Republican County Ticket.

At the republican county convention held at Ann Arbor Friday, the following ticket was placed in nomination:

Sheriff—James E. Burke, Northfield. Clerk—James E. Harkins, Ann Arbor. Register of Deeds—Charles O. Barnes, Ypsilanti.

Treasurer—Cone E. Sperry, Pittsfield. Coroners—Harry B. Britton, Ypsilanti; J. B. Wallace, Ypsilanti.

The name of Frank P. Glazier of this place was endorsed for state senator from the tenth senatorial district, and he was allowed to name the delegates to the senatorial convention.

Capt. E. P. Allen of Ypsilanti was endorsed for the nominee for representative from the second representative district, and Capt. John Haarer of Ann Arbor as the nominee from the first district. Judge Kinne was allowed to name the delegates to attend the state convention to nominate a justice of the supreme court.

All of the above named gentlemen received a majority of the votes cast at the republican primaries held Thursday.

The county committee was authorized to fill in the names for the nominees for prosecuting attorney and circuit commissioners.

Farmers' Club.

After a two months vacation, the W. U. Farmers' Club met Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Waltrous. Owing to the bad weather and busy season there was not as large an attendance as usual.

After the sumptuous dinner, which was served a little after noon the following program was rendered: The first question for discussion, "Which is more profitable, special or general farming?" was opened by G. W. Boynton. The next, "Why does a farmer have to work more hours than a manufacturer to succeed?" this was opened by Rev. C. S. Jones and well discussed. Miss Nellie Lowry gave a very fine paper, "Does women's influence contribute more to civilization than that of man?" These discussions were followed by recitations by Mrs. Lowry and Mrs. G. K. Chapman.

The next meeting will be held October 10th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Cook.

Couldn't Fool The Farmer.

Last week a resident of a neighboring city had occasion to drive into the country a few miles and thought as he was returning he would buy a few chickens and sell them in the city.

Stopping at a farmer's house, he said he would like to buy a dozen or so, and the farmer wanted to know what he was paying. He thought 6 cents was about right. The farmer asked him to wait just a minute, and stepped into the house, when the buyer heard a telephone bell ring. In a minute the farmer came out and said they were paying 10 cents in town, but if he wanted to take some with him he would let him have them for 8 cents.

It is not recorded whether or not the buyer bought, but the incident goes to show that the farmer is getting to be up-to-date and can't be fooled when he has a rural telephone in the house.

Big Electric Plant.

Argus: If the plans which are now under way are carried out successfully, Ann Arbor will be the center of one of the largest lighting power plants in the state of Michigan. Considering the number of towns that it is proposed that the projected plant will light, the undertaking, when completed, will be one of the largest in the country.

A project is under way to build a new dam across the Huron river, where the old McMahon dam now stands. The land has already been surveyed and from present indications the work of building the dam will be carried to a successful finish. The new dam is to extend clear across the land from the railroad tracks to the river. It is the intention to bring the Huron river up to within six feet of the Michigan Central railroad tracks. This will back the water up as far as Neff's dam, to which place the surveying has extended. It is also planned to completely lower the Foster and other intervening dams.

The Washtenaw Power company is said to be behind the project.

The new dam will be built with a view of supplying water both in summer and winter. The new structure will give a capacity of 500 horse power, which will be used in Jackson, Grass Lake, Chelsea, Dexter, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Prohibition Conventions.

The Prohibition Alliance of Washtenaw county held a meeting one day last week and decided to hold their conventions this fall as follows:

Senatorial convention, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for senator from the tenth district, at Ann Arbor, Saturday, September 27th, at the court house at 1:30 p. m.

First district representative convention to nominate a candidate for the legislature from the first district, at the court house, Ann Arbor, Saturday, September 27th, at 2:30 p. m.

Second district representative convention to nominate a candidate for the legislature from the second district at the court house, Ann Arbor, Saturday, September 27th, at 2 p. m.

A Long Wait.

State Accountant Humphrey of Lansing, who was a witness in the proceedings brought at Marshall by the attorney-general to put a Calhoun county home purchasing company out of business, has figured out that in order for the company to mature its contracts the holder of the twenty fifth certificate issued would have to wait 37 1/2 years for his contract to mature, and that he would get his home paid for in 58 years. The company in question had issued 520 contracts and the state accountant has determined that the 500th contract would be matured in about 8,000 years.

Those who have not heard the records the Columbia Phonograph Company is now supplying have no conception of the changes and improvements that have recently been made. The Graphophone, in the meantime, has been correspondingly improved. Machines and records which were thought to be almost perfect, a few years ago are far out done in these times of unflinching progress.

Resolutions.

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove from our midst, our worthy brother, Sir Knight George W. Turnbull, therefore be it Resolved, That we as members of Chelsea Tent, No. 281, K. O. F. M. M., greatly deplore the loss of one of our oldest members, and by this means extend to the bereaved widow and children our heartfelt sympathy in this, their sad affliction, but bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning for thirty day and that these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Tent, a copy sent to the bereaved family and also published in the local papers.

A PARSONS FLIGHT.

