cars in the mine, ready to be borne out as fast as room can be made for them. Last estimates of the number of dead reduce the fatal scope of the calamity. But these, while fixing it at around 100, are not conclusive. General Superintendent G. J. Robinson would not say at this time whether he thought there were 100 or 300 dead. He says there is no way of telling until a full investigation of the mine is made. When that will be he says he has no means of telling. All rests with the difficulty to be encountered in clearing the heading of after-damp.

Great Money Loss.

Outside of the property loss this catastrophe will cost the Cambria Steel company a large sum.

The company has for many years past paid the family of every person killed in its employ $1,000, outside of what it expended for medical purposes, and it has paid every man who has lost an eye, limb or became otherwise partially disabled the sum of $500. It is understood that the rule will not be suspended.

More Bodies Found.

Johnstown, Pa., July 12.—Between daylight and nightfall Friday 87 bodies were taken from the Rolling Mill mine of the Cambria Steel company, in which there was an explosion Friday. At midnight 52 more bodies were loaded on cars ready to be brought out the first thing after daylight. This increases the dead list to 143.

JURORS DISCHARGED.

Sensation Sprung by Judge Murphy in the Trial of Frank C. Andrews in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., July 9.—Judge Alfred J. Murphy, of the recorder's court, created a sensation in the early proceedings Tuesday for the trial of Frank C. Andrews, former vice president of the wrecked City savings bank, which was to have begun Tuesday morning by dismissing the entire panel of jurors drawn for the July term of court.

Judge Murphy said in explanation of his action:

"Owing to the fact that I have received certain information affecting members of the jury summoned to appear in this court this morning, I consider it proper in the interests of justice, for the sake of the defense as well as for the people to discharge all the jurors summoned for the rest of this term. I believe this action will be approved by all the honest and intelligent jurors. It will relieve them from all suspicion that might be aroused through the information to which I have referred."

While it has not developed in court, it has been rumored that several of the men on the jury were very friendly with some of Frank C. Andrews' close political associates. These are the rumors that Judge Murphy undoubtedly referred to. However, he will not go into particulars.

It was agreed Tuesday by counsel for the defense that F. C. Andrews should be tried at once on the last preferred of the several charges against him, that of misappropriating $8,000 of the City savings bank's funds, with the stipulation that trial on the other charges be deferred, together with the separate trial of former Cashier Henry R. Andrews, to September 3.

NEW SIGNS OF PEACE.

Finish Fight to the Outlook for the Strike—Managers Will Not Agree to Terms.

Chicago, July 11.—At noon Monday the strike situation now convulsing the city again took on the aspect of a finish fight. General managers of the railroad companies held a meeting in the Monadnock block and tentatively decided to stand by the scale of 17 cents an hour for truckers, posted July 1.

Committees from each of the railroads affected called on the general managers and in some instances conferences were held. The men are still demanding 17½ cents an hour for truckers. The general managers appear averse to paying this increase and point to 17 cents as what they regard as the proper compromise between 16 cents, formerly prevailing, and the two cents demanded.

At noon President Curran of the freight handlers' union, issued the following statement:

"The committees have all returned. They have been regular in the same way as before. The managers have not seen fit to settle the grievances of their own employees as they requested permission to do, and the strike is still on. If they want settlement in the future they will have to come to the freight handlers' union. There is no change in the situation," was the official report given out by the railway men.

General Manager Goodnow, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, supplemented this by a statement that looks as if the railways were determined to continue to fight in spite of their enormous losses daily and the inconvenience to the public. He said:

"The trouble is not of our making. We cannot say there will be a settlement. What guarantee have we if we enter into an agreement that the strikers will keep it? The teamsters have broken their agreement with the team owners. It is not simply a matter of details, but of principle."

After a stormy session at the Great Northern hotel with members of the Chicago board of arbitration and representatives of the Teamsters' National union, headed by President Albert Young, the Freight Handlers' union early this morning agreed to accept the modifications of its wage scale to be presented the railroad managers.

Springfield, Ill., July 15.—O. C. Geiger, of Ashley, and W. A. Mathis, of Clinton, members, and J. McGann Davis, secretary of the state board of arbitration, have gone to Chicago to join Chairman Job in further efforts to adjust the freight handlers' strike. They will remain on the ground until the strike is settled or until it is fully demonstrated that there is absolutely no hope of settlement through their mediation. The board has been so successful in adjusting strikes during the past few months that it is the hope of members that the trouble at Chicago may be speedily settled.

GEN. WHEATON RETIRES.

Gen. Chaffee, in Ordering His Return to the United States, Pays Him a Splendid Tribute.