"I want all the world to know," writes Rev. C. J. Budlong of Ashaway, R. I., "what a thoroughly good and reliable medicine I found in Electric Bitters. They cured me of jaundice and liver troubles that had caused me great suffering for many years. For a genuine, all-around cure they excel anything I ever saw." Electric Bitters are the surprise of all for their wonderful work in liver, kidney and stomach troubles. Don't fail to try them. Only 50 cents. Satisfaction is guaranteed by Glazier & Stimson.

Worth of Some London Property.

Land at $2,613,600 an acre does not frequently come into the market, even in London, but a few years ago, when the freehold of 54 Cheapside was sold, the sum it realized was at the above rate per acre; that is to say, a piece of ground that could be covered by an ordinary penny postage stamp realized 6s. 11 1/2d., not at all a bad price for a paltry five-sixths of a square inch of real estate to attain. Judging from the ground rents secured on 10 Cornhill, which five or six years ago realized $42,500, that is to say, at the rate of practically $5 a square foot, or $2,452,023 per acre, there are many other delectable spots in the city worth their area in beaten gold, but it is wonderful how prices fall away when the site has not got a frontage on a main thoroughfare. Twenty-two pounds for a piece of ground measuring 12 inches by 12 inches would doubtless be a price that would tempt even an Irish landlord to part with his property.—Good News.

Appealed to His Pride.

It was the most obstinate mule in the lot and refused to enter the car of a train held up at a little wayside station in Tennessee.

Threats, cajolery and blows were alike useless. The mule refused to budge, and the slant of his ears told those of the passengers who were familiar with mule-ear talk that where he was he intended to stay. Then the aged African who was trying to load him in said, in honeyed tones:

"Whufo' yo' behave dis way befo' all dese strange people? Why, you fool mule, don't yo' know dat dese people will jes' believe dat yo' neber done travelled befo' in all you' life?"

The long ears lost their aggressive slant, and the beast went sedately up the inclined plank with the air of a man entering a drawing-room car for the first time and determined not to betray the fact.—N. Y. Tribune.

Regulating a Clock.

It is not, of course, possible to seize hold of the hands of a clock and push them backward or forward a tenth or a twentieth part of a second, which is about the limit of error that is allowed at the Greenwich observatory, so another method is devised. Near the pendulum a magnet is fixed. If it is found that the pendulum is going too fast or too slow, a current of electricity is switched on, and the little magnet begins to pull at the metal as it swings to and fro. It only retards, or accelerates the motion by an infinitesimal fraction of a second each time, but it keeps the operation up, and in a few thousand swings the tenth or twentieth part of the almost invisible error is corrected, thus making the clocks "keep step" at the proper instant of time.—London News.

An Enterprising Merchant.

A merchant of Havre, France, has issued the following circular: "To every person who buys of me a parcel containing one kilogram of coffee and one-quarter of a kilogram of tea—all of the best quality and costing eight francs, which is much below the ordinary trade price—I will forward gratis eight francs' worth of books, pamphlets, drawings, etc., which he will be able to distribute or keep himself for his own library. From this day's date anyone, in sipping his tea or coffee, may be able to say of himself that he is helping, without opening his purse, without spending a penny, in the work of disseminating anti-clerical ideas."—N. Y. Tribune.

"Wooden Russia."

This name, says the consul at St. Petersburg, is familiarly applied to the vast forest areas of Russia in Europe, which cover 464,548,000 acres, or 36 per cent. of the entire area of the country. Yet some fear is felt that the country may be deforested through the carelessness of private owners, and the government is considering steps for the protection of the forests. In Russia houses built of any other material than wood are almost unknown outside the cities, and wood constitutes the principal fuel.—Youths' Companion.

Rules of Umbrella Flirtation.

"Juliet," of Cheltenham, writes: "Kindly publish the umbrella flirtation." Here it is:

Carrying umbrella over shoulder—I wish to catch your eye. Carrying umbrella horizontally under arm—I would make an impression on you.

Lending umbrella—I love you. Returning umbrella after borrowing it—I am foolish.—Stray Stories.

Slavery in German Africa.

EQUESTRIAN STATUE OF GENERAL SLOCUM ERECTED AT GETTYSBURG

The part which the state and city of New York took in the battle of Gettysburg was celebrated on the battlefield with peculiarly impressive services Friday of last week. The ceremony had for its climax the unveiling of an equestrian statue of Gen. Henry Warner Slocum, which stands where he stood on that memorable Friday, July 3, thirty-nine years ago.

The people of the little borough of Gettysburg have become used to statues, monuments, reunions and excursions ever since Abraham Lincoln, on November 19, 1863, before the grass had had time to grow over the blood of the battle, dedicated a great national cemetery there, with its massive central monument and its three and a half thousand graves. Every summer some historic society or association of veterans assembles there or some state erects a new monument to its dead. Hundreds of excursionists go thither to roam over the historic hills and ridges, and hear again the story of Pickett's charge.

The statue of Gen. Slocum takes first rank among the monuments of this historic battleground. It is an equestrian figure of bronze on a granite pedestal. Bronze and pedestal, the monument measures 31 feet from base to tip. The statue itself is 15 feet 6 inches high and 10 feet 6 inches long.