Washington, July 15.—Maj. Gen. Lloyd Wheaton closed his active military career to-day, having reached the statutory retiring age of 64 years. He is at his home in this country, where he recently arrived from the Philippines. The vacancy caused by his retirement already has been anticipated by the appointment of Brig. Gen. John C. Bates, now commanding the department of the Missouri at Denver. In giving orders for the return of Gen. Wheaton to the United States, Gen. Chaffee paid that officer the following tribute:

"As an instance of military service where heart and mind have united in joyous endeavor for more than 41 years to actively serve his country honestly, faithfully, fearlessly, to the end of his allotted time, the division commander invites the attention of all officers and soldiers of this command to the splendid record of Gen. Wheaton—conspicuously public, nothing concealed—as an example for all, and express to him personally and in the name of the division the wish that he may enjoy many years of rest, so justly deserved."

TRAIN HELD UP.

Four Masked Men Rob Passengers on the Denver & Rio Grande Road Near Chester.

Denver, Col., July 15.—Train No. 315 was held up by four masked men at a point known as Mill Switch, two miles east of Chester, at 8:50 a. m. Monday. They blew open two safes in the baggage car and demolished the sides and roof of the car. The express company advises that no money was lost—the mail car was not molested. All the passengers were ordered to go to the rear of the train and get out on to the ground. After using three charges of dynamite the robbers succeeded in opening the safes and took the contents. They then went back to the passengers and relieved them of their money and jewelry. Many of the passengers threw their money, jewelry and transportation into the grass and rocks.

The bandits mounted horses and disappeared in the ravines that lead into Marshall Pass. The sheriff at Salida and sheriffs of adjoining counties and a dozen possees are in pursuit.

SHORT CROP OF BEANS.

The Weekly Michigan Bulletin Forecasts Such a Result.

The weekly crop bulletin issued by the Michigan weather bureau July 15, says that the weather of the past week has been much more favorable for field work and the growth of corn, beans, potatoes and sugar beets than for some weeks back. Most of the week was warm and bright, with only a few moderate showers.

Haying has made fairly good progress in nearly all sections of the state, although somewhat delayed at times; although considerable clover hay was over-ripe and spoiled by rain the hay crop as a whole is a fairly good one; it is being secured from 10 days to two weeks later than usual.

Wheat and rye have matured rapidly and their harvest is becoming general in the central and southern counties; as a whole, both indicate splendid crops, although there is much complaint of rust and that the ground is so soft that it is hard to work the reapers.

Oats are heading nicely and generally indicate a good crop. Barley and peas are doing well; buckwheat seeding is about completed, has germinated nicely and is making good stand.

Corn has shown a decided improvement during the past week; it is taking on a better color and making a good growth; hay and wheat harvest have interfered with cultivation, which is still backward, and many fields of corn, beans and potatoes are quite weedy.

Beans were rotted considerably by the wet weather and many fields never germinated; on high and light soils beans are doing fairly well, showing considerable improvement, but as a whole the present condition of beans indicates a short crop. Early potatoes continue to do quite well and are fairly promising; late potatoes germinated slowly on account of the very wet weather at seeding time; the rains also delayed late potato planting so much that the crop is not all in yet.

BY ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

Dated July 5th, 1902.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

The new series of McKinley postal cards have been received at the Chelsea post office. The card has a bust likeness of McKinley in one corner, while in the other is a small engraving of an eagle surmounted by stars. At her death the household goods are to be divided between the daughters, Mrs. Gildart, of Stockbridge, and Mrs. Eliza Colgrove, of Grand Rapids. All the real estate and the remainder of the personal property is to go to the son, Andrew S. Sawyer.

Davis was held up by a band of his onion weeders and presented with a beautiful china moustache cup and saucer, together with a miniature set of onion tools. The names of the donors were: Ida Mast, Ada Yakely, Amelia Hummel, Genevieve Hummel, Ruth French, Ella Bagge, Minnie Bagge, Esther Selfe, Bertha Alber, Merle Prudden. After making the presentation each of the youngsters bade Mr. Davis good-bye for the season, at the same time admonishing him to be a good man. Davis & Gates are justly proud of the girls and boys who have this year helped them in their onion marsh, for a more honest working and faithful band of little laborers never entered an onion field.

E. minister who in his day was a veritable fire brand as an evangelist, and who died Thursday, aged 84 years. A traveling man for a machine company was working near Lenawee Junction a few days ago when he received telegraphic instruction to go to Silver Lake and help a man who was in trouble. He went there and inquired where the man lived, but no such man could be found. Telephoning to his house for information he found that the Silver Lake they meant is in Indiana and he left for the Hoosier state. Moral: When you give a person an address of a place give the state in which it is located and you will save lots of trouble.

Tuesday's daily papers contained a story of a U. of M. co-ed's daring scheme to mislead her parents as to the quantity and quality of her work during the past year. She took a copy of the annual catalogue had the page removed which contained her name with the undesirable "B" which indicates miscellaneous work performed that does not count on a degree, and with the connivance and assistance of a printer and bookbinder altered it so that it showed a goodly number of hours work credited to her. The altered catalogue she then sent to her parents.

Revolutionary Conditions in the Island of Haiti

With Wonderful Natural Resources Waiting for Development the People Spend Their Time in Fighting.

HAITI, or St. Domingo, or Hispaniola, has become in American eyes almost synonymous with the word "Revolution." Nothing but turmoil, apparently, comes from that quarter; and the particular incidents connected with the bombardment of Cape Hatien for the cause of one of the aspiring nominees for president of the republic, have not enough special interest, outside of their sensational aspect, to merit more than casual notice. The present revolution is not more significant than 100 others that have occurred; yet the chronic inclination towards revolution in Haiti, the causes of it, and the effect it has produced and is producing upon the growth of the republic form a subject for interesting study.

If travelers who are friendly to Haiti are to be believed, there is no more beautiful island in the West Indies or for that matter in any part of the world, than this area of tropical hills and valleys that rises out of the Caribbean sea. Certainly the island has for us an especial historical interest from the fact that it was the first island on which Columbus landed.

Frederick Douglass, the famous negro orator (who served as minister to Haiti under President Harrison), in a lecture on "Haiti, the Only Self-Made Black Republic in the World," destroyed by fire once in each 25 years of its history. The explanation is this: Haiti is a country of revolutions. They break forth without warning and without excuse. The town may stand at sunset and vanish in the morning. Splendid ruins, once the homes of the rich, meet us on every street. Great warehouses, once the property of successful merchants, confront us with their marred and shattered walls in different parts of the city. When we ask: "Whence these mournful ruins?" and "Why are they not rebuilt?" we are answered by one word—It is "Revolution!" Such are the uncertainties and insecurities caused by this revolutionary madness of a part of her people, that no insurance company will insure property at a rate which the holder can afford to pay. Under such a condition of things a tranquil mind is impossible. There is ever a chronic, feverish looking-forward to possible disasters. Incendiary fires; fires set on foot as a proof of dissatisfaction with the government; fires for personal revenge; and fires to promote revolution are of startling frequency. This is sometimes thought to be due to the character of the race. Far from it. The common people of Haiti are peaceful enough. They have no taste for revolution. The fault is not with the ignorant many, but with the educated and ambitious few. Too proud to work, and not disposed to go into laws, French customs and were taught the French language. France overran the island with her superior colonization methods. The island became all French.

The cruelty of French masters towards their slaves was the first cause of revolution. French crime had produced a mulatto race which proved the undoing of those in power. Insolent, shiftless and lazy, this race began to snap its fingers at French authority and at the same time to despise the real blacks. They would neither stoop to toil nor would they be ruled; and ultimately there came a period of concerted revolt, during which the white inhabitants were practically exterminated.

The mulattos and the real blacks were left. The natural antipathy existing between them became a chasm of hatred. The former looked upon the latter as inferiors. Moreover the former proved to be the malcontents, the latter the only ones inclined to industry. Neither knew aught of government, but the former knew better how to ape the manners of their one-time masters. The scramble for positions of authority resulted in the worst chaos; and finally in civil war. The mulattos came to occupy the southern, and the blacks the northern half of the island. Their interests were common only as against an outside power. Civil wars and internal strife between factions became the order. At one moment the chief executive was president; at another moment king. Now the awakened blacks ruled, by the sword, and now the mulatto descendants of the whites.

When common interest did succeed in uniting them sufficiently to bring about one republic for the island the antipathy between the races found expression in bitter political broils and in continual revolution, in which the firebrand figured more or less.

That condition exists to a considerable degree to-day. Yet in all this chaotic mass the yeast of law-loving freedom has been at work. Many students of government are of the opinion that Haiti's worst days are past. The country is rich. Among other things it produces coffee, cotton, mahogany and logwood. Its inhabitants exceed 1,000,000 persons. Its shore line is indented with many rivers, bays and harbors and its shipping presents an imposing spectacle. It has been seriously declared that were it not for revolutions Haiti would soon come to be recognized as one of the richest areas of its size in the world.