On the western plate of the statue are the words which Gen. Slocum uttered at the council of war held on July 2, the night preceding the final day of battle. They are: "Stay and Fight it out."

FOREST FIRES DO MUCH DAMAGE

For many miles along the Wyoming-Colorado line north of Pearl, Colo., a furious forest fire is raging, devastating everything in its path. Every effort to subdue the flames has been exhausted without effect.

According to the latest reports there are at least eighteen serious forest fires burning in Wyoming, to say nothing of numerous smaller fires in southern Albany county that are destroying great swamps of fine pine timber in the Medicine range and threatening mining buildings. One hundred miles away from Cheyenne the smoke from these fires obscures the sky here and the odor of burning wood is plainly noticeable.

The fires in southern Carbon county are burning fiercely. A government agent with a large force of men is on the ground, but is reported to be making little progress.

Five or more fires are burning in Fremont county, and more than 300 square miles of magnificent timber land is already in ashes.

In Central Uinta county a fire is burning, and in the Jackson Hole country two big blazes are eating the timber in the game country. Farther east in the Shoshone Reservation a fire has been burning for weeks.

In Natrona county a good-sized fire has been destroying timber for the last ten days.

One big fire threatens the timber of the Big Horn mountains.

BURNING DISTRICTS.

Shaded Spots Show Where Forest Fires Are Raging.

Replanting Grass.

The replanting of grass on the wasted cattle ranges in Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Montana, Idaho and the Dakotas is to be attempted by the railways penetrating those states. The first problem to be solved is the finding of a grass plant suitable for stock purposes. Nearly 4,000 acres will be fenced in and divided into thirty lots for experiments in planting. These western cattle ranges have been ruined by sheep. It is expected once the feasibility of replanting is proved the federal and state governments will lend their aid to the movement.

The Omnipresent Mosquito.

From the equator on either hand to the Arctic and from the Antarctic the anophele is irrepressible. In the tropic jungle, as among the icebergs, the mosquito is equally pestiferous. In remote Alaska, as in Manhattan the venomous insect makes life a burden to man and beast alike. Cold that stiffens the mercury in the tube does not put an end to this plague, and the poisonous creatures revel in the extreme heats of Central Brazil or Middle Africa. For what purpose could they have been created? And why were they kept alive in Noah's ark?

WOMAN A CRACK RIFLE SHOT.

Young Canadian Carries Off Prizes at Shooters' Meet.

Over in Canada, in a picturesque little town called Dundas, lives a young woman, Miss Bibby by name, who is one of the crack rifle shots of the Dominion. She is a slender little creature, but she is nervous and strong-armed, and has been addicted to shooting ever since she was a little girl; and, by the way, that's not so long ago, either. Miss Bibby uses the regulation Lee-Enfield rifle of the British army and the Canadian militia, and she has been admitted to membership in the Ontario Rifle association, an organization of the cream of the rifle shooting militiamen and rifle clubs, and she holds her own with the best of them. She is not a Canadian type, for there are very few of the women of the Dominion who take to rifle shooting as an accomplishment, but she has achieved some fame for herself and her town. Recently, at the annual matches of the Ontario Rifle association, held in Toronto, she won considerable prize money and defeated some of the crack shots of the province.

CALVE AND THE DRESSMAKERS.

She Once Sang For an Admiring Audience of Workgirls.

A characteristic story is told of Mme. Calve. Shortly before her last American tour she paid a visit to her dressmaker in Paris. While she was discussing her costumes with the head of the establishment, which is a very large one, a couturiere hesitatingly entered the room and approached her. She came on behalf of herself and her fellow workers to beg a great favor. Would Mme. Calve sing them a song? It was much to ask, but though they worked for her, hardly any of them had ever had a chance of hearing her beautiful voice.

At once the great singer consented. She went into the workroom, and, having satisfied herself that no unauthorized persons were present, she delighted her audience of workgirls with two exquisite songs. On leaving she was accorded an ovation which for heartiness probably rivaled any which she had received during the course of her brilliant career.

King Dagobert's Throne.

Much has been written about the antiquity of the throne on which King Edward of England was crowned, but, as French journalists are now taking pains to point out, it is not nearly as old as the throne of King Dagobert, which is still religiously preserved at the National Library in Paris. According to the best authorities, this throne dates back to the seventh century, and consequently it is many years older than the throne of Edward the Confessor. Moreover, there is a popular tradition that it was fashioned by a saint who possessed much skill in carving and engraving. However this may be, the French are very proud of the ancient relic.

Some Causes of Cancer.

Recent investigations point to the conclusion that one of the causes of cancer is improper food and drink, says Leslie's Weekly. That cancer of the lips and mouth are caused by excessive smoking is now a fact established by the case of Gen. Grant and others, and it has been intimated that cancer microbes have been found in certain vile smelling foreign cheeses, for which some fashionably people profess to have a great liking. So far as the malady is traceable to causes like these the remedy to be applied is simple and easy, viz., to smoke moderately, if at all, and to let all moldy and decayed articles of food alone, no matter if gourmets pretend to like them.

Queensland Jewel Mines.

The sapphires are blue, yellow and green, of numerous tints and shades, the green and yellow being the most beautiful. The yellow stones are rare, and the blue are of so dark a shade as to appear almost black, and cannot compare with the brilliantly tinted stones of Siam, Burmah, or Ceylon. Green stones are found in abundance, and their frequently great beauty has created a growing demand for them. Among other stones found is the hyacinth, which, when cut, forms a richly-colored gem of a deep blood-red color, and the Oriental cat's eye. The sapphire deposits are also diamondiferous.

Got a Lover Easily.

An amusing story is told of the crowning of the rose queen of a country district near Paris. The selected queen, as one of the formalities of awarding her dower, was asked by the mayor for the name of her fiance. "I have none," she replied. Notified that a sweetheart was indispensable, the young lady added timidly: "I thought the municipality provided everything necessary." Straightway a young swain presented himself as an aspirant, and being as promptly accepted all things became regular and in order.

The Old Man Knew.

A boy outran his allowance and other resources so much that he was in imminent need of aid. So he sat down and wrote to his father thus: "Dear Pa.—I had the misfortune to be upset in a boat while out on the river and lost the beautiful watch you gave me. I would like some money to employ a diver to recover it.—Your affectionate son, Thomas." The old gentleman was no fool. He replied: "It is not worth while diving for it. It is as well to be in a boat in one place as in another."

TALES OF GREAT AMERICANS

Benjamin Franklin's Boyhood.

When Benjamin Franklin was a boy he, like most boys, took to water as naturally as a Newfoundland dog. Benjamin Franklin, you remember, was one of the greatest journalists, statesmen and philosophers in our country at the time of the Revolution. Even as a boy he was always patching up some invention, trying all the time to improve upon and make things more handy. This habit last- ing him all his life. But as a boy swimmer he devised two methods of increasing swimming speed which are of interest to boys of to-day. When he came to be an old man he told about his devices in the following words:

"I made two oval pallets," Franklin said, "each about ten inches long and six broad, with a hole for the thumb, in order to retain it fast in the palm of my hand. They much resembled a painter's pallets. In swimming I pushed the edges of these forward, and I struck the water with their flat surfaces as I crew them back. I remember I swam faster by means of these pallets, but they fatigued my wrists. I also fitted to the soles of my feet a kind of sandal; but I was not satisfied with them, because I observed that the stroke is partly given by the inside of the feet and ankles, and not entirely with the soles of the feet."

The other device Franklin told of in this fashion: "I amused myself one day in flying a paper kite, and, approaching the bank of a pond which was nearly a mile broad, I tied the strings to a stake, and the kite ascended to a very considerable height above the pond while I was swimming. In a little time, being desirous of amusing myself with my kite and enjoy at the same time the pleasure of swimming, I returned, and, losing from the stake the string with the little stick which was fastened to it, went again into the water, where I found that, lying on my back and holding the stick in my hands, I was drawn along the surface of the water in a very agreeable manner. Having then engaged another boy to carry my clothes around the pond to a place which I pointed out to him on the other side, I began to cross the pond with my kite, which carried me quite over without the least fatigue and with the greatest pleasure imaginable. I was only obliged occasionally to halt a little in my course and resist its progress when it appeared that by following too quickly I lowered the kite too much, by doing which occasionally I made it rise again."

The other boys of the neighborhood soon copied Franklin's invention, and it was not long before whole fleets of young fellows were cruising about the pond. However, Franklin excelled them all, for he so manipulated his kite as to get the full force of whatever wind there was, much to the chagrin and astonishment of his playmates, who could not see why they never won the impromptu races which took place almost daily.

A Boy's Ambition.

Forty years ago John Duffree of Syracuse, N. Y., was a ragged boot-black.

One day he sat down on the steps of the Pike block in that city to eat his lunch.

The janitor emptied a pail of dirty water on him from an upper window. "I'll own this block some day," said the lad, "and I'll fire you."

The other day John Duffree, the millionaire contractor, bought the Pike block, paying therefor $225,000. It is in the center of the business district and has been a landmark in Syracuse for many years.

Unfortunately the objectionable janitor is dead and the millionaire cannot "fire" him.

Boys' boasts are not always to be taken seriously, but John Duffree's made good.

"I'll be governor of Indiana some day," said young Wright when his companion hodgecarriers working on Indiana's state house made fun of him because he carried a book in his pocket.

And he was. Blessed is the boy who has a high, definite aim.

He may not climb as high as he intended, but his mental and moral fiber will grow strong in the climbing.

Never laugh at a boy's ideal if it is honorable. It is the divinity that stirs within him! It differentiates him from the crowd which has no ideals worth having.

Besides, if the boy is of the Duffree or Wright type and you poke fun at his ambition he is likely to make you out a false prophet.

Butterfly Trick.

Get a bottle with a wide opening and close in with a cork in which a glass funnel is inserted. Close all crevices with shellac. Fill the bottle half way with water, in which you drop the two powders belonging to a Selditz powder. The carbonic gas generated tries to escape through the funnel. But by placing two or three small balls, made of cork, in the funnel, the gas can escape only a little at a time, as one or the other of the little balls will keep the opening of the funnel closed, until the pressure of the gas builds strong enough to force the ball up. In such a way a part of the gas escapes, the pressure is relieved, and another ball closes up the funnel opening. This will keep on until the gas is exhausted.