MILTON MARKS.

A MARVELOUS MACHINE.

Powerful Device for Picking Up Ocean Cables from the Briny Depths.

A truly wonderful piece of mechanism is the "picking-up" machine used in all grappling and cable-hoisting operations in cable laying. It is a powerful variety of the steam-winch family, but also a most aristocratic and elaborate member, fitted with gear-changing clutches, patent brakes and other ingenious appliances. To give some idea of its capabilities in dry figures, it can at slow speed lift 25 tons at a rate of one mile per hour, or at fast speed ten knots at the rate of four miles per hour. Moreover, it can be quickly altered and adapted to changing circumstances in speed or lifting weight, says Lippincott's.

All being made ready, the big grapple, attached to 700 or 800 fathoms of chain and rope, is passed over the bow-sheave, or pulley, and as soon as it reaches bottom the ship is sent slowly ahead. Back and forward across the path of the cable, as pointed out by the friendly marking buoys, we steam. Several times the grapple catches something, only to lose its hold again—probably an inequality upon the bottom, although a bosun's mate mumbles "mermaid's grottoes"—but at last comes a steady strain. Every soul on board hangs over the bow, watching the grimy grapple rope come steadily up and over the well-rolled pulley. At length the grapple itself appears, holding tight on to the truant.

BOERS ARRIVE.

Many Who Were Prisoners in Bermuda Sent to South Africa.

New York, July 15.—Among the passengers who arrived today by the steamer Pretoria from Bermuda were 108 Boers who were prisoners at Bermuda.

The Boers were clad in the same suits they wore in South Africa. Twenty-one of them had been officers. Among the most prominent of the officers were Gen. J. B. Wessels, Peter F. Steyn, a brother of President Steyn, of the Orange Free State; J. Devilliers, late attorney general of the Free State; and Joubert Reitz, a son of the Free State secretary. None of the officers would talk about the way they had been treated by the British in Bermuda. Gen. Wessels said:

"We are going home as quickly as possible. We will try to build up our burned houses and restore things to their old standing. I shall join my wife and family in Pretoria. None of them have been captured, although my sons served all through the war, and were both wounded. We first heard of peace June 2, but very few believed it true. I fought for 21 months, and was captured June 11, 1901, just a year before my release."

James L. Mallory, of Boston, and Michael Malloy, of Nevada, American citizens, arrived with the Boers. Malloy said he had gone to South Africa from America with a Red Cross ambulance corps and then joined the Boers.

Commandant Peter Ferreira, of the Orange Free State, said there are now about 4,000 Boer prisoners in the islands of Bermuda. Two hundred of these are Cape rebels.

FLOODS IN IOWA.

Des Moines River Still Rising—Eighteen Feet Above Low Water at Ottumwa.

Des Moines, Ia., July 15.—The crest of the flood in the Des Moines river has reached Ottumwa and is rapidly drawing toward the towns farther down stream. The Des Moines has risen six feet at Ottumwa since Sunday morning and is still rising. It is 18 feet above low water mark and has driven 84 families from their homes. Traffic on the Rock Island and Iowa Central railways has been abandoned and it has been suspended temporarily on the main line of the Burlington, trains being compelled to make a detour from Ottumwa on the Wabash Sunday. Eddyville and Oskaloosa report great damage from floods and heavy rains Sunday night. The Skunk river at at Brighton and the Iowa river at Iowa City are at their highest points, submerging many houses and doing great damage.

Keokuk, Ia., July 15.—Just as the Des Moines river began to fall at the lower portion after the floods from the upper waters, another flood came and caught everybody by surprise. At the mouth the river rose eight feet and is still rising one inch an hour steadily, notwithstanding the breaking of levees.

The levee of the Keokuk Canning company broke and 1,000 acres of cucumbers and tomatoes and 3,000 acres of corn were flooded. The loss of the canning company is $10,000, and to farmers twice as much more.

THE MINE REOPENS.

Large Force Resumes Work Where So Many Lost Their Lives Near Johnstown, Pa.

Johnstown, Pa., July 15.—Operations have been started in every section of the Rolling Mill mine of the Cambria Steel company, except the Klondike, where the fatal explosion of Thursday occurred. A majority of the 50 men on hand when the first trip went into the mine were foreigners. They did not seem to have the least hesitation of reentering the mine where so many of their fellow countrymen lost their lives. It was just seven o'clock when the men started in the slope, and in a short time they were at work cleaning up the rooms. No more bodies were brought out or have been discovered, and the mine has apparently been explored fully. Nevertheless some miners claim that many bodies will still be found there.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

Railroad Companies Declared Not Responsible to Third Party for Loss of Mail Matter.