Oracle in the Handkerchief.

Kindly write a question upon this strip of paper. We will see if the spirits will favor us with an answer. I place the slip with the question upon it on the handkerchief and roll it up, hiding the slip in the inside, until a small margin of the rim is left. I roll it back again, and see—we have the answer to our question, written by a spiritual hand. Here, you can read it!

Of course the handkerchief has been prepared before. The object, which has to appear later, is placed on the handkerchief, and the latter folded as shown in I, in such a way that the larger part (1) overlaps part 2 as shown in II.

At the performance the slip of paper containing the question is placed on an I and the handkerchief is rolled up, beginning at R. When rolled up altogether, give it one more turn let the rim of the smaller half of the handkerchief lay on the table, while you roll the rim of the larger half back, until the hidden answer comes forth.

Pattering Feet.

Something is a-foot; beware! Something is climbing the bedroom stair. With here a stumble, and there a slip. Into the passage—trip, trip, trip!

Tripping bright on the passage floor. Up they come to your bedroom door; Never was music half so sweet As the pit-a-pat patter of tiny feet.

Dear little voices, high and clear, Ring like a bell in the sleeper's ear; Small hands pluck at his tousled head—"Daddy—oh, daddy, get out of bed!"

Keeping the rules—it's all a game— Out they patter as in they came; But somehow the song moves rather slow

As down the passage and off they go. And it's oh, for the years that have passed away, And the feet that pattered at break of day!

Now they are heavily-booted feet, And they tramp and stamp in the busy street.

And some of them seemed to tire of fun, So they wandered away till they met the sun; But he sends them sliding along his beams,

To patter again in your morning dreams

Make Most of Gifts.

Personally has done wonders with both heredity and environment. It has made moderate gifts accomplish marvellous things. Men with moderate gifts, by patient and persistent application, have put to shame the splendidly equipped, who have indolently frittered away their patrimony. Out of the most untoward surroundings men have found their way to the grandest achievements. The boy from the log cabin has outstripped the boy from the palace. The bare-foot boy has outstripped the boy of pampered indulgence. The plodder has outstripped the genius. The tortoise has passed the hare. Whether a man be richly endowed or moderately endowed, his success will depend on the use he makes of what God has given him.—Independent.

DON'T GIVE UP.

Don't be discouraged by past efforts to find relief and cure from the myriads of ills that come from sick kidneys. You may pass nights of sleepless tossing, annoyed by frequent urination. Your back may ache like a toothache or sudden twinges and twinges of backache pain make life a misery. Perhaps you have nervous spells, are weak, tired-out, depressed. There is a cure for all of this and for every trouble of the bladder and kidneys. Read this case and note it tells how well the cure was tested:

Charles Lindgren, sealer of freight cars on the L. S. & M. S. R. R., La Porte, Ind., says: "I have greater faith in Doan's Kidney Pills today than I had in the fall of 1897 when I began taking them and made a public statement of the result. At that time I had suffered with lameness and soreness of the back, which was so excruciating that I could scarcely turn in bed, and Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured this trouble. I am always ready to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills personally to anyone requiring a kidney remedy. After a lapse of three years I make this statement, which shows my undoubted faith in the preparation."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine, which cured Mr. Lindgren, will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, 50 cents per box.

Had Crazy Spells.

West Pembroke, Me., Sept. 22.—The thirteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. A. L. Smith suffered with a peculiar affliction which her mother describes as follows:

"It is two years now since she was first taken with crazy spells.

"They kept on coming at intervals and I could get nothing to do her any good.

"The doctors gave me no encouragement. They all said they could not help her.

"The crazy spell would last about nine days, then she would be well about nine days, but would eat very little and was very yellow. Even the whites of her eyes were yellow.

"I heard that Dodd's Kidney Pills were a great remedy for young girls and decided to try them.

"After taking one box she was completely restored and she has not had one bad spell since. Of course we continued to use the pills and she used altogether five boxes last fall.

"In March I thought I saw symptoms of the spells again and I got six boxes of which she has taken four, and is in splendid health.

"Her case was certainly a remarkable one and we are very thankful to Dodd's Kidney Pills for the great good they have done my daughter."

NERVOUS PROSTRATION SYSTEMIC CATARRH.

MRS. IDA L. GREGORY
A LEADING CLUBWOMAN OF DENVER, COLO.

Mrs. Ida L. Gregory, President of the Poets and Authors Club of Colorado, President of Colorado Art Club, Director of School of Industry and Design, Vice President of Sherman Art League, is one of the leading club women of Colorado.

In a recent letter from 2 Grant Avenue, Denver, Colo., this prominent lady says:

"Some years ago my husband suffered from nervous prostration and advising with a friendly druggist he brought home a bottle of Peruna. His health was restored from its use, his appetite was increased and restful sleep came to him. I therefore heartily endorse Peruna, as an honest remedy worthy the good things which are said of it."—Ida L. Gregory.

Nervous prostration is so frequently associated with systemic catarrh that some doctors do not distinguish between the two. In systemic catarrh the disease has pervaded the whole system and there is a constant loss of vital fluids from the mucous membranes.

A great many people are doctoring for nervous prostration who would be immediately cured by a course of Peruna. Peruna makes clean, healthy mucous membranes. By this preservation of the inherited tendency to distressing, disfiguring humours of the skin, scalp, and blood, becomes an object of the most tender solicitude, not only because of its suffering but because of the dreadful fear that the disfiguration is to be lifelong and mar its future happiness and prosperity. Hence it becomes the duty of mothers of such afflicted children to acquaint themselves with the best, the purest, and most effective treatment available, viz., THE CUTICURA TREATMENT.

Warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP, to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, gentle anointings with CUTICURA OINTMENT, to instantly allay itching, irritation, and inflammation, and soothe and heal, are all that can be desired for the alleviation of the suffering of skin-tormented infants and children and the comfort of worn-out, worried mothers. AT SUNSET.

Over the tired world blows
Breath of the sunset rose;
Wind in the redwood trees
Swept from the sundown seas;
Gleam on the hilltop high
Caught from a jeweled sky;
Dusk in the canyon deep
Shed from the wing of sleep;
Prayer in a censer swung,
Incense from the wing of sleep;
Dreams in a purple boat
Sailing from ports remote;
"Peace" from a seraph fair
Floating through twilight air,
Over the tired world blows
Rests from the sunset rose.

The Wrong House.

BY GEORGE R. PARRISH.

(Copyright, 1902, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

"It was a strange town to me," said the reformed burglar reflectively, "and I was looking about for a partner to help me pull off a particularly good thing, when I ran across this man Watson. He was hard up, and somewhat shaky from a prolonged spree, but he had the look of a gentleman under his rags, and struck me as the sort of a fellow who would show plenty of nerve in an emergency. So I put the proposition squarely at him. The lad shied a little at first, but when a man is hungry and up against it generally, he is mighty apt to forget some other things, and Watson finally said he'd help me out.

"It was as black and foggy a night as I ever remember, and I was fairly lost twice before we brought up in the right street. But after that it was easy. You see I had marked the Courtney house by the big plant in a tub they always had sitting out on the front porch, and as soon as that loomed up thro' the fog I knew what to do. What I didn't know was, that the servant girl who scrubbed the steps that afternoon had lifted the plant over the railing and forgot to return it, so that instead of cracking 410 I went to work on 412. As for Watson he was too thoroughly soaked to pay much attention to anything.

"It wasn't much of a trick to get in, as the front window under the area was unlocked, and as the street was quiet I told Watson he better come in with me. All those houses were built just alike, so I had no difficulty in finding the stairs, dark as it was. The carpet was thick and we reached the upper landing without making enough noise to startle a mouse. The front room was the one I was after, but the door was fastened, and I was obliged to cut the panel before I could get a hand in, and turn the key. Then I stood there in the darkness and listened.

"I could tell from the breathing there were two persons sleeping in the room, but to make certain as to where the furniture stood, I let a bit of light out of my lantern, and took a quick glance at the bed. It was a woman and baby lying there, and a right handsome woman, too, with hair that looked coal black against the pillow. But I wasn't there for any romance, so I just shoved back the slide and felt my way over to the dresser on the other side of the room.

"We learn in the trade to judge pretty nearly where a woman is apt to keep her sparklers, but I found nothing in the upper drawer that felt like a jewel case, and I shoved it back and tried the second. It stuck a bit, and I must have made some noise, for I heard a sudden exclamation and when I wheeled and flashed my lantern there was the woman sitting bolt up in bed, her face as white as a sheet, and her great, black eyes staring full at me.

"It's easier handling a man in such a case than a woman, for the latter is bound to scream unless you shut her her, I'll leave a remembrance of my visit you'll recall long after you forget your diamonds."

"She must have felt that I meant it, for she sank back on the pillow, and began to quiet the child. While still keeping my eyes upon them, I stepped backward until I was enabled to reach one hand behind me into the still open drawer. A moment later my fingers came in contact with the case I was seeking, and, forgetting caution, I turned entirely around in my eagerness to get it out from under some clothing.

"Oh, Fred!" she cried. "Fred, is it really you?"

"There was a sudden rush of feet, and revolver in hand I sprang forward toward the fleeing white-robed figure. As she reached the half-open door she came face to face with Watson. There was a quick exclamation of surprise, and then, to my utter amazement, what did that woman do but fling her arms about the fellow's neck.

"Oh, Fred!" she cried. "Fred, is it really you?"

"I stood there looking at them too dumbfounded to move, when there was a bump on the floor, the sound of tottling feet on the carpet, and the baby was pulling at Watson's coat.

"Papa," he hissed, half afraid, "is coo cum home?"

"Say, I've had some queer jolts in my time, but that beat them all. I just started to get out of there, when Watson looked up, and I never want to see such a look in any man's eyes again. It frightened her, too, I guess, for she put her hand on his shoulder.

"Oh, don't, Fred, don't hurt him," she pleaded softly. "He brought you back to baby and me."

"He dropped his face until it rested against her black hair, and his hand rested gently on the head of the little one. I doubt if they even noticed as I slipped past them and down the dark stairs. And I was out on the street before I remembered I had left the diamonds lying in the drawer."