St. Louis, July 15.—The United States circuit court of appeals, in affirming the verdict of a lower court in the case of Bankers Mutual Casualty company against the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Ste. Marie company, which was in favor of the defendant, declared that a railroad company is merely the agent of the government, and was not responsible to a third party for the loss of any mail matter. It was responsible to the government only.

Insane Farmer's Deed.

Cincinnati, O., July 15.—Near Mason, 20 miles from this city, James Conover, a farmer, butchered his wife and seriously injured his son, Charles. Conover was released from the Dayton asylum recently, where he has been repeatedly a patient. It is stated that he has been affected mentally ever since his daughter died five years ago.

MAY SEEN HELP.

Miners Are Likely to Ask United States to Strike against Mitchell Agents.

Chicago, July 15.—John Mitchell, the United Mine Workers of America, announced Monday that the miners who are striking in the anthracite districts of the east would soon call upon other labor organizations to help them.

"If the time does not soon come when we succeed we will have to ask for assistance," declared Mr. Mitchell at the first session of the eleventh annual convention of the International Longshoremen's association, at Washington hall, 70 Adams street.

"Failure to attain success," continued Mr. Mitchell, "would mean a severe blow to unionism. We must do all in our power to achieve success in this great strife. I want a union which knows how to fight to the end. But there is no one who will try to avoid difficulties more than I will. Do you think that I am now asking you to come to our aid? I am not asking it now, but when we do ask, we hope that the longshoremen will come to our assistance. You have grown to be a mighty power, and I hope that you will not only control the lake ports, but every seaport of the country."

In an interview after the longshoremen's meeting, Mr. Mitchell said: "No strong influence on the part of the anthracite strikers will be brought to bear upon the laborers of the convention at Indianapolis on Thursday to control the decisions of that body in favor of a general strike. If the delegates decide to strike will be in consequence of grievance of their own. I understand that there is much dissatisfaction in some of the bituminous districts over the wage scale adopted last year."

They do not care to speculate upon the outcome. "Whatever the result it will be inimical to the prospects of the present strike, which will be carried to a conclusion upon its own merits."

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 15.—Rev. J. Curran, of this city, who claims to have a plan by which the miners' strike can be settled, has gone to Philadelphia. Rumor has it that he will first seek an interview with President Baer and then go to New York to see the presidents of the Lackawanna, the Delaware & Hudson and the Erie companies. The local operators say that plan Rev. Mr. Curran can propose at this late day will be entertained by the operators.

Plymouth, Pa., July 15.—A big meeting of striking miners was held here Monday, and addresses were delivered by T. D. Nicholls, president of District No. 1, United Mine Workers National Board Member John Fallon, and others. Mr. Nicholls said the outlook for the strikers was very encouraging and that if they remained in victory would be theirs before very long. National Board Member Fallon, who has charge at strike headquarters in the absence of President Mitchell, said he had received reports from the entire strike region and they showed that everything was quiet.

Shamokin, Pa., July 15.—The Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company to-day announced that a ten percent increase in wages would be paid in this region to employees who had remained at work since the strike started. The strikers say this increase intended as a bait to lure them back to work.

STEAMER PORTLAND SAFE.

Not Crushed by Arctic Ice as Was for a Time Greatly Feared—The Jeanie Not Found.

Seattle, Wash., July 15.—The steamer Portland, news of whose safety had just been received, sailed for Seattle from Seattle April 26 with 1,000 tons of freight, including miners' supplies, liquors and vegetables. Six hundred tons were put aboard at San Francisco. Of her 110 passengers 46 were booked in San Francisco, the remainder in Seattle. The vessel was commanded by Capt. Charles Lindquist. The steamer was caught in immense ice floes in Behring strait June 3 and when seen was drifting northward into the Arctic sea. The United States revenue cutter Thetis, started in pursuit, but no trace of the ship was found, and was believed she had been crushed by the ice pack and all on board lost. The revenue cutter Manning, now at San Francisco, is under orders to sail for northern waters and aid the Thetis in searching for the Portland and the missing steamer Jeanie, and to sail on Wednesday or Thursday next.

GEN. CHAFFEE RELIEVED.

Will Assume Command of the Department of the East—Gen. Davis His Successor.