A Kipling Story.

The following story from Kipling—who opened a new rifle range at Sydenham on Saturday—was related by a bachelor of about 48 who was in the habit of wintering in one of those towns which Stevenson has described somewhere as "perched like birds on the olive-crowned cliffs of the Riviera." Rushing in where angels fear to tread, with the courage born of inexperience, this courageous one had undertaken the escort of four small children, their ages ranging from 6 to 12, on the tedious journey of some thousand miles, to visit grandparents residing in England. He was relating the various experiences through which he had passed on this long journey to a lady sitting next him at a dinner party. Rudyard Kipling on the opposite side, but a little bit lower down, happened to catch some of the remarks, and asked to have the narrative repeated. Having had the entire episode related to him, he looked wonderingly across at the quixotic 20th century bachelor and murmured gently: "For of such is the kingdom of heaven."—London M. A. P.

SINCE J. Pierpont Morgan has returned from hobnobbing with royalty, and is used as any other citizen of the republic, and his wishes in regard to the trusts are ignored, he has announced that President Roosevelt must not be renominated. And the fiat has gone forth that if renominated he must be defeated at all odds, and a "safe" man elected in his stead. This should be a cause for rejoicing on the part of the President, as it practically assures him of another term. What Morgan wants, the people do not want, and they will be very emphatic in their expression of that fact. The "safe" man that Morgan has his eye on is stated to be Grover Cleveland.

Philippine Schools.

The problem of establishing a modified American school system in the Philippine Islands, under existing conditions, says Frederick Atkinson, superintendent of education in Atlantic, is also a problem of supplanting an old system deeply interwoven with the religious beliefs and social institutions of a semi-civilized people. The Spanish messengers of the faith who came to these islands implanted the faith and education at the same time. . . . In pursuit of church policy, the education of the individual person did not go very far. When a Filipino felt an inclination to acquire an intellectual education, he could do so only by taking part in ecclesiastical instruction. . . . Impervious as it has been to every liberalizing influence, the exclusively religious school system that the Americans found here was an anachronism, recalling European school systems of more than a hundred years ago. . . . Nearly every organized town had its school, and in it the pupils were taught to read and to write, more or less mechanically, the native dialect, the catechism and obedience. A small fee was necessary for admission. In vitalizing power—that which should elevate and uplift the race—the system was wholly lacking; and without this power any system must fail.

An Insurance Story.

The manager of a life insurance company recently received the following letter from a policyholder: "I hold a policy in your company for $20,000, on which I have paid the yearly premiums. I have now to inform you that my physician advises me that I have a pronounced case of appendicitis and his diagnosis is confirmed by a specialist whom I have consulted. I am told that the only hope of saving life is an operation, which, with hospital expenses, will cost $800, an amount that I have no means to pay. I am sensible that I owe it to you, who have so large a pecuniary interest in my life, to give you the option to pay the cost of this operation to save my life that I may continue to pay you the yearly premiums on my policy (I believe that I am otherwise strong and healthy), or in the alternative to pay the $20,000 to my beneficiary within a few weeks. I am quite willing to be examined by any physician you may name and to have you select the operating surgeon. Immediate attention is, of course, imperative."—Chicago Daily News.

Underground Mountains.

A very curious result of recent operations by the trigometrical survey in India is the conclusion, stated by Maj. Burrard, that there is in the middle of India an underground, or buried, mountain range, a thousand miles in length, and lying about parallel with the chain of the Himalayas. This conclusion is based on the singularities of the local attraction of gravitation in central India, the plumb-line being deflected southward on the north side of the supposed subterranean chain and northward on the south side, leading to the inference that a great elongated mass of rock of excessive density underlies the surface of the earth between the two sets of observing stations.—Youth's Companion.

As inquiries are already being made as to when it is lawful to shoot squirrels, ducks, quail and other game of the fall season, it may not be amiss to say: Game is protected the whole of September.
Some have the idea that squirrels may be legally killed now but this is incorrect.
They cannot be killed until October 15.
Ducks may be killed on and after October 1. Quail and partridge may be killed between October 20 and November 30. The deer season opens November 8 in both peninsulas.

W. A. Boland was in the city Saturday.
When asked as to the rumors of a consolidation of the electric interests of the state, he laughingly said that the newspapers seemed to be posted better than he was. "Everything is moving satisfactorily," he said, "and things are going as I would have them. I know that progress on the lines west and east of the city has been slow, but there is a reason for it. All I have to say now is that I will be back in the city in a week or two, when I will have something to say that will be worth while to hear."—Jackson Press.

Rembert Jones, assistant electrician on the campus, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon while doing some wiring in West Hall. He was standing on a high step ladder as was also another workman, when the ladders slipped and threw both men to the floor. Mr. Jones fell across the edge of a box, striking on his side. No bones were broken, but he was badly bruised about his body and head. He was taken to his home in a carriage and is resting easily today. The other workman escaped without any injury.—Times. Mr. Jones is well known in Chelsea, and his friends here will hope for his speedy recovery from his injuries.