Washington, July 15.—Gen. Chaffee has been relieved of command of the Department of the Philippines and ordered to the command of the department of the Army by an order issued Monday by Secretary Root. The order reads as follows: "By direction of the president Gen. George W. Davis will relieve Maj. Gen. Chaffee of the command of the division of the Philippines on September 30, 1902. On being relieved Gen. Chaffee will, with his authority, aid, report to Secretary Root, New York, and assume command of the department of the east."

declared: "Her grand old tropical forests, fields and mountains, were among the first of the new world to have their silence broken by trans-Atlantic song and speech. She was first to be invaded by the Christian religion and to witness its forms and ordinances. She was the first to see a Christian church and behold the Cross of Christ." And he adds that she was the first country of the new world in which Africans were held as slaves and the first in which the black man fought for his freedom and gained it.

The Haytian has been fighting ever since. No description of the condition of affairs in Haiti more concise and telling than that coming from Mr. Douglass could be given—and therefore a pithy excerpt is here quoted: "No other land has brighter skies. No other land has purer water, richer commerce, they make politics a business and are forever plotting to get into their hands the large revenues of the country. Governed neither by love nor mercy for their country they care not into what depths she may be plunged. No president, however virtuous, wise and patriotic, ever suits them when they themselves happen to be out of power."

The history of Hayti is decidedly not a subject for light summer reading. It is a very dismal recital; yet the germ of independence has never been lost and so pervaded the best portion of the inhabitants with the love of country when the aggressive tendencies of another country make the freedom of any portion of their soil seem in the slightest degree to hang in the balance, that it is extremely doubtful if the nation could be subdued by the strongest military power on earth. At the time when France set 50,000 of her best troops ashore in Hayti to overcome the inhabitants, the few soldiers who returned from the hills were glad to make their way as best they could from the horrors of the conflicts in which they had participated.

The original inhabitants of the island of Hayti were set upon by the Spanish settlers who followed Columbus, and in 80 years the race had been practically exterminated. Wanting, then, for slaves, a traffic was started between the island and the African coast, and continued uninterrupted for a number of years. In the meantime French buccaneers had succeeded in wresting from the degenerate Spaniards the two promontories that form the entrance to the bay at the western extremity of the island as well as the territory at the mouth of the Artibonite. When the matter came to the ears of the French government, the latter set up its claim to the territory in such a convincing manner (a habit common with them) that the Spanish government finally acknowledged the French claim to one-third of the island. From this time forth the race of colonization was decidedly "to the strong"—that is, to France. Her settlers were more industrious, energetic and determined than the easy-going Spaniards and what progress was made in the development of the country was due to French labors.

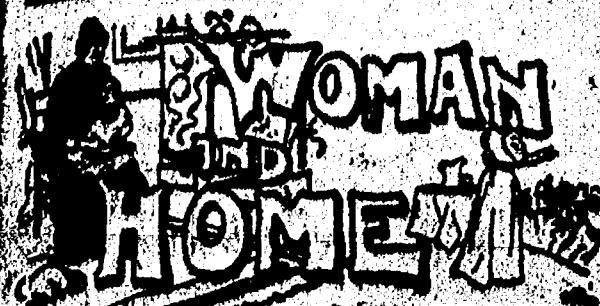

The French slave trade became enormous and the island became peopled with a horde of Africans who were under French masters. These Africans became subject, of course, to French soil, or a more happily diversified climate. She has all the natural conditions essential to a noble, prosperous and happy country. Yet, there she is, torn and rent by revolutions, by clamorous factions and anarchy; floundering her life away from year to year in a labyrinth of social misery. Every little while we find her convulsed by civil war, engaged in the terrible work of death; brutally shedding her own blood and driving her best mental materials into hopeless exile. Port au Prince, a city of 60,000 souls, and capable of being made one of the healthiest, happiest and one of the most beautiful cities of the West Indies, has been

SCIENCE OF DUSTING.

How to Keep Pictures and Woodwork Perfectly Clean, Without Injuring Them.

With clean, dry dusters wipe down the sidewalls, faces of pictures and the woodwork. As often as the cloth is full of dust take it to the window and shake thoroughly; when grimy, change it for a fresh one. A feather duster is not recommended, as it merely flips dust from one article to another and does not remove it. Clean off finger marks and soiled spots on paint and woodwork by using water containing a little ammonia or borax. When there is a fireplace in the room wash the hearth; if there is any iron work go over it with a cloth slightly dampened with kerosene. Carefully remove the dust sheets, folding them with the dusty side in and send out of doors to be shaken and aired before folding and putting them away for the next week. Have the windows washed, also the mirrors, and all gas globes or shades. Close the windows, arrange the draperies; replace furniture and ornaments, and the room is done.

Where a hall is to be swept, remove all clothing from the hat rack, carry out the rugs, pin up and cover all draperies, put movable furniture into the nearest rooms after dusting each piece. See that all doors are closed. Begin at the upper hall, sweep and take up the dust as each landing is reached. Use the whisk and hair brushes on the stairs; if carpeted, whisk the dust on the pan at each step. Follow the same methods in dusting, being especially careful to go thoroughly over each stair rail.—N. Y. Ledger Monthly.

RICH AND BEAUTIFUL.

Duchess of Westminster Is Considered to Be One of the Happiest of British Peersesses.

The duchess of Westminster, Sheilagh Edwina, daughter of Col. William Cornwallis-West, was married to Hugh Richard Arthur Grosvenor, the second duke of Westminster, hardly more than a year ago. Her husband is one of the richest men in the world. He owns the best part of

DUCHESS OF WESTMINSTER.

London. This property, which was bought by an ancestor in the sixteenth century, when it was only an outlying farm, now brings in a rental of something like $5,000 a day, or $1,825,000 a year. Grosvenor house, the town residence of the duke and duchess, is one of the glories of the English metropolis. The private picture gallery is one of the most magnificent in the world.

Woman's Lot in Japan.

According to western ideas the married woman in Japan is not to be envied. A Japanese girl's marriage dowry consists of nothing beyond her dresses, a little writing desk, a box of cosmetics and other toilet necessities, a couple of little dining tables and a few lacquer plates. Japanese women do not inherit fortunes, and in families where there is no son one is adopted as an heir. Women of the poorer classes are most to be pitied. A husband is as free as a bachelor, and can do exactly what he chooses. A man marries when he likes, and when he tires of his wife he may put her away and take another with as little fuss as we make about changing our tradespeople. These exchanges, or divorces, are most frequent among the poor, but are comparatively rare among the upper classes.

"Doesn't Miss Discard take great pains with her piano lessons?" remarked Mrs. Potts, listening to the sounds coming up from the room below.

"Gives!" thoughtfully answered Potts; "gives in the word I should use."—Rutland Dydo.

FIRE PLACE FERNERIES.

Hearth Gardens That Preserve a Delightful Temperature and Are an Aid to Beauty.

Of a number of excellent plans for screening or decorating a fireplace none is more sensible or ornamental than that of turning it into a sort of fernery. Ferns, ivy, swamplilies, periwinkles and two or three varieties of oriental iris love to root in cool, dark, moist places, and properly drained and planted, a fireplace garden can be made just as attractive as one in a window. One woman, whose cottage drawing-room is provided with a very old-fashioned square brick fireplace, in which the antique crane still swings, and above which the narrow mantel shelf is set very high, resorted to very simple measures for beautifying it during the summer. She bought three copper pots, such as the florists hang in their windows full of flowers. These she had filled with earth, and planted with green things that love the shade, and stringing them along the crane, she effectively screened the smoke-blackened cavern where the flames had leaped all winter.

Many of her friends have since had polished steel cranes fixed in their modern fireplaces, and on these they have hung brass kettles and bowls, and one went so far as to have her brick-brace dealer hunt up for her a true old-fashioned three-legged iron crane pot.

Another resourceful housekeeper who has had large experience with house plants found last winter that English ivy would grow gratefully if allowed a vase of fresh water every day in which to keep its green toes moist. With the coming of spring she dared not plant her ivy out of doors, knowing it could not withstand the withering heat of our climate. Accordingly she bought two green boxes, made of small green tiles, filled them with rich earth and a larger portion of sand, and taking two well-grown ivy sprays from the water, she planted them on either side of her plain hearth. Two more sprays she put in boxes and put them on either end of the black marble mantel shelf.

The ivy has already grown up and down, and promises to throw a rich green veil over the whole fireplace, frame the mirror above it and do away with brace-a-bracat that point. As hers is a city house, where, on her husband's account, she spends the major portion of every summer, she finds the curtain of green a most delightful and refreshing ornament.

The florists, who are always quick to accept good ideas, have come to a realization of the fact that something is needed for fireplace decoration in summer. Accordingly the fireplace screen has been introduced. In the leaves of the screen the ribbons and tendrils of iron form a series of brackets, into which large and small green tile pots fit. In the pots all manner of trailing green things are rooted, and their garlands and long tendrils, weaving as they grow through the wrought iron fret work, form a delicate and effective screen for the whole hearth.

By another equally pleasing arrangement the florist will measure a fireplace and build a special floral hearth box. He makes this box of beaten brass, or copper, or tiles, or painted wood and roots in it ferns, and lilies, and green up-standing things, that will shut off the view of the grate or the gap left by the removal of the fire dogs and logs with a wall of color and verdure that is a delightful ornament to any room.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Persian Complexion Secret.