Did you hear of a man getting shot on north Main street last week? It was quite an exciting time, but no one was hurt.
He bought it of Geo. H. Foster & Co., who have put in a fine line of guns and ammunition, and sell them at the lowest prices in the county.

County and Vicinity

Manchester's fire engine, Romeo, is having a new set of flues installed in its interior.

The annual parade of the police and fire departments of the city of Jackson takes place today.

Manchester is going to have a brass band, and the common council has granted them the privilege of meeting in the council room. They ought to be able to raise the wind in that room.

Mayor Dawson of Ypsilanti has been investigating the independent telephone systems of Lansing and Jackson and as a result he will veto the resolution granting an independent franchise in that city. He has concluded that two systems in one city are undesirable.

Rural route No. 1 has been changed making an additional two miles and a total of 26 miles. Carrier T. J. Farrell has always had more mail than either Nos. 2 or 3, and now he has twice the amount of No. 3. Two miles more have also been added to No. 2, but there is little difference in the amount of mail.—Manchester Enterprise.

A big gang of Ann Arbor railroad men have been busy between Hamburg and Lakeland since last Wednesday trying to fill up the sink hole which gave the road so much trouble last year. Over 150 carloads of dirt and gravel were dumped in before there could be any signs seen that a foundation was being reached. The Ann Arbor road was compelled to run its trains around on the Grand Trunk between the two points.

Three years ago La'ayette Post found a single head of oats growing in the midst of his swamp land. It being different from anything he had ever seen in the way of oats he gathered it when ripe, and from this one head gathered three years ago he harvested this year 260 bushels. It is a very large white oat. Last year he sent a sample to the state Agricultural College asking for its name. The reply was that it was a stranger to them, having never seen anything like it before, but if they were to name it they would call it "The Wonderful."—North Adams Advocate.

Prof. Novy of the U. of M., with a band of assistants on Monday secured the brains, back bones, and bottles of the blood of two cows belonging to C. W. Rose, a farmer. Mr. Rose lives two miles from Ann Arbor. For more than a week the cows have been like mad bulls, foaming about the mouth. One of them would charge upon a log of wood and roll it bounding across a field. Five weeks ago these cows were bitten by a mad dog. Prof. Novy believes that they are suffering from genuine hydrophobia. In the last stages of the disease the animals' hind quarters became paralyzed so that they dragged themselves along on the ground.

LINGERING SUMMER COLDS.
Don't let a cold run at this season. Summer colds are the hardest kind to cure and if neglected may linger along for months. A long siege like this will pull down the strongest constitution. One Minute Cough Cure will break up the attack at once. Safe, sure, acts at once. Cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. The children like it. Glazier & Stimson.

Dress does not make the person. Nor does a clean exterior indicate a clean interior. To be well all organs of the body must work in harmony. Rocky Mountain Tea does this work. Glazier & Stimson.

BEWARE OF THE KNIFE.
No profession has advanced more rapidly of late than surgery, but it should not be used except where absolutely necessary. In cases of piles for example, it is seldom needed. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures quickly and permanently. Unequalled for cuts, burns, bruises, wounds, skin diseases. Accept no counterfeits. "I was so troubled with bleeding piles that I lost much blood and strength," says J. C. Phillips, Paris, Ill. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me in a short time." Soothes and heals. Glazier & Stimson.

TAKE CARE OF THE STOMACH.
The man or woman whose digestion is perfect and whose stomach performs its every function is never sick. Kodol cleanses, purifies and sweetens the stomach and cures positively and permanently all stomach troubles, indigestion and dyspepsia. It is the wonderful reconstructive tonic that is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by conveying to their bodies all of the nourishment in the food they eat. Rev. J. H. Holladay of Holaday, Miss., writes: "Kodol has cured me. I consider it the best remedy I ever used for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was given up by physicians. Kodol saved my life. Take it after meals." Glazier & Stimson.

FORTUNE FAVORS A TEXAN.
"Having distressing pains in head, back and stomach, and being without appetite, I began to use Dr. King's New Life Pills," writes W. P. Whitehead of Kennedale, Tex., "and soon felt like a new man." Infalible in stomach and liver troubles. Only 25c at Glazier & Stimson's drug store.

A Good Hearted Man, or in other words, men with good sound hearts, are not very numerous. The increasing number of sudden deaths from heart disease daily chronicled by the press, is proof of the alarming prevalence of this dangerous complaint, and as no one can foretell just when a fatal collapse will occur, the danger of neglecting treatment is certainly a very risky matter. If you are short of breath, have pain in left side, smothering spells, palpitation, unable to lie on side, especially the left, you should begin taking

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.
J. A. Kremer of Arkansas City, Kans., says: "My heart was so bad it was impossible for me to lie down, and I could neither sleep nor rest. My decline was rapid, and I realized I must get help soon. I was advised to try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, which I did, and candidly believe it saved my life."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists on guarantee.

A SAD DISAPPOINTMENT.
Ineffective liver medicine is a disappointment, but you don't want to purge, strain and break the glands of the stomach and bowels. DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They cleanse the system of all poison and putrid matter and do it so gently that one enjoys the pleasant effects. They are a tonic to the liver. Cures biliousness, torpid liver and prevent fever, Glazier & Stimson.