Persian ladies, who are said to have complexions whose bloom and velvety softness are simply wonderful, use no cream or ointment on their faces. Instead, they apply, half an hour before their daily bath, a coating of white of egg. When this has completely dried it is sponged off with tepid water, to which is added a little tincture of benzoin, and then the skin is sponged over with cold milk. The white of egg cleanses the skin, and the treatment described removes all impurities from the complexion, leaving it smooth and soft as that of a child.—N. Y. Weekly.

Popular With the Sex.

"He's an exceedingly gallant and sensible young man. I heard him say that a man is as old as he feels and a woman—"

"Oh, that's ancient!"

"Wait till I'm through. And that a woman is half as old as she looks."—Chicago Post.

MEDICAL EXAMINER

Of the United States Treasury Recommends Pe-ru-na.

The Women Also Recommend Pe-ru-na.

Miss Blanch Grey, 174 Alabama street, Memphis, Tenn., a society woman of Memphis, writes:

"To a society woman whose nervous force is often taxed to the utmost from lack of rest and irregular meals I know of nothing which is of so much benefit as Pe-ru-na. I took it a few months ago when I felt my strength giving away, and it soon made itself manifest in giving me new strength and health."—Miss Blanch Grey.

Mrs. X. Schneider, 2409 Thirty-seventh place, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"After taking several remedies without result, I began last year to take your valuable remedy, Pe-ru-na. I was a complete wreck. Had palpitation of the heart, cold hands and feet, female weakness, no appetite, trembling, sinking feeling nearly all the time. You said I was suffering with systemic catarrh, and I believe that I received your help in the nick of time. I followed your directions carefully and can say today that I am well again. I cannot thank you enough for my cure."

Pe-ru-na cures catarrh wherever located. Pe-ru-na is not a guess nor an experiment—it is an absolute scientific certainty. Pe-ru-na has no substitutes—no rivals. Insist upon having Pe-ru-na.

A free book written by Dr. Hartman, on the subject of catarrh in its different phases and stages, will be sent free to any address by The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Catarrh is a systemic disease curable only by systemic treatment. A remedy that cures catarrh must aim directly at the depressed nerve centers. This is what Pe-ru-na does.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Pe-ru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

A FORTUNATE POSTMASTER.

Kirk, Ark., 14th.—Mr. William S. Drennan, Postmaster at this office, counts himself a very fortunate man.

Mr. Drennan in addition to being postmaster is a Justice of the Peace, a member of the Christian Church and a highly respected and useful citizen. He has suffered for some time with what some people would call "rickets" or "rigors" of the kidneys—kidney disease in a very painful form. He could not sleep, he had a dull pain over his left kidney, was continually restless, could not lie still, and had to get up through the night several times and was also troubled in this way during the day.

He used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy recently introduced in this state and advertised as a cure for Kidney Disease, Rheumatism, Malaria, etc., and in a short time was completely restored to vigorous, good health. He is very grateful to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change and I now consider myself a well man after months of suffering. Fellow sufferers, Pe-ru-na will cure you."

Pe-ru-na immediately invigorates the nerve-centers which give vitality to the mucous membranes. Then catarrh disappears. Then catarrh is permanently cured.

ROW OVER MARSHALL ROAD.

Tuesday's Detroit Evening News contained the following dispatch from a special correspondent at Philadelphia:

"W. A. Boiland and Wm. A. Foote have begun equity proceedings against the Railways Company General and the Investment Co., of Philadelphia, to effect a settlement of the contract for the construction of a line of road between Battle Creek and the city of Marshall, Mich., for the Battle Creek & Marshall Traction Co. Under agreement it is explained the defendants contracted to construct the road at a cost not exceeding $300,000, and $200,000 of the first mortgage bonds and $200,000 of the capital stock of the Traction Co. were to be held in trust by the Investment Co. until the road was completed.

"July 1, 1902, Boiland and Foote, it is alleged, were to have made a settlement, but a dispute arose and no agreement was reached. The next day, it is claimed, the parties agreed that the plaintiff's estimate of the amount due was correct. Thereupon, it is said, the plaintiff tendered a draft on the New York bank which was accepted by the Philadelphia National bank, but the defendants refused to take the draft on the ground that the tender should have been made the previous day.

"It is alleged that the discussion raised as to the amount to be paid was a scheme to prevent a literal compliance with the terms of the contract. The complainants ask the court to restrain the defendant companies from disposing of the securities, and to order them to surrender the bonds and stocks to the Traction Co. upon the payment of $183,611.06."
